Message From The First Lady

THE WHITE HOUSE

October 10, 1990

Dear Members of Pi Beta Phi,

What a great pleasure it is to learn of "Links to Literacy" and how happy I am that your group has taken on this very important philanthropic effort!

I was delighted to hear that Pi Phi was a pioneer in literacy efforts—first through Pi Beta Phi Settlement School, and then through Arrow in the Arctic. But your recommitment to promoting literacy throughout North America is especially timely and needed.

As an ardent advocate for literacy, I truly believe that our nation depends, in spirit and action, on a literate populace. When I find that volunteer organizations like Pi Beta Phi share my belief and are willing to give of their time, talent, and resources, I know that we can all look forward to a more literate America.

I hope you appreciate the great potential you have for making a difference in the lives of other human beings—I do, and I thank you for making literacy one of the links in your chain of service.

With all best wishes,
Warmly,

Barbara Bush

I am so thrilled that you have taken on this project! Thank you.

INTRODUCING

PI BETA PHI FOUNDATION

One of the most exciting and important things to happen in the Fraternity in a long time is the establishment of the Pi Beta Phi Foundation. Incorporated as a non profit corporation in the state of Missouri on February 21, 1990, the Foundation received its official letter of exemption from the Internal Revenue Service under Code Section 501(c)3 on August 20, 1990. This step was taken only after careful consideration by Grand Council and with advice and direction from legal counsel specializing in tax law. Former Grand Council member Ann Dudgeon Phy will serve as the Foundation's first president. She is joined on the Board of Trustees by Adrienne Hiscox Mitchell, Secretary; Mary Ann Behlen Hruska, Treasurer; Carolyn Helman Lichtenberg; and Carol Inge Warren.

Our Foundation will help fund scholarships, collegiate and alumnae programming, historic preservation and Fraternity philanthropies. Through the Foundation, Pi Phi will be better able to provide for a financially sound future in that many of the fund-raising efforts of the Fraternity will eventually be joined under the umbrella of the Foundation. In this vein, the previously announced fund-raising plans of

Ann Dudgeon Phy
President
Pi Beta Phi Foundation

Arrowmont will be combined with the Foundation's efforts over the next several years.

Presently, Foundation Trustees and committee members, under the direction of Past Grand President, Jean Wirths Scott, are conducting twelve regional brainstorming meetings across the country. The purpose of these meetings is to explore possible courses of action for Pi Phi educational and leadership programming, identifying areas where our members believe that Pi Phi can make a significant difference. Phase I of this effort, involving the twelve sessions, will be completed in early 1991, and Phase II directed at refining the information which has been gathered will take place before convention in June, 1991. The goal of the Foundation is to focus on those educational and philanthropic issues which will be germane to the future while permitting us to retain the best of our Pi Beta Phi traditions.

Contributions to the Foundation are deductible to the full extent permitted by law. This offers Fraternity members the opportunity to give to Pi Phi programs more generously than in the past. Since its inception, the Pi Beta Phi Foundation had received numerous memorial donations and a variety of other gifts. Memorial gifts may be sent to the Pi Beta Phi Foundation, 7730 Carondelet, Suite 333, St. Louis, Missouri 63105.

Pi Phi is one of the last women's fraternities to establish a foundation and we are striving to be the best. Though each group has approached this type of endeavor in a somewhat different fashion, this is an area where there is a truly Panhellenic spirit. The sharing by our Greek colleagues of both their positive and negative experiences is beneficial as we move through the first year of the Pi Beta Phi Foundation.

Call to Convention

Pi Phis will be taking "Pride in Our Past" and planning for "Promise in Our Future" as we gather to meet in St. Louis for Pi Beta Phi's 58th biennial convention.

On June 22-27 the beautiful Adam's Mark Hotel, in the shadow of the Arch and on the banks of the scenic Mississippi River, will be the location of this historic gathering.

Literally at the center of St. Louis' rich history, the Adam's Mark Hotel will be the center of . . .

Pi Phi friendship and comraderie, inspiration and education, important business sessions, dynamic speakers, festive meal events, special surprises and unique Pi Phi fun . . .

Plan to make way to the Gateway to the West, to the city that introduced the world to the hot dog and the ice cream cone . . .

Come join us on June 22-27 by the Gateway Arch to take . . . "Pride in Our Past . . . Promise in Our Future."

Recreation Day Tours

Tuesday, June 25, 1991

Pi Beta Phi Tour

Cost $28.00

After enjoying lunch in the cabanas of Busch's Grove, a St. Louis favorite since the 1890s, you will have the afternoon to investigate the shops of Market Place of Ladue including the Sign of the Arrow Shop, a philanthropy of Pi Beta Phi's St. Louis Alumnae Club. You will then tour Central Office and Pi Beta Phi archives. Your day will end with a tour of the History Museum and a drive through Forest Park, site of the 1904 World's Fair.

St. Louis City —Old & New

Cost $27.00

You will begin your delightful introduction to St. Louis on the historic riverfront where St. Louis had its beginning. After traveling the cobblestone streets of Laclède's Landing, you will see and hear how Eads Bridge, the Gateway Arch, the Old Courthouse and many other prominent St. Louis landmarks all contributed to the history of St. Louis. Following lunch at the St. Louis Women's Club, you will tour Pi Beta Phi Central Office, and the magnificent St. Louis Cathedral with the largest collection of mosaics in the western world. Your day will end with a visit to the History Museum in Forest Park for a specially planned guided tour.

Grant's Farm Tour

Cost $26.00

After lunch and a brief tour of one of two historic city homes, the Lemp Mansion or DeMenil House, you will spend the afternoon at Grant's Farm, the country estate of the late August A. Busch. The property was originally owned by Ulysses S. Grant, the 18th president of the United States. A trackless train will take you through the beautiful grounds and game preserve. You will see the trophy room, stables and Mr. Busch's antique carriage collection at the Bauerhof, as well as Grant's Cabin and the world famous Clydesdales.

Missouri Botanical Garden

Cost $25.00

Relax with a picnic in the park and a walk through the gardens . . . your picnic lunch will be catered in one of the ornate gazebos of Tower Grove Park, the finest example of a Victorian Park in the United States. You will then begin a walking tour of the Missouri Botanical Garden which was modeled after the Kew Gardens in England. The garden is known for its wide variety of floral and woodland gardens including the Climatron, a mammoth geodesic-domed greenhouse and seiwa-en, the country's largest Japanese Garden.

Please note—Lunch will not be served at the hotel on Recreation Day. Tours depart the hotel at 12:30 and return by 5:00 p.m. Tours are limited in the numbers they can accommodate. Casual clothing and comfortable shoes are recommended. (No shorts on the St. Louis City Tour, please.)

Post-Convention Tour

Holt House

Thursday,
June 27, 1991

8:00 a.m.—

9:30 p.m.

Cost $68.00

On the Post-Convention Tour, you will travel to Holt House in Monmouth, Illinois. You will have the opportunity to learn of your heritage while visiting the room where Pi Beta Phi Fraternity was founded. Holt House has been beautifully restored and serves as a meeting place for Pi Beta Phi and community groups, serving the dual purpose of memorial to our founders and an integral part of the college and community life.

After lunch at Monmouth College, you will have the afternoon to walk about Monmouth at leisure. In addition to a guided tour of Holt House, you can visit the Pi Beta Phi lounge dedicated to Amy Burnham Onken in Hewes Library, the chapel where the founders wore arrows in their hair, the Illinois Alpha Chapter room at Marshall Hall, and the cemetery where five of the founders are buried.

A trip to Monmouth will be by air-conditioned motorcoach by way of the Mississippi River. Tour guides will describe the history of the area and you will visit Hannibal, Missouri, the boyhood home of Mark Twain. You will then travel along the scenic Great River Road for a glimpse of an early Mormon settlement in Nauvoo, Illinois.

