Findings . . .

NEW YORK A is planning to give a larger amount of money to the Settlement School than an other active chapter.

A CO-ED led the annual J-Hop at the University of Michigan for the second time in history and it was the first time a fraternity man has ever broken the tradition—the honor went to a member of Michigan B.

FOLLOWING the annual "Doll Show" at Dickinson College, the dolls were sent as Christmas gifts to the children of prisoners in New York.

LOUISIANA A is doing an outstanding piece of social service work for St. Anna's Home for old ladies.

VIRGINIA Γ was awarded the scholarship cup for the second time for receiving the highest scholastic average of women's fraternities in 1928-29 at William and Mary College.

PLEDGES of Ohio A are required to earn $5.00 a piece to contribute to the Settlement School fund.

Announcements

The new address of Bernadine Chesley Sawers (Mrs. A. R.), is 786 Franklin Place, Milwaukee, Wisconsin. Recently appointed as assistant to Mrs. Sawers is Charlotte Wingert Chope (Mrs. Horace), 4410 West Lake Harriet Boulevard, Minneapolis, Minnesota.

The Grand Vice President, Catherine Burr Teller, is a member of Colorado A, and not New York A as was erroneously stated in the November issue of THE ARROW.

Correspondence with Mrs. C. E. Tasher, chairman of the Committee on Mothers' Clubs, will necessarily be delayed in that Mrs. Tasher is to be away from Denver for several weeks.

Reports of the meeting of the National Panhellenic Congress which will take place in Denver, February 24-28 will be found in the May issue of THE ARROW. Pi Beta Phi will be represented by Amy Burnham Onken as official delegate and by Margaretta Fenn as delegate to the National Editors' Conference.

Active and alumnae corresponding secretaries are urged to mail all material for the May ARROW on the date requested in the ARROW schedule. Material mailed after the deadline date is omitted from publication.

THE ARROW OF PI BETA PHI

EDITORIALS

THE November ARROW announced in a rather pretentious way that the solution of the question, "What Happens to Our Freshmen?" would be given in the February issue. We are not offering alibis, for the active chapters responded to the questionnaire about 90 per cent, but unfortunately some of the questions were misunderstood or misinterpreted and hence we could not arrive at the accurate conclusions we had hoped to have. However, the results as obtained are interesting and Margaretta Fenn, Illinois E, assistant to the Grand President, who is devoting time to the question of "turn-over," has given us a résumé which is well worth the thought of every member of Pi Beta Phi, active or alumna. Miss Fenn's report after studying the reports from the chapters follows:

"Today the problem of 'turn-over' in our institutions of higher learning is one that is extremely important and claiming the attention and thought of many educators. Because of the great loss between freshman year and graduation many schools are instituting what is known as 'The Selective Process.' This is a rather elaborate system of picking and choosing the entrants and making entrance requirements difficult enough so that they can better eliminate those students who are not able to carry the work. If the college and university are interested in this problem so necessarily are we who are an integral part of the institution. For many years Pi Beta Phi has urged its chapters to take 'four-year girls,' for they appreciated the value of continuity both for the individual and for the chapter. It is the four-year girl who brings most to the chapter and to whom the chapter and fraternity contact gives most. In addition we have desired to get the girl whose purpose is to gain the most from her college work and who sincerely wants a degree. We were not interested in the girl who flits in and out of institutions getting all that is possible from the social life of our campuses.

"Since this is an age of specialization we must naturally expect a greater loss at the end of the second year, particularly in the college. Here the student has gained as much as is required of her for a ground work and her required liberal arts work. If she wishes to specialize in business or professional work it is natural for her to seek the larger university where such courses are given. There are, however, educators who feel that four years of liberal training better fits one for a 'career' than the combined liberal and specialized training. Pi Beta Phi is interested in the girl who is seeking a different type of course and is vitally anxious to help her become oriented into the larger group, and for this purpose has created the committee on transfers.

"Pi Beta Phi attempted to learn what percentage of girls pledged drop out of school, what percentage of them are initiated, what percentage of them continue their college work at other places, etc.! Unfortunately we are not able to draw very accurate conclusions due to the fact that many chapters misunderstood just what information we desired. Although we did not receive replies from every chapter we have enough for our purpose. At best, however, we can only arrive at generalizations, for to make an accurate study of a situation of this kind we must follow it out for four years at least. The figures for one year, namely 1928-29, should be a fair sampling and we are being sufficiently scientific if we state that the results are a good indication of conditions.

"The range of number of pledges is rather interesting. This fact, however, will naturally change with the individual chapter every year. Many chapters will claim, I am sure, that 1928-29 was either a good year or a bad year, according to the type of material they had in rushing. A significant fact is the percentage of pledges initiated. This should not be affected by conditions from year to year, as the number of pledges is apt to be. Congratulations should be extended to those chapters who initiated all their pledges, and a warning should be given to those who did not initiate a large percentage of them. The percentage for the entire group was 75 per cent, that is the chapters initiated about 75 per cent of their pledges. The matter of careless pledging is very detrimental to the well-being of a chapter, and a question that should be constantly before the chapter. Nothing should be given more thought and careful consideration than the question of pledging. It is the pledges that will make or break the local chapter and with them rests the future of Pi Beta Phi.

"The drop of pledges at the end of the semester is not great, and undoubtedly many of these dropped out because of illness. In considering loss of students we must of course remember that finances play a large part in determining the length of a college course. Today the expense entailed in obtaining a college education is very great. Often, of necessity, a girl must drop out to earn enough more to continue with her work. We want to help this girl as much as possible and realize that in the case of a girl dropping out because of finances the situation is quite different, and this turn-over is quite unavoidable.

"Practically the same number changed to other schools after not making their grades. These non-initiates have indicated their intention of pursuing a college course and have done the right thing in changing to a school where perhaps they feel they can make their grades. It is rather interesting to note that practically all the changes came from state universities or large schools. It is likely that they may have changed to a smaller school.

"It is significant that nearly 40 per cent more gave up their college course and are staying at home. Here is where we can more carefully perfect our selective process. It is considered by administration and faculty that one's high school record is a pretty good barometer of his ability, and the chance of a student who ranked in the upper half of his high school of making the grade in college is good. Chapters should avail themselves of the opportunity of ascertaining the caliber of work that has been done by prospective pledges.

"The number of pledges broken both by the chapters and pledges is not high as it should be.

"As has been said before we are interested in finding out what percentage of our pledges return, and whether we are getting four-year girls. We hope shortly to find out if possible from the administrations of the schools in which we have chapters what the turn-over is of the entire student body in the schools. It is only by a comparison of figures that we can decide whether or not we are doing better or worse than the whole student body. We should do much better, being a highly selective group. The comparison of the number of girls we lose with the number lost by the school as a whole will be most interesting and should give us some pretty definite facts that are worth while.

"This survey, in spite of the fact that the results in the questionnaire were not quite clearly understood, does bring home strongly the necessity for careful consideration of our pledges, and the great importance of investigating whether or not the girl we are about to pledge is serious in her purpose for an education, and whether or not she will be able to carry the work of the college or university in which we have our chapter."

IN 1910 before a foot of ground had been donated by the inhabitants of Gatlinburg or a penny raised by the fraternity to build the Settlement School, the identical questions were raised that are being asked today, one being, "When the work of the Settlement School is completed, what will happen next?" Today, after twenty years the same questions are heard in different parts of the country and even the astounding statement "that the school is no longer necessary." As a person vitally interested in education, not only in the southern part of the United States, but in the country at large, may I say that in the judgment of educators never at any period in the history of the South was wise leadership in these mountain districts of more vital importance or more necessary than at this moment, when the region is being opened up, and exploitation of this people and their natural resources is only too imminent a danger.

The character of the work of the School has changed, from that of dealing with a primitive folk in a backward region, as in the past, to a forward looking program of training them to meet the new conditions of life, which now face them. Industrialism has come to stay, and the labor leaders of the worst type find a fertile field in ignorant minds in which to plant radical doctrines. Also the opening up of the new National Park area will bring the world to the doors of Gatlinburg. The fraternity with its school established, with the confidence of the entire community in the disinterested desire to educate and help them, stands in a unique position, which it cannot and must not fail to utilize to the utmost.

The boarding department must be enlarged, the boys and girls must be enabled to train themselves at the School to go back to isolated districts and bring to these less fortunate ones the knowledge they have gained, not only of educational methods but of sanitation and the preservation of their own unique industries. Also new centers must be established, parallel to our chain system of stores, organized and controlled by a central system, the Settlement School at Gatlinburg.

At a time when Great Britain is organizing women's committees to preserve the industries of lace making, the knitting of Shetland wool shawls, in a word, the home industries, we, as a fraternity, cannot fail to live up to the splendid opportunity which is ours today.

As for the state of Tennessee taking over much of this work, sadly and regretfully we admit the poor equipment of rural schools in many Southern States. The per capita tax should take care of these schools, but school money goes according to population, and the mountain regions will never be oversupplied with adequate schools from the state tax.

In conclusion allow me to add that state money and the state school system can never bring to the mountain regions the type of teacher, director, nurse and housemother that the Pi Beta Phi Fraternity has through the years been able to provide for the Settlement School through the loyal disinterested work of its members and friends. The work must go forward on a larger scale than ever before, and happily for the fraternity, with the intelligent cooperation of the Gatlinburg community, which through the Settlement School in its midst has come into a consciousness of civic responsibility and pride.

After Graduation: Five, Ten and Fifteen Years

"I don't know what I am going to do, but I am not going to teach," is an oft repeated statement which has become almost a part of a senior's commencement vows. Aspirations are high—but how to attain them? The following articles by members of Pi Beta Phi who have had successful and interesting careers were written by request for THE ARROW and may help to ease the minds of perplexed seniors who have not prepared themselves for anything definite—and who are wondering "how long it will take to get some place."—

EDITOR

The Importance of Background

By Pauline Arnold, Illinois Delta

THE very idea that an editor could write and ask for a story under the heading "Fifteen Years After" is a rather appalling one, considered in the abstract. When it is your own fifteen years, however, it has probably been so full of diverse things, new people, different places, ideas, growth, character changes, development, business and professional changes, and general interest that you profess a sneaking fondness for the period and would not give it up for anything.

Personally, I consider that my fifteen years are probably just about the best and most interesting years that anyone could have and I stand ready to back this idea against all comers, each of whom has just as good a foundation for her own convictions.

In the course of the last few years, a number of young women have come to me and asked, "How shall I find the right work for me to do? How does one get started on one's career?"

Go to Work

With the best intentions in the world to help, I have always realized that my answer was about as discouraging a one as possible. I have usually said, "Take any job and go to work. It does not matter if it is not the job you want to do for life, but it must be something to give you some experience of some kind, no matter what. Of course you won't find the right job now, you may try dozens of them. It took me twelve years after I was out of college to find the job which I thought I really wanted to stick to. While, at present, I think that has been achieved, I should consider that I had ceased to live unless I was still looking out for another job, in the words of the current popular song, "Bigger and Better Than Ever."

Unfortunately, twelve years look much longer in anticipation than they do in retrospect, and the idea that she might wait twelve years to find the job she really wanted to do, is pretty hard for the recent graduate to consider. If she could only realize how much those years might hold in the course of such a quest, of interest, change, and growth, she would not fear the idea as she does. The more work you do the better.

There is an advertising agency in New York which gives a questionnaire to the applicant for a job which, if answered in full, leaves practically nothing to the imagination. Once, in a moment of rashness, to show someone that it was not as impossible to do as she thought it was, I attempted to fill out that outline of my career. By the time the various activities were described and presented end to end, they would have reached practically from New York to Indianapolis, and I would have been credited with thirty years instead of fifteen. The reason for this is that, until very recently, I have never done just one job at a time.

Incidental Jobs

I remember that the year after the war I was in New York studying voice. This involved five lessons a week, with the practice hours incidental to this. Since at the same time I was compelled to earn money to pay for the lessons, I was holding down some other job at the same time. Among these were the following: two mornings a week directing the chorus classes at a fashionable school; two afternoons a week singing to disabled soldiers in a hospital on the far side of Staten Island, a journey of an hour out into New York harbor; a morning and evening service, with the requisite rehearsals, at a church in Brooklyn; two afternoons and evenings a week singing, teaching, and "recreating" with the soldiers under arrest and in prison on Governor's Island, also a ferry boat ride from home; while in the remaining spare time, I commuted to Fort Slocum, an hour's ride from the city and twenty minutes by ferry, and directed everything from singing classes to minstrel shows in the army post there.

It therefore becomes practically impossible to give the story of my life. Perhaps I can say it in the fewest words by stating that I am a conservatory graduate who stuck by the course both as a singer and teacher of music for twelve years. In the interims of pursuing this career, however, there were many utterly unrelated periods of being executive secretary for a war service organization; spending a year and a half directing, singing, and running canteens for the Army in France and Germany; a period of "literary research" when I attempted to help someone else to attempt to prove that Bacon wrote valuable secrets in cypher; periods of running a dress shop in Tulsa and working in a department store in New York; a summer of doing nothing gloriously on the beach at Waikiki, and months when I thought I was created by God to be a short story writer and attempted to prove it.

Suddenly, and quite by accident, I found myself in possession of an idea, an idea which, followed out logically and with a certain amount of risk, developed into the business which is at least in line with what I want it to be.

Arnold Research Service

For several years now, the Arnold Research Service, an organization for the study of products, their markets, and the way to develop them; in other words—what goods to sell, who to sell them to, and how to sell them, has kept me pretty well tied down to one job. For part of that period, however, I have been bookkeeper, stenographer, secretary, president, and office boy.

For a part of it, I have headed an organization with offices in New York and Chicago, field representatives in seventy-five to one hundred cities throughout the country and a

New York office organization of five to a dozen people. And each period has equally been fun.

What has it gained, trying different kinds of work like that? Is it the way to do it? Are you any better off for doing it that way? I have not the faintest idea! I will add one story that shows, perhaps, at least one thing to be gained.

A friend of mine had had no business or advertising experience whatever. She had, however, done a number of very interesting jobs and done them well, gaining a rather wide knowledge of people and places—but no money. Our positions at the time were quite similar—lots of experience, but no money. Our favorite excuse for being in this condition was that we had been gaining "background."

One day she went to apply for a position as copy writer in one of the large department stores in a big city. She had never written a line of copy. She came home with the job. I said, "What did you talk about with the advertising manager? Advertising?" "Oh, no," she said, "we talked about people, and Europe, and books, and so on. I got that job on my background."

"Pure Accident"

By Elizabeth Smith Friedman, Michigan Alpha

PLATITUDE though it is, few people have so great cause as I to state that little did I dream, when I shook the dust of college campus for the last time from my reluctant heels, that fifteen years hence I should be pursuing the occupation wherein I now find myself. Indeed it would have been strange had such a fantasy flitted through my flights of imagination then, for fifteen years ago no such occupation existed. The title by which I am known now was not at that time in the language. The terms "cryptanalyst" and "cryptanalysis" were yet to be coined. Cryptanalysis is the science of reading secret systems of correspondence without the key. Ergo, a cryptanalyst is one who reads, or solves, codes and ciphers, without the knowledge of the system used.

Hence it naturally follows that the most frequent question I am asked is, "However did you happen to go into such work?" In answer I might be either moralistic or cynical. To those who believe in predestination I could say: "There is a destiny which shapes our ends." If I were feeling flippant I would say: "Pure accident." Neither, or both, may be true. The "case history" runs like this:

Deciphering Bacon's Works

In the May of 1916 my mind was intrigued by an opportunity to spend the summer at a large estate outside of Chicago, the work to be that of investigating the Biliteral Cipher writings of Sir Francis Bacon. These cipher writings were said to prove the Baconian authorship of Shakespeare, Francis Bacon's royal parentage, and other startling revelations. The summer passed in a whirl and autumn found me still too intrigued even to think of returning to teaching. The winter likewise passed and spring brought the War.

From literary ciphers to military ciphers was a not illogical step. But whereas in literary ciphers, the field belongs to him who can blaze his own trails—in other words, the research type of mind—in military ciphers, in the spring of 1917, much immediate knowledge was demanded and, at the same time, instantaneous action. The great drawback was that there was no way of acquiring any knowledge of the subject, for military ciphers were so little known in this country, that the people best informed about them had the merest smattering of knowledge. But here was a situation to be met: a country at war and confronted with the necessity of reading enemy correspondence. So we worked as we learned, and learned as we worked. By the end of the war I was more or less known as a military cipher expert, but I was better known as the wife of my husband who, having been persuaded by me to forsake Genetics for Ciphers and Codes, had gone to General Headquarters, A.E.F. (where I, a mere woman, could not follow to pursue my "trade"), and made a reputation so startling that I regarded the task of catching up to him as being altogether hopeless.

Being a Cryptanalyst

So after the war I began to write a book for children which I'd had on my mind a long time. But after a few chapters were written the War Department asked me to do some constructing of code books instead. After a year of that, I retired to write a few more chapters of my book, when another government department discovered I was at large and I was persuaded by them to build codes once more. Later on other government departments found they had need of a cryptanalyst—and few indeed of that peculiar genus exist—and so it is that my experience is on almost constant call. Some of the interesting developments are being sent from Coast to Coast, being called in court cases as an expert witness, or supplying material for grand juries. Some of the queer consequences of following such a strange calling are requests to read illegible shorthand notes, forged signatures, and even to perform magic tricks!

Cryptanalysis has its dull moments, and even despairing ones. On the other hand, when I have struggled for long, weary hours (which sometimes stretch into weeks) on a problem that has appeared utterly hopeless and then suddenly burst through to light and a successful solution, then the work has its thrills. The problem of deciphering the Rosetta Stone appears like a Greek or Latin grammar exercise compared to some of the complicated intricacies that modern criminals or conspirators can devise to conceal their thoughts; and when I am summoned by telegram to a city two or three thousand miles away, to read several thousand messages to be used in a court case the following Monday, or some equally impossible demand, I think with a sigh of the sheltered life of the man who sits in a museum and spends thirty years deciphering one page of Hittite. But I pack my bag and hug my children a good-by which is to last for a week or a month or longer, I know not, and board a train with a prayer that the new fields to conquer will be not impossible of conquest.

Now and then they are, but more often, praise be, I come forth victor. I think it was especially for such as I that the text was written: It's a great life if you don't weaken.

On Being a Private Secretary

By Ruth Wilson, Kentucky Alpha

SOME of these days, when all the other inmates of the Old Ladies' Home are contentedly knitting sweaters for unappreciative grandchildren, I shall slip away to a secluded corner and pen the first chapter of my book, The Private Opinion of a Private Secretary. I haven't decided definitely on the title; I may call it A Decade of Dictation. At any rate when it is finished, then and only then will the world have the opportunity of knowing just exactly what I think of this business of seeing everything, hearing everything, and saying nothing that goes under the name of private secretary to university presidents.

There are relatives and well-wishing friends by the dozens who for the past decade have made a point of telling me in no uncertain terms that I've hidden my talents, if any, under a bushel. It was Matey, the butler in Barrie's Dear Brutus, who said, "It all depends, my lady, on whether you take the right or the wrong turning." I've never regretted that I took the path of least resistance even though my little world considers that a business career was a wrong turning for me. I have had various opportunities to retrace my steps and seek another road, but I have kept steadily on. Sometimes I wonder if I would follow this same path if I were given the opportunity to walk in Lob's magic wood on Midsummer Eve. There was a time when the signboards along the highway to New York with an art career as an incentive beckoned invitingly. There was another time when the smell of grease paint and the flapping of painted scenery set me to wondering whether I would have been happier had I scurried along the cobblestone street that is said to be bordered by foot-lights and shadows. There was a season when I actually branched off and explored the little lane of journalism. I edited the woman's sport page of our leading daily paper and later wrote dramatic criticisms in an attempt to decide whether I was suited for that type of life. There was also the summer when I tried my hand at recreational work at a settlement house and directed plays and pageants for clubs and churches.

Secretary to Dean

All of these activities, however, have been relegated to the limbo of forgotten things—the careers that might-have-been—and appear only occasionally as recreational pursuits. Whenever I feel the urge to draw, I take out the little old

RUTH WILSON

India ink bottle and pen and sketch a cover for some college comic magazine. Whenever I can no longer resist the desire for applause, I attempt to persuade the alumni players' director to cast me in the forthcoming production. On one occasion I even wrote a prologue to Oliver Twist which was presented in a local theater. And once upon a time I burst forth in poetry—of a sort—simply to see if it could be done.

I have told you these things in no spirit of braggadocio, but simply to make clear that my selection of a life was made with my eyes open and all the cards on the table.

In 1920, soon after commencement, I began an intensive eight weeks' course in short hand and typewriting to supplement my A.B. degree. In the fall of that year I became secretary to the dean of the College of Liberal Arts, which position I held until 1922 when the dean was promoted to chancellor and my title was changed along with his. In 1926 the chancellor resigned, and I was turned over to the new president as a sort of bequest from the old régime. When this president died in the summer of 1928, I found myself again working for the man who had given me my first position. He had been persuaded by the Board of Trustees to assume the office of acting president until a permanent appointee could be procured. The following summer I cancelled all reservations for Pasadena and gave up the idea of being an alumnae club delegate to Convention in order to begin my work for the permanent president.

Adjustments

These changes have had their compensations financially speaking;

they have also had their drawbacks, particularly in the readjustment period when I've had to remember countless rules and regulations, facts and fancies, while attempting to acquaint myself with the individual characteristics of each new employer.

I have changed offices more frequently than I've changed "bosses." My first domicile was a stately parlor of a Civil War mansion, the original home of the College of Liberal Arts. My desk was no more than a crude table but it faced a gorgeous marble mantel with great clusters of grapes and other fruits bulging from fat marble cornucopias. A glittering prism chandelier sparkled in the sunlight and made me think of days when Kentucky belles in hoopskirts and lace-edged pantalets tittered behind their painted fans. The furniture, presenting a motley array in strong contrast to the rest of the room, consisted mainly of six dining room chairs and two dilapidated rockers, relics from the "Gay Nineties," a still more antiquated book-case, and the queerest secretary I every hope to see.

Later on we moved to a new campus, and I was for a time comfortably situated in the main office of the chancellor. My typewriter, however, made so much "fuss" that I was soon delegated to the outer hall. Students using the outside door as an approach to the library brought with them such drafts of cold air that soon I was forced to seek relief in a cubby-hole under the main stairway. Naturally there was no outside window in this space, and I had to work by electric light.

Still later the New Administration Building was erected, and I looked forward expectantly to the day when I would have a private office in comfortable surroundings. Imagine my dismay when I discovered that the architect had failed to give me a window or a transom! For two more years I worked by electric light without direct ventilation. Honestly, when the day's work was over and I came out of my little dungeon, I had many of the thrills and the amazement of a bank mule that had worked in a coal mine all its life.

If you have followed my ramblings thus far, you'll probably be interested in knowing that I am at last occupying a well lighted office, part of which is used as a waiting room for our visitors and is fitted up with many of the comforts of home. The walls are cream colored and the furniture is oak. From my hard-earned window, when time permits, I can gaze across a vast expanse of green campus, watch the Engineering School students survey an adjoining park, and see the construction of a viaduct on the Parkway beyond! It has taken ten years to grow out of a Civil War parlor into a modern Administration Building.

By just such gradual steps as these, I believe I have at last earned the respect and confidence of my employers. Success and ideal working conditions are rarely achieved overnight.

Daily Routine

And now I am wondering whether you are interested in hearing an account of an average day of a secretary's life? To begin with I try to be at the office at least fifteen minutes before the time of the arrival of the president in order to open up the rooms, air them out, see that they are properly dusted, particularly if there has been a meeting on the previous night, and unlock my desk, the filing cases, and storage cabinet.

The mail boy brings our mail which I sort and place on the president's desk. Usually there are enough hang-over jobs from the day before to occupy my time until I'm summoned by the electric push button to take the day's dictation. Soon the little buzzer sounds and I grab my notebook and pen and hasten into the sanctum-sanctorum. As a general rule dictation does not last more than a half hour, although there are occasions, particularly when speeches are in preparation, when it may run into an hour or even two. The rest of my day is filled with typing the letters, answering the telephones, interviewing students and parents, announcing guests, answering routine requests, filing letters and keeping office supplies ordered. On certain days there are Council, Senate, or Committee meetings, but since I have no official connection with these organizations, my work is usually not interrupted. On other days when the Board of Trustees meet, I flutter around as busy as can be, typing the agenda, arranging the material to be presented, reserving the private dining room for the luncheon and then scurrying off to take the minutes while attempting to balance a notebook in one hand and a fork in the other. Perhaps the most interesting part of my work, however, is this which brings me in contact with the ten prominent Louisville citizens who make up the self-perpetuating board. I keep the minute book, file all board correspondence, and try with little success to remember everything that has happened during the past ten years.

I do not hesitate for one moment to advise any Pi Phi endowed with a good academic education with a major in English, a concise course in typewriting and shorthand, an abundance of common sense and a pleasing personality to take up secretarial work. Without claiming to possess any of these qualifications to a marked degree, I have realized, in the years since graduation, that they are essential to success.

With these attributes and the knowledge that one cannot expect to become an expert secretary worthy of confidence until she has proved that she is willing to take the slow and steady climb, any Pi Phi can rise to a responsible position.

Do's and Don't's

There are, of course, Do's and Don't's in office procedure as well as in any other form of work. You may be interested in the ones which I have found most helpful.

I. Train your ear for dictation, and be alert in your transcribing. Ford or Dodge has the same sound as four door Dodge when pronounced hurriedly by a new employer. Don't make the mistake I made in one of my first letters in requesting a duplicate receipt for an automobile license! Humanly and humanely are written exactly alike in my shorthand, but when confused in a letter will alter the entire meaning.

II. Be gracious but never gushing to everyone, whether you are speaking over the telephone or face to face. You never can tell when an influential citizen or the chairman of the board of directors is at the other end of the line.

III. Be faithful without becoming a slave. The right amount of outside interests prevents one from becoming stale on one's job.

IV. Be honest about your work but not priggish. Rules and regulations must be abided by, but these rules and regulations should be reasonable.

V. Be interested in everything about your work but not officious. You may know more about a certain matter than your employer, but it's a wise secretary who is just clever enough to let him discover the facts of the case for himself.

VI. Be willing and able to take orders. Every man knows how he wants his work done, whether that work be the arrangement of a title page or the top of his private desk. His way may not be yours—it rarely ever is—but try to remember that he's the head of the office and has a right to his own way. Some day you may have a stenographer of your own and you'll get an opportunity to give a few orders yourself.

A Sense of Humor

VII. Be able to realize when your employer is joking and when he is serious. I distinctly remember the trouble I caused the city passenger agent when I had to cancel a reservation for an upper to Washington all because the president had jokingly told me to make another reservation for his friend who was to accompany him on a trip. "We'll put Charlie in an upper," he said, and I had all arrangements made to put him just there. Half an hour before train time the president discovered the error and was shocked to think I had taken his little humor seriously. The passenger agent advised him not to "get funny" with the railroads.

VIII. Learn your job. You won't be expected to know everything, but you will be expected to know where to find the information necessary. A dictionary, the World Almanac, the Secretary's Handbook, a manual of correct usage recently published by the Macmillan Company, and a small volume on How to Write a Thesis, are the only books I keep near at hand. I am fortunate, however, in being in the same building with the University Library, and information not contained in these books can be readily found by calling the librarian.

IX. Don't be sensitive. Save your tears for the home and fire-side. An office is certainly not the place for one who wears her feelings where her recognition pin is supposed to be.

X. Remember office secrecy! The information which comes to you through your association with business employees, and the details of the work which you absorb by reading and writing letters, both personal and official, are never to be discussed outside the office.

If you can subscribe to the abstract of principles as I have outlined them above, I believe that you can find happiness in being "just a private secretary."

Exploring New Fields

By Lillian Eddy, New York Gamma

FOUR years of work, study, play, and fun—a commencement week of anticipation and thrills—a proudly owned diploma—then what? Thousands of words by authors great and small, and hours of speeches delivered to somewhat attentive students have been squandered on this subject of "then what?" and still your editor asks me to tell you a few personal experiences concerning that intangible, yet most real, something which will face you after graduation. Of course, to some graduation will merely mean that the wedding date can now be set, to others that a long vacation has begun, to a rather high percentage that the work for which they have long been preparing can now be begun, and to a still greater percentage that something must be found to be done.

To those of the first two groups I can say nothing for I have had no experience in either; to those of the third group I can say but little for the work in which I am engaged is far divorced from anything for which I was specifically trained. This is written for those who are trying to decide what to do that they may glean from my limited experience that the proposition is not futile even though the road is sometimes a bit rough, and that in this twentieth century machine age there are most alluring opportunities for the clear-thinking college girl.

In June, 1925, I was graduated from college and returned home, as it seemed to me, about the only girl in my class who not only had nothing to do, but also who had no idea what she was going to do. By July 1, much to my surprise, and somewhat to my disappointment, (for a long summer vacation had sounded good to me) I found myself situated in an honest-to-goodness job. A casual letter to one of our state institutions had arrived at the psychological moment when a psychiatric social service worker was needed immediately, and because I held a college diploma and had studied enough abnormal psychology to be familiar with the names of a few mental diseases I was given the position and set to the monotonous task of obtaining histories on incoming patients. To a large extent, this work was directly dependent upon training received in college and rather put me in the class of those following a profession for which they had trained.

When to Leave

While the work was most interesting, and the associations unusually pleasant, after a few months the daily contact with the abnormalities of life that had sounded so alluring in the classroom ceased to appeal to me as a vocation. From this experience I learned two valuable lessons. First, that no line of work will be all that one expected it to be at first, and that even the most fascinating things must have their share of drudgery and, secondly, that if one is not satisfied with her work, leave it (when there is another position in view!).

Finding something new to do consisted of keeping my eyes and ears wide open and making contacts with all those I knew in other lines of business. The contact which proved most fortunate for me was my father. Through some of his friends, he learned that the General Electric Company was looking for another home lighting specialist. At the time home lighting meant nothing to me but pushing the button to light the chandelier, but I was looking for a new job and running down every possible clue in that direction, so arranged for an interview to find out what it was all about. At the present time, I am beginning my fifth year as a home lighting specialist with that organization, all of which shows one can never tell what there is to do until she looks around and talks things over.

We are constantly finding that things in this world do not quite measure up to our expectations, and one of the things that has impressed me most is the lack of emphasis put upon the type of college education one has received. I once heard an executive remark that he preferred college graduates in his department because of the way they think—not because of the titles of the textbooks which kept them out of mischief in college. In other words, I was rather amazed to find that in the business world often one will never be called upon to put into practice much of the fund of knowledge collected in four years of cramming for examinations, but a hundred times a day one is called upon to put into smooth running order the brain developed as a result of that accumulation of knowledge.

Appearance

Equally astounding to me was the emphasis placed upon the appearance of the applicant for a position. We are told that young girls just out of college are wanted for many lines of work because they are more pliable and less set in their ways than their older sisters and consequently will take more readily to new ideas and ways of doing things. Yet the girls must not appear too young—the childish or flapper type is never wanted. The well dressed girl with poise, dignity, and an air of culture, and without any special college honors in many instances is given a position in preference to the more brilliant girl who lacks the personal qualifications. Of course, the girl having both qualities is doubly fortunate and is in immediate demand.

Having obtained a position, the next proposition confronting one is to keep it. It was my experience that the college girl often has to make her own job. Work was not handed out to be done, but I had to find it. To start out with, the rating of the newly employed college girl is rather low, for even the office boy or the humblest stenographer knows more of the business than she does. Watching what is going on, being willing to do the most menial tasks, and seizing every opportunity to develop new work will characterize the first few weeks or even months in a new position. The pay is frequently little to begin with and the work of learning a business a bit tedious, but with steady application it is amazing how the position will grow to something tangible, accompanied by compensation. On days when I feel literally "snowed under" with work to be done, I often smilingly look back upon those first few months when I spent my time trying to find something which would at least make it appear as if I were busy.

Perhaps you would be interested in knowing just what my position consists of, for it has only been a few months since I could count on my fingers the number of women in this country engaged in this profession. The demand for home lighting specialists is rapidly growing.

Training Work

In connection with its lighting promotion activities, the Edison Lamp Works of the General Electric Company employs two women as residence lighting specialists, whose work it is to promote better lighting in the homes of America. First of all, this consists of educational work in the training of women employed by power companies, who in turn will carry on similar activities directly with the public. Short training courses are held at definite intervals at the company offices where women may come for training, otherwise unattainable, in residence lighting. In addition to educational work of this type, ways of interesting the public in lighting must be devised, new ways of utilizing light must be thought up, bulletins and booklets must be written for distribution through our customers, magazine articles have to be written, and a file of photographs compiled for ready distribution to all desiring illustrative matter on residence lighting. This suggests to you some of the things which make my position one of continual variety and interest.

At our office in Harrison, New Jersey, there is the Edison Lighting Institute, which is an institution designed for the development and demonstration of the uses of electric lighting in every sphere of life. The residential department consists of a five-room apartment, in which the lighting fixtures are frequently changed, the decorations kept up-to-date, and new effects constantly added. As the Institute is open to the public, hundreds of individuals call for assistance with their lighting problems, and much time is spent in the laying out of wiring diagrams on the blueprint plans of the prospective home builder. But Harrison is a small place and the entire country cannot be effectively reached from an office desk. As a consequence, we occasionally have to pack our bags and set out on lecture tours, spending our time lecturing before power company employees, home service departments, women's clubs, civic organizations and many others.

College Does Help!

I mentioned that it is surprising how little we sometimes seem to be called upon to use the actual training received in college, yet the most innocent and unsuspecting things learned during those four years sometimes play important rôles in every-day work. As a means of creating a light-consciousness among the homemakers of the country, we promoted the organization of classes teaching the making of parchment lamp shades. Naturally, we had first of all to teach ourselves how to make shades and the problem of drafting a pattern for a round shade confronted us. Seeing me struggling with a wire frame and much crumbled wrapping paper, one of our engineers asked if I had not in the dim past studied geometry. In a few minutes we had drafted a perfect fitting pattern and worked out a formula that anyone could use for any size shade just by applying some mathematics I had never expected to use. Another time I was asked to prepare a paper for the Illuminating Engineering Society on new uses for decorative lighting in the home, and the experience gained in hours spent making crêpe paper novelties for budgeted rushing parties, and the designing of decorations for house parties, was called into actual use. The course in public speaking which I took to earn an easy three hours' English, and many other subjects I studied merely because they interested me, have been invaluable to me in my present position.

