EDITORIALS

Diamond Jubilee

Like many another cherished plan, our ideas for a proper celebration of the 75th anniversary of  $\Pi B \Phi$  had to go on a tide of war into the land of things forgotten and forsworn. At one time, we even hoped to give you an album of pictures of all chapter houses and also of the girls of all chapters, with the thought of showing what the Fraternity really is on its Diamond Birthday—but the rising costs of printing and engraving made that entirely impossible. Yet somehow we wanted to make the Founders live again before our members, so we give you two articles, one by Dr. Grier of Monmouth College, the other a very personal account of what the Founders were like when they were in college, done in the always charming style of the National Historian. We hope that through their words you will be taken back for an hour to those days, and we wish too that each Pi Phi who reads them could place behind them the background of the restored Holt House, scene of that first organization meeting which gave us our Founding date.

Amid all the welter of work and worry of today, the thought comes back again and again—Pi Phi is 75 years old! Through two wars the Fraternity has lived and prospered, among trials and attendant changes. How much of strength and comfort in sorrowful days of hardship  $\Pi B \Phi$  has meant to her members, we cannot estimate. We do know, however, that for each of us there must be one steady and unchanging phase of life to steady our thoughts, more than ever now, in what may be the darkest days of the most cruel war in world history. It is for those who are privileged to wear the Arrow to work to maintain the strength of the Fraternity, as a thank offering for our Founders who made such an organization possible. Only so will  $\Pi B \Phi$  carry on far beyond this time, living and growing through this war; only so may she reach her hundredth anniversary, and even go beyond. Of all of us new tasks are being demanded; new obligations must be met; they can only be met by assuming them in addition to the old ones that are worthy, such as the maintenance of our national projects, never by abandoning the old to take on the untried new.

Throughout the country, Founders' Day celebrations have been simpler than usual, because of the war; yet more than ever before, they came from the hearts of all Pi Phis everywhere.

Agnes Spring Resigns

To Pi Phis everywhere, and especially to the ARROW, Agnes Wright Spring has meant much. She has served as ARROW Editor and member of Grand Council; she wrote our "History" during her term of office as National Historian; she became a member of the Settlement School Committee and editor of the "News from Little Pigeon" section, and wrote the fine article on the school which was featured in the December ARROW, and which is to be reprinted in monograph form, for issuance to the pledges of  $\Pi B \Phi$  each year. The Editor cannot too strongly, too warmly, express what Mrs. Spring's work has meant to her. It is therefore with genuine regret that announcement is made that ill health has caused the resignation of Mrs. Spring. She will be greatly missed!

The ARROW is fortunate indeed in having as her successor Mildred Odell Sale, North Dakota A, of Dallas, Texas. Mrs. Sale has always been active in Pi Phi work, and has attended Conventions. She has been a national officer in  $\Sigma A I$ , musical fraternity, first as editor of Pan Pipes, now as national secretary. She was last fall elected president of the National Association of Professional Fraternities. Her qualifications for membership in the Settlement School Committee could not be better, and she may be sure of a warm welcome by the Fraternity.

Fellowship for 1942-43

Grand Council announces the award of the  $\Pi B \Phi$  Fellowship for Graduate Study for next year to Marion Webster, Ontario B, brilliant medical student and fine member of  $\Pi B \Phi$ . She will do graduate work in medicine, and should work with distinction for herself and for the Fraternity and with ultimate benefit for humanity in her now greatly-needed field.

Of Service

Advice is a dreadful thing to give unsought, and the Editor makes it a rule never to do that! But here is advice which has been asked for by many girls in the active chapters, in letters and in person, with the question, "What shall we do about the war? Shall we stay in college? Shall we get war jobs? How can we best help?"

This year there has started in a small way an exodus from the colleges which might easily become a serious matter and topple over the whole structure of education in ruins which would take a generation to rebuild, and do more harm to the civilization of our country than all the bombs of Hitler or the Japanese can ever do. Education is woven into the very fabric of our good American way of life, which we are fighting to preserve. Should we then throw away its advantages?

To these questions our answer is an emphatic "No!" Stay in college if it is in any way possible. Make the most of the chance for that training which will be so greatly needed in the years to come after the war, when the present college generation must play an active part in restoring our national life to a normal level and in healing the inevitable scars which war must leave behind it. Much work for the war effort is possible in college, with all the first aid training, knitting, and sewing that must be done, and in these things the girls in  $\Pi B \Phi$  chapters are already leaders on many campuses; but this war work must not be done at a sacrifice of the serious college study that is after all the reason for going to college at all. We must avoid the danger of emerging from war with lowered standards of culture and education, or with lessened appreciation for the truly fine things which should make up the background for well-planned living.

Stay in college!

Odile Taylor Alfred

Announcement: Grand Council announces that the recent vote of the active chapters of the fraternity, required by the constitution, resulted in a decision to postpone Convention of 1942, by more than the required two thirds majority.

There will therefore be no Convention this summer. Tabulation of the vote will be sent to chapters desiring it on application to Central Office.

Monmouth College Campus

ON APRIL 28, 1942, Pi Beta Phi passed her 75th milestone!

Last year, Mrs. Libbey wrote to the Editor, "I hope to attend the 75th Anniversary Convention," and how sad it is that she and Mrs. Soule could not live to see that great day. Yet how sad they would have been to find that after all these years, that anniversary fell in a time of national trial such as the United States and Canada have never seen before. Pi Beta Phi was founded at the close of one great war, when the country was struggling with the great problem of Reconstruction; Pi Beta Phi has lived through two great wars, with ever increasing strength; Pi Beta Phi will live through this greatest of all wars too, will see a victory, will help in the restoration of civilization itself when the peace is made.

When the one hundredth anniversary of Pi Beta Phi comes, surely it will be in a time of finer living, better things for all, perhaps in a time when mankind may have come to a more general living of the ideals for which the great college fraternities have stood through all the years.

The Background

The Early Days of Pi Phi

By DR. JAMES H. GRIER, President of Monmouth College and Son of Ada Bruen Grier, Founder

SEVENTY-FIVE years ago the I.C. Sorosis was new on the Monmouth campus. The college itself was in its fourteenth year. The four war years had depleted its ranks. Two hundred thirty-two men from the faculty and student body joined the Union Army. At one period there were but forty-eight men left on the campus. There was some discussion of suspending college activities for the duration. It was at that time President Wallace made the decision which for eight decades has been classic among Monmouth people: "Whether in peace or war, we must educate."

The aftermath of the war brought to Monmouth campus both men and women older than the average college student—men who had served in the army and young women who had remained on the farms during the time their brothers were away from home. Consequently in the years 1866 and '67 it was a more mature and seriously was the college campus, occupying at that time ten acres. About and beyond this campus the city of Monmouth expanded.

The membership of the student body in the middle 60's was largely rural. There were three hundred sixty-seven of them all told, minded student body than at most times. Among these young people Pi Phi had its beginning.

Monmouth was a typical midwestern town of about 4,500 people, built from a surveyor's plan about a central square, the streets running north and south and the avenues east and west. On three sides of the town were open park spaces, and on the east side of whom half were taking collegiate work and half preparatory. They came mostly from western Illinois and eastern Iowa, a few from a greater distance—only one name I find from Chicago. Some of these young men had the ministry in mind, and my mother used to recall how many of them, either from far-seeing economy or spiritual insight befitting their calling, arrived on the Monmouth campus with long tailed coats of clerical cut. Like many others, my mother had taught rural school for two years before coming to college. The school is still standing, known as the Brook school, located in Henderson County, Illinois, where the Bruen and Brook farms meet. Both names are familiar to the members of Pi Phi.

The Monmouth catalogue of 1867 is a brochure of thirty-six pages, offering courses leading to a bachelor's degree in six branches: Languages, including Hebrew, History, Mathematics, Natural Science, Philosophy, and Religion. We note that "candidates for admission to the college must furnish satisfactory evidence by examination or otherwise of their proficiency in the studies of the academic department. They will be particularly examined in reading, spelling, and penmanship." The college library contained "over 1,000 volumes," and the tuition was $30.00 per year. There were no dormitories of any kind.

The students lived where they could find lodging, and boarded in clubs or private homes. The "Holt House," which has now become enshrined by Pi Phi national, was one of these homes open to college students.

The college activities centered largely about the literary societies. Here were strong partisan divisions, and the enthusiasm of the college year gathered about the intersociety contests. I have before me the program for the third annual contest between the A.B.L. Society (Amateurs des Belles Lettres Society) and the Aletheorian Society, held March 26, 1869. I have before me also the program of the contest between the same two organizations in the year 1865. This was the first one held. At this time Nannie Black, a Pi Phi founder, represented the Aletheorian Society in the essay contest and had for her subject, "Labor." Ada Bruen represented the A.B.L. Society in 1869 in the essay contest, having for her subject "The Inner Word." Among themes of that day we note these: "Death, the Peacemaker," "The Battlefield," "Everyday Heroes." The great war was still in their memories.

Among recollections of mother's conversations regarding early college days are two. I expect they can both be found in the early records of the Pi Phi sorority. One regarded a time in the early fall of '67 when a group of independent girls decided they could and would travel the streets of Monmouth by night unattended. The streets at that time were badly lighted, if lighted at all, with board sidewalks in some places. These young women carried lanterns. Needless to say, they attracted attention. This was the group later organized into the I.C. Sorosis. A year later, or thereabouts, after the formation of a second chapter at Mount Pleasant, Iowa, mother tells of a "national" convention held at Oquawka. My recollection is that the sister chapter at Iowa Wesleyan failed to appear! However, the ride to Oquawka, sixteen miles from Monmouth on the Mississippi River, and the "convention" itself, were long remembered events.

There are no literary societies on the Monmouth campus today. Many organizations—academic, musical, dramatic, athletic—have crowded them aside. The student world has enlarged. From the campus of seventy-five years ago these young people have moved out to contacts with neighboring institutions of similar purpose. The standards, ideals, and energies of the old literary societies now express themselves in intercollegiate debate, music, and oratory. And a parallel change has taken place in the social organization of three-quarters of a century ago, when a few young women of college mind—sometimes serious, sometimes frivolous—gathered in congenial mood and laid down those basic principles of friendship and mutual helpfulness which have been handed down to our day and which are given expression on the campuses of very many universities and colleges.

I do not know that our mothers in 1867 ever dreamed of an organization which would some day expand from coast to coast and beyond the borders northward to the Dominion of Canada, but the strength, vitality, and wholesomeness of the modern generation bear abundant testimony to the health and vigor of the "grain of mustard seed" whence it has sprung.

The Founders

The Twelve Links in the Chain

By FRANCES ROSSER BROWN, Oklahoma A., National Historian

TO THE Pi Phi pledge who studies diligently to learn the names of the Founders of  $\Pi B \Phi$  so that she may bring honor to herself and to her chapter on the pledge examination, these names are reminders that long, long ago twelve women founded a fraternity which endures until today. This pledge may fail to see a Founder's name as the symbol of a girl who when the same age as she herself perceived the need for an organization which would make a fuller life for college girls who were to follow her down the years, not only on the Monmouth College campus, but on other campuses as well. But after this pledge is initiated and comes to learn more and more about the Fraternity, the Founders come alive for her and each name glows in her mind as a shining link in the chain on the golden arrow.

In the excellent history of  $\Pi B \Phi$  written by Agnes Wright Spring and again presented here are pictures of the Founders as they looked when they were in college. That these pictures may not do the Founders justice may be guessed from the fact that in 1917 Ada Bruen Grier wrote Sarah Pomeroy Rugg, ARROW Editor, that she was almost sorry the college pictures of the Founders were to appear again in the ARROW, for they were so wretchedly poor. Because of the styles in clothes and hairdress in 1867 the Founders seem older to the present generation than they were, but if one will cover all of a picture except the face, she will realize how young the Founders were when they organized the Fraternity.

These pictures of the Founders tell much of the styles of their times. The girls who attended classes in old Main at Monmouth, a red brick building which wore a white belfry just over her forehead as sedately as Queen Victoria wore her crown, parted their hair in the middle and combed it back precisely, but often added a touch of the frivolous by letting a bunch of curls hang at the back of the neck. Their dresses were high necked with a row of buttons up the front and were topped with narrow collars of either plain material or lace which were ornamented with brooches. Ada Bruen Grier who combed her chestnut hair in soft waves from her face left a bunch of short curls to fall upon her neck. Mrs. Grier's daughter, Mary Grier Miller, says that her mother's eyes were very, very blue, almost violet, and her skin clear with high color in her cheeks.

Those now living in Monmouth who knew Libbie Brook Gaddis remember her as having pretty black hair and a fair skin. The Brownlee sisters were much alike in coloring, both having blue eyes and medium brown hair, but Clara Brownlee was not as fair as her sister. Louise Reid Campbell, Illinois A, says she remembers Emma Brownlee Kilgore's eyes distinctly because Mrs. Kilgore was always smiling and her eyes wrinkled up when she smiled. Mrs. Kilgore was fond of color and never adopted the custom of wearing black as did so many women in the gay nineties period. Mrs. Campbell's recollections of her seem associated with plum color, though green was one of her favorite colors too.

After looking at the pictures of the Founders one is not surprised that Agnes Campbell Murray, an early I C and sister of Margaret Campbell, Founder, told Louise Reid Campbell that Nancy Black Wallace was the stylist among them. Nancy Black frequently visited in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, and always returned home with her hair dressed in the latest manner and many new fashionable clothes. She was almost a blond in coloring with blue eyes, light brown hair and a fair complexion. Mrs. Murray also told Mrs. Campbell that as she remembered, the dress her sister, Margaret Campbell, was wearing in her college picture was brown, which would have been becoming to her light reddish brown hair, dark blue eyes, and clear, fair skin.

Louise Reid Campbell says she imagines Fannie Thomson, whose mother and sister she remembers well, was called a blond as her eyes were blue and her hair light brown. Fannie Thomson is said to have had a happy disposition and to have been a good English scholar and quite an accomplished writer for one of her age. A niece of hers, Jessie Graham Bryson has a portfolio of lovely pencil drawings which she made while in college. A great niece who bears her great aunt's given name, Frances Bryson, has in her possession a key winding gold watch, very thin and beautifully engraved, which was given to Fannie Thomson just before she entered Monmouth College.

Rosa Moore was considered quite a beauty according to her college mates. Her brown hair was curly, her eyes were blue, and her complexion fair. Jennie Horne Turnbull's eyes were deep blue and her hair brown and her complexion very fair. Jennie Nicol had dark auburn hair and dark eyes. Inez Smith Soule was the only exception to the blue eyes rule, her eyes being hazel, neither green nor brown. The many Pi Phis who met Fannie Whitenack Libbey at Conventions could see in her the young girl she was at the time of Founding, with twinkling blue eyes, light hair, and fair complexion.

What was in the hearts and minds of these young girls we know through our heritage of  $\Pi B \Phi$ ? It is an inspiring experience to read the letters written by Founders which are in the national archives and to see their expressions of love for one another. In 1922 Margaret Campbell signed a letter to Emma Brownlee Kilgore, "Your friend, Margaret E. Campbell" and added under her signature, "Maggie." Jennie Horne Turnbull was Fannie Thomson's best friend when they were in school together and Mrs. Turnbull wrote Sarah Pomeroy Rugg many years after her college days in speaking of Fannie Thomson, "We were very fond of each other." Shortly before her death which occurred fifty-seven years after the Founding of  $\Pi \Phi$ , Ada Bruen Grier wrote Libbie Brook Gaddis, "Libbie, you are the best friend I ever had."

In Jennie Nicol, Emma Brownlee Kilgore had a friend who was, as Mrs. Kilgore once wrote Mary Bartol Theiss, "—faithful even to the risk of her life." This was after the death of Mrs. Kilgore's father from cholera and when Mrs. Kilgore was a victim of the same disease and Jennie Nicol went to her home when everyone else was afraid to do so and acted as nurse for her college friend as regular nurses were not available. It was natural then that Mrs. Kilgore should appreciate so much the idea of a special memorial in honor of Jennie Nicol at the Settlement

School. In a letter to Agnes Wright Spring written on January 22, 1922, Mrs. Kilgore said, "Your letter gives me pleasure that the Jennie Nicol Memorial Hospital has somewhat of a chance to materialize. It will be of great use and much needed. I wish you could have known Jennie Nicol's character. All of us founders were proud of her ability."

All the Founders who were living at the time of the establishment of the Settlement School took a deep interest in the school's development just as Jennie Horne Turnbull said of Ada Bruen Grier soon after Mrs. Grier's death, "Coming to Philadelphia she was soon identified with the alumnae of  $\Pi B \Phi$ . Her health not being rugged she was seldom permitted to attend the meetings, but her interest never lagged, especially in the work of the Settlement School, eagerly looking forward to the coming of the ARROW that she might learn what was being done at Gatlinburg."

Now the house in Monmouth, Illinois in which the organization of  $\Pi B \Phi$  was completed has been restored and one room upstairs set aside as a memorial room to these twelve girls who made their dream a reality. In contemplating a visit to this house one is reminded of Katherine Mansfield's imaginary visit with the Brontë sisters. Miss Mansfield was a great admirer of the Brontës and studied them and their works until she felt that they were among her best friends. Somewhere in her writings Miss Mansfield said that she was passing a house in London one day when it suddenly came to her that this was the kind of house in which the Brontës would have lived if they had happened to live in London. In her mind she went up the walk of this house, knocked on the door, and Charlotte Brontë answered her knock and invited her to come in, but cautioned her in a low voice, "Emily's sleeping."

A  $\Pi B \Phi$  when entering the Holt House today can imagine the date is April 28, 1867, and can feel a young girl, Emma Brownlee, the first president of  $\Pi B \Phi$ , take her by the hand and can hear her say, "Let's go on upstairs to Ada's and Libbie's room. Jennie Nicol and Fannie Thomson couldn't come, but the others are up there. And we have just finished writing the Constitution!"

Dean Lloyd Speaks

The address by Alice Crocker Lloyd, Dean of Women, University of Michigan, which opened the Deans' Conference, San Francisco, February 17, 1942

IN THE last month of the year 1941, Americans have been drawn together in a common purpose with a need for co-operative effort and group effectiveness which has never been equalled. Our very existence depends on our being able to work together in groups. The Army, the Navy, the civilian effort, must all be effective group effort, and must be inspired and vitalized by an understanding of what we are doing. The too tragic proof of the failure to understand and to work together is found in the Roberts report of the appalling disaster at Pearl Harbor. Deans and advisers in schools, colleges, and universities have a unique opportunity in their relationship to young people to help in giving them insight and understanding of the situation in which they are now involved and to help in integrating and vitalizing the war effort.

We have the privilege of a job which throws us with young people. It is our business to be their friend, guide, and counselor. Because of our association with many groups of young people throughout this broad land, we have the unique responsibility of leadership. It is our duty to help these young people to a new psychology, both for their sakes since they are floundering, and for the sake of our country whose leaders they will soon be. And we must ask ourselves what we have given the young of the nation in the past twenty years since the last war, in training and in teaching, that will endow them with the moral and physical courage which they now need. There have been a few modern trends in training and in teaching which have not tended to "condition" them, as our friends the psychologists say, to the terrific demands now made upon them.

We hear members of our own generation complaining that we no longer have security. We don't know what is going to happen to our incomes or to our professional lives. But there is a deeper insecurity in the modern picture which young people with their lives before them feel even more keenly than our own settled generation. In three very important, pretty fundamental, phases of life young people are shaken and insecure. One is in their economic life, one is in their social or moral life, and one is in their religious life.

The economic insecurity is a phase of their problem that we cannot do much to alleviate. We can only do our best to make them face it squarely and adventurously, with courage, and without the "Why did this have to happen to me?" psychology. Too many of them look at their troubles too personally. Katherine Mansfield said, "People today are simply cursed by what I call the Personal. What is happening to Me. Look at Me. This is what has been done to Me. It's just as though you tried to run and all the while an enormous black serpent fastened on to you." This egoism frightens me as it did Katherine Mansfield when I realize the enormity of the sacrifice of personal interests in the present situation, and I think parents and teachers and personnel workers and psychologists have all had their responsibility in focussing a young person's eyes on himself, on his or her own personal needs, his self development, his career. There has not for a long time been any fundamental teaching and encouragement of the responsibility to the group; the family group or the state group or humanity at large.

Our young college students are especially apt to have the personal approach since their privileged existence has encouraged the attitude and they do not realize in their youthful egoism that a very small part of society has ever had economic security. Nevertheless I am sympathetic with our young college men and women because they are perhaps less ready to face this professional and economic insecurity than other less fortunate young people.

I do not need to tell this audience how hard it is for young people to face the present uncertainties as to whether they can finish college, whether they will be drafted, whether the profession they have chosen is the right one in a world at war or a world after war, whether they can get married. These things come up every day in a college community and young people have a precarious economic future and may be thwarted in following out their life plan.

But that is not the only insecurity. Something else happened after the last war beside the economic chaos. There was social chaos. The code of social custom and usage that I was brought up to believe in has been literally demolished. The rigid moral code, the strict taboo about drinking, especially as far as women and minors were concerned, even the highminded attitude about honesty (and to my mind this last is the most serious), have vanished from the social picture. Young people have been confused especially on two great issues which they must now face, by the very teachings of our generation.

The first one has been partly clarified by the attack on Pearl Harbor and all the events of December 7 and thereafter. It was the big question of whether to fight. After the last war, we debunked war in our conversation, our teaching, our best sellers, and while these students were growing up they were taught that war was wrong, that anything was better than to fight. They grew to maturity in a decade of pacifism, and suddenly two years ago the same older group began to urge them to be ready to fight. If they were confused and a little resentful we cannot blame them. Moreover, December 7 was a shock to us, but the shock to us was as nothing compared with the surprise for the young. Any one who attempted in the past few years to tell the young people what was coming was labelled war monger, gloom dispenser, propagandist. The dangerous tendency to call even the straight forward truth propaganda is something this age has to worry about. The war to the young was not only the calamity which war always is, but it was completely unexpected. For some years they have emulated the proverbial ostrich and with their heads in the sand of apathy and self-delusion have not heard the rumblings of war. The explosion on December 7 shook them out of this attitude, but they are still bewildered. Their reaction nevertheless has been rather thrilling.

On another very fundamental issue, there has been and still is great confusion. For many generations there has been a very definite Christian moral code concerning the relations of the sexes. This age reveres science and in the twenties the teachings of a man named Freud were widely publicized and popularized, and he taught that restraint in these matters was the root of many evils and much mental disturbance. It is the kind of teaching that had a profound effect on a disillusioned, cynical post war generation. One has only to listen to the questions which the students ask in their Marriage Courses, the country wide demand for which indicated to my mind their confusion about that most vital social and natural relationship. Eighty per cent of their questions concern pre-marital relationships and usually are asked with a wish to have pretty extensive freedom justified. This is a tremendous problem, fundamental because of its social and its emotional significance. Now the psychiatrists are turning their backs on Freud to some extent and admit again that will-power and self-control have great value in the mental picture. If people of bygone generations have been upset mentally and emotionally by too great control and repression, our young people have been as badly disturbed by overindulgence and lack of self-control in these matters.

Another problem is that our young people—brought up by us, remember—are many of them hazy in their ideas of what is honest practice, as witness the problem which high schools and colleges face with cheating, cribbing, and plagiarism.

Honesty involves a great deal. It is not only an attitude toward education, but is essentially a fundamental attitude toward life itself, and involves in a powerful sense our relations with other people. I have been for some sixteen years now associated with college students on the campus of a large state university. I frequently discuss the question of honesty in college work with students. I have yet to raise the question with any group of students who did not admit that cheating was a formidable problem ranging all the way from copying each other's work and carrying "ponies" to class, to hiring the work done by another student or by an outsider. Reports crop up from time to time that clever students can earn a large proportion of their expenses, not just by tutoring, which is a legitimate means if properly handled, but by doing the written work of other students. The clever ones are seldom discovered—occasionally only, now that classes are so large and impersonal, some of the stupider ones are caught. Recently at a dinner talk I heard two students say that cheating on a certain campus was rare, because the professors were strict and "you couldn't get away with it." That the danger of being caught at it was the deterrent, and not an attitude abhorring dishonesty, did not seem strange to my young dinner companions.

There seem to be two aspects of the problem, two fundamental attitudes that are wrong. One is the attitude of the young people who come to college from home and preparatory school with hazy ideas of honesty; the other is the attitude of the colleges and universities in the presentation of higher education to the young people.

Let us discuss the first problem. For obvious reasons, the colleges and universities are not responsible for the lax attitude toward honesty which arrives at their doors when poorly trained students come. Training in honesty needs to begin at a very early age. Some fortunate individuals are born with an honest attitude. Others are fortunate enough to have parents who realize the importance of maintaining an honest approach to childish problems, and of making honesty an important issue. I think I must belong to this second group of fortunates. I remember being led by the hand to the home of our wash woman to apologize for a lie I had told her. I do not remember the lie or the washwoman, but the lesson made an indelible impression. One did not tell lies. Some people now would condemn this punishment for a shy child. Probably the reason why I remember the episode so vividly is because it was such an ordeal for me. But I think the lesson was worth it.

Too many children learn early in life that they can get their way by lying or can escape the consequences of their own acts by lying, and sadder still, some of them catch their parents in small, or large, deceptions, and learn from the older generation that a dishonest attitude is nothing unusual. Our public grade schools and our large publicly supported institutions of higher learning are teaching children that come from every kind of background. The burden of rebuking dishonesty and of teaching a straightforward outlook toward work and play is forced upon the schools whether they like it or not. What are the schools and universities doing about it?

The moral issue is the fundamental one. No system in school or university is going to make honest young people out of dishonest ones, but it seems to me that the present educational system sets up certain emphases and certain devices which, because they stress the wrong thing, present a blurred picture of what education really is, and foster dishonesty rather than correcting it.

In the first place, we have instituted a system of hours and honor points which reduces the college degree to a score card in the registrar's office. To work for the degree is the thing, not to develop the trained and disciplined mind and to find the wonders of education, and to get the degree the score card must show one hundred and twenty hours and a C average. D's and E's in some courses can be offset by A's and B's in others. What this all has to do with education is becoming more and more obscure, but the tendency is all in the wrong direction, and the fetish of the degree is more and more emphasized. Schools of Education, the departments that should be especially concerned at the trend, are demanding certification on a degree basis and are even entering politics to demand higher degrees as a basis for advancement. Teaching and personnel work are all in the picture. I had a very nice girl in my office who cheerfully told me that she and her brother at Purdue had worked out a fine system. She wrote his English themes for him and he did her science paper. Another poor little Jewish girl from a very limited background gave as her defense when she turned in as original a paragraph copied from a textbook, that she didn't copy from the text book, it was the girl who did her lesson for her who did it. The student is far more conscious of the necessity of getting grades in a course than he is of the riches of the mind which his university can offer him. Too seldom is the university presented to him as the light by which he can see the wonders of science, the lessons of history, the beauty of great literature, the excitement of learning another language, or the power that is given when we learn to use our own great language with effect.

It is the problem of numbers in our schools and colleges that has brought us to this pass. The wonder is that with such a system there are so many young people in all our schools who do see the light, who would not dream of compromising with the truth, who are too interested in their subjects not to want to make all the discoveries themselves, who want to be educated and will get the degree as a reward for work done, but not as an end in itself. We make a mistake when we help to obscure the issue by stressing the degree. Honesty has won a special significance—dishonesty is the breeding ground for Quislings and war opportunists.

Finally, the greatest insecurity of all is in religion. There has been a tremendous rebellion on the part of youth against organized religion. I think it is understandable, but I think it is tragic for any age to be without a faith or a clearly thought out philosophy of life. I explain it in large measure by the spirit of the age, which is an age of science. Young people have respect for science and science teaches them that nothing must be taken on faith. At least that is what they think science teaches. Actually all the great men of science teach the opposite. Those who have made great discoveries in the scientific world have had great faith and imagination—Newton with his law of gravity, Copernicus with his theory of the round world revolving around the sun, Darwin with his theory of evolution, and to be more modern, Pasteur, the founder of a new science—bacteriology—which has revolutionized the science and practice of medicine, and Mme. Curie with her theory of radioactivity. All of the great in science have had faith and imagination and have revealed something new and wonderful in the universal plan. There is nothing in great science that denies religion—and what our youth does not see is that even if they cannot accept the supernatural, that which cannot be proved, there still remains the great ethical teaching which is at the basis of all religion. Again I think it is partly our responsibility that they don't know anything about the great literature which is a wonderful part of the Christian heritage. One of the professors of English at Michigan said in despair one day that he could not refer in his classes to the story of the Good Samaritan or the story of the Prodigal Son and have any idea that more than half of the class knew what he was talking about. How can our young people be educated or do any thinking on religion if they do not know the basis of their own civilization?

We cannot build a fine morale for ourselves and our young people out of muddled, confused thinking on vital issues, out of self-pity and self-indulgence, out of dishonesty, out of a lax moral code and a feeble philosophy of life. We all know that Hitler could not have wrecked the foundations of European civilization if these same termites had not already weakened the structure. Here in America we have too many of the same weaknesses. The teachers and advisers have a unique chance to exterminate and then to rebuild.

The disarming of the past twenty-five years in America and Europe has not been only in the implements of war; it has been a disarming of the spirit; the spirit which has been our strength and heritage in past generations. The force of Christianity had to fail before Hitler could have his chance to debauch the spirit of his people and the people of Europe; the fine spirit of democracy had to be weakened by corrupt politics, selfish interests, the failure of the privileged groups, among them the college trained groups, to feel their responsibility toward society before our American democracy could be so threatened. I am not a disciple of the so-called Oxford movement, in fact there is much that I do not like about it, but one phrase which they have coined has great force. They talk of Moral Re-armament. It is that that we need as well as the building of ships and tanks and airplanes, and it is in that sphere that the profession we represent here today has its greatest challenge.

We must have the ships and tanks and airplanes, but we must also have character, and by character I mean now what it has always meant, courage and honesty and unselfishness and compassion. It is these things that education should train and foster and it has not done so in the period since the last war, a period first of great prosperity and self-indulgence, followed by the disillusioning thirties, a mood of frustration, cynicism, almost of despair. It has been easy to say cynically as the Englishman did during World War I, "The history of the human race is a discreditable episode in the life history of one of the most insignificant of the planets." Cynicism is apt to be clever, sometimes almost amusing, but I remember vividly hearing my father say that it always represented weakness. It is a defeated attitude and we do not want it now. We want to give our young people faith in themselves, belief in the nobility of which they are capable, a willingness to sacrifice for a great cause. The history of the human race is terrible, but it is also wonderful, a magnificent tale. I will match the cynicism with a simple sentence from one of the psalms, "I should utterly have fainted but that I believe verily to see the goodness of the Lord in the land of the living."

In the struggle that is ahead I believe that the question of whether we have character will determine whether we are ignominiously defeated or whether we have a great re-birth of the Christian democracy in which we all believe. I choose to believe in the latter, but it will not come true unless we make it happen.

Is it not rather moving that the gospel for the day in many churches for the second Sunday in Advent which this year fell on December 7 was the noble passage from St. Luke:

"And there shall be signs in the sun, and in the moon and in the stars; and upon the earth distress of nations with perplexity; the sea and the waves roaring; men's hearts failing them for fear, and for looking after those things which are coming on the earth; for the powers of heaven shall be shaken."

Many generations have suffered and been re-born—ours is not the first to suffer bitterly. Our redemption through sacrifice will come in the strength of the spirit. What is education if it does not build that strength?

Announcement: Grand Council announces that the recent vote of the active chapters of the fraternity, required by the constitution, resulted in a decision to postpone Convention of 1942, by more than the required two thirds majority.

There will therefore be no Convention this summer. Tabulation of the vote will be sent to chapters desiring it on application to Central Office.

Ideals

Banquet Speech by Mary Morrill, Ohio B, Beta Province Conference, April 25, 1941

IT WASN'T very long ago that one of our pledges came to me and said, "Molly, we talk about the ideals of Π Β Φ, we discuss standards, and so on, but what really are the ideals?" That question was arresting. The pledges have their pledge books which tell them about the standards, projects, history of Π Β Φ; they have been pledged and have seen other pledgings, so know that ritual thoroughly; one can point out that we set up worthy scholarship, high social standards, irreproachable personal conduct; that we are banded together for the cultivation of a noble womanhood—but does this help? Can we put down requirements one, two, three for the achievement of a noble womanhood? It is the spiritual, idealistic, intangible thoughts which go into the making of the standards and goals that, to me, make Π Β Φ the influence it is in our lives. Do we give these things the thought which they rightfully deserve? I told this pledge all of these things—and told her that to me those were the ideals which we must set up for ourselves—that one had to feel the ideals, and strive to make them part of one's-self, rather than read about them.

The true Pi Phi is one who not only accepts its ideals, but lives them, uses them as a constant source of help and inspiration. Let me cite an example of this. We have now living in Columbus an alumna who has been all over this country and surrounding ones as the wife of an army officer. She has hundreds of stories about what Pi Phi has meant to her in these strange places. At one time her husband was sent to the Philippine Islands. While there, other new people came in and one couple came who had just lost a daughter. Our alumna went to see this neighbor who was so completely broken by her daughter's death. The friendship which rose between these two women was made richer because the dead daughter had been a Pi Phi and her mother found solace in the thought that here was another woman who had shared many of the fine experiences of her daughter.

To me this is an example of living the ideals of Π Β Φ. Here is a Pi Phi who entered a home and gave true friendship and spiritual help which she herself had gained from her experience in the fraternity. She had been inspired, and in turn had the ability to inspire. Every one of us has that ability. Those who want to get the idealism and spiritual help which our fraternity has to offer can get it, but we have to find it for ourselves. One should enter an organization with a dual purpose; to give as well as to receive.

How can actives contribute to the realization of fraternity aims? Let us compare ourselves, the actives, to the midshipmen in the navy. Midshipmen are young men who are enrolled in the naval academy, receiving training to become officers later in life. We, too, are midshipmen, in the sense that we are training to be officers. No—we won't all become national officers, province officers, or even alumnæ club officers but some of us will and those who are not can still help in the training of the midshipmen who later come to serve. The girls accept the responsibility upon initiation of furthering the ideals of the fraternity. They contribute to the realization of fraternity aims: 1. by initiating girls who really deserve the honor which such membership bestows and who are capable of serving the fraternity; 2. by inspiring the pledges so that they become even better midshipmen than the group before and will know better how they can serve the ship; 3. by continuous service, not only to fellow midshipmen but also to those in rival organizations. Fraternity women must work together, else we cannot succeed.

Let us give thought now to our responsibilities to our nation.  $\Pi B \Phi$  is not an organization of merely social aims but one of far deeper and stronger purposes. We are all striving for the same goals—as fraternity women, as citizens—the same ideals—noble womanhood and the happiness of humanity.

We, the midshipmen, stand ready and anxious to serve. True, we have much to learn for we have not manned the ship for long; we lack experience, for never before have we stood in the firing line—but we were selected for our promise of future capacity and every one of us is anxious to prove worthy of that selection. So we look to our officers to give us the orders which we shall endeavor to carry through.

College students are aware of the crisis in the world today. We realize that once again the democratic philosophy is at stake. We recognize that war, not peace—that destruction, not building—appear to be the guiding principles. A new light envelops the colleges and universities—they are now seen as agencies of defense. It is through them that men and women are trained for national defense occupations, such as doctors, nurses, scientists, and engineers. It is also through them that special war activities are carried on. We see courses organized by the American Red Cross in which many young women are enrolled; we find university as the headquarters for such organizations as Bundles for Britain and Greek War Relief. The Civilian Pilot Training course is open to women, and several have received flying instruction. But even before agencies of national defense, colleges and universities are seen as agencies of the American purpose. It has long been recognized that one American ideal is opportunity for all—and certainly educational opportunity is the surest safeguard of our American way of life.

But we must look further ahead than this. Peace, not war—building, not destruction—is the normal environment of human progress and happiness. We as midshipmen need more than a willingness to serve, and a readiness to carry out orders. We need a guiding principle of allegiance to something far deeper and more fundamental than the moment and the call of the moment. The need is for something to build up our morale, as the patriotism of the people helps build the morale of the army. The fraternity is equal to that need—for on the masthead of our ship are the ideals and guiding principles for which we are looking. Let us lift our eyes above the confusion on deck and we will see, on the main mast—

“Whatsoever things are true, Whatsoever things are honest, Whatsoever things are just, Whatsoever things are pure,
 Whatsoever things are lovely, Whatsoever things are of good report.
 If there be any virtue, If there be any praise,
 Think—on these things.”

The Women's Fraternities and the War

By JESSIE OLSEN PULCIPHER, Alpha Xi Delta Editor

PARTICIPATION in national and civilian defense programs was listed briefly at National Panhellenic Congress sessions in New York City where it was learned that already three mobile kitchen units and nearly $40,000 have changed hands in an effort to relieve suffering, particularly in England.

The cash was given to the Canadian Red Cross, the American Red Cross, British War Relief, the Queen's Fund, the Nora Waln Fund, for defense bonds and for subscriptions for magazines for the more isolated camps.

A Δ Π, A Γ Δ, Γ Φ B, K A Θ, K Δ, Φ M, Π B Φ have made contributions to the regular relief agencies and K K Γ has sent money to its own Nora Waln Fund for refugee children in England. To each dollar contributed by K K Γ there have been four added in England so that children have been greatly helped through the fund administered by this Kappa author.

Σ K is buying a thousand dollars worth of magazine subscriptions for training camps so isolated that men assigned to them have inadequate recreational facilities.

A Γ Δ matched dollar for dollar money raised by its five Canadian chapters, all of which was given to the Canadian Red Cross. In addition one chapter contributed an equipped canteen for use in London.

Other canteen units have been put in the field in England by A Δ Π and Γ Φ B.

A Φ donated surgical kits bought with money collected by individual donations during five months of last year (1941). A special knitting project brought in 75 afghans.

A Δ Π reports that 25,000 hours of service have been recorded by members with Red Cross chapters throughout the country in only three months.

A Ξ Δ and Z T A have some of their fraternity funds invested in defense bonds.

A X Ω is raising money for the support of a hostel in England for bomb-shocked children under five years of age, following the precedent set in World War I when they adopted war orphans.

All N.P.C. fraternities have committees in the process of organizing some project and are encouraging their members to ally themselves with local defense and relief agencies. In some instances alumnae chapters have organized as Red Cross units or taken on defense projects.

Φ M's national defense committee has been operating since the fall of 1940 and is apparently better organized than many for its three fold program is outlined as follows: (1) support of national and civilian defense programs by encouraging cooperation individually or as groups with local organizations or urging that such groups be started. (2) Make vocational contacts with members to prepare them for the unsettled demands of this era of change and the necessity for flexibility which is upon us. (3) Aid chapters in meeting more rigid budgeting requirements, in planning more nourishing meals in the face of increased prices and planning more ingenious and less expensive parties.

Φ M's long standing philanthropy, the Healthmobile and a state nutritionist in Georgia where the sorority was founded, are tying in with the long term national defense program by concentrated effort toward stronger, better developed citizens through their health activities in eradicating tuberculosis and through improved diets.

SOCIAL HONORS

AGAIN we present our social honor girls, proof that college life is going on much as usual as to activities, in spite of new demands such as Red Cross. The list is far from complete, since only 44 chapters sent in pictures, due largely to the fact that in many cases awards are not made on campuses until after the ARROW deadline. Out of the many pictures sent in the Editor has tried to choose those of girls who best represent their campus and chapter life, in so far as the limitations of the reproduction possibilities of the photographs permitted.

MORTAR BOARD statistics are always of interest; this year two of our chapters had four members each, Colorado Alpha and Illinois Beta-Delta, the latter having four officers. Three other chapters of those reporting had three members each, Virginia Gamma, Arkansas Alpha, and Iowa Gamma; two had two each, Pennsylvania Beta and Missouri Alpha; and Kentucky Alpha had four members of Pallas, which is equivalent to Mortar Board.