The Post-Convention Tour will depart from the Adam's Mark at 8:00 a.m. The hotel will be serving a continental breakfast prior to departure time. In addition to the luncheon in Monmouth, refreshments will be provided in the morning and supper will be served en route to St. Louis. Arrangements have been made with the Adam's Mark for an additional night at the convention rate. Casual dress and comfortable shoes are recommended.

Pi Beta Phi Salutes Marianne Reid Wild

On August 5, 1990 the Fraternity and the Foundation honored one of Pi Phi's greatest ladies, Marianne Reid Wild. Former Grand Council members, national officers and friends of Marianne's were present at a luncheon held in her honor. Many who were not able to attend, sent written greetings.

Marianne considers the Fraternity to be her family. With the advent of the Foundation, Marianne was able to make provisions for Pi Phi in her will, naming Pi Phi as the major beneficiary.

Pi Beta Phi expresses deep gratitude to Marianne for her generosity, service, leadership and friendship.

Marianne Reid grew up in Topeka, Kansas. She attended the University of Kansas where she majored in journalism. Marianne always had an interest in writing. Her family owned a newspaper in Leavenworth, Kansas so it was natural for her to gravitate toward journalism.

In 1924, Marianne pledged Pi Phi. She tells with delight stories about her years as a chapter member. Days spent on the porch swing of the Kansas Alpha house are some of her favorite memories. The story of the beginning of the Cookie Shine she tells as if she were present, the heritage of her chapter still so dear in her heart.

In 1926, Marianne Reid married Bob Wild. The young couple lived in Indianapolis.

From 1929 to 1931, Marianne was the president of the Indianapolis Alumnae Club. In 1929 Marianne represented the Indianapolis Alumnae Club as convention delegate. The convention was in Pasadena, California at the Hotel Huntington. Marianne, along with 245 others, rode "The Special," the Pi Beta Phi convention train which departed from Chicago. Marianne reminisces, "On the train I got to know Libbie Brook (Gaddis) and Mrs. (Clara Brownlee) Hutchinson and the two Richardson sisters (charter members of Kansas Alpha). I felt I had arrived."

Though Marianne has attended 26 conventions, she still believes her first convention was her favorite. Marianne tells of a highlight of the convention, "It had been a foggy day, the first day of the session and everyone was a bit gloomy. Then the founders were escorted in. The sun came out—it was just like a magic story. That was the most thrilling moment in my life." The founders present at the 1929 Convention were Libbie Brook Gaddis, Clara Brownlee Hutchison, Fannie Whitenack Libby and Inez Smith Soule.

Marianne was elected Delta Province Vice President in 1931. At the time, she was also a member of the Indiana Gamma Alumnae Advisory Committee and was interested in dramatics and League of Women Voters.

Marianne became the Assistant to the Grand Vice President in 1934. The Grand Vice President at the time was Ruth Barrett Smith. After twelve years in that position, she became Grand Vice President in 1946.

That was the year she met Alice

Weber (Mansfield) Johnson. Alice tells the story of their meeting. "It was 1946 at the Swampscott, Massachusetts Convention. I was the delegate from St. Louis, Missouri. St. Louis had always been supportive of the Settlement School. That year we had tried and tried and had hoped to give the most of anybody, which at that time was $1,000. I wanted my club to have the credit, so I tried to think of whom to write. I thought, well here's one—Assistant to the Grand Vice President. And I wrote to her. I went to convention and was amazed to find that that Assistant to the Grand Vice President went to the trouble to find me at this big convention and say, 'I got your letter, that's wonderful. I'm glad St. Louis is doing that and they will have the credit.' And there's a friendship that just was."

Marianne served as Grand Vice President for six years, until 1952 when she succeeded Amy Burnham Onken as Grand President. Alice Johnson said that Amy Burnham Onken waited until '46 to retire when she thought Marianne was ready. She had wanted Marianne to be the one to replace her.

Some thought it would be difficult to follow in Miss Onken's footsteps, but Marianne embraced the challenge. She still remembers the advice given to her by Miss Onken when she became Grand President. Miss Onken said, "I know there will be things you will want to change, but try them the way they are for a while. Then you will know better what you need to change."

Alice Johnson, at the luncheon, commented on Marianne's leadership style. "I worked very closely with Marianne through the years. I learned to admire her approach to problems. Marianne doesn't do things quickly, she looks at all the angles and then she points the course and we go the right way, we always did." She went on, "Once in a while we did disagree. One of the most horrible and wonderful things you do on Pi Phi's Grand Council is choose the award winners. There was one time the Council couldn't agree and the two people who couldn't agree were Marianne and me. Everybody else would go either way. We went back to our rooms, which were adjoining, and we kept on talking. I thought, well, Marianne's always right, I know she's right, I'll just vote her way. So on the way down I said, 'Let's take the vote right away, I'm giving in.' So we took the vote and it was not unanimous. Marianne had changed her mind too."

Marianne held the office of Grand President from 1952 to 1958. In the middle of her term she was able to return to the site of her first convention, Pasadena, California, to preside as Grand President. At that convention she witnessed her own chapter, Kansas Alpha, win the Balfour Cup.

In 1958 the Fraternity changed the structure of Grand Council to include an NPC delegate. This position was previously held by the Grand President. That year Marianne resigned her position as Grand President to become NPC Delegate. She held that position on Council from 1958-62, thereby representing Pi Phi for a total of ten years as NPC Delegate.

At the working convention of 1966, Marianne was named Grand President Emeritus. Marianne's influence on individual Pi Phis and the Fraternity has continued even in recent years. In 1982 an award was established to honor Marianne. The alumnae award recognizes those clubs which have significantly added to the membership growth of the alumnae department. The award was donated by the Maryland-D.C. Suburban Alumnae Club.

Alice Johnson, Marianne Wild and Amy Onken at the 1958 Convention Banquet.

Marianne and Sarah "Sis" Mullis, Director of Alumnae Advisory Committees, share a special moment at the luncheon honoring Marianne.

During Marianne's term as Grand President Emeritus, the Fraternity celebrated its 100 year anniversary. While she was Grand President, Pi Beta Phi grew to more than 100 collegiate chapters. Marianne, herself, presided over eight installations while NPC Delegate and Pi Phi's Chairman of Extension.

Marianne's dedication to the Fraternity is as strong today as ever. She keeps abreast of fraternity news and happenings. When asked what she thought of Pi Phi's recent colonizations at Ivy League campuses, Marianne replied, "I think Pi Phi gets a good quality student there. It is nice that they (Ivy League schools) are now represented because you get a different type of alumna."

Marianne Reid's initiation certificate is dated February 22, 1924. It was signed by Grand President Amy Burnham Onken. The same Amy Burnham Onken Marianne succeeded as Grand President. Marianne has been a Pi Phi for 66 years. Of those 66 years, she has served as a national officer for 54 years, 24 of those years as Grand President Emeritus. She has seen and lived a side of Pi Phi many of us could only dream of—meeting four of Pi Phi's founders, serving on Grand Council, working with such Pi Phi greats as May L. Keller, Amy Burnham Onken and Olivia Smith Moore. When asked if there was one Pi Phi she particularly admired, Marianne replied with a smile, "Well, no, I think they're all pretty special." We think you are pretty special too, Marianne.

Lisa Kellogg, Jennifer Short and Kim Williams participated in "Big Sweep '90" at Duke University. These three North Carolina Betas along with other Duke students and seventh and eighth graders from Durham Middle Schools, combed the beaches of nearby Jordan Lake for styrofoam, aluminum cans, and fishing wire. "Big Sweep '90" was sponsored by the Duke Panhellenic and Interfraternity Councils in conjunction with a state-wide effort to clean up North Carolina's coastlines and to promote environmental responsibility. Nearly 600 pounds of trash were collected in one afternoon.

Kimberly and Jennifer are also active in environmental issues within the university. They, along with New York Gamma Pam Dorion, are presently members of a student run environmental organization that is lobbying for a school law to prohibit the use of disposable plastic cups on campus.