Statistics tell us that the women of the country do 85 per cent of the buying, and yet practically all of the manufacturing is done by men-owned and operated companies. As a result, these companies are wanting more and more within their organizations women who can give them the woman's viewpoint, for there is an old saying that no one can talk a woman's language except another woman. In the five years since I was graduated from college, I have deviated a long way from the theories I studied and the laboratory work I had planned to follow, yet, in my travels about the country I have picked up a wealth of knowledge of things I never before knew existed and have seen quantities of opportunities for the ambitious and resourceful college graduate. I would recommend that those who want to do "something different" and who would take pleasure in the contact with the teeming numbers of individuals making up a throbbing business world, go after these opportunities, but always bear in mind that there is monotony in everything and that the most interesting jobs are the ones that begin in a small way and are built up to worthwhile proportions through one's own efforts.

Journalism

By Helen Christy May, Illinois Delta

FIVE years before I received my A.B.—before I had even entered college—I had begun to dream of going into newspaper work. Now, nearly five years after graduation, I am glad that I did enter that field.

My active newspaper work began during student days, for it was the summer after my sophomore year at Knox that I got a vacation job with the Galesburg Evening Mail. I worked there during the next two years and stayed several months after getting my degree, in 1925. This opportunity to do practical work in an editorial office was a good supplement to the courses of a liberal arts college.

Next in my journalistic experience was a small country newspaper, the Record at Harriman, Tennessee, where I went in November, 1925, to become "associate editor." The paper was then supposedly in the incipient stages of becoming a semi-weekly, but its editor died suddenly, two weeks after my arrival, and I found myself with a big share of the problem of publication on my own hands.

The country newspaper is undoubtedly the place to learn something about all sides of the business. I learned how much advertising we needed in order to pay expenses, and I began to write and sell ads. I learned about circulation lists and mailing costs, and I found out a good deal about the mechanical side of the newspaper.

Staff of Three

The Record stayed in the weekly class, and I stayed with it for a year and a half. Most of the time I gathered and wrote the news, got up the headlines and read proof, attended to local and national advertising, and looked after the circulation and bookkeeping. It may readily be guessed that our staff was small—consisting of myself, and two men in the composing room.

What I had learned about the sources of news stood me in good stead, and being on my own initiative, I had to make decisions as to the relative importance of various events or interests. I made plenty of blunders and took frequent "cussings out." But generally I was let off pretty easily.

In other parts of the business I did my best, and the task of getting enough advertising often overshadowed the editorial end. But I always preferred the latter, and determined to specialize in it if possible.

So the fall of 1927 saw me enrolling in the School of Journalism at the University of Missouri. I took a more general course than I had intended, but took special interest in literary and dramatic reviewing, special articles, and newspaper, or magazine departments. I had quite a bit of leisure for reading, and among the things that are outstanding in my recollections of the year, is the splendid journalism library. There students become acquainted with nearly every newspaper and magazine in this country, as well as from other countries. I also had occasion to work in the libraries of the schools of Agriculture, Medicine, and others, and found them of value to me.

HELEN CHRISTY MAY

Theta Phi Honor

In addition to practical training and experience, the School of Journalism gave me a new knowledge of the background and traditions of journalism, as well as a broader idea of the present—its problems and achievements—and a glimpse of what its future may hold.

I received the degree of bachelor of journalism in June, 1928, along with an award for being judged the woman student best fitted to go out into the profession. I was also fortunate enough to win a couple of essay contests, one being the 1928 Theta Sigma Phi contest for articles on women in journalism.

In August, 1928, I went to Waterloo, Iowa, to be society editor of the Courier, a daily afternoon paper. After such an all-round job as my former one, this was indeed specialization, even if of a commonplace sort.

Society editing is a job that constantly requires contacts with many people, and a wide personal acquaintance. It takes time to build it up, as well as tact and perseverance. Much of my acquaintance was via telephone only—scores of persons talked to me often and intimately, whom I never saw. But I did go to many club functions and other gatherings, in person.

One of my most interesting experiences was being in a group which motored to Cedar Rapids, Iowa, to accompany Mrs. Herbert Hoover to Waterloo—her birthplace—for a short visit. This was during the presidential campaign. Mrs. Hoover did not give any interviews but we had a delightful personal contact with her.

Accuracy

Accuracy in spelling of names and places, and true representation of what really happens, is essential in writing society news. The society editor's greatest desire is to publish worthwhile activities of prominent social groups who do not care for undue publicity; on the other hand, it is necessary to keep from being a sort of free press agent for those who are always grasping for extra notice.

The newspaper writer must work rapidly, under constant pressure. Every word counts, and one learns to express himself simply and briefly. In a way I think it spoils one for really creative work, although originality even in the editorial office is a great thing.

Although I left the newspaper when I was married in June, 1929, I keep an active interest in the profession, especially since my husband is a part of it. All newspaper writers, too, have dreams of further literary achievements, and I hope I may gain inspiration and ability to do more writing.

MISS CHARLOTTE LANSING
Prima Donna of "The New Moon"

I Meet a Prima Donna

By Josephine M. Coates

UNLESS you have worked in a department store and have spent hours digging through old stock trying to figure out some way to get rid of it before inventory, you cannot appreciate my embarrassment when upon crawling out from under a table on an afternoon in January, I found myself gazing down at one of the most adorable creatures I have ever seen.

I had heard a voice call "Miss Coates", but somehow or another it lacked that ominous note warning me that Mrs. Mitchell had brought back that lamp she had purchased seven months ago because she could find no place for it and would like to have cash credit, and yet there was nothing to indicate that the petite figure before me in the smart tailed suit of rust red trimmed in fitch, with hat and costume accessories of beige was the prima donna of "The Desert Song" and "The New Moon"; and so it was necessary for Charlotte Lansing to introduce herself.

It is difficult for me to picture Charlotte Lansing to you without lapsing into the language of the press, which has exhausted the list of synonyms applicable to an exceptionally charming actress with an unusually fine voice who has been the idol of theater-goers for the past few years. She is the Dresden doll that the critics call her—in that she is so beautiful to look upon—but in addition to that she is an interesting person, well read, and wrapped up in her work and success.

An hour for luncheon was not nearly long enough to hear of her interesting career, but she related it to me briefly beginning with her college life at Syracuse when she became a member of New York Alpha of Pi Beta Phi and then her struggle to Broadway via vaudeville. And the success she is enjoying today wasn't won overnight, for being a stage success isn't a mere matter of winning over a producer—it rather means winning a new public with each performance, which in turn requires unlimited courage and energy.

I have heard people of the stage say that Charlotte Lansing can always be depended upon to rise to an occasion and her debut in "The Desert Song" in itself would convince anyone of that. It was in the spring and she was in New York when the producers told her they would send her to Chicago to understudy the prima donna with a view of taking her place in the fall. After barely a week in Chicago, during which time she had had four or five coaching lessons, she was told one afternoon that she was to appear opposite Alexander Gray that evening. There wasn't much time to think of rehearsing—costumes were far more important and so after an afternoon of fittings with a dash to a beauty salon and a sandwich for dinner, Charlotte Lansing rose to an occasion and with its new prima donna "The Desert Song" enjoyed one of the longest theatrical runs Chicago has known. Her debut in "The "New Moon" was just as thrilling and you wonder how anyone could do it, but knowing Charlotte Lansing you know that she loves a challenge and she has confidence in what she terms as "doing her very best". And "doing her very best" is the secret to her success, for she doesn't worry about what may or may not happen next—she is primarily interested in what she is doing now and she sincerely believes that everything will turn out all right, which is indeed a very happy philosophy.

After daily performances for five months, you would rather expect a person—the leading lady anyway—to look tired and worn out, but not Charlotte Lansing. Sleep comes first and she is seldom a guest of the after-the-theatre parties that the public is so envious of and so you can see how she has gained the reputation of never missing a performance.

Miss Lansing almost never grants interviews and it was only her loyalty to Pi Phi that prompted her to answer my request for the opportunity to sketch her life for ARROW readers. You appreciate and adore her on the stage, but in real life you can understand even better why "The New Moon" shines on.

May every soul that touches mine,
 Be it the slightest contact, get therefrom some good,
 Some little grace, one kindly thought
 One aspiration yet unfelt, one bit of courage
 For the darkening sky, one gleam of faith
 To brave the thickening ills of life.
 One glimpse of brighter sky beyond the gathering mist,
 To make this life worth while
 And heaven a heritage.

Panhellenic Hotel A Woman's Accomplishment

By Sophie P. Woodman

THE Panhellenic Hotel, First Avenue and Forty-ninth Street, New York, is in its second successful year, and generally attributed an outstanding example of a woman's accomplishment.

The hotel is most delightfully located in one of the exclusive East Side developments. From every window there are splendid and fascinating views of the East River, with its shipping and bridges, or of the towers of Manhattan, looming against the sunset sky or sparkling up into the night. A thrill is anticipated with the completion of the eighty-five story Chrysler building, which gleams to meet the stars.

There are 392 rooms in the Panhellenic and it is 95 per cent occupied. It is necessary to make reservations if you contemplate stopping a few days. Of the occupants, about three-fourths are college women and about one-third are fraternity women. Kappa Kappa Gamma and Delta Delta Delta lead with seventeen each at the time this is written. Pi Phi averages about a dozen. From September 1 to December 31 the following were residents for longer or shorter periods (transients not included):

Emily Britton, Anna Finley, of Texas B; Jeannette Collett, Elizabeth Monteith, Julia Robbins, Texas A; Helen Rinninger, Washington A; Caroline Seldon, California A; Dorothy Porter Campbell, Gertrude Wiggins, Kansas A; Mary Concannon, Elizabeth Hixson, Jane Wagner, Ena Gregg, Iowa F; Jeannette Selby, Iowa Z; Margaret Chatfield, Ellen Matthews, Vermont A; Estelle Wogan, Louisiana A; Effie Copeland, Massachusetts A; Katherine Frohne, Michigan B; Gretchen Greenleaf, Nebraska B; and Sophie Woodman, New York B.

An excellent description, with pictures, appeared in THE ARROW last year, but it will be of interest to know that both the New York Times in the Sunday Magazine Section and the New Yorker featured the modernistic furnishings on the second floor, and that the very handsome Year Book of Women's Clubs, published by the Woman's Journal, ran the Panhellenic as a frontispiece, contained an article on it and displayed two cuts of the building among the advertisements.

The New York Panhellenic Club, membership in which is open to every fraternity woman, occupies a charming lounge and office on the fourth floor. The Club offers a scholarship for study in New York, puts on excellent programs to many of which house guests are invited, serves tea to friends the last Sunday in every month, etc. On the other Sundays some fraternity serves tea and visitors are always welcome.

The Panhellenic is a real Pi Phi headquarters. The regular monthly meeting on the first Saturday is held in the Tree of Life Room. The attendance runs from about fifty to about seventy. A very jolly party was given by the Alumnæ Club on the evening of January 7 to its men and women friends.

Sophie Woodman, president of the Club, gave up her apartment and came down town to try hotel life this year. Her attractive room on the twenty-second floor, with one window west over the city and one south on a balcony over the river, is more or less a Pi Phi meeting place and catch-all.

The Panhellenic Hotel is the only hotel in New York owned and managed by women. It is unique. Recognizing it as such, the recent convention of the Hotel Men's Association invited Miss Chatfield to address the meeting. She read a paper on "A Woman-Operated Hotel." Besides Margaret Chatfield, Pi Beta Phi, manager of the Hotel, the staff represents various colleges and fraternities: Nan Cannon, assistant manager, is a Delta Delta Delta from Ohio State University; Mildred Stone, house director, is a Radcliffe woman; Margaret Patterson, secretary to the manager, is a Kappa Kappa Gamma from George Washington; Carolyn Gunn, restaurant manager, a Columbia woman, assisted by Laura Jamieson of the University of Toronto and Virginia Wentz of Syracuse.

THE DINING-ROOM, PANHELLENIC HOUSE, NEW YORK

At Washington Conference

SIGNIFICANT among international news events of the month was the Conference on the Cause and Cure of War held in Washington in January. Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, Iowa T, was chairman of the conference and Josephine Schain, Minnesota A, is secretary of the national committee.

In the New York Herald-Tribune of January 19, Emma Bugbee, a staff correspondent gives Mrs. Catt's opinions which follow:

War will be abolished by the end of the present century, Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, chairman of the Conference on the Cause and Cure of War, predicted today as she finished her official duties in connection with the four days' session of the conference. She had told the 500 women delegates in her closing address to go home and redouble their efforts for peace, confident that the machinery has been put into operation, and that their efforts would all contribute to the final success of the cause.

"How many years will it be?" she was asked.

"I am confident that by the end of this century nations will have passed out of the war habit and into the peace habit," she answered. "That will be just seventy years, and there is work enough to keep each year full—and every woman busy.

"This is the element of the situation which has most impressed me recently—that we have come to the point where definite problems face us. The experts tell us that the cause of war lies in economic frictions, but when we ask how to avoid these frictions, nobody knows the answer. Others tell us there are gaps in the peace machinery, with its courts and treaties and conferences, but when we ask how to fill those gaps, nobody knows. And still others say the international laws need to be codified. There isn't anybody who knows how or when that can be done. So we have come down to definite problems, and though we cannot solve them today, it is something at least to know what the problems are.

"As far as the women are concerned, I have been much impressed by their attitude this year, which is the fifth time we have met here in annual convention. The delegates this year seemed to have moved into the realm of intelligent understanding of the problems they are studying."

Hotel Publicity Director

THE profession of publicity director is still a new enough field for women to make a women's signal success in that profession a matter of moment and of interest to other women.

Mozelle George Milliken (Mrs. William J. Milliken), Washington

A, has attained success in the field of hotel publicity in the past nine years and has recently been appointed director of publicity for the Woods-Drury Company (hotels), San Francisco.

The professional duties of a publicity executive for a large hotel seem to be the same as those of a mother in a large family—they consist of seeing what is to be done, doing it and going on to the next task which is sure to be entirely different.

Specific activities conducted by Mrs. Milliken in her offices with the Woods-Drury Company include the supervision of all advertising and publicizing for the Whitcomb and the new William Taylor hotels in San Francisco; designing and supervision of all art work done for the hotels—such as engraving, printing, and all literature circulated by the company; constant contacts with the public relations of the hotels as they affect news and publicity; and the attention to the interests of guests and friends of the hotels in matters of social courtesy ignored by other departments.

Mrs. Milliken is a southern woman, born in Little Rock, Arkansas, and something of the proverbial charm which the daughters of the South impart to their homes she has been able to bring to the administration of her affairs in her publicity contacts.

She has just succeeded in conducting one of the largest publicity campaigns of San Francisco's hotel world—the advance publicizing of the great new William Taylor which towers twenty-eight stories high above San Francisco's Civic Center. More than a quarter of a million pieces of literature were directed from her offices to points in all parts of the world in preparation for the event.

Perhaps one reason why Mrs. Milliken has been adept in mastering the varied duties of the publicity director is that she has successfully administered the varied aspects of the mother's job, as well. She was married in December 20, 1911, to William J. Milliken (deceased) and she has five children, three daughters and two sons, all in schools in San Francisco.

Mrs. Milliken has been associated with the Hotel Whitcomb for the past nine years. When the Woods-Drury Company's program of expansion enlarged to include the new hotel, as well as the Whitcomb, Mrs. Milliken's duties enlarged and expanded with it.

Air Governor

AT THE inaugural ceremonies at the Wichita, Kansas, Municipal Airport, Mrs. MacShort (Mae B. Seifkin, Kansas B), was chosen to present flowers to the pilot of the first westward flight of a Midcontinent Air Express passenger plane. Mrs. Short is the Kansas governor of the Women's National Aeronautical Association, secretary of the Women's Aeronautical Association of Kansas, and one of the three women members of the Wichita Glider Club. Mr. Short is vice president and chief engineer of the Stearman Aircraft Corporation. Their daughter christened the first glider of the association.

Representing Pi Phi

RATHER a difficult problem—"Who best represents Pi Beta Phi on your campus?"—but nevertheless each chapter was asked to select an outstandingly representative member—one who the chapter felt best represented the finest interests of the fraternity. In almost every instance, this selection was made by a vote of the active chapter concerned and in reading of these girls it is interesting to consider the qualities which are part of being representative of the Wine and Blue.

Good scholarship is necessary if a member wishes sincerely to uphold the standards of Pi Beta Phi. The fraternity is not unreasonable in expecting of each active member, the best possible scholastic achievements. An interest in scholarship generally is expected too—a desire to study and enjoy doing so. Dr. Eliot, late President of Harvard has said: "there is something wrong with the education which fails to increase enjoyment as well as to give power."

Leadership in college and fraternity circles is another quality which is essential to a representative Pi Beta Phi. Erroneous is the supposition that leadership and a long list of college activities are analogous. Frequently there are leaders who do not hold the important offices. It does mean, however, that a spirit of loyalty and a desire for service prevail. In campus associations, there must be a democratic feeling of friendliness toward fellow students; a spirit of loyalty toward the authority of the college or university; a pride and responsibility in the traditions and aspirations of the school; and a keen desire to contribute toward the activity of the school. This desire can find expression in various forms which vary according to the special ability of the individual.

In chapter life, leadership is expressed several ways. Paramount, however, is the recognition of the ideals of Pi Beta Phi, and the conscious effort to develop these ideals and standards. A leader in Pi Beta Phi gladly sacrifices her personal desires for the best interests of the group. By so doing, she does not cast aside her own individuality; she finds expression for that in a way which does not retard the progress of the fraternity to which she has pledged support.

Added to good scholarship and leadership, a truly representative active member of Pi Beta Phi is an exponent of the highest ideals of young womanhood. She upholds the best in deed and in thought. She does this, not from compulsion, but rather as an individual selecting the highest standards as her own. It is the girl whose life portrays a beauty of spirit, a loveliness of manner, and a thoughtfulness of mind who makes herself a real Pi Phi, and who qualifies in being truly representative of those wearing the Arrow. And hence, "With the Actives" assumes added significance.

BERNADINE CHESLEY SAVERS

HELEN LANKFORD, during her four years at Goucher College, has distinguished herself as one of the leading girls of the college. She has held some of the most important offices on the campus. Helen was treasurer of her class the first year of her college career, president of the class her sophomore year, and in her junior year she was editor-in-chief of Donnybrook, the Goucher year-book. This year she is president of the Students' Organization, and, as a representative of the student body, she has been most influential in effecting many changes in the social rules. Helen was recording secretary of the Goucher College Christian Association her sophomore year and has been a member of the association all four years she has been in college.

Goucher has been represented at several conferences by Helen. She was sent last year to the meeting of the National Student Federation of America held at the University of Missouri, and this year she attended the conference of the Women's Intercollegiate Association of Student Government held at Bucknell University.

Adele Houssels, Texas A University of Texas, is serving as president of the chapter this year. And at the province Convention is New Orleans in 1928, Adele represented Texas A.

She was one of the Bluebonnet belles in the school year book 1927, and was the queen of the Thanksgiving ball in 1927.

During the Union drive and Stadium drive in 1928 and 1929, Adele volunteered to cooperate with the committee for raising funds, and pledged much of her time to this worthy cause. She was a loyal member and served on the senior council of Cap and Gown in 1928.

Her three years' work has been devoted to the study of home economics and she is now vice president of the Home Economics club. In this, her fourth year, she is assisting in the home economics department and will probably have a permanent position in this department next year.

Elinor Black, Medicine, '30, is a member of Manitoba A, and by the unanimous vote of the chapter was chosen as the one most representative of Pi Beta Phi. Elinor was among the first pledges after the founding of the group, and since then has been a most enthusiastic member.

During her college course, Elinor has been extremely popular, and this is shown by the various offices she has held. Among these have been, Student Christian Movement Representative, 1926-27, 1928-29; president Student Christian Movement Council, 1926-27; "Manitoban" representative 1926-27; athletic representative 1927-28; president University Manitoba Students' Union co-ed's basketball team 1928; president U.M.S.U. Women's Council 1928-29; secretary Women's Division Manitoba Medical Students' Association 1927-28; vice president Women's Division Manitoba Medical Students' Association 1928-29; U.M.S.U. Council 1928-29; finally, Lady Stick of Medicine 1929-30, the highest possible office a girl can hold in her faculty.

In athletics Elinor has also held her place. She has been a member of the Medical girls' track team, Medical science basketball team, U.M.S.U. track team '26, '27, '28; winner of high jump record, 1928-29; captain U.M.S.U. basketball team 1928-29.

Just now Elinor is an interne at the Winnipeg General Hospital and this spring will see her an M.D.

Illinois E has chosen Dorothy Verges as the most representative Pi Phi in Northwestern University. Dorothy is taking some part in nearly every campus activity. This year she has had charge of the subscription drive for the college annual, the Syllabus, and is a candidate for the Syllabus Beauty Queen. She is a member of the junior class commission and of the junior social committee. Dorothy also belongs to two honorary societies, Alethenia, honorary literary society, and Shi-Ai, honorary sophomore women's organization. She takes a very active part in fraternity life, being marshal of Zeta Phi Eta, speech sorority, and recording secretary of Pi Beta Phi. Beside this, Dorothy is an excellent scholar.

Illinois B has chosen as its most representative member Catherine Townsend, '30. Catherine was president of Illinois B for 1928-29 and the first semester 1929-30. She was a member of the annual Lombard dance revue in '27 and '28. In '28, also, she was chosen by the Stroller as one of the four Lombard beauties. She has been editor of the Lombard Review and a member of the Stroller staff. She is at the present time president of the Home Economics club; and holds membership in three honorary fraternities—Phi Kappa Phi, scholastic; Sigma Tau Delta, English; and Theta Chi Delta, chemistry.

fraternity activities is president of the Knox Y.W.C.A. In addition her list of honors includes: Freshman and Sophomore Commission, Y.W.C.A. secretary; W.A.A. Council, honorary varsity hockey, varsity basketball, varsity baseball, junior tennis champion; vice president of Mortar Board; Knox Student staff, Gale board; L.M.I., literary society; general scholastic honors '27 and '29; treasurer and president of Pi Beta Phi.

A senior at the University of Denver, Helen Anne Oakes has participated in many and diversified activities during her college years. She was president of her class her junior year and among the upper third of her class in scholarship. She has been an active member of Quill club, the Press and Drama clubs and Y.W.C.A. During her sophomore and junior years she won her full college tuition acting as secretary to the dean of women. At present she is secretary to the associate professor of religion.

Evelyn Lyle, Florida B, is truly representative of Pi Beta Phi on her campus. She has been a member of Torch Night and glee club, and as a member of Orchesus participated in the Dance Drama and May day programs. She is advertising manager of the college yearbook, a member of Beta Pi Theta, French honorary fraternity, and in addition has an unusually high scholastic record.

Katharine Phelps is the typical Pi Phi girl of Illinois A, because in her are all the qualities of friendliness, loyalty to her fraternity and her school, social poise, executive and scholastic ability. She is president of the fraternity chapter, which shows that she has the true fraternity spirit, yet she is so democratic that the girls elected her president of the dormitory. Her scholastic ability is very evident, since she is a member of Sigma Omicron Mu, the membership requirements of which are higher than those of Phi Beta Kappa. Unlike most girls, though broadening out into all fields, Katharine has developed one talent—music. In her junior year, she was graduated in piano from the conservatory. During her four years in college she has been active in Crimson Masque, French Club, Student Council, Panhellenic, Y.W.C.A., being on the cabinet her junior year, and all sports, swimming, hockey, and basketball.

Mildred Moyer, president of Ohio Δ , has been active on the Ohio Wesleyan campus throughout her four years. She is a member of Mortar Board and of the Squibs, honorary journalism fraternity. She was a member of the Home Economics club 2, 3, and vice-president 4. She was women's editor of Le Bijou 3; freshman debate 1; varsity debate 2, 4; Athenaeum 2, 3, 4; baseball 1, 2; cottage adviser 4; W.S.G.A. social chairman 4; representative woman 3; and president of Council of Women's Fraternity Presidents.

Jean Warner, senior at the University of Wyoming is one of the most outstanding girls on the campus. She has made not only a brilliant scholastic record, but has shown herself to be extremely versatile in her accomplishments. She came to the University in the fall of 1926 from Ogden, Utah, distinguishing herself first in dramatics. During her four years she has been active in Theta Alpha Phi, national dramatic organization, and for three years has received the dramatic cup presented by the University to the most outstanding actor or actress on the campus. She was a member of Iron Skull, sophomore honorary organization. During her sophomore year she was admitted to Quill Club, and has had a number of poems and stories published in the Quill Magazine. At the honor assembly in the spring of 1929 she was awarded the honor book for work of highest merit in the department of English, and was elected to membership in Cap and Gown, senior honorary, petitioning Mortar Board.

During her sophomore year she represented Wyoming at the regional oratorical contest at Liberty, Missouri, placing fourth in spite of the fact that she came directly from this institution while the other contestants had already won district contests. This year Jean goes to Lincoln, Nebraska, as a delegate from the Wyoming chapter of Sigma Alpha Iota, national music sorority. At this convention she will sing several numbers on the general program and act as master of ceremonies at the final banquet. Upon her return from this convention she goes out again on a week's tour of the state as soloist for the University Orchestra.

In addition to her extracurricular activities, Jean Warner has been one of the most capable and willing members of Wyoming A chapter of Pi Beta Phi. She has been president of the chapter for the past two years.

Although only a sophomore, Esther Chambers of Pennsylvania Γ is one of the most outstanding girls on Dickinson campus. She is an active member of the Harmon Literary Society, college orchestra, and glee club. Class basketball represents another of her interests, which extend to the field of writing, for she is a reporter on the staff of the Dickinsonian, the college weekly. This year Esther is the secretary of the W.S.G.A. Last year she received the prize for excellence in freshmen rhetoric, and is now wearing the scholarship pin offered by the chapter to the freshman Pi Phi with the highest grades.

Deaf, dumb, or hopelessly obscure is the student at the University of Utah who has not heard of Betty Knight. She is somewhat of a shining light to the wavering freshman, the spirit of capability, success, and personality to the sophomore, a pal and a source of encouragement to the weary junior, and a beloved classmate to the proud senior. All of these is Betty—and more. She seems imbued with inhuman powers of work. One quarter, when she was active in four or five organizations, a class officer, an instructor in botany, and president of our then-local sorority, she was successful in making a straight A report card of eighteen hours.

Betty is a born leader. Her first quarter as a freshman at the University she was elected vice president of her class, and it is rather remarkable to note that she held that position during three straight years, being vice president of the freshman, sophomore, and junior classes respectively. Her senior year, she was decisively elected secretary of the entire Student Body. Her list of activities include Order of Acorn (honorary senior woman's society), Trotters, Pom club, Presidents club, class officer, student body officer, and Natural History club.

Jenny Turnbull, Columbia A, has a splendid athletic record which has brought a great deal of honor to her chapter: captain of varsity tennis, hockey, and basketball; vice president W.A.A.; student assistant in athletic department; member of Hour Glass society and W.A.C.

Iowa B feels that Frances Kern, the chapter president, has indeed been representative in chapter and campus activities. Pledged to Sigma Tau Delta, national English professional fraternity, and president of Blackfriars, local dramatics club, she has done excellent work in the fields of English and speech education. Besides being a member of Phi Mu Gamma, dramatics fraternity, she also belongs to Pi Kappa Delta, national forensic organization, and has participated actively in intramural and varsity debates. Her interest and talent in dramatics have given her prominence in college plays, and the lead in, The Passing of the Third Floor Back and The Goose Hangs High.

Marthell Burman, Missouri T, is a senior at Drury College and is one of the most outstanding girls on the campus both scholastically and socially. She is president of Sigma Tau Delta, national honorary English fraternity, and is a member of Skiff, honorary society for senior women. She is also student assistant to the head of the English department. Her ability as an entertainer should not be overlooked, for she has a charming voice and plays her own accompaniment. She was chosen by the chapter as delegate to Convention, and she is now president of the chapter.

The best all-around Pi Phi on the St. Lawrence University campus is its last convention delegate, Gertrude Wooley, a junior. She does well in everything which she attempts whether it be in athletics, journalistic endeavors, or executive offices.

Athletically, she is on the varsity basketball team, plays class hockey, is a tennis champion and compet, a participant in the annual canoe regatta, as well as a member of the honorary athletic society known as the "SLU Club."

In literary endeavors, she has been on the staff of the weekly college paper, the Hill News, for three years, on the editorial staff of the Scarlet Saint, and is the women's sports editor of the Gridiron, the college annual.

On the campus, she holds the office of vice president of Thelomæthesian, is a member of Honor Court, a member of Panhellenic, and is on the finance committee of W.S.G.A.

By her winning manner and cheerful cooperation with all those about her, Gertrude well deserves these honors and is certainly a true Pi Beta Phi.

Marjorie McElroy, vice president of Indiana Γ chapter, has been chosen as the girl most representative of Pi Phi on the Butler campus.

Marjorie, who is a senior now, has been active throughout her college life. She was vice president of the junior class, worked on the Drift, yearbook published by the junior class, took part in the 1929 Follies, was a member of the Student Budget Committee, and was corresponding secretary of the fraternity.

Marjorie has been initiated into Scarlet Quill, senior honorary organization; she is a senior member of Student Council and is active on Woman's League and senior committees.

Alice Palmer, North Dakota Λ , is one of the most active girls on the campus today. She is vice president and the only junior member of Quo Vadis, which is petitioning Mortar Board. She is president of Panhellenic. She became a reserve member of the Dakota Playmakers in 1928 and an active member in 1929. She is now playing the part of Christina in Ibsen's A Doll's House. She was a member of the elementary glee club, 1927; the sextette, 1927; the senior glee club, 1928-29; and Oratorio, 1928-29. She played the part of Josephine in "H.M.S. Pinafore" and a prominent part in "Patience" by Gilbert and Sullivan. She was on the Carney Song Committee 1927. She is the junior member of the Student Advisory Council 1929-'30, Secretary of Student Government for Women, Secretary of Little Senate, and Member of Big Senate. She is an active member of Sigma Alpha Iota and program chairman 1929-30. She is vice president of the North Dakota A chapter of Pi Beta Phi.

Damarus Wilson, Jacksonville, is the president of the Florida I chapter and is accepted as the most representative Pi Beta Phi at Rollins. She holds many offices in the activities and clubs on the campus. She heads basketball, represents the women's fraternities on the Student-Faculty committee, and is an officer in both Y.W.C.A. and W.A.A.

Elizabeth Landress, '30, president of Tennessee A, is one of the most outstanding girls on the University of Chattanooga campus. Not only has she made a straight "A" record almost continuously in her studies for the past three years, but she has been extremely prominent in extra-curricular activities. She has been a member of "The French Players," a member of the Political Science club, reporter for the Spanish club, a senior marshal, a member of the staff of the Blue Buzzard, a member of the cast of Pinafore, and an active worker on various committees. Last year Elizabeth was recording secretary for Tennessee A and a delegate to Convention. This year she is secretary of the Student Council, treasurer of Sigma Tau Delta, national honorary literary fraternity, a member of Beta Pi Theta, honorary French fraternity, secretary of Panhellenic, a member of the Spanish club, a member of the staff of the Echo, chairman of committee for the revision of rushing rules, and chairman of the committee elected to draw up a new constitution for the student body. She is also working for departmental honors in both English and French.

Betty Werlein most truly represents Louisiana A on the Newcomb campus. As a freshman and junior she has been president of her class; she is a member of student council; a member of class teams; was appointed to represent Newcomb at Geneva in 1929; has been elected King of the 1930 May Day ceremony; and an active contributor to the literary publications of the college.

Wisconsin Beta is extremely proud of Margaret Freeman, '30. There is practically no field in which she has not been represented during her four years at Beloit. She won her first points for W.A.A. in her freshman year and was admitted to the organization the following year. Since that time she has been manager of the swimming department in which she excels. In her junior year she was made chairman of the committee which reorganized Y.W.C.A. and was then elected president.

Margaret's positions in women's activities have culminated in her election to the presidency of W.S.G.A. in the spring of her junior year. She represented Beloit at the national meeting of that group at the University of Oklahoma in 1929. She has also served as treasurer of W.S.G.A. as well as of her dormitory as a freshman. Now as a senior Margaret is president of the chapter, a member of Panhellenic Council, of Forum club and of the Chamberlin Science club.

In a more social way she has honored herself and her group in winning the beauty contest sponsored by the college yearbook when she was a sophomore.

In addition to serving Pi Beta Phi as president of Michigan B chapter and delegate to the 1929 convention, Virginia Losee has held many responsible positions on the campus of the University of Michigan. She is president of Mortar Board and was a member of Wyvern, the junior-honor society on the campus. She is the senior member of the judiciary council of the Women's League and is on the executive board of that organization. She has held two of the important chairmanships in the League, that of the house committee and the life membership committee. In her junior year, Virginia assisted the director of the dancing for the junior girls' play and also took part in it. As a sophomore, she had charge of the properties committee for the class circus and of the entertainment for the spread given the freshmen. Her first year on campus, Virginia directed the dancing in the freshman pageant. She was a member of her class swimming team and last year won the intersorority swimming meet.

Harriet Smith, president of Virginia Γ for the past year and who will graduate this June, has contributed notably to college and fraternity life at William and Mary College. Harriet's numerous activities on this campus have proved her unusual ability in taking responsibility and making a success of all her undertakings. The list of her activities includes: Mortar Board; Glee Club; Chi Delta Phi, national honorary women's literary fraternity; member of the Flat Hat staff, the college paper; Literary Magazine staff; secretary and vice president of the Women's Student Government Association; president of the Judicial Council; had the presentation of an original play by the Dramatic club; member of G.G.G., women's social organization German club; and literary society.

Anne Kelso Currie is an outstanding member of North Carolina A. She stands for "Good scholarship, cooperation with college authorities, maintenance of high social standards and for the service which right adjustments to life demands." For her sweet friendship and true loyalty to North Carolina Alpha, the chapter adjudged her the most outstanding Pi Phi.

Alice Glenn Suttan, '30, was chosen by a unanimous vote of Kansas A as the most outstanding representative of Pi Beta Phi on the campus of the University of Kansas. Alice is now president of the chapter. Throughout her four years she has been active in Y.W. work. She was vice president of the Jay Janes until her recent resignation. She is a member of Theta Sigma Phi and has served on the Kansas Board and as exchange editor of the Sour Owl. She was on the Dads' Day dinner committee and played on the junior baseball team.

Betty Bement, a sophomore at Washington State College, is a girl of whom all Pi Phis as well as Washington B should be proud. In her freshman year she was a straight A student.