War Emergency Finds Settlement School "ON THE ALERT"

BECAUSE responsible group agencies are expected to direct and coordinate all emergency effort, we know that  $\Pi B \Phi$  Settlement School must expand its services as community and nation increases war effort demands.

As a member of the Executive Board of the Local Chapter of the Red Cross, and Chairman of the Committee on Community Welfare, our Pi Phi Health Center nurse is taking an active part in organizing and furthering adult first aid classes, and all possible instruction vital to our National Defense Program. Every staff member and all School facilities combine to give all possible cooperation to the community participation in the emergency demands.

It is the belief of the Settlement School Committee that war needs may necessitate a greater service from Pi Phi, and some increased use of our plant and staff. Just what need will be our added privilege to serve we do not know, but we are confident that if a need presents itself the strength of Pi Phi's will to serve will make possible our meeting that need with credit.

With no lessening of our already pledged service, we expect to meet additional responsibilities as they come. No worthy burden is too great when backed by the united effort of  $\Pi B \Phi$ .

NEWS FROM LITTLE PIGEON

Edited by MILDRED ODELL SALE, North Dakota A

John Poore, new Arts and Crafts teacher, is a graduate of the University of Tennessee, where he received a Teaching Fellowship, after graduating, in the field of special education for the exceptional child, for his Master of Science Degree with a major in Arts and Crafts and minor in Education. He has taught Jewelry and Metal Crafts at Penland School of Crafts in North Carolina, and at Christenberry Junior High School Art Department at Knoxville, Tennessee, before joining the Pi Phi staff this past fall. Mr. Poore is a member of K  $\Sigma$ , and of the honorary fraternity,  $\Phi$   $\Delta$  K.

The courses now being taught by Mr. Poore, in the Arts and Crafts Shop include Jewelry, Metal Crafts, Ceramics, Block Printing, and the Native Crafts. In Jewelry the students are studying the fundamental techniques of constructing and decorating rings set with semi-precious stones, sterling silver pins and clips, a combination of copper and brass bracelets, and decorative chains. In their Metal Work in constructing plates, trays, bowls, lamps, candle sticks, bookends, structural and decorative design is being stressed. Laboratory problems in ceramics include the techniques of hand building of familiar animals and the like, wheel throwing, pressing from moulds, slip casting, glazing, and the firing of the kiln that was just purchased for the department this past year. The methods of textile decoration are also being studied which include the various techniques of block printing, stenciling, and tie dyeing.

The problem of Education in the field of Crafts is met and solved in the following ways here at the school. There is first an organized method for solving problems. This naturally reduces the period of learning because of its completely controlled conditions. It also reduces the cost of discovering the abilities of the students by the method of shifting them from an unsuitable Craft, say possibly Ceramics to Metal Work, which probably is more suited to the talents, aptitudes, and likes of the particular boy or girl. Therefore they will have a keener interest in finding their work because they are better adjusted and adapted to it through such an intergration of likes and dislikes.

These students after this has been done will learn by doing each of the Crafts until they find the one they like to do the most. Trying out the Craft is the best test of fitness for it. Working at the Craft is the most effective way to gain proficiency in its performance. Through training in this way by actual participation the Crafts that they select are able to measure their own interests and talents against the actual requirements and working conditions of the Craft. This is important because they can get some idea of what is required in the work as a whole; they can learn whether or not their interests should be directed toward this field or another field of economic activity. The Craft program at the Settlement School here consequently furnishes an excellent opportunity to use organized participating experiences for instruction.

Juniors and Seniors at the school are allowed to take the Arts and Crafts courses. The course is an elective one, and consequently the boys and girls taking it are genuinely interested in their work. There are also adult classes and the Crafts department is open afternoons and two evenings a week for both students and adults to work if they so wish.

As an added incentive to do fine work in the Crafts the students are permitted to sell their finer articles of workmanship in the Arrow Craft Shop. Quite a few of the more practical minded talented students have taken advantage of this offer and over $200 worth of their articles has been sold during the last few months.

Boston Area Pi Phis—We Salute You

THE New England Flower Show is an interesting and beautiful memory to over 100,000 visitors.

Selling over \$2,000 worth of Arrowcraft to these visitors goes down in  $\Pi \Phi$  history as a merchandising achievement. Success of this alumnae venture goes beyond our fondest hopes.

It all happened this way. In January your Settlement School committee was surprised and delighted to receive an invitation to participate in the New England Spring Flower Show, to be held through March 16 to 21 in Boston. The invitation came from Mr. Harlan P. Kelsey, president of the Association. Because the Great Smokies was to be the theme of this year's flower show, Mr. Kelsey had toured the Smoky Mountain region under the guidance of Major Aiken, Superintendent of the Great Smoky Mountain National Park. So impressed was Mr. Kelsey with the importance of Pi Beta Phi's endeavor, and so pleased was he with the quality and beauty of our Arrowcraft products that he suggested immediately that a showing of our products would add greatly to the featuring of the Great Smokies.

Further, because he was impressed with the unselfish service of our philanthropy, he suggested that an exception might be made which would allow us to sell our products if we wished to make some money for our project. Ordinarily, only garden supplies are sold at these Flower Shows.

The invitation was accepted, and Beth Le Roy, Boston member of the Settlement School Committee, enthusiastically took charge and enlisted the help of over fifty Pi Phis. Special appreciation is due Mrs. Kenneth Wildes, who worked full time daily to coordinate the efforts of so many generous Pi Phis. The Fraternity and the Settlement School Committee are indebted for all time to those loyal enthusiastic Pi Phis, the active girls of Massachusetts Alpha and of the Boston Alumnae Club, whose spontaneous response to this sudden call to hard labor deserves honorable mention along with our gratitude. To the satisfaction which all Pi Phis will feel because of the national recognition of the quality and high standards of our Settlement School service will be added the even greater joy occasioned by the completely unselfish cooperation of Boston area Pi Phis in their enthusiastic effort to do justice to a wonderful opportunity.

To compensate for the hard work there were many amusing incidents and human interest stories.

A passing visitor remarked, "Look! They're Greeks! They don't look like Greeks." Another watching intently said, "Mountaineers! I don't see that they're any different from the rest of us."

A member of another fraternity came rushing up to the booth on Saturday and said, "I came especially to find out what the Pi Phis have that we haven't. Every girl that I have recommended this year at different colleges has gone  $\Pi \Phi$ ! What is it you have?"

"The Settlement School," of course, was the answer.

The stock was lovely. Much credit goes to Ethel Snow, Arrowcraft Director, and her staff of girls who packed so beautifully the huge shipment from Arrowcraft. Pi Phis expressed joy in handling the lovely linens and fine wool. Almost the first sale was the single bed coverlet and a large hooked rug, and the Whig Rose things disappeared rapidly.

Gene Redding, our weaving director at the school, added greatly to the interest of our booth by weaving at her loom. Many fine talks were given about our work by Gene, Anna Nickerson, Sarah Rugg and Beth Le Roy.

Both Gene and Beth were invited to appear on Connie Stackpole's New England Cupboard Broadcast—Station WNAC.

On Tuesday of the show Mrs. Priscilla

Fortescue broadcast on her program an announcement of our part in the Flower Show, and planned for Gene to be interviewed over the radio the week following the show. There was much publicity for the Fraternity, all good. The newspaper syndicate and the Christian Science Monitor asked for copy. Pi Beta Phi Settlement School was on the map as far as Boston was concerned.

So thorough and eager are Boston Pi Phis that they are planning to have sales in Melrose and other small towns following the show until the $3,000 stock is entirely sold. They are priding themselves that nothing will go back to the School but money.

So again Pi Phi's great asset—our Settlement School—has proved how deep-rooted is the desire to express humble gratitude for our blessings in terms of unselfish labor to promote the happiness and well being of others.

The Committee regrets the loss by death of Mr. Steve Whaley, fine Gatlinburg citizen and good friend of the Settlement School through all the years of its existence. For many years Mr. Whaley gave loyal service to the School in the local committee—his friendship and wise advice will be greatly missed.

The Pi Phis seem to be on the move—Central Office is hoping that members everywhere who make any change will at once notify Central Office of their new address. Says

Nurses Unit

In January the Northwestern University General Hospital Unit No. 12, of the United Army Medical Corps was ordered into active service at Camp Custer, Mich., for preliminary training before possible work overseas—and with it went Katherine Baltz, Minnesota A, as chief of its staff of 120 nurses. Her experience as surgical nursing instructor at County Hospital in Chicago was fine preparation for her work in the unit, which will eventually have with it almost 700 medical specialists, and will be equipped to care for from 1,000 to 2,000 patients.

NOTE: The United States Government is asking for more nurses like this.

Dr. Clementine Bash

One of the outstanding Pi Phis who spent her life as a medical missionary in China was Dr. Clementine Bash, sister of Mary I. Bash, Washington A, now associate dean of women in the University of Washington. Their father, because he was interested in the promotion of railways in China, took his family to Peking. There, when Clemmie was fourteen years old, she became so deeply interested in the Chinese that she decided to become a missionary doctor.

As a member of the petitioning group, which later became Washington A of  $\Pi B \Phi$ , Clementine gave it much courage and inspiration. In 1906 she was graduated from the University of Washington with high honors, winning  $\Phi B K$ ; in 1911 she received her doctor's degree from the Women's Medical College of Philadelphia.

After serving her internship in New York City, in 1913 Dr. Bash sailed for Peking, where she joined the staff of the Douw Presbyterian Hospital, later becoming its superintendent. Here for twenty years she gave her time and strength until her death on December 23, 1941. It was no wonder that many sought this place of service as the "hospital with a heart." Daily she lived Christ. She will live on and on in the lives of the many she helped to know Him. One who was most intimately associated with Dr. Bash has said, "Earth is poorer for her going, and she will be sorely missed. I wonder if any member of our Peking staff was ever so loved by the Chinese, or ever so loved them."

Purdue Faculty

Martha Ann Anthony, Missouri  $\Gamma$ , is now on the faculty of Purdue. She is at the same time getting her Master's degree in chemistry. She is also head of one of the girls' dormitories there.

While a student, Martha Ann Anthony was outstanding on the campus. She was an assistant in the chemistry and mathematics departments.

Martha Ann was listed in Who's Who in 1940.

With Pan-American

The thrill of being the first woman on the west coast to work in the traffic department of the Pan American Airlines came to Louise McMaster of Oregon B this last summer. From her office on Treasure Island in San Francisco Bay, Louise could watch the arrival and departure of the large clipper ships.

Her work consisted of charting trips for passengers to such parts of the World as New Zealand, Shanghai, Guam, Midway, Honolulu, Japan, and many other places. Due to the everchanging conditions of the world at present, many new problems and situations confront Louise's department every day. Meeting celebrities, government officials, and people from all parts of the globe is a daily occurrence for Miss McMaster.

Many hours of study were necessary to gain the knowledge needed for such a position, but it has all had its reward. In that Miss McMaster may have an opportunity of being transferred to interesting places like Guam, South America, Midway, and many other places where Pan American Airlines have extensions, when the war is over.

Head of Women's Defense Group Is Capable Leader

Margaret Fry Pierce, Maryland, A, who gives confidence to workers, is well qualified to lead activities as President, Pasadena Panhellenic.

"Little did Mrs. Lewis Ives Pierce realize when she majored in social welfare at Goucher College, Baltimore, that she would be called upon to use her knowledge in anything so important as a national emergency.

But now as the newly appointed chairman of Women's Activities in the Pasadena Defense Council, she is challenged with an application of her capabilities in a truly great movement.

She faces the challenge earnestly and cheerfully, giving confidence to all her fellow workers, just as she has in the past as president of the College Women's Club, the Woman's Civic League, and as committee worker in these and other women's organizations of the city.

Her job at present is mainly to see that women of Pasadena are adequately represented on the committees of the Defense Council and to see that there is no overlapping of women's activities in national defense and community development fields.

Mrs. Pierce has always been a civic-minded person. She reads everything she can find along these lines and serves vitally in the Pasadena Council of Social Agencies.

She was born in Paris, France, but grew up in Pasadena, attending local public schools before going to college.

Her hobbies are swimming and golf, and besides all her other jobs she does most of her own housework; likes to get meals, and wash the dishes afterwards; believes thoroughly that women should stick to the things they are best fitted to do, and leave men's work for the men."

Wisconsin Dean

As assistant Dean of Women, with the supervision of sorority affairs among her special jobs, Helen Kayser, Wisconsin A, since her appointment in 1933, has been a close friend of Wisconsin Alpha and of Wisconsin sororities generally.

Helen Kayser, born and raised in Madison—her father was mayor of Madison from 1914 to 1916, naturally went to the University of Wisconsin and was initiated into  $\Pi B \Phi$  on October 18, 1910.

After graduation, she was employed almost continuously in a department store in Madison as personnel director and as manager of the gift shop, except for a year spent doing social service work in Alabama.

Shimer Librarian

of the A.L.A., and is just completing a book, the result of research work in Washington last year.

The title, "Field Adviser of the State of New York, on Tuberculosis and Public Health of the State Charities Aid Association" is rather a complicated one, and is obscure to most people. Say

Juanita Frey Ludwigs

Music, a hobby which has grown into an avocation, has carried Juanita Frey Ludwigs, Nevada A, to the highest position her state can offer a musician, and has brought her into national prominence as well.

Already a skilled solo pianist and accompanist at the time of her graduation from the University of Nevada in 1917, she kept in touch with things musical during the several years that she taught in the high schools of Nevada and Washington. Her marriage in 1925 to Frank Ludwigs (A T Ω Washington State), a jeweler of Walla Walla, Washington, gave her an opportunity to further her musical education at Whitman College, where she received in 1930 a state supervisor's certificate in public school music and a teacher's certificate in piano. She is a member of M Φ E, national music honor fraternity.

As an active participant in musical activities of Walla Walla, Mrs. Ludwigs became interested in the Washington State Federation of Music Clubs and was their American music chairman in 1931, arranging radio programs throughout the state.

Woman's Counselor

If any of you recent honor graduates fear failure after a brilliant college career, look at the promising work being done by Virginia Reinecke, Illinois

"Christmas Seals" and a gleam of light dawns. But—such is the title, and work, of Mary Lou Heaton.

Mary Lou Heaton's work is with the local associations selling Christmas Seals to combat tuberculosis—in New York State, and most of her time is spent in travelling in Upstate counties, dealing with people—all kinds, from the negro minister who wants to lead his flock out of their trouble; the Junior Leaguer who wants a "different" program; the slow spoken judge; the winter sports leader, and dozens of others. Says Mary Lou, "People are fun—and there is nothing more absorbing than personalities, and I meet them every day, for this work knows no barriers. Tuberculosis recognizes no distinction, and all groups must know the facts about it."

One of the most important functions of the association is the creation of public opinion in favor of desirable projects or legislation which will aid in the control of tuberculosis.

At present, Mary Lou Heaton is one of four field advisers for the State Coommittee, which is the parent group of 60 local associations in the counties and larger cities of New York State. For two and a half years preceding this, she was the executive secretary of the Newburgh Public Health and Tuberculosis Association. Other activities include classes in Social Hygiene for N.Y.A. groups and Y.W.C.A. clubs, and, she taught in the public schools of Powder River County, Montana, for three years. During her "spare time" she writes poetry, some of which was published in "The Greek Letter," one poem "Western Winter" has been selected for the 1942 issue of "The Poetry Digest Annual Anthology of Verse."

Under her leadership, the Fine Arts Department of the Washington State Federation of Women's Clubs, of which she is first vice-president, won three national awards for outstanding work. And now, for the years 1938-40, she has accepted the pleasures and responsibilities of the presidency of the Federation of Music Clubs of her adopted state.

Unusual recognition of a western state occurred with Mrs. Ludwigs' appointment to the chairmanship of the Division of Music of the General Federation of Women's Club—the first state president to be so chosen. After having charge of the General Federation Council Meeting in San Francisco during the summer of 1939, she attended the ten-day Biennial of the National Federation of Music Clubs in Baltimore.

In the midst of these activities Mrs. Ludwigs finds time to take a keen interest in the extensive business enterprises of her husband's firm, one of the oldest in the state, and to be a charming hostess in her delightful home in Walla Walla.

RUTH MILLER FERRIS, Nevada A

B-A, and take hope. Assistant counselor of women at the University of Oklahoma and director of Union activities is the encouraging title held by this young Pi Phi, who was graduated from Knox College in June, 1938.

As author of a lengthy article in the March issue of a bulletin published by the Association of College Unions, she has received nation-wide attention as an authority on the social side of college life. This story, the text of an address she made before the association in December, concerns all-college dances, the bane of a counselor's life. How to appeal to all students, the financial side of college dances, and intriguing new ideas for a theme are all discussed and elaborated.

Coming to a college campus at mid-semester to fill the place of a successful predecessor is hard enough, but to top it off, filling the place of an old friend is worse. This was the situation Virginia Reinecke faced when she joined ranks to supplant Margaret Gessner Twyman, also of Illinois B-Δ, last spring.

She succeeded in making friends readily with both students and faculty members, in addition to winning their respect. And who wouldn't respect a girl who immediately put her "Collegian Club" dances on a paying basis, inaugurated a "Sooner Carnival," and began an annual Leap week.

Following the precedent she set for herself by winning the 1938 Amy B. Onken award for Eta province, she was the recipient of the annual mention given by the local Theta Sigma Phi chapter to the faculty member contributing most to the university during the year.

A member of the American College Personnel association, Virginia received the degree of Master of Arts in Personnel Administration last summer at Northwestern University. She is a member of Mortar Board, Π Α Θ, honorary education fraternity, and in college was president of her chapter, president of the college Y.W.C.A., and was listed in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

Joanne Taylor

Lavina Merrick, D.C. A, is "Joanne Taylor" for John Taylor's, of Kansas City. She writes of her work: "Joanne Taylor" has become quite an institution in this part of the country. The work consists of a 15 minute radio show six days a week, heading up the Personal Shopping Service and lecturing to Consumer groups. I feel it quite an honor to have this position, as the original "Joanne Taylor" on the air was Caroline Ellis of network fame, and I am the third one in nine years.

"During the American Royal I had the privilege of broadcasting over KMBC, the Coronation Ceremony. No doubt you know that Shirley Shaver, Jr., at Kansas State and a Pi Phi was one of the two princesses selected. It was my pleasure to interview Shirley on my 9:00 A.M. Joanne Taylor program. At that time we had an opportunity to mention Pi Phi. During the broadcast the photographer took some shots and under separate cover I'm sending you one of these, as you might be interested in what happens when two Pi Phis get together in Kansas City."

Broadway Star

Did you see the full page picture of Judith Evelyn (Evelyn Morris, Manitoba Alpha) in the March 1 issue of Vogue? Hers is a story of brilliant success on the stage which followed dramatic work in college, and New York critics said of her this year "the one bright spot on Broadway this season." Her success in "Angel Street" climaxes an interesting career which has included stage appearances with Edward Everett Horton and Ben Lyon, much broadcasting over the Canadian Broadcasting in the past and at present in the radio show, "Helpmate," in the part of Grace Marshall—and she was among those rescued from the Athenia! The Winnipeg alumnae club recently made her subject of a talk at one of their meetings, and here is part of the letter which she sent to them then, and which came to the ARROW from Isabel Clark:

"It may be of interest to you to know that my fraternity pin is still with me. It was fortunately in Canada when my belongings went to the bottom of the ocean in the Athenia episode. It has many wonderful and exciting memories for me, and I am still a grateful member of that group of girls who became charter members of Pi Beta Phi in 1929. It would be difficult for any of the younger girls to realize the great emotional experience we all had from the "mother" initiation and the inspiring effect of Miss Onken's presence, but I am certain that each new group is being instilled with Pi Phi ideals and scholastic interest, and that each new pledge will pass through her initiate and into the alumnae richer, more fully developed personality because of her affiliation with this great fraternity."

Two Thousand Dollars and Alice Wood

Outstanding achievement deserves recognition. The Berkeley Alumnae Club of  $\Pi B \Phi$  is most happy to have this opportunity of bestowing upon Alice Satterthwaite Wood such recognition.

Alice Wood comes to us from Michigan A and we know her own chapter will feel equally as proud of her as we do. The old saying "The willing horse is always overworked" is certainly true in this case. In spite of her small stature Alice has always carried heavy burdens which others have shunned.

Alice Wood, Michigan A

We all know the question has been raised as to whether or not our Settlement School project is still a necessary or worthwhile one. The answer should be found in the following account.

For three years Alice Wood has headed our Settlement School committee. The first year 1938-39 she struggled in vain and very little was accomplished. Our total sales were $253.05.

The second year 1939-40 our sales bounded to $680.75. This impetus was due to a display held in Berkeley by the Golden Gate Weavers, a non-commercial organization, who displayed weaving from all over the United States. Alice Wood was hostess in charge of our things. It was a fine opportunity to get our goods before a new group of people.

In the third year 1940 at the Pasadena Convention, there was a wonderful display of goods.

At the same time we were having our big Panama Pacific Exposition on Treasure Island. When it was suggested to Alice Wood that she assume the responsibility of bringing the display to the exposition and putting it before the public, she at once tackled this gigantic and arduous task. Her willingness to work hard and faithfully, her spirit to carry on in spite of difficulties, soon began to make an impression and gradually she gathered around her a group who gave her loyal assistance.

This same year a new high was reached. Instead of the old feeling of we must have a sale of our goods, and "I guess we ought to buy something to help the cause along," a new atmosphere was created. In our newly decorated and enlarged California B chapter house, an open house was held. At that tea the Settlement School stole the show. The articles were not massed in a corner or a single room, but artfully displayed throughout the house, each in its proper setting and only enough of one article used to make its true worth apparent. The result was amazing. The hand weaving and handicraft was appreciated for its own sake and its own beauty. No sales were allowed. One would only look and admire. The next day when the goods went on sale people came to buy because they really wanted to. They felt we were doing them a favor to give them the opportunity of purchasing such beautiful handwork at such reasonable prices.

Our total sales for that year 1940-41 were two thousand dollars. Little wonder is it that our Grand Vice-President thought it was two hundred dollars and gave credit to the wrong chapter for the highest sales. The records show that this is an unheard of amount. It doubles the sales any other club has ever made in all our history.

Alice Wood typifies the ideal of service to the Settlement School and to  $\Pi B \Phi$ . Modesty is one of her many virtues. She rightfully says that what was accomplished was due to the efforts of many. What she fails to see is that she was responsible for creating their interest in the work. Handling the Settlement School goods, studying their background and feeling their worth in binding all  $\Pi B \Phi$  to a common aim, she lifted an almost lost cause, as far as this club was concerned, out of the doldrums and made for herself and her Fraternity a new record. Her enthusiasm kept her going even at the expense of her health. This year she was forced to turn the work over to other hands. However her interest and support are still felt. The new leader and her committee feel that the work of Alice Wood should not have been in vain. They are working with such fervor that when the books are closed for this year an equally surprising result will be registered. Our slogan from now on might well be "Remember Alice Wood and the two thousand dollars."

FROM PI PHI PENS

DOWN RYTON WATERS

A belated welcome to this department is extended to Eva Roe Gaggin, New York A, for only recently did we learn that she is the author of several delightful young people's books. All of which is our loss, for if her latest book Down Ryton Waters is a sample of her writing, we have delayed too long in making her acquaintance.

It is a far cry from the saccharine books we were allowed to read as girls to the well-constructed, adventurous books Mrs. Gaggin writes for young people. We found ourselves moved by the plot, sympathetic with the characters and fascinated by the great wealth of historical detail in Down Ryton Waters. We know of no greater compliment to pay the author than to say that this is the type of book intelligent parents would want their children to read and, what is more important, it is the type of book the youngsters themselves would want.

Young Matt Over tells his adventurous story in the first person. He's only five when the tale begins in Scrooby, England one June day in 1608. He's a healthy, normal boy, not unlike the youngsters of today. If a fellow found a messenger of the cruel Stuart king flinging abuses at his mother and the only thing he had for ammunition was a big, fat, slippery eel, would anyone blame him for using the eel to advantage? That's just how Young Matt reasoned before he sent the messenger reeling away in haste and discomfort. The unwelcomed guest dropped his whistle which would have summoned all the king's men in the vicinity with disastrous results for the little Over family. Matt's mother, Orris, declares that the whistle shall never be blown unless a member of the family need to summon aid. Years later, when Young Matt has grown to man's estate with a family of his own, the whistle is blown under amusing circumstances. That occurrence neatly ties together the first and last incidents of the book.

In addition to Young Matt and his mother, the family consists of strong, courageous Father Matt, an older sister Winnifret and the baby 'Memby. One cold misty morning they slip down to Ryton Ford to begin a secret journey to search for freedom from oppression. Orris carries with her a bowl of plants from her precious herb garden. Their journeys take them to Amsterdam and Leiden and finally on the Speedwell to Plymouth Harbor. To each new place, Orris brings cuttings from her plants. Here at last in the New World is fertile ground where they will thrive and grow strong, safe from the trampling feet of king's men. Here is where her children will thrive, grow up and have families of their own, safe from the oppression of the Stuart king. A few years later, when the story ends, the children have all left her fireside to establish homes of their own, but Mother Oris finds she is needed. A very young Over blows the whistle to summon aid.

Down Ryton Waters was the January selection for girls of the Junior Literary Guild. It should, however, find a wide appeal among boys who enjoy historical novels. It not only has a wealth of historical facts, but the pace of its plot is fast, its story adventurous. And so, welcome to this department again, Mrs. Gaggin. May we see your name often among authors of new books by Pi Beta Phi!

THE AUTHOR: Eva Roe Gaggin grew up in Cambridge, Massachusetts. As a little girl she used to gaze up at the bronze statue of John Bridge on Cambridge Common. Her grandfather was a John Bridge and so was her uncle and a cousin or two. The fanciful imagination of the little girl turned the bronze of the statue into flesh and blood. She began to wonder how they lived and what they were like, and ever since then she has never ceased delving into the fascinating lives and backgrounds of the first settlers.

Her literary career began at the tender age of eight, when her first short story won a prize offered by a Boston newspaper. The author traveled about with her father in different parts of the world, spent several years in Switzerland, returned to study at Oberlin, and finally was graduated from Syracuse University.

The author indulges in her unusual hobby of collecting herbs and wild flowers, during summers spent on an island in the St. Lawrence River. Someone told her that nothing but weeds grew there, so she collected over three hundred specimens of wild flowers in three months to prove they were wrong.

She recently published a young people's book Green Learning, wherein her vast knowledge of herbs and wild flowers furnished the title. In another book, An Ear for Uncle Emil, she uses the rich experience of the years spent in Switzerland for her background.

WHAT THE REVIEWERS SAY: "A beautifully written book, providing a live portrayal of the Pilgrims, an out-of-the-ordinary interpretation of the Founding Fathers, a warm, appealing story of family life. It is, too a book with a challenge for these days, when freedom is again threatened and we may well recall at what sacrifices it was established in America."—Christian Science Monitor, Boston.

"A meaty book, full of real people and never 'written down.'"—The New Yorker, New York City.

"A beautiful and moving book."—Daily News, Chicago.

"Of all the year's fiction for young people, this is probably the most distinguished contribution, strongly, tenderly, and beautifully told. . . . This will be no easy story for a boy or girl to forget."—Dallas Morning News, Dallas, Texas.

CANON BRETT

Herewith, we present a brand new Mary Badger Wilson, D.C. A and New York B. She's the one and the same person who authored "rosy romances," to borrow her own phrase, but now she has betaken herself into more weighty novel writing. But no implication of stodginess is meant. Her plots remain entertaining and well-constructed, her characters life-like. However, in her new novel Canon Brett, she weaves her plot around a central theme that is of concern to many sincere individuals.

The Reverend John Brett has devoted the better part of his forty odd years to his poor little parish and the mill folk who are "his people." His denomination allows marriage, but he has never concerned himself with these matters. Ministering to his impoverished people, guiding underprivileged boys from a life of crime, clinging to the tenets of his church even though it means incurring the anger of his only wealthy parishioner—these are the matters that have filled his life. Not even his impossible sister, Grace, who continually nags him about his small salary can deter him from his purpose or rob him of the contentment his work affords him.

But John finds the even tenor of his ways upset when the Bishop of Midcity Cathedral appoints him to a minor canonicate. Thousands of dollars must be raised to complete the cathedral and a good-looking clergyman such as Brett would be a very useful tool to wheedle the cost of a transept or a rose window from affluent dowagers. Then too, reasons the Bishop, Brett's vote can be counted upon for "modernizing" the administration of cathedral affairs.

With misgivings, John sets about his task of collecting the needed funds, from prospect lists furnished by his superior. While executing his duties, a wealthy matron introduces him to her niece, Lisa, estranged wife of a habitual drunkard. Lisa is a strong character, courageous and understanding. John finds himself attracted to her because she possesses the same qualities that he has. They fall desperately in love but Lisa realizes that even though she could win her freedom on grounds that John's church would recognize they would never be able to make their marriage a success. Lisa proves herself the stronger of the two. Gossips whisper ugly and totally unfounded rumors. Ironically, the Bishop, whom John feels is "too modern" is the very one who dismisses him from his invaluable work of building men's souls instead of building cathedrals, for the reason that his love for Lisa reveals him "too modern" to carry on his churchly duties. It never occurs to the Bishop that the rumors might be unfounded. John is a lost man when he finds all his work destroyed and himself falsely accused but he musters the courage and strength to work out his own destiny and find again the peace he knew.

Miss Wilson's book should be considered from two points of view. First let us consider the story elements. The plot is expertly constructed and the characters are exceptionally well-drawn. They are so true to life that their counterparts will have been met by many readers. This fact brings us to the second consideration—that of the central theme of the book and the question it raises: If the first obligation of organized religion is to bring people closer to God, should it borrow modern business methods by employing such means as high pressure salesmen of transept windows and prospect lists of wealthy dowagers who have already given large sums but are good for more? Sometimes, the author implies, we are hard pressed to see the church because of the ornaments. Miss Wilson handles the question admirably; she considers it from many angles without prejudice.

And the answer? This is John Brett's answer in the concluding chapter: "The world had become hostile to Christianity. . . . But Christianity had been born in a hostile world, and had grown strong in adversity. Surely it could be reborn now. But not, John told himself, by popular shortcuts to salvation—only through the dedication of individual lives to the Christian principle."

THE AUTHOR: Mary Badger Wilson appeared in this department as far back as February, 1934. Ever since then, she has published consistently. Her short stories have appeared in the Saturday Evening Post and other prominent magazines. Among her books are History of St. Albans, Borrowed Plumes, Yesterday's Promise, Separate Star, From Nine to Five, New Dreams for Old, and The Painted City. As we go to press, Miss Wilson writes that she is unable to furnish us with further biographical facts, because of the serious illness of her mother. Here's wishing Mrs. Wilson a complete and speedy recovery.

WHAT THE REVIEWERS SAY: "This is emphatically a distinguished book. Distinguished in its thought, in its uncompromising integrity both as to material and artistic rightness, particularly distinguished in its unusual central theme and in its central character."—J. S. Southron in The New York Times.

"This is an honest piece of work, careful in detail and sincere and, what is more, interesting."—The Washington Post, Washington, D.C.

"Those who like a serious novel, fundamentally a character study, will be richly satisfied by this sincere and warm portrait of a mental struggle against money, love and conscience limned against the gray walls of the enfolding cathedral."—Beacon-Journal, Akron, Ohio.

WHAT A FRATERNITY GIRL THINKS . . .

Edited by CANDACE SECOR ARMSTRONG, Iowa Γ

What the Girls Think of War

We've been collecting articles on subjects connected with national offence—which seems a more fitting term since we are engaging in active war, not merely warding off its possibility. In our hands when the war broke were the following interesting contributions for "What a Fraternity Girl Thinks." They were written in October, which adds to their interest.

OF PRESENT DAY ACTIVITIES

Today on all sides we hear talk of war, marriage, politics and our own fight for democracy. Is it, as Hamlet says, just a matter of "words, words, words" or does the fraternity woman of today do more than think, and talk? Does she act? Our present day activities are bound up with the present day crisis, but do we of the fraternities realize this, or do we live in glass houses, set aside from the off-campus world? We of Washington A have just built a beautiful new house and I recently heard a father inspecting it remark, "My, these sorority women literally live in an ivory tower!" He was wrong. We have built something beautiful and permanent to work in while we live today, and something which will house and inspire young women long after this present war and crisis are forgotten. It is necessary in these times when everything is built for destructive purposes to have also things which remind us of the higher, more permanent goals in life.

But it is true that the fraternity woman must avoid the ivory tower where nothing outside her own comfort, dates, and studies count. Her place in the national emergency is not the spectacular place men hold. She must be one of the group that make the country livable despite the war emergency. First, she is one of the few who can carry on the culture of the country. Literature, art, and music classes unnecessary to actual defense, must be kept alive for the future America. The fraternity woman can stimulate interest in these courses. A group could then teach what they had learned to discuss groups formed among the soldiers, using a small camp library which they could furnish with the better literature, or musical recordings of classical nature, or art reproductions borrowed from the art museums to supplement their talks. I am sure young university-army men would find this a welcome diversion in their army life.

Also the fraternity woman must be one of the group that carries on the social work of the country. With the big defense projects under way there are few left to work on the large social-work programs we have, once run by W.P.A. and N.Y.A. help, now standing still because of insufficient workers. Instead of empty activities (empty in the sense they have no lasting value) fraternity women could make it "the thing to do" to help on these desperately needed programs (housing projects, child care clinics, etc.). In this way they could make a real and valuable contribution to civic life in the community.

Also the fraternity woman can help the young people her age find things of lasting value. Today all too many young people feel only the "temporary crisis, brink, and nothing more" type of world. Our fraternity stands for values in life which nothing can destroy. In this time of uncertainty it is up to the fraternity woman to make all about her realize these values and live with them, for

"What so ever things are true—
—We think on these things."

HILDUR COON, Washington A

OF WAR WORK

I am sure it would be interesting to Pi Phi's all over to hear something of the type of war work carried on by Canadian college girls. On our own campus there is a "women's Service Training Detachment" in which students are enrolled as privates or officers and wear a special uniform. These girls have regular drill and take lectures on various aspects of war work—secretarial, air-raid precautions, food administration and other similar subjects. Courses in First Aid, Home Nursing and Motor Transport are also available. Many college girls work regularly at the Red Cross, and, of course, the click of knitting needles is now a familiar sound in the lecture room. In our residences there is a special girl in charge of knitting and the output of garments per year is prodigious.

Many girls have joined the Red Cross Transport Service while still at the university and, after a period of intensive training, are seen driving trucks and station wagons in the service of this great organization. Another project which can be undertaken on the campus itself is raising money for war charities. The fraternities as a whole, under the banner of Panhellenic, are making a real effort to make enough to buy utilicons for the Red Cross. A Victory Ball is being held for this purpose in October, and though initiated in Toronto the idea has spread farther afield, and similar dances are being held by other Panhellenic Associations in Canada on the same night.

Many college girls are active in canteen work, and go regularly to the Naval and active service canteens to help feed and entertain the men. Another and more recent activity is packing boxes for prisoners of war in Germany.

It is also interesting to hear of specialized jobs undertaken by graduates: one alumna has an important job of a secret nature in New York, and another has recently been appointed head technician of the Red Cross blood donor laboratory in Montreal.

There are, of course, many other types of work which can be done, but I hope this gives a slight picture of what college girls are accomplishing in these times.

BARBARA CRASSWELLER, Ontario A

OF SOPHISTICATED

This article is not limited to fraternity problems because, it seems to me, that our immediate concerns should extend beyond those of the Fraternity. Too often we become so absorbed in our own little affairs that we fail to see that they are significant only as they relate to a wider pattern of living.

In part, then, this is a protest. A protest against the sophistication which, in recent years, has become almost a cult among educated men and women. In one way this trend toward sophistication was beneficial, because it expressed a revolt against the sentimentalism of the nineteenth century. In its present extreme state, however, it is a dangerous threat to our security.

One attitude of our sophistication has been that of indifference to things which were happening outside our immediate circle, and a contempt for people who were interested in these things. As a result, the unpleasant situation of the world's affairs was thrust upon us suddenly, and, being unprepared to meet it, we crawled back into our protective sophistication. No longer able to ignore what is happening, we have developed a new defense attitude—that of disbelief. "We can't believe anything; it's all propaganda" is an expression of our attempt to escape the need for decisive action. But, the need still exists. Unless we meet it we shall be destroyed through our complacency.

Undoubtedly, the changes in standards of value are responsible for the confusion which we are trying, unsuccessfully, to escape. Yet, there must be some solution. In the absence of rigid social standards of right and wrong, it seems to me, that we should establish individual standards. The "eternal verities" still exist, and on them we can establish our beliefs.

For example, if we believe that man has a right to live in freedom, we should respect the people who are fighting to maintain that freedom. On the basis of what we believe to be right, we can discriminate between what is propaganda and what is not. If our beliefs are strong there is no need for confusion. When the time comes, we must be prepared to fight to maintain them. Meanwhile, we must strengthen them in our own minds.

This is a job for the individual. But, there is also a job which  $\Pi B \Phi$  as an organization could perform. As a fraternity of college women, it represents the best of American intelligence and culture. Surely, this intelligence and culture can be put to some constructive use in preserving the freedom of our country. Wouldn't it be a good idea for the Fraternity to contact the United Youth for Defense, or a similar organization, to determine what we, as a group, can do to aid defense? In this plan each  $\Pi B \Phi$  chapter would be able to recognize the significance of its work to the welfare of, not only our Fraternity, but to that of our country as well. The situation calls for cooperation, and we have an opportunity to give it.

HELEN OAK, Pennsylvania B

OF PACIFICISM

We have all been brought up on the theory that no good can come of war. Our little brothers weren't even allowed to have toy pistols because our parents were intent on making pacifists of us. So it is hard to swing around and be "ALL OUT FOR NATIONAL DEFENSE." Having hung back until fairly recently and felt that "Europe must fight its own war," we now believe that it is impossible. The United States is involved. Our way of life will be drastically affected by the outcome of the war.

Our defense depends on the maintenance of a supply of arms, planes, and all other necessary war materials to Britain and now to Russia. This must, of course, be done through the regular and new defense agencies of the Federal Government. But individuals and groups the country over will have to lend active interest, time, and money, to make the defense program a success.

We  $\Pi B \Phi$  can find plenty to do as individuals and as units in our colleges or in the cities near by. Why not appoint a National Defense Committee for your own chapter? That committee should outline a plan of Fraternity activity that would be in accord with the suggestions of the local Defense Council. It might include such varied activities as recreational work, studying the Red Cross courses, following Alice Marble's program of "physical fitness for women," or merely buying defense stamps with your stray pennies. But whatever form it may take, do your bit this winter as a college woman and as a member of  $\Pi B \Phi$ . It's up to us!

MARJORIE MATTHEWS, D.C. A

OF WAR AND THE FUTURE

In starting the school year this September, I believe that the outlook of every student on every college campus must have become a little more serious—perhaps more skeptical of the future than it has been in the past. Until recent years "what a fraternity girl thinks" has usually been confined to her own small life, her social activities, her studies, and her friends. This year, however, not one of us can overlook the outside world and the part that our generation is playing in history. Even more do we wonder what part we will play.

Laughingly we talk of the possibilities of vice-versa dances if many more boys are unable to return to college—yet beneath such remarks we all wonder whether our friends will be fighting soon. And even if this fear is not realized we cannot fail to fear the great readjustments that we will have to make when the war is over.

With thoughts of the reconstruction of our country in which we who are now in college undoubtedly will lead, we realize that this year, more than ever before, we must make the most of our opportunities. We, as students, must take fullest advantage of the education being offered us; as fraternity members, we must learn to cooperate not only with each other but with other groups as a whole. If we can learn now the true meaning of working for a common purpose toward a common good, surely we shall have increased our fitness to meet our future lives, regardless of what they may hold for us.