Throughout the year, Pi Phis at Miami University save their aluminum cans in anticipation of the annual Can Count sponsored by Panhellenic. Each pledge class then participates in the Can Count Competition. The object is to have the most cans and make a "sculpture" or design with the cans. Last year the Ohio Zeta pledge class received first place for their angel design. The money collected was donated to charity.

Virginia Delta members are participating in the Virginia Department of Transportation's "Adopt-a-Highway" program. In order to adopt a highway, individuals, organizations or businesses agree to keep approximately two miles of selected highway clear of litter for a two year period. In exchange, volunteers are provided with materials to assist them with the cleanup and a sign bearing their name is posted at the beginning of the section of highway.

Colorado Gamma is lending its support to The Rocky Mountain Raptor Program (RMRP), a local not for profit organization dedicated to providing medical care and rehabilitation to injured birds of prey (raptor) and environmental education to the public. Founded in 1979 at Colorado State University, the RMRP is a community-based volunteer program funded in part by the Colorado Division of Wildlife.

Ohio Iota is participating in a campus wide project called Adopt-a-Dumpster. The purpose of the project is to emphasize keeping the University of Dayton campus clean. Each group was assigned a dumpster to maintain. The group was then able to decorate the dumpster, giving recognition to those groups who contribute to the cause.

The Virginia Gamma Chapter at the College of William and Mary has been recognized by the Campus Conservation Coalition as having the best recycling program on campus.

The pledge class of Kentucky Gamma at Eastern Kentucky University chose Adopt-a-Highway as a pledge service project. The pledge class received a two mile section of Interstate 25 which they are to maintain.

The biology club at Indiana-Purdue University at Fort Wayne has set up recycling boxes for aluminum cans across the campus. Indiana Eta Lara Grubb is a member of the biology club and has participated in this project.

Michigan Gammas joined in the efforts of Michigan State University to recycle and save waste by starting "Pi Phis for the Planet." Nicole Gladner and Cheri Medendorp came up with the idea. They are trying to get other fraternities and sororities involved in recycling by having Pi Phis go to their meetings and present information to them on the benefits of recycling. Posters will be displayed at the other group's houses and boxes to collect returnables will be brought to them. In addition, Pi Phi members work at two recycling stations in the community a few times each month.

Arkansas Alphas at the University of Arkansas have taken some advice from the book, "Fifty Simple Things You Can Do to Save the Earth." The chapter members have decided to curb the amount of "junk mail" received. By writing to Mail Preference Service and making a simple request, your name will no longer be sold to the larger mailing list companies, reducing junk mail by 75%. At Arkansas Alpha, a form letter was produced and distributed to members who merely had to fill in some details and place it in the mail.

Virginia Zetas at Virginia Tech collected more than 5,000 pounds of newspapers and thousands of aluminum cans in only one semester.

Holly Dimond, of Washington Alpha, formed a Recycling Interest Group within the chapter. Holly also started a program with a local recycling company to provide service to the Greek system at the University of Washington. To encourage involvement with the new program, Holly was able to get a local radio station to sponsor a dance for the top recycling chapter on campus. The Pi Phi chapter won first place. The program resulted in more than 20,000 pounds of glass, aluminum and cardboard being recycled.

Texas Eta is participating in a year-long Panhellenic recycling competition at Texas A & M University.

Oklahoma Alphas at the University of Oklahoma have made many changes to make the chapter more environmentally aware and ecologically efficient. The chapter has elected an Energy Chairman, Karen Heckman, who is in charge of the chapter's efforts. The chapter now recycles aluminum cans and paper. Members are encouraged to save electricity by turning off lights when not in use. A long lasting tradition was changed because of environmental concern. The chapter no longer releases all of the balloons used during rush because of the waste and damage to the environment. Participation in the annual "Balloon Blast-Off" was cancelled because of the same concern.

The University of Central Florida actively supports recycling as part of its Greek Week. There is a competition for the most pounds of aluminum cans collected by a Greek organization. Florida Epsilon members have been collecting cans in preparation for the competition.

Mississippi Alphas Hillary Ashcraft and Lisa McCarty are active members in many environmental groups including the University of Southern Mississippi Recycling Committee and Magnolia Rainforest Action Group.

Pennsylvania Beta Pi Phi at Bucknell University and Alabama Gammas at Auburn are participating in an Adopt-a-Highway program through their Panhellenic Councils. Different Panhellenic groups volunteer to clean two miles of local highway during the year.

Terri Nadlicki, Anne Meyer, Liza Dodson, Beth Lee, Kim Lefoldt, Jill Miller, Sarah Tegethoff, Katherine Fowler, Rebecca Harper, Lisa Andreini, Tiffnay Norton, Jill Henry, Kelly Davis are among the Mississippi Betas who are involved in the University of Mississippi's Students for Environmental Awareness group. Liza Dodson has been the committee chairman for tree planting for the past two years. Kelly Davis, committee chairman of fund-raising, succeeded in raising several thousand dollars and was invited to head a fund-raising workshop at a nation-wide environmental convention.

Several Alabama Betas serve on the Alabama Conservancy Committee, organized to promote awareness of environmental and ecological issues. Other members showed their support by assisting a campus organized concert to benefit Earth Day 1990. The chapter also contributed to the Greenpeace Society in their effort to protect Alabama dolphins off the Gulfcoast.

Each year Iowa Betas take part in Campus Day, a day set aside to clean up Simpson College and the community. Also, at each meeting, a member reads from the book, "Fifty Simple Things You Can Do to Save the Earth."

Colorado Alpha members were active in the University of Colorado's Walk and Bike Day. The object of the day was to encourage people to walk or ride their bikes to their destinations instead of driving cars.

The Missouri Gamma Chapter at Drury College participates in a semesterly downtown cleanup in order to beautify the city.

California Thetas Dani Todd and Emily Gould were the first Greek women to join the University of California-Davis group "Project Recycle." Together they produced a form letter and made follow up calls which have led to tremendous amounts of Greek recycling. The Pi Phi chapter at Davis won the Greek Week recycling competition this year.

Kansas Betas have "adopted a Shoreline" at nearby Tuttle Creek Reservoir close to the Kansas State University campus. Pi Phis are responsible for maintaining the mile of shoreline they have adopted.

Maine Alphas participate in Maine Day each year. On this day, campus groups, residence halls and Greek organizations are encouraged to do things to improve or protect the environment.

Colorado Delta Susan Wester founded Earthworks, the first environmentally conscious group on the Colorado School of Mines campus. The main objective of Earthworks is to educate the students of CSM in the environmental science needs. The plans for Earthworks this fall were to solicit corporate funding to bring some speakers to campus and to support future projects such as implementing a drastically needed recycling program at CSM.

Keri Deguisto, California Iota, began launching a campaign within the Pi Phi chapter at California State University at Chico and then moved on to the community. Pledges at CSU Chico may receive a link by taking containers to a local recycling center.

Pennsylvania Zetas Melanie Stahlman and Alison Youngwood are officers of Student Activists For the Environment (S.A.F.E.) at Washington and Jefferson.

Illinois Iota's 1990 pledge class participated in a football clean-up. After one of the home football games, they picked up litter in the parking lot as well as areas surrounding the Illinois State University stadium.

Iowa Beta has four members who are Student Ambassadors, Jill Guess, Sahe Gorman, Megan Moul and Maureen Sullivan. Student Ambassadors are very involved in the recruiting process at Simpson College.

This year five Oregon Gammas were among the 35 members of Willamette's Opening Days staff. Opening Days is the freshman orientation program at Willamette. Ashley Boyd, Andrea Morris, Diane Morton, Joanne Lytle and Jennifer Cain helped organize recreational activities as well as educational programs.

Several Florida Betas are involved in the Student Alumni Foundation. This group provides a liaison between the university's alumni and students. Cathy Unger, (bottom right) is the current president of the organization.