This year she is president of Spurs, sophomore women's honorary; secretary of the sophomore class; member of the student body committee on lectures and entertainment; member of the Women's Council, attended the conference at Hayden Lake last August; Y.W.-C.A. cabinet member, and Interest group leader.

In the fraternity Betty is "Emily Post." She writes clever verses and posts them from time to time, giving pointers in etiquette. Among these is a tiny booklet—"Emily Post on Rushing," which was read to the chapter during the rushing season. She wrote the poem for Y.W.C.A. tea invitations. Orchestus, dancing honorary, won first prize in the All-College Revue this year. Betty wrote the poem for the act and danced in the performance. She is the sophomore representative on the executive council; and Spokane rushing chairman.

the Panhellenic Council for the past two years. She was chairman of Woman's Day and of the Junior Women's Conference of Vocational Congress last year. This year she is chairman of the lecture course which is supplanting the annual Girls' Vocational Congress. She was a member of Spurs her sophomore year. She was chairman of freshmen Y.W.C.A. that year, too. Elizabeth has been active in athletics, also. She has been a member of W.A.A. four years. She won first in tennis and second in rifle her first year.

Elizabeth Gardiner, '30, of Anaconda, Montana, has been active in both the chapter and the extracurricular activities of the campus. She served as president of the Pi Phi pledges her freshman year; then as vice president of the chapter her junior year; and finally as president this year. Elizabeth is vice president of Mortar Board. She has been a member of A.W.S. for four years and is a member of its Council this year. She has also been on Violet Mau, Ontario A, is most representative of Pi Beta Phi on the University of Toronto campus. In her first year she represented her class in the house committee of university residence. Aside from these activities she has secured first or second class honors during her three college years.

Josie Turner's work. Well, "Josie" is Phyllis Crawford Kay-Scott herself!

Her collection of Elsie Dinsmore stories is being published by Jonathan Cape and Harrison Smith, and Eldon Kelly is doing the illustrating.

Here's what the writer says about this book:

"Elsie, still pious, prayerful, and tearful as in the original Elsie books, finds herself at a night club, in a poker game, at a gay week-end party, and a masquerade ball, etc., yet manages to act always according to the dictates of the Inner Voice."

She is using her maiden name for a book for children from four to six, The Blot: Little City Cat, illustrated by Holling C. Holling. The book will be published next fall by Cape and Smith.

(Psst . . . she didn't tell me not to tell, but first novelists are so secretive that I rather imagine she meant for me not to, anyway . . . she's writing her first novel, too.)

Marie George (has another name now, but more of that later), Indiana T, who graduated in 1924, says that she's "flattered to break into print!" And she a newspaper woman at that, probably writing long tributes every day to many and many another person. It just goes to prove an old contention—newspaper people are probably the most modest class known, when it comes to seeing their own names in type.

She's a reporter on the Indianapolis News, "doing general assignments, ranging from faithful dog stories to bank robberies and murders." Last winter the paper sent her to California in connection with a Mary Pickford project.

Despite this, she finds time to contribute short articles every once in a while to Life, the Ladies'

Though readers still know her as Marie George, she changed names a short time ago, and in private life is Mrs. Paul H. Moore.

When I read those fascinating articles of Olive Gilbreath's, Michigan B (mentioned in the November, 1929, ARROW), I wondered what imprint China left on her. I know now. Chinese hieroglyphics influenced her handwriting! It was a mere chance that a letter found this woman who nonchalantly trots off to Tibet or China or other far corners of our earth, at her home in La Plata, Missouri, and the information gained that she is lecturing on China and Russia to American audiences at the present time.

fall at Morning for London publication. The reprint of the book, which was reviewed in the November, 1929, ARROW, is to be published this spring.

Miss Fox's brother had a play on Broadway this winter, Soldiers and Women.

It wasn't any feeling of woman's inferiority which caused Agnes

Wright Spring, Wyoming A and former editor of THE ARROW, to sign her name as "A. W. Spring," to the story "Arctic Gold" which appeared in the January 1 issue of Boys' Life. She was just being an excellent salesman and catering to her readers for as she says "I fancy boy readers like to think they are reading stories written by men." That longing which Mrs. Spring had to have more time to write seems to be pretty well received by the publishers, the way her stories are appearing in publications.

That's going to be a good joke which Pi Phi sisters and mothers have on their brothers and sons—knowing all the time that "A. W. Spring" is one of our own Pi Phi members instead of some man.

By the way, that issue of Boys' Life seems to have been sold out in some other towns as well as Fort Collins (Mrs. Spring's home town) within a very few days, if Des Moines may be accepted as an example.

It's always taken for granted that a woman is the inspiration for a man's writing, isn't it? Let's do so in this case, anyway, just to mention that Hal Everts, whose wife was Sylvia Abrahms, Kansas A, has had eight stories in the Saturday Evening Post during 1929. "The Shaggy Legion" is now appearing there (don't forget that this is winter, and you're reading it weeks later, if you want to check up on the story).

Marriage seems to be enticing quite a few of the writers away from their maiden names. She that was Lurena Ellis, Oklahoma

B, has a brand new Christmas-time husband, William Edward Bagby, Sigma Nu, who graduated in 1924. Mrs. Bagby has written art feature articles and book reviews for the Art World Magazine of the Chicago Evening Post.

Several articles on child training are scheduled to appear in the early 1930 issues of Babyhood, and are written by Amalia Kraushaar Nelson, Iowa Z, who is now on the staff of the college of education at Ohio State University, Columbus, Ohio. Mrs. Nelson also has an article, "Parent Education in the Church," in the December issue of the Journal of the Religious Education Association.

Art lovers the world over are familiar with International Studio, that magazine which publishes pictures of rare treasures of pictures, statues, and other masterpieces. The articles in it are written generally by authorities on specialized subjects. It takes a sense of the beautiful plus a capability for managing the practical details of publication to be on the staff of that magazine. Such a position is held by Helen Comstock, California B, who for several years has been associate editor on International Studio's staff. To one who is familiar with magazine organization, that fact speaks loudly of accomplishment, despite Miss Comstock's fears that she really shouldn't be classed as a writer.

Let those who plaster their walls with rejection slips, and those who are still waiting for the thrill of seeing their first story published hark to the situation of Margaret Weymouth Jackson, Michigan A, for inspiration. Perhaps the struggling writers may some day reach the place where they, too, have several stories accepted, but are not sure what date they will appear, as that matter is still in the publisher's hands. This is the report on Mrs. Jackson for this ARROW. She had a story, "The First Witness," in Country Gentleman in December, 1929, and one, "Prince of Horseback," in the Saturday Evening Post for February 1, 1930.

A series of short stories concerning an automobile dealership in a small town will appear in the Saturday Evening Post this spring—"The Polished Engine," "Drive-away," "Model Discontinued," "Repossessed," and "Without Recourse."

"Holiday," a story, will appear in the March McCall's. Two stories will be published in the Ladies' Home Journal and two in the Woman's Home Companion—dates unknown.

Whew!—when does she get time to eat, what with writing all those? And that isn't all of her writing, either, but it isn't to be told for an issue or two.

Murder, the "fascinating" Mary Lou, a house party, the teller of the story who had built a career for herself, her former lover masquerading under another name, faces at the window during a bridge game at a house party . . . they're all nicely and spicily combined in "The House Party Murder," the serial in Smart Set Magazine, written by Shirley Seifert, Missouri B. The first installment appeared in the January issue.

It took a college woman to write the description of the coed's clothes-washing-Friday-morning as it is described in "Forty Dollars to Spend," a Siefert story which appeared in the January issue of McCall's magazine. It almost makes you believe that a college girl might have a beau who could spend eight dollars on tickets to a show, and then spend the evening in the dormitory parlor—almost.

Mary Badger Wilson, New York B, may be difficult to locate by letter (witness my file), but she is easy to find in popular magazines. That is, her stories are. In the February, 1930, issue of Woman's Home Companion, she has a story, "The Girl Who Had Everything." By actual observation four people who picked up the magazine read her story first. They were the only four observed, but it goes to prove that it's a good story. It has something about it as refreshing as the perfume that Laura, the "love child," used when she made the friendship of her King Cophetua-lover in the musty library.

So now to wait for the crop of spring publications to arrive, along with the daffodils and violets. There we'd rather the simile stopped. Bashfulness and refusal to call attention to one's own accomplishments may be all right for the spring flowers, but for the spring authors, a prompt announcement of publications would be greatly appreciated by the Book Notes editor.

Don't be a violet, you Pi Phi writers!

A Texas Queen

ONLY those people who live in the southern states can appreciate the significance of the title of "Queen"—and upon few is this title conferred. Lilla Graham Bryan, Texas B, is one of the most royal personages of Texas. She has been Queen of the Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College

Rodeo Pageant; Duchess from the Texas A. and M. College to the Queen's Coronation on All-College Night which was sponsored by the Junior League of Dallas; and as Duchess from the Texas A. and M. College to the Cotton Palace at Waco she carried an honor coveted by every true Texas daughter.

PHI KAPPA NU

Edited by Florence Taylor Shields

WILL ROGERS, whose wit and wisdom are internationally famous, needs no introduction to any group of readers. We are proud that he may be named among Pi Phi Relatives as the uncle of Amelia Stroud, California Delta, and of Maxine Marshall Dickinson, Arkansas Alpha.

THE voice of Freeman F. Gosden is well known to most radio listeners throughout the United States, but probably many Pi Phis do not know that he is the husband of Leta Schreiber Gosden, Colorado Beta and Minnesota Alpha, and is Amos Jones of Amos 'n Andy fame. Mr. Gosden was also Sam of the Sam 'n Henry team which for some time broadcast from Chicago.

ANOTHER one of the fun makers who is a Pi Phi Relative is Mr. C. M. Payne, father of Laura Payne, California Delta, who is the cartoonist better known as "S'Matter Pop."

IN STILL another field of entertainment we find Ruth Etting, cousin of Kathryn Becker of Nebraska Beta. Miss Etting is a well known "blues" singer whose voice is heard on Columbia records.

KKNOWN to those interested in music is Caroline Powers Thomas, cousin of Caroline Powers, Illinois Eta, and of Fanny Powers, Wisconsin Alpha, who as a violinist has traveled with John Philip Sousa as also did her sister Jeanette Powers Block.

CHARLOTTE CUSHMAN, famed in her day as an actress, was the aunt of Jane Wellington, Illinois Epsilon.

ALMOST coincident with the publication of the November ARROW carrying in this department a photograph of Patrick Jay Hurley as Assistant Secretary of War came the announcement of his appointment by President Hoover to be Secretary of War, filling the place of the late James William Good. Mr. Hurley is the youngest member of the cabinet and is the brother of Alice Hurley Mackey, Oklahoma Alpha and Colorado Alpha.

IT IS with regret that the announcement of the death of James Harris Rogers, uncle of Mae Harris Clarke, District of Columbia Alpha, is noted in recent press dispatches. A brief résumé of Mr. Rogers' career and his activities in the field of science has previously been published in THE ARROW.

MARGARET E. ANDERSON

TO Mrs. Libbie Brooks Gaddis, Founder, came the happiness of seeing her grand daughter initiated into Pi Beta Phi, when Margaret Anderson became a member of Colorado A. Her mother, Annie Gaddis Anderson, was also present and hence this initiation was history for Pi Beta Phi, for Margaret Anderson is the only Pi Phi whose grandmother was a Founder and whose mother is a Pi Phi.

NEWS FROM THE NEEDELMON

Edited by Blanche Charlton Curtis

Pi Beta Phi Welcomes Its Own

NOT so many years ago when the Pi Beta Phi Settlement School was near its beginning in what was then known as White Oak Flats there seemed some difficulty in keeping together enough students for the fraternity to feel justified in its efforts to maintain the school. Two of the staunchest friends of the school in those early days were Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Huff. When it seemed that the school would be forced to close its doors on account of the scarcity of pupils Mr. and Mrs. Huff might have been seen carrying their little four-year-old daughter to enter school, not with the hope of imbibing much learning at this tender age but with the sole idea of increasing the number of students in the school so that it would continue. From that day little Miss Huff became a regularly enrolled student until she graduated. While in school she christened and became the first editor-in-chief on the Wine and Blue section of this paper. After her graduation she finished her high school work in one year at Virginia Inter-mont, located at Bristol, and later completed two years at Maryville College. Today both students and teachers alike welcome Miss Mattie Huff as a member of her alma mater. She is the first graduate of the school to have this distinction and it seems fitting to those who know her that it should come to this once youngest student of Pi Beta Phi School and first editor of the Wine and Blue.

Shop Work in Sugarlands

two questions came up: what should be done with the boys during that period and what was there to use for a sewing table. All worked out without much trouble. From the lumber pile back of the shed at the cottage the boys found boards and made a table. It was rough and not good to look at, having been made from all kinds of boards and I know the girls must have had difficulty in cutting a straight seam. However, it was not used long for sewing. We decided the girls might as well go to the cottage with their sewing and the boys turned the sewing room at the school into a shop.

We started with a hammer and saw from the cottage, some of the boys brought tools from home and it wasn't long until the school donated some more. The shop has been one of the busiest places about the school—at recess, between bells, and evenings after school you can usually find someone working there unless there is an exciting game going on outside.

The boys are pretty clever about making things. It seems to have been handed down to them from their fathers who have made their own homes and furniture. Among the things they have made are bird houses, bird feeders and shelters, lid racks, shelves, nail boxes, bows, arrows, and many kinds of toys. Nearly everything is made according to directions and they have learned to take great pride in putting a good finish on their things.

Not only the boys enjoy the shop but the girls too. They made their sewing boxes out of cigar boxes, painted them, and made their own designs. This fall they painted bottles for vases.

The shop work had a great deal to do with our winning first prize on our school exhibit for the last three years at the Gatlinburg Fair. This money has been used for paint, sandpaper, screws, nails, etc.

The wood that is used is just any that can be found. Occasionally you will see Miss Evelyn or some other member of the Gatlinburg family carrying an empty drygoods box up. Everyone knows about the shop and it seems to attract more attention than any other part of the school.

This Christmas we have had two gifts for the shop and the new tools the money has bought will keep more than one boy busy and happy.

Emily Burton Initiated

IN THE early days of the Pi Beta Phi School a little figure appeared in Gatlinburg and remained to become a mighty force in both the school and community. There are few young people in Gatlinburg who do not owe to Emily Burton the happy memories of their first days in school and few homes that have not been brightened by this cheery visitor.

For ten years Miss Burton gave her careful instruction to the little folks of Gatlinburg. During the past year and a half she has been working with the same interest and enthusiasm in the Sugarlands. Due to the illness of her father it has been necessary for her to return to her home in Montclair, New Jersey. She left Gatlinburg on November 6.

On the previous evening a dinner was given in her honor by the school staff. Other special guests were thirteen Pi Phis and a Pi Phi mother, representing the chapter at the University of Chattanooga. In expression of the Fraternity's appreciation for her many years of loyal service to the school Miss Burton was initiated that evening into the Tennessee Alpha chapter of Pi Beta Phi.

—Reprint from Gatlinburg News, November, 1929.

The purpose of a local Panhellenic Association on a campus is to preserve the general welfare of each fraternity, promote interfraternalism, and to cooperate as a united fraternity body with the administration of the college or university. To accomplish any one or all of these purposes your Panhellenic Association, and you too, must have a background of knowledge, a foreground of constructive program, and a standing-ground of prestige, esteem, and appreciation. And these all depend upon each member of fraternities, as well as upon college Panhellenic.

A background of knowledge means time and thought in familiarizing oneself with the history, development, and work of National Panhellenic Congress. It means a study and learning of the Panhellenic Creed, the Interfraternity Compact, and the Standards of Ethical Conduct. It means knowing generally and appreciating the fineness of all sister fraternities. It means knowing the significant movements and the trend in fraternity life of today. The old saying is still very true, "You will only get as much out of a thing as you put into it!" You are missing the fullness of fraternity relationship if you have not a background of knowledge and understanding. And it is expected of the college fraternity woman!

A foreground of constructive program! Many say "What can we do?" Let us start at the beginning: Regular worth while and interesting Panhellenic meetings are vital. Not meetings hastily "sandwiched in" between two more important events, but a definite time, unhurried and uninterrupted, given over to study or discussion of Panhellenism in its various forms. A program for the year which includes educational features for the freshman, conference opportunities and discussion for the initiated members, a social program that is interesting and good, scholarship plans for all women students, less of legislative and judiciary work and more of intimate thinking and working together. How many problems common to all could be discussed: pledge training, house problems, the president's task, campus problems, individual responsibilities, on and on. Let us lay aside the topic of rushing for awhile and set out to build a strong practical association that will lift the Panhellenic to a place of real leadership on the campus; let us plan a program that will assist scholarship, will develop real democracy, and will build interfraternalism by constructive thinking and living.

Chairman of College Panhellenic Committee

Books! Books! More Books!

The following article was written by Ethel F. McCulloch, Indiana A, librarian of the Evansville Library, Evansville, Indiana. Miss McCulloch had the inspiration last summer to spend her vacation in Gatlinburg fortunately and happened to select the time of committee meeting.

She joined in the excursions up the creeks and "hollers" and became as enthusiastic as the rest in the work of Pi Phi in and about Gatlinburg. Of course her trained eye fell on the rather poor selection of books and she at once offered to go through the library and make suggestions for its improvement. The committee seized upon her suggestion and she not only spent days at this work but finally consented to write this article for THE ARROW. Her interest didn't wane after her visit either as was evidenced by her gift of a large box of books that arrived early in the fall.—EDITOR

By Ethel F. McCulloch

ARE you goin' to throw it away?" With very evident disapproval she watched me as I dropped her favorite story into the pile of dirty, worn out books.

"Perhaps the Pi Phis will send you some others. Perhaps there will be another just like this, only it will be clean and new." At the magic words "Pi Phi" her eyes lighted up and a smile broke over her face.

"Be you a Pi Phi?"

"Yes I am."

Instantly all disapproval vanished, the atmosphere cleared, and I stepped from outer darkness into the clear light of tolerance and approbation.

The settlement school library is shelved in the entrance hall of one of the school buildings and no child coming into the building can be unaware of the welcome of friendly books. Hence, it is quite natural that many of the good old titles have been read to tatters. So disreputable had they become as to discredit the whole collection. Thus it fell to my lot to weed out the unusables from the usables and when I had finished there were some notable gaps in the collection.

There is now a pitifully inadequate supply of "easy books," practically no fairy tales and very little poetry. Imaginative literature of the best kind has a very real place in the development of children whose experience is as circumscribed as is that of most of these mountain children. Books of description and travel open the doors into the great outside world and history and science help all of us to interpret the present more intelligently in the light of the past. Hence, a good library is one of the requirements of the state of Tennessee, upon which state aid to schools is based.

And now I am wondering if it would not be possible for each of us to acquire the habit of sending a book to the school upon various joyous occasions. Christmas, St. Valentine's day and even our own birthdays afford ample excuses for making much needed presents. Let us not send "attic books," or worn books, or dirty books, or just any books, but the kind of books we would buy for our own boys and girls, our nephews and nieces, our own wee friends. These mountain children are wonderfully responsive to the appeal of the finer, more beautiful things. Many of their experiences must come to them through the printed page. Beautiful illustrations, good type, attractive bindings go far in the struggle to establish a standard of taste anywhere. With this in mind, the following list has been compiled as suggestive. Should several copies of the same title be sent to the school by different friends no harm will be done since this is the best kind of supplementary material for class room use.

—Banta's Greek Exchange

Panhellenic Congress — Comparisons are Odious

SOME time ago a college paper published the statement that a certain fraternity was the best in the country and likewise it mentioned the best sorority. The statement was challenged in many minds, not because members of other Greek letter organizations not rated first coveted the distinction, but because fair minded people know that it is impossible to study any fraternity over the entire country and give it first or second or any definite place without qualification for all time.

The undergraduates questioned too and many asked if National Panhellenic Congress had ever made an official rating of its member fraternities. The ready answer is that National Panhellenic Congress has never attempted such an undertaking and we believe this organization is not interested in compiling a Dunn or Bradstreet for Greeks that will catalogue its members under a classification whereby the college world will know where we stand in the scale.

National Panhellenic Council delegates and fraternity officers and workers who study and know the college fraternity are convinced that while fraternities are founded on the same general principles each has adopted individual policies which have made comparisons unfair and impossible. An example of this is found in the fraternity that has chartered only a small number of chapters over a long period of years in contrast to the young or organization with a large chapter roll. Both have attained internal strength and are contributing much to the lives of their members by widely varying policies. There are so many intangible and unweighable factors which contribute to the strength and effectiveness of every fraternity that any official or authoritative rating tending to group fraternities into classes is impossible. This conviction has no doubt silenced the unfounded classification of "Big Three" widened to "Big Five" and eventually "Big Eight" and what-not which was glibly made some time ago.

It cannot be denied that every loyal fraternity member believes his fraternity is best, best for him, and that is as it should be. Neither do we deny that some chapters have fortunately maintained an even balance throughout the years, thus gaining an impregnable prestige on a certain campus, and establishing some scale of rating for that locality. But the changing personnel of each year may at any time affect the stability of a chapter and the opinion of those who accurately weigh fraternity values. The highly organized centralized fraternity of today tends toward uniformity of purpose and policy everywhere with an elimination of weaknesses in every chapter, but no fraternity is 100 per cent strong in every particular on every campus where it has a chapter, and cannot be rated in first place everywhere, at all times.

As people are coming to understand each other better it is most gratifying to know that fraternities are more interested in the development of their own members and possibilities rather than in the futile attempt of establishing a scale of rating for themselves and others. As our members work with those of other fraternities in the many activities of after college years they gain a broader feeling of interfraternalism and often the thoughtful person must face the query in his own mind that membership in any other fraternity might have been as satisfying as in his own. The true fraternity member never outgrows his own fraternity but broadens his perspective with his conviction that there is so much that is fine and good in all of our fraternities that any of us is honored by membership in any fraternity.

My remarks about whittling the other day have brought forth assurances that the jackknife art is not yet dead.

"I have just returned from the town of Gatlingburg, in the Great Smoky Mountains of Tennessee," writes Ellery Quint.

"The males have three occupations, namely, settin', huntin' and whittlin'. Because I have placed whittlin' last does not mean that the art is rarely practiced. Most often it is combined with the main industry of settin'. They practice only plain whittling. That is to say, they take a stick and whittle until nothing is left but a neat pile of shavings.

"Once in a while, when the urge seizes them, they whittle a really beautiful chair out of hickory, with a seat of hand-carved withes.

"I purchased one that had been used for settin' during a period of fifty years. Its legs are worn to the bottom rungs and it has a beautiful patina resulting from a combination of use and the smoke of the hearth. Because of its age the mountaineer from whom I made the purchase declared, 'Hit ain't worth much,' and pushed his wife off the chair when I offered him $2.

"Anything slippery is referred to as being 'slick.' On being told that our camera came from Germany, one old native solemnly averred that he had 'heard of that country.' A lady with any social aspirations whatever gets married at fourteen.

"The younger generation is changing, however. Only the older women smoke pipes. The boys and girls are coming down from the mountains and going to the cities to work. One old chap, more advanced than the rest, told me that his son was the best street-car conductor in Knoxville."

Volunteer Service Slip

In order that the Grand Council may have at hand a list of women interested in the national work and free to devote some time to it, the following call is issued to obtain volunteers. If you are willing to serve Pi Beta Phi nationally, please sign and mail the following slip to: Grand President, Amy B. Onken, Chapin, Ill.

Alumnæ (graduates and non-graduates) who are paid members of the Alumnæ Department and seniors in active chapters (who are required to pay alumnæ national dues) are eligible for this enrollment.

I am a member of Alumnæ Club or a paid isolated member of the national alumnæ department.

I desire to place my name on file for national work in Pi Beta Phi in the event that a need should arise for my services. ()

I would be interested in chaperoning a chapter house in one of the following states.

I have had training or experience in secretarial work, journalism, club work, etc.

ALLEGRA STEWART, Indiana T, assistant professor of English at Butler University, Indianapolis, Indiana, is doing graduate study toward her Ph.D. degree this year at King's College, London, England. She went to Europe early in June, 1929, with her parents. Her father, Dr. Stewart, a homeopathic physician, went abroad to attend the convention held in Vienna. Miss Stewart toured Germany and Switzerland with her people and then spent a month in Paris, which she described in one of her letters as the happiest time in her life. She then went to England by way of Belgium. Since the first term began October 1, she has been living at Crosley Hall, London, England, on the bank of the Thames. Crosley Hall is an international A.A.U.W. residence situated in a very old dwelling moved there for the purpose. Miss Stewart, who has her master's degree from Columbia University, is taking courses in Old English and is reading Beowulf in the original. She writes her friends that she is not trying to do much sight-seeing in London but rather to get the atmosphere of the place, she takes long walks along the Thames. At Christmas vacation she spent ten days with English friends she has made at Windmere in the lake district.

RUTH AIMEE WARDALL, Illinois Z, professor of home economics and head of that department at the University of Illinois, Urbana, is on leave of absence this year, traveling throughout the country to visit some of the outstanding institutions which offer home economics as a part of their curriculum. During the Christmas season, Miss Wardall was in Hawaii, looking over the equipment of the University of Hawaii. She is especially interested in the courses offered for advanced degrees, and the artistic side of the home economics courses, as well as the food and nutrition work.

MARGARET GLANDING, New York A, is field secretary of the National Kindergarten Association of Pennsylvania. She writes:

"Although nothing of a politician, last winter I suddenly found myself, as field secretary in Pennsylvania for the National Kindergarten Association, in the thick of politics, having charge of a bill in our legislature. The friends of the kindergarten in our state were trying for a better kindergarten law. I found the legislators as a whole extremely courteous, but it was sometimes difficult to be just sure of where a man stood. Amusing incidents occurred also. One man said, 'My children never went to kindergarten, and I never went to kindergarten. I learn my children at home.' I found much interest in the bill all over the state, and those who were interested were extremely interested. Unfortunately the bill did not pass, but I feel that as soon as enough people become extremely interested the bill will become law. Only then shall we be able to open the doors of our kindergartens to all the little ones, and in the words of the Great Teacher, 'Forbid them not.'"

MRS. F. L. WELLS (Erma L. Wiley), Iowa Γ, is the efficient pastor of the Church of Truth in Spokane and is recognized as one of the outstanding leaders in the New Thought movement. This church is one of the first in this movement, having been organized in 1912. Mrs. Wells is a tireless worker, ministering to thousands, preaching and conducting classes in fundamentals in New Thought. She has been pastor for five years, publishes a magazine monthly, has a staff of six paid workers, and is making a great success in her work.

EMMA J. WOERNER, Kentucky A, one of Louisville's talented daughters, is doing valuable work as an educator and also figures conspicuously in civic affairs, while she is likewise a prominent club woman.

The Biographical History of Kentucky says:

"Emma J. Woerner attended the public schools of Louisville and after her graduation from the Louisville Girls High School matriculated in the University of Kentucky, which awarded her the degree of B.S., and continued her studies in the University of Louisville, from which she received the M.A. degree. She began her educational career in eastern Kentucky and for five years taught at a mining camp in Bell County. She was an instructor at the Broadway School for three years and the first principal of the Brandeis School, with which she was connected for three and a half years. She was then transferred to the Eastern Departmental School, in which she spent five years, and in January, 1924, was made principal of the J. M. Atherton High School for Girls, the first woman to hold a position of this kind in the public schools of Louisville. She is efficient as well as conscientious and time has justified the wisdom of her appointment. Miss Woerner has been acting dean of women at the University of Kentucky for three summer sessions and for two summers has been a member of the faculty of the University of Louisville. She attended the School of Civics at Chicago and has taken postgraduate courses at Columbia University and the University of California. She is ideally fitted for the work in which she is engaged and through intensive study is constantly broadening her knowledge and widening her field of usefulness.

"Miss Woerner belongs to the Pi Beta Phi, Kappa Delta Phi, and Phi Beta Kappa Greek-letter fraternities and for five years was treasurer of the Louisville Women's City Club, of which she was a director for ten years. She organized the Junior Safety Councils of the Louisville public schools and is a member of the Highland Mothers' Club. She is also connected with the Filson Club and for two years was a governor of the Fifth District Federation of Women's Clubs. She joined the old Louisville Women's Suffrage Association and was its president for two years. She is also a member of the Louisville Conference of Social Workers and has demonstrated that women are as great a factor as men in the sphere of civic progress.

"Miss Woerner is now principal of Atherton High School for Girls."

ELSIE EAVES, Colorado A, is the only woman member of the American Engineers' Association. Miss Eaves in an interview which appeared in the Denver Post said:

"An engineering education does not necessarily make an engineer. It must be supplemented by experience which develops judgment and ability in constructive planning.

"A young woman pursuing engineering as a career should make sure she possesses an analytical mind, talent for mathematics and science, accuracy in detail, imagination, mental honesty and fairness and a sense of organization."

MARY WEBER and DOROTHY WARE, both members of Wisconsin A, are doing exceptionally interesting work from many standpoints for the Woodward Iron Company at Woodward, Alabama. The education activities for the miners and their families at Woodward are under the general direction of Miss Weber and a series of interesting articles by her appeared in the Coal Age, explaining the attempts that are being made to raise the miners' standards of living through the teaching of domestic science; the facilities provided for wholesome recreation for play hours; and the encouragement of the expression of beauty and individuality too often expressed. Dorothy Ware, who is known through her work with the Denishawn Dancers, is in charge of an enviable physical education and dance program designed to teach the children of mine workers the joy of living through the alliance of art and nature.

MARIE MELZER WILLIMONT, Colorado B, former dean of women at the University of Denver, has left with her husband for South Africa and they will make their home in Cape Colony. Mr. Willimont will be connected with a branch of an English bank.

*If with pleasure you are viewing any work a man is doing,
If you like him or you love him tell him now.
Don't withhold your approbation till the parson makes oration
And he lies with snowy lilies o'er his brow.
For no matter how you shout it, he won't really care about it;
He won't know how many teardrops you have shed.
If you think some praise is due him, now's the time to slip it to him,
For he cannot read his tombstone when he's dead.*

International Goodwill

Friendly relations between Canada and the United States are likely to be confirmed by a factor of which the public rarely hears, but which is nevertheless of real practical significance. It is the invasion of Canadian universities by the American Greek letter fraternities.

Including graduates and undergraduates, there are today in Canada some 5,000 or 6,000 members of these international friendship-building organizations. Not a large number, but in the nature of things including a large proportion of influential citizens, many of them with the opportunity and flair for public life.

Personals

Mrs. K. C. Newman is visiting her parents in Pittsburgh, Pa.

The South Hills alumnae club extends its sympathy to Mrs. J. W. Simmonds (Katherine Algeo) upon the death of her father in November.

The South Hills alumnae club held a Christmas dinner and bridge at the home of Mrs. W. M. Sutton, December 19, for all members and their husbands or escorts. It was the newly formed club's first attempt at a social meeting, and it was such a huge success that the club has decided to hold another evening bridge party in the spring.

The Pittsburgh alumnae club's annual bridge for the benefit of the Settlement School was held on December 7 in the beautiful Georgian Room at Webster Hall. Settlement School goods were on sale, and Pennsylvania Delta sold home made candy among the tables. The affair was a success in every way, and much credit is due Bertha Schmid and her committee for the efficient manner in which it was planned and conducted.

Chicago Alumnae Headquarters

The Chicago Allerton house, local headquarters for Pi Beta Phi, has long been known for its prominence as a background for college and alumni affairs and is the official Intercollegiate alumni headquarters for 102 universities, for twenty national Panhellenic fraternities, and for Mortar board. Names and addresses of all Pi Phi alumnae in Chicago and suburbs are on file at the Allerton college information bureau for anyone wishing to communicate with a former classmate or friend. Information about all college alumni fraternity meetings, dinners, and dances is also available.

The Allerton is a hotel operated on a club plan for permanent or transient guests and is located within a ten-minute walk of the business and theatrical section of the city. Seven separate floors are reserved exclusively for women guests and thirteen floors are reserved for men. Since over fifty-five per cent of the Allerton guests are college men and women, the club provides a delightful residence for discriminating people.

In Memoriam

Pennsylvania B

Kate McLaughlin Bourne, '95, (Mrs. Harry S.), of Lewisburg, Pa., died suddenly Friday evening, December 20, 1929, at seven o'clock in the Williamsport Hospital, where for the preceding five weeks she had been a patient. Mrs. Bourne had been in failing health for the past six years. Last winter she recovered from a severe attack of angina pectoris. Kidney complications which had set in were the immediate cause of her death at a time when her heart condition had greatly improved.

Mrs. Bourne was one of three women to graduate from Bucknell Academy, the boys' preparatory school. In 1895 she was graduated from Bucknell with the degree of A.B., cum laude, and was one of the leading ten in her class who were selected as Commencement speakers. In 1898 Bucknell granted her the degree of A.M. Immediately after her graduation she taught in the public schools of Mazappa for two years. In 1897 she returned to Lewisburg, her home town, where she taught in the high school until her marriage, October 18, 1900, to her classmate, Harry S. Bourne.

Mrs. Bourne was a charter member of Pennsylvania B chapter and had always continued a keen and sympathetic interest in this organization. For more than fifteen years she had been continuously a member of the alumnæ advisory board of the active chapter. She is a loyal member and has served as treasurer of the local alumnæ club of Pi Beta Phi since its organization eight years ago.

From 1910 to 1914 she was cataloguer of Pi Beta Phi fraternity, and in 1911 prepared and published the third edition of the fraternity's catalogue, a book of 550 pages. She was permanent secretary of her college class. So it was especially fitting that among the casket bearers at her funeral were two of her classmates: Professors Nelson F. Davis and Frank M. Simpson. The others were the Hon. John M. Gundy, '97, her cousin Henry T. Meyer, '06, LeRoy T. Butler, '97, and Dr. Harry Hoffman.

Like that ancestor of old, Ludwig Derr, who founded the town and showed his interest in community service and development by deeding lands to the English or Presbyterian church, and to the German or the Lutheran and the Reformed churches for the building of houses of worship and for the burial of their dead, so his great great granddaughter, Mrs. Bourne, was deeply interested in all that pertained to the welfare of the community. In all that was helpful to the community and the individual, she was sympathetic and helpful, giving unreservedly of herself.

Mrs. Bourne is survived by three sisters, the Misses Fanny, Mary, and Coray McLaughlin, and by her husband, Mr. Harry S. Bourne, all of Lewisburg.

STATIE FISHER SILLS

Missouri Γ

"Whatsoever things are lovely." It has been said together so many time and almost unconsciously all eyes sought Statie's—for Statie was lovely. Infrequently one sees a woman as lovely in person, in graces, and in spirit. And now that she has gone, her friends cherish lovely memories.