LUCY JANE NUNN, Arkansas A

OF THE WORLD CRISIS

It is impossible to speak of thoughts in any broad sense today without relating them to the world crises of the time. In an "all out war" ideas are playing a great part. One might almost call them a major weapon. It is then fitting that we should consider the relation between a Pi Phi's thoughts and the principles for which so many are giving their lives.

A Pi Phi is instructed to think on "Whatever things are true, whatsoever things are honest." This implies the privilege of thinking as she chooses. It implies her right to sufficient knowledge to determine what is true and honest. This is possible only under a democratic form of government.

Fraternities stand for loyal friendships. In order to maintain this high standard each girl must constantly think of ways in which she might help or advise her sisters. Such friendships would be impossible under a government which demands that its citizens think only of the state. The basis of our fraternity would be broken under a system by which the gestapo work day and night.

The fact that fraternities are international is in itself a revolt against the idea that any nation should rule the world for its own good. National hatred and intolerance are foreign to the very nature of fraternities.

It is for these things so necessary for our very organization that our young men are so diligently training, so patiently enduring hardships and so gallantly offering their lives. If, then, ideas or thoughts are of any use a fraternity girl ought to be ready to give them that moral support which they so justly deserve.

ELIZABETH KERR, Alberta A.

ON RUSHING

Because college fraternities are being increasingly exposed to criticism from outside sources, rushing has become one of their most important functions. Now, more than ever, we must seriously consider the problem of securing girls whose every action will bespeak the worthiness of the fraternal institution, whose personality will be a witness to the fact that organized women are making a definite contribution to our democratic society. We of  $\Pi B \Phi$ , as an important link in Panhellenic's chain, must do our part in showing the world at large that the fraternity is of ever-increasing importance to our American way of life. In view of these things, I have written an imaginary letter to the members of  $\Pi B \Phi$ , in hopes that our attitudes toward rushing may be clarified; that our fraternal bonds may be strengthened. The letter follows:

Dear Pi Phis,

I've been thinking about you so much today, admiring you for your enthusiasm, your sincerity, your desire to do the right thing during the rushing period. I've been mentally patting each one of you on the back for the nice things I've been hearing about you. Do you know that not one of the girls we've asked back for a second date has refused to come? I kept thinking how proud last year's seniors would be of you. And then, all of a sudden, a horrible thought came to me: I've been sitting here daydreaming about our superiority, when there's something really terribly wrong about the picture, something missing from the meetings, something which is completely destroying our perspectives; that thing, that mysterious missing link, I choose to call the Pi Phi ideal. I suddenly remembered snatches of conversation which have come back to me, such as, "Oh, she's not Pi Phi material," "She's a goon," "She has no poise whatsoever." As I muttered these stock phrases to myself, they sounded so superficial, so inadequate, so utterly foreign to the real things which we are striving for, that I felt I must write you this letter tonight, in hopes that we might define certain things clearly in our minds, that we might come closer together in our fraternal bonds, and go through the rest of the rushing period with a unity of purpose—and there is only one aim which is worth striving for—that of the Pi Phi ideal.

I realize that I've been beating around the bush, and talking in generalities long enough. Most of you are probably completely baffled as to what I'm getting at. In order to help you out of the fog, in which we have all been wandering for the past few days, I am going to tell you who I think is the ideal Pi Phi girl. Her name is—well, Mary Smith is as good a name as any. The first we heard about Mary was in a wonderful recommendation sent to us from an alumnae group which is very strong and highly thought of in its community. Do you remember how we all raved when we read that recommendation? It read something like this: "Scholarship excellent; an enthusiasm for extracurricular activities, an excellent family background, marvelous personality, a good worker, and a true friend. Irreproachable moral character; a girl you can't afford to do without." Well, that was the recommendation. And, do you remember the day she came? It was raining, and her hair had fallen down, way down. Her clothes weren't what you would have called "knockout"; in fact, some of us thought they were disgustingly home-madish. I know it's against the rule to repeat anything which has come up in a rushing meeting, but I must remind you of the struggle some of our "pillars" had in getting that girl through. Some of us objected because she wasn't a beauty queen; some of us because she wasn't smooth. A couple said that she was too much of a student, and couldn't talk about anything else but studying and classes. Well, I don't need to tell you anything more about Mary. Her scholarship record continued throughout college—she was a Junior Phi Beta; she was into everything down at the League; she dated the grandest fellows, too—they all had so much respect for her abilities and her personality. And what a marvelous gal she was to have around the house! Never a dull moment with her—and how silly we were to think she didn't have anything when she came to the tea. You know what I think? I think we came near to missing that girl because we were so confused as to our ideals. We didn't stop to think that our scholarship rating was in an alarming slump, that the most intelligent girls are often scared stiff during rushing because they are so completely aware of what is going on around them. We almost forgot to look beneath her somewhat frumpish exterior, to find out what the girl was really like. We forgot, for the moment, that lots of us certainly were no roses when we made the rounds to our first teas, that our hair was down, that we were so scared we couldn't be ourselves. We also forgot that our inability to draw the girl out was 99 per cent our fault—after all, if all we could talk about was our home town, our dates, our poor marks, we certainly couldn't expect much more from Mary.

Well, you all know that Mary is a fictitious character, an ideal to be striven toward. I have talked to you about her because she is so close to my heart, because she is Pi Phi. She needs us for the things which we can give her—a more rounded personality, more confidence, a realization of all of her finer attributes; we need her, because we need girls who will carry on the ideals of the Fraternity, of intellectual achievement, of service, of high moral standards, of true friendship. I am asking you girls to rearrange your perspective, to alter your viewpoint, to strive for new ideals. Be honest, frank, even hard-boiled; have the courage of your convictions; but, above all, be Pi Phis.

WHAT A FRATERNITY GIRL THINKS

Do a fraternity girl's thoughts really stick on Traditions,
Scholarship, Politics, Art and Ambitions,
Or are we more apt to find on her mind
Life Magazine, Phi Deltas, and rain coats—plaid lined?

Do thoughts upon Loyalty disturb all her dreams,
Or is it at other things that her face beams,
Subjects like Beethoven, or no classes tomorrow, Steak dinners, or a freshman's dress she can bor-

Stuffed panda bears, Hemingway, Tom, Dick, and Joe,
Convertible Packards, Fraternity Row,
Confucious and Boyer, all these we will find
Piled up together in a college girl's mind.

It's nice to be serious-minded it's true,
But thoughts upon Culture only come to a few.
I admire those who can think of such things no end,
But I'm a horrible example of the general trend.

ABOUT SCHOLARSHIP

South Dakota is thinking more about scholarship just now than about anything else because we have just been awarded the scholarship cup for maintaining the highest average of any organized group on the campus for the year 1940-41.

Each one of us realizes, however, that it was not just luck that we won the cup. Hours of planning by the leaders and by the active chapter as a whole went into setting up an effective program of study whereby each pledge and each active could do the best classroom work of which she was capable. Last year's results prove that our plans are at least a step in the direction of better scholarship for the group.

May I tell you about some of the ideas we have tried? Maybe they will solve some of your problems.

We encourage both pledges and actives to attend every class. Except before and after vacations, we have no administrative penalties for "cutting" classes, but teachers become prejudiced against students who miss classes regularly. This is rather an effortless way of keeping up a good grade without the so obvious "apple-polishing."

Each sponsor is responsible for her sponsee's study hours. Each pledge is asked to spend two hours a day studying in the libe, but she is free to go whenever she wishes, and no official study table is controlled there by the actives as is done by some of the houses. She accounts for her library time to her sponsor who keeps a close check on her progress in her subjects. If more time is needed to complete the work, they both look over the pledge's schedule to find an extra hour in the day that she could spend in the library.

A two hour supervised study table is held in the chapter house on three evenings during the week, on Saturday mornings, and on either Sunday afternoon or evening, as the pledge may prefer.

At any time, a pledge may feel free to consult one of the upper classmen about a course in which she is having difficulty. Our seniors are majoring in a wide range of courses, and someone can help a younger girl with almost any subject. Many problems can be solved early in the school year before the class goes onward to more difficult material. Freshman themes cause the most trouble. A theme is due each week, and Sunday afternoon finds the girls grouped around the table in the dining room having themes checked by English majors for punctuation, grammar, and general sentence construction.

Actives and pledges alike have to forfeit the privilege of dating on Wednesday night, the one mid-week date night, if they have failed to maintain the initiation average for the preceding nine weeks period. If the pledges make this average, they are given some special privilege. They are told at the beginning of the year that they will have this advantage if they make a good average, and it is an incentive for them to do better work.

Our scholarship chairman keeps a chart of the averages of the whole house, and another one of the averages of the pledges. This is put on the house bulletin board, and every girl can see how she ranks scholastically with every other girl in the house. The spirit of competition seems to be strong in every one of us.

Our president has held the fraternity Scholarship Ring for the past two years, and this symbolizes a goal toward which each girl can strive.

We are not all  $\Phi B Ks$ . We all like to date and to have a good time. One of our girls was a candidate for the most popular girl on the campus last year. We have the president of the dramatic organization on the campus, and girls active in radio workshop work. Besides that, we have the prettiest and most popular freshmen on the campus for our new pledges. We do a great many things besides studying; however, we think that scholarship of the highest ranking on the campus has done something for our prestige here in town and on the campus that we could have attained in no other way.

TRAINING FOR LIFE

For the majority of college women there is no question so vital today as that of the job to be held when she is graduated from the university which she has attended for a comparatively well-protected four years of learning and fun. The "bull-session" in which the major opinions and problems of the coed are most commonly aired has increasingly been absorbed by discussions not of men, nor of occurrences on campus, but the ever present question of a woman's place in the world of today.

The general consensus of opinion in most of the Pi Phis' minds is that even in the event of marriage shortly after graduation, the most successful wife is not only the one who is wise in her choice and very much in love, but also the woman who realizes that the homes with the least friction are managed by women who possess the ability really to make a career of their home-making. At all events, with present political conditions what they are (involving more opportunities for the enterprising woman, both in the more liberal attitude of male employers, and in the great number of positions left by men who have been drafted) it is essential for every girl to prepare herself while in college for the work that is ahead immediately after graduation.

It is to be admitted that the curriculum of most universities affords little in actual practical training other than courses in Education or even shorthand. However it is in the sorority that a college woman can often find the opportunity and the facilities which will prepare her to meet the vicissitudes present in every-day life.

In essence, the sorority develops a sense of responsibility in each woman in regard to the group which she represents, still affording her plenty of opportunity to exercise a natural leadership. The sorority stresses the necessity of entering into community life, whether it is a matter of participating in college activities, or whether it is rising to meet a crisis in the community. In our chapter we had two girls who helped the townspeople register children for inoculations and vaccinations, another who, in conjunction with the Sociology Department, organized a Scout Troop for the little girls in town whose recreational facilities were limited. Among the many other community activities entered in, one girl who was studying Religious Education was very active in the local church circles, and many of the girls contributed both their time and their handwork to an Art Week project locally sponsored. We have all felt that we not only found a more permanent place in the community, and increased amicable relations with the townspeople, but we ourselves profited endlessly from these activities in widening our interests, and gaining much in our ability to cooperate with people who were capable leaders.

Personal relations, and the comprehension early that in any field it is real work and submersion of self in some common aim that makes for success in any enterprise are fostered by the sorority, which upholds to us all ideals that must of necessity prepare us for whatever awaits us after graduation.

JILL YOUNG, New York

INTER-SORORITY FRIENDLINESS

In a small college sororities have a most important place in the lives of all the girls, and it is very necessary for each group to realize and acknowledge the qualities and friendships in the groups outside of their own individual fraternity. One is apt to become smug and self-satisfied about her fraternity, her friends, and her chapter's honors, and forget that there are other organizations on the campus which are as worthy as hers is. Tennessee A realized this and decided to help in a movement to foster better and closer inter-sorority relationship on its campus. We began by inviting members from the other three sororities,  $\Phi$  M, X  $\Omega$ , A  $\Delta$   $\Pi$ , to have supper with us on Monday night when the chapter ate at the house. The X  $\Omega$  chapter reciprocated by having an open house one afternoon a month and entertaining members from the other sororities.  $\Phi$  M then asked several members from the sororities to have supper at their house one night a month.

These visits were fun, and we sincerely felt that we had gained a lot by visiting in the other chapter houses, singing with the other sororities, and exchanging ideas and views with other sorority girls. We included many non-fraternity girls in these plans, and know we fostered a better spirit between them and the sorority groups by this small show of friendliness and interest.

MARY GUY EVANS, Tennessee A

OF WORKING TOGETHER

Working together for  $\Pi$  B  $\Phi$  not only unites us by our mutual efforts to do a useful job, but it gives us a sense of values for things hitherto taken for granted. Last spring, Louisiana A learned that under the new Panhellenic rules at Newcomb, all rushing must be done in the sorority rooms. This immediately turned attention to the appearance of these rooms, and it was agreed that they must be redecorated. Consulting the treasurer, the members decided that there could be more and better redecoration if the cost of labor was done away with. In chapters where girls may live in a  $\Pi$  B  $\Phi$  house, members probably have the experience of working on the house, themselves, but where rooms, only, are maintained, redecoration consists mainly of fresh curtains and occasional new pictures or slip covers which are ordered from an interior decorator and placed in the house by a small committee. Last summer, however, the members decided to do over the rooms completely—and to do it themselves.

Paint shades were soon decided on and each day members met to wield paint brushes. Interest and sorority spirit ran high. "I was furious last week when the painter said he couldn't finish my room in a day," one member remarked as she teetered atop a ladder, painting the ceiling, "but now I see how true that was." Drapery samples were obtained and discussed. Members learned that a certain material was better than another for slip covers, which designs made a room appear larger and what New Orleans stores carried the best lines of materials and household goods. Earnest members debated over the part of their budget from which they could best spare the money for the new lamps they had decided to install. New pieces of furniture appeared; others were transformed by fresh covers. As the chapter worked, they discussed fall rushing plans and mapped out their schedule far ahead of time. This fall's rushing season was one of the most successful in years, perhaps because of the rooms' rejuvenated appearance, but probably because rushing plans had been made and thoroughly discussed by all members far in advance, and because Louisiana A had become a much more unified chapter.

Now one will not find a member carelessly dropping ashes or sandwiches, mayonnaiseside down, on the floor; she remembers the hours spent on hands and knees to give that floor its gloss. There are no tacks driven in the wall or smudgy fingerprints on the woodwork, for the girls take pride in their handiwork and protect it. And wouldn't any member see that slip covers and pictures were kept straight if she had helped plan for, choose and place them?

BABSY LE BLANC, Louisiana A

OF DUTY TO PLEDGES

This is my first year as an active member of  $\Pi B \Phi$ , and, naturally, due to my inexperience as an active, the thoughts that are foremost in my mind in regard to the Fraternity are those thoughts concerning pledgedship.

A girl's first sorority experience is, in most cases, a bewildering stream of new adjustments.  $\Pi B \Phi$  stands far ahead of other national fraternities in seeking to smooth a pathway for pledges' adjustments. The organization of the pledge class as a body with officers, rules, and governing power in their sphere; supervised study and aid; the relationship of pledge and pledge mother; the dividing of house responsibilities between actives and pledges; and, above all, the freedom of the Pi Phi pledge from line meeting and harmful heckling—all of these form the basis for an almost ideal system. The one thing upon which success of this system depends is, of course, chapter sympathy and personal understanding of each pledge. It's up to us to supply that and we can, since no one would be wearing the arrow had she not an excess of sympathy and understanding.

OF VALUES

Scenic railways are frightening affairs. I spent three terrifying minutes after being pushed into the red enamelled little car. At first we careened in the dark depths below the boardwalk and then quick like a flash, ascended the greatest climb. I began to feel a little funny—shaky perhaps, when I read the sign at the top of the hill "Hold the hand rail—Hold your hats." Naturally I had no hat; so I held twice as hard to the rail. The big dip wasn't so bad—you see I had something secure to hold on to.

At that moment an idea struck me. It is pretty important to have some one thing which you may be sure of—something to hold on to—when everything around appears quite shaky.

I am a junior and a member of quite a befuddled group—befuddled because many of the basic truths we staunchly believed in when we came to college have been struck at in economic and philosophy courses. We have attended citizenship meetings and realize that our institutions are not infallible as we once thought they were. Yes, we have lost in part, some of our naive faiths—but we gained something in return, something we can count on and hold fast to.

We became members of  $\Pi B \Phi$ . And why do we so firmly believe in this organization? Because Pi Phi has been time-tested for over seventy years. It is true other institutions have passed years in good standing; however, they are now tapering off in usefulness. But Pi Phi is not. It is an active organization, alert and capable of coping with today's problems. Therefore we can feel secure in the fact that it will continue strong for at least another seventy years. You see, the qualities Pi Phi is built upon—tradition, friendship, and loyalty are not tangible qualities which outsiders can corrupt. No, they are not tangible, but they can be reached by us through our hearts. We grasp them and cling to them. They mean an awful lot to me, as I know they do to you. So let's hold tight. We really have something here.

OF FRATERNITY ENTHUSIASM

We, as Pi Beta Phis, learn during our college years to appreciate the fraternal spirit that comes from hard work and co-operation, in the attempt to make our college chapter superior to all others. Sometimes, however, we do not fully realize the national, unified force that is the real basis of our fraternity. This was brought home to me during the recent colonization of a new Pi Phi chapter at DePauw University.

When we entered into competitive rush against eight other N.P.C. fraternities, already well established, we were handicapped. Many of the Pi Phi actives and alumni there were meeting for the first time; we were rushing in a borrowed house; we had nothing to offer our potential pledges other than hard work and charter membership in Pi Beta Phi. Yet the success of the week was tremendous. We pledged twenty lovely girls, all eager to help in the building of a fine new chapter.

This can only mean one thing: that enthusiasm and organization displayed in  $\Pi B \Phi$  was great enough to overcome all handicaps. I know that every Pi Phi who was there will always value her privilege to have been a part of that tremendous inspirational force. It is in cases such as this, when we are brought face to face with the working power of the national fraternity, that we really understand and can evaluate what Pi Beta Phi means.

EXCHANGES AND COLLEGE NOTES

Edited by NITA DAY CARMAN, Minnesota A

This year's annual poll of fraternity men and women holding high office proves again that Greekletter societies provide the nation with its best leaders. From the President of the United States on down, the nation's outstanding figures are members of national fraternities. They include the President of the United States, 7 Supreme Court Justices, 42 United States Senators, 7 Cabinet Members, 62 Representatives, 20 State Governors, and hundreds of others.

The Fraternity Month

A development on the California campus which has been of great value thus far and which promises to be of greater value in the future has been the initiation of an interfraternity and panhellenic journal, The California Greek. Edited and managed by Greekletter people, this journal has had as its objective the representing to the outside public of the more constructive side of college life at California as contrasted with the too-liberal side which has received an undue amount of publicity in the student daily paper, The Daily Californian. The newly-installed dean of undergraduates, Hurford E. Stone, has been a staunch supporter of this step, which is merely an external manifestation of a new spirit of interfraternity cooperation that has grown up on the campus in the past two semesters.

In the formative days of college fraternities, when fifty-man houses were undreamed of and many national organizations were as yet unborn, fraternities grew contentedly without effort. Now, however, with large houses, larger memberships, more chapters and even dormitories entering into the competition, the demand for self-promotion becomes more acute, and the interfraternity handbooks are one answer to the challenge. To counteract the effects of bad publicity in newspapers and magazines they need to be on a high plane and the evidence is that they are meeting the test.

watches men at an interfraternity ball, vigorously chewing gum in time with the music, one often wonders what the word 'social' implies when used in connection with the fraternity."

Banta's Greek Exchange

In 1939 and 1940, ninety-six chapters of  $\Sigma A E$  inducted as members 284 blood relatives of  $\Sigma A E$ . In 1940 and 1941, ninety-one chapters of the fraternity initiated exactly the same number of relatives, 284. This year there were two great grandsons, twelve grandsons, 114 sons and 156 brothers.

Banta's Greek Exchange

The Los Angeles Alumni Club of  $\Delta Y$  had the privilege of hearing at one of their dinner meetings this winter, not only Edgar Bergen, but also Rupert Hughes—a truly outstanding all Delta U program!

Banta's Greek Exchange

The effect of the National Selective Service Act on University of Minnesota fraternities has been studied by a committee of the University Interfraternity Council and a survey of anticipated draft mortality.

The results showed that a reduction of 150 men in total fraternity membership was estimated. This number was based on the draft status reports turned in.

By considering losses due to scholastic and financial causes it was figured that the probable range in membership will be from twelve to thirty-eight members in each chapter, with three groups expected to fall below twelve and three above thirty-eight. This will make an average of about twenty-six men in each fraternity.

Some statistical soul has figured out that there are 10,000 pieces of type in a newspaper column, seven possible positions for each letter, 70,000 chances to make errors. But misspell a name in a story and see how valuable such an explanation will be!

Theta Chi Rattle

From the Rattle of  $\Theta X$ : "When one

Alpha Tau Omega has had its songs recorded and is distributing the records to the chapters. The recordings were made by Freddie Martin and his orchestra. The cost to members is $1.00 for each—$4.00 for six. The enterprise was so successful that the first 1,000 records went too fast and a new cutting of 500 more is being made.

Garnet and White

WE AGREE

Sometime ago we read somewhere, and we believe it was in The Fraternity Month, a complaint regarding the identification of fraternity chapters in the pages of the various fraternity magazines. This complaint stated that while the Greek-letter name symbolizing each chapter might mean something to those members who were well acquainted with their chapter roll, nevertheless, to those who were not members of the fraternity, or to those who were members but had been out of college for a number of years and had failed to keep up with their chapters, it was a distinct annoyance to have chapters so identified. This writer asked that the various magazines make known the colleges, as well as the Greek-letter symbols, for each chapter mentioned in its pages, for the sake of greater clarity.

It seemed to us that this was a logical and justifiable complaint and one with which we agreed perfectly, although we hadn't realized it before. However, thinking it over, we knew we had been mildly irritated many times in reading over magazines other than our own, when we found a picture or article identified only by the chapter name. Usually we simply passed it by without bothering to look up which college was meant, but it always left a feeling of annoyance for not having known. When we did bother to look up which chapter was concerned, it left a feeling of even greater annoyance for the necessity of so doing.

Therefore, we hereby serve notice that starting with the last issue of the Adelphæan that we shall hereafter adhere to the policy of identifying all chapters with the Alpha Delta Pi name and also the name of the college.

Adelphæan

There are more Greek-letter fraternity and sorority chapters on the University of Illinois campus than on any other campus. Kappa Sigma was the first fraternity to become regularly established. The collegiate event known as Homecoming originated at the University of Illinois.

GREEKS HELP U.S.O.

University of California fraternities and sororities have inaugurated a program for the benefit of the men in army and navy training camps which by the time this material appears in print may be suggested throughout the country by military leaders to the Greek groups on other campuses. With cooperation of the nearby military camp authorities, army trucks are bringing a different selection of draftees and newly enlisted men to the Berkeley campus each week end who by advance arrangement are assigned as guests, in groups of seven, to each fraternity house for the duration of the week end. The sororities do their bit by entertaining ten army men and four fraternity men who accompany them at dinner each Sunday. Thus, the Greek groups in time and expense are doing much more than the average in the U.S.O. program.

CONVENTION HIGHLIGHTS

Kappa Delta at Swampscott Inn adopted a revised constitution—ten provinces instead of seven—and decided to replace the term of "rushing" to "membership selection" as far as possible.

Alpha Gamma Deltas at Grove Park Inn were inspired by telephoned speeches at their banquet from their children's camps at Welland, Jackson and Toronto.

An exhibit of Vocations and Avocations high lighted the Alpha Xi Delta Convention at Troutdale, Colo.

Phi Omega Pi established an Alumnae Service Reward. They also decided that the badge of a deceased member be returned to the National Executive Secretary to be held in trust to be reissued to a relative of the deceased.

Fraternity, democracy and service, was the theme of Theta Upsilon's triennial Convention at Grove Park Inn this past summer.

Zeta Tau Alpha at their convention at the Edgewater Gulf Hotel, Miss., adopted new terminology for their officers. Hereafter there will be National Officers—not Greek Officers and "college" chapters will replace "active" chapters. They felt that the word active implied that members out of college became inactive.

Alpha Chi Omega convention made plans for their alumnae club house which is to be called "The Homestead."

Ed Murrow of the Columbia Broadcasting Company has been selected as Kappa Sigma's "Man of the Year." His "This is London" salutation is familiar to us all.

Alpha Gamma Delta is the third Woman's Fraternity to plan an international home—The Billet—for its members, who wish a congenial place where they may live when they retire or go for a long period of rest.

In line with Pi Phi's restoration of Holt House at Monmouth, A Δ Π is restoring the old Adelphean Hall where the sorority was founded in 1851. The hall is located in the original building of Old Wesleyan College at Macon, Ga., which is now used as the Wesleyan Conservatory. "When restored," says the Adelphean, "it will be recognized as the oldest secret society for college women."

In the restoration they are fortunate to have a member who remembers in detail how it was furnished. Mrs. Richard Burden who became an Adelphean in 1869 was married in the old parlor and describes the old horse hair sofa, the marble topped table, flowered Brussels carpet and the old secretary where they kept their "secrets."

Alpha Delta Pi offers nine fellowships to outstanding members of a year of graduate work. Their aim is to secure a fund of $100,000 for this purpose to commemorate their hundredth anniversary in 1951.

Alpha Delta Pi has over one hundred student loan funds in active use.

A. W. V. S.

While the Beekman Hill Unit of the American Women's Voluntary Services, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Edward L. McKendrew, of Π Β Φ, is training its members, at its headquarters at Beekman Tower, for service in case of any emergency which may arise, another group of New York fraternity women, The Fraternity Women's Committee, headed by Miss Beatrice Louise Ecks, also of Π Β Φ, is doing its part by helping to entertain service men stationed in the city.

The Committee forms a part of the College and University Women's Center, which is composed also of the various college and university alumnae clubs of Greater New York, and devotes its efforts to a Volunteer Placement Bureau for women in defense work and to sponsoring entertainment for men in all the armed forces.

In February, the Fraternity Women's Committee gave a tea dance and open house for service men in the ballroom of the Beekman Tower Hotel, which was attended by women from the entire Metropolitan area. Miss Sophie P. Woodman, of Π Β Φ, was a member of the committee in charge.

Many Pi Phi are also taking the courses offered by the Beekman Hill Unit of the A. W. V. S. in first aid, air raid precautions, nutrition and allied fields. Among those who have registered for the work are: Mrs. M. D. McKenzie, Miss Pauline H. Needham, Miss Elisabeth Thomson, Miss Marion E. Cole, Mrs. Howard E. Brown, Miss Loretto C. Newman, Miss Frances G. Pond, Miss Edna A. Stillman, Miss Dorothy Dampeer, Miss Annabel Van Winkel and Miss Helen L. Barnett.

Miss Harris Honored

Miss Jessie W. Harris, Tennessee A, initiate of Asheville Convention, director of the University of Tennessee School of Home Economics, has been appointed home economics field representative of the U. S. Regional Advisory Council, new organization established to coordinate all Federal agencies for better service in national defense.

Miss Harris will represent the United States Bureau of Home Economics in Tennessee, Florida, Mississippi, Georgia, South Carolina, and Alabama.

The Advisory Council is under the direction of Paul V. McNutt, head of the Federal Security Agency.

Miss Harris will attend conferences with other representatives from time to time to study the possibilities of cooperation among various federal agencies in speeding up projects affecting national defense. She has just returned from such a conference in Birmingham.

Have You Seen Central Office?

"Central Office is just as meticulous and efficient looking as the service which Bea and her assistants render. The office is located on the main floor of the hotel in Marshall. The room into which one enters, houses the membership files, which are run three ways just as they are in the directory—names single or married, chapter, and geographical, the Addressograph plates which are used for the mailing lists for the ARROW, and for issuing supplies from the office, the grapho-type machine which makes the Addressograph plates, and the machine which prints these lists. The three assistants also have their desks in this room. One handles membership, another handles the jewelry business, and the third the magazine subscriptions. Around the walls of this room hang framed pictures of conventions for many years back, including the Eastern Conference. This main room enters into Bea's office where all of the mail is received and distributed according to its business. Correspondence files are in this room with a bookcase of bound ARROWS. The supply room is off of this room and it is here that the long list of items obtainable at Central Office given in the back of the ARROW are stored. The electric mimeograph machine is also in this room. There is another small storage room in the hotel which is apart from the office proper where additional supplies of stationery, magazine price lists, and such other material are kept. I hope that some day you will all have the pleasure of seeing your Central Office."

INITIATED, January 12, 1942: Louise Bishop.

Now that the war is so close to our shores, Nova Scotia A is especially glad that she can help her country and all those countries which are helping us to win. January 23, a Red Cross Dance was held in most of the colleges across Canada; at Dalhousie this dance was held on the campus, and the first half hour was broadcast throughout the Maritimes; two of the active members sang and many others were on the dance committees. The services and the student body were well represented, and the dance was a great success. The chapter is still doing work at the Magazine Exchange and the Wings Club; they are also helping to entertain the Australian and New Zealand air force men who are in town, and many members went to the opening of the Anzac Club.

This year II B  $\Phi$  did not put on a play as it was thought to be too much of an expense; however the dramatics club is putting on a three act play and the leading role is taken by a Pi Phi. Archery is a new sport which has been introduced on the campus, and is proving to be a very fascinating pastime. Recently the active members have been busy in helping to print the co-ed edition of the Dalhousie Gazette, and in planning for a masquerade dance and a Sadie Hawkins dance.

Mrs. Everett visited the chapter in January, and the active members were sorry to hear that the place of Convention had to be changed, as they had been making plans to go. A tea was held at Mrs. McNeil's, patroness, for the province president.

A Panhellenic tea was held at the home of a member of A F  $\Delta$ , and the active and alumnae members of both chapters were present, making the afternoon very pleasant. A rushing tea was held at the hotel on January 21, after which was had a sing-song.

VERMONT ALPHA—MIDDLEBURY COLLEGE

Chartered, 1893

Pledge Day, December 7, 1941

INITIATED, February 16, 1942: Jean Bell, Scarsdale, N.Y.; Catherine Cadbury, Moorestown, N.J.; Jeanne Chatfield, Woodbury, Conn.; Elizabeth Mercer, East Orange, N.J.

INITIATED, March 2, 1942: Elizabeth Adell, Shaker Heights, Ohio; Bette Jane Bertschinger, East Williston, L.I., N.Y.; Alice Frederickson, Josephine Kirk, Brooklyn, N.Y.; Dorothy Laux, Mount Vernon, N.Y.; Shirley Miller, Scarsdale, N.Y.

Middlebury College held its eleventh annual Winter Carnival over the week-end of February 21. The activities began with the coronation of the king and queen on the brilliantly lighted ice rink. Virginia Witte was chosen carnival queen by a poll of the student body. The inter-collegiate ski union meet was held at this time in which Middlebury placed third. The carnival play, "Calling All Queens," added greatly to the festivities. Josephine Kirk performed admirably as one of the leading characters. The week-end was brought to its grand finale by the Klindike Rush, an informal dance at which ski clothes are in order. The prizes were awarded at this time.

Isabel Grier and Barbara Higham represented Middlebury at a vocational conference held at Andover, Massachusetts, from February 13-15. Many prominent New England colleges were represented. The purpose of the conference was to discuss possible vocations for women in the fields of teaching, industry, and social service. The war situation was taken into consideration with the topics under discussion.

A Victory dance was held February 28, 1942. The orchestra played free of charge. The dance was "dutch," each couple buying defense stamps worth one dollar which were used to buy defense bonds. When the money is returned to the college, it will form a scholarship fund sponsored by the students of 1942.

Middlebury has reorganized its program in order to meet more nearly the demands of students for courses relating to national defense. Several new science courses and economics courses have been added. Students have an opportunity to take a course in Red Cross first aid. The college will be open during the summer months for those students desiring to take courses in order to graduate ahead of the peace-time schedule.

Vermont A was awarded the Panhellenic scholarship cup for the second consecutive semester ending in January 1942.

INITIATED, March 12, 1942: Constance Bray, Springfield, Mass.; Barbara Burnham, South Windsor, Conn.; Beryl Cheney, Randolph; Jeanne Hotchkiss, New Preston, Conn.; Janet Pike, Burlington; Constance Pratt, Proctor; Virginia Rose, Bellows Falls.

Before the mid-year examinations the U.V.M. Senate adopted an accelerated schedule which included curtailing the examination period from two weeks to five days, elimination of the Easter vacation and activities such as the junior week play and parade, and sorority and fraternity and fraternity sings which require a good deal of time for preparation on the part of the students. This shortened semester will enable seniors to graduate May 18 and a summer semester to be given so that undergraduates may graduate earlier, due to needs brought on by the war. Although activities have been limited, the U.V.M. students were allowed to put on their annual "Kake Walk." Frances "Sis" Lynch was crowned queen of Kake Walk after an exciting campaign in which there were three contestants. One of the major stunts of the campaign was the "Sister Parade" of the Vermont Betas, every two girls dressed alike and singing a song to the tune of "The Easter Parade" and throwing candy kisses to everyone with "A Kiss from Sis" stamped on them. For Kake Walk all the sororities on the campus put on a skit together which helped to promote Panhellenic spirit. Patricia Page and Lyn Eimer helped to write this skit and Lyn Eimer was director. The winning ice sculpture on the campus was a huge layer cake with a Kake Walker on the top.

Among the ten most beautiful girls on the Vermont campus are Jeanne Woolley, Barbara Butterfield, Frances Lynch, Julia Fletcher, Betty Farnsworth, and Eleanor Jenkins, all of Vermont B.

Members on the new Cynic staff are Justine Whalen and Julia Fletcher, news editors; Patricia Pike, office manager; and Barbara E. Burns on the business staff. On the board of the Ariel, junior yearbook, are Patricia Page, Barbara E. Burns, Phyllis Savage, Janet Hackwell, and Marjorie Abell.

On February 26 a banquet was given in U.V.M.'s new Waterman Memorial Building to start off the U.V.M. security fund campaign. College spirit could never have been shown better than it was by the 1,200 students who attended this banquet. All the proceeds went into the fund, the food having been donated by the cafeteria. Janet Hackwell was one of the speakers representing the student body. The chapter was happy that Mrs. Everett could enjoy this banquet with the girls during her visit. Members of Vermont B on the committee of the security fund campaign are Joanna Metcalf, Phyllis Savage, Janet Hackwell, Janet Pike, Jeanne Woolley, Priscilla Perkins, Mary Lib Metcalf, and Barbara Fiske. The chapter has filled a Defense Stamp Book with money that had been budgeted for a dance for a twenty-five dollar bond for the U.V.M. Security Fund.

The freshman class has chosen Janet Pike for their vice-president. Joanna Metcalf is the only woman student this year to be accepted into the Graduate College of Medicine.

Barbara E. Burns and Julia Fletcher, having first and second positions respectively on the U.V.M. women's ski team, have entered several ski meets and have done very well.

Many of the women on the U.V.M. campus are enrolled in the Red Cross first aid courses or in the Red Cross home nursing course.

Peggy McElfish has been affiliated from Pennsylvania G. On two consecutive Sundays in March the other sororities on the campus were invited in two groups to a social hour at the chapter house.

Patricia Page received the chapter ring for the highest scholastic standing.

PLEGDED, March 2, 1942: Barbara Fiske, Burlington; Rayelen Prouty, Middletown, Conn.

During health week at the College of Liberal Arts, Ethel Johnson, chairman, presented posture awards to Minnie Adashik and Eleanor Rinehart.

After initiation, held at the Panhellenic House, everyone went over to the Woman's Building for the initiation banquet. The head table had a lovely arrow centerpiece of wine carnations. At each place was a small place card of wine and silver blue with a golden arrow pointing upward. Lois N. Wildes, toastmistress, introduced the speakers, who were Arlene Norris, initiate; Jane Wilson, sophomore; Jean MacDonald, junior; Marjorie Bates, senior; Mrs. Bernard Walker, alumna; and Miss Marion Reid, alumna. The subject of the evening was "Freedom in Friendship"; several important phases were brought out.

Mrs. Hazel Sawyer Everett, Alpha Province East president, visited Massachusetts A in February. Everyone made the most of her stay which was altogether too short. At the chapter meeting held during Mrs. Everett's visit, Massachusetts A welcomed ten new initiates to their first meeting.

The alumnae of Massachusetts A held a fashion show and bridge on March 7 at the Panhellenic House. The actives sang and served.

March 13 found the entire university family gathered in historic Trinity Church once again, for another traditional convocation in honor of Founders' Day. Several members took part in the large convocation chorus.

Chartered, 1896

Shirley Travor was initiated into Tambourine and Bones, musical comedy society. Marjorie Alford was pledged to A  $\Sigma$  A, a design honorary, and Helen Bennett was initiated to  $\Sigma$  A I, music fraternity for women.

Virginia Daring was elected co-chairman of next year's winter carnival. Eleanor Huntington has been appointed head of sub-freshman day, to be held in the spring.

The chapter's informal Vic dance was March 20. Instead of having refreshments, that money was donated to the Red Cross. The girls are also having two dessert-less meals a week so they can save money to buy a defense bond.

The Panhellenic banquet was in March at the Syracuse Hotel. The theme of the banquet was "Uncle Sam's Daughters."

April 24, the spring formal, the largest dance of the year, was held at the Hotel Onondago Roof Garden. A formal dinner preceded the dancing.

The Mothers' Club entertained the actives and pledges at dinner on March 2, at the chapter house. For entertainment the actives gave an original skit.

New York A is pioneering the idea of exchange dinners with other sororities on campus.

Chartered, March 1914

Pledge Day, November 7, 1941

INITIATED, March 2, 1942: Jane Amer, Akron, Ohio; Helen Baldwin, Harrison; Betty Bower, Ogdensburg; Monnie DeWitt, Schenectady; Kathleen Dodge, Watertown; Jean Hutchins, Malone; Nan Moore, Brockport; Marguerite Reiber, New York; Betty Jane Weedon, Frankfort; Martha Williams, Westfield, N.J.; Marion Wood, Mohawk.

After the mid-year examinations St. Lawrence enjoyed its annual winter carnival. At the ski meet St. Lawrence was victorious over such schools as Colgate and Syracuse. Helen Persons was chosen by the judges as a member of the king's and queen's court.

On the Monday before classes began most of the girls in the house journeyed to Lake Placid with the W.A.A. group for the day. There they enjoyed all the facilities of the Lake Placid Club.

With the all-out war effort dominant, much has been organized to aid in the victory goal. For instance at the fraternity and sorority dances admission requires a twenty-five cent defense stamp. This is "dutch treat" and the stamp may be kept by the individual purchaser or contributed to the new library fund. Then many of the girls are taking the first aid, nutrition, and air raid warden classes.

On February 16 a cooky-shine was given for the pledges and Margaret Thompson.

Agnes Coupar was appointed associate editor of Hill News. This is one of the three highest positions on the school paper.

Pledge Day, February 28, 1941

INITIATED, February 28, 1942: Marylou Black, White Plains; Nancy Louise Green, LaRoy; Ann Marie Lynch, Port Jefferson; Olive Luise McWilliams, Cortland; Janice O'Donnell, Washington, D.C.; Nancy Marie Peters, Seneca; Ethel May Quackenbush, Wurwick; Jane McBirney, Chevy Chase, Md.; Corrine Edith Smith, Auburn; Alice Saxton Thompson, Pleasantville; Kitty Sue Truax, Martins Ferry, Ohio; Theodora Uelzmann, Williston; Barbara Van Wagner, Harrington Park, N.J.

Final term reports found that the house raised its average one point, and achieved higher standing on the campus.