Oregon Gamma Christina Bruce is the number 2 runner on the women's cross country team at Willamette University. To date, she has placed in every meet in which she has competed.

Virginia Gammas Lori Runkle and Elizabeth Miller from the College of William and Mary studied in Florence, Italy last summer. For four weeks, they studied Italian and art history.

Ohio Alphas from Ohio University anticipate the arrival of their new pledge class after rush this fall.

Three Illinois Alphas were recently inducted into the Monmouth College chapter of Blue Key National Honor Society and elected to hold offices in the organization. Wendy Raymond was elected president; Toni Anderson elected vice president; Darci Boles was elected secretary.

Virginia Zeta members are now able to enjoy the benefits of having a chapter house. Pi Beta Phi joins other Greek groups at Virginia Tech in special purpose housing. A university dedication was held on October 6 for those chapters which recently acquired housing.

Laura Furman, Mississippi Alpha, was chosen to be a member of Eagle Connection, a group of fifteen University of Southern Mississippi students chosen by university faculty to assist in recruiting activities.

Anne Diefendeifer, Ohio Delta, was chosen as Outstanding Greek Scholar at Ohio Wesleyan University. The selection was based on grades and campus and Greek-related activities.

Pennsylvania Zeta Shannon Elby is a member of the executive committee and policy coordinator for Washington and Jefferson's student government.

Christie Wiles, Pennsylvania Zeta, is editor-in chief of the Horizon magazine at Washington and Jefferson College. Amy Fiore is the assistant editor and three other Pi Phis are on the staff.

Two Ohio Zetas are at the helm of Miami University's Greek newspaper, The Arena. Karen Asp is editor-in-chief and Allison Malfatt is the new layout/design editor.

Florida Deltas held a "Halloween is Fun" safety carnival. The University of Florida Pi Phis invited area boys and girls clubs, along with parents, to participate. There was a safety skit and a time to go trick-or-treating with the chapter members.

Ellen Breithaupt Named GLAMOUR Top Ten College Winner

Ellen Breithaupt, one of GLAMOUR magazine's Top Ten College Women for 1990

Ellen Breithaupt, of Springfield, Missouri, a senior at Drury College, has been named one of GLAMOUR magazine's Top Ten College Women for 1990. Ellen, who was accepted to the St. Louis University Medical School after her sophomore year, was featured in the October issue.

Ellen is majoring in psychology and has co-authored a study published in an international journal of chemistry. This resulted in her traveling to Bangkok, Thailand, two years ago to present the results of her research to a group of scholars. Ellen has also served as a student appointed member of the Honorary Degree Committee, which decides upon whom to confer honorary degrees.

Texas Betas Lauren Brode, Ashley Burr, Johanna Wisemann and Beth Clayton were recognized at Southern Methodist University's Greek Recognition Ceremony for their dedicated service to the university. Lauren is president of Program Council; Ashley is president of Golden Key; Johanna and Beth are involved in the Meadow's School of the Arts.

Four Virginia Gammas, Chelsea Gilfoil, Heather Murphy, Anne Gambardella and Angie Scott work with the office of career services on the

This is the 34th year that GLAMOUR has honored outstanding women undergraduates. The winners were selected, as juniors, on the basis of excellence in one of five areas of accomplishment. Ellen was cited for her accomplishments in the area of health.

"This year's top ten college women are remarkable for the amount of learning they've done outside the classroom," says Ruth Whitney, GLAMOUR's editor-in-chief. "Fashioning their own curricula from the world at large has given this year's winners a unique view of what is possible. Like all of us, they dream about improving the world around them, but this group of women has also made many tangible contributions toward realizing this goal."

Ellen, who has been both Student Union Board president and a student senator, plans to become an adolescent psychologist specializing in the problems of the gifted. "People tend to assume that students who are intellectually accelerated are also socially accelerated, when often it's just the opposite," Ellen tells GLAMOUR.

"My interest in gifted students has come through working closely with them in a summer program. . . . I have developed a greater feeling for the needs of others. As a college student one may lose sight of the importance of the community and people less fortunate. Through volunteer community service I have been made aware of the value of all people."

campus of the College of William and Mary. Chelsea publishes a weekly newsletter of career-oriented information called Futures. Heather helps with on campus recruitment and interviews. Anne coordinates the Study Breaks Program, which consists of educational seminars for residence halls. Angie coordinates the Career Speaker Series that brings individuals from various fields to campus to speak on career related topics.

Four Indiana Alphas were recently honored at the annual fall honors convocation at Franklin College. Jennifer Miller was recognized as outstanding freshman female and was recipient of the Laurels Trophy. Jennifer was selected by the faculty on the basis of her academic and leadership record. Trena Paulus received the Elba Branigin Memorial Law Scholarship in recognition of her outstanding achievement in political science and the pre-law field. Amy Collenbaugh received the Jessie Owen Wolford endowed scholarship in recognition of her achievements in the field of education. Jennifer Prall received the Nina Mason Pulliam Journalism Scholarship upon her selection as the outstanding junior in the field of communications.

Indiana Beta Jennifer Davis is a varsity cheerleader who entertains crowds at University of Indiana sports events.

Colorado Gamma Laura Tesman is very active in theatre at Colorado State University. Laura has played prominent roles in the plays Daughters and The Member of the Wedding and performed in Steel Magnolias. Her most recent performances include Dangerous Liaisons and The Glass Menagerie. Laura has also directed and assistant-directed numerous theatrical works.

California Gamma Jennifer Porter was recently featured on the hit television show Hard Copy. Jennifer, interviewed at the USC Pi Phi house, discussed being a top model while attending school full time.

The Arkansas Beta Chapter was awarded the Leadership and Service Award by the Panhellenic Association at the University of Arkansas at Little Rock.

Four South Dakota Alphas, Kristi DeMersseman, Keri Shoener, Kathi Johnson and Connie Nilles, were selected as members of Guidon, a sophomore honor society at the University of South Dakota.

Missouri Alphas Julie Becker, Katie Collins, Christy Moore, Michelle Brashears, Saralynn Schmitt, Gina Tamborella, Shannon Vickey and Michele Yansen serve the University of Missouri as Student Mentors. They give assistance to new students and help orient them to the university.

The Indiana Alpha intramural football team placed second in Franklin College's championships. Team members show their spirit after the championship game.

Pi Phi Art Student Experiences Arrowmont

Iowa Beta Jean Salem is an art major, so it is not terribly surprising to find her at Arrowmont on a Pi Phi scholarship. She took a Mixed Media On Fabric Workshop in June. Jean said the techniques of transferring photographs onto fabric and machine embroidery were a whole new experience for her despite her previous experience designing and printing fabric. What might come as a surprise is that if you were to ask Jean what Arrowmont is like, she could tell you a great deal without ever mentioning techniques she learned in class.

"I expected Arrowmont not to be exactly like this. I thought a lot of the students would be younger, but they're not. They're older, and I like that." Jean thought more of the students would be about her age, which is 21. "Many of the people are in their 30s and late 20s. I enjoy that. I can learn from their experiences." Jean commented that so many people at Arrowmont have been to so many places.

"I just learned so much from the people. I talked with many instructors and students. I was able to have philosophical conversations about life. Asked if all of these discussions took place in the classroom, Jean answered, "No, sitting in the lounge in the Red Barn."

One Pi Phi said earlier this year that she could come to Arrowmont without being enrolled and still learn so much. Jean could probably do the same. While recounting things she had learned, she would often refer to a stimulating conversation and retell stories she had been told. She would probably agree that although every student leaves Arrowmont with work they've handcrafted, sometimes the most rewarding benefits of attending are intangible.

Iowa Beta Jean Salem was awarded a Pi Phi Scholarship to attend Arrowmont. Jean participated in a mixed media on cloth workshop at Arrowmont last June.