Her college days were spent in Mary Baldwin Seminary and in Drury. As a member of Mu Beta, Drury local fraternity, and a charter member of Missouri Γ she was always loyal to her college as well as her fraternity. Both before and after her marriage to Mr. John Muir Sills she was an eager student of voice culture. Her local study was followed by study under Miss Bertha Farner and Madam Valerie in Chicago. At all times she read musical books with enthusiasm and seriousness of purpose. She gave her time freely to the Springfield Musical club, and to the Art Museum Association, and was most happy and faithful in her choir work in Tabernacle Presbyterian church.

Her Pi Phi relationships were both gracious and helpful. Interested in the active chapter, unceasing in her zeal for the Settlement School, she loaded her car with Settlement School baskets, took them to the meetings, where she sold them in her convincing and charming way, and then cheerfully returned any to her home where they had careful placing no matter how bulky the assortment might be. She did it because she loved all that Pi Beta Phi stands for.

To the husband and son, mother and brother, sincere sympathy is extended.

NYMPHA WELCH STAUF

Indiana Γ

Nympha Welch Stauf (Mrs. Theodore R.), born February 26, 1901—died November 14, 1929.

An acute illness of ten days, following several years of ill health, culminated, November 14, 1929 in the death of Nympha Welch Stauf.

Her early education was received in the schools of Lorence, Michigan, and when her parents moved to Indianapolis, Indiana, in 1914, she completed her high school work there. On April 10, 1921, she was initiated into the Indiana Γ chapter of Pi Beta Phi at Butler University, of which her sister, Anita, was already a member. Always deeply interested in the welfare of her chapter, and a tireless worker for Pi Phi, even after it became necessary for her to give up her University work, one of her last letters, written shortly before her death, suggested in elaborate detail a method by which her chapter's house fund might be increased.

On May 4, 1925, she was married to Theodore R. Stauf, Sigma Phi Epsilon, Purdue University, and the succeeding years were spent in Louisville, Ky. Beside Mr. Stauf, she is survived by her parents, a brother and two sisters, to whom Pi Beta Phi extends deep sympathy.

She was buried November 18 from the First Presbyterian church in Muncie, Indiana, whose former pastor had performed her marriage ceremony. Six Pi Phis from her chapter served as pall-bearers.

Away from the circle of Indiana Γ has passed a radiant personality; one whose devotion to her husband and home was a charming thing to see; one whose days, though often fraught with discomfort, were dominated by a courage that could laugh at misfortune and meet pain with a smile; one whose life was an embodiment of the highest ideals to be found among the wearers of the wine and silver blue. Her whole-hearted sincerity which gave to friendship its deepest meaning, will not be forgotten by that large and loving group who have called her, "friend."

EDNA HOOD LANTZ

Illinois Δ

A year ago an obituary of Edna Hood Lantz, who had just passed away on March 3, 1929, was written for THE ARROW. Through some inadvertance it never reached its destination.

Edna Hood grew up in a Pi Phi atmosphere. Her mother, Mary Gault, a student at Monmouth College, was one of the first Pi Phi initiates. She would have been a founder had not ill health kept her out of college for a few months, during which time the organization was effected. An intimate friend of Ada Bruen and the other founders, she had helped them plan the organization, and just as soon as she reentered college she was initiated. One of Edna's most cherished possessions was her mother's original I C pin.

Mary Gault married John Hood, a Presbyterian minister, and they were the parents of three daughters, all of whom became members of Pi Beta Phi. Loretta, now Mrs. Wilbur H. Young of Montclair, New Jersey, was a member of Illinois Δ , and Helen, now Mrs. W. M. Graham of Austin, Texas, was initiated into Pi Beta Phi at Texas University. Edna was also an initiate of Illinois Δ . Although she left Knox College and finished her education at St. Marys, her interest in her sorority did not cease. Until the end of her life it was one of her greatest interests and she gave continually of her time and energy in order to further its interests.

After her marriage to Charles Lantz, Edna lived in Manhattan, Kansas, where her son, Charles Lantz, Jr., now a student of K. S. A. C. and a member of Beta Theta Pi, was born. Here she helped in obtaining a charter for Kansas Beta and worked continuously for the up-building of the chapter. She was a member of the building committee for the chapter house which was completed only two years ago. She worked on the advisory board for the chapter up to the time of her last illness. She was also a charter member of the Manhattan alumnae club and was an untiring worker for the Settlement School and other alumnae interests.

Edna Hood Lantz exemplified in her life the ideals of Pi Beta Phi. Her greatest interest was in her home to which her friends and Pi Phi sisters loved to come. She was also an ardent worker in the Episcopalian church. She took part in various community enterprises and in charity work. She has left her imprint in many places and in many ways. Her life seemed all too short but she lived fully and well. She was an inspiration to all who know her and there are many who are trying to carry on, feeling that they are a little bigger and a little better because she was their friend.

Eventide

*Day is dying in the west
Homeward wings the bird;
Sunlight gleams on yonder crest
Night winds faintly stir.*

*Golden patches on the meadows
Swaying, crooning through the grain;
Slowly then, the eerie shadows
Fill the highlands and the plain.*

*Mellow moonlight the woodland drenches,
Soft o'er the hill comes a call
Lulling, dulling, all our senses
God reigns, and is over all.*

ALPHA PROVINCE

ONTARIO ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO

Chartered, 1908

Pledge Day, January 18, 1930

Ontario A expects to send $50 to the Settlement School as it has done in previous years. Fifty dollars will also be given to the University of Toronto Settlement School. The money for these donations was raised by means of the university blotters which were distributed to students in college residences and fraternity houses.

Miss Dorothy Kilpatrick was appointed dean of women of University College upon the resignation of Mrs. Kirkwood. Great regret was felt at the loss of Mrs. Kirkwood although Miss Kilpatrick is very popular.

Helen Anderson took leading rôles in two very successful plays which the Players' Guild produced during the fall term. Patricia Godfrey very capably managed some productions of the same society.

The second rushing season, which is for "fresh-sophomores" in the university residence, opened on January 16 and closed on January 18. The period was of course, very short, but the number of rushees was small and this space of time was felt to be adequate. For rushing, the chapter gave a supper dance at the King Edward Hotel, and an afternoon tea in the fraternity apartment.

The Fraternity birthday party was held again at the home of Margaret Thorborne Caven. As usual, it was most successful and was an opportunity for the pledges to meet many more alumnae.

In an attempt to improve the scholarship of the chapter, the scholastic requirements for initiation were raised and each pledge must have been successful in each of her Christmas examinations.

CATHERINE MCBURNEY

MAINE ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF MAINE

Chartered, 1920

Pledge Date, February 25, 1930

This year Maine A attempted a new method of raising money for the Settlement School. An order of hand woven articles from the Settlement School was displayed at the different girls' dormitories, and the chapter sold a large quantity. Later on, a candy sale will be held and the profits from both of these sales will be sent to the Settlement School.

Maine A was fortunate to have had the pleasure of being the first chapter in Alpha Province to enjoy a visit from the new Province President, Miss Ecks. The chapter was very much aided and stimulated by her short but delightful visit.

The scholarship standing of the fraternity was considerably raised when mid-semester ranks came out. Those who were selected on dean's list are: Jenny Hutchinson, Cleo DeGagne, Lydia Douglas, Louise Durgan, Rachel Gilbert, Doris Baker, and Abbie Sargent. Many more made an average of "C" or above.

Rachel Gilbert and Angela Minniutti, were initiated into the honorary French fraternity, B II Φ , and Lydia Douglas belongs to the Contributors Club, an honorary English Club.

Anna Buck was a member of the hockey team, and Ethel Thomas was one of the squad. Hazel Sparrow, Hazel Sawyer, Erma Barton, and Marvia Pooler are members of the rifle squad. Lydia Douglas belongs to varsity archery. Bertha Carter and Anna Buck are campus reporters.

As a result of fall class elections, Bertha Carter was elected to the senior commencement week committee, Erma Barton to the secretaryship of the Junior class, Viola Purinton to Junior Prom committee, Doris Osgood to Junior Week committee, and Louise Durgan to junior executive committee. Erma Budden was nominated for the entertainment committee of Penny Carnival.

The II Φ cabin has been the scene of many happy gatherings this fall. A number of Victrola parties have been held there, and also open house for alumnae which was a new and interesting event for both active members and alumnae.

A II Φ stag dance was held on Thanksgiving afternoon in alumni hall. This was a great success both financially and socially. The proceeds are to be used to pay the taxes on the cabin.

The patronesses of Maine A recently entertained the active chapter at a delightful tea served at the home of Dean and Mrs. J. S. Stevens.

The fall informal dance was held as usual at the country club house and much enjoyed by all. A number of alumnae were back to make the event seem even more delightful.

K Ψ, a local fraternity on campus, entertained a national chapterian of K Δ. During her short stay negotiations were favorably completed and the local was accepted as a petitioning group and may be called a K Δ local.

The social season on the campus opened this year with Military Hop which was a very successful and pleasing affair. Louise Durgan was among the group of women nominated for election as honorary colonel of R.O.T.C.

Another important event of the fall season was Spanish Night. A Spanish operetta written by Mr. Crebrera of the Spanish department was put on by the members of the Spanish Club. The Pi Phis who took part were: Hazel Sawyer, Erma Barton, Abbie Sargent, and Angela Minniutti.

Maine was very fortunate this year to have its co-captains of cross-country win the national championship.

Mr. Buck a II Φ father who has been very instrumental in advising and aiding the chapter with the upkeep of the cabin, was presented with a sweetheart pin by the chapter at Christmas.

DORIS OSGOOD

VERMONT ALPHA—MIDDLEBURY COLLEGE

Chartered, 1893

Pledge Day, October 10, 1929

On October 10, Vermont A pledged Rachel Booth, Vergennes; Dorothy Bossert, Wellesley Hills, Mass.; Francis Davis, Wellesley Hills, Mass.; Alice Denio, Bristol; Mary Duryee, Chicago, Ill.; Olga Fluck, Flemington, N.J.; Marjorie Haynes, Port Washington, L.I.; Ruth Nodding, Reading, Mass.; Mary Omwake, Lancaster, Pa.; Janette Phelps, Crown Point, N.Y.; and Margaret Scott, Forty Fort, Pa.

The women's rushing season ended with fifty having been pledged to the various chapters. The new two weeks' rushing period, together with open summer rushing proved satisfactory to everyone except for a few minor changes. With this method, both pledges and actives have a freer opportunity of giving their best to scholastic and extracurricular affairs, while the former have the encouragement of the new relationship.

A suggestion was brought up before Panhellenic to the effect that a member be appointed to notify each chapter of the visit of a national officer on the campus. This will be acted on in the future to avoid the unintentional neglect to send the conventional greetings.

Middlebury was again privileged to hear the noted German sea raider, Count Von Luckner, lecture on his adventures in the World War. Count Von Luckner is known to the people of Middlebury through his lectures here last year and to which the October ones were a sequel. These lectures were part of a series of programs scheduled for the entire college year in which will be included such entertainers as the Russian Cossack Choir, Thornton Wilder, and Myra Hess.

A homecoming day was planned for November 9 which was the date for the Norwich game. An enthusiastic football rally was held in the gymnasium the evening before the game and after the 7-0 victory over the cadets, an informal dance was held in the gymnasium. Thus the alumni had the opportunity of reviewing both the athletic and social activities on the campus.

Middlebury will have a new baseball field which will be ready for dedication by commencement, it is hoped. A grandstand will surround the entire diamond.

Harry Hayden Clark, for three years assistant professor of English at Middlebury, has become prominent as an interpreter of literature. His contribution together with nine other authorized professors' contributions have been published in a work entitled "The Reinterpretation of American Literature." This volume is sponsored by the Modern Language Association of America and is designed to facilitate the instruction of such courses by other professors. Professor Clark's work also includes a volume on the poetry of Philip Freneau.

With the victory over the University of Vermont on November 16, Middlebury became state champion in football, both varsity and freshman, and in track.

The annual Y.W.C.A. Bazaar offered various types of entertainment as well as solving problems in Christmas shopping for many. The program consisted of a bridge in the afternoon, and a one act play and dance in the evening.

Middlebury is to have for the first time a full-time editor and director of publicity work. Beginning in February, W. Storrs Lee '28, second recipient of the Dutton Fellowship and student at Oxford for over half the year 1929, will serve as editor of college publications and publicity director of the college.

Vermont A raises a fund through individual donations by the actives which pays for a basket of food and toys given away by the chapter each year.

At the Christmas party it was decided for each class to present a gift to the chapter as a whole instead of the usual exchange of jokes and gifts among individuals.

Christine Allison and Agnes Wentworth, were elected to the English Club with twenty others at the first meeting of the year. Selection is made on the basis of the number of courses taken and the marks received in the English department, interest in literary activities, and general extracurricular interests.

The women's hockey season was brought to a close on November 14, by the annual bonfire on the women's athletic field. Each class gathers about a separate fire and enjoys singing and eating after the last game. The freshmen team was victorious this year. Ruth Nodding, Marjorie Haynes, and Mary Omwake were on the team and Mary Omwake was selected on the All-Mid. team. Virginia Bland was elected head of hockey for the 1930 season. She also received the ring given by the chapter for the greatest improvement in scholarship.

Mary Hough has the leading rôle for women in the first long play of the year to be presented by the honorary dramatic club, Wig and Pen.

Every year, there is competition in the chapter between the three upper classes for the highest scholastic average. For the last two years—the class of '31 having had the lowest, has had to give a supper to the victorious seniors. However, this year the punishment for the juniors was much less severe because there are just five seniors.

The first cooky-shine of the year was held on December 2 while the Province President, Miss Ecks was here. Several alumnae were present also, and the pledges were delighted with the novelty of their first cooky-shine. The freshmen gave entertaining "skits." Previous to the cooky-shine Vermont A enjoyed a pleasant and most encouraging talk from Miss Ecks.

The chapter hopes to give over fifty dollars to the Settlement School this year. The majority of the fund has already been raised from the commission for selling Christmas cards among the actives.

Pledge Day, February, 1930

On December 16, the alumnae entertained the actives at the annual Christmas party at the rooms. The members exchanged joke presents which were toys. They were given to the orphanage afterward. The alumnae sponsored a bridge which was held on January 18.

The chapter has been well represented in campus activities this year. Dorothy Gurney was chosen secretary of Student Union. Doris Kibbe and Elizabeth Howe were elected to Masque and Scandal, the women's dramatic society; and four members were elected to dramatic club. Suzanne Rutledge was recently invited to join Blue-stockings, a women's literary group. There are five members in glee club and three in choir. Margaret Stanley was chosen a member of the Student Faculty Conference committee and Mary Waddell was elected to ψ B K.

In athletics, three girls were on the class hockey teams: Narcissa Goodsell, Frances McKean, and Ruth Field. Of these, the first two were chosen on the varsity team. Seven of the girls on the class volleyball teams were Pi Phi's. Dorothy Gurney and Harriet Wright were on the women's rifle team.

The Junior Week committees have been chosen on which are four Pi Phi's.

At the close of the rushing period Massachusetts A pledged the following girls: Florence Erwin, Cynthia Darling, Marjorie Cook, Margaret Eden, Doris Kothe, Eileen Brown, Alline Phelps, Barbara Higgins, and Marjorie Dickenson.

This year the active chapter voted to give twenty-five dollars to the Settlement School. This is included in the regular dues which are paid three times a year.

At Christmas time both active members and pledges enjoyed a joke Christmas tree at the house.

The College of Liberal Arts held, as it does yearly, a Robbins Christmas party. This is given for the poor children of the city. Many of the girls helped at this party.

Betty Burwell is secretary of the Senior class and Mary Ryerson is treasurer. Fannie Bach is secretary of the Sophomore class. Jean Clough is on the student council. Betty Burwell, Jean Clough, and Fannie Bach are on the Γ Δ cabinet.

In November an interclass play contest was sponsored by the dramatic club of which Renelle Coomes is vice-president and Fannie Bach secretary. Mary Ryerson was in the senior play. Lillian Malley was the only girl in the junior play which took the prize. In the sophomore play, Fannie Bach and Alline Phelps took part. The Christmas pageant was in charge of Renelle Coomes.

The Beacon, the college literary magazine, of which Renelle Coomes is the editor, has adopted a new policy. It is now taking an independent course with no financial backing from the college.

The following girls are singing in the all-university glee club; Isabelle McConachie, Eleanor Chaney, Helen Woodward, Alline Phelps, Lilla Fries, Margaret Eden, Marjorie Dickenson, and Florence Erwin. Eleanor Chaney and Alline Phelps are playing in the university orchestra.

With the opening of the new fraternity house came a number of social affairs. One afternoon the girls entertained the wives of the faculty at tea. The girls at the chapter house enjoyed having Dean and Mrs. Warren to dinner one evening. On November 13, a formal dance and open house was held. The week before Christmas the active chapter entertained the children of the alumnae. They put on a play and served refreshments.

One of the outstanding events of the past semester was the visit of Miss Ecks, the new Alpha Province President.

NEW YORK ALPHA—SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY

Chartered, 1896
Pledge Days, September 30, 1929

New York A gave $10 toward entertainment of orphan children through the campus Y.W.C.A. The fraternity co-operated with the Syracuse charities in giving $3.00 for tuberculosis seals.

Last year the chapter gave $145 dollars to the Settlement School. This year it plans to give at least that amount and hopes to increase it if possible. In former years this money has been raised by charity bridges and movies, but last year a new plan was devised in which each girl earned a certain amount toward the total. This plan worked so satisfactorily that the chapter plans to carry out that system this year.

Lorraine Sherwood was initiated into $\Phi K \Phi$, honorary scholastic and activity society. Nancy Jane Ferguson was initiated into H II T, honorary senior women's society.

Of the twenty-two women's fraternities on campus New York A was among the first seven in scholastic average. This is the first time in several years that the chapter has been included in the upper third.

INITIATED, December 9, 1929: Jean Ayers, '32, North Lawrence, N.Y.

On October 25 and 26, Madame Marie Curie, co-discoverer of radium, visited St. Lawrence University at the invitation of Owen D. Young, alumnus, for the purpose of receiving the honorary degree of doctor of science, and of dedicating the Hepburn Hall of Chemistry, erected three years ago. On the evening of her arrival, Madame Curie was serenaded by the whole student body. Dr. Sykes, the president of the university, announced that after the morrow these two, Madame Curie and Owen D. Young, would be St. Lawrence's most distinguished alumni. The next day, after the conferring of the degree and the dedication of Hepburn Hall, which bears the likeness of Madame Curie at its entrance, Madame Curie planted an evergreen tree as a living memento of her visit.

Dr. Joel Eshelman, M.S., Ph.D., has taken the place vacated by Dr. Robert Dale Ford, professor of mathematics at St. Lawrence for many years. Dr. Ford has been granted a year's leave of absence by the board of trustees, because of ill health. Dr. Eshelman received the degree of master of science and of Doctor of Philosophy from the University of Chicago.

One of the outstanding social events of the first semester was the fifty-fourth annual ball given by the B Θ II fraternity.

New York I announces the pledging of Florence Baltz of Kingston, New York.

Several of the Pi Phi are active in athletics. Gertrude Woolley is on the varsity, while Oleva Turnbull is on the second team. Roberta Ryther and Frances Heaton have made the freshman team, while Betty Wagoner, Janet Hughes, and Florence Baltz are acting as substitutes. Averil Thompson is competing for manager of basketball.

Kay Wheaton is competing for manager of the girls' Glee Club. Gertrude Woolley has been appointed assistant sports editor of the Gridiron, the college yearbook.

The chapter expects to send fifty dollars to the Settlement School. A movie benefit is being arranged to earn part of the money. Another plan is to hold a card party and candy sale, to which townspeople, members of the faculty and students are invited. Every year each girl has had to earn part of the money herself to give to the Settlement School. Some earned money by working in stores, typing papers, etc.

Just before Christmas vacation the sophomores entertained the chapter at a Christmas party. Each class put on a short entertainment. Then the sophomores gave to each girl a ten cent store present, accompanied by a remark aiming at an outstanding characteristic of the girl. Following this, refreshments were served by the sophomores.

On December 13, the chapter gave its winter formal. The house was decorated with red, green, and white crêpe paper streamers.

Every five weeks the university sends out the names of those who are below passing in any subject. Any girl in the chapter who is not passing must attend study hall the night before the class meets. One of the upperclassmen has charge of the study hall each night. Those who are low may go for help to the upperclassman who is majoring in her study.

New York A pledged the following girls: Augustine W. Coca, 55 Delaware St., Flushing, L.I.; Mary E. Collision, 857 Park Pl., Ocean City, N.J.; Harriett M. Davidson, 61 Royal Ave., Jamestown, N.Y.; Kathryn C. Hawkes, 24 West 2nd St., Corning, N.Y.; Ruth E. Hayden, 110 Irving Pl., Ithaca, N.Y.; Margaret M. Hogan, 1311 South 12th St., Lawrenceville, Ill.; Marian E. Lasner, Woolcott, N.Y.; Renee A. Smith, 21 Alexander Ave., Nutley, N.J.; Marjorie F. Whitaker, 43 Maple Ave., Dravosburg, Pa.; and Pearl B. Worden, 10 Lincoln Ave., Waverly, N.Y.

Cornell's old toboggan house, which has leaned against two trees on the shore of Beebe Lake for many years, has been replaced by a new stone and wood structure. Its architecture harmonizes with that of Johnny Parson's Club and of the Balch Halls, which are also on the shores of the lake. The university has started to improve the campus roads. A three-way, concrete drive now connects the Arts campus with the Agriculture campus.

New York Δ alumnae have established a fund for the benefit of the active chapter. During the year 1930 it is to be used for the improvement of the $\Pi \Phi$ house. The Cornell chapter has a new addition to its members: she is a Great Dane puppy, presented to the house by the family of one of the girls. To accord with the dog's color, and the traditions of $\Pi \Phi$, she was named Golden Dart.

After official rushing was over, New York Δ concentrated on teas. A faculty tea was given in honor of Mrs. Andrew Dickson White, the wife of one of Cornell's former presidents. Mabel S. Brown was the national visitor to New York Δ and a tea was given in her honor. Beatrice Ecks, Alpha Province President and an alumna of Cornell, was the guest of honor at a student tea. The pledges were introduced to society at a formal pledge dance. An informal dance was given after Christmas vacation. $\Pi \Phi$ was chosen hostess at one of the Willard Strait, Friday afternoon teas, January 17. These informal teas furnish an opportunity for independents and members of all women's fraternities to meet socially once a week.

INITIATED, November 13, 1929. Edith Bowman, Barney Park, Irvington-on-Hudson, N.Y.; and Anna Mary Ridgway, White Plains, N.Y.

Pi Phis on the Swarthmore campus are now making plans for ways and means of raising more money for the Settlement School. The pledge which the chapter makes each year is $100 and already a moderate sum has been raised by a food sale which was given several weeks ago. Suggestions for further aid have been made and in a short while a rummage sale or a theater benefit will be in progress.

With the second semester comes a renewal of activities on the campus for members of Pennsylvania A. Five Pi Phis are on the varsity basketball team, two former letter girls, Anna Rickards, and Jean Harvey, and three freshmen, Nancy Howard, Mary Lu Spurrier, and Ida O'Neil. Betty Castle manages the swimming team with Janet Walton and Edith Bowman on the squad.

Marian Staley was elected to a student government office and Amelia Emhardt made her debut on the varsity debating team, January 10. Pennsylvania A is paying par-defeated by only one point.

a compulsory study hall has been held in the evenings from seven-thirty to ten o'clock, for the pledges, with the seniors in charge. The girls have the privilege of attending the Library if there is special work to be done.

Pennsylvania B was well represented in campus activities last semester. Two $\Pi \Phi$ pledges received bids to Frill and Frown, dramatic society, while the two feminine rôles in the fall presentation of the club, The Mollusc, were played by Pi Phis, Louise Ziegler and Elizabeth Dill. These two girls have also been invited to take part in a series of plays to be broadcast from WJBU, Bucknell's broadcasting station.

The chapter found that the most effective charitable work which it can do is through contributing to Lewisburg's Community Chest. The smallness and comparative wealth of the town, which has no factories and nothing approximating slums, makes direct charity almost impossible. In contributing to the Community Chest the money is used to better advantage because of its administrator's experience and knowledge of the situation.

A committee has been appointed to investigate possible ways of raising money for the Settlement School. Previously the chapter has found that the most profitable way is through individual assessment.

Pennsylvania B was deeply grieved by the death of one of its founders, Mrs. Harry Bourne (Kate McLaughlin). Mrs. Bourne lived in Lewisburg and had, since her initiation at the installation of this chapter, been unwavering in her interest and kind helpfulness to the chapter and the fraternity.

Pennsylvania Γ announces the pledging of the following girls: Polly Barnhart, Johnstown; Elizabeth Bassett, Lexington, Ky.; Corelli Batten, Hatboro; Lois Green, Carlisle; Louise Heckman, Carlisle; Lucretia Heisey, Camp Hill; Alice Irwin, Camp Hill; Margaret Jackson, Carlisle; Dorothy McCrone, Aldan; Emma Shawfield, Harrisburg; Doris Brandt, Mechanicsburg; and Helen Buffington, Baltimore. The annual pledge dance was held on November 9 in the Armory.

Homecoming at the college was held on November 1 to 3. As is customary, the team played its rival, Gettysburg. For the first time in many years that game was played in Carlisle instead of in Harrisburg. It has been announced that hereafter the games will be played at Carlisle and Gettysburg in alternate years.

From November 13 to 16 the chapter had as its guest, Mrs. Mildred Kern Bissell, the Beta Province President. During her visit an informal tea was given in the rooms in her honor.

Dickinson College celebrated the Christmas season with three events. On Sunday, December 15, Mendelssohn's Elijah was presented by the combined glee clubs and orchestra. On Monday, the dramatic club returned to comedy and presented Barbara Grows Up. For the annual "Doll Show" which was held on Tuesday the girls of the college dressed dolls. These dolls were displayed at the show and then were sent to the children of prisoners in New York. Following this doll show and as a climax to the Christmas festivities the college went carolling.

This year the college played Santa Claus to the boys and girls at the Methodist Home near Carlisle. Each men's fraternity took care of three or four boys and the girls at Metzger took care of the girls.

On the day of the return to college the basketball team played an exciting game with Princeton. The Dickinson team was defeated by only one point.

In order to help raise its contribution for the Settlement School the chapter sold Christmas cards and in the near future a bridge is to be held, the proceeds of which will be used for the same purpose.

ADELAIDE MARKLEY

GRADUATE: Lucille Frost, 1060 Morewood
Ave., Pittsburgh.

The Panhellenic Association of the University of Pittsburgh tried out this fall, a slightly different system of rushing for first semester. The plan was based on the principle of free association which was defined as the "orientation of freshmen to campus life." There were no rushing parties, but on Sunday afternoon, November 17, every women's fraternity held an open house tea. Invitations were issued but no reply was permitted. There has been a great deal of dissatisfaction with the plan among all the fraternities. Pennsylvania Δ is very proud of its pledge, Marguerite Webster.

The alumnae club of Pittsburgh held its annual benefit bridge for the Settlement School on December 7 at Webster Hall Hotel. It was one of the largest bridges ever held by the club, over a hundred tables in play. To swell the steadily growing house fund, the actives sold homemade candy and raffled off a dainty French doll. A unique feature of the bridge was the Settlement School Gift Shop, where there were lovely things suitable for Christmas gifts, from the Settlement School in Gettysburg.

Two members of the chapter have been recognized this past semester by honorary fraternities on the campus. Gertrude Wynne, was made a member of Quax, honorary mathematical science fraternity for women; and Edith Raschen, was tapped Eumathia, sophomore honorary scholarship fraternity.

During the year, free association has been permitted and starting on February 19, four days of concentrated rushing were allowed. The first party, on Wednesday, was an announcement dinner, at which the engagement of Miss Ima Rushee to Mr. Pi Beta Phi, was announced. At this party a play, written by the alumnae advisor, Fern Wein, was presented. The next party was Ring Ching Inn, with the spirit of the party carried out at a dinner with a chop suey menu and with the actives in appropriate costumes. Bridge was played during the evening. Friday noon, the rushees were entertained at the chapter rooms with a picnic luncheon; and in place of napkins, each rushee received a wine and blue apron decorated with an Arrow. Since rushing rules permit one party with men, on Friday night the Golden Arrow Formal Dance was held at Stanton Heights Country Club. The decorations, programs, and favors carried out the idea of the Golden Arrow, and the chapter purchased a new electric arrow which made its first appearance at the formal. For Saturday, a progressive Salamagundi breakfast was planned. Saturday night, at the home of Agnes Marie Carten, Mr. Pi Beta Phi took Miss Ima Rushee to be his lawful wedded wife.

After rushing a period of silence followed during which the desired rushees were bid by the preferential ballot system.

INITIATED, October 18, 1929: Mary McConnell, '30, Steubenville; Antoinette Moore, '32, Bellefontaine; Harriet Gleason, '30, Van Wert; Maxine Williams, '32, Athens; and Lucille Walker, '32, Watertown.

The chapter is taking particular interest in raising funds for the Settlement School. All twenty-two pledges are required to raise a sum of $5.00 for this purpose. They must earn this money by their own efforts sometime during the pledge period. In addition to this, the chapter is making plans to sponsor a benefit bridge the proceeds of which will be turned over to the Settlement School.

A contribution was made to the tuberculosis fund at Christmas time. A number of the girls participated in Y.W.C.A.'s Charity Christmas program for the poor.

During the first week in December, Mrs. H. R. Bissell, Province President, visited Ohio A. While in Athens, she was entertained with a formal dinner given by the active and pledge chapter and also a dinner by the advisory board.

The contest sponsored by the Athena, Ohio University's yearbook, resulted in Ohio A placing close second as an organization, the second prize of $5.00 also going to Alene Wills as the individual having the second highest number of subscriptions to her credit. This is an annual contest and one in which Ohio A has been unusually successful. The two preceding years the chapter was first.

Both actives and pledges are taking active parts in campus activities. Gertrude Fouts is president of $\Phi \Delta \Pi$, national physical education fraternity. Susan Porterfield is a member of the Junior Prom committee, and Ginny Ward of the Senior Day committee. Among those participating in the Ohio University glee club when broadcasting from WAU, January 25, were Alene Wills, Kathleen Conaway, and Harriet Gleason. Martha Stewart is secretary of $\Pi \Psi \Theta$, national honorary home economics fraternity. Y.W.C.A., The Athena, Green Goat, and The Green and White are all well represented in both active and pledge chapters. Emily Humphrey and Marian Bolman were initiated into $\Delta \Pi \Delta$, national honorary art fraternity.

The outstanding social event of the year was the formal dance, given on February 7. It was followed by a tea dance given in the afternoon of February 8. Early in the semester a tea was given by both actives and pledges honoring the new housemother, Mrs. Smith, and the patronesses of Ohio A. In addition to the usual house parties, the pledges entertained the active chapter with a "Hard Time Dance."

Parkway Dr., Cleveland; Clara Mae Halstead, '32, 1822 Glendale Ave., Toledo; Margaret Sanders, '32, 1382 Cambridge Pl., Columbus; and Helen Trenwith, '32, 529 Gambier Ave., Mt. Vernon.

The following girls were pledged on October 15: Charlotte Allen, Dayton; Jean Blake, Columbus; Jane Brightman, Columbus; Josephine Clark, Chicago, Ill.; Mary Crater, Columbus; Harriet Crebs, Dayton; Margaret Gardner, Columbus; Janet Goodfellow, Columbus; Marjorie Hammel, Basil; Pauline Hendershott, Columbus; Marjorie Julian, Mt. Vernon; Louise Larkins, Charlestown, West Va.; Margaret Le Sar, Columbus; Elizabeth Miller, Bucyrus; Rebecca Miller, Ann Postle, and Mary Lou Pryor, Columbus; Emily Rodney, Clarksburg, W.Va.; Dorothy Sedgwick, Martins Ferry; and Mary Simmons and Emily Young, Columbus.

Just before Christmas, Ohio B donated a Christmas basket to be given to the needy families by the Y.W.C.A.

Several Pi Phi's attended the Panhellenic banquet, given at the women's building, Pomerene Hall, on November 7.

On November 16, Ohio B gave an informal dance at the Columbus Woman's Club, for its new pledges. Ohio B won a silver loving cup for displaying the best homecoming house decorations. The chapter entertained out-of-town guests, alumnae, and friends with a tea after the homecoming game, November 23.

During the week of December 7, Beta Province President, Mrs. Mildred Bissell, was the guest of Ohio B. Mrs. Bissell met with the alumnae, the active chapter, and the pledge chapter. On Thursday, December 11, a tea was given in her honor at the chapter house. The dean of women and representatives from other women's fraternities were among those who attended.

Virginia Blackburn was given one of the leads in the Scarlet Mask Play, Loops My Dear, presented at the Hartman Theater on January 16, 17, and 18. Emma Anderson was high scorer in the women's bowling tourney fall term. Virginia Denbrock was elected secretary of W.S.G.A. Virginia Hawkins is a member of the Women's Athletic Board. Dorothy Russell was elected president of glee club. Marian Riggs was awarded the W.A.A. "O."

Mildred Marquardt is a member of Swan Club. Marjorie Hammel was elected freshman representative of W.S.G.A. Janet Goodfellow is a member of glee club. Margaret Le Sar was elected president of freshman Panhellenic. The pledges won the volleyball silver loving cup.

INITIATED, October 10, 1929: Helen Anderson, '32, Steubenville, Ohio.

Ohio Δ held pledging for the following girls on October 6, followed by a cooky-shine at the home of Madelyn Fawcett. The pledges are: Mary Frances Adams, Highland; Betty Barmes, Canajoharie, N.Y.; Martha Boyer, Dayton; Lois Brower, Delaware; Alice Jane Christopher, London; Elizabeth Coultrap, Geneva, Ill.; Margaret Gable, Burnside, Ky.; Virginia Giles, Canton; Alice George, Lisbon; Susan Hamilton, Cleveland Heights; Catherine Johns, Youngstown; Ruth Adelle Kirn, Lancaster; Mary Long, Canton; Marjorie Milligan, Washington, D.C.; Margaret Moltrup, Beaver Falls, Pa.; Martha Jane O'Neil, Lakewood; Marion Orth, Cuyahoga Falls; Nelda Neigh, Lisbon; Dorothy Ross, Columbus; Barbara Stoughton, Canajoharie, N.Y.; and Lois Wilson, Washington, D.C.

