Enclosed is an article and accompanying photograph submitted for your consideration for publication in the Pi Beta Phi magazine, The ARROW.

It is more than mere coincidence that these members of Pennsylvania Gamma play such a crucial role in the development efforts at Dickinson College. We are proud of their dedication and spirit, and thought that you may like to share their commitment with your members.

It is my privilege to commend the women of Pi Beta Phi for a second time during 1987 for their participation during Drake University's Greek Program Council sponsored blood drive. Pi Beta Phi can again take pride in the knowledge that blood donations made in its behalf made possible a continuance of life for others. . . .

I am honored to work with the women of Pi Beta Phi and look forward to their continuing support during 1988's Greek sponsored blood drive.

Correction

As Corresponding Secretary of Southern California Area Council I have been asked to . . . correct an error in the Winter ARROW. In the article "Pi Phis urged to head for Arrowmont" . . . Merry-Beth Noble was credited with a scholarship from the South-Bay (CA) Alumnae Club. She actually received her scholarship from the Southern California Area Council of Pi Beta Phi. We have a continuing scholarship fund and give one and sometimes two scholarships a year. Area Council consists of representatives from Southern California alumnae clubs. We have 10 active clubs and 8 associate clubs participating this year.

Restored home opens

The Draughan-Moore "Ace of Clubs" house in Texarkana, AR/TX opened its doors to the public for tours April 9, 1988. The unusual home of former Grand Treasurer of Pi Beta Phi, Olivia Smith Moore, has undergone a complete renovation and has been restored to its original beauty. [See The ARROW, Winter, 1987]

. . . [Our] Pi Beta Phi Alum Club [Texarkana, AR/TX] pledged $4,000.00 . . . to the renovation of the Master Bedroom. We set up an Angel Fund and asked for contributions from Pi Phis whose lives were touched by Miss Olivia. Pi Phis all over the country have responded and many have shared a special memory of Miss Olivia's kindness, understanding or ability. Contributions are still being accepted and may be sent to: Pi Beta Phi Angel Fund, c/o Mary Colom Buchanan, 207 Georgian Terrace, Texarkana, AR 75502.

When traveling near the twin cities of Texarkana, Arkansas/Texas, try to plan enough time to take a tour of the Ace of Clubs House. You will not only be fascinated by the Pi Phi memorabilia, but also with the potpourri of architecture, furnishings and objects d'art. It is truly a fitting tribute to a unique lady who lived in a unique house in a unique city.

Settlement School Proud

I want to take this advantage to tell you how very much I enjoy The ARROWs—from cover to cover. Especially the space and content of reports on Arrowmont and Arrowcraft.

Marian Heard, Dean Odland and I worked hard at the 1964 Convention to convince the Fraternity [that] Settlement School, as an arts and crafts school, should be the Centennial Philanthropy. It is the success we hoped it would become and I am filled with pride each time I read the News of Arrowcraft and Arrowmont.

It is fun to be writing to a Pi Phi in Atlanta, GA. In the fall of 1936, I was met at the railroad station (no airlines to Atlanta) by Winifred Smith Paige, a Pi Phi living in Atlanta. I was on my way to Athens to become an instructor at the University of Georgia. I had never met Winifred but we were friends immediately on meeting. Winifred and the Atlanta Alumnae Club were working on plans to have a Pi Phi chapter on the Georgia campus.

The first year I was at Georgia I was faculty advisor for the Kappa Alpha Theta chapter. The following two years I was faculty advisor while national Fraternity was colonizing a Pi Phi chapter. I am very proud of Georgia Alpha Chapter.

I was married in 1939 and visited Atlanta many times until the untimely death of Winifred and Del Paige in the airplane accident in Paris. . . . My how Atlanta has changed since the '30s and '40s!

Unusual coincidences

[I thought you might be interested in some] amazing similarities between the way Melissa Snowden, Maryland Beta and current president of the Maryland-D.C. Suburban Alumnae Club Junior Group, and I met and married our husbands.

I met my husband, Ron, at the Fourth Presbyterian Church in Chicago, IL. Melissa met her husband at the Fourth Presbyterian Church in Bethesda, MD. Ron and I were married in the Park Ridge Methodist Church in Illinois. Melissa was married in the Faith United Methodist Church in Rockville, MD. She was married on June 11 at 4:00 p.m., the same day and time Ron and I were married 28 years ago. Melissa also happens to be the same age as I was when I was married.

Melissa has been a valued member of Maryland Beta. She served several years on AAC for the chapter. Much happiness is extended to this wonderful Pi Phi from another Pi Phi.

Sorority Rush—1980 style

by Betty Drummond
Director of Rush

Sorority rush in the late 1980s is different from and yet similar to rush of the past. Still a fun-filled time for both rushees and chapter members, rush on college campuses has undergone some changes over the years.

As always, rush involves mutual choices of both the rushees and chapter membership. In most cases the rush party schedule involves open houses, theme parties with skits, and much sharing of information and excitement. The local Panhellenic organization makes the rushing rules, sets the pledge class quota (maximum number a group can pledge) and determines the party schedule which makes the whole process smooth running and fair.

As you know, one of the requirements for invitation to Pi Beta Phi membership is sponsorship. This sponsorship can be from several sources—a Rush Information Form (RIF) from an Alumnae Club Rush Information Chairman (ACRIC) or an Alumnae Pocket Chairman; an individual Pi Phi alumna where there is no club or pocket; or from the Chapter Membership Selection Committee which by unanimous ballot sponsors a rushee when no other type of RIF or sponsorship is available. Other requirements for membership include high scholarship with a minimum of twelve credit hours being carried by a currently enrolled student, excellent character, congeniality and sympathy with the work of the Fraternity.

Because of the increased popularity of the Greek system over the last few years the number of young women participating in rush has increased. For the 1986–87 school year (1987–88 figures were not available at time of this writing) new Pi Phi pledges totaled 4,461 at our 122 campus locations. Of these new pledges 15% were legacies (related as a sister, daughter or granddaughter).

Regarding legacies, Grand Council and the Directors of Pi Beta Phi wish sincerely that a bid could be extended to all Pi Phi legacies. That wish is unrealistic and often impossible, however. Many times there are more legacies participating in rush than the Panhellenic quota for the chapter. Chapters are asked to give special consideration to all legacies. The Fraternity values its legacies and wishes it were possible for each one to share the benefits of Pi Beta Phi membership.

The attire worn by chapter members during rush varies from party to party and from campus to campus. Many chapters choose clothing that is appropriate to the formality or theme of the rush party. For instance, at one chapter all wear Pi Beta Phi Beach Club t-shirts and khaki bermuda shorts for their rush "Beach Party." In another chapter long burgundy dresses may be the attire for the final party. Many times the rush rules or the party schedule dictates dressing very casually at the beginning of rush and as it progresses, the wearing of dressier attire is desired.

Over the years noticeable changes have occurred in rush record-keeping on many campuses. Computer technology now assists rush and membership chairmen. For example, rushees' names are entered on Panhellenic computers for accurate accounting and for the matching of names to party invitation lists. Computers make it possible to deal with larger numbers of rushees in an orderly way. Individual sororities can enter rushees' names, activities, grades and other pertinent information so that accurate records can be kept. Although a personal computer speeds the operation, it is not essential. Panhellenics and many chapters do a very satisfactory job as was done in my day—by hand and by typewriter.

And speaking of my days of rush, we entertained with slide shows of fun and meaningful activities to the accompaniment of piano and pretty voices. Wonderful slide shows are still being used during rush today, but often the music is recorded to fit the slides and played very professionally on quality sound equipment. What's more, the video tape and the cam recorder have appeared on the scene. Some chapters tape various activities throughout the school year that precedes rush; before rush these tapes are edited to include the most entertaining and significant activities of the chapter. When shown on a big screen TV, either rented or owned by the chapter, the videotape can be a great visual aid in telling the sorority's story.

Rush skit themes have also changed with the times. Many are written around popular musicals or TV commercials. Whatever is new and being talked about in the entertainment world will be food for thought for a new rush skit. "Cats," "Annie," "Chorus Line," "Pippin," "Back to the Future," "The Wizard of Oz," "The Sound of Music," and even the "California Raisins" are just a few. Completely original skits are put together by innovative chapters who want to spark enthusiasm with something new and different.

Chapters may request tried and true successful skits from the files of the Director of Rush. Presently 250 skits are available to rush chairmen from these files. Beginning this spring, Pi Phi chapters are being encouraged to videotape their best rush skits and send a copy to the Director of Rush. Tapes of rush skits will be available to rush chairmen who want more than a written script to help them perfect rush skit skills. Rush chairmen and members will be able to see props and room decorations and to view an actual performance before deciding to adopt a particular skit.

Everyone in the chapter is involved with rush responsibilities, and all attend pre-rush preparation sessions. Practice for rush begins several months in advance, particularly for skits. By "Skit Day" the act must be polished and perfected with costumes to enhance the skit. Often area alumnae are invited to see and critique the "dress rehearsal" of skits and most are favorably impressed with the professional quality.

Larger rushes because of the increased number of rushees mean that the amount of money spent on rush has escalated in the last few years for many chapters. Professional skits and productions with glamorous costumes, sound and video equipment and props demand huge rush budgets. Chapters who participated in rush on such a large and sophisticated scale say that they must do so to be competitive in rush on their campuses. Many campus Panhellenics have limited the amount fraternities can spend so that smaller organizations will not be at such a disadvantage.

Rush today has become more positive; it is the mutual selection of membership and association, the rushee of Pi Beta Phi and Pi Beta Phi of the rushee. For those who pledge Pi Phi, the first page of the national pledge manual welcomes them as follows:

Dear Pi Phi Pledge:
WELCOME!

This message brings the warmest welcome to you as a new Pi Phi Pledge. We are honored and pleased that you have chosen to join us. You and your pledge sisters come from many different places and from a variety of backgrounds. You come together now as a pledge class of young women who will learn together, work together and share many joys together.

Your participation in this very special pledge class is your introduction to a large organization which stretches from coast to coast and is composed of women, both undergraduate and alumnae, who share the same purposes and principles. You can look forward to receiving much from your membership in a national Fraternity. Our keynote is friendship—warm, simple and sincere. By remaining true to Pi Phi, you will receive friendship, companionship, scholastic assistance and encouragement, opportunities for leadership, meaning in your college and campus associations and a firm foundation for all your days.

You are the current chapter in a Fraternity history over 120 years old. Our Founders were remarkable women who dared in 1867 to begin the first national fraternity for women. Their achievement, both individually and collectively, will stir a great pride in you.

Your pride will grow as you learn about the work to which Pi Beta Phi has dedicated itself through the years. Our Fraternity has ministered to the minds of

There will be an opportunity for you to give of yourself... your interests, your time, your talents and your efforts... an opportunity for you to influence Pi Beta Phi's second century of being.

Being a Pi Phi is a reason to be proud.

New Director unveils plans for rush skits

by Heather Hart

It's nothing unusual for a Pi Beta Phi chapter to have an annual visit from one of its national officers or directors. But this year, Kansas Beta was among the first three to meet our new Director of Rush, Betty Staggs Drummond.

Elected for a two-year term at the 1987 National Convention, Drummond is excited about her newly-created position and responsibilities, formerly handled by the Director of Membership and Rush.

"I love the position," said Drummond, Oklahoma Alpha and former Omicron Province President. "It must be the most fun position of Pi Beta Phi because everyone loves rush."

In her new position, she told chapter members she wants to implement new ideas to improve Pi Phi rush. Although rush varies among different campuses, Drummond knows Pi Phi can learn from one another—in an exciting new way. By compiling video tape recordings of outstanding skits from each chapter, her goal is to use it as a tool to better meet the specific needs of all chapters.

"We are planning to allow chapters to check out the master tape from files or purchase copies," Drummond said. "Or we can just send the video and written script of a particular skit or a specific kind of skit they might need."

She foresees this network of service will put all rush chairmen in touch with the latest skits available.

She advised chapters who write to her for skit recommendations to give her the number of members available for the skit and whether they will want singing or not.

"Pi Phis are generally putting on bigger productions," Drummond said. "They are more professional and have more people involved."

Drummond presented more details on her project at regional workshops in the spring—just in time for rush chairmen to take advantage of it before Fall '88 rush.

Other duties in Drummond's new role include assisting all rush chairmen, reviewing rush evaluations, making chapter visits, coordinating rush workshops, and serving as a membership development officer.

This is juggled into her already busy schedule as Executive Director for the Oklahoma Foundation of Excellence, volunteering for the Junior League, and following her high school son's wrestling matches.

In return for sharing her insights with members of Kansas Beta, they honored Drummond with a Cookie-Shine and presented her with an arrow necklace.

Kansas Beta members and officers learned a great deal from their visit with the new Director of Rush. They anticipate success for Drummond and her creative ideas.

Iowa Zeta's "Flamin' Mamie Day" is a favorite of Pi Phis and rushees alike at the University of Iowa. Ready to dazzle rushees are (clockwise from top): Jodi Dodds, Katie Millard, Jane Burrows, Lara Jung, Margaret Young.

Rushees attending the final party with Indiana Zeta could have no doubt where they were going. Ball State Pi Phis welcomed them to the Pi Phi Heaven party with this attractive door sign, created by Karen Perkins.

Arrowfacts

Pi Beta Phi's first "rush" may be said to have occurred when five young women at Monmouth College asked six of their other friends to unite with them in forming I.C. Sorosis. In 1868, Libby Brook invited five students at Iowa Wesleyan to join her and become the nucleus for Iowa Alpha. In those early days membership selection was a simple matter, accomplished merely by inviting friends to join in the sisterhood. As new chapters were formed, the choice of members was left to the discretion of the person organizing the group.

As the Fraternity developed, a chapter's growth was assured by the continuous practice of discussing potential members. When the chapter voted to extend an invitation to membership, a committee was appointed to approach the person and explain the wonders of the Sorosis. If the student accepted the "bid," she came to the next chapter meeting and began the three stages of probation, then necessary prior to initiation.

When other women's fraternities were formed, rushing became highly competitive. Since there were so few women collegians, some groups began issuing invitations to membership to those not yet in school. Once college terms began, the women's groups became involved in a series of parties, teas and dinners; and the "rushees," enjoying the rounds of entertainment, were slow to make decisions on affiliation.

When National Panhellenic Conference first met in 1902, one of the important topics addressed was that of rushing. The Conference recommended that no pledging occur before the second Friday in December. By 1904, NPC recommended that pledge day be not less than two weeks after the college opening, and regulations on cost and number of social functions were urged. Presently, NPC recommends an early fall rush, and each College Panhellenic is to include in its bylaws regulations which are binding on all groups on the campus. Alumnae are also bound by these local rules.