Arrowmont Hosts "Southern Quilts: A New View"

Arrowmont School was privileged to be the first stop on a two year tour by the colorful art exhibition, "Southern Quilts: A New View." The invitational show, held last fall, was organized by Bets Ramsey of Chattanooga, Tennessee, and Gail Trechsel of Birmingham, Alabama, and is sponsored by Chattanooga's Hunter Museum of Art. The exhibition is the first of its kind to showcase the work of contemporary artists from the South who have chosen quilts as their form of expression.

Ramsey and Trechsel hand-picked the 28 artists represented in the quilt show. The list of exhibitors reads like a Who's Who of Arrowmont faculty and students. Nearly half of the women and men invited to participate have either led fabric related workshops at Arrowmont or taken them. Tennessee Beta Elizabeth Owen is a loyal friend of Arrowmont. "Tennessee Waltz," her contribution to the exhibition, contains many scraps of fabric she has hand dyed in surface design classes at Arrowmont over the past three years.

"I am convinced that taking classes at Arrowmont has had a profound effect on my work technically and in terms of my artistic approach," said Owen from her home in Baton Rouge, Louisiana. Her two stints as an Arrowmont assistant in 1989 and 1990 required her to stand up in front of an audience and talk about her quilts. "Having to show slides of my work publicly has made me more self-confident—I now think of myself as a professional artist rather than as someone who is sitting at home experimenting."

Elizabeth added that for most artists, talking about ideas is very important, and friendships she established in the classroom at Arrowmont continue to be a source of inspiration to her. A key friendship with her favorite Arrowmont instructor has been important to her development as an artist and a human being, she said. Many of Arrowmont's "students-turned-professional artists" can relate similar stories. That considered, it seems particularly fitting that work by Arrowmont faculty is seen alongside work by talented Arrowmont students in a show organized to celebrate contemporary quilting in the South.

EMP Publications, McLean, Virginia, has plans to publish a 128 page book about the exhibition in the spring of 1991. Southern Quilts: A New View will feature color photographs of all 28 quilts, and a text by curators Bets Ramsey and Gail Trechsel.

Husband and Wife Catch the Arrowmont Spirit

Ethel Goldberg said she first heard about Arrowmont while she was studying art at Penn State years ago. Her husband Max, was teaching in the English Department at the university. While he taught, she took advantage of the opportunity to do the thing she has always wanted to do—study art. "For the ten years we were at Penn State I studied art and had a wonderful time studying everything the school had to offer," Ethel said. It was during that time Ethel was first exposed to Arrowmont. A fabric design instructor would brag to students that in the summertime he was going down to Arrowmont. "Well, Arrowmont didn't mean anything to Max and me then," Ethel said, "but we knew it was something important to him."

Upon retirement Max was invited to Spartanburg, South Carolina by Converse College. It was after the Goldbergs moved there, little more than a three hour drive from Gatlinburg, that they discovered Arrowmont for themselves. "We began to realize where Arrowmont was and what it was, and we started coming," Ethel commented. "And we haven't stopped," Max emphasized. Since moving to Spartanburg, they have only missed a few seasons at Arrowmont.

Sitting with Ethel in the light-filled library named after Marian Heard, Max spoke of the deeply enriching hours he has spent in that room. He loves looking into books that have to do with the arts and related subjects, or what he calls the practicing humanities. "This particular place has so many fond memories for me," he volunteered.

It seemed a fitting place for the Goldbergs to share their impressions of Marian. As Arrowmont regulars since 1972, the couple was able to add to the storehouse of accounts one hears about Miss Heard's days as director before her retirement in 1977.

"Marian makes you feel that she is personally concerned about you," Max said. "For awhile I thought it was a professional manner that had been cultivated, but I've discovered that it's in the grain, so to speak. I get regards from her from time to time. When she hears that I'm here she comes around and asks to see me. That indicates that what she has is more than just a surface professional attitude of general helpfulness and friendliness," he continued.

A firm believer in continuing education, Max needed no prodding to explain his affection for Arrowmont. "For me, what I see in it is a wonderful combination—I see Arrowmont bringing the arts and crafts together with nature and fellowship." He said he enjoys the wholesome competitorship that develops in each workshop. "It makes you want to achieve better than you can for yourself. It's not so much trying to beat someone else, but rather the general atmosphere of people striving to do their best, working maybe until midnight to accomplish something. That, I think, is very distinctive. It is why we enjoy coming here, in addition to our enthusiasm for the particular arts and crafts that are offered. Arrowmont is a total experience. I think that Marian, in a real sense, set that kind of tone and feeling which has now generated and become an innate part of the whole institution."

"I realize that there are many, many others who are involved," Max added. "Sandra Blain has put her own stamp on the institution. She has done it not by undoing anything that she has taken over, but by adding increments of teaching and learning." Ethel commended the visiting faculty for their dedication. "The instructors teaching these one-week courses are working very hard. I think they fit in almost two weeks instruction in one week," she said. "This week I think all the instructors have been down in the classrooms until 11, 12 o'clock at night. That proves that even the instructors have caught the Arrowmont spirit."

Pi Phi Express Established, Manager Hired

Marty Hover Cecil grew up in Galion, Ohio and then attended The Ohio State University where she was initiated into Ohio Beta. Marty has six children; five daughters who are Delta Gammas and a son who is a freshman at Denison University.

Previously employed by Avon Products, Inc., Marty is now the manager of Pi Phi Express. Sportswear, novelties, gift items, and accessories and more make up the line of merchandise at Pi Phi Express. Marty oversees the merchandise selection, ordering and shipping of these products. Assisting Marty is Anisa Hagler. Pi Phi Express is located in the Arrowcraft Shop in Gatlinburg, Tennessee.

Student Reflects on 28 Years at Arrowmont

Coming from anyone else, Rose Wolchok's declarations about Arrowmont might seem a little farfetched, but she is so straightforward about her love for the place, that you begin to believe it holds a magical quality for her alone.

In class mid-summer for the 28th year, Rose agreed that to her, Arrowmont does have a quality of magic. "I'm from Toronto, so it's a long way to come, but I really can't pinpoint what the attraction is. To me it's like a second home, and it doesn't matter what bed I'm in here, I can just fall asleep like I do in my own. It's wonderful!"

"I really think (the magic) started with Miss Heard, right with her, the way she welcomed everyone. Whatever class you were in she'd always look in; she seemed to know everyone by name, and she'd be interested in what you were doing. If you were having any problems I suppose she could solve them, but if you weren't, then that was all the better!"

Rose works teaching crafts to senior citizens. She considers her time at Arrowmont to be a vacation. "Many people think it's silly to work during a vacation, but I don't like idle time. I like to be learning something, to watch what other people are doing, to see how they're struggling along," she said.

Like many of Arrowmont's students who teach for a living, Rose is able to learn a great deal about her own profession during her weeks on campus. Rose believes the learning experience is not just focused on a craft. She said the learning goes beyond the arts. "There are so many other things you learn here, like how to approach a whole group of people," said Rose.

"At Arrowmont I learn a lot about people, particularly when Miss Heard was here. She was, and is, such an inspiration to a person. For a lady to run a school like this, to me, was amazing. Everything was run like clockwork, and she was so interested in people. That to me is a great inspiration."

Rose usually takes fiber related classes and laughed about a calligraphy class she once took. "I knew it was a lost art with me . . . a chicken could have done better scratching than I did, but I still enjoyed the class." Rose says she can always learn something if she audits a class, approaching things at her own speed, and watching other people. Rose continued, "Now this is the fourth time I'm taking a quilting class here, and yet each one is different. I think it is marvelous that there is such a variety of teachers. I just hope that nothing happens to this school so that I can keep coming. I don't know whether anyone else enjoys this as much as I do, but I hope they do. I was telling a friend recently that if the school wasn't here I would still come back and touch the trees."

Rose Wolchok from Toronto, Ontario has been attending workshops at Arrowmont for 28 years.