The new pledges have already become quite active on the campus. Barbara Stoughton, Martha Jane O'Neil, and Lois Brower were chosen for Frenchmen Players. Barbara and Betty Coultrap were selected for places of the Transcript staff.

Helen Anderson who was initiated this fall directed the chorus for the homecoming show in which there were three other Pi Phi's. Ruth Pinkerton was elected secretary of the Sophomore class and also was made a member of the Committee of Seven.

In December, Ohio Δ had the pleasure of a visit from Mrs. Bissell, Beta Province President. A tea was given for her to which representatives from each of the women's fraternities on the campus were invited.

Instead of an elaborate Christmas party, an informal party was given in the chapter rooms and each member contributed towards needed furnishings.

Although Ohio Δ has always been near the top in the scholastic ranking on the campus, this year an attempt is being made to rise to first place by an imposition of fines, and closer supervision of pledge study.

A council of women's fraternity presidents was recently organized to work in connection with the Panhellenic Council. It is hoped that the work of the council will improve Panhellenic conditions on the campus. Mildred Moyer was elected president of the group.

The new reference librarian at Ohio Wesleyan is Miss E. Louise Patterson from Pennsylvania P. She came to Wesleyan from the library in Washington, D.C.

West Virginia A announces the pledging of the following girls: Madolyn Shrum, Clarksburg; and Elizabeth Huey, and Virginia Burt, Mannington.

Genevieve Brown was elected to K Δ II, honorary educational society. Bertha Handlan and Elma Hicks were initiated into English club, honorary English organization. Mary Ellen Weightman, Phyllis Buck, and Ann Mary Tropp were initiated into La Tertulia, Spanish society. Betty Weidner is active in Westminster Girls club, and has the leading rôle in The Color Line, their semester play.

The Panhellenic Association is making some important changes in their constitution. Genevieve Brown is chairman of the committee on revising this constitution.

The most outstanding campus activity of the semester was the Mountaineer Carnival, held at the Field House on November 27, for the purpose of financing Mountaineer Week, at which time certain representative members of the student body lecture on W.Va. University throughout the state. This carnival was sponsored by both women's and men's fraternities. Each fraternity was responsible for a booth and also contributed to the various features of the program and dance.

GAMMA PROVINCE

MARYLAND ALPHA—GOUCHER COLLEGE

Chartered, 1897

Pledge Day, October 8, 1929

INITIATED, October 27, 1929: Anna E. Eliason, '32, New Castle, Del.; Katharine E. Flagg, '31, Branford, Conn.; and Fanny O. Thoms, '32, Waterbury, Conn.

After an exciting week of rushing, Maryland A pledged the following girls on October 28, 1929: Eugenia Bailey, Fort Worth, Texas; Dorothy Chambers, Baltimore, Md.; Betty Edmundson, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Karla A. Eitel, Chicago, Ill.; Patricia M. L. Harris, Longmont, Colo.; Mary Catherine Keith, Rockford, Ill.; Louise L. Linthicum, Baltimore, Md.; Dorothy McMaster, Yankton, S.D., and Washington, D.C.; Anna V. North, Baltimore, Md.; Phillis Myers, East Orange, N.J.; Jane Margaret Ream, Lakewood, Ohio; Annabel Schryver, Polo, Ill.; Virginia Underhill, Colorado Springs, Colo.; and Annette Webster, Baltimore, Md. Following the pledging ceremony there was a formal banquet and dancing at the Stafford Hotel.

Maryland A is very happy to welcome two new transfers to Goucher this year: Carolyn Harris, '32, from Colorado A, and Susanne Burns, '32, from Oklahoma A. Leola Armstrong, '30, who was transferred here last year from Alabama A, was affiliated with Maryland A.

The fall term brought several new elections to various offices in the college, and many positions were filled by girls from Maryland A. Katherine Flaff, was elected vice president of Press Board, Attarah Blackwood, vice president of Goucher College Christian Association, Frances Nixdorff, treasurer of Goucher Athletic League and member-at-large of Athletic Association, Patricia Harris, freshman member of Students' Organization, Ellen Terrell, chairman for the freshman tea, Nedra Wilhelm, sergeant-at-arms of the Senior class, and Frances Rice, '30, chairman of fireside.

On Sunday, November 17, Mrs. F. S. Nixdorff entertained the chapter at a tea. The "Army-Navy" hockey game, which was won by the "Army," was played on November 23, and was followed that evening by an enjoyable Thanksgiving dinner which was held in the gymnasium of Catherine Hooper Hall.

Last year a debating society was formed at Goucher, and the team which represented the college was successful in both the Baltimore and Philadelphia debates with the women's team from the University of Pennsylvania. Those were the only two debates with other colleges in which Goucher participated last year, but debates with Princeton in February and Swarthmore in April are planned for this season. Nedra Wilhelm, was elected president of the debating organization and has done much toward making the activity successful and popular among the student body. A very humorous debate took place between the faculty and the students in December for which the question was: Resolved, that the faculty be required to take gymnasium. The negative was successfully upheld by the students.

On December 6 the student body passed a recommendation, approved by the administration, faculty, and alumnae which provided for a smoking room, and also provided that the students could smoke in approved tea rooms in the city. Maryland A however, voted to uphold the $\Pi \Phi$ standard on the matter, and the pledges are governed by the action of actives.

The Junior Play, in honor of the freshmen, was presented on December 7. With the assistance of Mrs. Gertrude Onnen, who is the new official director of dramatics, the cast ably enacted Shakespeare's Twelfth Night. Katharine Flagg had a male leading part in the play, and other Pi Phis aided materially in the production.

The Senior Play, to be given March 7 and 8, is The School For Scandal, and Frances Rice has the male lead in the production. Nedra Wilhelm has an important male part, Leola Armstrong a leading female part, and Attarah Blackwood is doing valuable work in the capacity of chairman of the costume committee.

Agora has presented several short plays and sketches during the year and Dorothy Kelley, Nedra Wilhelm, and Frances Rice have taken part in some of them.

Mary Margaret Gordon, as chairman of the United Campaign Fund, had a very successful G.C.C.A. bazaar on December 11 and 12, and is now working diligently on the campaign drive. Patricia Harris is the chairman for the Freshman class, Martha Lindstedt is the chairman for the club, and Dorothy Greig is the chairman for the Junior class.

The annual Christmas party was held after a dinner in the rooms on December 16, with Dorothy Kelley disguised as a jovial Santa who pleased everyone with a small gift to which was attached a humorous verse. The pledges presented the chapter with a beautiful wall clock, and Betty Edmundson's father sent a lovely silver urn electric percolator and a silver cream pitcher and sugar bowl on a matching tray.

In the early part of the year Dorothy Kelley's father generously presented the chapter with an attractive radio which has afforded much enjoyment to the actives, pledges, and their friends. The acquisition of a radio and coffee percolator has completed the furnishing of the rooms, which were skillfully redecorated through the faithful work of Sophy Perry and the girls who assisted her in buying, painting, and sewing.

Lois Thompson, Gamma Province President, was welcomed by Maryland A when she visited the chapter on January 11-12.

In Panhellenic meetings this year, rules for rushing next year were revised, with some minor changes. Open rushing is to be the policy adopted, and pins are to be worn the Monday before open house. As a change in the rules governing transportation, it will be permissible for each fraternity to use taxicabs when going to the home of an alumna in the city. There will also be introduced a committee, with the president of Panhellenic as chairman, to meet, before rushing begins, with the freshmen to be rushed for the purpose of explaining to them the rules governing the chapters, as well as answering their questions.

INITIATED, November 11, 1929: Mary Virginia Smith, '32, Tilden Gardens.

This semester the chapter has an added incentive to get high grades as it is first on the campus in scholarship and if this same rating is kept $\Pi \Phi$ will get the scholarship cup for one year.

On December 25, $\Pi \Phi$ contributed to the general gaiety of the day by giving the customary dance on Christmas at the Kenwood Country Club. A number of alumnae and out-of-town $\Pi \Phi$ attended.

The Panhellenic Association gave a dance January 18 to raise money to send three delegates to the Undergraduate Panhellenic Association of Interurban Universities held this month at Ohio State. Mary Hudson was one of the three girls elected to represent George Washington. Mary was also made manager of all intramural sports this year. The requirements for this position were hard and the competition was keen. This is a new phase of athletics started by the athletic department to make other than outstanding athletes interested in sports. Volleyball is now being played and $\Pi \Phi$ has won all its games so far. Marian Lum is assistant manager, and Janice Burroughs has charge of all the publicity.

Before Christmas the Troubadours produced Gypped in Egypt. Midge Burnham co-author of the musical comedy also had the leading rôle. Midge is on the board of the Troubadour club and an honorary member of the same. There were seven other $\Pi \Phi$ in the three choruses. Betty Waller, Carolyn Jackson, Jean Sime, Mae H. Clark, Marian Lum, and Vivian Ward were elected to membership in the club for services in this and other productions.

At Christmas the chapter gave $5.00 to a poor family, and the girls individually helped fill a barrel for a family that the Y.W.C.A. was interested in helping.

The chapter always gives a tea dance for the benefit of the Settlement School and in this way raise $50 or more. No other definite plans have been made but the chapters want to raise that amount by some dollars, and also give a substantial donation to the Endowment Fund.

Rushing started on February 16.

VIRGINIA ALPHA—RANDOLPH-MACON
WOMEN'S COLLEGE

Chartered, 1913
Pledge Day, February, 1930

Virginia A announces the promising of the following girls: Marian Hershey, Frances Richardson, Frances Johnson, Jane Jones, Ruth Belew, Eva Allen, Barbara

Stubbs, Emma Jane Lewis, Cynthia Lumpkin, George Oliver Black, and Marcia Stauffer.

The members of the chapter have taken a very active part in the different dramatic productions given at the college this fall. On November 16, the junior class presented an original musical comedy, The Lawyers vs. The Engineers. Helen Louise Duckett had charge of the dancing and chorus work, and took a very important rôle in the play. Betty Wilkinson, also, had a prominent part in the play. Mary Elizabeth King had charge of all the music and Eva Smither was the chairman of the committee for the party, which is customary to be given immediately after the play.

This year the Sock and Buskin dramatic club presented the Goose Hangs High as its Thanksgiving play. Elizabeth Dunaway was appointed director of the play which was a special honor to her credit because up until this time it had been the custom of the club to secure a professional director. Eva Smither was stage manager and Carolyn Gore was chairman of stage properties for the play. This play was considered by many to be the best dramatic production ever given at Randolph-Macon.

On December 7, a very catching musical comedy was given by the Sophomore class. Anna Margaret Herhey had the leading rôle and Elizabeth Powell took an important part in the dances of the play. The dances and the songs were unusually well worked out. Elizabeth Cardwell composed the theme song, which made a lasting impression with the audience.

Randolph-Macon has had some well known speakers this fall. On November 4, Lorado Taft gave a very interesting lecture on sculpture, displaying some of his models and explaining the different processes of this art. Fritz Kreisler gave his second concert here in November. After the Christmas holidays on January 7, the college was fortunate in having Ben Greet and his players present, Everyman and Hamlet, which was exceedingly good.

Virginia A is making a special effort toward higher scholarship for the initiates as well as the freshmen this year. A certain average has been set which each member must attain or she must suffer loss of certain chapter privileges until she can attain that average. A supervised study period is held nightly in the library for the freshmen. These systems seem to be working out quite well so far.

The chapter sold Christmas cards again this year, earning about $20. It is planned that money shall go to the Settlement School fund. No other plan for making money to add to this fund has been determined.

A shower was given to the house just before the Christmas holidays. This was followed by a supper served around a tall Christmas tree, decorated with tinsel, colored balls, and snow. The freshmen found stockings filled with candy and nuts, hanging over the fireplace. BETTY WILKINSON

Virginia B had many pleasant times during the fall. The week-end of October 12 was spent at the "cabin" where everyone had a wonderful time. The annual fall banquet was held on November 2 at the Patrick Henry Hotel in Roanoke. The occasion was made even more enjoyable by the presence of Miss Lois Thompson, Gamma Province President. She stayed at Hollins two days and gave the chapter a great deal of help and advice. Her visit proved such an inspiration that the chapter reserved its pledge to remain active throughout the year, despite the fact that the other fraternities have disbanded. The Christmas cooky-shine was held on the Saturday before the holidays.

Throughout the three months the chapter kept dates once a week. Either a tea was had in the chapter room or every one met at the tea house for dinner. Several of last year's seniors were the guests of the chapter for several days. These included Sally Baret, Margaret Bowles, and Mary Lou Mayo.

During the fall months the hockey, tennis, and archery championships were decided. Pi Phis were well represented on all teams. Dorothy Quarles and Eleanor Bower, were members of the victorious Even hockey team, and Jessie Pollard, captain of the Odd archery squad, won first place in the tournament. Basketball practice has started and Dorothy Quarles is captain of the Blues.

Pi Phis have honors in other fields as well. In November The Dover Road was presented by the dramatic association. Dorothy Quarles had one of the leading rôles. Betty Poulnot, the president of the association, was sent as the delegate to the conference of American Dramatic Associations which was held in Trenton, N.J. Three Pi Phis were taken into Freya, the honorary college organization, when bids were sent out in October. These were Jessie Pollard, Dorothy Quarles, and Sarah Welch.

On November 7 Virginia G pledged the following girls: Elizabeth Buell, Herndon, Va.; Elizabeth Chambers, Baltimore, Md.; Jene Cook, Madison, N.J.; Lettie Hairston, Roanoke, Va.; Margaret Kolb, Baltimore, Md.; Jean Lilly, Washington, D.C.; and Louise Vodrey, East Liverpool, Ohio. On November 29, Virginia G pledged: Agnes Downs, Ardmore, Pa., and Gladys Monroe, Savannah, Ga.

Gamma Province inaugurated the idea of publishing a province newspaper. Virginia G published the first number of the paper in December. The two aims of the paper were originality and economy. It was a twenty page mimeographed manuscript covering local, province, and national articles of interest. By means of this communication it is hoped that the province will become more of a unit and the chapters will become closer attached to each other.

With the pre-Christmas season came the usual activities at William and Mary: caroling, Christmas drive of the Red Cross, and the Y.W.C.A. pageant. Pi Phi celebrated by aiding charity through the Red Cross and giving a Christmas party.

At the Panhellenic banquet on November 29, Virginia G was awarded the scholarship cup for the second time for receiving the highest scholastic average of the women's fraternities for the year 1928-29. Virginia Hawthorne, as the student with the highest average in the fraternity, accepted the cup. The chapter is especially proud to win this cup since we donated it to Panhellenic in 1927 and have won it every year. If the chapter wins it this year we will keep it permanently. In order to maintain this high standing, every member of the active chapter has pledged to study at least three hours daily. In addition to this a study is held every night but Saturday and Sunday with compulsory attendance for the pledges.

Virginia G has pledged $50 to the Settlement School, but she intends to exert every effort to go over this amount. Two very successful rummage sales have been conducted for this fund.

The chapter has taken a prominent part in activities on the campus this year. In December, Harriet Smith, Catherine Hasseltine, and Mary Parry had important parts in four one act plays produced by the Play Production class. Agnes Downs was elected freshman representative to the judicial council. Catherine Hasseltine became a member of the Spanish Club. Mary Parry was bid to Σ Δ Φ, women's national literary fraternity, and was elected secretary of the Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association at its convention held at Farmville, Va., in November.

Interfraternity basketball of the women's fraternities was held in December. Pi Phi was eliminated in the semifinals by Δ Δ Δ, who eventually won the championship.

Pledge Day, October 14, 1929

After a very intensive rush week, North Carolina A pledged the following girls: Clyde Duncan, Beaufort; Elzada Feaster, Miami, Fla.; Margaret Bullitt, Chapel Hill; Kate C. Graham, Durham; Josephine Hill, Burlington; Adelaide Reed, Beaumont, Texas; Lillie W. Jackson, Mount Pleasant, Tenn.; Edith H. Mangum, Lexington; Adelaide McAnally, Greensboro; Mary Lawrence Withers, Raleigh; Jean McAllister, Greensboro; Ruth Elaine Wheaton, Ithaca, N.Y.; and Evelyn Lee Way, Raleigh.

At Christmas time the pledges entertained the initiated members with a delightful Christmas party at which original skits and individual favors greatly added to its success and merriment. All of the pledges have made splendid grades and have more than met scholastic requirements for initiation.

It is customary for North Carolina A to raise money in conjunction with the alumnae club for the Settlement School, by a benefit concert which is usually given in the spring. This year the chapter plans to have one of the chapter members, Aline Hughes, give a voice recital, and all are making efforts to have the concert take place on the same week-end as initiation. The active chapter's share of the proceeds is expected to amount to at least $30 for the Settlement School fund.

For the first time in the history of the University of North Carolina, coeds have been admitted to a social order. The dramatic association of students, Wigwe and Masque, has decided this year to extend its membership to coeds having taken part in the annual production given last spring. The following seven girls were in Mum's the Word and were initiated this fall: Lib Barber, Kelso Currie, Celeste Edgerton, Maurine Forester, Helen McKay, and Phoebe Harding.

The Carolina Playmakers made an extended tour this fall, going as far north as Boston and New York. Phoebe Harding had rôles in both Paul Green's Negro comedy, No 'Count Boy, and the Playmakers' first original three-act play, Job's Kinfolks. Plans are being made for a Southern tour of the same plays during the winter quarter and for a Western tour in the spring.

Lib Barber is to be an assistant leader of the midwinter dances of the German Club, and Maurine Forester will lead the German Club ball at finals.

FLORIDA BETA—FLORIDA STATE COLLEGE FOR WOMEN

Chartered, 1921

Florida B announces the pledging of the following girls: Mary Edna Bell, Quincy; Mary Carnes, Tampa; Eleanor Estes, Orlando; Grace Franklin, Orlando; Lucille Gettier, Orlando; Madaline Gill, St. Petersburg; Mary Graves, Quincy; Helen Gray, Jacksonville; Mabel Hopson, Jacksonville; Marjorie Lloyd, Jacksonville; Helen Maull, Miami; Rosalie McKinley, Tampa; Anne Gordon Parker, Maysville, Ky.; Kay Perkins, Tallahassee; Marie Peters, Miami; Lucy Pope, Jacksonville; Elizabeth Simms, Miami; Susan Stovall, Tampa; Mamey Tatum, Miami; and Elizabeth Sharpe, Tampa. After pledge service the freshmen were entertained with a cooky-shine where they were asked to tell why they went $\Pi \Phi$. There were nineteen good reasons given.

Early in the college year the annual torch night ceremony was held. It is in this ceremony that the sophomores pass the torches Artes, Vires, and Mores on to the Freshman class. Evelyn Lyle, Ellen Knight, and Louise Aulls were in charge of the dances on the program. They also did a group dance. Twelve of the freshmen had minor parts.

It has become a custom at Florida State College for Women for all organizations on campus to present skits at some time designated by the annual staff to raise funds for that publication. Florida B won first prize this year with a skit entitled "A Bowery Night in Tallahassee," of which Mayme Tatum was in charge.

Next on the college calendar came Fealty, the uniting of the Freshman and Junior classes, in which Jean Rowe was a Junior Cavalier.

Kay Perkins and Susan Stovall received bids from V. V., an honorary social club, while Mayme Tatum was elected to Cotillion, its "brother" club.

Thanksgiving was a busy time for campus activities. Evelyn Lyle and Janet Poulson were in Odd demonstration, Janet being in the chorus and Evelyn doing a solo dance, "Defeat." In the Even demonstration Rosalyn Wilson had an important rôle, and Hazel Hebb was in the chorus. These two events occur only two days preceding the Thanksgiving day game, which proved to be a great victory for the Odds. On Thanksgiving day the new gymnasium was dedicated. Elizabeth Ferguson was chairman of the dedication committee. Adeline Clough took part in the swimming pageant presented at that time, while Jean Rowe and Anne Gordon Parker were the golf girls. Hazel Hebb did a stunt and tumbling act, and Evelyn Lyle, Ellen Knight, and Louise Anlls gave a dance.

Three members have been elected by national honorary fraternities this year. Elizabeth Ferguson joined $\Phi A \Theta$, history honorary; Evelyn Lyle, $B \Pi \Theta$, French honorary; and Ellen Knight, $A X A$, journalistic honorary.

The freshmen gave a charming dinner party for the chapter at the Dutch Kitchen. They also entertained freshmen of all other women's fraternities with a hobo party at the house.

Dean Beckham entertained off campus girls with a tea at Jennie Murphree Hall. Theresa Mintz was one of several assisting hostesses.

Evelyn Lyle is chairman of the junior dance committee and Lucy Pope was elected publicity manager of the Freshman class. Susan Stovall was nominated for the most modern girl for the Flastacowo feature section.

Rosalie McKinley had to withdraw from college early in the term because of poor health, and is now seriously ill at her home in Tampa.

Florida B sent a corsage to Mrs. Calvin Coolidge to be worn at a cooky-shine given in her honor by the St. Petersburg, Fla., alumnae club.

The chapter sent $50 to the Settlement School, which was obtained through voluntary contributions from all members of the chapter.

Immediately preceding the Christmas party, December 19, the chapter pledged Elizabeth Sharpe of Tampa.

The chapter had a beautiful Christmas tree with gifts for everyone. After the gifts were distributed and enjoyed they were taken to the poor children of Tallahassee.

FLORIDA GAMMA—ROLLINS COLLEGE

Chartered, 1929

Pledge Day, November 10, 1929

Initiated, December 30, 1929: Mrs. Bert Pheil Bobbitt, '22, 402 Third St., North, St. Petersburg; Jeannette Dickson, '27, Mount Dora; Mrs. Elizabeth Morton Ihrig, '31, 1023 South Orange Ave., Sarasota; Mrs. Dorothy Grey Lawrence, '25, 75 Bahama Circle, Davis Isles, Tampa; and Cathleen Sherman, '26, Green Gables, Winter Park. After the ceremony a banquet at the Green Gables tea room was enjoyed. The table and room were decorated with the fraternity flower and colors which made it very impressive.

This Christmas, the chapter helped make a happy Christmas for two poor families by giving them a party. A pledge played the part of Santa Claus and gave to two mothers and five children presents of candy, toys, and clothing. Later, other pledges served ice cream cones, popcorn, and cake. As the party was drawing to a close, Santa presented each mother with a box of food.

The fund for the Settlement School is to be raised this year by presenting a play during the month of April. It was an old custom of $\Sigma \Phi$, the local, to put on an annual play with the cast made up of the girls of the chapter.

The first term ended with good grades and the chapter well represented in all campus activities.

Dr. Hamilton Holt, president of Rollins, was welcomed home the day before Christmas, and is starting another term under the Conference Plan which brings the students and professors into closer contact.

At the beginning of the term, January 6, the Institute of Statesmanship was enjoyed by many. Distinguished men were here and gave talks to the college students. The topic about which the most important round-table discussions centered was "The Formation of Public Opinion."

Rollins had a great shock on December 29, when word was received that Dr. Robert Sprague, professor of sociology and government, passed away while in Washington, D.C., at an Economics Convention. He was also a former dean of the college, 1920-26, and acting president during 1922-24.

Initiated, November 18, 1929: Ruth Councilman, '31, Chardon, Ohio.

On the mantel of the house stands an electric Seth Thomas clock, which is the gift of Miss Margaret Landwehr, professor of German, whom Michigan A is fortunate in having again as chaperon.

At Christmas time the chapter purchased a large basket of food and gave it to the Salvation Army to distribute.

A benefit dance was given in February; the proceeds of which were added to the amount given by the pledges for the Settlement School. Each pledge had to earn one dollar and a half for this purpose.

With the re-establishment of a dramatic department, came the reorganization of Hillsdale chapter of $\Theta A \Phi$, national dramatic society, into which Ruth Barrett and Gretchen Lally were recently initiated; and of which Ruth Barrett was elected historian. Ruth Barrett also has the part of the queen in The Queen's Husband, which is to be presented by the society soon. There is a great interest in dramatics, as shown by the number of plays presented. Gretchen Lally, Ruth Barrett, Edith Dorman, Lenore Johnston, Rebecca Grisham, Margaret Schowe, and Marian Frank appeared in the play, A Man Who Married a Dumb Wife. Donna Birdsall and Wilma Lydrickson had important parts in a one act play, Thursday Evening, and Mildred Finnicum in Dust in the Road, also a one act play. The advanced Spanish classes gave El Señor Gobernador, which was coached by Irene and Evelyn Currah.

There are many members active in the literary field. Harriet Ball is associate editor of the Winona, the yearbook published by the Junior class. Mildred Finnicum and Pauline Southwick are sophomore aides for this publication. Harriet Ball is also associate editor of the Tower, a magazine published by $\Sigma T \Delta$, national literary society, into which Mildred Finnicum was recently initiated. Dorothy Ver Soy is a reporter for The Collegian, the college paper.

Michigan A is well represented in class officers. Laura Stephenson and Harriet Ball are officers for the class of 1931; and Alice Aldrich and Evelyn Currah for the class of 1932.

Marian Wood is president of the undergraduate club which is affiliated with the Hillsdale chapter of American Association of University Women. Ruthe Wheatley is secretary of the club.

The chapter has many members active in other organizations. Gladys De Yoe is a cabinet member of the Christian Association. Elizabeth Phelps is vice president of the International Relations Club, and a member of the women's debating team. Ruthe Wheatley is president of the W.A.A. and Virginia Bury is treasurer.

Michigan A pledged the following girls: Marian Klockow, Mt. Clemens; Jean Munro; Morenci; Katherine Coleman and Evelyn Harwood, Marshall; Helen Howard, Galena, Ill.; Rebecca Grisham, Athens, Ala.; Virginia Le Pard and Gladys Perry, Flint; Elizabeth Bentz, Hillsdale; and Jane Randolph, Jerome.

The pledges also have become quite active, not only in the Freshman class, but in other groups as well. Marian Klockow is president and Evelyn Harwood is secretary-treasurer of East Hall, freshman women's dormitory. Rebecca Grisham is secretary-treasurer of the girls' glee club. Helen Howard is a reporter for The Hillsdale Collegian. Dorothy Malone had parts in two one act plays, Sardines and Wisdom Teeth, which were a part of the entertainment given on December 13 by dramatic classes. Jane Randolph and Evelyn Harwood are members of the women's debating team.

A collegiate tea dance was given by the pledges of Michigan A on November 1 to the pledges and chaperons of the other women's fraternities on the campus.

Initiated, December 9, 1929: Jessie Brown, '30, Savannah, Ill., and Mary Willard, graduate, Benzonia.

The active chapter entertained its new pledges at a dance on October 11 in order to welcome them into the social life of the fraternity. Two weeks later a tea was given in honor of Miss Katherine Noble, the chaperon of Michigan B. Miss Noble was a member of Illinois Δ and is teaching Spanish in the Ann Arbor High School in addition to her duties as housemother.

For the first time in the history of the university, a woman has been appointed to the board of regents. Mrs. LeRoy Cram of Flint, Michigan, has recently had this honor conferred upon her.

Early in November the annual Panhellenic banquet was held in the ballroom of the Women's League Building with twenty-one women's fraternities attending. At this time the newly installed chapter of $\Delta \Delta \Pi$ was welcomed into the local Panhellenic organization. Josselyn McLean was in charge of the tickets. The Panhellenic ball took place on the Friday evening following Thanksgiving with Helen Domine acting as publicity chairman and Josselyn McLean on the music committee.

Dorothy Birdzell was elected finance chairman of the sophomore cabaret in which Eleanor Walkinshaw, Katherine Sitton, and Winifred Root took part. Katherine Sitton was also a member of the entertainment committee. Two juniors, Helen Jones and Mary Gay von Boeselager were appointed members of class committees, and Dorothy Beck and Elisabeth DeVol received committee appointments in the Senior class. Lorinda McAndrew was made a member of the convocations committee.

Margaret Morin was elected to Wyvern, junior honorary society, and Helen Domine and Eloise Avery to $\Theta \Sigma \Phi$, in the fall elections of those organizations. Ruth Moore and Helen DeWitt, pledges, made successful tryouts for Comedy Club. Helen DeWitt is also president of the freshman girls' glee club. Dorothy Birdzell, Frances Bielby, Marion Lamb, and Helen Domine all were selected in class teams in hockey this fall and Michigan B expects to have a large representation in interclass basketball.

The Michigan Daily has created a position on its business staff to correspond with the women's editor on the editorial side and Mary Chase has been chosen to act as the first women's business secretary.

Each girl in Michigan B has decided to contribute \$2.50 to the Settlement School, the sum to be earned by doing odd jobs and errands. One of the girls has been making soup and selling it for ten cents a cup. Others rent their typewriters or do typing for others. The rental of evening wraps and costume jewelry has proved very lucrative. The same method is being used to earn a similar sum for the $\Pi B \Phi$ endowment fund.

The League and Interchurch Christmas Bazaar was held on December 6 and 7 in Barbour Gymnasium. $\Pi \Phi$ contributed silhouette pictures framed in black, made by one of the members. On Thursday, December 19, Santa Claus arrived at the chapter house, bearing a small gift for each member with a humorous verse attached. The gifts and the Christmas tree were later taken to the hospital to cheer the crippled children. On this occasion the alumnae of Michigan B presented the active chapter with five lovely sets of pewter candlesticks and flower bowls to be used in the dining room.

Francis Bebee chose Josselyn McLean to be his partner in leading the annual J-Hop, the largest social function of the year, which was held on Valentine's day. This is the second time that a coed has received this honor, and the first time that a fraternity man has broken the tradition. Mr. Bebee is a member of $\Sigma \Phi$ fraternity.

On December 17, Indiana A celebrated the approaching holiday with a slumber party in the $\Pi \Phi$ hall. Gifts were exchanged and toys were collected for the Settlement School children. At the same time a box was packed containing wearing apparel and necessities for the families at the Settlement School. Following this the pledges sang original pledge songs and gave an original stunt, Romance of a $\Pi \Phi$ in Nine Acts.

On November 22, an exceedingly clever dinner dance was given by the active chapter at the Nashville House, at Nashville, Indiana, an old, immense, log cabin, decorated in keeping with the age of the building. On January 14, Indiana A celebrated her forty-second birthday with a spread at the home of Mrs. La Grange. Following the supper, Mrs. Mary Covert Pritchard read the history of the chapter written by Miss Zeppenfeld, a charter member, who was unable to come because of ill health. After each girl had put the amount of her age in pennies in the birthday box, the active chapter entertained. Julia Hicks, pledge, sang her lovely pledge song and Elizabeth Meyers, also a pledge, played the piano, while Mary Jane Smith sang and played several songs. Everyone then left for the basketball game with Butler University, which Franklin won.

At the annual Panhellenic banquet, the high point girls, scholastically, are honored. Mary Jane Hogue was the chapter representative. Scholarship is being held before the girls constantly, since it is desirous that the chapter does not fall in this important phase of college life. $\Pi \Phi$ is well represented in dramatics. All the women's parts in the first $\Theta A \Phi$ play, The Queen's Husband are taken by Π Phis or pledges. The lead is taken by Claribel Flowers, pledge, and Mary Jane Smith, Alice Coffman, and Margaret Stillwell are also represented on the cast. In the second play The Goose Hangs High, Henrietta Miller and Elizabeth Meyers, pledge, have major parts. Elsa Barger, Margaret Stillwell, Evelyn Pritchard, Mary Lou Rainey, and Margaret Lanam are the Indiana A girls on the Almanac staff. The Wigs and Cues organization, a "stepping stone" to $\Theta A \Phi$, has as its two officers two Π Phis, Elsa Barker, president, and Margaret Stillwell, secretary-treasurer. Julia Hicks, Claribel Flowers, and Mary Lou Rainey are all entered in the swimming meet which will be held soon and all three are experienced swimmers. The Boosters Club, a new organization at Franklin, established for the purpose of backing college activities, has as its vice president, Mary Lou Rainey. Ruth Cummings is vice president of Rifle Club, Gail Small, pledge, is treasurer of the freshman class and Mary L. Rainey is secretary of the junior class, elected to take the place of a girl not returning this year, and there are also several girls on the Y.W.C.A. cabinet.

A Memorial Drive was made during the Thanksgiving recess, for the purpose of collecting overdue payments pledged to the fund. Ground has already been broken for the construction of a new Union Building.

Mary Marjorie Mull has been appointed to editorial assistant of the Arbutus, university yearbook. The following girls were chosen for parts in skits and choruses in a recent dramatic production, Campus Affairs: Cornelia Shied, Mary Rippey, Emmalucy Cadwell, Lucile Baker, Maxine Rosebaum, and Sarah Gilsworth. Alice Thorn was given the lead in The Circle, a dramatic club production presented. $\Pi \Phi$ also claims the honor of one of its members, Mary Rippey, having one of the leads in The Old Soak, a play presented in February. Maxine Rosebaum also has a part in this production.

The $K \Lambda \Theta$ national president, and the province officers with the senior members were entertained by Indiana B early in November. The luncheon was supervised by the chaperon, Mrs. Martha George, and the social chairman, Mary Cooper. A lovely Christmas formal dinner was given at the chapter house for members of the faculty. The freshmen entertained the upperclassmen at a delightful cooky-shine and Christmas tree party. The chapter gave its annual New Year dinner dance on January 18, at the chapter house. The alumnae gave the freshmen a party at the home of Mrs. Will Karsell, the chairman of the advisory committee.

Katheryn Criegmile is one of three women in the university who is a member of the varsity debating team. Five girls have enlisted in the Y.W.C.A. Big Sister Movement. Thelma White and Ione Swan passed the test for entrance into W.A.A. Five girls are in the Girls' Chorus and are going to sing the Messiah.

Talbot Ave., Indianapolis; Mary Sumner, '32, 5008 Broadway, Indianapolis; Jane Sutton, '32, 3943 Ruckle, Indianapolis; and Elizabeth Whetsel, '32, Fortville.

A definite Settlement School plan of study has been outlined for the use of Indiana Γ members and a committee has been appointed to foster this study. The plan is based on a list of books concerning the mountain people and a group meeting in the near future will be devoted to Settlement School discussion. The chapter had an excellent opportunity to understand the work that the Settlement School is doing when the alumnae club held its annual bazaar of Settlement School handcraft early in December.

Money has not been budgeted for a Settlement School fund this year as Indiana Γ is directing all its financial energies toward swelling its new house fund. However, it is hoped that the plan to study will arouse sufficient interest in the Settlement School so that one project may be sponsored for its benefit.