The first big social event of the second term was the formal faculty reception held at the chapter house February 24. The reception started at ten o'clock following a university concert. This gave the girls an opportunity to meet and talk with their professors in an informal manner, and also to become acquainted with various members of the faculty.

This year the sororities on the Hill have started inter-sorority basketball games. Out of the three games played so far, the chapter has won two.

Several of the girls are doing their bit by taking first aid courses and home nursing which are being offered by the university. The practice of different types of bandages along with knitting has now taken the place of the traditional after-dinner bridge game.

Initiation was held for the week-end of February 27. An Inspiration Service for the pledges was on Friday evening, a ceremony which was started last year by this chapter. The seniors passed down the ideals of  $\Pi B \Phi$  to the pledges. Initiation was Saturday afternoon. The formal initiation banquet was held at Willard Straight Hall on Saturday night. The favors were wine and blue suede bookmarks which contained the menu and the names of the initiates. After speeches were made welcoming the new members, scholarship awards were presented. Initiation was brought to an end by singing the traditional "Loving-Cup Song."

ONTARIO ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO

Pledge Day, January 19, 1942

INITIATED, March 7, 1942: Dorcas Beeton, Oshawa; Joan Ebbels, Nancy Frazer, Sally Henry, Patricia Secombe, Margaret Seitz, Anne Sheldon, Marion Tyrrell, Jean Vanstone, Toronto.

This term, campus activities at the University of Toronto have been directed more than ever towards assisting Canada's war effort. Besides contributing the proceeds of most of the social functions to the Red Cross and similar organizations, each college has organized a special group effort in some phase of war work. In addition, most of the women's fraternities have formed units for sewing and knitting, or for first aid, and similar auxiliary work. Ontario As are continuing their Red Cross knitting group, and have bought a Victory Bond.

The first two weeks of the term were busy with rushing which followed a schedule set by Panhellenic. Pledging took place on January 19, followed by a cooky-shine.

Instead of the annual formal dance, Ontario A planned a ski week-end at one of the Northern Ontario ski lodges. All those who went were extremely enthusiastic about this innovation, and felt that it was a splendid way for the new pledges to get into the swing of fraternity life.

The annual panhellenic banquet was held in the middle of February. As it is the only occasion during the year that the members of all the fraternities come together, it is one of the most enjoyed fraternities functions. The program and speaker were especially grand this year.

The Panhellenic Association sponsored a theater night in aid of the University Settlement Music School. Each fraternity girl was responsible for selling a ticket, and the continued effort of the ten fraternities resulted in a very substantial donation.

A raffle was held to raise money for the three Panhellenic scholarships that are awarded annually for general proficiency. The fraternities supported this project by selling books of tickets, and it was found to be a very satisfactory way of raising the necessary sum.

The mothers of the actives and pledges were entertained at a tea at the house on the afternoon of March 5. The fraternity rooms were attractive with new curtains, and the alumnae gift of a silver tea urn was used.

Initiation was followed by the annual initiation banquet, and later by a dance.

Joan Carter placed second for the University of Toronto women's ski championship, Sally Wait and Margaret Stock were members of the college hockey team, and Betty Mortimer, Margaret Earle, Nancy Frazer, Pat Secombe, Marion Tyrrell, Pat Austin, took part in the interfaculty swimming meet. Ann Trow made the city of Toronto ski team, and participated in the Intercity meet at the Seigniory Club, Quebec.

Joan Clement has been elected secretary of the Permanent Executive of the class of '42.

ONTARIO BETA—UNIVERSITY OF WESTERN ONTARIO

INITIATED, November 23, 1941: Eleanor Erskine, Atwood; Audrey Garen, Chatham; Dolores Soderston, Iroquois Falls; Peggy Lang, Kitchener; Mary Blandford, Doreen Busby, Mary Dewar, Agnes Eastwood, Betty Green, Peggy Hennigar, Frances Henry, Peggy Jones, Katharine Kingsmill, Ruth McAlister, Mary McConnell, Megan McNaughton, Mary Pattinson, Mary Pat Robinson, London; Frances Ingram, Ann MacDonald, Pauline Richardson, Virginia Spackman, St. Thomas; Barbara Shook, Toronto; Madge Wiley, Windsor.

The women students at Western University are now enrolled in compulsory war-time courses to correspond to the Canadian Officers' Training Corps for men. A wide choice of instructive subjects includes first aid, physics, chemistry, and training for active service.

The chapter house has begun a salvage campaign. Paper, metal containers, bottles, in fact everything that is of any use for war purposes is being collected and handed over to the Red Cross.

Mrs. McCutcheon, Ontario B's chaperon for six years, left London in January to take up a position at the Y.W.C.A. hostess house at Debert, Nova Scotia. The chapter has welcomed Mrs. Greene from Toronto as the new chaperon.

The annual Co-ed Prom was held on February 17. The lack of decorations in Convocation Hall did not detract from the enthusiasm displayed at the dance. The co-eds cheerfully escorted and paid for the evening's entertainment. The entire proceeds were given to the Red Cross.

The fraternity dance was held on February 27 at the London Hunt and Country Club. Before the dance a dinner was given at the Glenn Allen Restaurant for  $\Pi B \Phi$  graduates and their escorts. At midnight a light lunch was served at the club. Due to the large number of alumnae present at the dance, the profits were sufficient to purchase a fifty dollar Victory Bond.

The Meds at Home and the Arts Ball were two highlights of second semester. The former dance marked the completion of examinations for the final year medical students, a fact which will permit an early graduation. Ontario B's medical student, Marion Webster, assisted on the committee for the Meds at Home, and several  $\Pi B \Phi$  Phi were on the Arts Ball committee.

Anne Little and Barbara Morris have been chosen for the Honor Society. This is the highest honor that can be obtained by students graduating from the University of Western Ontario.

PLEGDED: Joan Bowman, Mary Purdom, London.

BETA PROVINCE

PENNSYLVANIA BETA—BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY

Chartered, January 4, 1895

The defense program is rapidly getting under way at Bucknell University. Students may choose from a great variety of defense activities. Nurses aide, home nursing, staff workers, and air raid and fire wardens are a few of the courses offered. The first aid program, which is the basic requirement for most of the courses, has been in progress since February 14. The other classes are organized and will start as soon as materials arrive. A regiment of men students has been organized and will meet each week for military drill under the direction of an army officer. Dean Page is hopeful that a similar regiment may be formed for the girls. This set-up is entirely on a voluntary basis.

Acting upon the suggestion of President Marts, Student Faculty Congress voted a 50 per cent cut on all extra-curricular activities. The time and energy thus saved is to be spent in defense training work, increased attendance to academic work, and to participation in an organized physical fitness program.

Bucknell played host to leaders of 25 Pennsylvania colleges and universities when the Intercollegiate Student Government Association of Pennsylvania met for its third annual convention on this campus.

Will Bradley and his orchestra furnished the music for the Junior Prom on February 13. Students showed their patriotism by buying "Victory Corsages" which were V-shaped corsages with a number of defense stamps attached.

On January 14 the artist course brought Ruth Draper, well known monologist, to the campus. She gave a very good performance which was well received by the faculty and students. The same committee brought the Wilkes-Barre Sinfonietta to Bucknell March 4.

Pennsylvania B held its annual dinner dance on February 21. Money saved from programs, decorations, and the sale of cokes was given to the Red Cross.

Pledges of Pennsylvania B held a party for the pledges of other fraternities and sororities. Actives were also entertained at a Valentine party given in their honor by the pledges.

As for academic work, the dean's list appeared last week. This is a list of students whose semester average is 85 per cent or better, and the chapter was well represented.

Every chapter member of the junior and senior class has above an eighty average.

Shortly after the beginning of the second semester, the pledge test was given.

The chapter arranged a program so that the big and little sisters would have some good times together before initiation. As initiation was to be held on Wednesday, the girls started on the previous Saturday afternoon with bowling. Sunday morning all went to church and Sunday evening to Fellowship. Monday evening, those to be initiated were invited to a joint meeting with the actives before its regular meeting. Tuesday night, three big sisters treated to dinner their little sisters who weren't going to be initiated. Then, on Wednesday, nine girls were initiated, followed by a banquet at the Molly Pitcher Hotel at which Mrs. Paul Hutchinson, alumna adviser, Mrs. J. Ressler Shultz, and Mrs. Harvey Simmins were guests. The following Wednesday the chapter initiated another pledge because she had been ill the previous week.

At the Midwinter Ball, February 21, Mary Snyder and Hilda Knaub were chosen as attendants to the queen.

The college had a poll to select the ten most beautiful co-eds. Of the ten selected, five are Pi Phi's: Mary Snyder, Elizabeth Black, Jo-Ann Wilson, Marjorie Dalton, and Jeanne Loving.

Mary P. Mackie has been elected to A Σ II, honorary scientific fraternity.

Maryland A has risen to second place in scholastic standing with only .3 lower than the highest position. Virginia Haile had the highest average with all A's.

The freshman class was victorious in Sing Song, the annual interclass competition at Goucher. Their success is credited to Betty Barrett, pledge, who wrote the freshman class music. The athletic association presented the annual A.A.A. show for which Beth Ferris, president of A.A.A., directed. The national intercollegiate archery tournament was held with Kathryn Gilbert having the highest score of the Goucher girls. The traditional Play Day was held at George Washington University with several Pi Phis represented on the various teams. Beth Ferris was elected chairman of fund raising for the United Service Campaign of Goucher College. In recognition of her contributions to the college and  $\Pi B \Phi$ , the chapter elected Beth Ferris as candidate for the Amy B. Onken award.

Following the initiation ceremony, the actives and initiates enjoyed a banquet at the Blackstone. After the banquet the actives returned to the rooms for the first formal meeting with the new initiates.

January 14 the alumnae sponsored a Red Cross training course held on each Wednesday night. The actives have taken a great interest in this training. The annual Panhellenic dance was held January 16 with Kathryn Gilbert in charge. Before the dance, coffee was served in the rooms to the members and their escorts.

Mrs. Nell Anderson Spruce, Province President, visited in January. After meeting the pledges, Mrs. Spruce gave an interesting talk at the regular meeting. The alumnae extended an invitation for the actives to meet with them February 2.

January 25 the chapter entertained the faculty at a tea. This enabled the new members to become better acquainted with the faculty.

A tea was given February 22. Many of the girls from other campus sororities and non-fraternity girls attended. On February 14 the actives entertained the pledges and new initiates at a formal dance at the home of Mrs. Helen Frames, an alumna. HELEN WINE

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA—GEORGE WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY

Chartered, 1889

Pledge Day, March 2, 1942

INITIATED, February 14, 1942: Betty Dawson, Loessa Coffey, Margery Gessford, Verlyn Miller, Mary Ring, Martha Sebree, Jean Skinner.

The radio studios in the basement of the new Lisner Auditorium have been completed, and since the beginning of this semester they have been used for public speaking classrooms. The auditorium hall and the reception room are not as yet completed because the war has restricted the possibility of obtaining labor.

Many members are attending various defense courses. The Christmas formal dance was given at the Bradley Hills Country Club. The Junior Alumnae Club entertained the active chapter at a party February 22. Peggy Kinsman was elected chapter candidate for beauty queen.

The chapter sang the "Sweetheart Song" and a rally song for the intersorority sing which was held at the end of March.

The Easter vacation has been cut down to two days; the semester will terminate May 16 and graduation will come June 2.

VIRGINIA ALPHA—RANDOLPH-MACON WOMAN'S COLLEGE

Chartered, 1913

Pledge Day, September 28, 1941

INITIATED, February 28, March 1, 1942: Thyrsa Becker, Battle Creek, Mich.; Virginia Caffee, Cape Charles; Nancy Gray, Ardmore, Okla.; Betty Hail, Batesville, Ark.; Gloria Hysong, Washington, D.C.; Margaret Jervey, Riverside, Calif.; Jane LaPrelle, Dallas, Tex.; Betty Lou Long, Ridgewood, N.J.; Constance McCord, Terrell, Tex.; Nancy Robinson, Harrisburg, Pa.; Vivien Seidner, Ogden, Utah; Shirley Strickland, Durham, N.C.; Anne Suthon, New Orleans, La.; Betty Sue Tennyson, Wichita Falls, Tex.; Frances White, Tampa, Fla.; Aileen Wood, Tulsa, Okla.; Nancy Rose Wood, Marshall, Tex.

Since the beginning of the second semester Randolph-Macon has devoted even more time to war relief. The amount of Red Cross work has increased and classes in nutrition have been begun. A benefit debate for the Red Cross was held with the University of Virginia and the proceeds from the Dance Group Recital were turned over to Relief Funds Committee. With the money that would have been spent for Even Day decorations a defense bond was bought, payable to the class of 1954.

Dean's list for the first semester was announced including: Anne Felts, Katherine Black, Bobbie Ann Sanborn, Rosagene Walker, Betty Lou Long, Shirley Strickland, and Anne Suthon. Student Government elections were held earlier this year to give the new officers more time in which to be instructed about their duties by the old officers. Katherine Black was elected president of the Student Government Association for the next year. Kitty was president of her freshman class, has been named on the Dean's list four times, is a junior usher and has been in May Court every year. She is a member of Gamma 13, Omega, and Am Sam.

Eta, the honorary society for the classes who graduate in even years, brought out four new members from the sophomore class on each of four successive Sundays, beginning February 8. Three Pi Beta Phis, Jacqueline Bernard, Sarah Witherspoon, and Anne Melville were among the sixteen.

On February 20 the sophomores held their annual dance. Mary Alice Alexander and Anne Ivens were chairmen of committees and in the figure, together with Jacqueline Bernard and Helen Reinartz. Annie deMontel was chairman of the Panhellenic Dance held the next night. On February 28 Anne Felts appeared in the Sock and Buskin production of "Everyman."

The Thursday before initiation the pledges gave a party and skit for the actives at the house. Because of the number of pledges who made their grades half were initiated Saturday afternoon, February 28, and the remaining half Sunday morning, March 1. A cooky-shine was held for the new members Sunday night.

VIRGINIA GAMMA—WILLIAM AND MARY COLLEGE

Pledge Day, October 8, 1941

INITIATED, February 14, 1942: Mary Alsop, Virginia Davis, Williamsburg; Margaret Doering, Lynchburg; Gene Kellogg, Falls Church; Jane Wood, Arlington; Mary Jean Caldwell, Toledo, Ohio; Patricia Nesbitt, Maizie Tressler, Cleveland Heights, Ohio; Jeanne Forrester, Honolulu, T.H.; Virginia Kelcey, Westfield, N.J.; Louise Spalding, Westfield, N.J.; Audrey Leach, Drexel Park, Pa.; Cornelia Westerman, Columbia, Pa.; Chislaine Lovell, Brookline, Mass.; Dorothy Landon, Longmeadow, Mass.; Marcia Manewal, Janice Hendricks, Great Neck, N.Y.; Ann Webb, Vienna, Md.

Several of the professors at William and Mary left college at the end of the first semester either to go into the army or to accept positions in Washington. Not all have been replaced, but there are two new professors in the government department: Messrs. Doman and Poindester.

Mid-winter dances, held February 6 and 7, were a great success. A number of alumnae were back for this weekend, and everyone forgot the war for a few hours and enjoyed himself.

Virginia Gamma had an unfortunate interruption during its initiation ceremony when some initiation equipment caught fire. The girls through quick thinking and action had put the fire out before the arrival of the fire department. There was little damage done. The initiation banquet was held immediately after the ceremony, at the Williamsburg Inn. The new initiates kept the members entertained with their original II B Phi songs. The chapter was very fortunate in having Gamma Province President, Mrs. Nell Anderson Spruce, with them during the week-end of initiation activities. All the girls enjoyed her visit so much and felt that they had gotten a great deal from their conferences and chats with her.

Elections are being held for the new officers of the Women Students' Cooperative Government Association. Deborah Davis is the new vice-president of the executive council, and Marcia Manewal is treasurer of the same council. Final elections to other offices will be held on March 11.

Panhellenic council is busily discussing plans for rushing next fall. The college administration has decreed that rushing be deferred until November, after mid-semester grades are out. Whether or not rushing is to depend on these grades, and details of open and closed rushing are matters to be settled by Panhellenic Council.

Terry Teal, Jackie Fowlkes, and Virginia Doepke have parts in the musical comedy, "School for Husbands," to be presented by the college in March. The last performance is to be a special one for soldiers only. Terry is not a newcomer to the William and Mary stage; she has had roles in a number of plays during her college career.

In spite of the loss of several star players on the team, William and Mary holds the state championship in basketball and is now eligible for the Southern Conference game.

NORTH CAROLINA ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA

Pledge Day, October 15, 1942

INITIATED, January 23, 24, 1942: Mary Martha Cobb, Alice Logan, Chapel Hill; Sarah Sutton, Raleigh; Jayne Taylor, Greenville; Julia Mebane, Davidson; Holly Smith, Kinston; Betty Ann McHaney, Mary Jane McCaskill, Little Rock, Ark.; Ann Archer, Phoenix, Ariz.; Grace Manning Venable, San Antonio, Tex.; Marilyn Sandefer, Breckenridge, Tex.; Audrey Hamblen, Washington, D.C.; Patricia Booth, Hampton, Va.; Margaret Campbell, McLean, Va.; Joan Smithyman, Butler, N.J.; Jennie Clark French, Bluefield, W.Va.; Imogene King, Corinth, Miss.; Jane McDonough, Patricia Miller, Fort Benning, Ga.

The University of North Carolina has been selected as one of the nation's four "Annapolises of the Air." Naval aviation cadets will undergo a three months' vigorous training program, preliminary to regular aeronautical training at one of the navy air bases. "Carolina" is one of the four universities in the country which have been selected by the navy department as having adequate facilities for this training. The original "Annapolis" was founded under the administration of a University of North Carolina alumnus, James K. Polk.

North Carolina Alpha had a banquet for its new initiates on January 28. Mary Jane McCaskill and Jane McDonough were awarded recognition pins for being outstanding pledges.

The chapter enjoyed exchange dinners with the local chapters of X Omega and Alpha Delta Pi. Each Sunday night all actives and pledges have supper together at the house. One night members of the Chapel Hill Alumnae Club were entertained. During this quarter several faculty members and their wives have attended the suppers. The chapter has enjoyed meeting members of the faculty in an atmosphere less formal than that of the classroom. The suppers usually end with singing, in which everyone joins.

On each Friday afternoon during this quarter II B Phi has had open house for independent girls and stray Greeks. The entertainment has been informal, including bridge games, knitting, or just conversation.

A number of Pi Phi were in the cast or the stage crew of the Sound and Fury show, which is a student musical comedy production.

Mary Jane McCaskill was elected junior representative for the Women's Senate, legislative body of the women's government.

Letha Slager of Virginia Gamma was affiliated on February 4.

NORTH CAROLINA BETA—DUKE UNIVERSITY

Chartered, February 17, 1933

Pledge Day, February 11, 1942

In order to cut down on rushing expenses due to the war emergency, Panhellenic council here voted that the rush period be cut down from four to three days, rushing to be carried on only in the rooms in the Panhellenic House during specified hours and at a minimum expense. Despite this the whole affair was very successful. For entertainment North Carolina B had a gay and peppy circus party, a "blue champagne" party carrying out the wine and silver blue theme with candlelight and soft music, and finally the traditional wedding party which always leaves such an impression. After the girls received their bids an informal open house was held for them in the chapter room.

Pledging was followed by a colorful banquet at the Washington Duke Hotel at which time a number of the actives and pledges were called upon to give impromptu speeches both of a serious and a humorous nature.

The pledge class has entertained the pledge classes of various other fraternities on campus at informal afternoon parties. The third Sunday in March they gave a cabin party for the actives and their dates.

Also in March was the Meridian Club swimming pageant in which a number of Pi Phi took part, the president and vice-president of the organization both being members of this chapter.

Of interest also is the effort made at Duke in co-operation with the recent war activities. On this campus numerous A.R.P. and American Women's Voluntary Services courses having to do with national defense are being offered throughout the spring semester, and this chapter, as well as the other fraternity chapters on campus, has urged participation in these activities. In doing its part as a whole the chapter has made at least small contributions to the Red Cross and similar organizations.

In order to accelerate the school program the university cut out this year's spring vacation, which stopped the plans the chapter was making for a house party in Florida.

In connection, too, with national defense, dances on campus have been cut to a minimum and must be sponsored with the idea of benefiting some worthy organization such as the Red Cross. An additional feature is that a twenty-five cent defense stamp must be purchased along with each ticket.

Two of the pledges, Virginia Goodnow and Marguerite Taylor, were elected to Ivy, the honorary organization for freshmen making a very high scholastic average.

PLEGGED: Pat Addington, Pensacola, Fla.; Margaret Little Blount, Bethel; Betty Lee Boren, Dayton, Ohio;

Barbara Buttle, Arlington, N.J.; Mary Ann Cassidy, Park Ridge, Ill.; Mary Jane Clark, Jacksboro, Tenn.; Elizabeth Deaton, Joan O'Neal, Eleanor Whitney, Greensboro; Virginia Goodnow, Keen, N.H.; Merthell Greenwell, Julia Hedrick, Durham; Nancy Johnson, Atlanta, Ga.; Margaret Keys, Fayetteville; Agnes Kirkmeyer, Richmond, Va.; Nancy Lee Laws, Betty Pine, Washington, D.C.; Octavia McRea, Rockingham; Shirley Murdock, Fort Lauderdale, Fla.; Ann Succop, Frehold, N.J.; Marguerite Taylor, Morristown, Tenn.; Doreen Walker, Marmaroneck, N.Y.; Marjorie Wyman, St. Clairsville, Ohio.

At the Crystal Room of the Columbia Hotel, a banquet was given for the new initiates. After the banquet two recognition pins were awarded, one to Jeanne Stafford for the best all-round pledge, and the other to Mary Frances Polk for the pledge having the highest scholarship.

Several members of the chapter have been outstanding in campus activities. Marianne Marscher was elected president of A K I, girls' national honorary leadership sorority. Also Harriet Williamson was tapped for membership. Betty Barr was elected vice-president of the Euphrosonean Literary Society. Doris Nash is the co-ed editor of the school newspaper. Jeanne Stafford was elected president of Junior Dams, a social dancing club.

The chapter has been doing its part in the National Defense program. Every Thursday night the girls go to one of the USO clubs here in town to help entertain the soldiers. This chapter was the first on the campus to volunteer for this type of service.

PLEGGED, February 11, 1942: Elizabeth Henry, New York, N.Y.; Marion Patterson, Beaufort.

MICHIGAN ALPHA—HILLSDALE COLLEGE

Chartered, 1887

Pledge Day, September 26, 1941

INITIATED, February 14, 1942: Betty Martin, Eleanor Seger, Detroit; Josephine Bowers, Hillsdale; Jean Cooper, Berkeley; Rachel Hoisington, Inlay City; Betty Ann Hueter, Defiance, Ohio; Mary Alice Gochenour, Birmingham, Ala.; Ann Parent, "Model Pledge," Union City, Ind.

Again Michigan A has carried off scholastic honors, by capturing the new inter-sorority scholarship cup, for having the highest campus group average during the fall semester. This award has been won by Michigan A for the past three consecutive semesters. Also, three seniors rank among the first ten of their class. They are Kathryn Ann Pierce, Marilyn Woodford, and Jacquelyn Hauck. Kathryn Ann was also honored by being chosen as alternate for the $400 University of Michigan graduate study scholarship. In addition to attaining such a high scholarship record, Marilyn Woodford has been editor of the Collegian, weekly college newspaper, during the past year.

Hillsdale College has telescoped its program to include three full semesters a year, with 1942 semesters ending May 18, August 29, and December 18. Classes are held six days a week, and consequently, social activities have been limited to Saturday night only. The traditional J-Hop was eliminated. Student cooperation with this war-time program has been encouragingly wholehearted.

The war has brought many new activities to Hillsdale College and to the chapter. Betty Lee Wilson, Betty Owen, Gretchen Shtatz, Gail Abbott, Betty Martin, and Audrey Murphy are enrolled in Red Cross first aid classes, as is Mrs. C. V. Gardner, housemother. Knitting for the Red Cross is an activity in which almost every II B  $\Phi$  member is engaged. The chapter as a whole showed its enthusiastic support for the war program by buying a \$100 defense bond.

Because of war economy, Hillsdale sororities voted to hold their annual spring formal dinner-dances at their respective houses, instead of at out-of-town hotels or clubs. The II B  $\Phi$  dance was held Saturday, March 14. The usual corsages and favors were prohibited by college regulation.

As usual, the chapter was active in athletic competitions. With several members of last year's championship basketball team as a mainstay, the chapter again turned out an unbeatable combination.

Members who have performed behind the footlights this semester have been Mary Alice Gochenour, who played the lead in "The Bat," and Josephine Bowers, who played the title role in the fantasy "Snow White." Both girls are initiates. The reproductions were part of the Hillsdale Community Players series.

PLEGGED: Evelyn Bower, Plymouth; Priscilla Ringler, Quincy.

REPLEGGED: Betty Ann Hueter, Defiance, Ohio.

INITIATED, February 28, 1942: Madalyn Thompson Boin, York, Pa.; Flora Bothe, Orelana, Pa.; Harriet Boyer, Grosse Pointe; Frances Capps, Jacksonville, Ill.; Anne Bradford Cook, Hillsdale; Helen Curdes, Fort Wayne, Ind.; Marilyn Gebhard, Morris, Ill.; Beverley Gotschall, Cleveland Heights, Ohio; Joyce G. Helmick, Washington, D.C.; Eleanor Ketcham, Oak Park, Ill.; Patricia Whitney MacGregor, Wheeling, W.Va.; Ruth Maloney, Evanston, Ill.; Helen Naomi Miller, Highland Park; Anna Louise Stanton, Portsmouth, Ohio; Frances Tripp, Allegan; Barbara Jean Wallace, Lafayette, Ind.

The keynote of campus activities is defense. The Red Cross drive for blood donors went over exceptionally well and classes in defense work begun earlier in the year are progressing. Members of the chapter are enrolled in home nursing, motor mechanics, first aid, etc. Profits derived from J-Hop were given for defense purposes. Miss Alice Lloyd, Dean of Women, who is the president of the national deans' association, has directed students' attention toward the importance of good health especially at this time. First semester examinations were telescoped into one week, followed immediately by registration for the second semester and spring vacation was omitted from the university's calendar. In this speeded-up program commencement will come May 30. University officials announced definite plans for a complete third semester to be offered during the summer months. Regular summer school of the usual eight weeks will be offered at the same time.

The new semester opened with the installation of the new officers. Aggie Crow was chosen by the chapter as candidate for the Amy Burnham Onken award. The pledge class gave the actives an informal dance, in keeping with the times. Several honors were received by chapter members: Marcia Karn received  $\Phi K \Phi$  and Julie Fenske received  $\Pi \Lambda \Theta$ , national honorary society for women in education. February 28 was the day of initiation which was followed by a traditional banquet. The program was carried out to resemble a radio program with Marney Gardner as toastmistress. The senior class prophecy appeared on the program as "Time Marches On" and Marcia Karn "signed off" representing her class.

Panhellenic gives a banquet each year for freshman pledges making the highest grades. Patty MacGregor attended from this chapter.

PLEGDED: Charlotte Fern, Lansing.

INDIANA ALPHA—FRANKLIN COLLEGE

Pledge Day, September 12, 1942

INITIATED, February 22, 1942: Marjorie Dailey, Franklin; Margaret Anne Dillard, Paoli.

Franklin College has a new student recreation center which is located in the Women's Residence Hall. Sue Fletcher was chairman of the student committee which planned the project. Most of the work was done by the students and donations were made by various campus organizations.

In athletics, Indiana A maintained its high ranking on campus. The girls' basketball trophy was again won by the team in February. The W.A.A. pledges were initiated by Sue Fletcher, the president, on February 24. Pi Beta Phi inducted were Virginia Wells, active, and the following pledges: Kathleen Hampton, Jane Lewis, Hester Phelan, and Jane Schafenacher.

Rebecca Abbott, pledge, was voted freshman queen by campus men at the annual Keconot Grove dance, sponsored by Blue Key. This year the affair was held in the Masonic Temple. The queen's crown was of white sweet-peas and carnations, and her dress of blue velvet.

The Mothers' Club entertained the active chapter and pledges at Ye Wayside Inn, February 2. After the delicious spread, the girls sang chapter songs.

Indiana A was honored in March by the visit of Mrs. Holton, assistant to the Grand Treasurer. The chapter profited greatly by her visit.

New wine draperies and cream-colored lamps have recently added greatly to the beauty of the chapter living room.

The annual Founders Day was attended by the four Indiana chapters on April 25.

The pledges entertained the actives at a dance, April 11, at Shelbyville. Clever decorations carried out the "Out of this World" theme.

Two seniors, Betty Davis and Bette Jo Schroeder, were chosen by junior class members as representative students. Their pictures appeared in the 1942 Almanack.

The pledges sponsored a mixer after the last basketball game, February 25. The affair was the annual "Basket Ball" in honor of the coach and team. Each person was presented with a basketball badge, after which he made a short talk.

INITIATED, February 22, 1942: Shirlee Enders, Gary; Roberta Swan, Gary; Georgia Wilson, Mount Carmel, Ill.; Jean Holland, Bloomington; Maryanne Worden, South Bend; June Brown, Indianapolis; Maxine Price, Bloomington; Jean Weil, Fort Wayne; Bettyjane Mitchell, Indianapolis; Jean Rheubottom, Wakarusa; Betty Freed, Indianapolis; Henrietta Parrish, Bloomington; Carolyn Bash, Warsaw.

The winter term at Indiana University saw a great number of campus and fraternity activities. Among the outstanding appearances on the Auditorium programs were Nelson Eddy, Marian Anderson, Jose Iturbi, and Albert Spalding. Preceding the winter formal, February 14, the active chapter enjoyed the annual dinner dance. Indiana B has had several exchange dinners with fraternities. Among them are  $\Delta T \Delta$ ,  $\Phi \Gamma$ ,  $B \Theta \Pi$ , and the men's dorm. We are also planning to have a tea dance with the Alpha Tau Phi.

This year the Junior Prom, March 27, is going to be quite an affair for Indiana B because we have our Barbara Johnson as prom queen candidate. We already have had a party to introduce Barbara to the junior men and are planning to have another one soon. Tommy Dorsey will play for the prom.

$\Pi B \Phi$  has also won many other honors. Jean Dickson, Editor of this year's Arbutus, has been elected to  $\Phi B K$ . June Brown was elected to  $\Theta A \Phi$ , national dramatics honorary, was appointed social chairman of A.W.S., and was chosen as one of the five Arbutus beauty queens. The chapter has also four girls who have won sophomore Mortar Board recognition. They are Martha Fetterly, June Brown, Jean McKee, and Marianna Ashby, who also has been elected a member of the Board of Standards.

Indiana B was very happy to have their first visit from Mrs. Holton, assistant to the Grand Treasurer. We were sorry, however, that she could not stay longer. The chapter also entertained Mrs. Owens December 8-10.

Initiation was held February 22. At the annual banquet the awards of the year were given. Shirlee Enders received the scholarship cup for having the highest grades in the freshman pledge class; Bettyjane Mitchell was honored with the activities bracelet for having the most activities in the pledge class; and Marianna Ashby received the scholarship arrow for having the highest grades in the house.

Pledge Day, September 10, 1941

INITIATED, February 22, 1942: Virginia Delis Bowers, Jane Fall, Clyde Holder, Betty Jean Miller, Leah Jane Munro, Mary Ann Strawmyer, Ann Warden, Indianapolis.

Carol Rogers was elected by the freshman boys to reign as Freshman Rose Queen at the Annual Freshman Rose Dance on January 9. Carol is the thirteenth  $\Pi B \Phi$  to hold this honor.

Dr. Daniel S. Robinson has resigned from his position as President of Butler University. Dean Maurice O. Ross, Dean of the College of Business Administration is now acting President.

Butler University is proud of its new College of Religion building. This building was dedicated early in February. A College of Religion so fine as this has long been deserving of such a fine building.

Indiana  $\Gamma$  members are enrolled in various Red Cross classes and are participating in the sewing and knitting units of the Red Cross sponsored by the University. Groups of girls from the chapter go to Fort Benjamin Harrison each Saturday to entertain the soldiers in the fort's hospital.

A Valentine Social was held at the chapter house after the Butler-DePauw basketball game, February 14. Invitations to this affair were extended to all fraternities and sororities on the campus.

Mary Elizabeth Gessert was chosen to be Sophomore Sweetheart for 1942. Mary Elizabeth was presented with a trophy and a sweetheart necklace at the Sophomore Cotillion. Mary Wiley, Drift Beauty in 1939, was again selected to be Drift Beauty for the 1942 Drift, College annual.

Indiana  $\Gamma$  has taken a special interest in the petitioning group at DePauw,  $\Pi \Theta E$ . Girls in this group have been entertained by various members of Indiana  $\Gamma$ . Joan Silberman accompanied Mrs. Roger B. Owens, Delta Province President, to visit the group for a weekend in February. On March 6, Indiana  $\Gamma$  was happy to entertain at dinner Grand Vice-President, Ruth Barrett Smith. Mrs. Smith had just been to visit  $\Pi \Phi E$ .

Virginia Bowers, Magnolia De Hart, and Mary Wiley were invited to become members of  $K \Delta \Pi$ , national education honorary.

Purdue University has gone on a new war time schedule. Final examinations have been eliminated making it possible to end the spring semester four weeks early as the spring vacation has been eliminated too. The summer semester begins immediately then and corresponds to the winter sessions. This makes a total of three complete semesters in each year.

Five girls participated in the university musical convocations given in February. They were Mollie Harding, Mary Crane, Janeth Dixon, Jeanne Busenbark, and Carolyn Wood. Paul Robeson sang and the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra played for other convocations. In April "The Barber of Seville" was given by the San Carlo Grand Opera company. Tommy Dorsey played for one of the dances.

Every Friday the university sponsors a defense lecture and on Thursdays "Little Movie Convos" are presented. Both have educational as well as entertaining value.

On February 5 the candle light ceremony was held to tell the pledges the date of initiation. After all of them were in bed their mothers awakened them singing and carrying lighted candles. Everyone then assembled in the dining room while the president told them when they were to be initiated.

The All Campus Sing in which all sororities and fraternities participate was held March 28.

The II B  $\Phi$  winter formal was given in the Union building February 28. To decrease expenses no decorations were used except the large lighted arrow displayed in back of the band.

Sally Murphy had the lead in the Little Theater production and Betty Erick had the lead in "Beyond the Horizon" presented by playshop. Betty was also chosen as the Indiana  $\Delta$  candidate for the Amy B. Onken award.

The scholastic average of the chapter has improved greatly. Marjorie Bollman, Frances Mellon, Calista Creel and Carolyn Wood were all distinguished students.

Mrs. Edwin Holton, assistant to the Grand Treasurer, visited the chapter March 15 and 16.

Jean Frankenberry as advertising manager and Pat Sternberg on the editorial staff of the college paper, the Exponent, have been doing outstanding work.

MISSOURI ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF MISSOURI

Chartered, 1899

Pledge Day, September 15, 1941

INITIATED, March 1, 1942: Dorothy Allen, Mary Elizabeth Campbell, Tulsa, Okla.; Betty McQueen, Ann Cain, Nadine James, Mary Jo Buschman, Mary Eleanor Pace, Eileen Potter, Kansas City; Malcolm Sheppard, Columbia; Dorothy Fisher, Glasgow; Mary Hughes, Macon; Lola Jane Lyon, Leavenworth, Kan.; Gertrude Tucker, Cranston, R.I.; Eleanor Glassen, Barbara Jean Old, Moberly; Mary Jo Jones, Carthage; Betty Ann Eubank, Kirksville; Nancy Higgins, Cincinnati, Ohio; Charlotte Anne Luke-man, Hannibal.

Spare time and outside activities these past months have been devoted, to a great extent, to such things as knitting for the armed forces of the United States and England, first aid classes and defense work in general. On February 25 there was an all-school Red Cross dance here at the University of Missouri which turned over a considerable sum to this worthy organization. Another measure that has been taken here on the campus to aid the defense program shows up in most of the fraternity dances now being held. Since the United States entered the war the colorful decorations that have always helped to glorify the dances have been given up and the money formerly used for that purpose is now being utilized in defense work through one channel or another. A few of the fraternities have given up some of their dances altogether.

Registration this last semester at the University of Missouri revealed the loss of quite a number of both boys and girls due directly to the world situation. This year the college is extending its summer session from an eight week period to a twelve week one in order to speed up the education of many students and thus, in a few cases, allowing students to get degrees who would otherwise be unable to do so due to the draft and other factors.

Missouri A, at present, is in second place in the campus intramurals. Patricia Curtis, has received the honor of being a candidate for Engineer's Queen this year.

PLEGDED: Margaret Aker, Worthington, Minn.; Victoria Evans, Columbia.

MISSOURI BETA—WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY

Pledge Day, February 11, 1942

INITIATED, March 1, 1942: Marjorie Campen, Edith Cann, Mary Clark, Betty Lou Custer, Virginia Donnelly, Gloria Elsnor, Maurita Estes, Betty Jean French, Carolyn King, Betty Knodel, Elsie Lantz, Gene Meyer, Jackie Nimock, Shirley Pemberton, Peggy Schwankhaus, Jane Shurig, Dorothy Trembley.

Missouri B is looking for a prominent place to put the newly acquired swimming cup. The chapter earned it in the inter-sorority swimming meet, and broke an inter-collegiate record in doing so. The relay team of Dorothy Tracy, Helen Goertz, Gloria Elsnor, and Marjorie Gravely cut the previous record down by four seconds. Although Marjorie Gravely, Helen Goertz, and Gloria Elsnor earned points winning individual events, the whole chapter and pledge class participated in a "cork race" for additional points.

Since the swimming meet, all attention has been focused on redecorating the sorority room. The chapter has agreed to use the Missouri B Fund for the purpose, but the decorating plans are still the subject of discussion.

There is a new activity on the Washington University campus, the Civilian Defense Program. Many Missouri B members have enrolled and are completing the Red Cross First Aid course. Anne Purnell is on the governing staff representing the Campus Y.M.C.A., in which she is a member of the cabinet. Virginia Kammerer and Marjorie Gravely were appointed to the morale division. This new program is sponsored by the Campus Y and is being publicized by the biweekly newspaper, Student Life.

Many of the II  $\Phi$  freshmen are starting as reporters on this publication, and several of the upper classmen hold important positions. Betty Rasbach is managing editor, Anne Purnell is society editor, and Patty Dunbar was recently appointed copy-editor.

The student yearbook, Hatchbet, is an important activity on campus. Anne Purnell and Mary Elizabeth Banks are class editors and most of the chapter spends some time working in the office each week. The other student publication has Peggy Stoecker as feature editor.

The members are always interested in the annual Quadrangle Club musical show, and this year many of them are working on the production end. Marjorie Kammerer is in charge of costuming the whole production. Mary Elizabeth Banks and Alice Jane Love are in the dancing chorus while Dorothy Tracy and Virginia Powers were chosen for the singing chorus.

Scholarship has been very good this year, and two pledges, Marjorie Campen and Peggy Schwankhaus, tied for the diamond recognition pin for scholarship. Marjorie was voted the outstanding pledge in activities, so her pin will be in recognition of both scholarship and the most outstanding pledge. The actives have bettered their grades from last year, though the official rating hasn't been posted as yet.

"All out for defense" is the slogan prevalent on Drury campus these days. The goal is a hundred per cent enrollment in the varied program being carried out by the college. All organizations have been asked to do their part to make this undertaking successful. The war and its seriousness has had a somewhat sobering effect on all college activities. There is a very efficient unit of the Red Cross on the campus and also a nurse's training program. Women as well as men have been asked to fill out personnel blanks for service in Civilian Defense. Many of the older boys have enlisted in the naval, marine, and aviation reserves. Drury is preparing to do her part in any emergency.