Minnesota Alpha Celebrates 100 Years

by Vikki Bleise

Minnesota Alpha celebrated its centennial, "Linking 100 Years" on the weekend of May 18-19, 1990. It was a tremendous success and many friendships were renewed. More than 300 collegians and alumnae participated in the weekend's festivities.

The kick-off event was a Panhellenic Tea and house tour held at the chapter house. The active chapter members cleverly decorated the house with memorabilia which had been stored in the archives over many years. It was exciting to hear the alumnae reminisce over the old pictures and hear stories of their personal experiences while living in the chapter house as they toured about. It was a pleasure to have women from other NPC sororities present for this special afternoon activity.

Friday evening provided an opportunity to dine at the chapter house. This dinner was dedicated to the "Secret Six," the founders of Minnesota Alpha. A short history was compiled about their accomplishments since the founding years of the chapter. The dining room, aglow in candlelight and decorated in pink azaleas, was typical of events during the early years at Minnesota.

Friday evening's activities culminated in decade receptions and a Cookie Shine. Huge posters with pictures and letters from alumnae of each decade set the stage for the sharing of many fond memories and humorous stories. The receptions were followed by a magnificent Cookie Shine. A large arrow cookie decorated and lit by candlelight was reminiscent of this event in Minnesota Alpha's past. Following a short history of the Cookie Shine, alumnae shared their personal stories of what it had been like for them and what Pi Beta Phi had meant to them during their collegiate years. Laughter and tears made this evening one of the most touching events of the weekend. The Cookie Shine closed with a song fest in which each decade of alumnae tried to out sing each other with their own renditions of favorite songs.

The celebration concluded on Saturday with a luncheon banquet combining both Minnesota Alpha's centennial and Founders' Day. Alumnae and collegians were delighted to have Grand President, Carolyn Helman Lichtenberg as the centennial guest to preside over the banquet and during the weekend. A social hour prior to the luncheon allowed alumnae to gather and have pictures taken with their Pi Phi sisters attending the centennial. Everyone then proceeded to the dining room, beautifully decorated for a special birthday party. The finale of the luncheon was flaming birthday cakes delivered by waiters to each table, as all sang a rousing chorus of "Happy Birthday."

The program for the afternoon included a reading of the founding history of Minnesota Alpha, composed of information found in the archives of the chapter house. Mrs. Lichtenberg presented the original charters of Minnesota Alpha back to the chapter. Gifts from the alumnae provided the funds to have these documents restored and reframed. Mrs. Lichtenberg was also keynote speaker for the afternoon, recapturing Minnesota Alpha's history with memories of special events from each decade. Everyone appreciated the trip down memory lane for Minnesota Alpha.

Minnesota Alpha wishes to thank all those alumnae and collegians who put so many loving hours into making this weekend such a special event. Judy Mannerberg Tanner and Vikki Bleise served as co-chairmen of the centennial committee. Serving on other committees were Betty Ann Rost Wiens, June Johnston Stanley, Shelia Plunkett, Patty Farley Wilhems, Genevieve Damkroger, Dorothy Donlin Mason and Jill Lucas.

Archaeologist Dr. Theresa Howard-Carter received the George Arents Pioneer Medal for distinguished alumni from Chancellor Melvin Eggers at Syracuse University's alumni reunion last summer. This is Syracuse University's highest award to alumni. Before accepting the award, "T.A." visited the Pi Beta Phi house where she lived as a New York Alpha undergraduate. Local alumnae held an open house for the famous archaeologist.

Until August 2, 1990, Dr. Howard-Carter was an official of the Kuwait Government as Chief Advisor to the Kuwait National Museum, a position she occupied since 1980. Her area of expertise is archaeology in the Mediterranean region. She has been on the staff of the University of Pennsylvania Museum in Philadelphia in one capacity or another since October of 1950 and is currently the consulting scholar for Mesopotamia and the Arab-Iranian Gulf.

Dr. Howard-Carter has directed 12 archaeological expeditions to the Near East and Mediterranean, and was a professor at Johns Hopkins University. She received her M.A. in anthropology from the University of Pennsylvania and her Ph.D. from Bryn Mawr College. A recipient of numerous awards, she has published a staggering number of articles in professional journals.

Her membership in professional organizations include the Archaeological Institute of America, American Oriental Society, American Association of University Professors and the Middle East Institute. She is listed in Who's Who in America, Who's Who Among American Women and Dictionary of International Biography.

Dr. Theresa Howard-Carter

Susan Poston Parsell, a member of the Greater Charleston Area Alumnae Club, does much of her volunteering in the field of child abuse prevention. She has been a major force behind the Lowcountry Children's Center based in Charleston County South Carolina.

In 1987, a committee of the Charleston County Legislative Delegation was formed to implement an 18-month study of the Department of Social Services. Susan served on one of the subcommittees which recommended a child abuse prevention facility. The subcommittee also recommended that organization of such a facility be done by an independent body.

The Junior League of Charleston got involved in the project at that point. Susan, Junior League President for the 1987-88 term, was asked to be one of the co-chairman of the task force that would help shape the development of the center. The efforts of Susan and her co-chairman were recognized when the two received the Commissioners Award for the Prevention of Child Abuse and Neglect at a national conference of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. The two were also recipients of the Department of Social Services Volunteer of the Year Award.

The Center, which opened in September, will provide a safe, comfortable and non-threatening environment for abused children and their families. The center is based on the philosophy that only through a total integration of child protective services, law enforcement, mental health, medical and legal services, and advocacy can the interests of abused children be served.

Susan is a Texas Beta who is also involved with volunteerism at the national level, serving on the national advisory board of the Susan G. Komen Foundation, a group which raises funds to help women deal with the spectrum of breast cancer issues.

The recent Miss America Pageant yielded another Pi Phi. Oklahoma Alpha Cindy White is the 1990 Miss Oklahoma. Cindy, an accountant and graduate of Oklahoma University, was a semi-finalist in the pageant.

The Palm Springs/Desert Cities Alumnae Club celebrated its first anniversary last summer at the Doubletree Inn in Cathedral City, California. Among the awards given, a small loving cup was presented to Margie Gillespie Weisner for outstanding performance as program chairman.

The Nashville Alumnae Club made its annual contribution to the Bill Wilkerson Hearing and Speech Center. Laura Allen Bouldin and Melissa Brown Paty, co-chairmen of the 1989 Christmas Village, made the presentation of a check for $107,100.00. From the left: Laura Allen Bouldin, Melissa Brown Paty, Senator Al Gore, and Beth Schroeder Spoden and Nancy Hart Diehl Harvey, co-chairmen for the 1990 Christmas Village.

Carole L. Ashkinaze, a columnist and editorial writer at the Chicago Sun-Times, was the convocation speaker at St. Lawrence University this fall. Carole has won numerous awards for her coverage of politics, government and women's issue. She is a graduate of St. Lawrence University, is a trustee of St. Lawrence and holds a graduate degree from Columbia University's Graduate School of Journalism. During her address, she told the convocation audience that much of her success is attributable to a valuable lesson she learned at St. Lawrence: namely, how to take a risk. She urged students not to dwell on the task of trying to fit in but to take advantage of the opportunities they are being given.

This year the Hinsdale-Naperville Alumnae Club increased the number of active members by 104%. The increase is due, in part, to a new system of phone calling. Instead of each club officer being taxed with the job of calling part of the Central Office roster by herself, members organized a two night phone campaign. The club has increased from 75 to 153 active members.

Washington Beta alumnae from the pledge classes of 1974 to 1981 held a reunion last summer at the Washington Beta chapter house. Sixty alumnae participated in an entire weekend of festivities. Activities centered around the chapter house, but alumnae were able to take in some fun in the sun and take a trip down memory lane as they visited the campus.