Ground was broken for the new $K K \Gamma$ house and alumnae and active members of $\Pi \Phi$ are joining forces in trying to make it possible for the $\Pi \Phi$ house to be the first women's fraternity house on fraternity row.

A lovely Christmas basket containing dainty foods as well as staples, was made up by members of Indiana Γ and sent to an unfortunate family, whose name was supplied by the Community Fund.

A new silver cup decorates the mantel of the Indiana Γ house. Each year Scarlet Quill, senior women's honorary organization, gives a cup to the women's fraternity whose float in the homecoming parade is judged the best. A similar cup is given to a men's fraternity by Blue Key. This year Butler's homecoming parade was held the night before the football game with the Haskell Indians. The $\Pi \Phi$ float, representing the vision of an Indian princess in which she saw a Butler football player receiving the crown of victory, was extremely effective and won first place. Catherine Brown was in charge of the float.

$\Theta \Sigma \Phi$, national women's journalistic fraternity, has pledged Beatrice Burgan. Gwendolyn Schort's name has been engraved on the freshman scholarship cup; Gwendolyn had the second highest freshman scholastic standing in Butler for last year. Positions on the Collegian staff for the second semester have been awarded to Virginia Hill, Beatrice Burgan, and Jane Hadley. Class elections resulted in Marjorie Goble being vice president of the senior class and Jane Sutton is secretary of the sophomore class.

It was recently announced that Butler's 1928-29 basketball team was national champion for that year. Tony Hinkle is coaching what appears to be another championship team this year. VIRGINIA SEEDS

INDIANA DELTA—PURDUE UNIVERSITY

Chartered, 1921
Pledge Day, September 12, 1929

INITIATED, December 17, 1929: Ruth Knight, '32, 123 Sylvia St., West Lafayette.

The chapter announces the pledging of the following girls: Gertrude Quimby, Sharon, Pa.; Irma Williams, Reba Williams, and Bernita Williams all of Canton, Ill.

The Purdue Memorial Union Building was opened at Thanksgiving time and an open house, reception, and several dances were held in celebration. A large well equipped pharmacy building was recently completed on the north campus. Purdue also celebrated the winning of the Big Ten football championship after a highly successful season.

Several interesting convocations have already been held this year, the Smallman A Capella Choir, being the attraction of the last one in November.

As soon as the period of finals was over the Women's Panhellenic organization gave its annual formal dance. The activity societies for men and women, Gimlets, and Gold-Peppers gave a dance on December 6. On January 31, the Gold-Diggers Dance was given at which the coeds repayed all past favors by footing the bill.

Among the chapter members, many new honors have been won. Mildred Gordner and Florence Berck were initiated into O N, national home economics honorary, and into K Δ II, national education honorary. Ethel Meyer and Florence Berck were initiated into Θ X Γ, honorary English organization. Emily Boyd was made a member of Philalethian, English society. Charlene York has the only Sophomore class office it is possible for a coed to hold. She is secretary this year. On the Y.W.C.A. cabinet, Emily Boyd is secretary, Reba Williams is vice president, while Bernice Baugh continues with her position of president. Jean Simpkins is the president of the Purdue Girls' club. Rose Cassell received the Recognition Arrow, given to the most active freshman and has since that been made treasurer of W.A.A. and of Virginia C. Meredith club, a home economics club. When the varsity rifle squad was announced, Lena Lohrman again was named, and Gertrude Quimby and Jean Hay won new places. Emily Boyd, Rose Cassell, and Charlene York are still working diligently on the Daily Exponent staff, and are assistants now to the coed night editors. Virginia White was on the Dads' Day committee. At homecoming, the Little Theater gave its annual all-mens revue. Luella Hand and Jean Aylard have been working hard on the wardrobe committee.

In debating, Margaret Mace has kept her place on the girls' varsity team. In the last Play Shop production, Martha Lee Gill had the lead. Mary Schaefer was selected as one of the campus beauties.

Indiana Δ is fortunate in having Dr. Louise Mickel as a new patroness. Dr. Mickel has her degree in medicine.

The chapter entertained in honor of Mrs. Ralph Cheadle, the chaperon, and the patronesses, with a formal tea on December 4. The members of the home economics faculty were guests at dinner one evening. The chapter's pledge dance was given on November 1, in the Fowler Hotel Roof Garden.

Indiana Δ has pledged herself to raise at least twenty-five dollars for the Settlement School this year and more if possible. The exact plan has not been worked out, as yet.

KENTUCKY ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF LOUISVILLE

Chartered, 1925
Pledge Day, September 30, 1929

This Christmas was the first that Kentucky A has not filled at least two baskets and given them to the needy. The chapter knew of no specific case where help was needed that was not given by the various churches and charitable organizations of the city.

The chapter expects to give $25 to the Settlement School. During the first week of November, the Π Φ alumnae of the Falls City gave a benefit performance of the Brown Stock Company. The benefit was for the Settlement School and proved very successful.

Kentucky A held its annual open house for the students and faculty of the University of Louisville on December 19.

The first play of the fall season presented by the University of Louisville Players was Billie, two Pi Phi's, Margaret Hughes and Mary Reuter Gates, had important parts in the play. The masterpiece of the play year, which is the most spectacular play given during the season, was Othello. Π Φ had five girls in it: Elizabeth Borries, Martha Bell, Barbara Olivey, Mary Reuter Gates, and Elizabeth Trawick.

The chapter is again well represented on the W.S.G.A. Mary Reuter Gates is president and Lida Gaglay, student representative.

The hockey team of the university has as its captain Dorothy Depree and as a very valuable player another Π Φ, Elizabeth Borries.

Tennessee A announces the pledging of the following girls: Mildred Allen, Chattanooga; Charlotte Atlee, Chattanooga; Blanche Fox, Chattanooga; Thelma Griffith, Little Rock, Ark.; Leitner Johnson, Jacksonville, Fla.; Barbara Jones, Hixon, Tenn.; Eva Loepper, Cleveland, Tenn.; Pauline Prigmore, Chattanooga; Evelyn Rogers, Frenchtown, N.J.; Elizabeth Rowden, Chattanooga; Regina Sundstrom, Chattanooga; Elizabeth Thomas, Chattanooga; Juanita Walter, Chattanooga; and Lillian Wilson, Jacksonville, Fla.

The chapter supplied a needy family at Hixon, Tennessee, with provisions at Christmas time.

Tennessee A expects to double the amount given to the Settlement school this year, giving $50 instead of the usual $25. The means of raising this amount has not yet been definitely decided upon, but a scrip dance is being seriously considered.

The pledges entertained the actives a short time ago with a buffet supper at the chapter house. A dance followed, after which the girls were taken to the home of Elizabeth Rowden for a slumber party. The pledges also surprised the actives with a shower of useful gifts for the house.

Eleven actives and three pledges were on the honor roll which was published a short time ago.

Elizabeth Landress was elected chairman of the constitution committee, a group selected to draw up a new constitution for the student government. Virginia Conn is on the Student Body Election committee. Marie Rulkotter was recently elected to membership in $\Sigma T \Delta$, national honorary literary fraternity.

The pledges, desiring to foster a better interfraternity spirit, entertained at a buffet supper the pledges of the two other women's fraternities on the campus, $X \Omega$ and $A \Delta \Pi$.

Pledge Day, October 1, 1929

INITIATED, November 18, 1929: Katherine Brentnall, '32, Birmingham; and Evelyn Meadow, '32, Birmingham.

INITIATED, December 30, 1929: June Pickens, Tuscaloosa.

Alabama A was very fortunate in having Miss Anna E. Marshall, Delta Province President, initiate Katherine Brentnall and Evelyn Meadow. After the initiation, a banquet was given at the new Thomas Jefferson Hotel for the two new initiates and Miss Marshall.

On December 17, A Christmas cooky-shine was held at the home of Margaret Miller. The rooms were decorated in Christmas colors and a small decorated tree was used for the centerpiece. One of the pledges, dressed as Santa Claus, presented a toy gift to each girl, at the same time making an appropriate remark. Later in the evening these toys were all collected, put with baskets of fruit, and carried to the Children's Hospital.

Since the scholarship at midterm examinations was not as high as it might have been, the scholarship chairman devised a plan for raising it; each girl is on her honor to spend an hour extra study each night on each subject in which she has a grade below eighty. In this way, the grades have risen rapidly.

The chapter held a model state initiation on Sunday, December 30, and initiated

June Pickens of Tuscaloosa, Alabama, who was pledged at Newcomb College.

Mrs. Marian Whiting was awarded the scholarship ring.

EPSILON PROVINCE MINNESOTA ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA

Chartered, 1890

Pledge Day, January 13, 1930

The University of Minnesota has decided to try the deferred rushing plan for the next three years.

$\Pi \Phi$ was quite successful in campus sales campaigns this year. The chapter won second prize in the Ski-U-Mah campaign, and the third prize in both the Gopher and homecoming button campaigns.

The chapter was honored at the Military Ball by having Helen Leitz in line as one of the leaders.

At the fall elections, Eleanor Womrath was elected junior representative on the all university Council.

Minnesota A has decided to assess each member of the chapter in order to raise the sum of $25 which it is customary for the chapter to subscribe to the Settlement School.

During the Christmas vacation the alumnae gave a luncheon to which the actives were invited. Two weeks preceding the vacation, the alumnae entertained the active chapter at a Christmas dinner which was given at the chapter house.

On December 19, the chapter celebrated the end of final examinations with a formal party which was given at the chapter house. The party was called the $\Pi \Phi$ Snow Ball. The same sort of party was given last year and since it was so successful the chapter has decided to make it an annual affair.

The chapter welcomes Marjorie White a transfer from Idaho A.

Wisconsin A announces the pledging of Helen Elliot, Kalispell, Mont.; Katherine Ehrler, Milwaukee, Wis.; and Betty Stump, St. Joseph, Mich.

Wisconsin A had a scare several weeks before Christmas when the house was quarantined for diphtheria. The two days of quarantine proved very pleasant, furnishing an excellent opportunity for rest, study, and bridge, but everyone was very glad when the ban was removed.

The Christmas party for pledges and activities was held on December 17. Stunts were furnished by the pledges and a song was submitted to the chapter. Joke gifts were exchanged among the members; these were afterward collected and given to children in the Wisconsin General Hospital along with the tree and decorations. Other charity donations were checks to the Wisconsin Good Will Chest, and also to the Madison Welfare Association.

The entire campus was enthusiastic about Junior Prom which took place between semesters, from February 6 to 9. The Prom chairman selected as his Queen a member of K K Γ. Ann Kendall was chairman of the Grand March committee.

Many Pi Phis took part in the annual Y.W.C.A. Circus. Jane Cannon was co-chairman, Eleanor White, a judge in the Poster Contest, Catherine Roddis, head of the ticket sales, and Sybil Coffin was head of the side show given by the $\Pi \Phi$ pledges.

Mary Dean Scott has been appointed editor of the senior summary section of the Badger, Wisconsin annual yearbook. Dorothy Nash has been appointed to the commencement committee of the senior class. Anne Kendall has been elected to Crucible, junior women's honorary society. Anne is also a member of Keystone and is chairman of a committee which is working out a system of activity points which will limit the number of activities of students and encourage other students to try for honors.

The length of study hours for pledges has been extended three-quarters of an hour and also includes study on Monday nights. The midsemester grades proved satisfactory but it was believed to be better to increase the study hours because of final examinations.

INITIATED, October 26, 1929: Betty Atkinson, '32, 7439 Luella Ave., Chicago; Beatrice Berg, '32, 5312 Warner Ave., Chicago; Shirley Boller, '32, 405 N. Lombard Ave., Oak Park, Ill.; Winifred Erickson, '32, 212 S. Madison Ave., La Grange, Ill.; Gretchen Hobbs, '32, 728 Hobart Pl., Beloit, Wis.; Evelyn Moorman, '31, 544 S. Ridgeland Ave.; Oak Park, Ill.; Helen Oelke, '32, 121 W. Wesley St., Wheaton, Ill.; Jeanette Peterson, '32, 378 Hancock St., Gary, Ind.; Kathryn Rassweiler, '32, 5241 Lyman Ave., Downers Grove, Ill.; and Louise Tracy, '32, 3536 Fulton Blvd., Chicago.

Wisconsin B announces the pledging of the following girls: Judith Bulla, Chicago; Anne Clementson, Beloit; Margaret Jorgenson, Chicago; Carolyn Maujer, Berrien Springs, Mich.; Margaret Perrin, Aurora, Ill.; and Eleanor and Elizabeth Smith of Milwaukee. A cooky-shine for the new pledges was held at the house on the night following their informal pledging.

The relations between Wisconsin B and the Beloit alumnae club are very happy. The resident alumnae were entertained at the chapter house in October. Then the chapter were guests of the alumnae at the annual Christmas sing when gifts are given to the house. In an effort to become even more closely acquainted with the girls and the affairs of the chapter the members of the executive council have been invited to some of the supper meetings of the alumnae club.

The chapter has earned its gift of $50 to the Settlement School this year in various ways. It sponsored the sale of chrysanthemums at homecoming and so added much to the gay appearance of the campus in general. Two rummage sales and weekly food sales at the women's dormitories have made up the rest of the amount. These food sales, which are conducted at night, have proved very popular.

The Beloit Players presented The Best People by David Gray and Avery Hopwood as one feature of Dads' Day on November 16. Virginia Schafer and Betty Atkinson had two of the leading rôles. Breakfasts and dinners at the men's and women's fraternity houses were given on the next day.

The Women's Panhellenic Council entertained at a formal dinner dance on January 4. The guests were members of the council and eight girls elected by each of the four chapters together with their escorts. Those representing $\Pi \Phi$ at this distinctive function were: Margaret Freeman, Joyce Wadmond, Peggy Hack, Joan Streeter, Evelyn Sherman, Helen Boddy, Shirley Boller, Jeanette Peterson, Margaret Perrin, and Carolyn Shepard.

Several Pi Phis are on the staff of the Blue Moon, a literary publication which appeared for the first time in January. Margaret Freeman and Margaret Perrin were the two girls on the committee which edited the Student Handbook which contains pertinent facts about all organizations on the campus. There are five Pi Phis on the cabinet of Y.W.C.A.

The freshman scholarship cup was awarded to Helen Oelke for maintaining the highest average among the $\Pi \Phi$ freshman last year. The cup is kept at the house. The name of each winner and her class is engraved on it. It is very inspiring to all freshman scholarship.

The chapter welcomes Edythe Kulp from Indiana Δ .

NORTH DAKOTA ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF NORTH DAKOTA

Chartered, 1921

INITIATED, November 15, 1929: Inez Babcock, '32, Starkweather, N.D.; Leila Gunderson, '31, Ray, N.D.; Mary Herrick, '32, East Grand Forks, Minn.; and Helen McAuliffe, '32, East Grand Forks, Minn.

A great many of the Pi Phis from North Dakota went to Winnipeg, Manitoba, Canada, for the installation of the Manitoba A chapter. It was the first installation that most of the girls had participated in and all of them found it very enjoyable assisting Amy B. Onken, the Grand President, and Mrs. Bernadine Sawers, the Province President. The North Dakota A chapter was very happy to have Miss Onken and Mrs. Sawers as its guests before they returned to their homes. Their visit was invigorating as well as inspiring.

The Grand Forks Community Chest drive and the Red Cross drive came shortly before Christmas. The chapter gave money to them for charitable work.

The active chapter will join in with the Grand Forks alumnae club to have a food sale to raise money for the Settlement School. The amount of money to be sent is arranged so that it will average about $2.00 for each alumna and $1.00 for each active member of the chapter.

Pi Phis have been prominent in activities on the campus this year. Evelyn Palmer has been initiated into $\Pi A \Theta$, national honorary education fraternity; Leila Gunderson into $\Phi X \Theta$, a woman's professional commerce fraternity. Jeannette Bollinger was elected to $\Delta \Phi \Delta$, a professional fraternity for the advancement of art. Marian Kinder was pledged to $Z \Phi H$, professional speech fraternity. Sylvia Tastad and Evelyn Palmer are candidates for general honors.

Dorothy Reichert was chosen coach of the junior basketball team which was the championship team, and she also was selected for the varsity basketball team. Sylvia Tastad was on the varsity hockey team and received her U.N.D. sweater the first semester. She and Dorothy Graves played on the senior basketball team. Dorothy Tompkins, a freshman, is the first coed yell leader that the University of North Dakota has ever had.

Alice Palmer is on the Student Board of Control; she is also playing a prominent part in Ibsen's play, A Doll's House to be put on by the Dakota Playmakers. Marian Fisk, Marian Kinder, and Helen Borden were elected to reserve membership in the Dakota Playmakers. Marian Kinder is vice president of the women's glee club. Kathryn Jones is on the women's debating team. Dorothy Graves was in charge of the general arrangements for the dedication of the new Y.W.C.A. room. Catherine Baker and Dorothy Tompkins were chosen to be in a chorus of eight girls that danced at the Y.W.C.A. Fun Frolic. Three Pi Phis, Gwen Thompson, Esther Nelson, and Catherine Baker were elected among the twenty most popular girls on the University of North Dakota campus, and Gwen Thompson was among the ten most popular girls.

The $\Pi B \Phi$ float in the homecoming parade won the first prize. The chapter won a beautiful plaque for selling the highest number of Dacotas during the Dacota sale contest. Pat Ebert won the individual prize.

North Dakota A announces the repledging of Nell M. Dickens of Chicago, Ill.

ILLINOIS ALPHA—MONMOUTH COLLEGE

Pledge Day, February 8, 1930

Illinois A is going to raise the money for the Settlement School by conducting a candy and bakery sale at the College Grocery Store. It is hoped the chapter will make at least $25. It is very difficult to raise money for this fund since it is contrary to the policy of the college to sell anything in the dormitory, or to sponsor any kind of benefit parties.

Monmouth College has been very fortunate in receiving a \$100,000 endowment to promote the appreciation of fine arts. $\Theta T \Omega$ has been granted a charter as the B Z chapter of $\Lambda \Pi \Phi$, a men's social fraternity.

Illinois A has had two rushing parties. On December 14, the eleven rushees were taken by the actives to the Rainbow Garden of $\Pi B \Phi$ for a formal dinner and dance. From the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow a little fairy came, carrying to each rushee a telegram with the message, "May the arrow point you in the right way." From the Rainbow all went to a lovely old English home where coffee was served, and the alumnae met the rushees. The next rush party was held in Galesburg. This time the actives and their guests attended a carnival and circus. One of the side shows was living presentation of magazine covers. The $\Pi \Phi$ girl from the cover of THE ARROW reigned as Queen of the Carnival. All the animals from the circus performed their tricks. There were balloons, dancing, and pink lemonade.

On scholarship day Ruth Scheidegger was tapped into $\Sigma O M$, petitioning $\Phi B K$. Mary Russell was voted into $\Sigma T \Delta$, an honorary English fraternity. Floy Fetherston and Ruth Scheidegger have been selected as two of the girls to enter the women's debate tournament at the $\Pi K \Delta$ national convention at Wichita, Kansas.

INITIATED, October 5, 1929: Katherine Hooker, '31, Galesburg; and Elizabeth Oberg, '31, Galesburg.

Following the usual custom, on January 17, the Galesburg alumnae club with the members of Illinois B and Illinois A held a benefit dance. The proceeds from which are to go to the Settlement School.

The pledges entertained the active girls with a cooky-shine in November. The holiday idea was carried out in the clever turkey place cards and nut cups. After a delightful dinner, Winifred Caldwell entertained the chapter by reading an original poem which contained a prophecy for each girl. The pledges, also, presented the chapter with a beautiful pottery lamp for the bungalow.

Illinois B has continued to be well represented in the major activities of the campus. Catherine Townsend and Ruth Lane have been initiated into $\Phi K \Phi$, honorary scholastic fraternity; and Mary Helen Hitch and Virginia Hinchliff and Elizabeth Oberg have been initiated into $\Delta \Phi \Delta$, honorary fine arts fraternity. In the Lombard Pep Club, an organization to maintain loyalty and create enthusiasm, the chapter is represented by Ruth Lane, Alice Ward, Mary Helen Hitch, and Helen Davis. The members of the club are chosen on the basis of their college spirit, popularity, and activities. Alice Ward is president of the college council; Dorothy Brown and Martha Crissey are members of the Stroller staff; and Virginia Hinchliff has been named as one of the members of the girls debate team.

Illinois A expects to give a contribution of $25 to the Settlement School. In addition to this amount each chapter member and pledge is to sell at least two tickets for the benefit dance sponsored by the Knox and Lombard alumnae.

In the scholarship report for the semester ending June, 1929, Illinois A ranked second among national women's fraternities with an index of 2.1661. The all college index was 2.7645. The following members received general honors for the year 1928-1929: Florence Andrews, Jeanne Godolphin, Lois Harris, Margaret McWethy, Marian Christy, Grace Castle, and Janet Smith. Winifred Murphy received special honors in Spanish.

On December 13 the annual Christmas Prom was given, sponsored by the Knox W.S.G.A. In the receiving line were Charlotte Crawford, chairman of the prom committee and Ruth McHugh, president of the board. Margaret Barry was also a member of the committee.

In the cast of The French Doll presented by the Knox Players were Alice Stevens, who played the lead, and Margaret McWethy. Betty Test, who was elected to the Players in October, and Jeanne Godolphin were in the cast of The Romantic Age.

Of the four sponsors chosen by the men of the R.O.T.C. two were members of Illinois A, Alice Stevens, battalion sponsor, who was given the rank and insignia of honorary major, and Lorraine Jones. The sponsors were presented to their companies at a tea dance.

Illinois A announces the pledging of Hortense Armbruster, Aurora, Ill.

Frances Andrews, Lorraine Jones, Olive Kitzelman, and Betty Test were named on the varsity hockey team. Betty Test was among the successful aspirants in the try-outs for the Knox Student staff. The L.M.I. page of the Sivasher, college literary publication, is edited by Margaret McWethy. On the 1930 Gale board of which Marian Christy is the editor, are Ruth McHugh, Charlotte Chawford, Lorraine Jones, and Betty Test, department heads, and Betty Elder and Janet Smith, associate editors.

On December 18 the Whiting Hall Council gave the annual Christmas dinner for the girls living in the hall. President Britt, Mrs. Britt, and their two small daughters were guests. Winifred Murphy had charge of the table decorations and Alice Stevens arranged the musical program during and following dinner. A charming pantomime, in which Margaret McWethy had a rôle, preceded the distribution of Christmas gifts.

INITIATED, November 8, 1929: Eleanor C. Jones, '30, 5805 Mission Dr., Kansas City, Mo.; Willa Minchin, '32, 113 Santa Fe Ave., Chillicothe, Ill.; Elizabeth Smith, '32, 932 N. Lockwood Ave., Chicago, Ill.; Jane Wellington, '32, 1718 N. Cleveland Ave., Canton, Ohio; and Sarah Welliver, '32, 1732 Chicago, Ave., Evanston, Ill.

Illinois E announces the pledging of: Martha Crenshaw, New York City; Miriam Gault, Plainfield, Wis.; Virjean Kuhnert, Chicago; and Lamar Schmit, Chicago.

Just before Christmas, Illinois E took an active part in the charity work carried on by the Chicago Settlement School. Betty Smith and Helen May Jernegan assisted in giving parties for the children at the school. The chapter entertained thirty little girls from the Settlement at a Christmas party at which they were given presents, candy canes, etc. The chapter also assisted in making the stockings which the Y.W.C.A. fills to aid the Settlement. Dorothy Verges had charge of dressing dolls which is also a part of the Y.W.C.A. Christmas plan.

As yet the chapter has not decided upon any definite method of raising money for the Settlement School. Several plans are at present under discussion, the most feasible being that of having a tea dance between the matinee and evening performance of the W.A.A. show which is to be given early this spring.

Music and script are already in the hands of the W.A.A. Show board of which Ethel Finn is head and Avis Lundahl is assistant chairman.

Dorothy Verges was head of the subscription drive for the Syllabus, the college year-book. The chapter is very proud that it has two candidates for the Syllabus Beauty Queen, Dorothy Verges and Marion Fry.

On December 14, Northwestern gave its annual Junior Prom. Dorothy Verges was a member of the junior social committee. Plans for Senior Ball are now under discussion, Ethel Finn being a member of the senior social committee. Betty Brown is on the sophomore social committee which has sponsored class luncheons.

II Φ is represented in W.S.G.A. by Dorothy Verges who is social chairman of the organization.

The Shi-Ai basketball tournament has begun and the chapter has a very strong team captained by Mabel Anderson.

Illinois E is very proud of the active part which its pledges are taking in campus activities. Dorothy Delscamp and Miriam Gault had rôles in the freshman play, Maxine Boord is on the editorial staff of the Daily Northwestern, the college newspaper, and is furthermore a frequent contributor to the two magazines, the Purple Parrot and the M.S. Wilma Harvey was elected to Daughters of Neptune, honorary swimming society, and is also manager of freshman swimming.

The chapter is also proud of Winifred Hanan who appeared in the Pavley-Oukrainian Ballet in Chicago.

II Φ has been well represented in W.A.A. this year. Marion Hedley was selected for the sophomore hockey and volleyball teams. Willa Minchin was selected for the sophomore hockey team, Mabel Anderson, the sophomore soccer team, and Naomi McDowell, the senior soccer team.

Illinois Z announces the pledging of Frances Partridge of Springfield, Ill.

The new addition to Lincoln Hall, across from the II Φ house, has been completed and classes will soon meet there. This building contains the new Little Theater that will open on March 14 with A Beggar on Horseback given by the Theater Guild.

Dads' Day, November 16, was celebrated by a banquet for about thirty-five dads.

Illinois Z gave $25 to the community chest of Champaign-Urbana, and in this way took care of her charity work for the holiday season this year.

The chapter expects to give $100 to the Settlement School. This is done partly by an assessment and partly from the treasury.

The chapter won the cup for first prize in homecoming decorations.

II Φ has had several new honors on the campus. June Whitson is president of Mask and Bauble, dramatic organization, and is also production manager of the Fashion Revue. The annual Fashion Revue will be a musical comedy this year. Elizabeth Stoolman is chairman of the costumes.

Alberta Lewis was women's manager of the Illini Follies held on November 9, the week-end of the Army game, and among the ten beauties chosen for the show was Josephine Townsend.

Jean Webster and Jane Hall were elected to Terrapin, the swimming club, and Jane has represented II Φ in hockey this year. She was on the freshman class team and the all-star varsity team.

Margaret Mathis is sophomore chairman of Orange and Blue Feathers, the freshman organization in Women's League. Margaret Mathis and Glenita Hobbs were chosen as the Shi-Ai members for this year.

Illinois Z is well represented on the dance committees this year. Alberta Lewis is a member of the Dance Supervision committee; Dona Olin was on the Junior Prom committee; and Barbara Jane Qualkinbush is on the Freshman Frolic committee.

Alberta Lewis and Ruth Breese were elected to $\Sigma \Delta \Phi$, honorary public speaking fraternity.

GLENITA HOBBS

ILLINOIS ETA—JAMES MILLIKIN UNIVERSITY

Chartered, 1912

Pledge Day, September 28, 1929

The members of Illinois H are very proud of Lois Hood, a II Φ from this chapter and also a member of $\Sigma A I$, who is achieving fame as a singer of unusual ability. Lois is a junior in the Millikin Conservatory and a member of the Millikin Concert Company. In the recent Atwater Kent Radio Audition contest Lois, as the winner from the Decatur District, won first place in the state of Illinois contest, which included Chicago. She has a lovely soprano voice. After hearing her sing at the Millikin commencement exercises last June, Louis L. Emmerson, the governor of Illinois, invited her to sing at several functions at the capitol.

In November, a dance was given in the chapter house in honor of the new pledges. On December 18 the annual Christmas party was held in the house following a pot-luck dinner. Santa Claus made his appearance and distributed gifts; a great deal of merriment came from trying to probe that personage's identity.

Aubrey Royce took the leading rôle in the annual homecoming play, Number Seventeen. A silver loving cup was awarded to Illinois H for the best float in the homecoming parade. The float represented "Millikin's First Homecoming" and depicted Mr. and Mrs. Millikin walking up the garden path to their home just after their wedding.

This year $\Pi B \Phi$ has been very outstanding in the publication field on the campus. Alicesnow Binney is on the board of publications; Lenore Chodat was elected editor in chief of The Millidek, which is Millikin's annual; Ruth Robertson is the art editor of the annual; Phillis Seago is freshman editor of the yearbook; and Hermoise Hupp is the assistant editor of The Decaturian, a weekly paper.

The Millikin Christmas Vespers is one of the most beautiful of traditions, and for the second time Florence Scott was selected to represent the Madonna. Many members of the chapter took part in the service.

La Verne Marlowe and Lela Johnson are on the Y.W. Freshman Commission; Marianne Barnes, Martha Henderson, and Aubrey Royce were among the ten winners of the freshman popularity contest. Kathryn Reinhart is vice president of Le Cercle Française, and Lenore Chodat is second vice president. Alicesnow Binney is president of the Home Economics club. Ruth Robertson is president of $\Delta \Phi \Delta$, and vice president of $\Lambda \Phi \Delta$. LENORE CHODAT

Pledge Day, November 14, 1929

Installation is now some months away but Manitoba A feels no less the inspiration of that time. With great enthusiasm the group started rushing the last of October and it is now pleased to announce the pledging of: Catherine Ackland, Mary Birt, Rhoda Brown, Mabel Christie, Connie Clark, Barbara Harrison, Anne Livingston, Edith Menzies, Elaine Paget, Thelma Wright, Doris Macfarlane, and Molly McClure.

At Christmas, with the help of the alumnae, the active group sent hampers to various families throughout Manitoba and Winnipeg.

Manitoba A is planning to raise $50 for the Settlement School. To obtain this amount the girls intend to hold a tea dance on February 14, at a tea room near the university. It is to be done on a large scale, each girl being responsible for selling at least ten tickets.

The chapter is well represented in many activities this year. Elinor Black, Manitoba Alpha's only medical student is Lady Stick of Medicine, the highest possible office for any girl in her faculty. Ielane Hemphill is vice president of Co-eds, the highest possible office for a junior in arts. Ielane also was selected for the Arts' basketball team. Isabel Clark is vice president of the student christian movement. Two out of three of the representatives for Women's Self Government for third year are Pi Phi's, Florence Loucks and Marjorie Richmond.

In November, Evelyn Morris completed four successful nights at the Winnipeg Community Theater as leading lady in a play by Bernard Shaw, The Devil's Disciple. Evelyn will take a minor rôle in the U.M.S.U. play to be produced in March. This is the big annual play of the university, and several Pi Phi's are taking charge of the costuming of the play and also properties.

The pledges have been very active. Rhoda Brown has a part in the Gilbert and Sullivan opera, Patience. Thelma Wright is the first year representative on self government and is vice president of her year. Molly McClure is left wing on the girl's hockey team and also plays for the Art's basketball team.

On New Year's Day the chapter held a reception. It was at this reception that the chapter had the good fortune of becoming acquainted with Mrs. Labarthe, Kansas A, and Mrs. Klein, Minnesota A. During the Christmas holidays the pledges entertained at tea in honor of their mothers, and also the alumnae and active groups.

At the beginning of the college year there appeared a new group, $\Omega \Delta \Pi$ on the campus. GWEN CAMPBELL

Pledge Day, October 7, 1929

Iowa A opened her rushing season on September 20 with a spread at the $\Pi \Phi$ apartment, later, on October 1, the rushees were entertained at a waffle supper at the home of Helen Crane. On October 2 the final formal dinner party was held at the home of Mrs. W. H. Evans, a patroness of the fraternity. Monday and Tuesday, October 5 and 6, were silent with pledging on October 7. Iowa A announces the pledging of: Neva Stacy, Brighton; Katherine Eyer, Hillsboro; Marjorie Lee, Davenport; Marie Oehler, Moravia; Harriot Grant, Chicago, Ill.; Lydia Dyall, Mt. Pleasant; Marianna Carpenter, Mt. Pleasant; Hortense Sever, New York City, N.Y.; Helen Gray, Mt. Richmond; Waunita Wood, Mt. Pleasant; and Josephine Rogers, Mt. Pleasant.

Homecoming at Iowa Wesleyan was a gala day with special chapel services, decorated fraternity houses, a football game, and an alumni contest. This contest was to see which fraternity could get the most out-of-town alumni back for the day. Iowa A was victorious and was presented with a pennant bearing the II B Φ crest.

On November 12 and 13 the chapter was pleased to have as a visitor Miss Emma May Baldwin, Zeta Province President. A formal dinner at the Hotel Harlan and a luncheon at Hershey Hall were the outstanding social events during her visit. Upon her recommendation a steel file was bought for the chapter records.

On December 2, the pledges entertained in honor of the actives at a tea in the apartment.

The annual Christmas cooky-shine, given by the pledges for the actives and friends, was held at the home of Josephine Rogers, December 16. The pledges gave a program of "Scenes from an Active's Life" and an original song. Santa Claus distributed the presents among which was a five pound box of candy, a gift from the actives to the pledges.

On December 28 the Settlement School club entertained all actives, pledges and alumnae at a bridge party in the home of Mrs. W. E. Evans. Iowa A had been active on the campus in many ways. Barbara Graves White played a leading rôle in the homecoming play Cabbages, a part in the Christmas play Why the Chimes Rang, and has been chosen to portray the character of Portia in The Merchant of Venice. Louise Weibley and Margaret Coddington were on the committee for the Thanksgiving banquet. All of the pledges have been active in Y.W.C.A. Helen Gray, Marie Oehler, Josephine Rogers, and Katherine Eyer received points toward membership in W.A.A. for participating in volleyball. Neva Stacy was third in the woman's oratorical contest held on January 9. Lydia Dyall and Josephine Rogers are in the band. In journalism the chapter is represented by Grace Wells who conducts a column in the Wesleyan News, and Margaret Coddington, a feature writer.

IOWA BETA—SIMPSON COLLEGE

INITIATED, October 11, 1929: Gretchen Engleke, '31, Sidney, Iowa.

At Christmas time the chapter cooperated with the college in their program for charity. A representative from each social organization presented a gift for charity as a part of an outdoor program. Iowa B gave towels and wash cloths for hospital use as its part.

The chapter expects to send $18 to the Settlement School. This is going to be a gift from each girl. Sales of various kinds for this purpose have been tried in previous years but this other method has proven more satisfactory.

Iowa B has many members in various activities on the campus and holding various offices in literary societies, class, student council and honorary fraternities.

The chapter entertained the college faculty at a Saturday morning breakfast on November 23.