Drury Homecoming was limited to one day this year, Saturday, February 14. There was a basketball game in the evening following dinner at all the fraternity houses for their respective alumni.  $\Pi B \Phi$  actives entertained with a dinner in their rooms for actives, pledges, and alumnae, after which they all attended the Homecoming dance at Wallace Hall, girls' dormitory. Highlight of the dance was the crowning of the Homecoming Queen, Norma Lee Dacy was  $\Pi$  Beta Phi's nominee for this honor.

An informal recreation center has been instigated at Wallace Hall with dancing, games, and soft drinks available to all students on week-end nights.

Miss Amy Burnham Onken visited the chapter January 12 and 13. Different groups of the members entertained her at breakfast and luncheon both days. The first night of her inspiring visit the pledges furnished an informal supper for her while the second night, the actives, alumnae and pledges were all present at a dinner given in her honor.

The pledges gave a "Tacky" party for the actives January 30 at the Wagon Wheel.

On Saturday, February 21, Missouri  $\Gamma$  had an all-school dance at Wallace Hall. This is the second year that the fraternity has given this party and they plan to make it an annual affair.

Betty Alice Stottle of Chicago, Ill., and Patti Parnell of Branson, Mo., were pledged February 8.

Two members have been elected to the cabinet of the Student Christian Association, Betty Thomas, publicity director, and Hanna Jo Shannon, treasurer.

Inspiration week starting February 23 fulfilled its purpose of acquainting the pledges with the aims and ideals of  $\Pi B \Phi$ . Some of the outstanding events of the week were a luncheon for the pledges and actives at the rooms. A tea for the pledges and their mothers was given. The alumnae advisory board met with the pledges, and formal initiation was held Saturday in the rooms, followed by a dinner given by the alumnae at the home of Mrs. Fred Ricketts. Sunday morning the pledge mothers took their daughters to a breakfast at the Kentwood Arms Hotel, and then they all attended church in a group.

Honors were given to several girls at the dinner which followed initiation. Norma Lee Dacy was given a recognition pin for making the highest grades in the pledge group. Sarah Arpe was given a pin for being best pledge. Amie Jean Thompson received a pin for the most improvement in grades, and Jean Slaymaker a pin for the best grades in the active group.

Martha Gilbert was selected as Missouri Gamma's nominee for the Amy B. Onken award. She is very outstanding in scholarship, participation in college activities and for her diversified talents.

The names of three seniors, Audra Hunsaker, Martha Gilbert, and Nancy Ratchiff have been selected to appear in Who's Who in American Colleges.

KENTUCKY ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF LOUISVILLE

Chartered, 1925

Pledge Day, February 9, 1942

INITIATED, February 25, 1942: Gloria Hartman, Ruth Hayes, Doris Holder, Virg McCulley, Douglas, Morton, Carolyn Motley, Arrie Moore West.

In true  $\Pi B \Phi$  spirit, Kentucky A's rush banquet was carried out in the wine and silver blue theme. Wine and blue flowers were arranged throughout the dining room. Wine and blue mats were used on the table with small blue arrows at every plate for place cards. Gardenias tied with wine and blue ribbons were given to the rushes.

The university presented an interesting convocation this term. The Right Honorable Margaret Bondfield, Secretary of Labor in Ramsey McDonald's cabinet and a member of Parliament, gave an interesting talk to the student body on the part that women are playing in the war in England.

Beginning this year, the university is going on the trimester system, so that students may graduate earlier. A summer session of twelve weeks is to be instituted, thus making a trimester period. Students will graduate one year earlier using this plan.

This chapter was again first on the campus in scholarship with a 1.7 standing.

The initiation banquet was Hawaiian in theme. The table was decorated with tropical flowers and arranged in such a way that they extended from one end of the table to the other. The place cards were pastel shades with small sea shells attached to them. At the initiates' plates there were pasteboard hula girls dressed in grass skirts. The initiates also received autograph books covered in tropical print material. At the banquet the Activities Ring was awarded to Sally Sandidge. She is also the Amy Burnham Onken candidate from Kentucky A. Best pledge honor was given to Doris Holder, and Best Scholarship Pledge honor was given to Douglas Morton.

INITIATED, February 21, 1942: Betty Bandy, Geraldine Gill, Betty Molsdale, Ellen Jean Scott, Virginia Varnell, Chattanooga; Alice Jobron, Mississippi.

The University of Chattanooga signed 100% for Civilian Defense. Every organization on the campus has been busy putting its best foot forward to help in the war crisis. The women's fraternities have volunteered to make cookies to be served at U.S.O. gatherings while many of the girls are in the "Liberty Belle" groups and attend dances given to entertain the service men. Tennessee A voted to dispense with decorations for its annual spring formal which was March 27. The chapter invested the money ordinarily spent for decorations in a United States Defense Bond. The remainder went to the Red Cross along with a contribution from the pledge group.

The Junior-Senior Prom officially opened the formal season at the University of Chattanooga. Genevieve Nelligan led the grand march with the Junior Class president, Jon Coffey.

Pre-initiation week which began February 16, was held to give the pledges a closer insight into the meaning of  $\Pi B \Phi$ . Pledges and actives met at the sorority house for luncheon each day. The week was climaxed when the new initiates were honored at luncheon in the Radio Lounge of the Read House. Initiation ceremonies were held at four o'clock in the University chapel followed by a formal banquet given by the Chattanooga Alumnae Club. Honors were then awarded the new initiates with Virginia Varnell receiving the cup given to the best pledge. Geraldine Gill was presented a recognition pin for making the best grades in the pledge group. Each new initiate received a box of stationery bearing the  $\Pi B \Phi$  crest.

Tennessee A has retained the intersorority scholarship cup for the first semester of the year 1941-42. Every member of the chapter is studying diligently so that the chapter average will remain on top.

Mrs. Wilbur Cogshall, Epsilon Province President, visited the chapter on March 4-6. The pledge group had her as their guest for dinner. The actives entertained her with a formal banquet the last night of her visit.

The chapter house, which was redecorated in the fall, has been given a spring cleaning. The chapter sponsored a kitchen shower and provided a new stock of linens, crystal, and kitchen utensils. NELL TURNER

Despite the evil omen of the number thirteen, the chapter held initiation for just that many. Immediately following the ceremony the new initiates were entertained at a formal dinner at the Bellemeade Country Club at which time several awards and short talks were given. Emily Winslow, president of the pledge class, was named the outstanding pledge and Clara Ann Kuhlman was presented the freshman scholarship award. The banquet ended with the passing of the loving cup.

The outstanding honor that came to Tennessee B was the winning of the first prize cup at Co-ed Stunt night sponsored by Mortar Board. The general theme was "What Happened After." The subject drawn was "movies" and the Pi Beta Phi enacted a sequel to Gone With the Wind entitled "Get Rhett."

Answering the call for defense, the girls have been taking first aid and home nursing courses. Many already have their Red Cross certificates. Recently, defense stamps have been brought to the Friday afternoon get-togethers as an added push to the defense drive.

Prom week-end rolled around to the tunes of Bobby Byrne. There was much excitement and gaiety on the campus. Anne Cawthon was chosen one of the favorites. Just prior to this, the chapter gave several rush parties for Nashville girls.

FLORIDA BETA—FLORIDA STATE COLLEGE FOR WOMEN

Chartered, 1921

Florida B's annual Christmas party given by the pledges for the actives lived up to its reputation by being a great success. Names had been drawn for toys, which, after they had been exchanged, were sent to the Red Cross. The pledges entertained by singing a song in which all the members and a particular mannerism of each were mentioned. Dr. and Mrs. Bellamy, patrons, presented the chapter with a book of Defense Stamps which the chapter may complete if it wishes. Every active is going to buy at least one stamp to put in it.

Sarah Duke Bryant was selected for Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. Alice Price, first vice-president of College Government Association, was voted to be in the prom court which was presented at the Junior-Senior Prom, Madalyn Truluck, Patricia Hansen, and Elizabeth Thornton sponsored for Military Ball, an annual event at the University of Florida. Chartered, 1929

INITIATED, February 14, 1942: Eugenia Scruggs, Atlanta, Ga.; Jessie McCreery, Miami; Nancy Schoonmaker, Caldwell, N.J.; Jane Berry, Akron, Ohio.

This term at Rollins has been heightened by numerous outstanding events of the year. The Animated Magazine was held during Founders' Week, and Florida I was fortunate to have one of the principal speakers, John Marquand, author of "H. M. Pulham, Esq.," as its guest during his stay. Also, the Founders' Week play, Philip Barry's "Holiday," had two Pi Phi thespians, Barbara Brown and Priscilla Parker, playing important roles. Nancy Schoonmaker was property manager. Nancy was recently chosen for membership in the Rollins Student Players, honorary dramatic organization.

The annual dance was given February 7 in the new Rollins Center, and it had the distinction of being the first dance to be given there since its opening. The decorations followed the theme of the "Skyline Club," with black silhouettes of a skyline around the room, palm trees outlining the dance floor, spotlights on the orchestra, and balloons suspended from the ceiling which were lowered at midnight. It was most successful and set a high standard for forthcoming entertainment in the Center.

Jane Anne Sholley of Newton, Mass., is the newly elected president of Florida I. Jane Anne has held the position of secretary of the Student Council for 1941-42.

Mary Jane Metcalf is one of the chairmen for the Rollins division of Bundles for America which has recently been started.

WISCONSIN ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF

Informal rushing began on March 2. Since the comparatively small number of girls going through second semester does not justify the preparation and expense of formal rushing, informal rushing is more successful at this time.

Under the leadership of Jane Trowbridge (who was selected as chapter representative for the Amy B. Onken Award), many of the girls are active in the work of the Women's Elective Service. Jane serves on the executive council for this organization and is in charge of the projects for the men in camps. Knitting, writing letters to soldiers in camps, and sending candy and cookies to the men are some of the activities. Fifteen of the girls are taking first aid courses, and Mary Jean Zentner and Therese Pick are helping organize the typing projects in connection with the war training courses at Wisconsin.

Phyllis Carpenter was elected to  $\Phi K \Phi$  honorary fraternity and was one of the representatives from Wisconsin to the state contest of the National Extempore-Discussion Program on implementing our relations with South America.

The month has been very busy socially, with invitations to supper from the Phi Deltas, the Sigma Chis, the Sigma Alpha Epsilons, and a breakfast party given by the  $\Psi T$  house.

After initiation a formal banquet was held in honor of the new initiates. Each initiate was presented with a bracelet, gift from the actives. Eugenia Neel was awarded a recognition pin for making the highest scholastic average. Her name will be engraved on the scholarship cup. A recognition pin was given to Marion Weltner for being the most outstanding pledge.

The chapter is happy that this year's pledge class made the highest scholastic average of any sorority on the campus.

Peggy Haynie was chosen to represent  $\Pi B \Phi$  in the beauty election for "Miss Coordinate Campus." She was also chosen sponsor for  $K \Sigma$ , and represented the fraternity in the annual beauty review February 24. Dolly Chitty, Virginia Starr, and Charlotte Starr were among those selected to appear in the fashion show which was presented before the beauty review by a leading department store.

Dolly Chitty was elected to membership on the Episcurean council.

Marion Weltner, Ann Huguley, Ruth Lyons, and Betty Kelly were selected to serve on freshman commission. This is one of the most important honors that freshmen can receive.

Mary Arta Henry was elected president of Woman's Student Government.

March 14, the entire campus inaugurated "G" Day which is celebrated each year. An exhibition football game was played. That night a dance was given in honor of the lettermen on the football squad.

In order to raise the average in scholarship, a contest was held. The members were divided into two teams. The team with the highest average was entertained by the losing team at a house dance, held at the chapter house on March 28.

tions by the pledges to a "Come as You Are Party." Accordingly the following day strange-looking Pi Phi in pajamas, volley-ball shorts, robes, housecoats, and various other costumes appeared before the chapter house which bore the sign "Pledgewood Sanitarium." Pledges in doctors', nurses', and attendants' uniforms looked very concerned, took some of the unfortunate actives in on a substantial stretcher, consoled others with "humoring" and administering water. When this individual attention began to be too difficult, the pledges got together to entertain with an appropriate dramatic skit, songs, and the latest news.

Although postponed a week because of an unfortunate epidemic of "mumps," initiation seemed lovelier than ever this year climaxed by the first banquet in the new house. The speakers carried out the theme of  $\Pi B \Phi$  friendship in each of their speeches. Mrs. Hazel Murkland was the alumnae speaker; the representatives from each class were: Harriet Frazier, toastmistress and president who spoke for the seniors; Evelyn Jarvis, in charge of the banquet, who spoke for the juniors; Edith James, for the sophomores; and Beverly Thrall, for the new initiates.

The Beloit College campus has been deeply saddened by the death of its president, Dr. Irving Maurer, on February 28, 1942. His own living example of the ideals he preached has served and will continue to serve as an inspiration to his students. Graduating in the Beloit class of 1904, Dr. Maurer continued at Yale receiving his D.D. in 1909. He was one of the leading educators in this country, past president of the North Central Association and at the time of his death was on the executive board. He was also on the executive committee of the General Council of Congregational and Christian Churches. Some of the organizations and societies of which he was a member are  $\Phi B K$ ,  $\Delta \Sigma P$  (Beloit),  $\Phi K E$  (Yale), and Kiwanis. Prexy's "rules of the game" are known by every Beloit student. They were given at his last vespers talk as ten commandments for wartime living: be loyal, be tolerant, be social, live hard, be economical, drive carefully, keep cheerful, do the job, go to church, and be a thinker. Vice-president W. B. Tyrrell has been named temporary administrator by the Board of Trustees.

Special honors this time go to Barbara Blaine, queen of Panhellenic, the interfraternity ball and the most important dance of the year held on February 2; to Jane Wilson, II B  $\Phi$  sophomore, who has the leading role of Eliza Doolittle in "Pygmalion" that is being performed by the Beloit Little Theater Group; and to Beverly Thrall and Betty Ewald for their work in the "B" club show.

Sixteen girls from the chapter participated in it. April 18 the Interfraternity Ball was held. The fraternities agreed not to give separate dinner dances this spring, but rather to use their money for national defense efforts.

The Colonial banquet, given in honor of the four "best-loved" senior girls was held at Brokaw Hall on March 25.

The chapter came back from Christmas vacation to find a newly decorated chapel. The changes were made possible by an alumni fund. Haydn's "Creation" was the first presentation in it. Carey, Elizabeth Miller, Judy Kamp, Betty McCartney, Jean Shanks, Muriel Bartlett, and Pat Atkin.

Helen Hicks, the new president, was chosen chairman of the May Fete. Eleanor Turnbull is chairman of the costume committee, and on it with her are Judy Kamp, Anne Sanders, and Jean Shanks. The pledges had their pledge party on a nautical theme at the home of Margaretha Smith. Laurell Robinson, a pledge, is on the stage crew of "Ladies in Retirement," a Crimson Masque play. Eleanor Campbell is the director of one of the one-act plays, and Ellen Spinsky has the lead in another of the plays, "Suppressed Desires."

The February cooky-shine was held at the bowling alley, and the chapter enjoyed bowling and drinking cokes. Miss Miriam Williams, Eta Province President, visited the chapter from February 25 to 27. A cooky-shine was held in her honor at the Holt House, and the II B  $\Phi$  trio sang. Recently the trio made some recordings which were played at an alumnae meeting. Miss Williams' visit was very enjoyable, and she gave an inspiring talk to the chapter.

Bob Hope is to judge the Ravelings beauty contest, in which two of the finalists are Eleanor Turnbull and Margaretha Smith. Dr. Dorothy Donald addressed all sorority girls on "Panhellenic Spirit and Its Values." At the same meeting, plans were discussed for holding a Panhellenic spring formal because of the war, instead of the regular separate formals, but all decided in favor of the latter. Monmouth's program has been speeded up, and the chapter is busy attending Saturday classes. On March 6 Prince Von Loewenstein spoke to the student body about the war situation.

PLEGDED: Muriel Bartlett, Oak Park. JOAN FULTON

Pledge Day, September 21, 1941

INITIATED, February 28, 1942: Jane Allen, Mary Max Fuhr, Jo Anne Richardson, Marye McElvaine, Galesburg; Mary Frances Anning, Shirley Crandell, Aurora; Jean Brengle, Western Springs; Nancy Cooper, Winnetka; Alice Dorick, Highland Park; Angela Froehde, Barrington; Sally Gumbart, Macomb; Jean Hockings, Janet Rogers, LaGrange; Virginia Jordan, Santa Ana, Calif.; Mary Lineweaver, Danville; Grace McDowall, Joliet; Kathryn O'Connell, Sterling, Colo.; Lucille Vernon, Rock Island.

Knox College students find the campus reorganized for war conditions, with the quarter system including summer session going into effect at the end of this semester, increased W.A.A. activity, enlarged CPT program, a Red Cross surgical dressings project in the dormitory sponsored by Y.W.C.A., and much knitting.

WKC, college radio station broadcasting to the campus only, is a new project put into action by the students this semester. Janet Darr is director of dramatics, Jane Ann Vernon has a fashions broadcast, and additional members of Illinois B-D are active in news, continuity, or other departments.

Kampus Kapers, annual student-produced show, was a great success. Mary Stuart headed the properties committee, several members were in the choruses or production crews, and Janet Darr had one of the leading roles.

Rockwell Kent, noted American artist, was on the Knox campus for three weeks in February and March as the Honnold lecturer for 1941-42. Besides his series of vivid lectures, he talked to various campus groups, and many students enjoyed individual conferences with him.

Outcome of the intramural debate tournament, on the subject of deferred pledging, found Illinois B-D, represented by Mary Stuart and Janet Darr, the winner.

The chapter again stood first on the campus in scholarship, for the fall semester of 1941-42. Several members and pledges had straight A averages.

Mortar Board, under the presidency of Jane Baker, sponsored a Victory Dance in March. For the R.O.T.C. Ball, in February, at which Janet Darr as battalion sponsor reigned, with Martha Welsh and Jane Baker among the company sponsors, corsages were dispensed with and the money which would have been so spent was donated to the Red Cross.

The pledges' dinner for the actives, given February 27, was an entertaining "backwards" party. Initiation was the next day, and the alumnae gave a cooky-shine for the chapter and the eighteen new initiates following the ceremony.

ILLINOIS EPSILON—NORTHWESTERN UNIVERSITY

Chartered, 1894

Illinois E has recently been active in such varied work and diversion as complete cooperation with the newly formed Student War Council in attending defense courses, and in shouldering the office work involved in registering other campus women.

On Friday, February 21, the pledges gave the actives lighter diversion in the form of a sleigh ride, which was followed by a spaghetti dinner and dancing. The chapter has tried to keep social events down to a small budget and find that it is even more fun.

Lucille Vogt, outstanding junior, was elected president of W.A.A. (Women's Athletic Association) which is a coveted position on campus. Nancy Brown, Dorothy Ellis, Jane Spindler, and Dorothea Sprague were elected to W.A.A. as a result of the volleyball team which represented  $\Pi B \Phi$  in women's athletics.

The chapter voted Alice Hanson as the recipient of the honorary pin for the chapter's outstanding senior. Jane Spindler is candidate for Syllabus Beauty Queen. Illinois B announces the affiliation of Katherine Blair and Genevieve Carlisle, coming from the University of Missouri and the University of Chattanooga respectively.

Mary Adele McMillen and Dorothy Sprague represented  $\Pi B \Phi$  at the Shi-Ai bridge tournament, and the winning sorority wins an engraved cup, the winners to be announced at the Inter-Sorority Sing held in the spring.

Iowa Wesleyan College celebrated its one-hundredth birthday, February 17, 1942. Four hundred persons including faculty, students, alumnae, and citizens of the county attended the centennial banquet. Dr. Charles Nelson Pace, president of Hamline University and alumnus of Iowa Wesleyan, delivered the banquet address. Iowa A was happy to be able to contribute $300.00 to the Century Fund. Through the help of alumnae Iowa A hopes to be able to raise that amount to $500.00 before the end of the current school year. Following the banquet the Wesleyan choir, which boasts five Pi Phi in its membership, presented the annual spring formal concert. This night was an eventful one in the lives of Wesleyanites.

Iowa A entertained the faculty and all college students with a hot chocolate party recently. This is an annual affair for this chapter.

Initiation services were held during February for nine pledges at the home of Theta Province President, Mrs. Ristine. A tasty four course dinner was served by the advisory board following the initiation. This was an especially happy time for Iowa A, since it was the first time in several years that all the pledges made their grades.

The chapter welcomes Mary Jean Nesbitt, a transfer from Penn. T., back. Mary Jean was initiated here in 1939, and was president of Iowa A at one time. It is a pleasure to have her back again.

Debate tournaments, basketball games, and dances have all added to make life at Wesleyan a busy one. Recently the college authorities have allowed the students to attend the Del Courtney and Orrin Tucker dances at Burlington. ### NEBRASKA BETA—UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA

Chartered, January 21, 1895

Pledge Day, February 6, 1942

Interest in national defense gained momentum on the campus with a Red Cross benefit show held February 14 in the Student Union. Nancy Haycock, chairman of the university defense committee, had charge. Nebraska B made an "all-out effort" with Jo Weaver, Jeanette Mae Smith, Gay Gaden, and the popular trio composed of Beldora Cochran, Janet Hemphill, and Betty Krause taking part. Other Red Cross devotees are Alyce Cunningham and Joyce Junge who are serving as knitting instructors for the beginning classes.

In the second semester elections held this month Helen Kelley was elected president of the Y.W.C.A., and Joyce Junge and Joann Emerson were appointed to serve on her cabinet. Janet Hemphill was elected secretary of Tassels, an honorary pep organization.

In the production of "Ladies in Retirement," the latest endeavor of the University Players, Jo Weaver played the role of an eccentric old maid, which was entertainment in itself. Also in the speech department, Mary Huffman has been elected to represent the junior class on the speech council. Joann Emerson received excellent rating in the interstate debate tournament held on the campus. She is a member of the women's debate squad which is an innovation in the speech department.

Janet Haggart, journalism major, has been pledged to  $\Theta \Sigma \Phi$ , women's honorary journalism fraternity.

The "Coed Follies," the annual show sponsored by A.W.S., and restricted to women, accepted the  $\Pi \Phi \Phi$  skit, a circus set to music, with everything from a caliope and a dancing horse, to the gruesome scene of "sawing a woman in half." Mary Louise Simpson is in charge, and on May 17 it will make its appearance on the stage. Mary Larkin has been chosen by members of the faculty to appear as one of the models at the Coed Follies Show. From this group, one will be chosen as typical Nebraska coed—this is taking the place of the former "best dressed girl."

At the Panhellenic tea held in January,  $\Pi \Phi \Phi$  received second place cup for their scholarship for the preceding year. Coleita Aitken, Iota Province President, poured, and the  $\Pi \Phi \Phi$  trio sang. Sayre Webster and Helen Kelley assisted.

Kansas A has drafted its members for Red Cross service. Almost every girl in the chapter contributes several hours weekly to the university's "You Can't Tote a Gun, but You Can Sew" club; others who prefer knitting spend spare minutes making "Bundles for Britain." The chapter is sponsoring a movie at a local theater for Red Cross benefit.

The night of February 6 found the chapter dancing at its winter formal party. There were no decorations, as the members decided to donate the usual decoration fund of $100.00 to the "Jayhawk Shelter" in England, for the protection of British children.

Recently, Marian Hepworth was awarded the annual scholarship ring for her remarkably high grade average this past year. Lois Howell was given a crested scholarship bracelet in recognition of her having made the greatest improvement academically.

The chapter is well represented in athletics. In every major sport this year on the intramural ticket, eighty-three per cent of the  $\Pi \Phi \Phi$  competitors have been selected as all-university all-stars and have become the nucleus of class teams. Chosen as basketball standouts are Lois Howell, Martha Shartel, Barbara Winn, Bobbe Peck, and Jill Peck.

A  $\Pi \Phi \Phi$  is rehearsing the lead in the university's next big production, "Charlie's Aunt." This  $\Pi \Phi \Phi$ , Betty Rowton, is one of the most prominent members of the K.U. Dramatic Workshop, and has taken part in every dramatic performance since her enrollment in the university last fall. Betty was also the honor initiate this spring.

COLORADO ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF COLORADO

Pledge Day, September 26, 1941

Five of Colorado A were recently elected to  $\kappa \Delta \Pi$ , the educational honorary, and Betty McClellan and Georgene Iles are co-secretaries of that group. Betty Ann Greim has just been elected Vice-president of Associated Women Students and Marian Bartram is chairman of the orientations committee. This gives  $\Pi \Phi \Phi$  two members on Senate, the governing body of Associated Women Students. Betty Ann Greim has also been chosen chairman of general arrangements on the Colorado University Day Committee.

The chapter entertained at a "booby-hatch" dance for its winter formal. The whole dance was carried out in the real spirit. Pink and blue ginger-ale, representing pink and blue champagne, was served to the guests who came costumed as inmates of the asylum. The walls were decorated with newspapers on which had been painted various signs questioning the sanity of the guests, and in one corner was a pile of balls representing "screw-balls". Quilted sheets on the walls of the dining room made it appear to be the padded cell. Music was furnished by the record player and the money saved by not having an orchestra was used to purchase a defense bond for the house.

The chapter has been working on their skit, under the direction of Martha Streamer, for the Associated Women Students Vaudeville to be given the second week of spring quarter. The theme for the skit has been taken from the national defense priority on rubber and is entitled "Rubber, From Beginning to End". Marian Bartram is also chairman of the dance to be given after the show.

Many girls in the chapter are knitting and sewing for the Red Cross, and others are finishing their courses in first aid, home nursing, and nutrition which are among those national defense courses offered on the campus. All are working hard to get enough hours for a Red Cross training certificate which is given upon completion of the courses.

Helené Reynolds, freshman, gave a marvelous performance in the leading role of "Death Takes a Holiday" given by the Little Theater players.

The chapter recently entertained the  $\Delta \Gamma$  fraternity at a radio dance.

Morgan.

Colorado B had the honor of entertaining Coleita Aitken, Iota Province President, at the chapter house in January. She returned to Denver for the initiation banquet at Cherry Hills Country Club on the twenty-fourth.

Denver University and the entire Rocky Mountain region lost one of its greatest sportsmen in Lewis H. Mahony, who died on the seventh of February. For years he had been athletic director at the university and had been prominent in the national A.A.U. Through his efforts many national sport events were brought to Denver. Mrs. Mahony is a member of the Colorado B advisory board.

In step with the national defense efforts, the University of Denver has instituted a new plan whereby freshmen entering immediately after graduation from high school may graduate from college in two and one half years. Many students are expected to enter the university at the beginning of the spring quarter and there will be spring pledging by the sororities. Heretofore all pledging has occurred in the fall.

The university song festival was held this year on January 26. As usual it was a beautiful affair with the chapel lit with hundreds of candles.  $\Gamma \Phi B$  took top honors this year and  $\Pi B \Phi$  and  $A \Gamma \Delta$  tied for second place.  $B \Theta \Pi$  won first for the fraternities with a group of songs of the U.S. armed forces.

During winter quarter, several members of Wyoming A received honors. Teddy Ann Storey was chosen honorary cadet colonel at the annual military ball and was also nominated for the popularity contest to be held at the beginning of spring quarter. Ann Schulte was named sweetheart of  $\Sigma X$ . Dorothy Roper received praise for her work in the  $\Theta A \Phi$  production of Shakespear's "Merry Wives of Windsor." The third annual varsity show, entitled "U.S. Steal," is under way with several Pi Phis in the cast and technical crew.

The university was host to the annual Inter-American conference of the Rocky Mountain region on February 21. There were several important speakers including Duncan Aikman, Dr. Ben Charrington, and Prof. Eduardo Nunez of Lima, Peru.

The Gridiron banquet was held this quarter with four members among the campus notables chosen to air university problems in this glorified bull session.

The winter quarter pledge dance was held in the student union in February. The pledges made the programs, carrying out the Honeymoon Hotel theme in the decorations, the money thus saved going to buy defense bonds. In connection with national defense, many of the campus organizations are carrying out varied programs to save money and to help in the collection of paper and scrap metal. A speed up program is being discussed as it is on many other campuses already.

During spring quarter, Wyoming A expects to initiate about fifteen girls. The drop in enrollment has been so great already that two freshmen were able to move into the house. The whole university is feeling this decrease.

Pledge Day, September 15, 1941

The  $\Pi B \Phi$  mothers, alumnae, and active members and pledges had their annual meeting together February 10 at the chapter house. Commemorating the seventy-fifth year or diamond birthday of  $\Pi B \Phi$ , a cake with the Greek letters and the dates 1867-1942 was served to those present. The pledges of  $\Sigma N$  entertained the pledges of  $\Pi B \Phi$  with a dansant in their chapter house February 21.

The Oklahoma A. & M. College naval technician training school became a reality as college and naval officials announced that 100 men will arrive March 1 to attend the college school of engineering special wartime naval radio course. The amount to start at 100, will grow monthly as 100 new candidates for the school training arrive. The establishment of this school is as fine an honor as can be conferred upon Oklahoma A. & M. at this time. The instructors are to be congratulated, for they have been chosen to train naval men for future jobs which will be of vital importance to the welfare of the nation.

The week of February 22 was Sadie Hawkins Week and on February 26, the girls entertained their dates at a Sadie Hawkins dinner in the chapter house. Everyone was surprised when the dessert was served first, carrying out the backward theme.

The inter-sorority basketball tournament began February 28 and  $\Pi B \Phi$  played a victorious game on that date.

After a very inspirational visit from Miss Onken, Arkansas A ended the first semester, not only with the largest pledge class ever to be initiated into this chapter, but also the largest group on the campus. The pledges' grades were higher than those of any other pledges; the chapter as a whole ranked second only to K K I in scholarship.

A vocational guidance conference was sponsored by A. W. S. and Panhellenic in February. A number of outstanding professional women were brought to the campus, and the students showed a decided interest in the meetings; several members had quite responsible positions in making arrangements for the conference.

With Eugenia Crawford already chosen as a 1942 Razorback beauty, the chapter is hoping to lead all other fraternities in spring politics. Although several small social functions have been planned for the next few months, the members have bought a $100 defense bond with the money usually allotted for spring social events.

TEXAS BETA—SOUTHERN METHODIST UNIVERSITY

Chartered, 1916

Pledge Day, February 18, 1942

First semester came to a close with the result that all of the eighteen pledges of Texas B made their grades.

Midterm rush activities began February 14. This is the second time the women's fraternities of Southern Methodist University have used a strictly preferential system, and it is proving to be a great success.

Through the Red Cross, courses in home nursing, nutrition, and first aid have been started for women students. Each course lasts six weeks and has one semester hour credit.

The Ballet Russe was presented at McFarlin Auditorium on the campus February 19 by the Civic Music Federation, who also sponsored the appearance of Sergei Rachmaninoff March 3. Quentin Reynolds and Carl Sandburg were presented February 26 and March 4, respectively, by the Community Course. Lorraine Kindred had dinner with Mr. Sandburg.

Texas B has two new transfers: Marguerite Holman from Tennessee B and Helen Jean Stubbs from Texas A.

Although lodges are not going to be built for the women's fraternities, everyone is watching with anticipation the completion of the new gym.

On February 21, Texas B was honored by a visit from Mrs. Ray H. Finger, Grand Secretary, who spent several days with the chapter and alumnae. Various groups of the chapter took Mrs. Finger to a breakfast, luncheon, and dinners. She had special meetings, as well as with the entire active chapter.

LOUISIANA ALPHA—H. SOPHIE NEWCOMB COLLEGE

Chartered, 1891

INITIATED, February 26, 1942: Courtney Proffitt, Butte, Mont.; Carolyn Sloan, Lakeland, Fla.; Mary Jane Fly, Summit, Miss.; Phoebe Evans, Memphis, Tenn.; Alice Patton, Ann West, Harriott Phelps, Jean Montgomery, Jane Hackett, New Orleans.

This year Louisiana A is celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of its founding. Corinne Eshleman is a descendant of one of the charter members.

Because of the war Mardi Gras was not celebrated by the citizens of New Orleans for the first time in many years. Sally Gray Parker reigned as Queen of Harlequins, the only carnival ball held this season, while Elaine Leverich and Corinne Eshleman gave up their crowns good-naturedly as queens of Comus and Oberon respectively, for the more practical study of Red Cross and first aid courses. Chesley Johnson directs a Red Cross class for the chapter which is held once a week and also supervises one of several being held on the campus for Newcomb students. Funds which would ordinarily have gone for the spring formal were donated to the Red Cross.

Students became increasingly conscious of the presence of war, when those living in dormitories were forced to sit on the cold cement floors of the basements during the first black-out held on the campus.

A prevailing sense of gaiety still existed in the form of the annual house-party given at Pass Christian, Miss., as a post-examination celebration.

The Founders' Day Banquet was held in conjunction with Louisiana B.

The visits of Mrs. Granger, Province President, and Mrs. Ray H. Finger, Grand Secretary, were enjoyed by all members.

Celeste Douglas is president of the athletic council this year; Eva Douglas is president of Student council. Eva was also one of the two candidates for student body president in the spring election.

The possibility of revising otherwise rather rigid requirements for initiation in order to make it easier for incoming freshmen of next year has been discussed in recent Newcomb Panhellenic meetings.

Lorene Bales was in charge of wardrobe, and Joy Maxfield of ushering for the annual show.

Idaho A was pleased to have a visit from Miss Amy Burnham Onken February 14, 15, and 16. Miss Onken gave much helpful advice for the development of the chapter and had individual talks with the officers. On Sunday a buffet supper was given in her honor. Guests were  $\Pi B \Phi$  alumnae and their husbands.

The Community Concert Association has presented an excellent series this year. The concerts are alternated between Washington State College and the University of Idaho so that students of both colleges may enjoy them. On February 19 the students enjoyed a concert presented by Helen Jepson in Moscow.

On February 8 Idaho A gave a tea in honor of their new housemother, Mrs. Stewart Tuft, Sr., of Portland, Ore. Mrs. Tuft's daughter-in-law, Mrs. Stewart Tuft, Jr., is Lambda Province President.

Following the instructions of the local panhellenic council to spend less money on dances and social functions, Idaho A gave a novel winter dance on January 16. The theme of a ski lodge was used, and music was furnished by a phonograph and loudspeaker instead of the traditional orchestra. Pi Beta Phi wore ski sweaters, skirts and saddle shoes, and the house was decorated with skis, ski poles, skates, and other outdoor equipment.

On January 14 a fireside was given for Mary Frances Clark, who was married in Moscow January 31 to Burton Clark; and on February 8 a fireside was given in honor of Billie Louise Murphy, who was married February 22 in San Luis Obispo, Calif., to Lieutenant Charles Murphy.

The University of Idaho will inaugurate a twelve week summer session this year. A six week session will also be held for teachers, but the twelve weeks period will cover a quarter's work, so that high school graduates may start college in June. This will enable students to complete their college course in three years, in cooperation with national officials during this emergency. The quarter system will replace the old semester system which has been in force since the university was founded. Many members of Idaho A are planning to remain in Moscow through the summer to take advantage of this new system.

Pledge Day, September 24, 1941

INITIATED, January 25, 1942: Betty Batchelder, Virginia Bird, Marie Carroll, Jane Criddle, Marjorie Hall, Barbara Johnston, Madeline Olson, Katherine Skinner, Dorothy Jean Smith, Margo Spargo, Sylvia Stoll, Katherine Taylor.

Members of Washington A were hardly recognizable at the annual dance given by the actives for the pledges, November 19. The affair was called a "Newbie Dance," and couples masqueraded as characters from the comic pages as well as from the then-current news happenings. The pledges reciprocated with an informal dance on February 27. At the suggestion of the actives, the pledges successfully combined this dance with the guest dance, also an annual event.

Despite the temporary war unrest felt at the beginning of winter quarter, the girls have not been taking war too seriously. However, many of them have contributed much towards making Seattle, which has been called "The Gateway to the Orient," a one-way gate. There has been much clicking of knitting needles in all parts of the house, and more and more defense stamps have been purchased regularly by every  $\Pi \Phi$ .

The new house has been the scene of many social activities. The very popular Y. W. Waffle Breakfast was held on January 17 of this year.  $\Pi \Phi$  was one of the four houses chosen to entertain waffle fans. Blue musical notes and dangling blue ribbons and other "fandangos" filled the interior of the house, suggesting the theme-song, "Rhapsody in Blue." The first chapter birthday dinner to take place in the new house came on January 20. A very large number of alumnae joined the actives at this commemorative affair. Many successful open-houses have also been held.

The girls of Washington A have been striving harder towards better scholastic and active standing than ever before. Jane Criddle, who became a member of  $\Sigma \epsilon \Sigma$ , the freshman women's honorary, last year, was recently pledged to  $\Theta \Sigma \Phi$ , home economics honorary. She was also elected treasurer of the Y.W.C.A. Hazel Milliken was pledged to  $\Theta \Sigma \Phi$  for her outstanding work in journalism. Glenna Williams wields the gavel over the university's A Cappella Choir, and Barbara Johnson played a prominent role in "Goodbye Again," which was a very popular Penthouse Play. Dorothy Jones was one of the finalists in the contest for  $\Sigma X$  sweetheart.

Hildur Coon was instrumental in obtaining Louis Fischer, well known foreign correspondent, as dinner guest at the  $\Pi \Phi$  house before his campus lecture, February 19. Hildur had met Mr. Fischer during her trip East to the Student Leadership Institute last year. His visit came as a thrilling climax of winter quarter, as the girls found him exceedingly interesting and were thrilled to meet him.

PLEDGED, January 25: Kathryn Parrott.

Miss Amy Burnham Onken's visit to the chapter after a ten year's absence, caused much excitement around Washington B in February. Her meetings with the girls and individual officers brought about great enthusiasm in fraternity work. All thoroughly enjoyed her inspirational talks.

The death of Ida Lou Anderson, former member of the speech department, was greatly felt by the girls of this chapter and the faculty of Washington State College. She was highly regarded by all who knew her including Edward R. Murrow, former student of Miss Anderson's here on the campus. The story is told how after each of Mr. Murrow's broadcasts Miss Anderson would telegraph her opinion.

Sonia Rogers was elected secretary of A.W.S. At the annual Matrix Table banquet, sponsored by  $\Theta \Sigma \Phi$ , Lola Johnson was tapped for  $\Theta \Sigma \Phi$ , national journalism honorary. Bids to Matrix Table are extended to outstanding women on the campus, with several of the girls receiving invitations.

Carol Gleason is the new president of  $\Gamma \Phi \epsilon$  and Alice Tokola, vice-president. Lois Ross received the junior panhellenic scholarship award given at Washington State each year. Marianne Busch and Jane Lawson are cast in the play "A Murder Has Been Arranged".

OREGON ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF OREGON

Chartered, 1915

INITIATED, January 31, 1942: Nancy Ames, Mary Lois Dana, Carol Ann Evans, Ruth Kilkenny, Marjorie Knoles, Helen Merkle, Mary Jane Rabbe, Patricia Swanson, Portland; Joyce Clark, Gloria Dunham, Mary Loney, Marjorie McClung, Elizabeth Schaeffers, Phoebe Smith, Eugene; Carolyn Cordon, Barbara Garwood, Roseburg; Mary Gene Bohnenkamp, La Grande; Janice Bubb, Klamath Falls; Mary Jane Simmons, Salem; Peggy Wright, Springfield; Patricia Farrell, Medford; Marguerite Keating, Long Beach, Calif.; Sally Godbolt, Red Bluff, Calif.

1942 brought to the Oregon campus a life geared to defense with war work dominating every activity. The chapter gave its pledge to defense for each month as did each individual. The terms have been shortened by the condensation of examination week and the two summer sessions will offer an enlarged selection of courses.

The theme of the initiation banquet was "Pi Beta Phi Symphony" with Mrs. Dean Vincent, alumna of Oregon A, as toastmistress. It was truly an inspiration to all Pi Beta Phi, old or new.