Frances Chubb Cox, Kansas Alpha, a San Jose, California photography teacher and free-lance photographer, was honored for her services to photography when she was named an Associate of the Photographic Society of America (PSA). The honor goes only to highly skilled photographers for participation in PSA's volunteer educational and other services. Frances, a retired medical technologist, has been teaching photography in the San Jose Metropolitan Adult Education Program since 1978. She also teaches photography classes for the Willow Senior Center.

Kansas Alpha members held a special Pi Phi reunion recently. "Pi Phi 45" was the theme of the reunion for the University of Kansas Pi Phis who were initiated 45 years ago in 1945.

Nebraska Beta Beatrice Moffett Weaverling celebrated her 100th birthday in 1990. A resident of Lincoln, Nebraska, Beatrice has been a Pi Phi for 82 years.

Patsy Faller Scott, formerly the director of institutional research, has been named the assistant vice president for academic affairs and planning at The University of Toledo. Her responsibilities will include the coordination of plans for academic instructional, research and administrative space use as it is developed through new or renovated facilities. Patsy is an Ohio Epsilon.

Ann E. Thomas of Hartford, Connecticut, has been elected a member of the Board of Directors of The Association of Junior Leagues International, Inc. (AJLI). AJLI is an international voluntary organization representing 182,000 women in 277 Junior Leagues in the United States, Mexico, Canada and Great Britain. Ann is immediate past president of the Junior League of Hartford, where she also held the positions of treasurer and director-at-large for the Board of Directors, chairperson of the Finance Committee and the Office Automation Task Force and others. Ann, a Michigan Beta, received a B.S. and M.B.A. from the University of Michigan.

The Indianola, Iowa Alumnae Club has been very active with the chapter members of Iowa Beta at Simpson College. The club hosted a dinner for graduating seniors and their families the night before graduation last spring. The formal dinner was held at the chapter house and 55 people attended the event honoring 16 seniors. On Saturday morning, following the commencement, an open house was held at the chapter house. This fall, a mock rush party was held prior to formal rush and the Iowa Beta Chapter invited alumnae and mothers to be rushees for the evening.

Nancy Hogshead, who won the gold medal for the United States in the 100-meter freestyle in the 1984 Summer Olympics, worked with youngsters at the Salinas, California "Superkids Asthma Day Camp." Nancy, who is asthmatic herself, spoke to the children about not allowing asthma to stop them from achieving their goals. The camp was sponsored by the Salinas Valley Memorial Hospital and the Hospital Service League and the American Lung Association of Monterey, Santa Cruz and San Luis Obispo counties.

Two Iowa Gamma alumnae kicked up their heels in the play, "The Follies," by James Goldman. The play was performed at Fisher Theater at Iowa State University in Ames, Iowa. Carol Culberson Johnson and Elaine Vifquain Bath were tap dancers for this fun filled musical.

The Cleveland East Alumnae Club relived college days at a recent meeting. "Memorabilia Night" was celebrated by alumnae members wearing clothes donned during college days at the club meeting. The attire ranged from the more recent jeans and a Pi Phi sweatshirt to poodle skirts and saddle shoes. Sabra Hansen Qua won the award for the best outfit with her poodle skirt and "I Like Ike" button. In addition, club members brought baby pictures. Members were asked to guess the identity of the youngsters.

Forty-five alumnae from the Arkansas Alpha Chapter attended a reunion at the University of Arkansas in Fayetteville, Arkansas last summer. Members spent the weekend in the newly renovated Pi Phi house. Pledge classes from 1973 to 1976 were invited to share the weekend. Alumnae came from as far away as California, New Jersey, North Carolina and Alabama. The weekend renewed many old friendships. Activities included a Cookie Shine, two candle passings, rush skits and a short awards ceremony.

Oregon Gamma Barbara Miller McCoy was named the recipient of the Distinguished Service Award by the Oklahoma State School Board Association. Barbara had served on the Bartlesville, Oklahoma School Board for 14 years. The Distinguished Service Award is presented annually to a current or former board member who has exhibited distinguished service to the school and community during his or her tenure on the school board.

Last year the Springfield, Illinois Alumnae Club sponsored Alison Howard Parchman in the Springfield Sprint Triathlon and raised money for their philanthropy, Soujourn House, a house for battered women and children. This year the club decided to become more involved in the day-to-day needs of the women and children in the shelter. The club helped build built-in bookshelves and cabinets for storage in the all-purpose room of the shelter.

Northwestern University Pi Phis held a twenty-five year reunion in Evanston, Illinois. Illinois Epsilons present were: (front l to r) Jane Turbeville Vandenberg, Janet Katek Edwards, Bonnie Burst Freeland, Brenda McClure Mallett and Ellen Piller Braun. (back l to r) Bonnie Horschke Murray, Carol Ulmer Bell, Barbara Ausbeck Shively, Mickey O'Neill Hobson, Kathleen Kelley Barger and Carol Jones Hulce. Not pictured but present: Cathleen Crawford Green and Barbara Hetler Groff.

The Sign of the Arrow, a non-profit needlepoint and gift shop operated by the St. Louis alumnae of Pi Beta Phi, recently presented its 1989-90 proceeds of $94,000 to local charitable organizations and Arrowmont School of Arts and Crafts. This year's contribution was the largest in the 24-year history of the shop and 45% greater than last year's donation of $63,000. Since its founding in 1966, The Sign of the Arrow has given more than $884,000 to philanthropies. The shop is staffed by volunteers and is one of the foremost needlepoint shops in the country, known for its unusual selection of merchandise.

In October, the Fort Wayne Alumnae Club and the Indiana Eta Chapter joined to kick off the "Links to Literacy" program. Jean Nuechterlein, executive director of the Three Rivers Literacy Alliance presented a slide show and discussed how their organization functions to service non-reading adults in the Fort Wayne area. Her program left members startled by her statistics on the number of illiterate adults in the U.S. and anxious to become involved. The club decided to direct part of its funds and energy toward decorating the reading room in one of the organization's newly established family centers. In addition, the club will be collecting used children's books to help establish a library in the center.

"AHEM"

All alumnae with current addresses will soon be receiving an important Alumnae Directory Questionnaire in the mail. This is being sent to give every alumna the opportunity to be accurately listed in the upcoming new Pi Beta Phi Fraternity Alumnae Directory.

Please be sure to complete and return your directory questionnaire as soon as possible!

Once received, your information will be edited and processed by our publisher, Harris Publishing Co., Inc. Over 98,000 of our great alumnae will be included in this impressive new directory.

If you don't return your questionnaire there is a possibility you may be inadvertently omitted. So don't take a chance . . . watch for your questionnaire and remember to return it promptly.

IN MEMORIAM

Dear Editor

As a fellow Lucy Stoner, I can certainly relate to Jamia Murray's anger at receiving her ARROW with her husband's name on it. However, I must defend Pi Beta Phi's record in this area.

First, I have always been impressed by Pi Phi's use of women's maiden names in all fraternity publications. How many times have you picked up a publication from your college or university's alumni organization and asked yourself, "Did I know this woman in school or not?"

Second, in my own experience of 10 years, two marriages, and only my original name, Pi Beta Phi has never wavered in addressing all correspondence to me as Kelly Ruth Coleman. I know I've put my current husband's name on forms. I usually make sure it's quite clear I don't use his name, though.

I know how frustrating this can be. Just keep correcting people, Jamia. They'll eventually give in.

Note: Lucy Stone was a nineteenth century feminist who didn't change her name when she married. Women who followed her lead were called "Lucy Stoners."

I've never taken the time to write an editor of a magazine. However, I decided to take time out from my role as a third grade teacher to tell you how very much I like the new, updated format of The ARROW. It is easier to read and better organized! I particularly like the way you handled the National Awards on pages 4 and 5. Well done!

Best wishes to you with your new marriage and with The ARROW. It would seem that both of your "loves" are in good hands.