The executive council is planning a tea for the pledges at which the advisory board will be present. This is given in order that the alumnae may become better acquainted with the pledges. Plans are also being made for a waffle breakfast, to be given by the chapter for the pledges.

In November, Jane Brooks, Jerry Roberts, and Mayme Lyons appeared on the stage at the Paramount Theater in Des Moines. Their act went on for a week in the form of vocal trio numbers.

The Panhellenic Council has been trying out a new plan this year which has met with success. Every Wednesday evening is guest night for dinner in the various women's fraternities. A program has been arranged so that two girls from each house go to another for dinner. This has helped to promote a more democratic spirit among all girls.

Pledge Day, September 25, 1929

GRADUATES: Seville Boice, B.S., Washington, Iowa; Catherine Foster, B.S., Greeting; and Eleanor Pierce, B.S., Cruston, Ill.

INITIATED, October 5, 1929: Anne Larrabee, '31, Ft. Dodge; and Rachel Havner, '31, Des Moines.

Since the silence period which followed rushing three girls have been pledged: Margaret Sharp, Hammond, Ind; Arline Hinson, Memphis, Tenn; and Mary Allyn, Mt. Ayr, Iowa.

Homecoming this year was on October 26, the day of the Iowa State-Kansas University football game. It was unusually exciting because Iowa I was awarded the women's fraternity cup for the best decorations. After the game a tea was held for the entertainment of the II Φ alumnae.

The annual carnival dance was given at the chapter house on November 2, and was chaperoned by Mrs. Peasley, housemother, Mrs. Neil Graves, and Mr. and Mrs. John S. Dodds. Another informal dance December 13, was chaperoned by Mrs. Peasley, Mrs. E. C. Marshall, and Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Iverson.

During the past quarter Emma Mae Baldwin inspected Iowa I chapter. Her visit was an enjoyment and an inspiration to the whole chapter.

This chapter has taken a prominent part in activities on the campus this year. Shirley Wells received a medal for having the highest scholastic average of any sophomore in college. Besides this she is a member of Women's Guild, representative on Veishea committee and women's editor of the Bomb. The chapter is represented in $\Theta \Sigma \Phi$, national journalistic fraternity by Lucy Merrick who is also a member of W.A.A. Council and society editor of the Student. Alice Leefer, Margaret Wichman, and Lucy Merrick are on the Industrial Science Council. John Willard's The Cat and the Canary was given by the dramatic club, the cast of which included Alice Leefer. Margaret McDonald is president of the women's fraternity council and is secretary of the senior council of the Y.W.C.A. Fast becoming prominent in campus activities are debating and extemporaneous speaking. Bernice Peterson is now a member of the debate team and Mary Irwin placed second in the extemporaneous speaking contest.

IOWA ZETA—UNIVERSITY OF IOWA

Pledge Day, September 14, 1929

At the beginning of the year the literary societies of the campus held their rushing parties. Emily Baker, Mary Jane Cummins, Margaret Boettcher, Irma Goepfinger, Jayne Shover, and Kathryn Agnew pledged to Octave Thanet, and Charlotte Kittredge and Elizabeth French pledged to Erodolphian.

Esther Krausar and Irma Goepfinger were elected to membership in Seals, the university swimming organization for women. Grace Donovan played the lead in a studio play which was sponsored by the speech department of the university. Jane Pontius was selected as one of the fifteen Iowa beauties to be judged by Mack Sennett. Lois Thornburg is among the candidates for Honorary Cadet Colonel.

II Φ placed first in the intramural swimming meet for the third consecutive year, with Irma Goepfinger scoring the highest number of individual points in the entire contest.

The active and alumnae chapters gave a joint Christmas party just before the holidays. At this party the alumnae gave to the active chapter a beautiful lace tea cloth.

In November, Emma Mae Baldwin, Zeta Province President, visited Iowa Z. She made many helpful suggestions.

SOUTH DAKOTA ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF SOUTH DAKOTA

Pledge Day, September 21, 1929

South Dakota A was visited by the Zeta Province President, Miss Emma Mae Baldwin on November 23, 24, and 25. A luncheon was given in her honor and many of the alumnae from Sioux City were present. A Panhellenic breakfast was given in her honor on November 24, in the chapter house. Her visit was a very helpful and enjoyable one.

This year the chapter ordered articles from the Settlement School to sell at the annual Christmas bazaar. Candy and pastries were also sold. It was very successful.

The Vermilion alumnae together with the active chapter published the news letter Link in the Chain. Many interesting items are in the fall issue.

The chapter has been well represented in campus activities. Evelyn Kyes was chosen Miss Dakota, homecoming queen for Dakota Day. South Dakota A also felt proud that its float placed second for the most beautiful float. The chapter is also very happy to announce that first place was won by its stunt Novellette in the annual stunt night of Y.W.C.A. for the fifth consecutive year. Σ chapter of $\Phi \Sigma I$, honorary romance language fraternity, was installed on November 5 with a membership of eight student members, four being Pi Phi's: Evelyn Schultz, Kathryn Peterson, Genevieve Howe, and Gertrude Danielson; Gertrude was elected secretary. Charlotte Cressey was elected to Mortar Board this fall; she was also initiated into $\Phi \Sigma$, honorary science fraternity. Mary Adams was chosen as class editor on the Coyote staff. Marian Wilcox and Isabel Hegness have important rôles in the annual Mask and Wig play Under Cover.

Kathryn Peterson was awarded the scholarship ring for the past year, and Evelyn Schulz was awarded the cup for the highest pledge average.

South Dakota A held numerous social functions; the parents were entertained at a banquet on Dads' Day November 16. The annual fall informal was held in the chapter house on December 6. The house decorations were in keeping with the season. The patronesses and alumnae were entertained at a Christmas party given by the pledges. The chapter was presented with some beautiful linen from the patronesses and the alumnae. On December 13 the chapter entertained the first grade of Austin Public School at a Christmas Party. Santa Claus gave them presents and bags of candy and nuts. Many of these little folks would not have any Christmas were it not for friends who give them toys and gifts. The chapter has given a party for these little boys and girls for several years. On the eve of the vacation the pledges entertained the active chapter at a formal Christmas banquet. Gifts were exchanged among the members.

MISSOURI ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF MISSOURI

Pledge Day, September 7, 1929

INITIATED, October 21, 1929: Edith Dorsey, '32, Texarkana, Ark.; Mary Frances Sawyer, '30, Carruthersville, Mo.; and Valerie Smith, '32, Detroit.

The chief interest of Missouri A now centers on her new chapter house which is being built just across the street. Dirt was turned early in October, and the house is now well under way. It will accommodate forty girls and the housemother.

The new field house has been completed and was officially opened with the Kansas State game on January 13.

At the close of the football season Missouri A entertained the team and coaches at dinner. A few stunts were given, and a tribute read by Frances Brewer. On December 14, the chapter had their Christmas tea dance at the chapter house. On December 16, they held their traditional formal Christmas dinner which was followed by a tree and gifts.

The chapter contributed to the Y.W.C.A. charity fund, and also to the Burrall Bible Class Christmas Fund. As a group it sold tickets for the Charity Ball sponsored by the Student Government Association, and Frances Taylor and Virginia Estes were members of the Charity Ball committee.

Margaret Louise Ott was elected to Mortar Board, and made treasurer of the local chapter of the National Council of Primary Education.

Mary Frances Sawyer was elected to M Φ E; Margaret Salmon and Virginia Estes to Z Ξ; and Virginia McAlester and Virginia Estes to Ξ E Ξ.

Ruth Fite was selected to take a leading part in the Journalism Show presented on December 9. Ruth Vincent, Mary Frances Schiffin, and Frances Maughs were in the chorus.

Mary Lane Williams and Frances Taylor were elected to Freshman Commission, and the latter was elected secretary of the organization.

The local alumnae club had a Rummage Sale on December 7 to raise its contribution to the Settlement School. The girls worked in shifts to do the selling. The chapter is planning a benefit show later to raise the amount which they plan to send.

MISSOURI GAMMA—DRURY COLLEGE

Missouri Γ had a very successful rush season and announces the following pledges: Ylene Carter, Stella; Myra Jane Fitzpatrick, Thayer; Ellen Reynaud, Monett; Mary Elizabeth Shollenberger, Ozark; Olivia Simpson, Bridgeport, Texas; Gladys Brown, Breckenridge, Texas; Mary Katherine Simmons, Sarcoxie; Florence Wear; Virginia Wolfe; Virginia Jones; Virginia Hogg; Martha Adams; Henrietta Meyer; Helen Hobbs; Jean Handley; all of Springfield. On January 6, Missouri Γ pledged Helen Moorman of Morrisville. Among the pledges who hold offices on the campus are: Jean Handley, president of the freshman class and Ylene Carter, secretary of the freshman class. Olivia Simpson has gained much praise for her work in the art department. Although she has only been here since September, she has been made a student assistant in that department. Mary Elizabeth Shollenberger and Martha Adams are on the staff of the college paper.

A music fraternity for women has been organized on the campus with nine charter members, two of whom are Pi Phi: Mary Elizabeth Crouch and Violet Veerkamp.

During November there were several enjoyable social events. An informal dance and slumber party were given the active chapter by the pledges. The alumnae club entertained the active chapter and pledges with a tea at which was displayed the beautiful handwork done at the Settlement School. The Interfraternity Council, which is a newly organized society on the campus, gave a formal all-college dance which was quite a success.

The lecture course at Drury this year promises to be an unusual one. One lecture of special interest was given by James A. Millikan, noted physicist. Dr. Will Durant also lectured in Springfield this fall.

The opera, The Pirates of Penzance, to be presented by the glee clubs this year includes six Pi Phi in its cast.

Missouri Γ has entered with much interest into the athletic events of the year. After a very exciting intramural volleyball tournament, Missouri Γ was declared winner. The basketball tournament is being antici-

The chapter is planning to sponsor a puppet show, the proceeds of which will go to the Settlement School.

On December 4 and 5 the chapter enjoyed a visit from Emma Mae Baldwin, Zeta Province President.

ETA PROVINCE

NEBRASKA BETA—UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA

Chartered, 1895

INITIATED, November 23, 1929: Gertrude Farrens, '32, Lincoln; Thelma Hagenburger, '32, Sterling, Colo.; and Betty Aldrich, '32, Nebraska City.

Nebraska B was happy to have as its guest this last quarter Miss Virginia Hutson, Eta Province President. Her visit was helpful to the chapter at large and to each individual girl. A tea was given in her honor the afternoon before her departure.

One of the outstanding events of the year on the campus is the annual Military Ball, which opens the formal season. At this time the honorary colonel, chosen by popular vote of university men, is presented. It is the highest social honor on the campus. This year, Maxine Mathers, former Western Queen and Kosmet Club Queen, was presented as the 1929 honorary colonel of Nebraska.

Gertrude Farrens was recently elected to ΣA , the honorary art society.

Pi Phi is well represented in other activities, too. In the intersorority Nebraska ball tournament two teams were entered, one composed of upperclassmen and one of freshmen. The latter won their first game while the former lost.

The active chapter gave their annual dinner dance before the holiday vacation. Small Christmas trees and quaint yeomen formed the motif for the decorations.

On the Wednesday afternoon preceding vacation the active chapter entertained some poor children. They were all given mittens, toys, and a treat. That same evening the chapter had its tree.

ELEANOR FOLEY

KANSAS ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF KANSAS

Chartered, 1873

Pledge Day, September 17, 1929

By a special assessment of $2.00 from each member of the fraternity, Kansas A plans to raise almost one hundred dollars for the Settlement School this year.

A number of major honors in activities have come to both actives and pledges of the chapter. Myra Little was elected director of the annual W.S.G.A. musical comedy, secretary of the Union Building Governing committee, and appointed to the Sophomore Hop executive committee. Doris O'Donnell is a new member of the dramatic club. Nancy Wilcox, Betty Timmons, and Jane Price were models in the W.S.G.A. fashion show. Lela Hackney was accepted into the Pen and Scroll club, elected to the Y.W. cabinet, and appointed to the Sophomore Hop decoration committee. Ruth Welty is on the Freshman Frolic committee. Virginia Thayer pledged $\Gamma \Sigma$. Jo Frances Powell was elected to El Ateneo. Janet McCarthy is on the Quack club team. Betty Wilkinson is new secretary of the Rifle club. W.A.A. initiated Myra Little and Lela Hackney, who are also on the sophomore basketball squad. Nan Wright and Ruth Welty are in charge of sections in the Jayhawker. Eleanor Kenyon and Jo Frances Powell belong to the French club.

The annual freshman party of December 13, most successfully closed the formal season. It was given at Ecke's Hall which had been transformed into a white fairyland—a really beautiful example of original decoration carried out entirely by the pledges.

On November 5, the football squad and the coaches were invited to the chapter house for a banquet at which one hundred were seated.

Preparations for midsemester rushing which begins on February 6, have been started. Margaret Nichols is the new rush captain.

$\Pi \Phi$ went to the semifinals in the volleyball tournament. Practice will begin soon for the basketball tournament.

The chapter will be glad to have Natalie Coultas and Virginia Thayer, who left college during the semester on account of illness and injury, enrolled again.

MARGARET SEYBOLD

KANSAS BETA—KANSAS STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE

Chartered, 1915

Pledge Day, September 14, 1929

INITIATED, November 9, 1929: Ruth Allen, '31, Parsons, Kan.; Edith Bockenstette, '32, Sabetha, Kan.; Freda Leila Greer, '31, Marion, Kan.; and Agnes McClaren, '31, Galena, Kan.

Miss Virginia Hutson, Eta Province President, visited Kansas B on December 15-17. A tea was given for her on Sunday, December 15. Her visit was very helpful and inspiring.

The scholarship rules have been changed somewhat this year. Anyone having from one to five hours of D, shall spend one hour a day in the library. Actives who have failures are required to attend study hall.

The chapter is well represented in campus activities this year. Laura Hart, Marguerite Chaffin, Helen Randall, Gertrude Weuster, and Frances Simpson are members of the glee club. Four Pi Phi took part in the presentation of Bach's Christmas Oratorio which was a part of the Christmas program for the college. For the second consecutive year Kansas B can boast of an Ag Queen. Edith Bockenstette was chosen at the annual Ag Barnwarming, October 11. She was also on the Poultry Judging Team which took first place in the Chicago meet.

In the Manhattan Diamond Jubilee pageant which was presented in October, twelve Pi Phi took part. Jane Sparr and Mildred Kingsbury are new member of Purple Peppers, the girls' pep organization. Ruth Helstrom, who is society editor of the Collegian, was pledged to $\Theta \Sigma \Phi$, honorary journalism fraternity. Gertrude Cowdery was elected to Freshman Commission of Y.W.C.A. Helen Manglesdorf is a member of the varsity debate team and of Sophomore Commission of Y.W.C.A. Marjorie Stevenson, Ruth Strickland, and Gertrude Cowdery were on the freshman hockey team. Mildred Kingsbury was on the sophomore hockey and volleyball teams. Kansas B is entered in intramural sports.

The tenth annual football banquet was given on December 19. The dining room was cleverly decorated with confetti, serpentine, and balloons. The pledges entertained the actives with a formal party on November 22.

The recently completed A Δ II house experienced a fire that resulted in an estimated loss of $10,000.

As in the usual custom, the chapter caroled on December 15 for all of the fraternities, the dean of women, and President Farrell. Following the caroling the chapter was entertained with a spread by the town pledges.

On November 16 the chapter gave a benefit varsity at the Wareham hotel in order to raise money for the Settlement School fund. A cash prize earned by the sale of Manhattan Theater tickets and money received from the sale of crested stationery was also placed in this fund.

On December 19 the chapter had its Christmas dinner with the customary Christmas tree; followed by the freshman stunt. The toys received on the tree were afterwards given to Mexican children of the city.

MILDRED KINGSBURY

WYOMING ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF WYOMING

Chartered, 1910
Pledge Day, January 10, 1930

INITIATED, January 18, 1930: Mary Mathis, '32, Sterling, Colo.; Hermione Bradstreet, '32, Lander, Wyo.; Lala Mau, '32, Cokeville, Wyo.; Lucille Patterson, '32, Sheridan, Wyo.; and Peggy Johnson, '32, Lead, S.D.

The second term at the university brought with it a short period of rushing. Three girls were pledged: Elizabeth Orr, Laramie; Evelyn Nimmo, Cheyenne; and Lomila McClagnahan, Sidney, Neb.

Wyoming A sent its annual Christmas box to the Settlement School. Fixing up this box of toys, books, clothes, candy, etc., is one of the most enjoyable things that the girls do at Christmas time. In addition to the box, the chapter sent a check for $25 to the Settlement School. The money was taken directly from the chapter treasury because all efforts toward money raising this year are being directed to the building of a new house as soon as possible. Everyone was urged to use the magazine agency not only in ordering magazines for herself but for her family and friends, in order that the profits might be given to the Settlement School.

The annual Christmas party, given on the Saturday before final examinations started, was an unusually successful chapter affair. The pledges distributed, at the close of the dinner, very cleverly written newspapers entitled The Pledge Blunder. A real Santa Claus distributed gifts to everyone, causing much excitement and merriment.

The chapter had a most enjoyable visit from Miss Virginia Hutson, Eta Province President. The time seemed very short, but everyone gained much in knowledge and inspiration from Miss Hutson's messages and ideas. A tea was given in her honor in order that she might meet the deans of women, Panhellenic representatives, and patronesses of the fraternity. The alumnae club gave a delightful cooky-shine for Miss Hutson.

One of the biggest university projects under way this year is the raising of a \$125,000 Student Welfare Foundation fund. Individual faculty members and students have pledged to contribute a certain amount each year to the realization of this fund, but $\Pi \Phi$ is the first organization to pledge a sum to this cause. The chapter voted to contribute \$15 a year for five years to this Endowment Fund.

Wyoming A felt much honored and elated to receive the national $\Pi \Phi$ stunt cup for 1929. The cup is now placed on the mantel over the fireplace in the parlor where it elicits much admiration.

A number of Pi Phi have received honors on the campus during the fall term. Sue Horton was elected secretary of the A.W.S. board; Jean Nimmo was voted the most popular girl on the Cowboy campus; Polly Agnew was selected as maid of honor to the Engineers' Queen; and Alice Ellen Ford was elected president of the Psychology club which has since become a chapter of the national psychological fraternity, Σ II. Four Pi Phis have positions on the 1930 Wyo staff. Out of sixteen Mask and Sandal pledges announced this year, Π Φ claims nine members: Helen Hylton, Peggy Johnson, Margaret Thomas, Marion Isberg, Glyda Mae Burbank, Eleanor Atwell, Lucille Schopf, Helen Corbin, and Hellenne Slacik. The lead of the Θ A Φ play, Déclasse, went to Jean Warner, one of the most outstanding dramatic stars on the campus. Eight other Pi Phis played minor rôles or assisted in some way the production of this play.

ALICE ELLEN FORD

COLORADO ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF COLORADO

Chartered, 1884

Pledge Day, September 29, 1929

INITIATED, February 1, 1930: Margaret Anderson, '33, Denver; Adeline Roehrig, '33, Denver; Constance Coulson, '33, Boulder; Jeanette Calkins, '33, Boulder; Sally Peebles, '33, Boulder; Helen Wolcott, '33, Boulder; Louise Blake, '31, Wichita; Dora Sargent, '32, Antonito; Virginia Tasher, '33, Denver; and Harriet Tower, '33, Denver.

Since the beginning of the college year Willa Wolcott, has been pledged and initiated into Φ B K. Jean Gillespie was pledged at the annual Associated Women Students banquet by Σ E Σ , honorary scholastic fraternity for sophomore women. The chapter cup for the freshman having the highest average was awarded to Jean also.

Last spring a new organization was formed on the campus, known as the Colorado Stagers. This group manages all the stage productions of the university which are given off the campus. It makes membership an honor and as difficult to attain as the Masque. Two Pi Phis have been asked to join, Pauline Watson and Alice Faller. Alice is also secretary of Players club.

In the dramatic productions this year Harriet Hopkins and Pauline Watson have had rôles.

The night before Thanksgiving vacation the pledges presented their annual vaudeville in which several clever songs were introduced. Some of them the chapter has adopted and is thinking of submitting for national consideration.

In the annual popularity contest staged each year by the Coloradoan, the yearbook, Catherine Sullivan captured second place. She lost to an A X Ω by a slight margin of fifty votes.

Π Φ is represented in W.A.A. by Virginia Ellett and Marjorie Benight who are head of basketball and dancing, respectively.

When the University of Colorado travelled to Salt Lake City to play the University of Utah team, ten Pi Phis went along to cheer the Silver and Gold. The results for Colorado University were disastrous but the new chapter made the Boulder girls so welcome that they forgot the ignominy of defeat.

The Denver mothers' club is adding to the furniture of the living room making it much more attractive. At the Christmas party the Boulder alumnae club presented the chapter with a new set of china and the freshmen gave silver candelabras in order to use candlelight at the dinners.

Just before final week Miss Virginia Hutson, Eta Province President, visited the chapter and renewed friendships made during her first visit in September when she helped with rush week. Her vivacity and personality stimulated the girls.

The building urge is still strong at Colorado U. The Betas now are planning to erect a new house this summer. The Alpha Omicron Pis and the Phi Kappa Taus started the new year by moving into their new houses.

In the social line the various publications on the campus decided to hold a masque ball patterned on the Beaux Art Ball in Paris. Darnette Morrow, an assistant editor of The Dodo, was on the committee planning the dance.

During the third week of the new quarter the Junior Prom was held. It was preceded by dinners at the fraternity houses with the women's fraternities entertaining at breakfast the following morning. A picture show and another dance finished the festivities. Mary Katherine Crane was on the committee arranging the event.

Alaine Meyer is president of Θ Σ Φ , journalistic fraternity.

Colorado A has enjoyed having Eva Lenz of Wisconsin B and Viola Buckley of Iowa Γ living in the house. They have brought many new ideas and have helped in many ways.

After the unofficial rush week at the beginning of a new quarter, the chapter pledged Helen Richey of Denver.

MAXINE COOLEY

COLORADO BETA—UNIVERSITY OF DENVER

Pledge Day, September 16, 1929

The annual alumnae Christmas tea was held in the bungalow on Sunday afternoon, December 22. A rather unusual feature of the annual actives' Christmas party, Friday evening, December 27, was the pledging of Ruth Fisher, Denver, which preceded the party. After the pledging, the chapter entertained her at a cooky-shine, followed by the exchange of gifts and the opening of presents for the bungalow.

Plans for the organization of a Junior Panhellenic group for the pledges of the women's fraternities has been brought up for discussion at the University of Denver. All of the women's fraternities, it was felt, would profit by this experience which their pledges would have in interfraternity relationships.

The question of deferred pledging has been of current interest on this campus. General disapproval met the proposal of postponing pledging until the sophomore year, but the fraternities stand divided on the subject of second semester pledging.

An unique project in the field of international relations for the Rocky Mountain states has been planned by students of this entire region in the form of a model session of the League of Nations. This is the first significant effort to introduce the League of Nations to students and citizens of the Rocky Mountain region. Exact procedure approved by the League will be followed in the sessions. Real problems of international importance will be discussed. As far as can be found practical, students native to the countries which they represent in the model assembly will comprise the delegations. All sessions of this assembly will be free to the public, with balconies and galleries thrown open to the spectators. An entire week-end probably will be necessary for this model assembly, with two evening sessions and four day sessions. Close contact with League officials in Geneva will be kept by sponsors of the local project in the effort to make the Denver assembly truly representative of the prevailing spirit of the nations of the world.

Miss Virginia Hutson, Eta Province President, visited Colorado B on December 11, 12, and 13. On December 11, a tea was given in her honor for representatives of the women's fraternities and the administrative board of the university. A cooky-shine followed the tea. On December 13, the chapter entertained Miss Hutson at an informal dinner party preceding her departure.

THETA PROVINCE

OKLAHOMA

Chartered, 1910

Pledge Day, September 9, 1929

INITIATED, November 5, 1929: Mildred Foushee, '33, Stroud; Leola Nichols, '33, San Angelo, Tex.; Sarah Wheeler, '33, Stamford, Tex.; Harriet Womack, '33, Duncan; and Kathryn Johnston, '31, Shawnee.

Women students of the Oklahoma University campus, led by $\Pi \Phi$, refused to support a subscription campaign by which preferred sections of the college annual were given to those organizations selling a required number of yearbooks. Their reasons was that honorary positions are fast being determined from a financial standpoint: that almost any honor may be won by the organization which sells the most tickets, gets the most subscriptions, or excels in any of the number of financial schemes sponsored by the men of the university.

Pledges of $\Pi \Phi$ entertained with a Christmas party honoring the hostess and members. During the day the members performed all pledge duties and were required to refrain from using any form of cosmetic. After a lovely formal dinner, Christmas tree and stunts by the would-be pledges, the fraternity was presented with the annual pledge gift, which this year was a check of \$100.00, to be used on furnishings for Oklahoma Alpha's proposed new home.

Another preholiday affair was the house party given for a group of twelve rushees. Oklahoma A has found that entertaining rushees in smaller groups is a successful method of rushing. In this way rushees meet and know each other, making a more friendly atmosphere during the large annual spring house party and subsequent fall rush.

Jane Bowman was selected as chairman of a committee from the department of education to work out an important psychological project.

Evelyn Riley, Margaret Monroney, Katherine Grant, and Nell Ezell, pledges, were selected for membership in Studio Players, honorary dramatics.

During this season of snow, unusual in Oklahoma, the Pi Phis have been making classes in a sleigh drawn by horses.

INITIATED, October 29, 1929: Flora Rouse, '32, Pleasant Valley, Okla.; Margaret Belcher, '32, Clinton, Okla.; Mary Boulton, '31, Sapulpa, Okla.; and Lurena Ellis, '31, Kaw City, Okla.

The pledges and members are well represented in campus activities. Players club held tryouts and Paula Powell, Edith Cheek, Marjorie Giacomini, Virginia Stipe, and Mary Elizabeth Pettigrew were chosen as some of its pledges. Marjorie Giacomini had the lead in White Collars and Mary Elizabeth Pettigrew had a minor part. Edith Cheek had the lead in the biblical production of The Good Samaritan. Clariece Orton had the lead in the glee club operetta which is sponsored by the men's and women's glee clubs. Helen Nelson also had a minor part. Paula Powell had the lead in a one-act play put on as an act for the annual Varsity Review.

The dean of women held an all-college night for women at the men's gymnasium. Dancing and stunts furnished the entertainment for the evening. Music was furnished by the college orchestra. Each organization was requested to give a stunt and $\Pi \Phi$ won the prize for the best one. The chapter was asked to put it on again as an act on the Varsity Review. It was written and directed by Lurena Ellis and was a "take-off" on Italian grand opera.

Elizabeth McGarr and Margaret Kygar hold positions on the Redskin staff and the O'Collegian staff, respectively. Frances Jenkins has been chosen for membership in $\Pi \kappa \Delta$, a national honorary English fraternity. Lahoma Vincint, is president of several organizations. Among them is the Junior Chamber of Commerce which is composed of commerce students of A. & M. She was recently given honorable mention at a state commerce meeting.

The chapter gave the annual Christmas party for the alumnae, their husbands and children, in the chapter house. Santa was there, to the delight of the children and left many useful and amusing gifts.

The new $\kappa \Delta$ chapter house is about completed and the members expect to move in soon. The Kappa Alpha's house has been finished some time and they have given several house dances.

ARKANSAS ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF ARKANSAS

Pledge Day, September 21, 1929

INITIATED, November 6, 1929: Margaret Boreing, '32, Magnolia; Nell Braselton, '32, Haynesville, La.; Katherine Jackson, '30, Arkadelphia; Christine Nelson, '32, 538 Leverett, Fayetteville; and Catherine Schaaaf, '31, 607 Main, El Dorado.

Arkansas A announces the pledging of Clara Paisley, Fayetteville, and Ynez Whilton, Fresno, Calif.

The football season at the University of Arkansas was a creditable one. The team placed third in the Southwest Conference and the naming of Wear Schoonover as left end on the first all-American football team for 1929 by both Collier's and the New York Sun brought to Arkansas its greatest national athletic honors of all time. The Razorback end also won all-American basketball honors late last winter and was this year a candidate for a Rhodes scholarship.

The chapter entertained nine alumnae at the $\Pi \Phi$ house during homecoming, which came in November. Nell Wallace Kelly and

Panhellenic held an open meeting in December, at which time Miss Elizabeth Roff, national marshal of $\Delta \Delta \Delta$, talked on "Building a Selfhood."

The national order of $\Sigma \Omega$ will present the university with an open air theater, built of concrete to accommodate 2,750 people, in commemoration of the founding of the fraternity here in 1895. The theater will be completed by April 5 and will be dedicated early in June during the annual national convention at Hot Springs.

Arkansas A won first prizes, a floor lamp, and a landscape picture, offered to the fraternity enlisting the largest number in the Red Cross membership drive.

Roberta and Helen Fulbright entertained the entire chapter at a tea dance in their home on November 28. Members from other fraternities were also invited and about 200 guests were present.

On December 7 the $\Pi \Phi$ annual fall dance was given in the women's gymnasium, which was decorated for the occasion with ferns and a large gilded arrow hung over the entrance. Special features were a tap dance by Julia Streett, a pledge, and a solo, "The Sweetheart of Pi Beta Phi."

The Christmas party was held at the house on December 19. Mrs. White, the house chaperon, presented the house with a card table and the pledges gave the chapter a beautiful new radio. Names had been drawn and each girl received some gift peculiarly characteristic of her.

$\Pi \Phi$ received a signal honor on the campus by the selection of popular vote of one of the pledges, Frances Pope of Camden, as Freshman Queen.

The chapter is well represented in all campus activities. Clarrere Tribble and Catherine Bridenthal were elected to the Math club; Mary Jane Tribble was chosen as a member of Rootin' Rubes, pep organization; Roberta Benson was elected to German club and Isobel Nelson to Blackfriars, dramatic society; Martha Hathcock had a leading part in The Heir at Law, a play given by the Blackfriars. Mildred Sipe was elected as secretary of Panhellenic; Josephine Barrett as secretary of Skull and Torch, honorary scholastic organization, and secretary and treasurer of the Octagon, group petitioning Mortar Board, and Christine Nelson as secretary of Blackfriars.

INITIATED, October 23, 1929: Claire Caswell, '33, 1502 West Ave., Austin; Betty Colt, '31, El Paso; Elizabeth Dinwiddie, '32, El Paso; Elizabeth McKennon, '30, Waco; Garnette Northcott, '31, Huntington, W.Va.; Margaret Parker, '33, Bryan; Virginia Suggs, '31, Dennison; Vivian Walker, '30, Corsicana; and Dorothy Wilson, '32, Beeville.

At Christmas time the chapter sent clothing to the orphans' home, but the largest part of the Christmas donations was done individually.

One hundred and twenty-five dollars was sent to the Settlement School from this chapter last year. The money was earned by a benefit bridge. The chapter intends to sponsor another benefit bridge during the second semester and expects to earn as much money for the Settlement School.

Janel Sheppard, a transfer from Washington University is a member of the varsity quartet. Daphna Grisham, Claire Caswell, and Rachael Williams were elected to the Curtain club. There have been no other elections to honorary organizations this fall.

Pledge Day, September 27, 1929

INITIATED, December 3, 1929: Elizabeth Russ, '32, Albany; Dorothy Williams, '32, Dallas; Nancy Hines, '32, Dallas; Virginia Lawler, '32, Dallas; Mary Helen Kean, '32, Dallas; and Mayola Crum, '32, Dallas. Following initiation the chapter entertained with a luncheon at the Dallas Woman's Club in honor of the new initiates.

Texas B entertained the mothers and fathers of the chapter with a tea at the Dallas Woman's club on December 15, between the hours of three and five. At four-thirty a short program was presented by Mary McLarry, Virginia Meador, Mary Brown, and Bernice Brown. Martha Leake was in charge of the arrangements for the tea.

Catherine Miers left in February for New York City where she will make her home.

The initiates and pledges have a get-together at least once a month. This is necessary because since the chapter has no house, it is the only method by which the pledges and the initiates can be together at once. The last get-together was a chili supper held at the home of Delta Grace Hines. After supper each pledge had to entertain the initiates.

SARAH CRESSWELL

LOUISIANA ALPHA—SOPHIE NEWCOMB COLLEGE

Chartered, 1891

Pledge Day, September 28, 1929

INITIATED, October 10, 1929: Alba Richardson, '31, 1312 Constantinople St., New Orleans; Ann Spivy, '32, Bonham, Tex.; Florence Ferguson, '32, Monroe; Frances Cleveland, '32, 1929 Palmer Ave., New Orleans; Winifred Eskrigge, '32, 1333 Webster St., New Orleans; Edith Harvey, '32, 1519 Arabella St., New Orleans; and Dorothy Walker, '32, 7821 Freret St., New Orleans.

Louisiana A does its social service work this year at Saint Anna's Home. In this home are old ladies, as well as widowed mothers and their families. Each Friday afternoon the $\Pi \Phi$ actives and pledges go there and entertain the inmates with songs, recitations, dancing, and impromptu plays. It is the only real diversion these people get, so it is naturally a source of actual enjoyment to them. A basket was sent to them at Thanksgiving, and a Christmas tree was given to them at Christmas, with presents, entertainment, and refreshments.

Besides the work at Saint Anna's, Louisiana A filled requests for presents from forty orphan children. These children write letters to Santa Claus each year, and ask for gifts, and the girls at Newcomb take these letters and provide what is asked for. The chapter also sent a box of toys for Christmas to the Settlement School.

The actives and pledges had the usual Christmas tree party, at the home of Frances Cleveland. There was at the Christmas tree a humorous gift, with a verse attached, for everyone, the donor's name not known to the girl who received the present. Each girl in turn opened her present and read her verse aloud.

Louisiana A intends to have a rummage sale for the benefit of the Settlement School. How much it will bring in is not known, but it is hoped that at least over $50 will be cleared.

As a result of elections, Elizabeth Lewis has been made editor of the Arcade, the publication of Newcomb College. Jean Hayward is the Newcomb editor of the Jambalaya, the joint yearbook of Tulane and Newcomb. Adele Jahncke is president of the art department. Betty Werlein is president of the junior class, and Flora Hardie, Nellie Mae Bartlett, Jane Hayward, Adele Jahncke, Nancy Allen, and Margaret Henriques have all held positions on the various class teams.

The Tulane and Newcomb glee clubs recently gave a very good production of the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta Pinafore, in Dixon Hall, the new building on the Newcomb campus. It was a big success and there were five Pi Phis in the cast.