It may not be unique that there are three sisters who are sisters in the wine and blue, but these three sisters, of Maryland Beta, are all on executive board. Christa Catignani and her sisters, Cassandra and Caryn, are president, rush chairman and treasurer, respectively.

Still active at 90, Gladys is honored

February 25, 1988, Gladys Phillips Bon, Wyoming Alpha, celebrated her 90th birthday at an Open House with 90 members of the family and friends in attendance. Festivities were held at the home of her daughter, Jane Bon Swanton, Wyoming Alpha, in Casper, WY.

The Casper Alumnae Club honored Gladys with a bouquet of wine and silver blue carnations for the table centerpiece.

Gladys Bon was the first Director of Alumnae Programs, appointed when the position was created. At the end of her term of office, the position was divided into two separate ones: Director of Alumnae Programs and Director of Alumnae Records.

Gladys also served as Alumnae Province President for Rho Province. She was active in her local alumnae club in Casper for many years, serving as an inspiration to the club in her capacity as president and other positions locally and nationally. She lives independently in her own home in Casper, and has been a dedicated Pi Phi for 70 years.

The Evelyn Peters Kyle National Angel Award was awarded to Gladys at the Pi Beta Phi National Convention in Hot Springs, AR, in 1973.

Helping Gladys celebrate were her family of Pi Phis: daughter Jane Bon Swanton, also a past Alumnae Province President for Rho Province, and past Emma Harper Turner Chairman; granddaughters Bonnie Swanton Bitner and Nancy Swanton Kidd, Wyoming Alphas, Andrea Bon Wilson and Linda Bon Mathson, Montana Alphas.

COURTNEY GIBBS—MISS USA

by Andrea Phillips

You could have heard a pin drop. Each girl sat on the edge of her seat, and every breath was held. The fourth, third, and second runners-up had been called, and so far no mention of the 21-year-old Texan. Every muscle tensed in front of the TV in the Texas Delta chapter room waiting to hear Alan Thicke announce the first runner-up and then the winner of the 1988 Miss USA Pageant on March 1. Prayers were said. Fingers were crossed. The calm was intense, but then came the storm of screams, cheers and excitement when the title "Miss California" was read. Miss Texas, Texas Delta Pi Phi Courtney Gibbs, had won the title of Miss USA!

"We couldn't believe at first that she won because she had so many things to contend with, but she surpassed them all by far," said Paula Richards, former Texas Delta president and one of Gibbs' best friends.

Courtney, who has been modeling since the age of 15, pledged Pi Beta Phi as a freshman in 1984 at Texas Christian University in Fort Worth. She had finished her sophomore year as an art history major when she decided to leave school for a year and model in Europe.

Before she could return to school, however, she was seen at a charity show by Texas Pageant Area Director Joe Rinelli who invited her to enter the Miss Texas-USA Pageant. At first she declined, but eventually she was persuaded by Rinelli to enter.

While the other girls that Rinelli worked with had been preparing for a year, Courtney was given only two months to prepare for the pageant, her first ever. Her late start didn't seem to affect her performance, though; she left the pageant with trophy, crown and title of Miss Texas-USA.

The first win might have been called beginner's luck, but it took more than luck for Courtney to beat the near impossible odds of being the fourth straight Miss Texas-USA to win the Miss USA title. After winning the title of Miss Texas-USA, she moved into the traditional third-floor apartment in the house of Pageant directors and trainers Rex Holt and Richard Guy (known professionally as GuyRex) in El Paso, TX. These pageant owners had groomed the past three Miss Texas-USA winners in preparation for the Miss USA Pageant, and they would groom Gibbs as well.

After setting-up a diet and exercise plan with a nutritionist and having her front teeth evened (at Courtney's own request), GuyRex began to work on her public speaking abilities.

"Guy and Rex did it by throwing me into the middle of it," Gibbs said. "They didn't let me stick my toe in the pool. They threw me in."

GuyRex sent Gibbs to society events, county fairs and trade shows. She hosted beauty pageants and sold Subaru at the auto show. But most of all, GuyRex helped Gibbs to be herself.

"You're not a model any more. You've got to be Courtney Gibbs," Guy said.

Her grandmother said Courtney believes that GuyRex not only prepared her for the pageant but also for life. She is now interested in a broadcasting career. During the interview portion of the Miss USA Pageant, she said, "I didn't know that I had any broadcast skills until I became Miss Texas, but now doors have been opened for me and I have found that I enjoy it."

In addition to the cash, jewelry and many other prizes Gibbs received with her title, she also received a new Pi Beta Phi badge from her Texas Delta sisters. Gibbs' original arrow, which she had received special permission to wear on her banner during her reign, was stolen during the pageant.

Courtney is 5'9" tall, has blue eyes and light brown hair. She loves traveling, which is fortunate, since she'll be doing a great deal of it while wearing her crown. She is a native Texan, from Ft. Worth.

"I'm so glad that I can call Texas my home. There is such a wide variety of cultures, climate, geography and industry within our state," says Courtney. "Texas has something for everyone."

Courtney is the fourth Miss Texas in a row to win the national title. Some felt that would be a strike against her in the judging, but her beauty, dignity and "class" won out against the odds.

As winner of the Miss Texas title, Courtney received $90,000 in cash and prizes. Add to that, as Miss USA she won a $25,000 personal appearance contract; $46,000 in cash; a sports car; jewelry worth $10,000; various other gifts totaling over $15,000.

So now it's on to the Miss Universe Pageant in Taiwan, May 23. It's a safe bet that Courtney's Pi Phi sisters throughout the world will be pulling for the Texas Delta beauty.

When the Miss USA Pageant aired March 1 from El Paso, TX, the winner, Courtney Gibbs, had a Pi Phi cheering section that didn't stop with her Texas Delta sisters. When she lived in Kansas City from 1975-1982, she was in the same class with seven other girls who later became Pi Phi sisters.

Five of her friends from elementary school and/or junior high in the Kansas City area are now Kansas Alphas at the University of Kansas: Suzy Burgess, Paula Bates, Cathy Cartmell, Karen Logsdon and Kelly Walden. Sarah Harper is a Wyoming Alpha Pi Phi at the University of Wyoming. Elizabeth Beck lost track of Courtney when she moved back to Ft. Worth, but they spotted each other when they entered TCU as freshmen and pledged Pi Phi together.

Republicans depend on Evie for August convention housing

Evie Teegen has a big job during the Republican National Convention as Chairman of Housing.

Anyone attending a Pi Beta Phi Convention can empathize with the National Convention Coordinator who must find a hotel with the necessary number of sleeping rooms and meeting rooms.

Imagine, then, what it must be to find beds for more than 22,000 guests. That's the task nearly completed by Evie Hoppes Teegen, Iowa Gamma, of Edina, MN.

Evie is serving her second four-year term as a member of the Republican National Committee and was named by committee chairman Frank Fahrenkopf, Jr., to head the housing committee for the Republican National Convention in New Orleans in August.

The party has 112 hotels under contract in New Orleans, and Evie has been busy for over a year, visiting those hotels and other accommodations, making certain that everything will go smoothly in that important area.

Evie has had a certain amount of experience in conventions, however. She will be remembered by many Pi Phis as hospitality chairman for the Minneapolis Convention in 1977. She has also been a province coordinator and is a past president of the Minneapolis Alumnae Club. She was co-chairman of entertainment for the Republican National Convention in Dallas four years ago.

There is definite protocol as far as who gets the choice hotels during a political convention. The convention headquarters hotel is the first selected. The National committee and members of key committees stay there.

The president and vice president are the next priorities. A basic consideration in the choice of that hotel is security. A hotel is designated also for each of the presidential candidates.

Next in line of preference are the Republican "Eagles," those who have contributed $10,000 or more to the party.

State delegations are next, and there's a pecking order here also. Some will have higher priorities than others. Probably housed with President Reagan will be his California delegates, with Texas delegates receiving the same treatment, since it is Vice President Bush's home state. On down the line come senatorial and congressional campaign committees, the Republican governors' association, foreign visitors and the diplomatic corps.

Tulane University will provide housing for Republican youth groups.

Then there are the security people, including nearly 1,000 Secret Service staff members, as well as 10,000 rooms for the news media. The latter may even have an office building set up for work space.

The Louisiana Superdome is the convention site, and Evie is happy with all the housing space close by. She feels New Orleans is a wonderful convention city but she'll breathe a sigh of relief when all goes well with a minimum of housing complaints.

Russia proves exciting interim

In January, Lafayette College sponsored an interim course held in the Soviet Union. Christine Borowitz, Pennsylvania Eta, was selected to participate. Thirty students and two professors traveled to Leningrad, Pskov, Riga, Baku and Moscow to study effects of the revolution on different Soviet cities.

Christine returned to Lafayette full of exciting stories. Most importantly, she found the class to be an eye-opening experience. Stereotypes of Soviets were found to be untrue. She found them to be friendly, very opposed to nuclear war and extremely interested in meeting Americans.

The class was given an opportunity to meet with officials, students and journalists. The journalists questioned Christine about her views on politics and religion, with the responses to be printed in the Soviet newspaper, PRAVDA.

Three outstanding young women have been selected to receive 1988-1989 Pi Beta Phi Graduate Fellowships in the amount of $1,500 each. Rebecca Benton Smith, left, North Carolina Beta, received a Bachelor of Arts in psychology in May from Duke University. She plans to pursue a Masters of Social Work degree from Smith or The Catholic University of America. Anita Ridge Forte, middle, Illinois Alpha, a May graduate of Monmouth with a BA in government and psychology, will pursue a Juris Doctor degree at either Harvard or Yale this fall. Jean Orrtrud Anderson, right, Illinois Beta-Delta, received a BA, cum laude with college honors, in psychology in June, 1987, from Knox College. She is currently pursuing her Master of Science in industrial/organizational psychology at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute.

Ann Sims conquers Iron Man

When a woman marries a man who has ridden his bike across the U.S., it almost naturally follows that she will become interested in biking. That's what happened when Ann Montgomery, South Carolina Alpha, met and married Wilson Sims. Add to that a shared enthusiasm for swimming and running, and it was easy to see triathlons in the future.

Ann, who makes her home in Winston-Salem, NC, qualified for and participated in two major triathlons last fall—the brutal Iron Man in Hawaii in October and a Series Championship at Hilton Head in September. The Hawaii competition is internationally acclaimed, with 1,500 men and women competing by invitation in three non-stop events—swimming 2.4 miles, biking 110 miles up and down a barren volcano, and running 26 miles. To complete the course is enough for some competitors, but to win is always a goal. With 20 hours being a good time for the Iron Man, Ann clocked in at 13 hours, 42 minutes for 22nd place. This competition is sometimes known as the Olympics of Triathlons.

In the Hilton Head National Championship, Ann finished in 9th place in her age group, with a 2 hour, 25 minute time. The course included a one mile swim, 25 mile bike, and 6.2 mile run.

Ann is a registered nurse and she started running in her senior year of nurses training. She gets up early every morning and heads for the Wake Forest track to run, then spends more time in the afternoon biking and swimming. When training for competitions, her workout time includes about six hours a day on weekdays and eight hours a day on weekends.

Edna Morris, (see story, page 28) Ann's South Carolina Alpha roommate all through university and for two years in Atlanta following graduation, writes, "Those years of growing up and big decisions were much better because of Ann. She demonstrated all the qualities of a special person and friend: sensitivity, determination, honesty, supportive, ability to trust and be trusted, interesting and interested."

Ann is 5-foot-7, weighs 135 pounds, and, at age 35, is on the low end of her 35-39 competition age group. Triathlon organizers figure that she is one of the best in the world for her age group. She has been on the circuit for nearly two years, after picking up a flyer about a local club at the YMCA. Swimming is the strongest of her triathlon legs. Biking is next and running is the weakest portion of her program.

Competing as an amateur, Ann isn't in the sport for fame and fortune. "I'm doing it for the satisfaction of knowing that I have pushed myself to the limit," she says, "and knowing that I have achieved my goal."

Panhellenic salutes past, charts future

The 50th biennial meeting of the National Panhellenic Conference was held at the Fairmont Hotel in New Orleans, LA, November 4-7, 1987. Salutes to the past and the future and discussions about issues of the present were among highlights of the meeting.

Representing Pi Beta Phi were Jean Wirths Scott, NPC Delegate; Jo Ann Minor Roderick, 1st alternate; Martha Bliss Ehlers, 2nd alternate; and Carolyn Helman Lichtenberg, Grand President and 3rd alternate. Also attending meetings of their special NPC organizations were Virginia Bland Fry, President of the Central Office Executives, and Marilyn Simpson Ford, the National Panhellenic Editors Conference.

Sidney G. Allen, Alpha Sigma Alpha, 1985-87 Conference Chairman, emphasized that providing increased educational opportunities, a goal she held as chairman, would be a major thrust of the meeting.

Four major educational programs were presented. The first was a 13-minute videotape, "Greeks Today, Here to Stay," prepared by the NPC executive committee, outlining advantages of Greek membership. Produced in association with the University of Illinois, the tape is available through the NPC Central Office.

Three Greek advisors provided insights into their jobs during a panel discussion. Presenter Terry Appolonia of Indiana University of Pennsylvania is incoming president of the Association of Fraternity Advisors. He identified five major issues confronting college women: (1) drug abuse, including alcohol; (2) self-esteem (date/acquaintance rape, eating disorders and hazing); (3) sexual identity; (4) personal and chapter liability; (5) academic achievement.

In describing her role as a Greek advisor, Kim Padulo, San Diego State University, emphasized the many hats she wears and the many skills she has developed as a result.

Jill Zimmerman, University of New Orleans, outlined the importance of university interaction with the parents of its students since her university is a commuter campus.

A third educational program was presented by Zeta Tau Alpha on "Eating Disorders." Dr. Sue Beth Hudson, Emergency Physician in Tidewater, VA and Judith Royal, Licensed Professional Counselor and Foundation Director of the Women's Therapy Center in Norfolk, VA, focused on the prevalence of eating disorders among college women.

Approximately one of every four college women exhibit symptoms of anorexia or bulimia. According to the presenters, sorority women tend to be particularly susceptible to eating disorders because of their eagerness to achieve and comply with society's demands for slenderness.

Another societal concern was the topic of the fourth educational program. Gary Bonas, Villanova University, president of the Association of Fraternity Advisors, discussed misconceptions and current knowledge about AIDS and their effect on college students. Bonas presented a videotape about AIDS, produced by Kappa Alpha Theta.