The house-dance this term was a radio-dance given in honor of the seniors. The theme "Back-to-School days" inspired many clever costumes. The money saved by having a radio-dance was put into a Defense Bond.

Oregon A received second place among women's fraternities scholastically for the first term of the year.  $\Pi \Phi$  won the cup for having the second largest number of fathers on the campus for Dad's Day week-end. Also a silver-tea service was awarded to Oregon A for having the largest number of freshman fathers here for the annual event.

The Nickle Hop is sponsored each year by AWS to get funds for scholarships. For the second year, Oregon A was presented with the cup for collecting the most money. Rhoda Harkson was recently elected secretary of AWS. Mary Jane Terry was chosen to be vice-president and Peggy Wright reporter of WAA. At the annual Military Ball, Carol Ann Evans was given the honorary position as Little Major by Scabbard and Blade. Barbara Garwood was appointed a member of the freshman commission of the Student Union Committee.

This coming year, Panhellenic is installing the preferen-

OREGON BETA—OREGON STATE COLLEGE

INITIATED, February 14, 1942: Alice Doherty, Jean Harris, Jean Ream, Susan Sturm, Frances Williams, Helen Wright, Portland; Jo Hector, Albany; Muriel Ann Johnson, Corvallis; Martha Bowen, Modesto, Calif.; Charlotte McMaster, Oakland, Calif.; Marjorie Saunders, Burlingame, Calif.

Winter term on the Oregon State campus has brought a new spirit of united support for defense and relief drives. Along with others on the campus, Oregon B has done its share, with 100 per cent contributions for defense stamps, March of Dimes, and Red Cross. Doris Jones was chairman of the March of Dimes drive in Benton county. A nickel hop, proceeds of which went to the Red Cross, climaxed Student Deprivation Week, during which each student was urged to give up five cents a day for the Red Cross.

Of special significance this year was International Week, an effort to promote a friendly spirit among different nationalities on the campus. General chairman was Jean Pitblado. International Week is sponsored by Round Table, student Y.W.C.A. group on the campus.

Social events have been numerous, in spite of efforts to cut down on their expense in favor of defense. Oregon

B's annual costume dance was proof that the success of a dance does not depend upon the amount of expenses. The WPA dance, sponsored by the pledge class, featured refreshments of garlic bread and coffee, real WPA atmosphere with picks and shovels and numerous signs, and a hilarious time for all. Highlight of the dance was the surprise skit given by the seniors.

Of a slightly more formal nature was the annual Junior Prom, with its theme of Winter Wonderland. Wanda Turner was chosen as one of the princesses of the royal court of five junior girls. A huge revolving crystal ball was the center of attraction in a setting of moonlight, snowflakes, and ski poles. Billie Husa was chairman of the invitations committee for the prom.

The event to which every sophomore looks forward eagerly, the Sophomore Whiskerino, was a real success this year. On Dogpatch Day, climax of the whiskerino, every sophomore entered wholeheartedly into the spirit of dressing as L'il Abner characters. Pat Northrop was chairman of the costume-judging, and Phyllis Pendell wrote the prize-winning slogan for the event: "Uphold your class with a chin of grass."

Other social events were the annual Mortar Board Ball, for which Betty Anderson was co-chairman, the AWS carnival, with Malie Corbett in charge of the booths, and the alumnae dinner held at the chapter house. The Helen Jepson concert was greatly enjoyed by all the students.

The Barometer, student daily paper, named Betty Anderson and Wanda Turner as associate editors. Also working on the staff are exchange editors Tod Hamilton and Joan Brewster.

The  $\Pi \Phi$  house at Stanford has found that the strain of rushing over three hundred freshman women was well worth the effort.

The usual procedure of having the pledges come up to the house for Tuesday lunch and Thursday dinner is being carried out. The pledges, however, seem to enjoy coming up to the house in the afternoons and occasionally sleeping here on a week-end night. The pledges have joined their older sisters in going to hear symphonies in San Francisco, spending week-ends skiing at Yosemite, and having cokes at Stanford's famous Cellar.

On the night of February 19, 1942,  $\Pi \Phi B$  had its first exchange dinner with  $A T \Omega$  fraternity. Both pledge classes were invited to the affair, too.

Hope Branum, head of the transfer orientation committee, and Virginia Dean, house president and the head of the coordinating committee of the U.S.O., were elected members of Cap and Gown, the senior honorary society.

CALIFORNIA BETA—UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA

Chartered, 1900

INITIATED, February 16, 1942: Janet Ammen, Carol Christensen, June Christensen, Marna Reagor, Sue Roeth, Piedmont; Margaret Humann, San Marino; Suzanne Dopkins, Napa; Babette Hoblick, Fresno; Molly Dove, Oakland; Jane Newlands, San Francisco; Charlotte Thomas, Alameda; Laurie Anne Viser, Shreveport, La.; Elizabeth Houghton, Brookline, Mass.

The spring semester at the University of California opened with many changes which included a twenty per cent decrease in the number of students. Now becoming familiar sights on the campus are girls knitting during lectures and even as they walk from class to class.

The war has had an increasingly important effect on college life; a new plan has been adopted by the State Legislature for three semesters a year. This will mean college will continue throughout the summer. Plans are being considered now for the way in which activities will be carried on under this new system. The Panhellenic rushing system has also felt the effect of war. During January rushing, dinner dates were omitted, and only lunches and teas were held, so that rushing hours could end before dark.

Two new university buildings have been completed recently: a new administration building and a classroom building. Now being constructed is a women's dormitory, the first on the campus.

The basketball season has not been very successful for the university. However, there are still many games scheduled, including the big game with Leland Stanford University.

Initiation was followed by a banquet at the Women's Athletic Club in Oakland. June Christensen received the recognition pin for scholarship, Margaret Humann, the pin for activities, and Mavis Mahan, the scholarship ring. Among the alumnae present were the ARROW Editor, Adèle Taylor Alford, and Mu Province President, Mrs. Paul Manning.

The chapter has included in its social functions an effort to do its part in the war. Almost every week-end some of the girls attend dances for the soldiers sponsored by the A.W.V.S. In addition, a Sunday night supper and a picnic were given for a group of conscripts who are taking a course in Diesel mechanics at the university. California B has also had two exchange dinners. The first dinner was with the  $\Sigma N$  fraternity, and the second with the  $\Sigma X$  fraternity.

Along with the rest of the campus the chapter house is taking the necessary precautions for air raids. The living room has new blackout drapes, and upstairs, the outside girls' room and an adjoining bathroom and bed-room have been blacked out. Other additions to be seen are the shovels and buckets of sand in the halls.

California B took in its thirtieth affiliate since it was chartered. The affiliate is Marianne Hayes, formerly of California A.

CALIFORNIA GAMMA—UNIVERSITY OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

Chartered, 1917

Pledge Day, February 8, 1942

This year has brought new situations to the University of Southern California. The college is in a strategic war area and much of its social life has been curtailed. Because of this much entertainment is given at the chapter house.

The university sponsors U.S.O. parties. On February 25, each sorority entertained ten service men. On March 6, California  $\Gamma$  entertained a group of naval recruits with dinner and dancing.

February rushing was limited to teas and desserts, all held within the chapter house. A presentation tea was held for the chapter's new pledges on March 2.

Betty Lou Stone, past president of California  $\Gamma$ , and present president of the Y.W.C.A. heads all university women's defense activities. New courses in home mechanics, motor mechanics and first aid have been added to the curriculum. Each girl of the chapter is enrolled in one of these classes.

The chapter chaperon, Mrs. Peabody, was chosen from the various chaperons on campus to attend the deans of women's convention in San Francisco. Dean Moreland of the University of Southern California instigated this idea of sending sorority chaperons on the basis that they would have closer contact with the girls than the deans would. The idea was quite a success and with coming conventions, many other universities will follow this procedure.

The new chapter room and patio have been furnished by the Mothers' Club. It is done in beautiful polished bamboo.

A major event at California  $\Gamma$  is Father's Dinner. This year it was held on April 15. Mothers are left at home on this occasion and the house belongs to the daddies for an evening.

An interesting development on the campus this semester has been the advent of roller skating to classes. Fraternity and sorority row is four blocks from the main campus and due to the tire shortage, the skates have been adopted. Those students with skinned knees are wondering if the idea is very sound.

Finals started early this year because of the new three year program. Many of the girls will be in school this summer so as to receive their degrees a year early.

PLEGDED: Mary Lou Lake, Pasadena; Patty Los Lynds, Beverly Hills.

REFLEGDED: Peggy Shea, San Bernardino.

CALIFORNIA DELTA—UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA AT LOS ANGELES

INITIATED, March 13, 1942: Frances Cordner, Gretta Doyle, Suzanne Hill, Jean Howden, Jean Lapp, Marion Meloth, Patricia Barber, Kay Scott, Jane Silver, Beverly Sinclair, Jeanne Spratlen, Eleanor Stephens, Patricia Tally, Betty Vesey, Dorothy Ann Zook.

February rushing was on a smaller and less elaborate scale this year because of the current war time situation. Danger of blackouts necessitated all daytime and early evening parties, with buffet suppers from four to six taking the place of the previous dinners. In spite of these limitations, rush week was highly successful. The new pledges were presented to the campus at an open house held the third Monday afternoon after rush week.

Social activities have also been limited by war time necessity but California  $\Delta$  has managed its quota of social affairs, nevertheless. Many of the members have been active in U.S.O. and other war time activities. The entire chapter entertained recently at a buffet supper for a group of enlisted men from Missouri 203rd Regiment, stationed near-by.

Jean Fulcher is the new member of Tick-Tock, the members of which are chosen from K K  $\Gamma$ , K A  $\Theta$ ,  $\Delta$   $\Gamma$ , and  $\Pi$  B  $\Phi$ . Lorraine Hoffman and Barbara Brown were elected to Shell and Oar, woman's auxiliary of the crew.

The new initiates were honored at a semi-formal supper dance held at the Copa de Oro Room of the Beverly Wilshire Hotel the evening after initiation.

PLEGDED: Marilyn and Jacqueline Bradford, West Los Angeles; Christine Macke, Virginia; Phyllis Chandler, Eileen Daggett, Mary Kidd, Santa Monica; Shirley Sibley, Los Angeles; Betty Lou Scott, San Marino; Margery Cody, Long Beach.

NEVADA ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF NEVADA

Pledge Day, January 12, 1942

INITIATED, February 7, 1942: Norma Anderson, Elko; Dallas Corle, Ruth Clark, Reno; Barbara Heany, Sparks; Jane Carpenter, Pawtucket, R.I.; Beulah Haddow, Carlin; Nadine Gibson, Eureka; Peggy Ann Clark, Golden, Colo.

The traditional sleeping party followed the dance honoring the new initiates on February 6, with the entire chapter participating.

Nevada  $\Lambda$  received two awards for the highest scholastic standing on the campus. This included a cup for the highest average, and an improvement plaque for the sorority showing the most improvement over a semester's time. In addition to this, the Mother's Club gave the active chapter \$25.00 as a reward.

The University of Nevada's annual ski-carnival was held February 13, 14, 15. Open house was held by each women's fraternity, and a cup was given for the best hospitality shown. The chapter house was decorated in the "V" for Victory theme with red, white, and blue decorations, and a big U.S. flag made of sprayed Christmas tree boughs. Five members of California  $\Lambda$  arrived at the house for the occasion.

Among the more exclusive organizations of the campus, Mary Margaret Cantlon was elected into  $\Phi$  K  $\Phi$  for her high scholastic standing, and Nellie Isola was voted into Cap and Scroll.

Nevada  $\Lambda$  held its fashion show at the Trocadero this year. The models included girls from the chapter house as well as a few alumnae.

Panhellenic Council has decided that each women's fraternity is to entertain the soldiers stationed in Reno with a series of informal teas, one of which has been successfully completed. Many of the girls are knitting sweaters for the Red Cross, and others are taking courses in first-aid.

Mary Jane McSorley was nominated for Mackay Day queen. From each house a girl is nominated, whose picture is sent to Earl Carroll. He has the privilege to select the one most typically representative of the average American college girl. Preparations for Mackay Day, to be held in April, consist of song team practices, and the growing of beards by the men.

PLEGDED: Dixie Davis, Springfield, Mo.; Roma Swackhamer, Battle Mountain.

MARY PRIDA

ARIZONA ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF ARIZONA

Chartered, August 1917

Pledge Day, February 12, 1942

INITIATED, February 28, 1942: Jane Gibney, Tucson; Martha Procter, Santa Monica, Calif.; Leota Redewill, Phoenix; Mary Ann Barr, Little Rock, Ark.; Mollie Watson, Detroit, Mich.; Elsa Lilystrand, Tulsa, Okla.; Betty Ann Jamieson, Carolyn Ryan, June Johnson, Phoenix; Nancy Trainer, Waban, Mass.; Marcia Beckett, Arcadia, Calif.; Catharine Kittredge, Yosemite, Calif.; Jean Parker, Silver City, N.M.

Activities on the Arizona campus have increased to keep up with the national effort to defend America. Courses in first aid and auto mechanics are popular with the members of Arizona  $\Lambda$ . There is a movement to make the university a "cotton campus" this spring. On Thursdays Spurs, F.S.T.s, and Mortar Boards sell Defense Stamps to the students who attend the weekly assembly. To remind all pledges and members to buy at least one stamp a week, the chapter has a chart showing how many stamps each girl has bought. The defense committee announces plans for a Defense Stamp dance beside the regular spring dance which they have decided to hold in the house this year in order to save enough money to buy a Bond for the house.

This semester the fifth annual university rodeo held the spotlight. On a basis of beauty, personality, and horsemanship, Doris Dayton was voted queen of the rodeo. In that capacity she led the parade on her "paint" horse, Moki. Jacqueline Miesse was also in the parade, which was made up of floats, covered wagons, and colorfully dressed riders. During rodeo week every student was required to "dress western." Those who did not were captured and jailed in a corral erected on the lawn in the center of the campus. Before they were freed they were asked to buy a twenty-five cent Defense Stamp.

A  $\Pi$   $\Phi$  was also chosen Desert Queen to reign over the Desert dance at the El Conquistador Hotel. Jacqueline Miesse was acclaimed most beautiful of the five candidates by an unprejudiced jury of professors.

A  $\Pi$  B  $\Phi$  Mothers' Club has been started here. Fourteen mothers of town girls are the charter members, but they plan to expand their organization to include the mothers of Tucson alumnae. Their first project is to be the landscaping of the new patio.

In the field of sports Martha Procter was pledged to the Racquet Club and Mary Sproesser and Margaret Hale were chosen as the only members of the golf honor team. Martha is the Southwest champion in the university women's tennis class. Mary Sproesser is the president of Putters, honorary golf organization, of which Margaret Hale and Sally Ross are both members. Mary Louise Trekkell is the treasurer of the Women's Athletic Association.

Betty Thomas was pledged to A E, commerce honorary and Mary Lee Vernon was pledged to Hammer and Coffin, journalistic organization.

This year Leota Redewill was the only girl fortunate enough to have her mother present at her initiation. The banquet after initiation was held in the gay Fiesta Room of the Santa Rita Hotel. Jane Gibney was given the diamond recognition pin for having the highest grade average of the new initiates. Jean Parker was awarded the cup which is given each year to the most outstanding pledge. Betty Thomas received the scholarship ring for having had the highest grade average in the chapter during the past two semesters. Her average was the highest one possible to obtain under the university's system of grading.

PLEGDED: Emilie Smith, Indianapolis, Ind.

UTAH ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF UTAH

Chartered, 1929

Pledge Day, May 1, 1942

INITIATED, February 8, 1942: Colleen Gestring, Pocatello, Idaho; Rose Mary Ralph, Renee Shephard, Nancy Toombes, Gloria Stevenson, Anabelle White, Salt Lake City.

Winter quarter always brings with it formal rush week on the University of Utah campus. This season was particularly exciting for Utah A as it experienced a fire during rush party. Although the entire chapter room was burned, it was fortunate that no one was injured.

This quarter the chapter is doing its part in entertaining the men of Fort Douglas, as well as working for Red Cross. Each Thursday night three draftees are invited to dinner at the chapter house. The sororities on the campus are alternating in being hostesses at benefit plays given for the soldiers. On Wednesday nights the entire chapter attends a nutrition class with the object of becoming canteen workers.

The Snow Carnival was one of the outstanding events of winter quarter. Utah A won a cup for the best snow sculpture and house decorations.

The matinee dance committee awarded the new pledges of Utah A a cup for best attendance at the weekly dances. In place of one of the matinee dances the Women's Recreation Association held a carnival in which each sorority and fraternity participated.

The members of Panhellenic Council were hostesses at the annual formal in February.

The active chapter has given a Mardi Gras in honor of the new pledges.

Mrs. Smith, Grand Vice-President, visited Utah A during February. Her visit was enlightening and appreciated.

Here, as in many universities, the advisability of carrying school straight through the summer is being considered.

PLEGDED: Kathryn Betts, Lois Behling, Ann Whitmeyer, Elizabeth Main, Ogden; Barbara Stratford, Elizabeth Nelson, Brigham; Rosalind Richards, Miriam Moyle, Helen Gestring, Pocatello; Joanne Cannon, Argentina; Mary Chase, Magna; Martha Beal, Sally Boise, Patricia Condon, Patricia Swaner, Marian Stroble, Barbara Schenk, Joyce Orlob, Shirley Nilson, Virginia Hutchinson, Norma Halverson, Elizabeth Fisher, Elaine Clawson, Elise Yeates, Margaret Yeates, Mary Wright, Salt Lake City.

Navy Nurses

As our Navy builds up its fighting strength, more women will be needed in the Navy Nurse Corps to guard the health of the service. And that means more girls, well-qualified by education and personal ability, to enter the profession of nursing, so they can release the graduate nurses and prepare for their responsible positions. This is what Rear Admiral Ross T. McIntire, Surgeon General of the United States Navy, says:

"With the tremendous expansion of the Navy to a two-ocean size, the necessity for personnel of all kinds will naturally be very great. To this need the nursing profession will also, I believe, naturally respond. . . . Nursing always offers great opportunities for service and never more than at present, when the nation's armed forces need the assistance of every person in the country. I strongly urge qualified young women to consider nursing as a career."

ALUMNAE CLUB LETTERS

Alumnae Club officers encourage members to continue club work and to remember that despite the war, many activities must go on in the usual way in order to preserve the foundations which have already been built. The Settlement School, Holt House and the Loan Fund merit our steadfast support.

Iowa City Club suggests more names in club letters. "Many of us read the letters not only to find out what other clubs are doing but to see what individuals are most active. It is interesting to find that someone from your own college group is chairman of an event or hostess to a meeting and it is one way of keeping in touch with college friends."

ALPHA PROVINCE EAST

BURLINGTON, VERMONT

The January meeting of the Burlington Alumnae Club was held on the twenty-second at the home of Mrs. Edward Crane. A quiz program on the history and constitution helped to refresh everyone's knowledge of  $\Pi B \Phi$  and added a bit to the treasury, for the program chairman paid a sum for each question correctly answered.

The freshman and junior girls of the active chapter were entertained at the February meeting held at the chapter house on February 19. After a delicious covered dish supper, the group was entertained by the active girls who gave two monologues and sang several songs.

MARION G. HERBERG

HALIFAX

The Halifax Alumnae Club is enjoying a most successful year.

Our monthly meetings are held in the evening at alternating members' homes. The average attendance is about twenty, and our membership now totals thirty-five.

The alumnae club is working in close cooperation with the active chapter sharing in their numerous activities.

At the present time plans are being made for a Mothers' Tea which in past years has proved so successful.

The club's efforts have been employed in doing war work, that is, knitting for the Red Cross and working in the Service Canteens.

HELEN HURST

MONTREAL

The January meeting was held at the home of Mrs. L. S. Reycraft. The Winnipeg girls, now numbering fourteen, read the play, IC Sorosis. The personalities of our founders and the beginning of  $\Pi B \Phi$  were again refreshed in our memories. We had a mixed Valentine party again this year. It was held at the home of Mrs. R. B. Winsor and was a great success. There were forty present, some of whom played bridge, some bingo, and others danced or played other games. We hope this will be an annual affair.

MRS. L. S. REYCRRAFT

PORTLAND, MAINE

The Portland Alumnae Club started 1942 off with a bowling party in January, at which the members tried to outdo each other by piling up scores, some successfully and some unsuccessfully. The bowling was followed by hot chocolate at the home of Barbara Cremin Martin, Kansas A, one of the club's newest members.

In February the club met for an evening of cameras and pictures at the home of Dorothy Frye. The processes of the making of a picture from the snapping of the photograph, through its printing and developing, were demonstrated and explained. Various kinds of equipment and machines used in the printing and enlarging processes were also demonstrated. After a short movie, delicious refreshments were served, and so the evening ended.

Coming meetings include an evening on things Chinese, and an interesting doll collection, and at the end of the season the club will finish up with its usual outdoor picnic at the seashore. Last year a rugged thunder shower helped make the occasion memorable. Members think they can manage without it this year.

KATHERINE K. TRUE

ALPHA PROVINCE WEST

ALBANY

Our meetings have been held on the third Tuesday of each month in the homes of members. We average about sixteen active members at our monthly meetings.

Sale of the Settlement School articles continues and the amount has reached over $427. For a small club we consider this a marvelous amount.

On April 21 a cooky-shine was held at Mrs. Archibald's in Loudonville. Assisting was Miss Helen Chambers.

The club plans to close the season with a family picnic in June.

BUFFALO

The January meeting this year was taken up with reports and plans for the remainder of the year. Now that the United States is at war the club feels that a greater part of the time should be devoted to Red Cross work. Plans were made to speed up efforts in that direction.

It was decided to go on record as favoring the convention in as much as arrangements have been so nearly completed for it. The delegate and alternate were elected.

The final report on the sale of Settlement School products for the year resulted in sending $187.86 to the school. A gift of $25.00 was made to the Ontario Beta chapter.

At the February meeting Helen Leonard gave a very interesting review of the article "Thirty Years on Little Pigeon" in the December ARROW. She also told us about her trip to Gatlinburg last summer and her most favorable impression of the school. Two other club members have visited it recently.

The Buffalo club has proposed a joint meeting with the Rochester club for Founders' Day and has invited its members to come here.

ANN NOURSE

LONDON

The January meeting of the London Alumnae Club which was held at the Fraternity house was well attended. After the regular business meeting, one of the members gave a general report on the active chapter, and told of their plans for rushing.

In February the alumnae gave a party for the rushees and the actives. It took the form of a Valentine tea. The large arrow cake which was quite appropriate for Valentine's Day, was lighted with small candles and passed about the room before it was cut. Part of the entertainment was a Marionette Show, given by Mrs. Lloyd Sipherd, who also explained how Marionettes are made, and how they are manipulated.

The  $\Pi B \Phi$  annual dance was held at the London Hunt Club on February 27 with many alumnae present. It was a very delightful party.

MYRA L. MOORHOUSE

MID-HUDSON VALLEY

On January 10 we had a luncheon at the Vassar Alumnae House. At the meeting that followed, the History and Constitution of  $\Pi B \Phi$  were discussed, after which Mrs. Wishard talked to us about India. She lived there for several years and gave us a most interesting picture of the country as she knew it.

On February 28 we enjoyed a covered dish luncheon at the home of Mrs. Jackson. We discussed the possibility of sending a delegate to the national convention in June and hope that one of our members will be able to have such an opportunity. Bridge was enjoyed after the business session.

We have been invited by the New York Alumnae Club to celebrate Founders' Day with them. It is uncertain as yet how many of us will be able to attend but all of us are looking forward to going with great anticipation.

Our two tables of bridge meet every two weeks, rotating the meeting place among the members. At each meeting every player is assessed $.25 which is allocated to enlarge the Settlement School fund. In this manner we not only enjoy an evening of entertainment, but accomplish a definite step toward a worthwhile objective.

Our members are doing their part in the national emergency by joining Red Cross sewing groups, attending nutrition classes and knitting sweaters, mittens and socks. Adele Faloon has returned from her trip to Peru and has invited us to her home for the next meeting. We shall all be interested to hear about her most enjoyable visit with our South American neighbors.

In this time of world-wide chaos, we find our  $\Pi \Phi$  bond a great satisfaction and doubly enjoy our monthly meetings together.

BETTY HADDEN

MOHAWK VALLEY

The Mohawk Valley Alumnae Club had its January meeting at the home of Marian Staley Sharples (Pennsylvania A) in Rome. After a delicious dinner the Club spent an enjoyable evening knitting for Red Cross and getting acquainted with its newest member, Christine Wolf (Iowa B), who, with her husband and baby daughter, has recently become a resident of Rome.

Lola Woodcock Getman (New York I), of Rome, opened her home for the annual "Time Quiz" party on February 10. About twenty-five guests enjoyed the Quiz and Christine Wolf and her husband tied for the highest score.

Lieutenant Donald Cruden, husband of our club treasurer, Alice Cruden (New York I), has been called to active duty at Fort Ontario. He is a graduate of Greenbrier Military Academy in West Virginia. Alice expects to join him in about a month.

Dr. Edward K. Reid, husband of Vance Sullivan Reid (New York A), has been promoted to the rank of Major, in the Medical Corps. Since September he has been professor of Military Science and Tactics at Syracuse Medical School at Syracuse University.

Georgiana Taylor, who has had charge of Arrowcraft this year, reports sales amounting to $136.80 up to the present time.

E. HENRIETTA GAMBLE SCRIPTURE

NEW YORK

The second half of the club year began with a tea on February 7 at the home of Margaret S. Katzenberg,

New York I. Anny McIntyre, Director of "France Forever," spoke and led a discussion on the international situation.

On Saturday, March 7, at the home of Helen McKendrew, Missouri B, the club enjoyed talks by Leona Baumgartner, M.D., Kansas A, Director of the Bureau of Child Hygiene, Department of Health, City of New York; and Louise Pearce, California A, of the Rockefeller Institute of Medical Research—"Medical Research in War Time." Mary Julian White, M.D., Michigan B, practicing physician, will preside and lead the discussion.

The annual meeting was held Saturday, March 28, at which time the election of officers took place and annual reports were given.

Margaret B. Griffin, New York I, Settlement School Chairman, reports a total sale so far of $720.

The Long Island Group has continued to be as active as ever, holding their regular monthly social meetings.

The Deb Group, composed of the younger girls, is cutting down on the number of social gatherings, but continuing to be active in the large club. On February 26, ten of the group had a theater party and enjoyed seeing "Junior Miss."

Panhellenic activities have included the monthly supper meetings, followed by programs, which have been unusually interesting this year. The 17th Annual Panhellenic Ball was a great success, as was a well-attended tea-dance for the U.S.O. at Beekman Tower in February. The Beekman Hill Unit of the American Women's Voluntary Service continues its excellent work under the able direction of Helen McAndrew, Missouri B.

ELEANOR GILLET

ROCHESTER

The National Panhellenic Philanthropy book was studied by the Rochester Alumnae Club at the March meeting. Evelyn Brownell (Evelyn Hart, New York A), presented the subject and enlightened us on many points. This book had been recommended to us very highly, and merited our attention.

Janice Rumrill (Janice Clark, New York A), who attended the N.I.F. Conference in New York, and whose husband played an important part, told us about some of the highlights of this event.

April means Founders' Day to us, and a luncheon. Our club has been invited to Buffalo for this celebration. Transportation, being a serious consideration at this time, will have to be weighed pro and con. If we can rent a bus, our club will be delighted to accept this invitation. This will be an important item to decide at the March meeting. The invitation is appreciated very much by this group.

The election of officers will take place at the May meeting. The plans for the convention will be made—Lydia Darling (Eloise Sender, New York A), is to be our representative.

This club has another honor in its career. Lydia Darling will receive the presidency of the Rochester Panhellenic at its spring luncheon. Rhea Poppink (Rhea Nelson, North Dakota A), will be vice-president, with Lois Davies (Lois Wilson, Ohio A), as alternate.

Ruth Rumbold (Ruth Asher, Oklahoma A), Lois Davies, and Hortense Haggerty (Hortense Valleau, Nevada A), are staff assistants of the Red Cross. Several of our women are blood donors.

AGNES MCCOY MILLER

SCHENECTADY

Following the Christmas season we all settled down to intensive concentration on first aid training, civilian defense, and work at relief agencies. Our March meeting was highlighted by a report on civilian defense activities by one of the workers from the headquarters. We here in Schenectady are living in an "all-out-for-War" area, with those two giant companies—the American Locomotive Company and the General Electric Company—running day and night to supply some of the demands of war.

At our January meeting we had a paper on the Constitution which led to our formulation of some proposals for changes which might be made in that document. We knitted squares for a Red Cross afghan at our last meeting, and we have still to celebrate Founders' Day at a luncheon, hold our annual "evening bridge with husbands," and go on our family picnic.

We have an additional two members since the beginning of the year, which off-sets our losses and keeps our membership well into the forties.

SYRACUSE

Since our last letter, we have held three meetings. On January 7 we enjoyed a luncheon and business meeting at Carrie Sherwood Clarke's; and on the eleventh of February, the 46th anniversary of the establishing of  $\Pi \Theta \Phi$  in Syracuse, we met with Leora Sherwood Gray, one of our charter members.

Marjorie Kirk, our president, was hostess for a dinner meeting, February 24 and showed us her movies of China, Japan, Manila and Hawaii, following an informal "Sing" with Eldora Dolbear Ingerson accompanying. At this meeting, we were happy to have as our guest June Morse of Oregon B, who is doing graduate work at Syracuse University.

Members of the club have been up to their ears in war work and have made 24 sleeper suits, 10 toddler packs, 200 diapers, and countless scarfs, sweaters and socks for the Red Cross; and many of us have given hours of volunteer service in the Civilian Defense Volunteer Office.

Marjorie, our busy president, is serving as chairman of interviewing for the CDVO, which has enrolled 8,000 men and women in the County in the defense program. Charlotte Fox has also given an immense amount of time to volunteer service, and Marjorie Kienzle is chairman of the nutrition division.

We plan our annual husband's party for April 10, at the chapter house, and Founders' Day will also be celebrated at the house when we are to be guests of the active chapter.

By way of reminder, the association treasurer requests all alumnae who hold  $\Pi \Phi$  bonds to clip and cash their coupons regularly as it will facilitate her work.

CHARLOTTE N. CHAFFER

WESTCHESTER

On January 22 the Westchester Alumnae Club met at the home of Mrs. Fred Foy (Elizabeth Hamilton), in Scarsdale. As it was the meeting devoted to the Constitution, Mrs. S. Murray Jones (Norma Hysson) led the discussion on the proposed amendments to the Constitution. Mrs. John Stahr (Jean Bouslog) and Mrs. Donald Deedman (Kathryn Trask) gave very interesting reports on the Settlement School. They included the articles in the December ARROW. We are very proud of our large sale of Settlement School products—over $700. Our hostess committee, as always, served us a beautiful tea.

At the home of Mrs. Elmer Elsea (Lillian Hart) in New Rochelle the book group heard a review of "Reveille in Washington." It was an unusual treat, to have the first outside reviewer a person of such outstanding ability and experience as Mrs. Brian of Chicago. Mrs. Brian is the daughter of one of our members, Mrs. R. L. Love. "Flight to Arras" will be reviewed in March.

As is customary we entertained our husbands with an evening party. Mrs. Edwin Bonnet (Grace Bradford) and her committee arranged a very clever Valentine dinner at the Larchmont Shore Club. The dinner was followed by dancing and bridge.

Because of the great distances between our various villages and the curtailed driving the bridge group has not met every month as previously. On March 3, Mrs. S. Murray Jones of Scarsdale was hostess for seven tables of bridge. Both the bridge group and the book group are knitting for the Red Cross.

Every one is at work on plans for our Founders' Day luncheon to be held at the Larchmont Shore Club. Mrs. John MacKay (Elizabeth James) and her committee have arranged an unusually interesting program in commemoration of our 75th anniversary.

DOROTHY T. DARMLEY

AKRON

The Akron Club has had a pleasant and profitable year under the leadership of our president, Mary Jones. We have raised a satisfactory sum for the Settlement School and expect to raise more. The club is divided into four teams, each team to make money according to their own ideas. The four teams are headed by Jane Cook. The club is to appear on a local radio station in the form of a quiz program. Since cash prizes are to be awarded to both winners and losers, this should be profitable as well as being fun. Our annual cooky-shine was held at the home of Maribel Wilson. We regret losing Doris Rooney as her husband has joined the air corps.

VELMA S. McDONALD

ATHENS

The Athens Alumnae Club had a most enjoyable meeting at the home of Mrs. P. O. Nichols in March. A covered dish supper was followed by a short business meeting.

While most members are very busy with war organizations and knitting, sewing for the Red Cross is also being continued at each meeting.

The remaining activities for the year include a special drive for magazine subscriptions, a program on the history and Constitution, Founders' Day celebration in conjunction with the active chapter and the election of officers.

DOROTHY WOODWORTH SHAFFER

CINCINNATI

In February the club was entertained with a cooky-shine in the apartment of Mrs. A. O. Caldwell with Mrs. G. F. Quinn as co-hostess. There was a short business session followed by a social hour. Our members are all busy now with war work such as Red Cross and Civilian Defense in our own communities. Plans for a spring rummage sale have been canceled and we will concentrate on a large fall sale. We have a membership of 34 paid members which is a record enrollment. This spring we are contributing to the Settlement School a sizable collection of fine used books which we feel the community and school will enjoy. Founders' Day will be celebrated with Mrs. M. D. Downs as our chairman.

MRS. EDWIN L. MOON, II

CLEVELAND

The Senior Alumnae group held a dinner meeting with their husbands as guests in December. A most interesting talk was given by Mr. R. G. Beattie on "The Romance of Precious Stones."

After the luncheon at the January meeting Dr. Arthur B. Williams of the Cleveland Museum of Natural History talked to the group about the Cleveland Metropolitan Park System stressing their educational value in relation to nature study.

In February a dinner meeting was held at the home of Mrs. H. F. Freeman, followed by a movie showing the development of Motion Picture Art. This proved to be most popular.

Panhellenic held a Thanksgiving dance on November 29 at the University Club. Our group was well represented.

The Junior Auxiliary group had a Christmas party for their December meeting.

The Junior Auxiliary group report an increase in paid members as well as increased interest of the members for this year.

COLUMBUS

Meeting—dinner the first Tuesday of each month from October to June. Alternate months at the chapter house (Ohio B). Average attendance—40. Speakers on various topics: Social Welfare, Red Cross, Literary Reviews. Work on projects to raise funds for the  $\Pi \Theta \Phi$  B fraternity house; card parties, rummage sales and book reviews. One meeting devoted to Settlement School and a sale of its products. Founders' Day banquet, a dinner at local hotel with the active chapter when honors are awarded for outstanding attainment in grades to freshman and upper classmen.

DOROTHY I. LAMBERT

HARRISBURG-CARLISLE

Our topic of conversation at the January meeting was the visit of Miss Onken in December, her delightful account of the Panhellenic Congress, and her informal discussion of  $\Pi B \Phi$ . At the February meeting we played our Constitution and History game and made plans for celebrating Founders' Day. We expect to contribute to the Settlement School, the Holt House, and the Loan Fund.

RUTH TROUT

MAHONING VALLEY

In February Mrs. Sidney Taylor, Mrs. John Pardee, and Mrs. James Stalker entertained our club with a delightful luncheon at the lovely new home of Mrs. Taylor. Following the business session, Miss Helen Brown gave her second practical and interesting lecture on nutrition. At the March meeting there was election of officers and a study of the Constitution. Founders' Day was observed with a cooky-shine at the home of Mrs. Robert Day. The May picnic at the farm home of Mrs. Paul Gauchat concludes our season.

MARY ROBBINS WOOD

MORGANTOWN

The January meeting, to which other sorority women were to have been invited, was postponed. Elizabeth Frost Reed was to have given a talk on Current Drama.

The February meeting was held at the chapter house. The program was about the History, Constitution. The active examination questions for 1941 were used as a basis for discussion. Plans were made for the March meeting as well as for Founders' Day when the West Virginia A "Get Together" luncheon is scheduled. It was voted to give $5.00 to the local American Red Cross War Fund. Mrs. Vasek, Beta Province Vice-president was a guest at the March meeting. A dinner at the Sally Tea Room preceded the business meeting. Officers for next year were elected. Recommendations for fall rushing were submitted and approved. Members who are doing active defense work gave short talks. These included: Mrs. R. Elton Warman (Della Thompson) who is National Chairman for the Pan-American Study of the American Legion Auxiliary, Mrs. Richard E. Davis (LaVerne Blatchford) who is a Lieutenant Colonel of the Monongalia County Defense Unit, Miss Regina Cochran who is doing Red Cross work and studying Auto Mechanics and First Aid and Mrs. H. I. Miller (Kathleen McNeil) who is assisting with the hot lunch program in Monongalia County Schools.

OHIO VALLEY

The first meeting of the current year was held Saturday, February 7 at the Janegrace. Miss Mary L. McCluskey and Miss Ardath Hilton were the hostesses at this luncheon and business meeting.

Mrs. Vasek, Beta Province Vice-President, was guest of honor at the March meeting. She encouraged the club to continue its work and to remember that despite the war many activities must go on in the usual way in order at least to preserve the foundations which have already been built. The Settlement School, Holt House, and the Loan Fund were stressed as the things which  $\Pi B \Phi$  must continue to support through these war years. The club enjoyed and profited by Mrs. Vasek's visit.

At the April meeting the officers for the coming year were elected and plans were made for the Founders' Day banquet and installation of officers on Friday evening, May 1.

PHILADELPHIA

The main project of the Philadelphia Alumnae Club since the last letter to the ARROW has come to a successful close.

The annual rummage sale handled most efficiently again this year by Mrs. R. C. Miller, Jr. (Carol Hagaman, Ohio B), netted us $90.00. This is an increase over last year which we feel to be especially commendable. Many thanks to Mrs. Miller and her workers.

A luncheon and meeting was held in January at the home of Mrs. W. Staunton Moylan (Dorothy Kinsley, Pennsylvania A) at which we were entertained by scenic movies shown by Mr. S. E. Downs, the husband of one of our members.

A pleasant afternoon of bridge followed by tea took place in February. Mrs. John Johnson and Dr. Dorothy Johnson were the hostesses.

At the March meeting we were entertained by Mrs. John W. Iliff (Marjorie Mathers, Colorado B), pianist.

Founders' Day celebration this year was held at the home of Mrs. Herschel G. Smith (Ellen Miller, Pennsylvania A) in Wallingford. This was a luncheon and we were appreciative of the quiet and privacy of a home. Mrs. William Bucklee (Lillian O'Brien, Kansas B) was chairman of the committee. In place of the annual picnic we are having a dance in May.

PITTSBURGH

The Pittsburgh Alumnae Club are deep in defense work, not as a group but as individuals.

Due to the uncertain times, as well as the great demands,  $\Pi B \Phi$  has not been forgotten as the following will show. Mrs. Albert Wiggins, Magazine Chairman, announces the following sale of magazines to date—\$375.00, with a commission of \$105.30 for Settlement School. Plans were also formulated for benefits at the different homes during the months of March and April.

The club was very fortunate in having the privilege and pleasure of meeting Mrs. Ruth Barrett-Smith, Grand Vice-President, who on her tour of visiting active chapters, arranged to spend a few hours with Mrs. Floyd Carson, Beta Province President.

April found the clubs celebrating another Founders' Day. This year the Pittsburgh Club was hostess to the South Hills Club at the College Club.