IOTA PROVINCE

MONTANA ALPHA—MONTANA STATE COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE AND MECHANIC ARTS

Chartered, 1921

Pledge Day, September 28, 1929

INITIATED, October 12, 1929: LaVerne Brown, '32, Lewistown; Lora Brown, '32, Bozeman; Eunice Campbell, '32, Wyola; Katherine Rivers, '32, Miles City; and Margaret Souders, '32, Red Lodge.

The end of the first quarter found $\Pi B \Phi$, active and pledges, at the head of the women's fraternities on the campus in scholarship. Sarah Barringer earned the scholarship ring by receiving the highest grades of the $\Pi \Phi$ pledges fall quarter.

Montana A has adopted a new plan for chapter meetings, which is proving very satisfactory. Instead of having only separate pledge and active meetings, the entire chapter assembles for a fifteen minute meeting at which matters of general concern are attended to, the regular meetings of the two groups following immediately.

Lora Brown, chairman of the annual $\Pi \Phi$ rummage sale this year, is directing preparations for its occurrence in the spring. The proceeds of this sale, about \$50, will be the chapter's contribution to the Settlement School.

Martha Flynn attended the sectional Mortar Board Convention at Seattle in November. Margaret Souders was selected college song leader by the A.W.S. Council. Esther Bowman was appointed by the council as one of the two editors of next year's A.W.S. yearbook. Esther also directed the home economics food sale in December. Helen Oliver was elected to the W.A.A. Council as swimming manager.

A Doll's House by Ibsen was presented by the Tormentors, dramatic society, in November. Alice Vandenhook played the lead, with Helen Oliver and Muriel Eaton in the supporting cast.

Helen and Margaret Souders, Helen Oliver, and Lora Brown were initiated into Spurs, honorary sophomore women's service organization, in December.

Two pledge dances were given on October 18 and November 8 respectively, the former by the pledges of the women's fraternities, the latter with the pledges of the men's fraternities as hosts.

Panhellenic entertained at the $\Pi \Phi$ house with a supper party for all the housemothers and the members of the Panhellenic Council on November 17. A Panhellenic meeting for all fraternity women was held in December. The assembly was addressed by President Alfred Atkinson, $\Phi \Gamma \Delta$, and one song of each group was sung by everyone.

On December 13, Montana A entertained at a Christmas tea. Attractive invitations made by the girls were sent to the patronesses, the college professors, and all the men's and women's fraternities. The chapter house was elaborately decorated inside and out in accordance with the Christmas season. On December 15, the annual Christmas party for the chapter, alumnae, and patronesses was held at the chapter house. At this time the patronesses presented a large quantity of beautiful crystal ware, and the mothers and alumnae gave table

Many of the fraternity houses were artistically decorated with beautiful lighted Christmas trees and other ornamental displays during the holiday season. Montana A suspended above the front steps of the chapter house its large golden arrow with blue and red lights. The arrow is now supplanted by a striking electric sign with the Greek letters $\Pi B \Phi$, which was made for the chapter by the house boy as a Christmas gift.

On January 17, Mortar Board sponsored its third annual Ladies' Choice dance, which has become one of the outstanding social functions of the college year.

Dean J. M. Hamilton, former president of Montana State College, celebrated his twenty-fifth year as a professor at this institution in October. On October 18, the students and many alumni of M.S.C. honored him at a special assembly. He is one of Montana's pioneer educators; he was a member of its first State Board of Education and he picked the sites for M.S.C. and the other units of the Greater University of Montana. The Quarter of a Century club for professors who have been at M.S.C. that length of time was formed, with Dean Hamilton as president, at the anniversary banquet tendered him by Montana's leading educators.

Professor W. D. Tallman, who has been head of the mathematics department at Montana State College for twenty-nine years, has recently completed a textbook on Mathematical Statistics for engineering students. Professor Tallman studied at the University of Paris during his last Sabbatical leave.

Montana A is glad to have Lenore Sullivan, '27, in Bozeman again. After studying at Ames, Iowa, for two years, she has returned to M.S.C. to be house director at the girls' dormitory. ELIZABETH SEITZ

IDAHO ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO

Pledge Day, September 28, 1929

During the two weeks preceding the holidays Idaho A had Christmas seals on sale in the house. The chapter responded to the sale 100 per cent.

Idaho A plans to send $35 to the Settlement School. The money has always been raised by donations from the girls. It was decided in October to raise money for the Endowment Fund by operating a candy store in the house for the use of the girls. A fresh supply of bars are on sale every day. They can be obtained at any time as the honor system is being employed. The profits should average $10 a month.

Idaho A is proud to announce that the house president, Frances Gallet has been initiated into Idaho chapter of $\Phi B K$. Another senior, Katherine Mattes has been chosen a member of $\Theta \Sigma$, honorary journalism fraternity. This organization is limited to a membership of seven girls especially outstanding in journalism. Of the seven, three are members of $\Pi \beta \Phi$.

To introduce the homemaker, Mrs. Smith, to the campus Idaho A entertained at a formal reception on November 1. While Dr. Monroe, world known author and educator from Columbia University was on the campus lecturing Idaho A entertained him at luncheon on December 18.

On December 19, the members of Idaho A were guests of the pledges at a formal dinner given in the chapter house. Decorations were in the Christmas motif and exhibition tap dancing and music were enjoyed during the dinner hour.

The annual Christmas party for alumnae and patronesses was held on December 20. That evening of the year the members provide an original stunt for the guests and pledges. After the entertainment Santa Claus paid the chapter a visit and not only remembered each girl but also brought many beautiful gifts to the chapter.

Pledge Day, September 24, 1929

Washington B made plans for second term rushing under a new rule of Panhellenic which allows four days of formal rushing with one date a day. Under the former rule, second term rushing was informal and dates could be made at any time. This method proved very unsuccessful.

The chapter enjoyed the visit of Mrs. Brannon, former Grand President, in November.

The annual Christmas party was held on December 18. As usual, everyone came to dinner dressed as children, and entertained resident alumnae and their children by singing children's songs and playing games. The seniors entertained with a clever skit. The Spokane mothers' club and Pullman alumnae gave the chapter a lovely new stair carpet; and the Wenatchee alumnae sent linen for the guest room.

On January 9, the underclassmen acted as hostesses at a model rushing dinner at which the juniors and seniors were the rushees. During the Christmas vacation active members and pledges in Spokane gave a rushing party at the Davenport Hotel.

$\Phi \epsilon$, a local fraternity on the campus, has just been granted a charter for $\Pi \kappa \alpha$.

Activities on the campus are becoming more important as the year progresses. Π Phi who have become particularly outstanding are: Betty Bement, member of the Women's Council, Y.W.C.A. cabinet member, Student Body Lectures and Entertainment committee, College Revue; Evelyn Schutz, assistant business manager of the Cougars Paw, humor magazine, staff of the Chinook, State College yearbook, chairman of the production staff of the all-college play, Queen's Husband, publicity chairman of Y.W.C.A.; Verta Templeton, R.O.T.C. sponsor, $\Sigma \kappa \Phi$, foreign language honorary, French and Spanish clubs; Katherine Franzen, secretary and treasurer of $\Gamma \beta$, economics honorary, production staff of play Behold the Bridegroom; Kathleen Lynch, social chairman of Y.W.C.A. glee club, Orchestras, dancing honorary, College Revue, chairman of registration tea, international festival; Marie Gillespie, Spanish club, office manager of the Evergreen, State College tri-weekly paper; Alice Mahoney, art staff of the Chinook, open house committee; Wilma Seipman, Spanish club, Ad club, vice president of $\Gamma \alpha \chi$, women's national advertising honorary; Annabelle Quick, French club, glee club; Helen McEachren, Orchestras, minor part in the play Queen's Husband, productions staff of the play Behold the Bridegroom, College Revue; Helen Green, Ellen H. Richards club, home economics; Frances Appel, college orchestra; Lois Lee, secretary of freshman commission; Sarah Jane Paulson, staff of the Chinook; Helen Hall, social service committee of freshman commission; Gertrude Buerger, Physical Education majors club; Myrle Chamberlain, reporter on the Evergreen, college paper, Jane Dunning, art staff of the Chinook; staff, secretary of freshman discussion group; Elizabeth Schaff, Ellen H. Richards club; Jane Dunning, art staff of the Chinook; Helen Cleveland, Evergreen staff, house representative to Panhellenic, vice president of Y.W.C.A., A.S.S.C.W. health committee.

OREGON ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF OREGON

Pledge Day, September 28, 1929

Oregon A made a generous contribution, at Christmas time, to the Red Cross, consisting of money, bedding, and clothes. The chapter also made a substantial donation to the Y.W.C.A., as well as individual donations by the girls.

A rummage sale and auction in the house is the manner in which Oregon A expects to raise its money for the Settlement School. This has been done for several years and has always proved very successful. The chapter hopes to be able to give at least thirty-five or forty dollars to help in carrying on this worthy work.

On Sunday, December 15, the chapter held its annual Christmas party. All of the active girls and many alumnae were present.

Each girl received a gift which was accompanied by a clever verse.

The most important social function of the chapter fall term was the pledge dance given on the evening following Halloween. The decorations and refreshments carried out the Halloween idea very cleverly.

The annual chapter birthday party was held about the middle of fall term. Among many other lovely gifts that the chapter received, was a genuine Schroff painting, which was presented by Mrs. Jewett, a $\Pi \Phi$ mother.

Mary Ellison was pledged at the beginning of winter term.

Oregon B did nothing towards charity this Christmas. The chapter had a Christmas party, and a formal dinner. After dinner Santa Claus came and distributed inexpensive gifts. This party is a general get-together of all the members, alumnae and pledges.

The chapter raises her fund for the Settlement School by putting on a rummage sale during winter term in the house.

The chapter announces the pledging of the following girls: Barbara Bell, Long Beach, Calif.; and Cecil Merrick, Palo Alto, Calif.

Carrie Boultinghouse is chairman of the refreshment committee for the Sophomore Cotillion, which is one of the largest social functions of the year.

CALIFORNIA ALPHA—LELAND STANFORD, JR., UNIVERSITY

Chartered, 1893

Pledge Day, January 20, 1930

The university has a new attraction: The golf course, which has been under construction for the last six months, has just been opened. It is rated as one of the five best courses on the Pacific Coast and much interest has been shown in it. Courses in golf have been offered to the students and reasonable rates for alumnae memberships.

A tea dansant for the Hammer and Coffin society during its convention here was given by California A on November 8. An exchange dinner with the $\Phi \Delta \Theta$ house took place on October 29. Stanford was especially honored this year when the convention of National Student Federation of America met here. It is the first time that it has met west of the Mississippi. It was felt that in bringing the convention out here the colleges on the West Coast would come in closer contact with those of the East. Members of the convention stayed at the $\Pi \Phi$ chapter house and the following girls were on the committee to entertain them: Mariana Evans, Barbara Seale, Marian Strong, Harriet Sutton, and Helen Thompson.

Two homecomings were scheduled last quarter on the days of the two big football games of the season, those with the University of California and with the University of Southern California. As an outcome of these homecomings some of the alumnae took an active interest in the house, and Cary Phelps undertook to get aid from the alumnae in refurbishing the lower story of the house. As a result of this interest it has been possible to completely renovate the main living body of the house with new curtains, rugs, lamp shades, upholstery, and hanging.

Notable individual honors for the past quarter have been: Helen Halderman, supervisor of Chaparral Office; Helen Thompson, Round Table, chairman of the registration committee; Marian Strong, Panhellenic representative, treasurer of Panhellenic, and Joint Roble Panhellenic member; Helen Osborn, Sophomore Cabinet; Elizabeth Hawkins, copy editor of the Stanford Daily, head of Women's Bonfire committee; Helen Ward, dramatic council. Helen Osborn, Eileen Aldwell, and Constance Morse were members of the Sophomore Cotillion committee. Mariana Evans, Bernice Wright, Elsie Chase, and Margaret Willis were in the "Football Gaities" chorus and Helen Thompson and Helen Ward also participated.

CALIFORNIA BETA—UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA

This last semester California B has been doing many things of interest. Betty Ballantine, who is prominent on the campus for her literary achievements, is one of the co-authors of the 1930 Parthenia, women's spring masque. Betty has also just been appointed assistant women's editor on the Daily Californian. One of the freshmen is working hard on the Daily Californian, being greatly interested in newspaper work. Sue Moultrie, a freshman, has been contributing cartoons to the Pelican, and Betty Ballantine has also been contributing to the same magazine, only in literary fields.

The outstanding social function of the semester was the formal tea in October to introduce the new pledges to the campus, followed by a formal dance in the evening. The chapter had an exchange dinner with the $\Gamma \Phi$.

California B enjoyed very much having some of the faculty for dinner, for in this way the chapter is able to come in closer contact with the professors. An event all the girls look forward to is the fathers' dinner, held on November 20, this year. It is such a pleasure to meet and entertain the fathers that it has become an annual event.

Mrs. Riley, the alumnae adviser, gave a lovely tea for the freshmen at her home. The workers for the Settlement School in Berkeley had an exhibit and sale of the articles made by the people in the school. The articles were very attractive and the chapter was proud to have a part in maintaining such an interesting and useful establishment.

On October 24, the chapter enjoyed a visit from Kappa Province President, Mrs. Forker.

The last semester has seen improvements in the chapter house. The living room has new drapes and some new pieces of furniture, making it much more attractive than formerly. The most recent change was refurbishing the library. As the room is naturally dark from dark panelling and book-cases, it is brightened by using a gorgeous, deep, rich shade of red for drapes and a rug with the same color predominating. Comfortable chairs, couch and other furnishings have made the room charming and is now the most popular in the house. The girls were helped very much in the planning by the chaperon, Miss Briggs.

The Experimental Agriculture building, which is a gift from A. P. Giannini, is nearing completion and will soon be ready for occupancy. The building is one of the most attractive on the campus.

After the Christmas holidays the girls are ready for spring rushing with the new rush captain, Barbara-Lu White and her assistant, Virginia Armstrong. The new rushing rule made by Panhellenic that you may not call for rushees except for luncheon and Saturday night, but may take them home, is to be in effect for spring rushing and the girls are interested to see if it improves that part of the rushing system.

CALIFORNIA GAMMA—UNIVERSITY OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

Chartered, 1917

Pledge Day, February 24, 1930

According to the usual tradition, California Γ will contribute $100 to the Settlement School this year by selling tickets to the alumnae benefit which is an annual affair.

Not long ago the chapter was entertained by California Δ with a cooky-shine in their lovely home on a campus which is new this year. Everyone had a very enjoyable time and was proud to think that they had a chapter so near with such an unusually attractive house.

Several girls in the chapter have been honored with new offices since the last issue of THE ARROW. Janet McCoy was initiated into the Press club, and Jane Lawson was lieutenant in command of the Community Chest drive, as well as assistant to chairman of Taxi Day which had its second year of success.

The fall Panhellenic formal which was held in the Student Union was unusually clever and the most successful one that has ever taken place.

The $\Pi \Phi$ formal was held on December 27 this year at one of the country clubs. The Christmas decorations lent a particularly lovely atmosphere and the favors were pin-seal wallets designed for the new bills, with $\Pi \Phi$ printed in gold letters on the inside.

Homecoming week this year was celebrated with one of the loveliest float parades. The house decorations were arranged so as to represent a housewarming.

Three girls were taken into Tic-Toc, the intersorority organization on the campus, as well as at the University of California at Los Angeles. These girls were Ella Sandberg, Sarah Brasfield, and Ethel Ware.

$\Pi \Phi$ won the first prize for having the best skit in the Women's Hi Jinx this year. The idea carried out was a synopacted court scene from Alice in Wonderland, which was the theme of the Hi Jinx.

All Trojans are very proud of the 1929 varsity football team which won the New Year's Day game, in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena by the largest score ever made in one of these annual games.

MARJORIE LOUNSBERRY

CALIFORNIA DELTA—UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA AT LOS ANGELES

Chartered, 1927

Pledge Day, September 30, 1929

Each day brings added improvements to the campus of U.C.L.A. Shrubbery, grass, and trees have broken the barren landscape and softened the outline of the buildings. The Education building is now ready for occupancy, making five completed buildings with a sixth, the Student's Union donated by Mrs. Louise Kerchoff, in the process of construction.

Helen May Skeen, Helen Ziegler, and Mary Sime were elected to Tic-Toc, the women's honorary social fraternity, and Mabel Stidham was elected vice president.

Membership in Boots, an honorary riding club, was extended to Marjorie Kamm, Francis Hall, and Anne-Ewell Phillips.

Adjustment to the new campus and the new house was the chapter's greatest task this term. Added to this has been a serious servant problem due to the ever prevalent California scarcity of servants and the isolated location of the campus.

The Christmas season was a period of great activity. The Monday evening before the Christmas vacation, a kid party with a Santa Claus and presents for all the girls was substituted for the usual chapter meeting. During the vacation a formal Christmas dance was given at the house, which was appropriately decorated.

Before Christmas Virginia Townsend was married to Jack Denman and during November the marriage of Ada Field to Bob Mucks, a K Σ from U.S.C., took place.

California Δ is very fortunate in having a most thoughtful and helpful mothers' club. During November this club gave a rummage sale, making a large sum, which was presented to the chapter and then as a Christmas present $50 was added. The club is now planning a benefit bridge party to be given in February. The chapter itself has been trying to make money by selling ads for a desk blotter to be distributed gratis among the students. The ads are arranged around a center square in which is placed the basketball schedule, thus constituting a desirable addition to any study desk.

Nancy Taft, an alumna, has the distinction of being the mother of the first California Δ baby. Then second in line is the tiny son of Eleanor Arneson Smith.

California Δ chapter has been very happy in having with them this term Mary Louise Touzalin, a transfer from Illinois E.

During November the chapter held a Sunday afternoon open house for all Pi Phi in Los Angeles and the vicinity, to which their friends were, also, invited.

Mrs. Forker, Kappa Province President, paid her annual visit the first week in December.

The Π Φ mothers, headed by Mrs. Elizabeth Fergusson, housemother, gave a benefit bridge which was very successful. Out of the proceeds they are buying new silver and dishes. The alumnae club presented the chapter with a Christmas gift: a Spanish fireside bench and a fire-screen. Mrs. E. A. Titcomb, Jr., of Nogales gave the house a beautiful heavy Spanish table. Several of the girls, also gave presents to the house: Genevieve Norvell, and Helen Welch, who has recently come back to Tucson after an illness of several months. The pledges surprised all by ordering a Π Φ sign to hang over the door. Excellent taste was shown in their choice, as the leather background with the letters of Π Φ cut out of it shows up beautifully against the white stucco over which it is hung.

Several dances have been outstanding: the Halloween dance because all guests must enter the house by means of a slide put down the back cellar steps, and the dance given by the pledges in which an "icicle" idea was carried out. The decorations were unusually clever and the refreshments, which were ice cream and snowball cakes, were very appropriate.

Besides dances there have been a great many teas and more informal functions. Mother Fergusson, early in the semester, suggested having faculty guests for dinner two nights a week. The chapter did this and has found it a very good idea, as it gives faculty and students a chance to meet outside the classroom. Homecoming day in November Π Φ entertained alumnae from all over the state, and many from California at a cooky-shine.

Having a new house this year necessitated of course having housewarmings. Instead of one the chapter had two, the first for faculty and mothers, the second for students and townspeople.

The Pi Phi won second place in the swimming meet this fall, defeated only by Varsity Villagers a non-sorority group and have been going out faithfully for basketball practice, which has just started. Mildred Northmore and Genevieve Norvell have been in plays given by the university players, and Kay Kellogg and Lillian Nicholas sing in the glee club. Lillian Nicholas is in the glee club quartet.

The chapter is very glad to have Marion George from Ohio Wesleyan here on the campus. She is living in the house and will attend college second semester.

Three members of the chapter are in Women's Press club and one has just been elected to Wrangler's campus book reviewing club. Margie Koons is president of A.W.S. and Secretary of F.S.T.

NEVADA ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF NEVADA

Chartered, 1915
Pledge Day, January 20, 1930

INITIATED, December 14, 1929: Cecilia Sudden, '30, 124 Warren Rd., San Mateo, Calif.; Faralie Smithson, '31, Ely; and Leona Sellman, '32, 919 West Sixth St., Reno.

GRADUATED, December, 1929: Helene Turner, 11 Southwood Dr., San Francisco, Calif.

The rushing period for women's fraternities began on January 8, and continued until January 19. During the first week parties were given in the afternoon only, while in the second week, the chapters entertained in the evening as well as in the afternoon. The ideas which were carried out are the following: a $\Pi \Phi$ kindergarten, a Spanish afternoon, a Southern luncheon, a pajama party, and a sleigh ride.

Nevada A is proud to announce that it heads the scholarship list among all national women's fraternities on the campus. Lois Nicolaidis, '30, and Faralie Smithson, '31, made the honor roll, which consists of students who make an average between 1.0 and 1.5. The class in the house which makes the highest average receives a cup, and is entertained by the other three classes.

Patricia Harding McCollum is taking the lead in Liliom, which is to be given some time this semester. JUNE M. GRANTLEY

UTAH ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF UTAH UNIVERSITY

Chartered, 1929
Pledge Day, February 1, 1930

Charity was not forgotten during the holidays. The girls cooperated with Dean Lucy Van Cett in giving aid to an unfortunate student, and all felt sure that his Christmas was made happier by their contributions.

Probably the most novel party of the year was a combined costume ball and treasure hunt which took place on Halloween. The girls and their partners met at the chapter house at 8:00 p.m. where they received a clever verse giving a hint as to the first clue in the search for the treasure. About ten o'clock all returned to the house for dancing, the winners triumphantly bearing their prize.

Since installation in September several lovely entertainments have been given for the girls of $\Pi \Phi$, by members of other men's and women's fraternities on the campus. The ΣN chapter was host at an early evening dancing party, $X \Omega$ gave a delightful bridge tea, both $\Gamma \Sigma$ and $\Lambda \Delta \Pi$ presided at formal teas in their honor, and the girls of ΔE entertained at a charming evening party at their chapter house.

Utah A recently purchased a scholarship ring for the highest rating senior, and a distinctive jewelled pin for the active girl having the best average for the quarter. The fraternity has been divided into two equal groups which compete for honors in scholarship. The losing team will entertain the winners at an informal dinner in the near future.

The chapter has arranged to take over a high class dancing club for an evening, sell tickets, and share in the profits. It is expected that every girl will get behind this venture, so that it will be possible to raise at least $50 toward the Settlement School Fund.

Mary Isgreen, a pledge, brought honor to the fraternity by her splendid performance in the varsity play, Bernard Shaw's Misalliance. Radie Hyde was recently elected vice president of the Associated Woman Students, and in the absence of the president is now acting in that position.

Selfish

By ADELINE LANG

(Reprinted from the Aglaia of Phi Mu, Wisconsin Octopus and College Humor)

*If I'm shedding any tears at all,
Don't flatter yourself they're for you;
I'd never let my eyes get red,
Because of what you do;
Cry for you? Why no, indeed, Myself, my tears are for.
It's painful to me to realize
My judgment is not worth more.*

EXCHANGES AND CORRESPONDENTS

Edited by Helen Call Cord

From The Aglaia of Phi Mu we pass on this gentle hint to each member of Pi Beta Phi:

EVERY PHI MU A REPORTER

For several years we have been saying "Every Phi Mu a reporter"—first in a suggestive voice, very mildly, using a period to end the sentence. Then it became necessary to tell you what we really meant, in an exclamatory, exclamation point way, viz., "Every Phi Mu a reporter!"

Lately we have come to see that it is a question, in reality, to which we shout back vociferously, "No! She (meaning 'Every Phi Mu') hasn't even the minimum essential, a nose for news."

"Why didn't you tell us that Jane Brown was sent to Holland last year as a delegate to the international pow wow convention?"

"Oh, Jane, everyone knows about her. It doesn't seem unusual to us."

We don't hear half enough of the fine, inspirational things Phi Mus are doing. If the magazine is to represent the fraternity, it must do so truly. Our only source of help is each member.

Sororities at the University of Illinois have overshadowed the campus fraternities in the average cost of their houses, although their number is not as great, according to a recent building survey. The total value of fraternity homes on the campus, in proportion to the value of sorority homes, is two and one-half to one. Fraternities are in a better financial position than sororities, the survey shows further. Sixty-six fraternities on the campus own their own homes today, the total value being estimated at $4,361,000, or an average of $66,075 for each house. Among the sororities twenty-six own the titles to their own houses and the total value of the group is estimated at $1,737,000, while the average is $66,808 for each house.

TO MADAME CURIE

By PROF. CHARLES KELSEY GAINES
St. Lawrence '76, A. '99

Read October 26, 1929, on the occasion of her visit to St. Lawrence University

What age-long effort had essayed in vain
This woman wrought. She loosed the Gordian knot
That held the conquest of the world, and what
The frustrate alchemist could ne'er attain
She has achieved. She broke the primal chain
That binds the elements; she touched the spot Where lies the hidden spring,—and lo! the plot
And secret of the universe lay plain.
Yet what the alchemist in vain had sought
For greed and dazzled by the lure of gold,
She only that she might the truth unfold,
Still toiling for the love of man, has wrought.
Let all the ghosts of alchemy bow down,
While on this woman's brow we set the crown.

EDISON SCHOLAR PLEDGED PHI KAPPA SIGMA

Prominent among the pledges at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology this fall is Wilber B. Huston, winner of the Edison Scholarship. A nation-wide contest was staged to select a protégé for Thomas A. Edison, and the winners from every state in the Union took part in the final competition.

The boys who know him best say he is like the average American boy, having a pleasant personality, being a good mixer, and in the estimation of all the boys a "regular guy." He is versatile and believes in broadening himself so is out for fencing and is a candidate for the staff of the college engineering magazine.

—Phi Kappa Sigma News Letter

In To Dragma an alumna of Alpha Omicron Pi writes: "But did I say I was going to write about how to keep youth? So I have, for if you keep in touch with your sorority you will never lose the viewpoint of youth. And isn't that really all that matters? Even now, at this late day, I can feel my aged point of view giving away to youth's hopeful outlook. Maybe my hair is still gray, and the extra ten pounds are still with me. Nevertheless, I can rejoice with my younger sisters in their achievements, sorrow in their defeats, and show them perhaps how we of Alpha O have that within our hearts which helps us carry on. Is it worth while? Take the word of one who has tried forgetting. Keep step with your sorority, whether you are near or far, and you are keeping step with youth."

A paragraph worth pondering on from "The Persecution of Scholarship" which appeared in The Shield of Phi Kappa Psi:

But what do we mean by this term scholarship? We meant persistent application to the pursuit of knowledge. We may call it the "will to learn" or perhaps its character is still better expressed in the term the "student habit." Now the "will to learn," which we shall call the student habit, is an attribute which may be likened unto a tender, hothouse plant. The student habit, like the plant, must be carefully cultivated and given the most favorable treatment, if it is to thrive and grow. If not encouraged, the student habit, the ambition to learn, is apt to wither and die. This is true because the student habit is not a natural development in man. Rather, it is unnatural, forced, and requires conscious cultivation. Its acquisition requires great effort, a real inward struggle.

A SORORITY "INDIAN"

Phi Mu is honored in a unique way in that one of its members has been made an honorary member of the tribe of Indians sponsored by the Great Northern Railroad. Her name is Marian Clift and her home is in Great Falls, Montana, where she became acquainted with the Indians who took her in with a regular Indian ceremonial, giving her a buckskin costume as a symbol of their esteem for her.

An outstanding member of the band is Chief Two-Guns, whose profile it is we see on the Buffalo nickels.

"I want a doll and a sled and a play watch, and a pair of beads and some games—age siz, Betty Miller."

And thirty such letters addressed to Santa Claus were opened sympathetically by the fraternities, sororities, and unaffiliated students at Dickinson College and at least one of the "big things" in each letter was provided for the trusting and expectant little boys and girls in an orphanage at Mechanicsburg, Pennsylvania.

At Northwestern three thousand stockings were filled at a settlement, when the Y.W.C.A. made its annual Christmas visit. With an appointed supervisor in each sorority house and dormitory, groups worked for a month on the red tarlatan and green yarn stockings.

Bales of cotton on a Mississippi River dock, fantastic rugs and dusky hangings in a Persian bazaar were among the colorful wares in the "Miniature Chicago World's Fair" at the University of Illinois. Under the direction of the various department heads of the Y.W.C.A. linens, pottery, Japanese art work, and trinkets were sold, and the center of interest was a delegation of children from a local orphanage who were invited to attend the Doll Show, and to select a doll apiece as a Christmas gift.

Ohio State held an old time Christmas party for fifty poor children, and baskets and money for needy families were supplied, and the Indiana Daily Student sponsored a Student Christmas Cheer Fund.

On December 6, and close to the holiday season, students at the University of Wisconsin discovered Lun Tsai, a Chinese student, in Morning-side sanatorium, with tuberculosis. He was unable to receive financial assistance from relatives in China and faced failure in the attempt to rebuild his health. The Wisconsin Good Will Committee took immediate action, and a fund has now been created to provide funds for his treatment, and to establish an emergency fund to which subscriptions are made annually, so that students stricken under similar circumstances may be assisted.

And so let the man who says, "College students are blasé and exist only for a four-year social whirl—impervious to all that which does not concern youth itself"—pause a moment in a life that has so fully consumed his own time that he has not properly investigated that of which he writes. Let him open his withered heart to "modern youth" as it places its generous gifts upon the shrine of needy fellow men.

There are twenty-four letters in the Greek alphabet. They are given here, with both the Greek and English pronunciations. This matter of pronunciation is a rather difficult one to settle since there are numerous inconsistencies in the way different Greek names are now pronounced in fraternity circles. The reason of course is that the so-called "modern Greek" is very rarely a student of Greek and does not recognize the fact that Greek letters have both an English and a Greek pronunciation. Consequently we often have the two used in the same fraternity name, because the final effect sounds well. Even the Phi Beta Kappa name, as it is usually pronounced, is such a hybrid.

Form	Letter	Greek	English
A	Alpha	Ahlpha	Alpha
B	Beta	Bayta	Beeta
Γ	Gamma	Gahmma	Gamma
Δ	Delta	Delta	Delta
E	Epsilon	Epsilon	Epsilon
Z	Zeta	Zayta	Zeeta
Θ	Eta	Ayta	Eeta
H	Theta	Thayta	Theeta
I	Iota	Iota	Iota
K	Kappa	Kahppa	Kappa
Λ	Lambda	Lahmbda	Mew
M	Mu	Mew	New
N	Nu	New	Lambda
Ξ	Xi	Xee	Zi (eye)
O	Omicron	Omicron	Omicron
Π	Pi	Pee	Pi (eye)

P	Rho	Rho	Rho
Σ	Sigma	Sigma	Sigma
T	Tau	Tow (as in owl)	Tawe
T	Upsilon	Oopsilon	Upsilon
Φ	Phi	Phee	Phi (eye)
X	Chi	Chee	Chi (eye)
Ψ	Psi	Psee	Psi (eye)
Ω	Omega	Omayga	Omeeega

To sum up the difference between the Greek "ah" sound as in Kappa, and the English "a" as in ask, is too trivial to bother about. Fraternity Greeks use the English form in such cases. Beta, Zeta, Eta, Theta, Omega, are pronounced with the Greek "e," i.e., the "ay" sound rather than with the English "ee." It is better to follow custom and use the Greek pronunciation here. In the case of Xi, Pi, Phi, Chi, Psi, both the Greek and the English forms are used, but it is wiser for us to adopt the English sound Zy, Py, etc., and not Zee, Pee, etc. We should, however, be consistent in our pronunciation of the same letter. If we do at times, sanctioned by custom, use two types of pronunciation in the same name, as in Pi Beta Phi, say Pi (eye) Bayta Phee. We all say "Phy Bayta Kappa." To be consistent we should say "Phe Bayta Kahppa" or "Phy Beeta Kappa." But such phonetic correctness is unknown, save to the erudite scholar. So, keep, the English "a" sound, the Greek "e," and the English "i," then we'll understand each other.

—The Lamp of Δ Z

Almost as many Sigma Kappa alumnae who are not able to belong to alumnae chapters pay annual national dues as do alumnae who are members of alumnae chapters. Nearly 1,000 loyal alumnae scattered from Maine to California pay their dues each year in spite of the fact that they are not near an alumnae group. These constitute the constantly growing order of Loyal Alumnae at Large of which the sorority is so proud.

A card of "good standing," of small size to tuck into the purse, is issued annually to every alumna who pays these dues. These serve as official introductions for alumnae moving from city to city as well as receipts. This card, stating dates for which dues have been paid, is signed by the executive secretary and distributed by her. For isolated alumnae, or the alumnae at large, these are mailed individually, for alumnae in chapters they are mailed in a group to the alumnae chapter treasurer.

Each fall a general letter is sent out to every alumna, not Life Loyal, with news of alumnae interest and a request for dues. Letters are also sent to each alumnae chapter treasurer. Later a letter goes out to all alumnae at large who paid last year and have not yet paid for this year. Another special letter is sent to all last year's seniors who have not yet paid. Lists of paid-up alumnae are kept at the Central Office and also by the Grand Vice President, who directs all alumnae activities.

The keen and continued interest of alumnae in their sorority is, of course, evidenced in many other ways beside payment of dues. There is an unusually large number of alumnae in attendance at all conventions, where they prove their interest by sitting through all of the long business sessions as well as attending the social functions.

The Panhellenic Creed

Adopted by N.P.C. in 1915

WE, the fraternity undergraduate members, stand for good scholarship, for the guarding of good health, for wholehearted cooperation with our college's ideals for student life, for the maintenance of fine social standards and for the serving, to the best of our ability, of our college community. Good college citizenship as a preparation for good citizenship in the larger world of alumnae days is the ideal that shall guide our chapter activities.

WE, the fraternity alumnae members, stand for an active, sympathetic interest in the life of our undergraduate sisters, for loyal support of the ideals of our Alma Mater, for the encouragement of high scholarship, for the maintenance of healthful physical conditions in chapter house and dormitory, and for using our influence to further the best standards for the education of the young women of America. Loyal service to chapter, college and community is the ideal that shall guide our fraternity activities.

WE, the fraternity officers, stand for loyal and earnest work for the realization of these fraternity standards. Cooperation for maintenance of fraternity life in harmony with its best possibilities is the ideal that shall guide our fraternity activities.

WE, the fraternity women of America, stand for preparation for service through the character building inspired in the close contact and deep friendship of fraternity life. To us, fraternity life is not the enjoyment of special privileges but an opportunity to prepare for wide and wise human service.