Pi Phi's delegation to the National Panhellenic Conference included Jo Ann Roderick, Virginia Fry, Jean Scott, Carolyn Lichtenberg, Martha Ehlers and Marilyn Ford.

Resolutions

In addition to considering such social issues, delegates adopted several resolutions concerning Panhellenic matters:

- 1) Procedures for preferential bidding and bid-matching were clarified.
- 2) Unanimous Agreement, Panhellenic Compact, #4 was amended to clarify the intent that a signed preference card is binding.
- 3) Extension procedures were reaffirmed requiring approval of the "proper authority" before an NPC group may establish a chapter on a campus. NPC member groups must inform interest groups/local groups or individuals that formal permission to pursue extension must be obtained from the proper authority as defined in the Unanimous Agreements.
- 4) A professional educational session is to be provided for Panhellenic advisors attending regional conferences and/or other appropriate meetings.

Saluting the past, the Conference voted to establish an NPC archives which will be housed at a suitable university which has a broad interpretation of NPC member groups. An ad hoc committee consisting of professional archivists and/or historians who are members of NPC groups will select the institution and implement the project.

Awards

Citations of Merit were earned by Alumnae Panhellenics in Arlington, TX; Columbus, OH; Denver, CO; Detroit, MI; Diablo County, CA; Escondido, CA; Hawaii; Houston, TX; Indianapolis, IN; Lubbock, TX; Mexico City; Montgomery, AL; Newport Harbor, CA; Phelps County, CO.

Dr. Kerr is honored by Illini

(The following article appeared in the Illinois Alumni News, February, 1988.)

The [Illinois] Alumni Association's 31st annual Alumni Achievement Awards, the highest honor that can be bestowed upon alumni of the University will go to [two gentlemen] and a renowned woman physician whose specialty is obstetrics and gynecology. Charlotte Herman Kerr, Illinois Zeta, of Seminole, FL, will receive her award on the Chicago campus this month (June).

As far back as her University High School days in Urbana, Charlotte was intrigued by women's roles in medicine. That interest eventually propelled her onto the national and international medical scenes as both a practitioner and spokesman, for over three decades, in the field of obstetrics and gynecology.

The Champaign, IL native received her bachelor's degree with honors in home economics in 1940. During her undergraduate years she was elected to Alpha Lambda Delta, Torch and Mortar Board, all scholastic honoraries. She held presidencies in the Home Economics Club and the Women's Athletic Association.

After graduation, she taught in Tennessee, obtained a master's degree in nutrition at Iowa State University in 1944 and returned to the Urbana campus as a research associate in 1944-45.

In 1945 she enrolled in the U. of I.'s College of Medicine at Chicago and recalled that she was one of about 18 women in a male-dominated class of about 150. She graduated in the top 10 percent of her class in three and one-half years.

The young doctor completed her internship and residency requirements at Chicago's Cook County Hospital. It was there she first became interested in specializing in obstetrics and gynecology, mainly, she said, because she was influenced by another woman physician who went on to become chief of obstetrics at Cook County.

After 20 years of practice in Chicago and Indiana, she and her husband, Dr. John E. Kerr, moved their practices to Seminole, FL where they were active as consultants in their fields (his is urology) and as "fill ins" for vacationing doctors.

It was this kind of work that prompted her to serve in many medically underserved rural health clinics in a program called Project Health U.S.A. The volunteer program, supported by the American Medical Association, took her to remote areas of Illinois, Florida, California, South Carolina and Alaska.

Charlotte was an attending physician at the Bureau of Indian Affairs in Butte, SD in 1982, and in 1986 was a consultant in gynecology for Project HOPE in the West Indies.

She also has been a consultant at Bay Pines Veterans Administration Hospital in Florida, took on a special mission in Saudi Arabia and served as an adviser to the U.S. Food and Drug Administration for a number of years.

Since she first received her medical degree, Charlotte has been active in the American Medical Women's Association and served as its president in 1978. She was also Congress Councilor of the Medical Women's International Association and a founding member of the Dr. James E. Fitzgerald Obstetrics and Gynecology Society in 1959, serving as its president in 1986-87.

Susan Doughty, Alabama Beta, is the 1988 Miss University of Alabama. Twenty-seven women competed in the pageant, sponsored by Delta Chi fraternity. Susan, a junior in vocal performance, won the talent competition and will represent the University in the Miss Alabama Pageant.

Pearce named to leadership group

Jennifer Pearce, Florida Epsilon, is currently serving on the President's Leadership Council at the University of Central Florida. PLC is a group of fifteen students selected annually by a faculty and staff committee to serve as ambassadors for the University. Its purpose is to recognize those students who have provided an example of well-rounded excellence based on leadership, academic achievement, extracurricular activities and service to the Orlando community.

Hosting University functions and touring distinguished guests, the group is also active in the recruitment of new students.

Jennifer, a marketing major with a minor in French, is a member of Rho Lambda and Omicron Delta Kappa. Leadership activities include Angel Flight Commander, Pi Phi rush chairman, and Greek Week service chairman. She is also public affairs director at WUCF-FM.

Members of the Council are required to maintain a commitment to personal and professional development.

NEWS OF

Pi Beta Phi Elementary students from kindergarten through the 8th grade visited Arrowmont School in March to view the national teapot exhibition, "The Dripless Spout: Innovative Teapots." Their assignment was to draw their two favorite teapots, and tea parties were planned at the elementary school.

Glaze mysteries solved during potter's classes

When experimental potter Richard Zakin asked Arrowmont if Linda Coward could again be his assistant during two ceramic classes last March, Arrowmont was pleased to have her return. Not only has Linda taught pottery during Elderhostel, but Richard cheerfully gives her much of the credit for making his stays so enjoyable.

Zakin is a ceramic detective, of sorts. His wasn't an average clay class, in that students concentrated on making test tiles rather than pots. Emphasis was on glazes, and Linda explains in cooking terms what the class was about. "It's looking at a recipe and being able to tell if the ingredients will work well together, and if not, what do you add?"

She recalled a problem she encountered with a glaze before she had learned Zakin's methods. She stacked some newly made dinner plates, and in doing so, scratched the glaze. Immediately came the realization that the glaze was too soft for dinnerware, which must be able to withstand daily abuse.

"If I had known what I do now, I would have said to myself, 'this glaze needs more glass (to harden it) and less flux.' Then I would have done some formulas for limitations and for different options on materials."

Using Zakin's very practical method "you learn to problem solve without a lot of math, which often frightens many artists and potters." Having these options allows you "to produce a finer quality product."

No doubt Linda's close association with Arrowmont will continue as long as Arrowmont can help her constantly improve the quality of her clay work.

Art teacher follows own suggestions to students

Concord College art teacher Sheila Chipley has always posted Arrowmont brochures in her classroom and encouraged her students to apply for scholarships and assistantships, but something happened that finally made her apply for a scholarship herself.

Sheila teaches in Athens, WV, and last year was named outstanding art educator in the state. An award from the National Endowment For the Arts for the state of West Virginia allowed her to attend the Vermont Studio School for one month.

"I had such a positive experience from that school that I decided I would actively try to participate in some type of program which would update and refine the skills I already had. When the Arrowmont flier came I encouraged my students to apply, and I applied myself!"

If Vermont Studio School wasn't enough incentive to give Arrowmont a try, Sheila also happened to take a basketry class from a woman who had taught at Arrowmont. This woman "was talking about teaching at Arrowmont, and what a positive influence it was for her... she enjoyed teaching there, and she enjoyed the people she had worked with. In her own way she was encouraging people to renew or refine skills through centers like Arrowmont."

In Sister Remy Revor's textile silkscreening class, Sheila learned some exciting silkscreening techniques that she's sure can be worked into the Concord curriculum by this summer. Like any serious teacher, she made a point of observing other classes. She was particularly impressed with the stone carving class taught by Bob Lockhart of Bellarmine College in Louisville, KY.

"Bob Lockhart is a phenomenally satisfying person to talk with. Professionally, the quality of the work he gets from his students, and what is coming out of that class is really impressive. He's a VERY strong teacher. I'm going to try to get a show of his sculpture at our school."

Sheila can attest to the fact that for teachers studying at Arrowmont, the experience is more than just taking a class. She has made professional contacts not only for herself, but for her college and for her students. "I've had a great experience. I was very pleased with Sister Remy, and I really feel it is very nice of Arrowmont to have a scholarship program. Had I not received the Friends of Arrowmont Scholarship, I could not have come."

Arrowmont teacher leads seminar

During a seminar on The Artist and Production, Zoe Woodruff Lancaster shares her portfolio with participants; of the American Craft Council's Southeastern Conference, hosted by Arrowmont last October.

What kind of person would buy a 20 year old bra from a general store in Gatlinburg, embellish its armor-like surfaces, and watch happily as it raises over $40 for scholarships at the Arrowmont summer auction? Only a surface designer could do so much for such an uninspiring article of clothing, make such stunning improvements that people would actually compete for the right to own it. That designer is President-elect of the Surface Design Association (a national association of surface designers) and her name is Zoe Woodruff Lancaster.

Zoe explains the meaning of the relatively new term "surface design." "Before, things were called fabric design or textile design. Surface design encompasses design for any surface, including paper, leather, clay. It's been the goal of the Surface Design Association to make the term 'surface design' public. We like to think the term is as far reaching as possible because I really think it's a healthier outlook when we get input from all fields; we don't like to limit it."

Zoe added that following the association's extremely successful conference in Kansas City which focused on professionalism, "our membership told us they would like to have a workshop conference. Arrowmont is probably one of the finest workshop centers in the country, and we're very pleased that Arrowmont will host this conference for us in October of 1989. We hope to see a lot of new faces among our workshop leaders, and see more innovative techniques. We hope to have technical information as well as panel discussions, lectures, and seminars, so people really have a chance to come here and get what it is they need. You don't have to be a member of the association to come to the conference."

If Zoe looks young to be the president-elect of such a large organization, it's not surprising. She landed a teaching job straight out of Syracuse University where she earned a Master of Visual Arts degree. Georgia State University in Atlanta assigned her the task of developing their new surface design program.

"This program was unique because the funding came from industry. Georgia's carpet industry needed a resource for their designers, and wanted to have an apprenticeship program. They chose Georgia State because of its location, and funded our program for the first three years totally. The program was so successful that the school took it over."

The carpet industry has its economic ups and downs, and now that "the industry is back up again we get calls all the time to have students come and work. My program is unique in that it gives the student the choice of whether to be focused toward design for industry or to make art. I start my students out with both, and they really are free to choose."

Zoe's work represents both worlds, and she concluded with the careful reminder that "idea and creativity are still important because most anybody can learn mechanical skills, but not everybody can be creative and have good ideas.

Pro woodturner adds new ideas

Buz Blum, Palmer, Alaska, turns a bowl on an Arrowmont lathe just like the lathe he has at home. Buz was a Friends of Arrowmont Scholarship recipient.

A 1980 woodturning class in Scotland started Alaskan Buz Blum on his slow but steady journey to woodturning classes at Arrowmont. It was his Scottish instructor, internationally known turner Michael O'Donnell, who alerted Buz to the landmark National Woodturning Conference at Arrowmont. Buz received a letter from Michael urging him to be at the 1985 conference. He took Michael's advice, and of the conference he says enthusiastically, "It was incredible. It gave me exposure [to work and ideas] that I never would have expected. I went back home after that and did all sorts of things!"

Buz turned wood at home until his Arrowmont 1988 spring brochure arrived. "I realized that Al Stirt and Del Stubbs were going to be teaching two classes back to back. That was too much to resist!"

A Friends of Arrowmont Scholarship made it possible for Buz to manage the cost of tuition, room and board on top of his expense of traveling all the way from Alaska. Unfortunately, Al Stirt was unable to make it to Arrowmont, but Buz says Del Stubbs more than made up for the disappointment of not working with Al.

"Del is an INCREDIBLE teacher. He delights in imparting knowledge. He shares completely and openly. He tries to make it go both ways—he tries to learn from you, too."

Buz earns his living from woodturning and became a production woodturner after 15 years of earning his living doing ivory work. When ivory became "too expensive and increasingly bound up in laws, I began to get tired of it. Ivory and wood are very closely related, and I automatically switched over to wood somehow... My wife is a weaver and a potter, and I'm going to see if I can't get her to come down here next year for a weaving class. She'd really enjoy that."

When that time comes it will be Buz's turn to stay behind in Alaska and look after their goats.

Missouri Beta Mimi Dawson is named Transportation boss

Mimi Weyforth Dawson, Missouri Beta, Deputy Secretary of Transportation.

Mimi Weyforth Dawson, Missouri Beta, appointed Deputy Secretary of Transportation by President Ronald Reagan, was sworn in on December 3, 1987, by Secretary of Transportation Jim Burnley.

Mrs. Dawson is the equivalent of chief operating officer of a 100,000-employee organization with a $26.5 billion budget and responsibility for program and policy guidance over surface, sea and air transportation. She brings to the office a broad knowledge of economic regulatory issues gained as a member of the Federal Communications Commission for over six years, beginning on July 6, 1981. She also gained key insight into transportation issues while working with the Senate Commerce Committee in the 1970s.

Prior to her appointment to the Federal Communications Commission, Deputy Secretary Dawson served as Chief of Staff to Senator Bob Packwood (R-OR). In that capacity she coordinated and directed the activities of the Washington and Oregon Senate offices and the Senate Commerce Committee for the Senator. She also held responsibility for assisting the Senator with his Republican leadership roles as chairman of the National Republican Senatorial Committee and the Senate Republican Conference Committee. Deputy Secretary Dawson first came to Washington in 1969 as legislative assistant to Missouri Congressman James Symington. Before joining Packwood in 1973, Mrs. Dawson worked for several members of the Missouri delegation.

Mimi has a long-standing interest in international affairs which she pursued in her duties on the Federal Communications Commission and will continue to pursue in transportation issues. In 1983 she was elected and served for four years as Secretary-General of the Atlantic Association of Young Political Leaders (AAYPL). AAYPL is an association formed under the auspices of and funded through NATO. The post of Secretary-General is the chief executive officer of this representative organization of NATO countries. Mrs. Dawson is also a member of the Board of Trustees of the American Council of Young Political Leaders, the U.S. affiliate of the Atlantic Association.

Mrs. Dawson has served as a member of the Board of the National Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, the Corcoran School of Art and the Washington Center.

"The new job is tremendously exciting and challenging," writes Mimi, "so you know how much I'm enjoying it. I hope to prove myself a valuable member of the Administration and to serve in the best interests of the public."