GRACE MILLER

SOUTHERN NEW JERSEY

Our January meeting was a luncheon held in Mount Holly with Ruth Heilbron as hostess. Jane Coolidge, one of our members, read her original story, "The Big Road," which won the AAUW Short Story Award last May. Edith Bodine related some of the highlights of her recent three-weeks' motor trip to Mexico. In March we shall have a benefit bridge for the Settlement School at the home of Mrs. Edmond Stratton. The April meeting was a box luncheon with Mrs. McFall and her daughter as hostesses, followed by Founders' Day program. In June there will be a picnic followed by installation of officers. Many of our members are engaged in various branches of Defense Work such as Red Cross, Air Raid Protection, Fort Dix Service, and First Aid courses.

MARION K. PARENT

TOLEDO

The February meeting of the Toledo Alumnae Club was held at the home of Mrs. Raymond Ryburn. A quiz on the Constitution of  $\Pi B \Phi$  was conducted, Mrs. Virginia Harding had the high score.

The club is actively engaged in knitting for the local Red Cross, and many articles have been turned over to the chairman. A class in First Aid, composed almost entirely of  $\Pi B \Phi$  members, has been formed.

It has been a pleasure to welcome several new members into the club, and we are all looking forward to an interesting spring program.

BALTIMORE

The talented poetess, Josephine Jacobsen, was speaker at the January meeting of the Baltimore Alumnae Club. Mrs. Jacobsen read several of her own poems and those of other poets, under the title Poetry in 1941, which proved more than interesting and timely. Mrs. Frederick Donnelly was the hostess.

In February a large group was attracted to hear Dr. Clinton I. Winslow, professor of political science at Goucher College and president of the Citizens' League of Baltimore, speak on Democracy Begins At Home. The hostess was Mrs. H. E. Corner.

The First Aid class, sponsored by the alumnae club, is continuing to study under the direction of Mr. Ashley of the Baltimore chapter of Red Cross.

A dance was held on Valentine's Day for the members of Maryland A by the Alumnae Advisory Board with financial assistance from the alumnae club. Mrs. Parker Frames was hostess for this delightful affair.

The club looks forward to the March meeting with keen anticipation for the speaker will be Mrs. Gideon Steff, who will address the group on Maryland Houses and Gardens.

CHAPEL HILL

One of the chief interests among our club members for the past three months has been the University Civilian Information Center located at the college library. Since Carolina was the first to inaugurate such a valuable defense measure, members of other clubs may be glad to hear of its operation. As soon as the United States entered the World War, certain members of the university library staff compiled for circulation the best and newest books, pamphlets, clippings, maps, and pictures relative to the issues of war, civilian participation, data on various participants, conflicting theories and ideologies of the democracies versus the totalitarian states, and the important subjects of post war planning

ANN ARBOR

We were glad to have several new Pi Phis at our luncheon meeting in January which was held at the home of Mrs. Charles Jamison; also to have our province vice-president, Mrs. Benjamin Lewis, as our guest. A report on the Settlement School sale proved that it had been well worthwhile and a profit of over twenty-three dollars was reported on the sale of engagement calendars. It was decided at this meeting that our plans for a state-wide celebration of Founders' Day should be canceled due to the war situation and that instead we join with the active chapter and combine our celebration with the annual meeting of the Michigan Beta Association to be held at the chapter house on April 25. Initiation Day was February 28 and we had the pleasure of entertaining the sixteen initiates for luncheon in the new home of Mrs. Palmer Christian, with three Pi Phi mothers of the initiates joining with us from out of town.

Among our newcomers this year are Mrs. William H. Abbit of Colorado A, Mrs. A. C. Bowers of California T, Mrs. R. D. Burch of New York A, Mrs. Kenneth Landes of Washington B, Mrs. J. C. Tibbets of Pennsylvania A, Mrs. Robert S. Waldrop of Oklahoma A, Anne Nancy Whyte of Ontario B, and Mrs. S. T. Williams of Michigan A.

Barbara Heath has been acting president in the absence of Mrs. Earl McKinley who is in Florida.

EDITH S. MARSHALL

BLOOMINGTON

The club has undergone a difficult year. The president went to Florida in January, and since her return she has not been well enough to take over again. Mrs. J. Raymond Cope, corresponding secretary and chairman of the advisory board, moved to Salt Lake City, Utah. Miss Lorraine Lindsey was appointed to her position and Mrs. Stith Thompson is chairman of the board.

There are now twenty active members in the club.

and principles of peace. This material is loaned without charge to individuals and organizations in Chapel Hill and throughout the state. Catherine Boyd Browne devotes one morning a week to work in the Center.

EDITH BAKER GIDUZ

TRI-CITY CLUB

We have had to make some changes in our program plans. The February meeting was an old-fashioned cooky-shine which recalled college days. The food was plentiful, as of old, and tongues wagged as well as knitting needles. Individual members are all engaged in war work, some knitting, some taking First Aid courses, and some enrolled in Nutrition Councils. Our former president, Anna Mary Urban, is now cataloging government documents at Emory University in Georgia. The vice-president, Margaret Brookes, is now acting president.

GRACE F. HINCHCLIFF

WASHINGTON, D.C. JUNIOR

The Junior Alumnae Club held its January meeting at the Columbian House of George Washington University. Dr. Wood Gray, Professor of History at G.W.U. was the guest speaker. His topic dealt with Fifth Column work dating from Revolutionary times.

On February 24, the club gave its annual party for the active chapter and pledges. At the Bingo party, a small gift check was presented to the chapter.

Election of officers was at the March meeting, a supper meeting at the home of Gean Zies.

The Founders' Day celebration in April was held jointly with the Senior club and the active chapter.

Our last meeting for the year will be May 26, at Sligo Park, Md. Our annual picnic will be followed by installation of the new officers for the coming year with appropriate ceremonies. Thus will we officially close a most successful year.

MAURINE STUART DULIN

DELTA PROVINCE

Most of them are busy with Red Cross sewing and war work. Meetings are held regularly, but with few planned programs. The club decided to raise the yearly dues and dispense with money-making projects.

LORRAINE E. LINDSEY

DETROIT

Many of our members are busy with Red Cross and War Relief activities but interest in II B Φ has not lagged. At the February cabinet meeting there was scarcely a person whose hands were not busy with knitting or sewing. Our membership is constantly shifting as Pi Phi husbands are being transferred. Mrs. C. Donald Watson (Elizabeth Bowman) left in February for Teaneck, N.J., Mrs. Oscar Findling (Grace Foote) for Washington, D.C., and Mrs. Idan E. Flaa (Ruby Hill) for Flint, Mich.

Detroit Pi Phi gathered for tea and a delightful afternoon at the home of Dr. and Mrs. B. Raymond Hoobler (Dr. Icie Macy) on Saturday, January 17. The next city wide meeting was the celebration for the 75th anniversary of Founders' Day on April 25. II B Φ had a large representation at the Panhellenic Ball at the Hotel Statler on Saturday, February 7 and was given good publicity for the pre-dance parties.

Because of the demands of time and money for more pressing needs this year we have decided not to hold a large Benefit Bridge as in the past. Each group has been asked to raise $20.00 in any way it wishes and to turn the money over to the general fund. The East Group plans to hold a series of two and three table bridge parties in their homes, the North Group will raise its money by selling personal postal cards and personal labels and a contribution from its treasury. The West and Junior Groups have not yet completed their plans.

The North and West Groups held a joint meeting in April. The West Group enjoyed movies and a talk on present day China at the January meeting. A generous collection was turned over to the China Relief Fund. An instructor from the Leader Dog League gave an interesting demonstration at the March meeting.

FRANKLIN

II B  $\Phi$  celebrated the fifty-fourth anniversary of the founding of Indiana A at Franklin College with a dinner Tuesday, January 13 at the home of Mrs. Harry Vandivier. Eighty guests were entertained.

Three members were guests of honor. They were Miss Herriott Palmer, one of the founders of the chapter, Miss Sara Covert and Mrs. J. V. Deer, who were included among the first initiates. The dinner was served at small tables. A beautifully decorated birthday cake was cut. Following the dinner, colored motion pictures of the II B  $\Phi$  Settlement School at Gatlinburg, Tenn., were shown. Patronesses, actives, pledges and alumnae were guests.

The February meeting was a dinner meeting at the Dixie Tea Room and Mrs. Edwin Lee Holton, assistant to the Grand Treasurer, will be our guest.

MRS. RIEHL VANDIVIER

GRAND RAPIDS

Members of the club were entertained in February at the home of Priscilla Wells with Ann Schuck and Gretchen De Winter assisting. There was short business session after the luncheon at which plans were made for the March meeting which is to be a buffet supper and evening party at the home of Judge and Mrs. Leonard Verdiner with our husbands as guests. In April we are to celebrate Founders' Day with a luncheon at the Women's City Club and a special program in charge of Madeline Nichols.

GRETCHEN DE WINTER

INDIANAPOLIS

The Indianapolis Alumnae Club is busily engaged in many defense activities. Many members are sewing and knitting for the Red Cross. Mrs. Robert S. Wild is head of the Motor Corps and Mrs. Raymond S. Davis is helping at the Canteen.

The February meeting of the alumnae club was held at the home of Mrs. E. E. Temperley and Miss Geraldine Eppert. Mrs. M. R. Granger (Grace Adams, Indiana A), who is a general supervisor in the Indianapolis Public Schools, spoke on the subject "Interpreting Our Public Schools."

The March meeting was at the Butler University chapter house. Luncheon, election of officers, and a St. Patrick's party were the program for the day.

Mrs. L. L. Flint is chairman of the State Luncheon in honor of our Founders on April 25, 1942, at the Indianapolis Athletic Club.

MARTHA W. SCOTT

LAFAYETTE

Our club met in February at the home of Mrs. Lewis Clark with the presidents of other alumnae clubs as our guests of honor. An organ recital on the Hammond electric organ was the highlight of the evening. We have had five meetings so far and expect to have four more. The senior farewell party will be held in April, the change of schedule at the university making this necessary. Our sale of Settlement School articles was very successful. We are contributing to the school, to Holt House and to the Loan Fund.

EVA MAY MATER

RICHMOND, INDIANA

At a regular monthly meeting of the Richmond Alumnae Club, held March 5, 1942, officers for the coming year were elected.

Mrs. Howard Hammer was appointed Chairman of Committee on Recommendations of Rushes for 1942-43.

RUTH WILLIAMS WUNDERLICH

SOUTHWESTERN INDIANA

During these busy and trying times the Southwestern Indiana Alumnae Club has had supper meetings on the second Monday of the month at the homes of the members.

In November a tea was given at which the Settlement School products were displayed and sold.

A Christmas luncheon was given for the actives on December 31.

The annual husband and wife picnic is planned for June.

Our club members are making every effort to meet the present emergency.

RUTH ROBBINS KLIPSCH

SOUTHWESTERN MICHIGAN

The Southwestern Michigan Alumnae Club now has fourteen members, and hopes that by the end of the year this number will be increased to seventeen or eighteen.

In February a luncheon was held at the home of Mrs. Parsons. The club was happy to have Mrs. Lewis, our province vice-president, as a guest at this meeting. Mrs. Lewis talked informally to the group about Holt House. She also told of the work being done by other alumnae clubs in the province. Other guests at the luncheon were two members of the active chapter in Hillsdale.

A meeting was held in Marshall at the home of Mrs. Moses on the first Friday in March. An educational program was planned, based upon a study and quiz from the Time and Fortune magazines.

Founders' Day was celebrated by the club in Hillsdale, where we were invited to meet with the active chapter.

The last meeting of the year will be held in May. This meeting will be of an educational nature—at which time the study begun in March will be concluded.

CHATTANOOGA

Six brand new II B  $\Phi$  initiates were honored with a banquet on Saturday, February 21, given by the Chattanooga Alumnae Club. The affair took place in the Red Room of the Hotel Patten, and a Chinese theme was used throughout the program, which was under the capable direction of Mrs. Alson Kemp. Miss Martha Fletcher served as toastmistress of the occasion.

The alumnae group has been active in Red Cross work, many attending a first aid course which has been held at the chapter house each Wednesday night, with our own Virginia Harrell as teacher. A number of Red Cross knitters are found at the regular meetings, and plans have been made to bring articles to fill kits for the soldiers and sailors.

We continue to have volunteer hostesses at each meeting, and are enjoying a record attendance of alumnae.

We, as well as the actives, are looking forward to a visit from our province president, Mrs. W. B. Cogshall.

COLUMBIA, MISSOURI

Due to additional activities of war work, the Columbia Alumnae Club decided to end its year with the March meeting, at which time election of officers for next year took place and reports were made. This meeting was held at the home of Margaret Neate, Missouri I, on March 5. Plans for a Founders' Day celebration with the active chapter are under way.

ALICE MARSHALL BLAKE

JEFFERSON CITY

The December meeting of the club was omitted in favor of the annual Settlement School Tea which was given at the home of the club president, Mrs. Paul Harris, early in December. The event was very successful both socially and because of the wide sale of the Settlement School products.

For Christmas, the club adopted a needy family, supplying the mother with necessary food and clothing, etc., and with toys for her two small children. Every member contributed what she could, and trips to the grocery store and ten cent stores filled the boxes and baskets.

The club has taken over an allotment of knitting for the Red Cross, and so far, several sets for small children have been finished and turned in.

The club has continued its participation in national  $\Pi B \Phi$  affairs by contributions to Holt House and similar funds.

Plans are now being considered for helping other  $\Pi B \Phi$  chapters in Missouri, both active and alumnae, in their summer rushing.

MARJORIE RIEPMA

KANSAS CITY (MISSOURI)

This year our club has tried a different method of raising money. Feeling it would be difficult to ask people to buy tickets to a benefit during war times, we hit upon the idea of selling small books of personalized stickers. There are 250 little stickers to a book, each printed with the owner's name and address. They are very useful for articles of children's clothing, for private books and phonograph records, and they have sold very successfully. We made this selling campaign into a regular project, dividing the club into teams and offering a prize to the member selling the most. If within a few weeks we have reached our goal and have made enough money to sustain our budget, this, plus one more rummage sale in March, will complete our money-raising projects for the year.

At the February meeting Mr. Frank Glenn gave an interesting lecture on "Books: Their Place in American Defense." Miss Onken is to be the honored guest at our Founders' Day banquet on April 25.

VIRGINIA PUNTON KELLEY

LOUISVILLE

The Louisville Alumnae Club held its first supper meeting of 1942 at the chapter house, January 13. After the regular business meeting, a most interesting program was presented which consisted of a talk and discussion on the leading plays on Broadway.

The following Saturday, January 15, a successful benefit bridge party was given under the chairmanship of Mrs. Franklin Fitch.

At the February meeting, the program was a Constitution Quiz Bee which was written and prepared by Hamilton Howard.

Plans are now underway for the Founders' Day luncheon in April. Everyone looks forward to this event because it is at this time that the graduating seniors are honored.

SUZANNE NEVIN

MEMPHIS

The outstanding event of the year 1941-42 was the benefit bridge and style show held at the Colonial Country Club November 14, 1941. The proceeds of the benefit were sent to Settlement School. Arrowcraft products were sold, as the occasion was intended to provide a market for the products as well as to raise money for Settlement School. Mrs. Hubert Garrecht (Margaret Proctor, Iowa  $\Gamma$ ), was general chairman for the affair. The fashion show was in the charge of Mrs. J. D. Biles, Jr. (Elizabeth Boone, Washington A). Models were Mrs. E. B. Gall (Janet Laudick, Wisconsin B), Mrs. Reed Knight (Ruth Vincent, Missouri A), Mrs. John Wellford (Neta Gunn, Florida B), and Mrs. C. E. Hutton (Helen Hays, Iowa Z). Mrs. Joe Mobley (Mary Lou Smith, Oklahoma A), had charge of the tea.

A dinner party for husbands and escorts of the members took place December 13, 1941, in the home of Mrs. Gerald Marshall (Fern Dugger, Indiana A). Mrs. T. H. Baker, Jr. (Lily Bess Kyle, Texas B) and Mrs. W. B. Wendel (Nannette Miller, Arkansas A) helped Mrs. Marshall plan the party.

On December 29, 1942, Memphis Alumnae Club held a tea in the home of Mrs. C. E. Hutton (Helen Hays, Iowa Z), honoring active chapter members home for the holidays and their mothers.

Members of Memphis Alumnae Club are engaged in working on a set of place mats and napkins to be sent to Tennessee B at Vanderbilt University, our nearest active chapter.

The club celebrated Founders' Day with a luncheon party.

NASHVILLE

The program for January was a quiz on the Constitution with Mrs. Davis Bryan winning a $1.00 Defense Savings Stamp for having the most correct answers. The club is participating in a city wide movement among women's organizations to sell Defense Savings Stamps and Bonds at each meeting. The Red Cross sewing unit directed by Mrs. E. B. Wagner is now one year old and meets each Tuesday.

Entertaining book reviews were given by Mrs. A. F. Kuhlman at the February meeting. Sara Worley was welcomed as a new member. In the final report on Arrowcraft, sales showed a substantial increase over last year.

Election of officers took place at the March meeting, followed by a social evening.

In April, the Founders' Day celebration was shared with the Tennessee B group.

FRANKIE M. PARKER

ST. LOUIS

The February meeting was the Valentine meeting. A prize was given for the most unusual hot wren at the meeting. A book review was given by Miriam Bossard Theobald.

The meeting on March 2, was set aside as the time to raise money for Holt House. A "public sale" was conducted by Carol Crowe Metcalfe at which time odds and ends or "white elephants" brought to the meeting were auctioned.

Plans are underway for the second annual Fashion Show given by the St. Louis Alumnae Club. The show will be on May 13, at the Glen Echo Country Club. This is our project for the year.

ZETA PROVINCE

JACKSONVILLE (FLA.)

Because Jacksonville is a fast growing city, this club is fortunate in having several new members and all meetings well attended. At our January meeting Mrs. McGarvey Cline, a Wisconsin  $\Pi \Phi$ , and chairman of Nutrition in Civilian Defense, talked informally of her work and of the work that individuals can and must do. The February meeting was held at the home of Mrs. A. D. Davis. The nominating committee was chosen and was asked to report at the March meeting. We also studied our constitution at this meeting. In February our club entertained the local Panhellenic at the home of Kazimir Mumby. This was the first time that any alumnae club had entertained as a group, probably because there are so few organized clubs here. Under the capable leadership of Mrs. C. T. McMurray our club has become magazine conscious so that this year we are near the top in the province.

MIAMI

The Miami Club has been holding regular luncheon meetings the first Wednesday of each month. Plans are under way for our Founders' Day celebration when we meet with our auxiliary group. We are to entertain the local Panhellenic at a tea on April 11. Old Christmas cards have been collected to send to the Settlement School. We are planning to give a benefit dance at the Coral Gables Country Club on March 28 for the Bundles for Bluejackets organization. This is the first such dance to be given in the Miami area for this cause and we hope we are setting a precedent for other clubs to follow. Our members have also signed up to spend a certain amount of time working in the office of this organization. Our club has recently lost several of our members who have moved away because their husbands have been called into the service.

ETA PROVINCE

AVON (LIBBIE BROOK GADDIS CLUB)

This club now has a membership of eleven. The last meeting was held January 29, 1942, at which time it was planned to purchase two books by  $\Pi B \Phi$  authors, giving one to the Bushnell Library and one to the Saunders Library of Avon, to be used interchangeably.

At this meeting we were glad to welcome once more Mrs. Percy Yard who was formerly a member and is now living in Avon.

It is hoped we may again celebrate Founders' Day by meeting in Holt House.

EDITH CRISSEY

BLOOMINGTON-NORMAL

The newly organized  $\Pi B \Phi$  Alumnae Club in Bloomington held its first meeting in November at which time officers were elected.

The Settlement School tea was successfully given in December at the home of Mrs. Eugene Funk, Jr. Mrs. MacClyment, province vice-president poured.

A business meeting was held in January with Mrs. Willis Magirl, hostess. Miss Helen Schnepf was elected rushing chairman. Other chairmen were also elected.

Mrs. James Parsons was hostess for the February meeting which included a discussion of Illinois Z and alumnae representation at convention given by Miss Helen Schnepf.

At the meeting in March, Mrs. James Parsons gave a review of constitution changes. Mrs. Albert Williamson, was hostess.

The Champaign-Urbana Club has extended an invitation to attend their Founders' Day banquet in April.

MARGARET L. ADMIRE

CARTHAGE

The Carthage Alumnae Club of  $\Pi B \Phi$  met on Tuesday evening February 3, 1942 at the home of Beulah Smith.

Miriam Williams showed some very interesting pictures of the New York City National Panhellenic Conference which she attended in December.

Mrs. Williams also gave a very interesting account of the joint sessions of N.I.C. and N.P.C. She also attended the joint banquet of the above organizations.

BEULAH F. SMITH

CHAMPAIGN-URBANA

At its January meeting the Champaign-Urbana Alumnae Club was happy to welcome several Pi Phis who are newcomers to this community. The courtesy committee is making every attempt to contact new Pi Phis and to encourage them to join the club. The club has been actively interested in the revision and modernization of the constitution, and the pending changes to be made were discussed at the business meeting. Entertainment at this meeting was furnished by Mr. C. A. Kiler, brother of Miss Reka Kiler, who spoke on the life of James Whitcomb Riley.

The February meeting was held at Mrs. Frank Murphy's and three former members of this alumnae club were our guests. The magazine committee is working hard on its final report and the report given at this meeting was most encouraging. The attention of the club was called to the interesting National Panhellenic booklet, "Philanthropy." The business meeting was followed by bridge, prizes being defense stamps.

In March the club met with Mrs. G. A. McConnell. Miss Harriett Barto of the University of Illinois Home Economics Department spoke on the topic of "Home Making."

April brings us again to Founders' Day, to be held at the chapter house. The new alumnae club recently formed in Bloomington, Illinois, has been invited to celebrate Founders' Day with us.

At the May meeting, the last of the year, the seniors from the active chapter will be our guests. The meeting is to be held with Mrs. Ramey.

CHICAGO BUSINESS WOMEN

The Chicago Business Women's Club has held two meetings in 1942. At the meeting in January we went through the Tribune Tower and in February the evening was spent at Beth Wood's home playing ping pong and chatting. At our January meeting we allocated \$35.00 to the Settlement School, \$10 to the Loan Fund, and \$5.00 to the  $\Pi B \Phi$  chapter, at Lawrence College.

ALLENE CHIESMAN

CHICAGO NORTH

The program of Chicago North for the early spring months was quite a busy one. Thirty-five members participated in a current events contest, sponsored by Time Magazine, in February. The prize, a new book, was won by Mrs. John Madden.

We enjoyed having Mrs. McClyment with us at a joint evening meeting earlier in February. This meeting was held in the home of Eva Linane, and a most interesting program was presented. A short skit describing the highlights of the history of  $\Pi B \Phi$ , was enacted by two of our members.

Our annual spring luncheon was held on March 7 at Polly Davis' home. An election of officers took place after lunch was served. The board were hostesses and all paid members were their guests. We had a large attendance at this party as the three units into which Chicago North has been divided are always well represented.

The plans for Founders' Day are still in the making. We are mighty happy to have several new members in our club this year.

VIRGINIA DONEY

CHICAGO SOUTH

Each of the six groups which constitute the Chicago Alumnae Club South of  $\Pi B \Phi$  are concerning themselves definitely with war work—Red Cross knitting, First Aid Classes, Travelers Aid, Consumer's Relations work in the immediate community, the purchase of defense bonds—these in addition to the routine obligations of  $\Pi B \Phi$  keep us unusually busy.

The annual election of officers was at the cooky-shine, March 19. In addition a program was given incorporating both a study of the Constitution and the history of  $\Pi B \Phi$ . The regular Board Meetings continue through June. Plans for the observance of Founders' Day are fast crystallizing in the hands of the Chicago Area Council. With the cancellation of reservations at Swampscott, we are wondering when, and if, convention will be held.

LOIS DONALDSON KOEHLER

DU PAGE (NINA HARRIS ALLEN)

The Nina Harris Allen Alumnae Club's February meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Karr in Glen Ellyn. After a short business meeting and nomination of officers, the members of the club spent a very enjoyable hour "touring" Mexico with Mrs. W. Burks and seeing the many interesting articles in her display.

The main business for its March meeting was the election of officers. The club is looking forward to another active year with its in-coming president, Mrs. F. W. Homan of Glen Ellyn. In addition to electing officers, various plans for Founders' Day were discussed. It was decided that because of present conditions the April and May meetings would be merged into one meeting—a pot luck dinner on April 28.

The club has had a very successful and interesting year under the able leadership of its president, Mrs. Elizabeth Crabtree.

BARBARA JANE TRIMBLE

FOX RIVER VALLEY

The Fox River Valley Club had its December meeting at the home of Mrs. S. E. Waite (Josephine Smith, Wisconsin A) in Oshkosh with the alumnae from that city acting as co-hostesses. Fifteen members were present. Many of this group live considerable distances apart so it will be a difficult task getting together now that there is the automobile and tire shortage to which one must give a great deal of consideration. This group never has had January and February meetings because the Wisconsin roads are not dependable in the winter months.

The club sponsored a very successful Settlement School Tea at the home of Mrs. W. E. Buchanan, Appleton, on October 24. The Wisconsin F actives were a great help in this undertaking.

Wisconsin F had its initiation banquet for twenty-one initiates on February 23 at the Conway Hotel in Appleton. Several members of the alumnae club attended. Mrs. Leslie Ross (Margret Race, Wisconsin A) extended greetings to the initiates from the alumnae club.

The group is looking forward to celebrating Founders' Day with Wisconsin F.

This organization will conclude a successful year under the able leadership of our president, Mrs. L. A. Burley (Gertrude Scanlon, Wyoming A) in May with a picnic at which the Appleton members will be the hostesses.

MARCIA BOOTH LESTER

MADISON

At our January meeting we were fortunate to have Professor J. H. Mathews of the University of Wisconsin with us. He brought a "lie detector" and demonstrated how it worked on some of our members. He also told us of extremely interesting cases in crime which the "lie detector" was able to help solve.

On February 10, 1942, we enjoyed having our Province Vice-President, Mrs. George MacClyment, with us. She discussed the importance of the future of Settlement School with us, told us about Holt House, and advised us that Convention date and place had been changed.

Our March meeting was election of officers and our April meeting was at the chapter house where we enjoyed Founders' Day with the actives. They always prove fine hostesses and usually present a short program for the occasion.

LOUISE DUNLOP FELSHER

MILWAUKEE

The Milwaukee Alumnae Club at its February meeting learned that outstanding talent is plentiful within its own ranks. One of our best programs, "Pi Phis in the Public Eye," revealed what decidedly interesting work is being accomplished by a number of our members in various public services. For instance, Mrs. S. V. I. Brown, member of the board of directors of the Travelers Aid, told of the helpful new services that organization makes available to traveling soldiers and sailors; Evelyn McKinley, faculty member of Milwaukee Vocational School, enlightened us as to that institution's enormous and valuable contribution to national defense; Agnes Jostad, social welfare worker, told us of numerous interesting cases her agency handles; Mrs. Armand Mueller, field worker for the Anti-tuberculosis Association, told of the fine work her organization does among Milwaukee's colored people; and Mrs. John O'Meara, field representative for Beloit College, gave an informative description of the school and of her services to prospective college people.

Two of our meetings have been devoted to the study and amending of our local constitution.

At present the Milwaukee Club leads Eta Province in magazine subscriptions.

In April the senior and junior groups will join in commemoration of Founders' Day at a banquet at the Wisconsin Hotel. At our May meeting Miss Elsie Weinstock will present her collection of some 700 exquisite miniatures. The club will close the year with a picnic, a day at the farm, with Mrs. Carl Pick in West Bend, Wisconsin.

MONMOUTH

The Monmouth Alumnae Club held an informal opening of the Holt House on October 17, 1941, for the people of Monmouth, who have shown a great deal of interest and enthusiasm over the improvement.

The alumnae club entertained the members of the pledge group with a dinner in November. We enjoyed the fraternity songs which the girls sang later.

At our Christmas party we had the usual exchange of gifts. We also contributed toys to be sent to the Settlement School.

A very clever program was arranged for our March meeting. Transcriptions had been made by the active chapter. These were played and proved very entertaining.

MARY L. MCCONACHIE

NORTH SHORE

The members of the North Shore Alumnae Club have volunteered to supply at least sixteen dozen cookies every Saturday to the Recruits' Recreation Center at Fort Sheridan. Various organizations are donating cookies for other days of the week so that the big cookie jar is kept filled for the newly inducted men who gather at the center between tests during their first difficult days away from home.

Six inch squares, knitted of odds and ends of woolen yarn donated by members, are being made at each of our regular meetings. These squares are to be used for afghans by the Red Cross.

The party plans for March, called for a small dessert bridge on March 27, the proceeds from which were devoted to Red Cross purposes.

The January meeting was devoted to discussion and approval of the suggestions prepared by the club's Revisions Committee to be sent to the Committee appointed by Grand Council to assemble suggestions for possible revision and modernization of the Constitution and Statutes. There followed an interesting review of Eugene Lyons' book "The Red Decade" by Mrs. Harris Frazier.

Mrs. George MacClyment, Eta province vice-president, was the guest of honor at the February meeting at which officers for the year 1942-43 were elected. Mrs. William N. Erickson was re-elected president. Mrs. Lyman M. Drake, Jr., was elected delegate to Convention. Mercedes Hurst, former vice-president of the Advertising Federation of America and active in defense work was the speaker.

OAK PARK AND RIVER FOREST

Our January meeting was held at the home of Mrs. J. O. Lee at 1:00 for a salad luncheon. The program for the afternoon was a study of the fraternity constitution. There was a fine group present.

Mrs. C. D. McEachran entertained the club for the February meeting. A short business meeting was held, at which time the nominating committee was selected. Plans for our annual spring Founders' Day luncheon were discussed. Our program committee each year plans one social afternoon; so that the remaining time was devoted to playing bridge.

Oak Park is doing its share in many war activities. Every Friday morning Oak Park is responsible for the cakes and cookies supplied to the Service Center in Chicago. This is a recreational center for Army and Navy men, passing through the City. The Panhellenic Association has a great share in the success of this project. All Pi Phis have been requested to send cakes and cookies to headquarters whenever possible, so that Pi Phi may be well represented in this effort.

JACKSONVILLE, ILLINOIS (AMY B. ONKEN)

The Amy B. Onken Club of Jacksonville, Illinois includes the cities of Alexander, Chandler, Winchester, Beardstown, Chapin, Rushville, and Jacksonville. We look forward to four more meetings this year. At the February meeting we had the great pleasure of entertaining the five members of our Grand Council at luncheon, while Grand Council was in session at the Dunlap Hotel in Jacksonville. The March meeting was to have been held in the home of Mrs. George Noyes, but since she has moved to McPherson, Kan., the meeting was with Katharine Bagby at the Country Club in Rushville. Founders' Day was celebrated with a luncheon at the home of Mrs. Frank Redshaw in Winchester. In May Mrs. Harry Onken of Chapin will be hostess with Mrs. Charles Rhodes having the program on Our Nearest Chapters. Our president, Mrs. Charles Drury of Alexander, is to have charge of our annual picnic which is usually held at her country home. We are happy for the joy and inspiration of our splendid year and fine program. We extend an invitation to all Pi Phis in this vicinity to join us.

PEORIA

The Peoria Alumnae Club has held its monthly meetings as usual on the first Monday of the month throughout the year. In November we had a Settlement School sale at the home of Mrs. Carl Trieble, in which we more than doubled our profits of last year.

We planned our annual roller skating party for the middle of March, and in conjunction with the present parties of All Americans, we donated our profits to the Red Cross and its worthwhile efforts. Everyone looks forward to this party with a great deal of anxiety, and did so even more this year since the money was to be used for such fine work.

We close our year with the Founders' Day luncheon in April, and will hope that next fall when we begin a new year of activity, we do so in a brighter and more promising world.

THETA PROVINCE

DES MOINES

The Des Moines Alumnae Club acted as hostesses in February at a Panhellenic tea. A Red Cross speaker addressed the group, and the proceeds were turned over to the Red Cross. At present we are making plans for a Founders' Day celebration to which we have issued invitations to the members of all other Iowa alumnae clubs. We hope to tie our Fraternity celebration to the national emergency by having a talk on the Red Cross. Last fall our rummage sale was so successful that we are planning another one for May 8 and 9.

The Des Moines Club has had a successful year, with 46 paid members and a large attendance at each meeting. We have sent $5.00 to Holt House and have $13.50 in magazine fund commissions. Since Christmas, our meetings have been held at the Grace Ransom Tea Room, at the home of Mrs. C. J. Hull, and at the home of Mrs. Charles Wheeler.

MARGARET THOMAS LINVILLE

SIOUX CITY

Our February meeting was held in the home of our president, Mrs. E. C. Vandenberg. We were pleased to have as a guest Mrs. Lee Frank, a newcomer to the city.

The March meeting at the home of Miss Clarice Lytle will be devoted to the election of officers and plans for the annual Founders' Day luncheon which will be held at Vermilion, S.D., this year with the girls from the University of South Dakota.

The visit of our province vice-president, Laura Storms Knapp was postponed because of the illness of her husband. We were extremely sorry to hear of Mr. Knapp's illness and hope that he will make a speedy recovery. We are looking forward to her visit later in the year.

All II B  $\Phi$  alumnae members in Sioux City are urged to attend our meetings.

MAE BELLE WHEELOCK

DULUTH-SUPERIOR

We had a most successful evening party on February 10, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Blu (Jessie Schee), with an unusually large attendance. Dr. and Mrs. Robert Collins, of Los Angeles, son and daughter-in-law of Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Collins (Florence Johnson), were guests. We are eagerly awaiting a concert on March 6, when we will hear Harriet Henders, Pi Phi opera star. She will be Jessie Blu's guest for several days. They are both members of Iowa B. Miss Henders will be a guest at our March meeting which is to be held on Saturday, March 7, at the home of Clara Reed.

RUBY BURNESS OLMSTEAD

ST. PAUL

Since our last letter some thought has been given to the problem of rushing. At the February meeting Ann Ritchell, Panhellenic representative gave a report on the quota system which was followed by considerable discussion.

February 7 was the date of the Panhellenic bridge benefit at which II  $\Phi$  assisted as hostesses. A Settlement School waste basket was contributed as one of the door prizes.

Plans for Founders' Day and the election of officers for the new year were the chief concern of the March meeting.

$100 was sent to the Settlement School.

$25 was given to the Red Cross.

After meeting, work on the II  $\Phi$  patch quilt for Red Cross was continued. When completed it will at least be representative in color as Hilda Perkins, Red Cross chairman, was able to procure material in our own wine and blue.

BETTY H. COULTER

INDIANOLA

The Indianola Alumnae Club had the Iowa B pledges as their guests at the February meeting.

II B  $\Phi$  actives and alumnae in Indianola attended a Panhellenic banquet in Indianola February 23. Leola Ellis Lowry, of Des Moines, National President of Theta Upsilon, was the speaker. Mrs. Ristine, Theta Province President, was unable to attend as planned because of bad weather.

Indianola alumnae have been invited by the Des Moines Alumnae Club to a Founders' Day luncheon for all Iowa alumnae.

The Indianola club will give a tea following initiation early in March.

EILEEN BREWER

IOWA CITY

Our club continues to be very active. There are approximately 50 alumnae living in Iowa City of whom 35 are active paid members of the local club. At the three remaining meetings of the club year the March meeting will feature election of officers, April the Founders' Day banquet, and May will bring our tradition of honoring the seniors, this last event coming earlier than usual because the university is on a war time schedule and graduation is being pushed ahead more than two weeks.

WINNIPEG

The Winnipeg Alumnae Club got off to a splendid start for 1942 with the Initiation Banquet on January 24, at the Fort Garry Hotel.

On February 4 Margery Manning Wredde, who has just returned from England spoke to a joint meeting of actives and alumnae on her experiences in Britain since war began, particularly emphasizing the magnificent courage of the British people.

The alumnae were invited to a lovely tea held by the actives during the visit of the Province President, Isabel Clark.

Our meeting on the Constitution was held on February 25. Ielean Downey was in charge and she had it in the form of a quiz. Nominations for next year were also held at this meeting.

The girls are carrying on our war project most enthusiastically and the Club has been able to turn in many knitted articles of clothing and some afghans to the "Bundles Unlimited" for civilian relief in Britain. Almost every member belongs to a knitting group which meets regularly in the intervals between Club meetings.

IOTA PROVINCE

CASPER

Casper Alumnae Club held a most interesting and instructive February meeting.

Miss Bette Neuman, Wyoming A 1940, had prepared a questionnaire on the constitution, history and examination questions of  $\Pi B \Phi$ . Her mother Tessa Langheldt Neuman, Wyoming A 1911, gave a report on the philanthropic works of various sororities, her information being taken from the N.P.C. booklet sent out by Miss Onken.

We are very proud to have won eighth place in the National magazine subscription contest.

Casper alumnae are striving to live up to our slogan 75 to 100%.

CATHERINE DREW

DENVER

The Denver Alumnae Club has found sustained interest and attendance at the spring meetings. In February Mrs. C. C. Gates, a  $\Pi \Phi$  mother, spoke most impressively of her experiences at Pearl Harbor. The March meeting on the constitution is planned as a series of "Minute Men" talks. Instead of the customary luncheon we plan to have a Founders' Day Sunday breakfast at one of the clubs.

The series of monthly book reviews by our own Jeanette Humphreys have been a successful money-raising venture in spite of the constant demands of defense work. Although a small item, the meetings of the board in various member's homes seems to have proven popular. Now our eyes turn toward convention and our interests will be centered there. Hoping to meet many of you there and with best wishes to the new officers coming into our chapters in May, I am,

MARGARET DUMM

HUTCHINSON

The Hutchinson Club has continued its regular meetings, but they are mostly short business sessions, as nearly everyone is busy in some kind of war work. Every  $\Pi \Phi$  in Hutchinson is doing her share—some in sewing and knitting, and others in First Aid and Defense work.

The Club is again proud to announce its membership is 100% of all resident  $\Pi \Phi$ s and includes two from nearby towns. Several members were able to attend initiation at Kansas A last month and their report was interesting to the club. Kansas A is refurbishing their kitchen and dining room this spring, and this club plans to have a food sale soon as a means of raising some money to send to them.

Our remaining meetings this spring will include the study of the Constitution and the Founders' Day cooky-shine, both of which the Club always enjoys.

MARGUERITE G. LEWIS

KANSAS CITY (KANSAS)

Since there has been unusual friendship and rivalry between Kappas and  $\Pi \Phi$ s in our city, our alumnae club entertained the Kappa club last fall with an evening of bridge and a buffet supper. In February the Kappas returned the courtesy with a delightful Valentine bridge luncheon. We have been meeting monthly, alternating afternoons and evenings, having business in the evening and a social time in the afternoons. The February meeting was a dessert luncheon at the home of Keitha Littler Tharp. A benefit movie in February produced about \$26 profit. This followed so closely the second Red Cross drive and the President's Birthday Ball that we felt we were fortunate to clear that much. At the March meeting at Jane Shepherd's there will be election of officers. April brought a celebration of Founders' Day. Later in the spring we will invite our friends for a showing of Settlement School pictures and Arrowcraft articles in order to inform them about the work of the school. Mothers of active Kansas Alpha  $\Pi \Phi$ s living in the two Kansas Cities have organized a club to sew and provide for the chapter house at Lawrence. All of us are aiding in every way the new Defense Work and Fort programs.

ELIZABETH WILKINSON VAUGHAN

LINCOLN

The February meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Earl Cline and was a luncheon followed by program on our History and Constitution. A test of twenty questions was given. At the March meeting a similar test was given on the Settlement School. Such tests stimulate an active interest in  $\Pi \Phi$  projects. In March the initiation and banquet occurred and also the election of club officers. We are to celebrate Founders' Day with a cooky-shine at the  $\Pi \Phi$  house. Mrs. Ralph Ireland has made a distinct success of the sale of Settlement School articles and Mrs. E. C. Ames has also been successful in the sale of  $\Pi \Phi$  vanilla. At the final meeting of the club year at the home of Mrs. Richard Kimball the graduating seniors will be honored.