Born and raised in St. Louis, MO, Mimi received her B.A. degree in government from Washington University in 1966. She is married to Rhett B. Dawson, Assistant to the President of the United States for Operations. They have a two year old daughter, Elizabeth.

Chinese hear US nutritionists

From a star dancer in productions at the University of North Dakota, to a nutrition specialist sharing expertise in China, may seem like a long leap, but that's the route taken by Dorothy Tompkins Revell, North Dakota Alpha.

Dorothy lives in Fargo, ND and is a registered dietitian and author. She was one of 36 United States delegates to participate in a program sponsored by the Chinese Nutrition Society of the China Association for Science and Technology.

Dr. Victor Herbert, professor of medicine at Mount Sinai School of Medicine in New York, led the American team of nutrition specialists to the People's Republic of China. They spent two weeks visiting major health institutions in Beijing, Xi'an and Shanghai. They participated in daily academic exchanges with the Chinese doctors, covering such topics as nutrition and disease prevention, nutrition and behavior, diagnosing nutrient deficiencies, and many more.

In an article by Michelle Tack in the University Alumni News, Dorothy is quoted as saying, "I felt like Alice in Wonderland, seeing a giant (China) waking up from a long, deep sleep and now ready to take its place in the modern world, all the while knowing they must catch up with the industrial super-powers in the areas of technological advancement and management skills."

The academic exchange with China was part of the Citizen Ambassador Program of People to People, founded in 1956 by President Dwight D. Eisenhower. It brings together technical and scientific teams from around the world to improve international understanding and friendship.

Dorothy has published a number of books on nutrition and has received the Sioux Award from her alma mater.

Annual giving plan is directed by Pi Phis

While everyone recognizes the vital importance of fund-raising for colleges and other charitable organizations, no one has taken that message more to heart than the Pennsylvania Gamma Pi Phis at Dickinson College. The responsibility of raising all annual contributions to Dickinson, with this year's goal standing at one million dollars, is shared solely by Pi Phis. Karen Neely '86, Director of Annual Giving and Molly Dean '87, Assistant Director of Annual Giving, are professional development officers responsible for The Dickinson Fund, the annual giving program for the College.

There are currently three Pi Phi student volunteers working directly with Karen and Molly. They are: Ginny Garrison, a student office worker, and Lisa Matteucci and J.B. Loveland, both serving as chairmen of the Senior Gift Drive for their respective classes. This project, which is entirely executed by the seniors, is designed to involve the students in a fund-raising project prior to their graduation. Pledges are accumulated throughout the senior year for a gift which is decided on by the campaigners and chairmen.

Underscoring the Pi Phi tradition of service to Dickinson, is the remarkable fact that for the past seven years, every Senior Gift Drive chairman has been a Pi Phi! After wine and silver blue, it seems that "green" is the next favorite color for these Pi Phis.

While boss is away, State House works

If a governor is on the presidential campaign trail, who runs the State House?

"The governor does," says Evelyn Murphy, North Carolina Beta. And Evelyn should know, since she is Lieutenant-Governor of Massachusetts, serving in the administration of Michael Dukakis.

As partners on a team, with the governor as senior partner—members of the administration work together. If Dukakis should win the presidential election, however, Evelyn would serve out his term. Then, according to political buffs, it's a good bet that she would run for governor in 1990.

Lt. Gov. Evelyn Murphy was elected to her post in 1986 to become the first woman in the commonwealth to attain statewide office. She had lost a bid for the office in 1982. And now, she says, she's "having the time of my life!"

Evelyn has been active in state politics for at least 12 years. She was secretary of environmental affairs during the first Dukakis administration and secretary of economic affairs during his second administration. Current duties include handling meetings with cabinet secretaries and there is a good relationship with the staff.

Outsiders may have the impression that Evelyn is tough and aloof but such is not the case, according to a staff assistant, who says that Evelyn is a very shy woman. However, since her election she has become much more comfortable with other people.

Evelyn had learned how to pace herself and never sleeps more than six hours a night. She is in great demand for keynote addresses at conventions and commencements. During the first 100 days of her administration, she had 600 speaking requests and accepted 79. In her first six months in office, requests exceeded 800, and she accepted 114.

There's not much time for any personal life. She does keep in good physical condition by jogging six miles every other day or so. She reserves one night a week for herself, either to eat Chinese food with friends or attend a baseball game. She's an enthusiastic Red Sox fan and finds that nobody bothers her in the bleachers. She also tries to keep one weekend each month free to visit her parents and sister in Virginia.

Genuinely interested in what constituents have to say, her days are filled with an endless stream of people who fill her office or greet her on the streets and in supermarkets. She has come to cherish quiet time at the end of her long days.

Will she become the first female governor of Massachusetts? It's an interesting speculation that won't have a definitive answer until the election next fall!

hort stories of sagacious sisters

Kansas Beta, Kansas State

When the chapter's semi-annual scholarship dinner was held in March, 21 girls had GPAs between 3.14-3.499; 24 had between 3.5-3.99; and six girls achieved 4.0 GPA. Dr. Tom Parrish of the College of Education was speaker at the banquet.

Iowa Eta, Drake

Freshman Kris Jordahl won the position of Residence Hall vice president in the University student elections in March.

It was an exciting time when the chapter initiated its first in-house legacy. Roni Stephan joined her sister Beth in the bonds of wine and blue on February 20. Beth was a spring '86 initiate.

Michigan Beta, University of Michigan

Roberta Lazar was on this year's Greek Week Steering Committee; dancer Joy McEwen choreographed this year's variety contest, and Mary Bannon and Wendy Weingartner were this year's Greek Week Representatives.

Texas Alpha, University of Texas

For fall semester, there were seven sisters with a 4.0 and 65 with over a 3.0!

Ohio Theta, Bowling Green State

Carrie Foltz, a senior communications education major, received a Congressional Teacher Scholarship in the amount of $10,000. She was selected, also, as a 1988 orientation leader and was nominated for Outstanding Young Woman of America for 1988.

Mississippi Beta, Ole Miss

Once again a Pi Phi captured the Delta Gamma Most Beautiful Eyes contest. Margaret Hogan took top honors in the competition. Last year's winner was Jennifer Day.

Lisa Cole was named to the top ten in the University Parade of Beauties pageant. Lisa was sponsored by Beta Theta Pi, where she is also Beta Sweetheart. Valerie Gordon placed in the top 25.

California Epsilon, San Diego State

Katy Koster was named Derby Darling and the chapter won the spirit award and 2nd in overall points in Sigma Chi Derby Days this year.

Pi Phi earned the best overall GPA of all sororities on campus.

hence, the "Baby Balfour" was born. The one-foot replica of the Cup was presented at a Cookie-Shine and is proudly displayed next to its mother in Illinois Zeta's trophy case.

Louisiana Alpha, Newcomb College

Sofia Blands and Paula Hollrah received 4.0 GPAs on their fall semester report cards. Tammy Lurding received the chapter most improved award by raising her GPA by 1.25!

California Zeta, U.C. Santa Barbara

Fall quarter saw the pledges having the highest GPA overall and the entire chapter capturing the highest sorority overall GPA. They celebrated these honors, as well as individual scholastic achievement, with a Scholarship-Alumnae dinner, attended by more than 20 alumnae.

Indiana Gamma, Butler

In March Jodi Carlton was elected president of the sophomore class. Susan Bielawski and Beth Alderton hold offices in the Student Assembly.

Illinois Alpha, Monmouth

The Student Recognition Banquet in March honors an outstanding member from each organization on campus. Renee Billups was honored from Pi Phi. Renee, former chapter president, made great contributions to Pi Phi through her leadership skills, public relations with the faculty and other Greeks, and her genuine love for Pi Phi.

Pennsylvania Eta, Lafayette

This year's cheerleading squad had five Pi Phis. Tricia Volino, Leslie Pursel and Amy Friedland were joined by pledges Kirsten Ricketts and Jill Backerman.

Colorado Alpha, University of Colorado

From the 26 fraternities and sororities on campus, only a select 35-40 students are initiated into the Order of Omega, Greek honor society, annually. Michelle McGee and Jeanne Jackson earned the honor this year. This spring Marcia Morgan, Order of Omega and Mortar Board, was named All Around Greek Woman during Greek Week.

Nebraska Beta, University of Nebraska

Sara Deterding, Donna Grant and Cari Dinneen were elected to UN-L student government positions following spring elections.

Indiana Alpha, Franklin College

On January 16, the chapter informally celebrated its 100th anniversary on campus. A giant cake burned 100 candles while the 14 founders were toasted with non-alcoholic champagne. Alums, actives and pledges shared in the festivities which were held in the suite. The chapter will formally celebrate the occasion in October, during Homecoming.

Pennsylvania Zeta, Washington & Jefferson

13 sisters made the Dean's List for fall semester and 23 made Pi Society. Pi Phi placed 5th overall, of 14 fraternities, with a 3.167 GPA.

Florida Alpha, Stetson

FOCUS is an organization of upperclassmen who are trained to help acquaint incoming freshmen and transfers with the campus and other students. Chosen as FOCUS members for 1988 are Lyn Faust, Emily Buss and Sarah Holt.

Rush counselors for next fall will be Ashley Alderman, Pamela Childers and Liz Fedele.

Washington Gamma, University of Puget Sound

Last fall Pi Phi had the highest GPA on campus and the 3.0 was the highest in the history of the University. Pledge Angela Pierce and active Krischel Trail each earned 4.0, while five actives and two pledges made the Dean's List.

Arkansas Alpha, University of Arkansas

Five Pi Phis were on the seven member Sigma Chi Sweetheart Court, with Gwen Nabholz chosen Sigma Chi Sweetheart. On the Court were Piper Bickerstaff, Leigh Ann Ellis, Susan Kern and Anna Womack.

Lisa Danielson, Arizona Beta, was one of four recipients in the nation, the only female recipient, of a Scholarship for Children of Military Personnel. The award provides $3,000 for the first year of her schooling and $2,500 a year for the following years that she remains a full-time student. The award was presented at the annual Air Force Ball in Century City, CA in October.

Alabama Gamma, Auburn

Rhonda Smith is Panhellenic treasurer, the first Pi Phi to hold such a high office as a result of election. As a bonus, Pi Phi received an award for their contribution to the new rush system.

Minnesota Alpha, University of Minnesota

Last winter Julianne Falzone was named East Wind Princess of the St. Paul Winter Carnival. Julianne competed against 20 other young women for the title of Queen of the Snows and Princesses of the Four Winds. The St. Paul Winter Carnival is one of the largest and oldest festivals in the nation, having originated in 1886.

Oklahoma Beta, Oklahoma State
Denise Stanley and Laurie Steel will be rush counselors for next fall's rush.

Indiana Alpha, Franklin College

Julie Clifton has been elected to membership in Alpha Society, a scholastic honorary at Franklin.

Nebraska Beta, University of Nebraska

Sandy Snider has been named Outstanding Greek Health Aide for her performance in overseeing other Greek Health Aides on campus, planning health awareness projects and organizing speakers. She is also actively involved in the UNL AIDS Task Force. She was accepted into the University of Nebraska Medical Center in January.

California Delta, UCLA

Kelly Ames, a communications major, has been an actress for the past two years. She has appeared in several shows including "Knot's Landing," "The New Gidget," "Head of the Class," "Aaron's Way," as well as the feature film, "Licensed to Drive." Kelley spends a great deal of time at acting classes and averages three auditions per week.

Colorado Alpha, University of Colorado

This year marks the second consecutive year that the pledge class had the highest overall GPA on campus. On the Dean's List were pledges Carrie Berndt, Meera Goel, Jennifer Jackson, Traci Perdue, Kim Schiro, Tracy Scornavacco, Lisa Scovelle and Keri Mize.

Illinois Alpha, Monmouth

Eleven Pi Phis made Dean's List for fall term. Receiving 4.0 were Jackie Bell, Kelly Emmert, Sue Kozyra, Tiffany Mekshes and Anita Fort. Anita again had 4.0 for winter quarter and six were on the Dean's List.

South Dakota Alpha, USD

Jana Batteen and Kim Barth were contestants in the Miss University pageant, a preliminary to the Miss South Dakota pageant. Kim was named Miss Congeniality.

Pennsylvania Zeta, Washington & Jefferson

Cecilia Cooper earned the annual book prizes in both the history and political science departments and was elected to Phi Beta Kappa. A history/poly sci double major, Cecilia also earned a Merit Scholarship worth half her tuition to Emory Law School, where she will begin attending classes in the fall.

Michigan Gamma, Michigan State

Diane Grimm was awarded a scholarship from AISEC, an international organization for college students. She was one of two Michigan State representatives who toured Europe and attended week-long conferences in Switzerland over spring break.

Vermont Beta, University of Vermont

Judson Niver and Betsy Patchen have been involved in chartering the Vermont chapter of Order of Omega. Membership is based on outstanding scholastic achievement and community service. The honorary currently consists of 26 men and women.

Texas Beta and Phi Delta Theta held a car wash in March to benefit Carla Harbo, Pi Phi pledge who was hit by a car. Ed Sullivan and Laura Waters join in the effort to raise money for a fund to help pay Carla's hospital bills. She is currently in a rehabilitation center in Jackson, MS.

Ohio Delta, Ohio Wesleyan

Pi Phi maintained its high academic standing by once again heading the Greek GPA list. Pledges also made academics a high priority and topped their list. Many actives and pledges made the Dean's List and several had 4.0.

New York Gamma, St. Lawrence

Several Pi Phis participated in the campus production of "Godspell," with senior Kathleen Cassidy making her acting debut. Patricia Potenza and Catherine Chenot worked on props while Donna Wilson was a member of the stage crew.

Indiana Zeta, Ball State

Three Pi Phis, Amy Dye, Dena Hovis and Kari Bowie, participated in the Miss Ball State Scholarship Pageant.

Edna Morris is 1st female V.P.

When Edna Morris, South Carolina Alpha, received her recent promotion, she became the first female vice president in the Hardee's Food Systems, Inc. Named vice president of personnel, she was lauded for her excellent background and her commitment to the company. She develops, implements and coordinates policies and programs designed to provide effective personnel support to the company.

Edna feels that her appointment was due, in part, to experiences gained as a Pi Phi.

"My college experience at the University of South Carolina was an exciting, happy and memorable time for me," she writes. "Pledging Pi Phi in my freshman year and being a very active member throughout my college years has had a life-long impact.

"My association with the sorority brought opportunities for: a sense of belonging to an organization with thoughtful, caring and motivating values; increasing my ability to organize, manage, implement and communicate; risk-taking, knowing that a group would stand behind me and still love me if I did not always succeed; and, most of all, opportunities for a lot of fun and growth."

A Phi Beta Kappa graduate of South Carolina, Edna now lives in Rocky Mount, NC, where she is chairman of the Eastern North Carolina Industrial Council, on the City Schools Vocational Advisory Committee, the Area Women's Network Steering Committee and a member of the YWCA Board of Directors. She is also a member of the American Society of Personnel Administrators. Prior to her promotion, Edna was director of employee relations for Hardee's.

Heather Timmons, Alabama Gamma, created the t-shirt design to be used on this year's Greek Week shirt. She competed in a campus-wide contest and her artwork was chosen to represent Auburn University's Week of the Greeks!

Florida Alphas enjoy new house

Florida Alpha rushed for the first time last fall in their own house. Never before in Stetson University history have there been sorority houses on campus. This year, however, the school built seven new brick houses, with each house accommodating 16 girls.

Previously, each sorority had an apartment in a Panhellenic building. Three years ago the building was condemned and sororities were forced to meet in classrooms as well as hold rush in fraternity houses.

Florida Alphas are enjoying the closeness which the new house provides. The oldest chapter on campus, Pi Phi was founded there in 1913.

The sorority house complex was officially dedicated during Homecoming festivities this year on February 20, by Stetson President Dr. Douglas Lee.

Nancy Gillis, Alberta Alpha, competed in Windsor, Ontario, in the Canadian Senior Indoor Track and Field Championships and earned the title of Senior Canadian Long Jump Champion of 1988. The current chapter house mom, Nancy, was Canadian University champion in 1986 and 1987.

HOLT HOUSE—Pi Phi's heritage

by Nancy McClelland Simons

The annual meeting of the Holt House Committee was held in Monmouth, IL from October 6-8, 1987. Committee members attending were: Chairman, Anne Travis O'Connell; Treasurer, Pat Hunt James; Monmouth Representative, Jane Warfield; Publicity Chairman, Nancy McClelland Simons, and Grand Vice President of Philanthropies Adrienne Hiscox Mitchell.

Shortly after arriving in Monmouth, committee members joined the Monmouth Alumnae Club for luncheon and visited the Illinois Alpha chapter room in Marshall Hall. The Illinois Alpha House Corporation had just redecorated the room during the summer. Following that visit, the committee returned to Holt House to hear reports and survey work that had been completed the previous calendar year. We noted need for minor repairs in the upstairs apartment and that carpet in the halls and stairway needed to be replaced along with wallpaper in the hall. That evening, the committee enjoyed entertaining the Illinois Alpha Chapter with good talk, cider and donuts.

We felt there were several areas that needed immediate attention including taking bids on the hallway carpet and wallpaper, setting up service contracts for the furnaces, and taking bids on central air-conditioning. Many of the repairs needed for a home like Holt House are not obvious to visitors, but are necessary to maintain the good condition of the house. We were very pleased with the looks of the Music Room now that the donated couch has been recovered and new wallpaper hung. The committee was very grateful to receive donations for the general fund as well as for the piano fund, and decided to begin looking for a replacement for the grand piano. We would like to thank Pat Bono of the Mexico City Alumnae Club for her donation of a Windsor desk which will be placed in the Pine Room.

One of our last items of business was to review the slide program on Holt House to determine which ones needed to be replaced. We saw that many were very old and had yellowed with age, and that we needed to accommodate for the new furnishings and wallpaper. Pictures are in the process of being taken and should be available in the fall.

So much of what we attend to in our meetings seems to involve taking care of minute details that may never be noticed. However, we found it interesting to look at the old slides and then to see all the beautiful constructive changes that have been made over the years. We are most grateful for the interest and support of individual alums and chapters which make our work possible. The Holt House Committee would like to thank everyone for the continued devotion.

Joy finds joy in dancing!

Ann Arbor star is a dancing joy

"Average" is not the word to describe Joy McEwen. "Busy" would be more appropriate.

Joy is a Michigan Beta Pi Phi, a dance major in the School of Music at the University of Michigan. She will be receiving her B.F.A. in 1989.

Joy has been dancing for over four years. Her summers have been spent in various dance camps around the country, as well as performing in a host of dance festivals and dance companies.

A local Ann Arbor star, Joy's most recent performances in town have been "Zappa," a dance set to Frank Zappa's music, "Under the Sun," choreographed by Marsha Pabalis; "Seekers," with the Ann Arbor Dance Works; and "Cosmopolitan," a piece which Joy choreographed herself, with Dance and Related Arts.

Joy has studied various teaching techniques and, after graduation, hopes her hard work and dedication will pay off in a spot with a professional dance company.

Indiana Alpha Centennial

Indiana Alpha will celebrate its 100th anniversary October 14-16, 1988 at Franklin College. Any Pi Phi who would like to attend or have further information should write: Mrs. Robert G. Smith, 1090 West Jefferson Street, Franklin, IN 46131.

Seniors honored

Four seniors in the Fox River Valley, IL area are recipients of the Louise McKee Award, presented by the Fox River Valley Alumnae Club in memory of Mrs. McKee. Earning the $200 awards were Susan Rotolo, Christine Van Winkle, and Amy Stimson, Iowa Zetas, and Ellen Kelly, Illinois Theta.

Alumnae club establishes scholarship/help fund

by Susan Kingsley Robinson

"Bear ye one another's burdens," a familiar phrase to every Pi Phi, took on new meaning when it inspired the Kansas City, MO-Shawnee Mission, KS Alumnae Club to establish a special fund last year.

The Kansas City Pi Beta Phi Scholarship and Special Needs Fund is designed to help Pi Phis in the Kansas City area who are in financial need due to a personal or family misfortune. Unique in Pi Beta Phi, the fund is the first of its kind to be incorporated as a not-for-profit private foundation and to have qualified for tax-exempt status.

The impetus for establishing the fund came in 1986 when the alumnae club was approached about helping a recent graduate, diagnosed with cancer at a time when she was not covered by health insurance. About the same time, another alumna inquired if financial assistance might be available to help her attend graduate school. Although the club is one of the country's largest and has several successful fund-raising projects each year, the inquiries made us realize that we had no way to help our own local Pi Phis who might be in financial need.

As a result of the desire to find a solution, Kay Knittle Brock, a past president of the club, was asked to head a committee to investigate the possibilities of setting up a fund to benefit local Pi Phis. She was assisted by Barbara Roe Luhrs, Judy Gray McEachen, Kathy Moore Pinnell, Lynn Schaller, Liz Davis Schroeder and Margo Soule.

In the process of designing the program, the committee spent countless hours developing appropriate language to describe the eligibility requirements, application procedures, selection criteria and funding mechanisms. Attorneys Kathy Pinnell and Margo Soule handled the legal work and developed and adopted grant procedures.

The primary criterion for the grants is need. Pi Phis eligible to receive grants from the fund are either active and alumnae members residing in the greater Kansas City area, or are actives at Xi Province universities.

Grants are awarded on a case-by-case basis for an amount not more than $500. They are awarded primarily on financial need, but academic achievement, community and extracurricular activities, career goals and Pi Beta Phi activities are also considered. All applications and awards are confidential.

The committee is most proud of the fact that the grant may be used to cover a variety of expenses. For instance, while it is suggested to go for tuition, it may be used for such related expenses as child care. The special grants may cover financial needs due to such misfortunes as illness, injury, natural disaster or marital difficulties.

The corporation board has three officers. Kay Brock is serving as the first president of the fund. Barbara Luhrs is vice president/treasurer and Kathy Pinnell serves as secretary. Terms of the officers are staggered. The other three members of the fund are presidents of the club's Day, Night and Arrow Groups. Serving this year are Kathy Horridge Smith, Sally Spradling Watson and Judi Ann Rogers Knight.

Initial funds of $2,150, along with a second donation of $2,770, were provided by the alumnae club. Along with suggesting annual contributions, members are encouraged to give in memory of Pi Phi friends or to suggest to their own families that the fund might be an appropriate way for them to be remembered.

The first grants were made in January and February of this year.

While the fund is no way intended to draw our local resources away from the club's annual contributions to Pi Beta Phi philanthropies, it allows us to help bear the financial burden of some of our less fortunate friends.

The Kansas City-Shawnee Mission Alumnae Club would be happy to share information about how its scholarship and special needs fund was established. Write to Mrs. Stuart W. Brock, President, Kansas City Pi Beta Phi Scholarship and Special Needs Fund, 5459 85th Terr., Shawnee Mission, KS 66207.

Initiation prompts cross country flight

Mary Davis Kennedy, California Beta, walked into the spacious Pacific Avenue home in San Francisco on November 14, 1987, at 7:00 a.m. She had flown all night from Washington, DC, after meeting the President and being introduced to the press at the nomination of her husband, Judge Anthony Kennedy, to the United States Supreme Court.

So why was Mrs. Kennedy paying a social call at such an early hour? Well, November 14 was the date of initiation for California Alpha and her daughter, Kristen, was about to become an active member.

A 19-year-old sophomore from Sacramento attending Stanford University, Kristen is a very active Pi Phi, even though she, like her mother, spent some time away from campus in Washington, appearing with her father.

Using the skills she honed as one of the chapter's three pledge presidents, Kristen has been involved in the organization of many of California Alpha's activities. During the fall she helped plan the chapter's Pledge Party, when each "little sister" found a surprise date for her "big sis." In winter, Kristen organized the Pi Beta Phi-Kappa Kappa Gamma Benefit Spaghetti Dinner. It was an affair that brought much of the campus in from the cold for a great Italian meal, cooked and served by lovely Greek waitresses! During the spring, Kristen was busy with rush as chairman of the first rush party of the year—an open house with a jungle theme.

Although Kristen is busy with her Pi Phi activities, she still finds time for other diversions. She is active in drama at Stanford. She was involved recently, as dancer and singer, in "West Side Story," an elaborate production that ran for two weeks.

Kristen enjoys her studies as well and is looking forward to spending part of next year in France with one of Stanford's study abroad programs.

Wearing blue hard hats, Salli Sanguiliano, a past president of Florida Epsilon, Helen Larzelere Whittle and Eleanor Yothers Fisher, House Corporation members, participate in ground-breaking ceremonies for the Florida Epsilon chapter house. Salli chaired the event and Helen and Eleanor are co-chairmen of House Corp.

Chapter house going up!

Nothing is more exciting for a sorority than a ground-breaking and February 13 was a special day on the calendars of Florida Epsilon Pi Phis. Ground was broken on that date for the new chapter house.

Although the weather was rather chilly for a Saturday in Florida, the happy faces and large attendance made the afternoon a warm and unforgettable occasion. It was a time when all the hard work that alumnae and chapter had done became real. The many fund-raising activities made the moment actually transform from the dreams and high hopes of the chapter to the reality that the house was on its way, with the possibility that it will be ready for rush this year.

Ceremonies took place on the Pi Phi lot in Greek Park on the University of Central Florida campus in Orlando. Attending the festivities were old and new House Corporation members, Dr. Trevor Colborn, UCF President, associate and assistant deans of students, the architect, the builder, the active chapter and many alumnae—over 100 total. An outdoor luncheon was served following the ground-breaking ceremony.

Date rape video shown

On March 1, Kansas Beta and the men of Sigma Nu met together to view a video on date rape. The video was provided by Chimes, junior honorary, and consisted of a scene from the popular television series "L.A. Law." The group watched the video and then held a thirty minute discussion on this rapidly growing problem on college campuses.

Purpose of the gathering was to make everyone aware of the problem and provide suggestions to help prevent it from happening in the future. The presentation was an eye-opening experience and left members of Kansas Beta vowing to protect themselves and their sisters.

are owners of a business specializing in holiday home decoration. They transformed the house into a Christmas dream. There were three mammoth Christmas trees, miles of garland, wreaths and wall hangings of every description and a sea of poinsettias. A handcarved nativity, valued at $3,000, graced the entry and nearly 1,000 luminarias lit the grounds and drive nightly. It was an incredible transformation.

A successful show

When the doors finally closed, over 2,000 people had visited to the benefit of four local philanthropies, each represented by Pi Phis: the Greater Albuquerque Habitat for Humanity affiliate; Casa Esperanza, a temporary residence for cancer treatment patients and their families; All Faith's Receiving Home, a residential care facility for children in crisis; and the Albuquerque Community Foundation, where the Pi Beta Phi Emergency Loan Fund (ELF) has been established. A sizeable contribution was made also to the New Mexico Beta Chapter at New Mexico State University.

The Pi Beta Phi Interior Design Show has become, over the past twenty years, a well established philanthropic fund-raiser. Approximately $40,000.00 has been contributed to the community over the years. Equally important is the contribution that Interior Design has made to Pi Phi.

The Christmas theme this year added a new appeal. Although, it made the holiday season rather hectic for those involved, it was a great way to get into the Christmas spirit.

The Albuquerque Alumnae Club loves Interior Design. Besides fulfilling financial needs, it truly binds the alumnae to their Pi Phi friendships, by providing an opportunity to work together.

Design show repeats success

by Diedra Johnston Lucero

Yes, they did it again! The Albuquerque (NM) Alumnae Club's eleventh Interior Design Show in 20 years is over and it was another huge success.

This long standing community endeavor began in 1967 in response to the club's need to support and maintain the New Mexico Alpha active chapter and house at the University of New Mexico. They also had a strong desire to contribute to their local community and the many Pi Phi philanthropies. Glynnie Hubbard Galles, 1967 club president, was the motivating force behind the first show.

The biennial event is produced in cooperation with the American Society of Interior Designers. It combines the professional skills and expertise of ASID and the organizational and promotional capabilities of the local alum club. Pi Phi Andrea Nungesser is professional liaison with ASID.

Plans had a slow start this year. With past shows, six months to a year were allowed for planning purposes. Ideally, initial plans for the next show begin shortly after closing the previous one.

In September two possibilities for a show site arose and Gretchen Brooks Cleff and Diedra Johnston Lucero agreed to co-chair a Christmas show.

Options included a brand new, modern, glass-fronted beauty clinging to the face of the 10,000 ft. high Sandia Mountains or a ten year old, 6,000 square foot traditional New Mexico adobe, also in the Sandia foothills. The adobe had been vacant for four years and was a very "needy" house. So, which was chosen? Of course, the designers wanted a challenge. The adobe was the one.

Work begins

The easy part was over and Gretchen and Diedra began to pull together a steering committee. There was much to be accomplished in less than three months.

The dates were set. December 2 was the night of the gala premiere with 400 in attendance. The show continued through December 8.

It is hard to imagine just how much dirt can accumulate in four years. But after a complete cleaning and facelift, the house was glowing. Designers worked their magic on the dozen different rooms. They included everything from antiques to New Mexico traditional and back to contemporary. It all tied together very effectively with an underlying Southwestern theme.