PEG WEAVERLING ROBINSON

OMAHA

Our Club continues to hold monthly dinner meetings at the homes of members. The February meeting was outstanding in that the annual constitutional quiz was enlivened by being modeled after the popular Information Please radio program, and was very cleverly done. The March meeting was a one o'clock luncheon affair. Later in the spring the husbands of the members will be entertained with a picnic.

KATHRYN WELCH PETERSON

PUEBLO

Many of the members of the Pueblo Alumnae Club are busy these days of national preparedness, and active in the USO. Then we have one member that has enlisted in the Motor Corps. We were fortunate in having three Pueblo girls initiated into  $\Pi B \Phi$  this last month; Patricia Ducey at the University of Colorado, the daughter of Ruth Taylor (Colorado A), and Betty Phelps and Arleen Whalen at Iowa Wesleyan, Mt. Pleasant, Iowa. We are having regular monthly meetings and the attendance is very good, and the interest high.

MRS. J. B. WEIR

POUDRE VALLEY

Our club has a small membership with an average attendance of ten. While our activities are necessarily limited we are proud of our 100% national rating. The club has taken an active part in the local Panhellenic society, although  $\Pi B \Phi$  is not represented on our local campus of the Colorado State College. Agnes Spring Wright, former editor of THE ARROW and a charter member of our club, is in St. Luke's Hospital in Denver recuperating from an operation. Wyoming A is our nearest chapter and we made for it three dozen tea napkins in wine and blue. Many of our members are doing Red Cross work and USO. We number among our members two IC's, Mrs. Rebecca Petty and Mrs. Estelle Perry, both of them loyal in attendance and in fulfillment of club duties.

WICHITA

The February meeting of the Wichita Alumnae Club was a dinner at the lovely home of Mary Ann Edgerton. We discovered that the needs of Kansas A were greater than we had thought, so this meeting was given over to a thorough study of the situation. We decided to make a gift of $75 to the chapter to be used in redecorating the bedrooms of the house. The program for this meeting was most interesting. Travel movies of Burma and Mexico were shown in technicolor and with sound. The films were right in keeping with our present interest in the world at large.

The members are still enthusiastic about their work for the Red Cross and are continuing their bi-weekly meetings at the home of our president, Mrs. Floyd Ramsey, to knit and sew. On February 16, our members, together with the alumnae of the other fraternities, also worked on the draft registration in answer to the request of our local draft board.

The  $\Pi B \Phi$ s have been trying to get Panhellenic to curtail summer rushing. The club feels that too much money is being spent for this and that it would be better for everyone if all the women's fraternities would agree to rush during the month of August only and have just one big party.

Our membership steadily increases.

LENORA ASH

VERMILLION

The club is carrying on with its usual monthly meetings though those members who have moved away are missed. Sylvia Hanson was welcomed back into the group after being absent a year.

The annual Christmas party with exchange of gifts was held in December and the showing of the Settlement

School films in connection with Founders' Day observance is planned.

Alumnae club members are doing their share in the Red Cross work and keep themselves busy at the informal social hour following business meeting knitting and sewing.

The traditional party for the new initiates will be held in March and entertainment for the seniors will probably be held in May.

YVONNE BELSON

KAPPA PROVINCE

ARDMORE

The Ardmore Club can report a good year with an average attendance of eighteen members at our regular monthly meetings. By assessment our members have paid for the upkeep of a British refugee child for one year ($30.00). Donations have been made to the Red Cross and USO and many members have completed courses in First Aid.

New members who have joined our club during the past year include Mrs. Jack Hart, Mrs. William Strongberg, and Mrs. Herbert Branson.

ANNA PERKINS YOUNG ADAMS

AUSTIN

The seventy-fifth anniversary of the founding of the Fraternity and the fortieth anniversary of the founding of Texas Alpha chapter were celebrated February 19 by the Austin Alumnae Club with a tea that afternoon at the home of Elizabeth Wilmot Roberdeau (Mrs. Sully B.) and a banquet that evening at the Stephen F. Austin Hotel.

The club was honored to have Mrs. Ray H. Finger, Grand Secretary, here for the observance of these anniversaries. Named as honorees with Mrs. Finger at the tea were the founders of Texas Alpha chapter and the active chapter. Anne Townes Finch (Mrs. Herbert Hoxie) was the only founder present.

Mrs. Finger's visit to Austin was a great pleasure and most worthwhile to all alumnae. The club was delighted to have Mrs. Henry Moore, Jr., Kappa Province Vice-president, also as a guest at this time. It regretted that Mrs. C. E. Granger, province president, was unable to attend because of serious illness in her family.

Margaret Pressler Barr (Mrs. Howard), who has served the club so well this year as president, moved March 1 with her husband to Houston. Lucille Camp Parrish (Mrs. Ben H.), vice-president, will serve in her place.

Hallie Orr Barton (Mrs. J. T.), corresponding secretary, has moved with her husband to New Orleans.

All alumnae are busy trying to do their part in Red Cross and civilian defense work.

On April 3, during the University of Texas annual Round-Up, the Austin Alumnae Club will entertain visiting alumnae with a morning coffee at the chapter house.

MARY MOORE SEARIGHT

JACKSON, MISSISSIPPI

The Jackson, Mississippi, Alumnae Club is now about six months old. Each month we have had our fraternity meetings well organized and arranged to carry on the business in hand. Besides our regular meetings, we have had several social gatherings of our members with the husbands present. The Wednesday afternoon get-together at one of the homes serving desserts and spending the rest of the day sewing for the Red Cross has been both profitable and enjoyable.

Since our organization in August, we have discovered several new Pi Phis who have moved into Jackson. These are meeting with us and are proving quite an inspiration and help.

We are contacting Pi Phis throughout the state and hope to celebrate Founders' Day in a big way. We hope that all Pi Phis in the surrounding territory will meet with us at this time.

Our writer, Mrs. Lamar Easterling, of whom we are very proud, is working on a new book which we hope will soon come from the press.

CORPUS CHRISTI

The Corpus Christi Alumnae Club is happy to welcome some new Pi Phis this year, and regrets the loss of other

DALLAS

The Dallas Alumnae Club of II B  $\Phi$  initiated 1942 with a joint meeting of the junior and senior groups on January 9 at the home of Mrs. J. W. Timmins. Mrs. Wirt Jones, a member of the junior group, conducted an interesting program on the Constitution and History of II B  $\Phi$ .

The February meeting, a luncheon meeting, was held at the home of Mrs. Reuben Gray. Plans were made for the annual bridge tournament for the benefit of the Settlement School. It was voted to have this tournament in spite of the war in order to carry on for the Settlement School. It was decided to relinquish plans for the Founders' Day Banquet this year and have instead a glorified cooky-shine. It was voted also to place the housing funds which have been raised by the Alumnae Club in the II B  $\Phi$  Housing Corporation at S.M.U. This money will be placed in defense bonds by the active chapter until such time as a building plan is feasible.

On February 23 the club entertained with a morning coffee honoring Mrs. Ray H. Finger, Grand Secretary. As the usual courtesy tea was not held this fall, the active and alumnae members of the Dallas Panhellenic and the mothers of the pledges were also honored. Mrs. C. E. Granger, Province President, and Dean Lide Spragins assisted the president, Mrs. Steinger, in receiving the guests. Members of the club had another opportunity to be with Mrs. Finger at the breakfast given by Mrs. Granger for her and the advisory board.

MARTHA WHITELEY GRAY

HOUSTON

Despite heavy inroads on the time of all members, the Houston Alumnae Club is bringing its 1941-42 season to a successful conclusion. The regular Settlement School Tea was held in November, at which time a large number of Arrowcraft articles were sold. Last monthly meeting brought the following interesting reports: Mrs. J. B. Smith (Margaret Tasher) has been elected President of Houston Panhellenic for the coming year, our members have now done over two hundred hours of Red Cross work, and the club is buying a defense bond. We have also contributed to the Red Cross, and have members in nearly all voluntary defense branches. We all feel that because of the national emergency, next year will bring many changes in alumnae activities, so are trying to plan ahead in so far as we can. Along these lines, we are considering holding fewer meetings, having a regular centralized meeting place which will be easy of access to all members, and we have pledged ourselves to use all surplus funds for defense bonds and activities.

MUSKOGEE

The Muskogee Alumnae Club has been busy with Red Cross work this past spring. Instead of having a meeting once a month we have been meeting every Monday night at the home of different members to do Red Cross work. The members are engaged in various activities. Some have been weaving an afghan to be given to disabled soldiers in hospitals, others are knitting sweaters and socks. We do not serve refreshments at the meeting, but each person buys a coke from the hostess and the money is donated to the Red Cross. Those members who are unable to attend night meetings have been meeting once a week in the daytime to do Red Cross work.

Each alumna has set a goal of 100 hours of Red Cross work by July 1 for herself. The penalty is 10 cents an hour for each hour under 100, and since the fine is so steep, our goal will doubtless be attained.

One of our most interesting meetings this spring took place at the home of President Martha Gibson. Jane Fite Schaller (Mrs. Frank H.), Oklahoman, was in Hawaii at the time of the Pearl Harbor disaster, and had just recently returned home. We were of course fascinated by the first hand information of her experiences.

MARY JESS THOMPSON

NORMAN

Norman Alumnae Club is enjoying a larger membership this year. We all agree that it is nice to have this increase in II B  $\Phi$  population.

With the home of Florence Wagner Johnson (Mrs. Neil) furnishing the setting, our regular monthly dinner meeting for February was a buffet supper given in honor of Oklahoma Alpha's pledge chapter. We were highly pleased to have this opportunity to become acquainted with the current group of charming pledges.

Mrs. Finger visited Oklahoma A early in March and we claimed a small share of her time for ourselves.

Our next club high-light was Founders' Day, when our group joined Oklahoma A and the Oklahoma City Alumnae Club in observance of the fraternity's anniversary. This occasion will be celebrated in Oklahoma City with the Oklahoma City Alumnae Club serving as the hostess committee.

To conclude the year's activities, we are anticipating visits from Mrs. Granger and Mrs. Moore in May.

MARY ALLYN REID

OKLAHOMA CITY

The Oklahoma City Alumnae Club meets on the first Monday of every month at the homes of different members. Either lunch or cooky-shine precedes the business and social meetings. Mrs. John Hunter Poe, Program Committee chairman, has been very efficient in arranging interesting and varied entertainment. At our February meeting she introduced a young woman, Dortha Stevenson, who has traveled extensively and who lectured to us about her last trip to Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

Attendance has been good this year in spite of several members moving away. Mrs. Walter Leo, Missouri A, and Mrs. Ben Hurst, Nebraska B, are newcomers into the club. Mrs. Will Ford has done exceptionally well with her magazine sales.

Plans were made at the meeting for the Founders' Day Banquet, and Mrs. Joel Scott Price was appointed chairman.

MRS. JAMES H. ROSS

SAN ANTONIO

The San Antonio Alumnae Club had its Settlement School program on January 14 at the home of Mrs. Herbert Smith. Miss Lucille Campbell was in charge of the program and made a very interesting talk on "My visit to Gatlinburg."

The February meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Lutch Brown. Since the program concerned the constitution of II B  $\Phi$ , a game was played called "Information Please," and a prize was awarded to the person best informed on the constitution. Many army Pi Phi came to the meeting and the San Antonio Alumnae Club welcomes them wholeheartedly.

Several San Antonio Pi Beta Phis attended the Anniversary tea and banquet in Austin on February 19. The Austin Alumnae Club issued the invitations to commemorate the 75th anniversary of Texas A, and also honoring Lois Snyder Finger.

The San Antonio Alumnae Club is very active in Red Cross and all sorts of Defense work. Panhellenic is sponsoring a work room for sewing and knitting, and the Phi Beta Phis have charge of it every Tuesday.

BETTY GALT

SHREVEPORT

The Shreveport Club has been doing its part in the all-out move for defense. It has put aside its luncheon-meetings and instead has its regular meetings at which all members are working on an afghan for the Red Cross. Also a great number of the local Pi Beta Phis are giving their time to Civilian Defense.

Mrs. Lewis K. Forrester is the new chairman of the recommendation committee.

MRS. A. N. BARNETT

STILLWATER

Naturally, the war, and the many activities connected with it, are occupying the thoughts of our members these days. Many are busy doing Red Cross work, and many are enrolled in different defense classes; but in spite of this, there has been a good attendance and much interest shown in the alumnae meetings.

At the January meeting, which was held in the home of Cynthia Berry, Eunice Buikstra, and Ruth G. Morgan were assisting hostesses. It was with much regret that the resignation of Frances Bennett was accepted. Cynthia Berry was elected to serve as president for the remainder of the year.

Hattie Graham gave an interesting and instructive talk on the Constitution, which was followed by a general discussion.

Mrs. W. E. Sundell, mother of Ruth Orr, and who is a former hostess of the Oklahoma Beta chapter, was a special guest at this meeting.

The Mothers Club and Alumnae Club held their yearly joint meeting at the chapter house on February 10. A large birthday cake with candles was a special feature of the afternoon, which was in celebration of the 75th Anniversary of the founding of II B  $\Phi$ .

RUTH G. MORGAN

TEXARKANA

The Texarkana Club had its annual summer rush party in August, 1941. Rushes and alumnae from Shreveport, Louisiana, and Hope, Ark., were also present. Pi Phi members presented an original skit attired in costume.

A meeting was held later in August at the summer home of Mrs. Henry Moore, Jr., our alumnae club president. Members from the Arkansas A chapter of the University of Arkansas were passing through Texarkana at this time and were present at the meeting.

Plans are now being made for the attendance in Austin, Tex., of members for the Texas A fortieth anniversary celebration honoring their founders. Many members of the Texarkana club were initiated at the University of Texas and are anxious to attend.

During the month of March the Texarkana club is planning a Founders' Day party to commemorate that occasion.

KATHERINE IONE STEEL

TULSA

The Tulsa Alumnae Club met on January 19 in the home of Barbara Campbell with a study of the constitution and a white elephant sale as the program for the evening. The amount of $10.65 which was realized from the sale was turned over to Red Cross.

The February meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Harold G. Lewis. At that time Oklahoma B, nearest chapter, was presented with a gift of $50.00 which was used in the purchase of a new radio-phonograph combination for the chapter house.

The high point of this meeting was a roll call of Red Cross workers. An aggregate of 303 hours of work was reported in addition to Ethel Clark's work as a knitting instructor and Charlyne Moon's and Barbara Campbell's work as staff assistants.

Welcome additions to our club are Mary Lou Cook (Mrs. Sam M.), from the Kansas City Alumnae Club and Marian Carney (Mrs. Rex), who came from the Madison, Wis., Club.

BILLINGS

The Billings Alumnae Club meets the third Tuesday of each month with dessert at 7:30. January 20, Mrs. W. V. Beers, assisted by our president, Mrs. George C. Thomas, entertained the club. After a business meeting in regard to our plans for raising money for the Loan Fund and Settlement School, a very interesting review of the Edna Ferber novel, "Saratoga Trunk" was given by Mrs. Bernet, club guest for the evening.

During the past few weeks, Mrs. Helene Williams gathered magazines from the members and other friends to sell, the proceeds to go to the Settlement School.

Mrs. Ingolv Peterson and Miss Lorie Greene were hostesses at our February 17 meeting. At this time, the nominating committee for the new officers for the March election was named, and the report of the National Panhellenic Congress was read.

Many of the Pi Phis are entering Red Cross Sewing, First Aid, and Motor Corps classes. The local Panhellenic Council sponsored a Christmas dance, for which Helene Kelly, II  $\Phi$ , was ticket chairman. The dance was well attended. However, there is no further social project planned for the rest of the year.

We are pleased this year with the attendance at our meetings, despite the fact that several members have left Billings.

LOUISE FARRELL

BOISE

The Boise Alumnae Club members are busy getting ready for their annual rummage sale. Since this sale is one of our main money-raising projects, the girls who have charge of it have a great deal to do; and all of us contribute to it.

Aside from dues our only other means of raising money this year has been through our bridge parties. Two girls act as hostesses, supplying the refreshments and the prize. We generally have two or three tables, and each guest contributes twenty-five cents. The prizes are mats from the Settlement School. In addition to the financial success of these parties, they are a success socially in that they enable us to become much better acquainted with some of the members whom we might otherwise see only once a month at our regular meetings.

We will have just three more meetings this season. Our next will be a luncheon at the home of Nell McGregor, at which time we will have election of officers. In April we will have our Founders' Day banquet, and we will close the year with our regular May picnic.

At this time our members are very active in different kinds of war work. As a group we do sewing for the Red Cross and are ready at all times to do anything we can to help our country.

BOZEMAN

The big event for Montana A and the Bozeman Club was Miss Onken's visit in February. Actives and alumnae participated in a formal dinner in her honor at the Baxter Hotel. The Christmas sale of II B  $\Phi$  cook books was so successful that the club has ordered another dozen to meet the local demand. Our monthly meetings have had varied and interesting programs, four being devoted to fraternity matters and four to informational or social affairs.

LOIS B. PAYSON

BUTTE-ANACONDA

Mrs. Stewart Avery and Miss Alice Elsie Hopkins were co-hostesses at our January meeting. Mrs. R. M. Mairs read us many interesting stories from the history concerning the very early Pi Phis. An outstanding meeting was held in February at the home of Mrs. W. S. Thompson when our guest speaker, Miss Dorothy Hannifin from a local jewelry store, entertained us with a talk on silver and a display of many beautiful pieces.

Because of sub-zero weather this winter our attendance has been small but we look forward to better attendance this spring. We are to celebrate Founders' Day with a luncheon.

HELEN MADISON MAIRS

EDMONTON

The Edmonton Alumnae Club held its January meeting at the home of Vera Langille. A Rushing Recommendations Committee was appointed with Helen Henderson as chairman. Ruth Shipley continued the Lives of Our Leaders Series with an interesting reading on the life of General Sir Alan Brooke.

We were greatly honored to have Miss Onken with us at our February meeting. This was her first visit to us since 1931, when she was present at our installation. She gave us a vivid picture of Settlement School and its activities through her own personal experiences and from her very interesting scrap-book. Betty Burke, the hostess, spoke on the life of Toscanini.

Arrangements have been made for the members of the Mothers' Club and the alumnae club to meet occasionally in small groups to knit.

Due to the efforts of our chairman, Margaret McTavish, we stand first in magazine subscriptions in Lambda Province.

The alumnae club took an active part in the preparation for the February initiation ceremony, and followed it with a cooky-shine at the house.

MRS. CRAIG LANGILLE

EVERETT

The Everett Alumnae Club had an interesting February meeting. In addition to the regular business meeting, the Club reviewed the Constitution and history of II B  $\Phi$ . Following this, Mrs. Fitzsimmons (June Sievers, Washington A), recently returned to the United States from Hawaii, told of her experiences during the bombing of Pearl Harbor. She and her two small children were on Ford Island the Sunday of the attack. Fortunately, they all escaped injury.

Plans are being made for our Founders' Day luncheon. Another meeting will be held in May, and a picnic in June will close the Club year.

MARY TURNBULL

SALEM, OREGON (NANCY BLACK WALLACE)

Our one big venture so far this spring has been our rummage sale, held February 13 and 14, the results of which were most gratifying.

Throughout the year, the club members have done their utmost to cooperate with the local Red Cross, first by giving cash donations and then by doing knitting and sewing. To date, the club has completed two afghans, forty-two dresses, and twenty-seven blankets for infants. A special vote of thanks goes to Mrs. James Brand, our sewing chairman, and to Mrs. Chester Zumwalt, our alumnae club president, for the time and effort they have expended on these projects.

The Founders' Day party promises to be a highlight on our spring calendar. Also, plans are now being made for the annual pot-luck dinner to which our husbands and friends will be invited.

NETTIE BERREMAN ROBERTS

OLYMPIA

With the approach of spring, we are making plans for interesting meetings to follow. Much of our individual interest has been so taken up this winter with various war tasks, and everyone is doing her part in volunteer work.

At our last meeting, Mrs. Wm. Lowry, who has just returned from Alaska where her husband is stationed, presented an extremely interesting discussion of her life in Alaska before it was necessary to leave.

We are all looking forward to the summer months, when we can hold our customary outdoor meetings. This has been an interesting and inspiring II  $\Phi$  year, in spite of the great crisis in which we find ourselves.

BETTY ANN ROBBINS

PORTLAND, OREGON

The Portland Alumnae Club sponsored a successful charity ball on November 22 at the Multnomah Hotel. A more recent and delightful affair was an evening bridge party held February 10 at the beautiful new home of Mrs. Milo McIver. The Valentine motif was carried out.

The Portland Alumnae Club this year has started a new method of notifying its members of the club's activities which has proved very popular. Instead of sending out cards prior to each meeting, bulletins are sent monthly to each member which include reports on the meetings of the club, announcements of meetings held by the Oregon A and Oregon B groups in Portland and personal items of interest to the local alumnae. Another innovation this year is that of making a special feature of the decoration of the tea table at each meeting. Different members of the group design the tables according to the season or with a particular idea in mind.

JANE LOWE NEALOND

PULLMAN

The Pullman Alumnae Club held its second meeting of the year at the home of Mrs. Wilbur Weisel. Reports were made and a discussion of philanthropic work of other sororities was led by Barbara Jean Clark. Knitting for the Red Cross was done during the meeting.

The election of officers will be held at the next regular meeting.

The visit of Amy B. Onken to Washington Beta chapter was indeed a great inspiration to both alumnae and actives. The alumnae enjoyed having lunch with her at the chapter house with an informal meeting following the luncheon.

FRANCES EMERSON COX

SPOKANE

The Spokane Alumnae Club held its January meeting at the new home of Janet Anthony. It was decided to eliminate our February dance and concentrate our efforts on Red Cross work. The club voted to purchase a $100.00 Defense bond from our treasury.

Due to the resignation of our President, Mrs. L. C. Rhodes (Marcella McCormick, D.C. A) and our Corresponding Secretary, Mary McCarthy, the board decided to hold the annual election of officers at the February meeting, at the home of Mrs. Vera Swann. Mrs. Donald MacLean (Helen McKenzie—Washington B) was elected president.

Mabel Morton reported that $234.22 was sent to the Settlement School from our Arrowcraft sale. The Spokane Club has charge of a booth for selling Defense stamps in one of the hotels, and a Home Nursing and Hygiene class is being organized. At the next meeting we are to make a woolen quilt for the Red Cross.

MARION VOROUS GALE

TACOMA (INEZ SMITH SOULE)

The Inez Smith Soule Alumnae Club has enjoyed a most successful year under the capable leadership of Mrs. Emil Krisman. Our meetings are held the second Tuesday of the month with a 7:00 o'clock dessert followed by the business meeting and then a social evening of bridge. The average attendance has been thirty.

The two projects undertaken this year have been very successful. In November we had our sale of Settlement School goods. Then in December we undertook to sell 300 calendars. The report given at the last meeting showed that a good profit had been derived from this project and all in all had been very successful.

In addition to aiding the U.S.O. and the Red Cross we have contributed $10 to the Red Cross and $5 to the Tacoma Community Chest.

The December meeting was a luncheon at the University Union Club honoring the actives home for the Christmas holidays. Wine and blue corsages were presented to each active. An afternoon of bridge followed the luncheon. The April meeting is to be a party for the husbands and friends. Dinner will be at Dalhem and a party at the Norman Iversen's will conclude the evening. Our meetings have been particularly interesting this year, because we have had so many new members from the eastern states, that have brought new ideas to our club.

JERRY RADIS EKBERG

SEATTLE

The Seattle Alumnae Club of II B  $\Phi$  held its annual birthday party at the new chapter house with the active girls as guests. Mrs. Horace Vanasse was the chairman for this delightful evening.

The February meeting was a spring tea at the home of Mrs. Harold Polson, and Mrs. Phillip Henderson and Mrs. James Ryan were co-chairmen. Mrs. Aubrey Wilton, Mrs. Charles Stuart, and Mrs. Darwin Meisner poured. Before tea was served Miss Gene Hughes, a II B  $\Phi$  from Wyoming, who has a program on KOMO, entertained with original readings which were greatly appreciated. After the tea hour Dr. Katherine Taylor gave a most inspirational talk.

The executive board was the guest of the president Mrs. Floyd Ellis at a lovely luncheon at her home.

All Pi Beta Phis in the northwest are active workers in our war program.

FRANCES Y. OWEN

WENATCHEE

"Strictly business" with election of officers was the program of the March meeting at the home of Alice Sylvester, but that did not cut down attendance nor dampen enthusiasm. At the January meeting, Mrs. Harri-man's book, "Mission to the North," was interestingly reviewed by Ethelyn Garrett. It is well worth reading. At the February meeting our annual program on the Constitution was varied by a True or False questionnaire. The annual Panhellenic luncheon is to be held the latter part of March with  $\Delta \Delta \Delta$  as hostess. Founders' Day will be observed with a pot-luck cooky-shine at the home of Helen Horan. We miss Florence Parr Lindston who died in January. Just a month later her father, Judge Parr, died suddenly.

ZOA BRUNS WEST

YAKIMA, WASHINGTON (FANNIE WHITENACK LIBBEY)

Many members of the Fanny Whitenack Libbey Alumnae Club live within walking distance of each others' homes so the January and February meetings had an average attendance of 16 present in spite of tire rationing and winter storms.

$10.93 was sent to Settlement School for sale of goods and orders were taken at Christmas time for these products in the amount of $14.91. No special sale has been held as yet this winter.

In March the Yakima members will go to Wapato to meet with the girls there and those from other points in the lower valley.

Founders' Day will be celebrated in April with a formal banquet in Yakima instead of in Ellensburg as planned earlier.

All 27 members have paid their dues.

ELOISE WRIGHT WEYDEMAYER

BERKELEY

The Berkeley Alumnae Club held a delightful bridge luncheon in January at the chapter house and due to an active committee headed by Mrs. Ben Gerwick and Mrs. Stuart Moorehead there were about fifty tables there. Settlement School things were on display in an upstairs room and many articles were sold or ordered, for our things are well known here.

In February, the Initiation Banquet was held at the Women's Athletic Club. There were thirteen initiated and about eighty in attendance at the banquet.

Instead of a monthly luncheon at the Claremont Hotel which has been our custom we decided to have a drop-in tea which proved most successful last month. In spite of a deluge of rain we had quite a number who brought their Red Cross knitting. We cordially welcome any newcomers to our community as the purpose of these meetings is to become better acquainted.

MARIAN MADIGAN

GLENDALE

The Glendale Club is in the middle of its club year and everyone agrees that the plan of the program committee for the year has been most successful, for the attendance and club interest has increased very much. All members are following their usual activities in church, civic and social clubs with many of them holding important offices, but we are finding many extra opportunities to serve our country in its emergency.

Ruth Mark's home was the setting for the February meeting; dessert at one o'clock with a short business session, which was followed by a delightful reading of the popular play "Arsenic and Old Lace" by Pauline Tompkins, California A.

The March meeting at Irene Ingham's promises to be very interesting and enlightening. Miss Isabelle Hanbury, recognized authority on etiquette and English, who conducts the Hanbury College of Cultural Subjects, will speak to the members and guests on "What Makes a Woman Interesting." This will also be a dessert luncheon, because we are urged to avoid group meetings at night.

We are sorry to miss seeing those of our members who are occupied during the day, but we are looking forward to many happy reunions on April 18, when the Pasadena Club and ours will celebrate together the 75th anniversary of the founding of our beloved II B  $\Phi$  at an attractive and festive luncheon. Especially invited guests will be the national officers and committee members (past and present) and I.C. members who are in this vicinity.

After the April meeting the members will get the final things done for the closing of the club year. There will be another rummage sale in order to aid us in meeting all obligations. This method of raising money is still our most successful one.

BARBARA PARR

LONG BEACH

December 7 has made its mark on history and there is no doubt many clubs have found their activities changed. Long Beach surely has. Time had been given for Red Cross sewing at each meeting since last fall but now there is sewing, knitting, and much talk about the First Aid Training lessons. Along the same line is the voluntary collection of small change, the amount collected each meeting to buy defense stamps. Mrs. Arthur B. Cockrum (Lula Davis, Oregon A) was appointed Defense Chairman. She also was elected to be II B  $\Phi$  Panhellenic representative. Mrs. Noel Gurten (Gertrude Ayliffe, Oregon B) served in 1941 and much to the club's credit. The meetings since the first of the year have been dinner affairs. More money is made and dinner at six-thirty is better than dessert at eight.

Again this year recognition pins will be awarded by the Long Beach Club to the girls in the two nearest chapters who have shown the greatest improvement in grades.

The February board meeting was held the twenty-fourth and there was much comment about the hostess blackout curtains and if they were really needed. That question was very definitely settled with the passing of at least fifteen foreign planes over Long Beach. It was stated in the papers and over the radios on the twenty-fifth and twenty-sixth that imaginations were working overtime; but now it is admitted planes were really the object of all the antiaircraft fire. It was thrilling but too close for comfort.

MARJORIE WHITNEY PRATT

LOS ANGELES

Having experienced our first series of blackouts in December, we waited almost impatiently to see what January would bring. However, luck was with us and January 9 was beautiful. The regular meeting, held at the picturesque home of Mae Corner high above Benedict Canyon, found a goodly number of Pi Phi glad to be together again. Helen Waugh, our PVP, presented "Constitutional Highlights" in a way that was both informative and entertaining. Joseph Copp, Jr., illustrated his talk on "Co-ordinating Garden Planting with Interior Color Schemes" with quantities of fresh flowers and samples of interiors. Ethel Copp, National Chairman of the Settlement School Committee, spoke briefly concerning our national philanthropy.

As we had had no rain for several weeks, the arrival of the date set for the Settlement School Benefit called for a change in the weather. IT RAINED! In spite of this fact and thanks to the splendid cooperation of committees and membership, the affair was a distinct success netting some $400.00 for the school. What is a little rain outside when good food, an excellent program, and good fellowship are to be found within doors?

Los Angeles Pi Phi are extremely busy with many phases of war work. Our own unit of the Hospital and Recreation Corps of the American Red Cross is operating in three fields: One at our Recreation Hut for the World War I Veterans, one at the Blood Donor Service Center, and one in our Recreation room in the barracks established for the use of the new soldiers now on duty in this area.

HELEN TRIMBLE SORESENSEN

MARIN COUNTY

Blackouts and air raid drills in Marin County, Calif., did not prevent the Marin Alumnae of II B  $\Phi$  from holding their children's Christmas party December 10 at the home of Mrs. Roy A. Brown. The affair brought together mothers, their children, friends' children, and several little girls from Sunny Hills Orphanage. One of the alumnae, Mrs. Claire O'Neill, is superintendent at Sunny Hills. The Christmas tree of white was decorated in red and blue. It bore candy canes, cellophane bags of candy and small gifts for each child. While the children were busy with games under the supervision of the hostess' daughter, Barbara Brown, who is majoring in education at Dominican College, the elders visited and enjoyed eggnogs. The children had their own refreshment table.

February 14 the Marin Alumnae had a Sweetheart's Party at the home of Major and Mrs. Eugene Robinson in San Anselmo. The party was a buffet supper. Partners were found by matching famous lovers, Romeo and Juliet were there as well as "Frankie and Johnnie." Most informal and entertaining was the evening's program which had as a feature an "Information Please" type of contest.

Mrs. Roy Mahrt entertained the Marin Alumnae on March 11 when the Constitution and History were featured. Mrs. J. R. George, Jr., president, was honored at a stork shower.

HAZEL W. BROWN

PALO ALTO

The regular January meeting was held at the home of Lillian Griffin, and as there was no Red Cross sewing available we made garments for the children at the Stanford Convalescent Home. In February we met with Marie Owen on the Stanford campus. The pledges from the chapter house were invited to meet the alumnae and some of the active members also came. Because of the war we are not attempting any benefits this year but are displaying and selling Settlement School articles. The Piggy Bank is also being filled with donations for the school.

M. SMITH

PASADENA

Pasadena Pi Beta Phi's, like all other loyal Americans, have turned their foremost energies to Defense work. Almost every member is busy in the particular field in which she feels she can be most useful.

They are nevertheless keeping up their Alumnae group activities in as far as it is feasible at this time. The March meeting which is to be a luncheon held at the home of Mrs. Robert H. Peddycord (Alice Lodge), is to be high-lighted by a talk by Lillian Rivers of the staff of K.M.P.C., on "Child Behaviors and Reactions under War Conditions." Mrs. Rivers has made a study of the children of London who have been subjected to war raids, and her conclusions and suggestions will undoubtedly prove beneficial in case our own children should be forced to endure similar experiences.

The club is feeling justly proud of two of its members who have received signal recognition. Mrs. Raymond Selph (Lois Dorn, Oregon B), who last year had charge of the Arrow Craft products for Settlement School, has recently won three prizes for her own handicraft—her beautiful hooked rugs being selected by the judges at the Pomona County Fair. Mrs. Robert Peddycord (Alice Lodge, Washington B), had a most interesting article dealing with an original way of meeting the problems of holiday entertaining of family groups, published in the December issue of Better Homes and Gardens magazine.

MABEL MCKAY PETERSON

PHOENIX

Ruth Brinker Muth (Colorado B) sponsored a dinner in February. Each member was assessed a small fee which gave a profit of $12 for the treasury. Following the business meeting, our wits were tried with a constitutional quiz.

In March, Sarah McReynolds Sanders (Arizona A), displayed flower arrangements at her home and introduced a guest speaker. Election of officers was held, and plans for Founders' Day celebration were made.

MARGARET FLORIAN

SALT LAKE CITY

With the close of rush week on the Utah campus the last of January the alumnae club as usual took charge of the cooky-shine for the new pledges. Due to an illness in her family Mrs. C. W. Brewer was unable to take charge as planned and so Martha Covey (Mrs. Theron), alumnae club president, assumed the responsibility assisted by the other club officers. Buffet luncheon was served to approximately 120 guests who were all in a most festive mood since the active chapter pledged 26 out of the 27 girls rushed.

The alumnae club was very happy to have as guest at the February meeting Ruth Barret Smith who gave a very interesting talk on the Settlement School and other highlights of her recent trip to the various chapters throughout the country. Pauline Gardner presented an outline and review of the constitution preceding Mrs. Smith's talk.

The March meeting which will have as chairman Mrs. Ralph W. Duvall will be strictly a business meeting at which time the problems of the year both local and national will be discussed.

GERRY GALLAGHER HAYS

SAN DIEGO

San Diego Alumnae Club has had meetings the fourth Monday evening of each month at the home of members.

The January meeting was at the home of Maxine Harris Stanford, president, at which time Red Cross First Aid and the Settlement School Benefit were discussed.

Helen Scholander, a member with excellent training in First Aid, started a class of eight in her home. The girls brought friends and neighbors until it increased to forty-five. Now she has organized the group in two classes, meeting twice a week at the Y.W.C.A., one morning class and one evening class for business girls. Mrs. C. B. Ireland and Mrs. M. P. Moeser are doing fine Red Cross work in National City, also. Many members are working with church and community groups and at the homes.

The Club is planning a Settlement School Benefit Tea at the lovely home of the Misses Peery on Founders' Day. Mrs. Allen Perry is making an extensive selection of Arrow Craft goods for sale and display. In these hard days of defense work, the Settlement School needs help more than ever.

The February meeting was a tea on Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. H. Busch, Jr.

Panhellenic has been furnishing hostesses for Service men on Sunday afternoons at the Y.W.C.A. On February 1 about twelve Pi Phi took home made cookies and helped serve punch and entertain the boys and the girls invited for them.

The defense program of expansion in every branch of the service is being felt in the Club. We are getting new members and wish to extend a special welcome to Pi Phi who come to San Diego to live and ask them to notify the secretary when they arrive.

MYRTLE H. HARBAUGH

SAN FRANCISCO

In January, the San Francisco Alumnae Club was entertained at a dessert luncheon at the home of Theo Swan Hendee. The afternoon was spent in knitting, and in planning for participation of club members in various Red Cross activities. It was decided that the club will make a gift of mobile auxiliary lights, to be used in emergency operations in case of the failure of electric current. These are for use in the twelve medical units established in San Francisco's defense program. These lamps cost $25 each, and it is our hope to be able to buy several of them. To defray the expenses of this undertaking, a raffle of Defense Bonds is planned, and also a series of monthly book reviews to be conducted by Ruth Christesen Hergert at the homes of members. The first of these reviews was given in February and proved most enjoyable.

Instead of the usual evening cooky-shine, members met for a Valentine breakfast on Sunday morning, February 15, at the Cliff House. Ninety dozen home-made cookies were contributed to the Cooky-Brigade, to be used that evening by one of the local forts in the entertainment of troops. Members will bring cookies to each regular meeting hereafter as a contribution to the Cooky-Brigade.

San Francisco alumnae are looking forward to the Founders' Day luncheon which is scheduled for April 11, and which will be held in San Francisco this year, in conjunction with the Berkeley, Marina, and Peninsula Alumnae Clubs, and the two active chapters in the Bay area. At that time it is our hope to be able to show the Settlement School pictures.

ESTELLA C. BAGLEY

SAN JOSE CLUB

The II B Phi Alumnae Club of San Jose has not much news at the moment. We were not nearly as successful this year with the annual sale, due perhaps to a number of things. It is war time and the minds of all are given almost completely to work, either war or commercial jobs. There are just ten of us and all but two or three are employed. We have kept up the meetings, and sold some things now and then and kept up magazine subscriptions, too. All are in some sort of Red Cross activity or War work too. One member is hostess at the local U.S.O. Hut. I think all such activities are a part of II Phi or rather II Phi is a part of them.

SANTA MARIA—SAN LUIS OBISPO

Since the outbreak of war we have been unable to have our regular scheduled meetings. The few in San Luis Obispo have gotten together and done Red Cross sewing on our meeting days, but due to military convoys on the highway it was best to give up for the time being the joint meeting of the two groups.

We are very proud of our magazine subscriptions. The credit for our extraordinary showing is due to the efforts of our magazine chairman, Marjorie Hall.

We hope to have a joint meeting during the month of March, to be held at the home of Mrs. Thomas.

We have been fortunate in having three Pi Phi whose husbands are in military service and stationed in our vicinity active in our group. We have made a special effort to contact army wives in our locality.

Most of our members are very busy with various branches of Red Cross work.

NORMA H. NOGGLE

SANTA BARBARA AND VENTURA

The Santa Barbara-Ventura Alumnae Club has had a successful and enjoyable winter season, although the war has caused our Ventura members to miss two of our meetings. The December meeting immediately followed the entrance of the United States into the war and test blackouts were so frequent that travel between Santa Barbara and Ventura was impossible. The January meeting was held and our president from Ventura was present together with the other members from that city. At this meeting we made our plans for our usual gifts to the Settlement School and Loan Fund and sold quite a good deal of Settlement School merchandise.

In February, however, again our meeting was scheduled for the day after the shelling of Ellwood, Calif., by the Japanese submarine. Ellwood is twelve miles from Santa Barbara and of course blackouts were again too numerous for travel from Ventura. All of us are earnestly hoping that there will be no further reason for blackouts, and that our Founders' Day celebration may take place with all members attending.

ANNE MCFARLAND

SAN MATEO COUNTY

All the members of the San Mateo County Club are occupied with the various activities pertaining to the war effort; such as courses in First Aid, Air-raid Precaution, and Home Nursing, as well as knitting and sewing for Red Cross.

At the February meeting Mrs. Plate told of the work of the San Francisco League for Service Men. This League is designed to distribute all the many small items essential to the comforts and convenience of the men in service who have many lonesome hours in quarters. All the work is carried on by voluntary contributions of money, books, cigarettes, stamped postal cards, and other necessities. It was agreed that we adopt this as our Club's especial endeavor and a free-will offering started our fund.

The regular business meeting in March is to be election of officers and study of the Constitution. Plans have not yet been made for Founders' Day Luncheon in April but the San Mateo Club is always well represented.