By a great stroke of luck, Cathy Riccobene Penick, a past president of the club, and her husband, Jack,

Indiana Epsilon achieves dramatic improvements

by Cindy Dugan

DePauw University is a prime example of the independent liberal arts college which represents the best traditions of American educational institutions. DePauw is committed to academic excellence, growth in personal and social awareness and preparation for leadership. Members of Indiana Epsilon have upheld these standards and were recognized recently for their scholastic standing.

Just as DePauw is continually strengthening its academics, Pi Phis have worked extremely hard to improve their standing on campus. At a recent awards ceremony, Pi Beta Phi was honored for achieving the highest grade point average among sororities. Their 3.05 average also earned them the third highest grade point on campus. (The two living units that were first and second have seven and ten members, respectively.)

These awards are the result of a revived emphasis on academics. Less than three years ago Pi Phi ranked ninth among the ten sororities on DePauw's campus. The chapter was forced to redefine its goals and priorities. Study tables were enforced and a proctoring system was organized. This was just the beginning of increased academic awareness.

Chapter Parents' Clubs enthusiastically provided necessary support. They offered monetary rewards for the member in each class with the highest GPA and the most improved GPA. This proved to be a good incentive for many! To make the awards even more prestigious, they were presented at a formal scholarship banquet, held each fall during Parents' Weekend.

Many other programs have been initiated in the past two years. A weekly award, the "Smarty Smurf," is given to any member who did outstanding work on a test or paper. In an effort to keep second semester seniors motivated, "Senior Awards" were established, given to seniors who did well on a presentation or exam, or perhaps just studied hard. These awards are accumulated all semester and the one who earns the most is given a certificate for a dinner for two at a nearby inn.

Last semester VP Mental Christy Miller created a competition within the house. Based on themes from M*A*S*H 4077, she divided the

Blackmon dreams of acting career

by Amy Palleschi

So many little girls dream of becoming actresses. I wonder if Faye Dunaway, listed in the "Pi Phi Alumnae of Distinction," had this same dream? One Pi Phi did, and still does!

Mary Elizabeth Blackmon, Louisiana Alpha, has wanted to become an actress since she was two years old. Her acting debut began at that tender young age when, at a dinner party given by her parents at their home in Monroe, LA, Mary ran headlong into a wall, grunting and screeching with arms flailing, shocking her family with her imitation of Helen Keller. Ironically, "The Story of Helen Keller" was her first play ten years later.

During high school, Mary did community theatre at the Strauss Playhouse in Monroe, and continued acting in college. As a sophomore at Tulane, she played the part of Countess Geschvitz in "Five From Lulu." Lulu was played by another Pi Phi, Angela Dohrmann, Mary's Mary Elizabeth Blackmon is on her way to the top, while following her dream.

"big sister" who is currently acting in New York. At the rate things are going for Mary, she may be joining her!

Mary Elizabeth had her first professional part as Nan Woodall in "In the Heat of the Night" which aired on NBC March 6. She had gone along "for the ride" with a friend who was auditioning and ended up auditioning herself. Mary was nervous and excited about working with Carroll O'Connor and Doug Savant, but after filming, "We ended up like a family. They're great people."

She can also be seen in "Everybody's All American" with Timothy Hutton, Dennis Quaid, Jessica Lange and John Goodman, expected to come out next Christmas. Mary Elizabeth plays the part of "...the pretty girl, the one who blows Timothy Hutton off!" Mary admits that she thought Hutton would be intimidating, but found him to be friendly and comfortable to work with, along with the other famous actors in the film.

What does the future hold for Mary Elizabeth Blackmon? She has just been cast in a documentary on AIDS for high schools, and is glad to do it. "I believe that it's for a good cause; it is something that our nation's youth should know and understand."

This summer, Mary plans to head to the West Coast to record a song and get an agent there, "hopefully with some good auditions!" As for college, Mary is anxious to graduate with her Newcomb degree, and is also thinking about law school.

. . . on the death of a pledge

This letter is supposed to be my farewell to this office and a summing up [of] the events and my feelings on this past year. This past week has done so much to change my perspective on things.

If I had written this before the third of December, it would have been filled with glowing reports of the rapport built between the actives and pledges, the unity of the pledge class, their successful fund-raiser and my motherly apprehension at handing over this terrific office.

Then we lost a pledge.

That is what this letter is about. Because unique to the way that I have chosen to act out my office is the sense of loss and the nagging irrational feeling that somehow I should have taken better care of them.

It is a sad part of human nature that often someone must die before people around them take a good look at life. Leslie Ann's death has shown the chapter the power of sisterhood, and has opened the doors for an outpouring of emotion to each other that this chapter has desperately needed.

I met with the pledges on Sunday night after it happened, and it was obvious how this had changed them. And yet, instead of becoming bitter and sad, they wanted to know what they could do, for the family, for me and for themselves. Mostly, too, they had a lot of questions that I, as pledge trainer and self-appointed guardian, felt compelled to try and answer.

So we talked, all of us. In the chapter room with all of the lights out except one, and looked at the Christmas tree.

And I tried to tell them about magic, and sisterhood, and goosebumps, and those sometimes inexplicable Pi Phi ideals that are still so new to them.

And the funniest part?

I think they understood. Through this tragedy these pledges I have come to love and care about beyond reason, have begun to feel what it has taken me five years to understand: that this Pi Phi thing is the something so special that anyone looking in on it from the heavens would get goosebumps.

Now time is beginning to erode some of the sharp pain of those initial days. But I see in their eyes when they look at each other that they really do share a special secret all our own.

Going through this ordeal with the chapter and the pledges has given this job a monumental place in my memory and my heart.

It is with sadness, but satisfaction and greater insight that I end this year, this office and this letter.

Peace be with you,

*(The above letter was written

Scholarship honors bone cancer victim

by Pam Carr

When Denise Greef of Massapequa Park, NY pledged Alabama Beta in August of 1985, she had been diagnosed two years before as having bone cancer, and was recovering from major surgery two months earlier. She was in remission throughout her pledgeship. Even though she made her grades in the spring of 1986, she was unable to return in the fall because the cancer was again spreading. She took a year off for more surgery and months of chemotherapy.

The girls at Alabama Beta were very happy when Denise returned to Alabama in August, 1987. Special dispensation allowed her to be initiated with the second-semester pledges of 1986. She contributed her outgoing, positive personality to rush, renewed old friendships and made new friends.

Her participation in rush and initiation allowed her to meet two of the goals she had set for herself. As rush drew to a close, however, Denise developed a painful lump in her thigh. After consulting with her nurse in New York, Denise decided it was best to leave.

Denise refused to spend her last days in a hospital so she was allowed to stay home. Early in the morning, December 5, 1987, Denise Greef died.

Alabama Beta is in the process of establishing a memorial scholarship in her name from funds received from friends of the family, Denise's parents and the chapter. The partial scholarship will be awarded not on the basis of grades, but on need. The Greef family wants the award to go to a girl who has been an outgoing positive asset to the Alabama Beta chapter, just as Denise will always be remembered by her sisters.

When Elizabeth Watkins, center, accepted her bid to Utah Alpha, she became the third generation to choose Pi Phi at the University of Utah. Sharing their pleasure are her mother, Marilyn Mason Watkins, left, and her grandmother, Lorene Romney Mason, a charter member of the chapter.

Abigail Johnson is a tiny eight month old baby who has many people in Cleveland, OH rooting for her. The Cleveland East Pi Beta Phi Alumnae Club raises money every year through auctions, sales and donations to help a needy family at Christmastime. Carol Rader, granddaughter of Edith Hoyer Rankin, both Ohio Betas, was chairman of the 1987 Christmas Family Project. Clifford and Nancy Johnson, Abigail's parents, were located through Ronald McDonald House—a place for parents to stay, close to their seriously ill children.

Abigail, the Johnson's first child, was born with a major heart defect, Truncus Arteriosus or a three chambered heart without proper lung connections. At six months of age, she had open heart surgery to reconstruct the defective structures. Nancy Johnson had to quit her teaching job when Abigail was born, to care for her. Clifford had spent the last ten years learning to walk and talk after a crippling car accident. Without Nancy's job, he had to leave school. The money raised by the Cleveland East Alumnae helped pay for food and medical bills during Abigail's two month hospital stay.

Last December, the Johnsons and the alumnae club's assistance were written up in the local newspaper, The Cleveland Plain Dealer. Cleveland East alumnae visited Abigail, at home on oxygen, with homemade cookies three months after her operation. The whole family is doing well, thanks, in part, to a caring group of Pi Phis.

New York Deltas played a major part during the re-colonization of the Syracuse Pi Phi chapter. An Arrow Night Club was the theme of their first rush party.

NY Deltas rush to Syracuse

by Fern Feil

An enthusiastic entourage of New York Deltas from Cornell University helped bring back the Pi Phi chapter at Syracuse University early this year. Preparations began first semester with consultations with national officers on logistics and supplies, and culminated with New York Deltas traveling back and forth to Syracuse for two days to rush hundreds of responsive Syracuse students.

The Syracuse rush, on February 4th and 6th, began just two weeks after New York Delta had successfully completed its own rush. The timing was perfect—just enough time to recuperate from rush, but not enough to forget lines or songs. Thursday night's "Arrow Night Club" had everyone dressed in black and featured a short skit and song. On Saturday, parties were longer and New York Delta's traditional "Alice in Rushland" skit was performed. Both parties were enormously successful, with an even greater turnout than expected.

Now Syracuse once again has a Pi Phi chapter on campus and New York Delta is glad to have participated in the process. Not only did they have a terrific time, but now they have a delightful group of young women to visit in the future!

Chapter helps with children

by Julie Ibos

Louisiana Beta at Louisiana State has become involved in a worthwhile program for the aid of underprivileged children. Called the Big Buddy Program, it is based in the Baton Rouge area.

The volunteer Big Buddy is placed with a child from an underprivileged family or a broken home. The participant is asked to spend at least three hours per week with her child. Usually the friends become so close that they spend even more time with each other. The Big Buddy is really an asset for the child, because she provides a source of regularity in the child's life. A trust is established between volunteer and child that the child grows to depend on. The child knows that the Big Buddy will be there, and he looks forward to the visits. With such good feelings, the child sees that there is good and happiness even in his somewhat unhappy life.

One Pi Phi Big Buddy said, "Having a little buddy makes me feel so good. We do things each week—staying inside and doing homework, playing in the park, going to the library, or just going to McDonald's. He really enjoys it, and just seeing him smile makes my day."

Obviously, both the little buddy and the Pi Phi sister benefit from the Big Buddy Program.

Dorothy Davis Collins, Indiana Epsilon, is the new house mom for California Epsilon at San Diego State. Dorothy was a member of the 1949 pledge class at DePauw University. Her mother, Josephine Bagley Davis, and her aunt, Jane Bagley Goddard, are both Ohio Alpha Pi Phis and Golden Arrows.

Dorothy enjoys spending her winters in sunny San Diego, but says house moms "have come a long way, baby!"

Silhouettist shares talents with others

by Marilyn Webb Hoch

Talented Helen Fisher with just a few of the hundreds of silhouettes she has cut over the years.

When we picture an artist in our minds, we tend to visualize someone with brush, palette and paints. Helen E. Fisher, Indiana Gamma, is an artist who wields a pair of scissors and a sheet of black paper to create her imagery. She is one of only a handful of modern-day silhouettists still practicing the art, which first appeared in England about 1700 and spread to America toward the end of the 18th century.

As a young woman hoping for a career in art, Helen studied drawing and painting at Herron Art School in Indianapolis and sculpture in Frankfort, IN, her hometown. But the Depression years offered few opportunities for her to pursue her dreams, so she took a position as manager of a gift shop.

Helen's introduction to silhouette cutting was pure happenstance. One day Tri Kappa sorority sponsored a silhouette artist in her gift shop. While the silhouettist made $35 for a day's work, Helen sold only a nickle card. Deciding that she, too, could cut silhouettes, she practiced on her family over the weekend.

"Then I called a friend and asked if her Tri Kappa group would sponsor me." They did and Helen made $35 her first day.

Between 1932 and 1942, silhouetting became her full-time occupation. At first her work took her to towns all across Indiana, but she eventually traveled to almost every state east of the Mississippi, as well as some to the west. Each silhouette head sold for only 50 cents ($1 for a full-length figure), and she returned 30 percent of her sales to the sponsoring organization. However, Helen was soon earning enough to support herself, her mother and a cousin who was like a sister to her. "I even bought a new car every few years," she adds.

In 1942 she gave up traveling to take a job with the Army Map Service in Washington, DC, but she continued to cut silhouettes for church groups and others on request. Retiring in 1969, she returned to Indiana and, for a while, began traveling again cutting silhouettes. An eye problem hindered her work and eventually caused her to discontinue her cutting. Instead she returned to painting in oils and watercolors, and she also taught children's drawing classes in Greenwood, IN where she has made her home for the past 19 years. Recent eye surgery has restored her vision and she hopes soon to resume her silhouette work on a limited basis and only in her own studio.

Helen estimates she has cut over 80,000 black paper profiles since she first began her scissor-artistry. Because she always cut in duplicate, occasionally in triplicate, she has copies of hundreds of her silhouettes. Not long ago she presented 300 of them to the Indiana State Museum in Indianapolis. In recent months she has been pasting her original patterns in scrapbooks. Twelve scrapbooks are already filled.

"In a way, the patterns are more interesting than the silhouettes," she explains. "They have the name of the person and the date on them, and you can see my pencil lines."

Helen has been a loyal Pi Phi alumna through the years. When she worked in the nation's Capitol, she belonged to the Washington D.C. Alumnae Club and was also active in the D.C. Panhellenic organization. She has been a member of the Indianapolis South Suburban Alumnae Club since 1969.

Michigan attorney speaks on hazing

David Westol, national vice president of Theta Chi fraternity, is a prominent attorney in Michigan. He is also well-known for his anti-hazing presentations at many regional and national Greek conferences. The Sigma Alpha Epsilon chapter at Florida State University recently invited David to the campus to speak on hazing.

Mr. Westol set the stage as if the audience were the jury in a courtroom and established a hypothetical fraternity with fictional characters. He cited incidents when pledges were told to lie down and catch eggs in their mouths, dropped from two stories up; line-ups which allowed brothers to yell in pledges' faces; nights when pledges were forced to do such things as an excessive number of push-ups or running long distances to prove their physical strength; and, of course, no matter what the pledges were required to do, they were induced with an absurd amount of alcohol.

The point of Westol's presentation was that these sorts of activities, as requirements in a pledge program, do not teach pledges how to uphold tradition or maintain chapter unity. They do not create fraternal brotherhood. What is created are negative feelings and weak fraternal bonds. And, in many cases, these acts are the causes of death.

Sweetheart formal is full night of fun

by Robin Dun

Alberta Alpha Pi Phi held their annual Sweetheart Formal on February 6, 1988 at the prestigious downtown Centre Club in Edmonton. The event of the year for Alberta Alphas was planned and organized by Beth Allard, and her interest group assistants.

The evening began at a pre-party hosted by graduating seniors, Leanne and Loreen Nielsen. Everyone gathered at the Nielsen home to eat chocolate dipped strawberries, to admire the dresses and dates. From there, the party moved to the Centre Club where the fun continued.

Judge Marjorie Montgomery Bowker, a distinguished Alberta Alpha alumna, was this year's patron. She gave an encouraging talk prompting continued fraternity spirit, especially after graduation. She's a perfect role model, as her 50 year pin professes. Departing president Tammy Sernecky, gave an emotional, humorous account of her previous year as president, and wished incoming president, Sandra Sharp, the best of luck. Since everyone had waited so long for this night, all were reluctant to depart, as hostess of the post-party, Holly Fletcher, well knows. Holly invited everyone to her house, where the night grew to day as we played good music, games and ate chocolate chip pancakes (at 10:30 the next morning). All in all, it was a night not soon to be forgotten, and one hoped to be repeated.

Professors rushed by campus Greeks

by Terrilyn Fleming

The house is immaculate, with fresh flowers on every table. Girls are dressed in their best, Pi Phi decorations adorn every wall. Someone shouts the warning, "They're coming!" An air of expectancy hangs heavy. All of a sudden, the doorbell rings. But instead of nervous freshmen, a group of professors is escorted into the house.

Strange? Unusual? Maybe so. But Oregon Gamma Pi Phi were hosting "professor rushees," March 4, 1988. The idea behind Willamette University's "professor rush," in which all sororities on campus participated, was to acquaint the group with the Greek system, and to convince the professors of the need to keep a fall rush, instead of deferring it until spring semester.

Oregon Gamma served a dessert, took the professors on a tour of the house, answered questions about Greek life and sorority rush, and concluded with their 1985 award-winning song, "Proud to be a Pi Phi Angel."

Virginia Etas Kim Somerville and Mindy Harris, California Zeta Linda Ratner and 475 other U.S. college students traveled around the world on the "Semester at Sea" program. One of their stops included a camel ride near the Egyptian pyramids. While earning college credits they visited Japan, Taiwan, Hong Kong, China, India, Egypt, U.S.S.R., Turkey, Yugoslavia and Spain.

'Hello, Pi Phi, hello' at biennial state day

by Carol Ann Middlebrook Carter

On February 20, Mississippi Pi Phi gathered in Jackson, MS for their biennial State Day, hosted by the Jackson Alumnae Club. Mississippi Alpha and Mississippi Beta active chapters chartered buses to travel to the capital city for a day of Pi Phi fellowship.

The morning began with coffee, informal registration and the exchange of names and ideas. Since Oxford and Hattiesburg are 300 miles apart, actives were delighted to meet and make new Pi Phi friends. Alumnae also had a chance to meet girls whose names so often appear only on paper.

Lunch, a fashion show and numerous door prizes created a wonderful time for all. The hard work done by Cathy Collins Bowles, State Day chairman, had really paid off.

Highlight of the day was the speaker. Sara McLeod, Traveling Graduate Consultant and a Mississippi Beta, had taken time from her busy schedule to tell many interesting and humorous stories about her travels during the year.

Following Sara's speech, the Jackson Alumnae Club and the Vicksburg, MS Pocket presented their awards. The Chapter Service Award for Mississippi Alpha, an engraved silver tray, was presented to Andrea Conerly. Mississippi Beta's Chapter Service Award was earned by Gena Milliken. The Community Service Award went to Mississippi Alpha. Ann Edwards Tonkin of the Vicksburg Pocket presented the Loving Cup for excellence in scholarship to Key Summers, Mississippi Beta.

With such a day filled with renewed Pi Beta Phi friendships, everyone left looking forward to 1990 and the next Mississippi Pi Beta Phi State Day.

ALUMNAE YOUR HELP IS NEEDED!

1. Fill out a Rush Information Form (RIF). See form in this magazine. Additional forms are available from the Alumnae Club Rush Information Chairmen (ACRIC) listed in this issue or from Central Office, 7730 Carondelet, Suite 333, St. Louis, MO 63105.
2. Return the completed form to the ACRIC in the rushee's home city or send a personal letter directly to the Membership Chairman of the appropriate chapter. If the form is sent directly to the chapter, the ACRIC from the rushee's club area would appreciate receiving a copy of factual information.
3. Although only one RIF is needed for each rushee, letters are welcome from all alumnae who may wish to write.

house into four groups. Each team earned points by attending lectures on campus, studying with their freshmen study buddies, participating in symposiums, receiving high test and/or paper scores, and other academic or cultural events.

Their efforts were successful as seven Pi Phis had 4.0, 28 made Dean's List, four were in Mortar Board and 28 were in Pi Society. The current VP Mental, Elizabeth LeSourd, is striving to maintain the awareness with her calendar listing due dates of major papers, presentations or exams of Indiana Epsilon members. The scholarship committee will send notes of encouragement prior to the event.

Indiana Epsilon is proud of its accomplishments and hopes to maintain these academic achievements.

Cheerleader Karen Perkins, center, and pompon girls Karl Bowle and Cami Bruin, are Indiana Zetas who help spark enthusiasm for Ball State teams. This is the first year for each of the girls on their respective squads.

Alums eat well in No. Virginia

A very important interest group within the Northern Virginia Alumnae Club is the Bon Appetit dinner group. It brings together 24 couples and substitutes for three or four get-togethers a year. The couples are assigned to one of three homes. Hostesses for the dinners meet and plan the evening's menu and theme, then distribute the recipes to be used to those assigned to their homes. The host couple is responsible for beverages, table settings and dishes.

Each couple prepares the assigned recipe and brings it to the dinner ready to be served. Bills for ingredients go to the hostess, who then tallies the dinner cost and divides it among the couples.

This special interest activity has been going on in the Northern Virginia Club for over eleven years. It often brings together former officers and collegians, the latter now married and active alumnae. New Pi Phi residents in the area soon discover that a Bon Appetit dinner is a special evening of good food, good memories and old friends in new places.

Chapter misses being together

There's no place like home! Just ask any South Carolina Beta.

Clemson University's Barnett Hall, the dorm that housed the Pi Phi floor, became the subject of asbestos removal this year. Fifty-two sisters scattered in all directions to temporary lodgings on and off campus, with the University Housing Office providing an interim chapter room. Clemson Pi Phis looked forward especially to their weekly meetings, mixers and other sorority functions, since those were the only times they could all be together.

The relocation was not without its rewards. Sisters came to appreciate just how important is the time they do have to spend together and how convenient it is to have a dorm area for themselves.

In August, South Carolina Beta will return to a renovated Barnett. Interior designers helped plan the remodeling of their dorm, the chapter kitchen and chapter room. But, best of all, Pi Phis can look forward to being together again.

Doctor continues to expand horizons

by Kay Woody Lynch

Enthusiasm does make a difference, and no one exemplifies that more than Barbara McDougal, Ph.D., M.D., Texas Gamma alumna living in Lubbock, TX.

As a physician, Dr. McDougal works at two hospitals. Medicine is, of course, a focal point in her life and as an emergency physician, Barbara shares her energy and compassion. The variety of emergency medicine appeals to her.

Her drive sustained four academic degrees and prompted her to tackle jobs as varied as installing her own yard sprinkler system and swapping ideas in pulmonary medicine with Soviet counterparts on a recent trip to Russia.

Barbara earned a bachelor's degree in chemistry and a master's in zoology from Texas Tech University. College honors included the Province Chapter Service Award. Her contributions to Texas Gamma helped win the Balfour Cup and other Pi Phi national awards.

Subsequently, Barbara received her doctorate in physiology from the University of Kansas and a medical degree from the University of New Mexico. Returning to K.U., she completed a residency in internal medicine, a fellowship in kidney diseases, and joined the faculty as a specialist in kidney dialysis and transplantation. Later she practiced internal medicine in Oklahoma and was active in related organizations, serving on several state committees before returning to Lubbock. She was named one of the state's outstanding women by Oklahoma Monthly.

Barbara says that pacing herself and setting priorities help her adjust to the stress of practice, but she has many outside interests as well. She enjoys yard work and even builds her own flower boxes. She also researches her family history, snow skis and travels. She has visited Kenya, Europe, Nepal and Russia and is currently planning a trip to Australia and New Zealand. She continues to expand her horizons in other ways as well, planning to continue her practice and teaching, and to conduct research in medicine.

Barbara maintains ties with Pi Phi through membership in the Lubbock Alumnae Club and stays in touch with Texas Gamma sisters at annual reunions. She was in charge of a mother-daughter reunion in Santa Fe, NM two years ago.

Any of her sisters will testify that a dose of Barbara's fellowship is one of the best "uppers" around.

Cal Delta sister is Teen Queen

One of the outstanding members of the 1987 California Delta pledge class is Lisa Morgan, Miss Teen America of 1986-87. Lisa's honor was based on academic and individual accomplishments.

During a four month selection process, Lisa wrote essays on current issues and world problems as well as a sample column for Teen Magazine. She was flown to California from her home in Chicago as one of the twelve finalists. Following interviews and photo sessions with the magazine, Lisa was chosen Miss Teen America.

Along with the honor of being named Miss Teen America, Lisa won a $20,000 scholarship and a new convertible.

Indiana Alpha pledge Chris Sovich gets a pie in the face from TKE Ken Sandel during a "Pie at a Pi Phi" pie throwing contest. Pledges raised $150 in the event, held to finance their annual pledge function.

Michigan Beta celebrates 100

One hundred years ago, five charter members founded the Michigan Beta Chapter of Pi Beta Phi on April 7, 1888. The chapter's centennial celebration will take place this fall, October 21-23, 1988, to allow more than 1,200 Michigan Beta alumnae from all over the United States to take part in the fun.

The celebration will be kicked off on Friday night with a decade theme party. There will be a tailgate party at the chapter house Saturday before a home football game, at which they will cheer on the Wolverines from a block of 200 reserved seats! A gala banquet will follow the game to top off an exciting and memorable weekend of renewing wine and silver blue ties.

Michigan Beta alumnae and actives have formed a Centennial Committee in preparation for the anniversary. The committee is chaired by Isabelle Williams Clark and Pam Stone Crawford, and was formed in October 1987. Delegates were sent to Michigan Alpha earlier in the year to help that chapter celebrate its centennial and, in addition, get ideas for their own celebration.

In preparation for the festivities, the Michigan Beta House Corporation, with help from generous alumnae, is redecorating the downstairs of 836 Tappan in a wine and silver blue theme.

Do you recognize any of these women? Hint—they are all members of Arrowmont's Board of Governors. They were allowed to take a bit of time away from business to celebrate Halloween during their October meeting. Masks and head ornaments were from Mary Dale Swan, Arrowcraft Manager.

Jean Reider, Missouri Alpha, has been named the Most Outstanding Undergraduate in the College of Education at Mizzou. She is actively involved in campus and sorority activities, as well as in education organizations.

In 1954 when Zillah Turman Oden, Nina Maria Korth Cole, Margaret Edmonson Alcorn and Rita Roberdeau Palm (seated, l-r) were initiated into Texas Alpha, they never imagined that they would get together years later for a Louisiana Alpha initiation. Maria Oden, Zillah's daughter, was initiated recently by chapter President Courtney Palm, Rita's daughter. Attending the initiation banquet are (back, l-r) Maria, Kim Fisher, Dede Stevens, Margery Hodges, Texas Alpha, and Courtney.

Pledge classes hold second reunion

On September 25-26, 1987, Pi Phis from the University of Missouri gathered in Columbia for the second time since graduation for a fun-filled weekend of merry making and a renewal of old friendships. Women from the pledge classes of 1966-1971 spent one night in the chapter house and one night at the Campus Inn, reliving old times and sharing family pictures and stories as they caught up on each other's lives.

The weekend included a lunch at the house, a banquet and a breakfast buffet, and plenty of free time to visit favorite haunts on campus.

Organized by Judy Fehrman Roberts and Candy Towns Culivan, the consensus was that a wonderful time was had by all! In addition, donations from the 55 women went toward the purchase of new designer lamps for the formal living room in the chapter house.

Before everyone said her last goodbyes, it was unanimously voted that the third Missouri Alpha Pi Beta Phi Ring Ching Reunion be held in five years.

elping others... through chapter service projects

CALIFORNIA ETA'S first pie social was a tremendous success. Close to $1,000 was raised for Arrowmont. Tickets were sold for $1.00 which allowed an unlimited amount of pie to be eaten. Each Pi Phi gave at least two pies, so over 200 were consumed by hungry fraternity men, sorority women and other students.

In November, WYOMING ALPHA combined with COLORADO GAMMA to raise over $2,000 in a Pi Phi Run. Both chapters biked and ran from their towns of Laramie, WY and Fort Collins, CO to Cheyenne, WY. Once in Cheyenne, the chapters were greeted by Pi Phi alumnae and a local pizza parlor with plenty of refreshments and singing. Half of the money raised went to each chapter with Wyoming Alpha's share going to Pi Phi philanthropies and the Alumni Association Scholarship Fund.

MINNESOTA ALPHA won $800 for Arrowmont during Sigma Chi Derby Days this spring. Krissy Lasco was also chosen Derby Darling.

The Juvenile Diabetes Foundation benefited when ARIZONA ALPHA, Alpha Epsilon Phi and Kappa Alpha Theta pulled together for a block party fund-raiser. The city blocked off the street in front of the three houses for this special non-alcoholic event and over $2,398 was raised for the Foundation.

Deanna Seeley, SOUTH DAKOTA ALPHA, was co-chairman of the 1988 Dance for Dystrophy at the University of South Dakota. She was in charge of five sub-committees and making all final arrangements. She also received second place for raising the most money and the chapter was the first place Greek organization in amount of money raised.

TEXAS GAMMA decorated the community center in Lubbock and held a "beach party" for minors, ages 10-17, who are on probation within Lubbock County. The Youth Center wanted to show the young people that one can have a good time without drugs and alcohol. Entertainment included air band, dance and pool contests.

Sean McDaniel and Louisiana Betas Teenie Broussard, Maureen Moody, Julie Ibos and Joan Broussard gather around Liz Libiez as she donates blood in the annual Acacia Vein Drain at Louisiana State.

MICHIGAN GAMMAS won first place in SAE's Winter Carnival during February at Michigan State. At the same time, they helped raise a great deal of money for SAE's philanthropy. Pi Phis were paired with Betas for the event.

MINNESOTA ALPHA paired with Kappa to try out their baby sitting skills. The girls go to Saint Mary's Hospital to play with newborns being held for adoption.

CALIFORNIA EPSILON received the first annual Alpha Gamma Delta Community Service Award, honoring the sorority that has done the most for the community around San Diego State. In honor of their recent re-colonization there, AGD presented Panhellenic with a silver platter as the traveling annual award.

"Sky High with Pi Beta Phi" was the theme for CALIFORNIA KAPPA'S balloon ride raffle. Each chapter member was asked to sell ten tickets for $1.00 each. The Wisconsin Alpha and Sigma Alpha Epsilon team up for a show-stopping performance of their own version of Roman history. The original comedy musical was presented during the 1988 Humorology show at the University of Wisconsin. The American Cancer Society and the Madison AIDS Support Network benefited from this year's production.

raffle raised $600 for Settlement School while a lucky Pi Phi won a balloon ride for herself and a date.

INDIANA GAMMA sponsored a Jail and Bail during Butler University's Greek Week and raised over $1,200 for the American Cancer Society.

Every year Auburn's Angel Flight and Arnold Air Society hold a Penny Drop, with money raised going to charity. Each organization on campus has a jar and the idea is to collect the most pennies. This year ALABAMA GAMMA was the sorority winner, raising close to $78.

Money raised from Greek Week at Florida State went to Muscular Dystrophy this year. FLORIDA BETA, Delta Tau Delta and Tri-Sigma had a dunking booth which proved to be very popular. With this activity and two other fund-raisers, Pi Phi raised over $870.00 and received a first place plaque.

WYOMING ALPHAS are saving their pop cans and skipping dessert to save money which will be donated to SAFE, a crisis center for abused women and children. Philene Rivera and Gail Valdez also give volunteer time to the center each week.

Pi Phis and Sigma Chis are cooperating to prevent drinking and driving with their "DIAL" hotline. Members from either house have a guaranteed ride home after a night on the town. All they have to do is call.

Twelve INDIANA EPSILONS give their time and energy to various volunteer programs through DePauw Community Services. For example: Linda Winton volunteers for the Latchkey Program—watching children while they wait after school for their parents. Jenny Ruhl volunteered for Headstart, a federally funded pre-school program.

President Casteen of the University of Connecticut invited CONNECTICUT ALPHAS, for the second year, to help with the Casteen Easter Egg Hunt. Pi Phis dress in clown suits and help children find the eggs. Last year the event was televised.

VIRGINIA DELTA Pi Phis at Old Dominion worked hard to publish a calendar for 1988, titled "Dudes of Dominion." It was quite successful on campus and proceeds went to their local philanthropy. They hope to make the project an annual fund-raiser.

The Monmouth YMCA sponsored a 48-hour basketball marathon in March to raise money for United Way. ILLINOIS ALPHAS played the ATOs to raise money, made donations of their own and raised money through sponsors. It was an evening of fun for all those involved.

INDIANA ZETA, paired with Sigma Chi, sponsored a bowl-a-thon with proceeds going to the American Heart Association.

NEBRASKA BETAS took kids, on a waiting list for the Big Brothers/Big Sisters program in Lincoln, bowling and roller skating. Along with Kappa, Delta Tau Delta and Sigma Chi, groups of four each spent the day with one child. After an indoor picnic, half the kids went bowling and half went skating.

Suzanne Andrews, PENNSYLVANIA ETA, danced for her fourth year in the annual Dance Marathon sponsored by Pi Phi and Kappa Delta Rho. Proceeds benefited Students Against Drunk Driving and the Children's Home of Easton, PA.

In March, ALABAMA GAMMAS participated in a Project Uplift activity with Delts at Auburn. The project is designed to help area underprivileged children. The two groups played with the children, there was lots of ice cream and, after all the games were over, there was a hot dog roast on the front lawn.

For the tenth year, FLORIDA EPSILON helped with the annual University of Central Florida Credit Union Banquet. Twenty girls donated two hours of their time to set up, clean up, or serve the meal.

The Jello Jump for Muscular Dystrophy has been a tradition of MICHIGAN BETA for many years. For the first time, this year's Jello Jump was an official Greek Week event. 19 teams of three jumpers each took the plunge into 500 gallons of green jello to retrieve golf balls at the bottom of a five foot vat. The team with the fastest time for pulling out golf balls won the event, earning points for the respective fraternity. In addition, each ball had a number corresponding to prizes donated by Ann Arbor merchants. The prizes were won by those who bought raffle tickets sold by Pi Phis. Last year, ticket sales raised $3,000 for M.D.A.

WASHINGTON ALPHA had eight Greyline buses taking participants to their Ski for Heart activity, benefiting the American Heart Association. The Alpental Ski Area helped out with lift tickets, a band and hot chocolate and doughnuts in the lodge, and equipment companies donated door prizes.

Last fall INDIANA ALPHA walked 10 km to raise over $160 for the annual Crop Walk for Hunger, in Franklin. At Christmas they collected money and canned goods for the needy, and, in January, headed for the lanes to a Bowl-a-thon, where $115 was raised for the United Fund.

The philanthropies interest group at OHIO ETA organized Pi Phis to help at Hospice, where they served hor d'oeuvres at a silent auction and mingled with guests. They also made caramel apples for the all-Greek fund-raiser last fall. Their spring car wash benefited the county Battered Women's Shelter.

Oregon Gammas help Habitat for Humanity

by Kelli Irvin & Beth Kahler

"It was basically a jungle when we started," said Kim Friedley, Oregon Gamma senior, about an old house and yard that she and five Pi Phi sisters from Willamette University cleaned up in the fall.

Kim, Jill Carron, Amy Thomas, Michelle Kaufman, Mary Eltz and Beth Kahler participated in a program called Habitat for Humanity, an international organization that builds new houses, or fixes up old ones, for low income families.

The Pi Phis traveled to Portland to fix up a house and yard that hadn't been cleaned for a number of years—the basement for 75 years! Families who move into the renovated houses pay a small monthly rent, but mostly pay back in labor to build other houses for other families.

Beth Kahler traveled to Rosarito, Mexico over spring break 1988 to help a group from Willamette build a house for a needy family there. The group worked for a week, along with some of the people of Rosarito, to build the house, under a building supervisor. All materials, food and transportation were paid for by the group members, through donations. They also collected used clothing and canned goods to take to the villagers, and a large truck was donated to carry everything.

This is not the first year an Oregon Gamma has gone to Mexico for the same type of mission work. In 1987, Kristie Green went to the same village and helped lay the foundation for the church that is now there.

Paired with SAE, California Epsilons raised $209 for Easter Seals in their Spin Art booth at Seaport Village's Spring Fling. Participating Greeks from San Diego State raised a total of $16,000 for Easter Seals.

Ohio Epsilon Pi Phis participated in a Bowl-a-Thon for the Big Brother/Big Sister program of the greater Toledo area. Waiting for a lane to demonstrate their prowess are (front, l-r): Paula Domankos, Lynn Siomnetti, Stacy Sell, Tammy Veroneau and two of the youngsters in the program. Back: Tracey Snyder, Kristen Rupp, Deana Kozel, Betty Arbogast, Anne Folta, Betsy Marshall.

Panhellenic Salutes . . .

Schnectady, NY; South Brevard County, FL; South Jersey, NJ; Southwest Dallas County, TX; Topeka, KS; Youngstown, OH; Waco, TX.

During the final banquet, hosted by Alpha Epsilon Phi, the following awards were presented:

National Panhellenic Conference Award (college Panhellenic of 7 or more NPC groups for overall Panhellenic excellence and adherence to NPC guidelines): 1st, University of Illinois; 2nd, Colorado State; 3rd, University of Maryland.

Awards Committee Award (college Panhellenic with 6 or fewer NPC groups for overall excellence and adherence to NPC guidelines): 1st, Birmingham-Southern; 2nd, University of South Florida; 3rd, Milliken.

College Panhellenics Committee Award (excellence in rush): 1st University of California, Santa Barbara; 2nd, San Diego State; 3rd, University of Washington.

Outstanding Advisor Award: Kim Padulo, San Diego State.

Project Future

Future directions of the Conference will be explored by a new committee, Project Future, established by incoming Conference chairman, Beth Saul, Alpha Epsilon Phi, and chaired by Norma Jorgensen, Kappa Alpha Theta.

Joining Beth on the NPC executive committee are Secretary Louise Kier, Phi Sigma Sigma, and Treasurer Marianne Mendelson, Delta Phi Epsilon. "Cherish the Past, and Chart the Future," is the theme for the 1987-89 biennium.

In concluding her remarks as incoming chairman, Beth Saul said, "We will have some difficult decisions to make. We must examine the quality of our programs, our future financial resources and trends in our society and the university.

"However, our Panhellenic Creed is clear in purpose and philosophy. It states our goals and our mission, but leaves paths of implementation for long-term vitality in [NPC's] very capable hands."

INFORMATION BULLETIN

Officers' reports are compiled and distributed by Central Office. Each national and province officer, each active chapter and club, and all those who receive the Grand President's letters, automatically receive a copy of this Information Bulletin. Agnes Wright Spring

Agnes Wright Spring, a charter member of Wyoming Alpha, died in Ft. Collins, CO, March 20, 1988 and was buried at Greenhill Cemetery in Laramie, WY. She was 94.

She was initiated in 1910, at the age of 16, by Grand President May L. Keller. At the age of 19, she was graduated. Mrs. Spring was official state historian for both Colorado and Wyoming and the author of more than 600 books, articles and stories on the West. She was editor of The ARROW from 1921-1928, and Pi Beta Phi historian from 1934-1938. She wrote the first history of Pi Phi as a 1936 issue of The ARROW. She also served as temporary director of Settlement School in 1945, when she wrote a pamphlet about the school that each pledge was expected to read. She was a member of the committee on public relations from 1951-1953.

An avid sports fan, she watched—and in recent years, listened—to all sports on TV. She had been both the Wyoming and Colorado state golf champions in her early years.

Although almost totally blind in her last years of life, she continued to write. She had been working on a book about Phyllis Higinbotham, the first Pi Phi Settlement School nurse. She obtained Miss Higinbotham's diary from her relatives after her death in the early 1980s. Title of this book was to be "Nurse with Saddlebags."

An amazing spunky lady and a loyal and true Pi Phi sister for 78 years, Agnes Spring will be missed by all who were fortunate to know her.

Want a good notion of an editor's frustration? How about having completely filled the allotted number of pages for this issue and still having nearly 40 stories and/or pictures and one complete section ("Athletic Angels") still available! I'm truly sorry if I've omitted your chapter's or club's story. I had a record number submitted for this issue and there just wasn't room for everything. I must admit that having too much is better than too little, but it's hard to choose which to use when so much is interesting.

A note from Mary Leffler Rutgers, president of the San Mateo Alumnae Club, says that Jessie Baker Wade, Illinois Epsilon, celebrated her 100th birthday on June 6, just a few days ago. So a very special Happy Birthday wish to Jessie. Mary says Jessie was one of the club's earliest members and was president of the club in 1957 and 1958, and they love her.

Linda Ratner, California Zeta, is the current Sigma Chi Sweetheart at the University of California-Santa Barbara, and she is pictured in the "Fraternity Sweethearts" section of this issue. Add to the chapter's pride in that honor is the fact that four of the five members of the Sweetheart Court were Pi Phis!

Some ambitious members of the 1978 graduating class from Colorado Gamma have decided a 10-year reunion would be fun and have set the dates for Saturday and Sunday, August 6 & 7, this year. They have invited Colorado Gammas from all initiation classes dating back to 1956 and have received a tremendous response. Any Colorado Gammas who were not contacted and who would be interested in attending or receiving more information, should write to Kathy Morris, 19002 N. 4th Street, Phoenix, AZ 85024.

There are 13 Jennifers out of 134 Pi Phis in Virginia Eta at the University of Virginia!

The Philadelphia Alumnae Panhellenic will award a $500 scholarship to a fraternity woman doing graduate work at a college or university in the five county Philadelphia, PA area during the 1988-1989 school year. Those interested should request an application from Krista L. Killen, 1020 Beaumont Road, Berwyn, PA 19312. Applications must be postmarked before August 15, 1988.

Carole Munroe Howard, Oregon Beta, wrote a book several years ago which was mentioned in this column. Now comes word that the book, "On Deadline: Managing Media Relations," sold out two hard-cover printings and is now being published by Waveland Press in paperback. The book has been recommended for journalism and public relations courses by several college professors. Carole co-authored the book with a former AT&T colleague. Carole is now vice president of public relations and communications policy at Reader's Digest, responsible for domestic and international public relations planning, media relations and speech-writing. An accredited member of the Public Relations Society of America, Carole is a current member of Women in Communications, Inc., the International Association of Business Communicators, and a past member of National Press Women.

After printing a story about Susie Schissler Lamond in the Fall '86 ARROW, she wrote about some parallels that are almost unbelievable. She and a pledge sister at California Delta, Allyn Smith Simmons, were both second semester pledges at UCLA. Allyn was Homecoming Queen, Susie was Head Song Leader. Both were married and both of their husbands were killed in automobile accidents. Both remarried and divorced. Now they are both married to "great guys who know and like each other." Allyn has her own business in New York and Susie has her production business in Hawaii. When the two girls left UCLA, Allyn went to New York to model and eventually to Europe where she appeared in some movies. Susie went to Ohio where she was a band vocalist and eventually went back to L.A. where she was involved with the movie business at MGM.

Are these two Pi Phis still friends? You bet! Writes Susie, "Aside from living at opposite ends of the U.S. we are close. When I have business in New York, I visit Allyn. . . when she has business in Hawaii, she visits me."

Have you heard? If at first you don't succeed, you're running about average! I hope you succeed in having a happy summer.

ARROWCRAFT

REGIONAL HANDICRAFTS - TRADITIONAL AND CONTEMPORARY

P.O. Box 567 Gatlinburg, TN 37738 Phone 1-800-336-1096

The Arrowcraft Shop first opened in 1926 as an outgrowth of the native crafts taught and preserved by the Pi Beta Phi Settlement School. Arrowcraft is the registered name applied to all articles woven by the shop's weavers. Funds from the sale of these items benefit the regional weavers/craftsmen and also provide financial support for Arrowmont School.