Congratulations on your new position as editor of The ARROW. I received my fall issue yesterday and was very impressed with the new look and changes—especially the addition of Pi Phi Express and the new format for In Memoriam. You certainly put much work into the change and I will be looking forward to upcoming issues.

Enclose a fifty dollar bill in the next issue of The ARROW and you'll have an absolutely perfect magazine. In the meantime, you'll have to settle for a "it's just about perfect."

You and your staff deserve a big Pi Phi applause. I loved the color, graphics, borders, heads, pictures . . .

Congratulations on a superb issue of The ARROW. The re-design is great and the size of the printing easier to read. The layout is inviting—I was only disappointed that not more alum clubs (ours included) sent in news. I wonder if a forum where one subject is covered might get more clubs to participate. Keep up the great work. I only skimmed my new issue and now look forward to reading about our wonderful Pi Phis.

I just wanted to give you a pat on the back for the successful implementation of The ARROW's re-design. As a member of a magazine editorial staff myself, I recognize all of the time, thought, effort and energy you have put into the development of the new "look." I work for an engineering association magazine which recently underwent a "facelift" as well. It is such a good feeling when you see the positive results of something for which you have worked so hard to achieve.

I thought The ARROW's new design made it more readable, interesting and, of course, more graphically appealing. I had to smile when I read your editorial, because you are right—the parallels of making a wedding day just perfect and creating a magazine that will enlighten readership do exist.

I wanted to commend you on your efforts—they have not gone unnoticed. If you ever need assistance on any aspect of the magazine—writing, layout, etc.—feel free to contact me. I would like nothing more than to contribute something to Pi Phi, since Pi Phi is responsible for much of my personal growth.

Profiles

It was a political race that fascinated her. Carrie Clinton Lane was a voracious reader, and as a teenager, she was drawn again and again to the news of the U.S. presidential contest between Horace Greeley, editor of the New York Tribune, and Gen. Ulysses Grant. On the morning of election day, as the Lane family finished chores on its rural Charles City farm, Carrie commented on her mother's attire. To her, the dress seemed completely inappropriate for a trip into town, especially when the purpose of the trip was to vote for the next president of the United States.

Only Mother couldn't vote.

The fact that women weren't allowed such a privilege seemed to have little effect on Mrs. Lane; in fact, she and the rest of the family chortled when Carrie asked whether her mother would cast her ballot for Greeley. Carrie failed to see the humor. Years later, having founded the League of Women Voters, Carrie Chapman Catt would recall vividly the shock and pain of her comeuppance that fall morning.

Being put in her place served only to inspire Catt to become one of the nation's most influential suffragists. The first three decades of this century saw her dedication to providing equal rights for women, while never forgetting her simple, and very traditional, Iowa roots.

Although she was born in Ripon, Wis.—also the birthplace of the U.S. Republican Party—Catt moved with her family to rural Charles City when she was six. Once the daily chores were out of the way, she would spend hours up in the trees, reading and reciting poetry. By age 13, Catt knew she wanted to be a doctor, although she received no encouragement from her parents to further her education. Determination alone propelled her through high school in three years.

Due to the wheat blight and hog disease that was rampant in Iowa during the 1870s, the Lane family was left without funds for college. In 1876, Carrie informed her father that she would teach school in order to earn tuition money. When he reminded her that exams were necessary to obtain the appropriate certification, she revealed the already-secured document hidden behind her back. Her father countered that teachers without experience couldn't find decent jobs. Carrie pulled from her pocket a signed contract to teach that fall in their own district school.

Seventy years ago, Carrie Lane Chapman Catt founded the League of Women Voters in a bold move to guarantee equality at the ballot box.

And so in the spring of 1877, she enrolled at Iowa Agricultural College and Farm in Ames. Old Main, the Farm House, a few barns and cottages were nearly the extent of the architecture on campus. By teaching between semesters and working as a dishwasher and assistant librarian, she was able to support herself through school. She also found time to participate in Pi Beta Phi and the Crescent Literary Society. Upon joining the latter organization and learning that women were limited only to reciting essays, Carrie eventually became the group's first woman to present an oration.

But this wasn't to be her only claim to fame while attending college. After observing cadet exercise drills and appreciating their physical and mental benefits, Carrie soon organized a women's unit, "Company G," and later, "Company L," both existing for many years after her November 1880 graduation. Just three years after entering college, it was an occasion highlighted by Carrie's recognition as valedictorian and the fact that she was the only woman in her graduating class. Though she was interested in the law and even worked for a Charles City attorney immediately following graduation, she soon was offered—and accepted—the position of principal of Mason City High School. By 1883, she was superintendent of that school system.

It was while investigating journalism opportunities for her students that she met Leo Chapman, editor of the Mason City Republican. Like Carrie, he had grown up in Iowa, and was well-educated and ambitious. Within two weeks of their first meeting they were engaged, and they were married in February 1885.

Those were happy years for Carrie. She served as assistant editor of the newspaper, and wrote a column, "Woman's World," that ignored convention and addressed economic and political issues. When she lost the nomination for a local election, Leo wrote such strong editorials against her opponents that eventually he was forced to sell the paper. Thinking better opportunities existed out west, Leo traveled to San Francisco while Carrie waited at their Charles City farm. When she received a telegram from an aunt saying Leo had contracted typhoid fever, Carrie left immediately for the West Coast. By the time she arrived, he had died.

She remained there, working for a time as a reporter. While she long had thought seriously about women's rights, she greatly refined her thinking and her personal goals during this period. Coming so soon after her husband's death, this proved to be a most reflective time in Carrie's life. In her work as a reporter, she continued to see gross injustices in society's regard for women. Often, she took long walks on the beach, pondering dreams for herself and all women—and the imposing obstacles so firmly planted in the way. It was, perhaps, during one of those walks that she decided to commit herself to securing equal rights for women.

One day, she ran into an old college classmate, George Catt, and she found herself sharing her goals with him. Her plans met with his obvious enthusiasm, as he, too, was supportive of her cause. He also decided to convince her to marry him, which took him more than two years to accomplish. His plan was simple: He would support them financially through his work as a civil engineer and later, as founder of the Atlantic, Gulf and Pacific Dredging Company. And she would pursue suffrage work on behalf of them both. Theirs may have been among the first marriages preceded by a prenuptial agreement. Supposedly prior to their 1890 wedding, a contract was drawn up that affirmed that George would finance Carrie's feminist projects.

During the last decade of the century, Carrie worked as state organizer of the Iowa Woman Suffrage Association, finance chair of the National American Woman Suffrage Association (NAWSA) and, later, as that organization's committee chairperson. When Susan B. Anthony retired as NAWSA's president, she created more than a slight controversy by choosing Carrie as her replacement. Though Carrie had for years fought discrimination against women, at barely 40 years of age, she was two, three, even four decades younger than many of the movement's key leaders. Despite objections from more established suffragists, Anthony saw in this "young" woman a master organizer and perhaps even a more adept motivator. Both skills, Anthony knew, would be crucial to advancing the NAWSA's cause.

Although reluctant to spend so much of her time traveling, Carrie eventually agreed to accept the position, which she held for the next four years. During that time, she also organized the International Woman Suffrage Alliance, establishing biennial conferences for that group. (She served as its president during the early 1900s, and by the time of her retirement from the organization, she had increased its membership from five to more than 20 nations.)

She worked endlessly for the suffrage movement at the turn of the century, but during that first decade she also suffered the loss of her husband (George Catt died of complications from a gall bladder illness), her younger brother, her mother, and her inspirational friend and predecessor, Susan B. Anthony. Only her work carried her through those difficult times, when she concentrated much of her effort on the state of New York. A suffrage parade down Fifth Avenue in October 1915 attracted nearly 40,000 women; in 1917, the state adopted women suffrage.

More than 10 years after her retirement as NAWSA's president, the organization's members asked her, during their annual meeting, to once again sit at the helm. She declined. Upon returning to her hotel room, Carrie discovered delegates from every state crammed into her room, poised to change her mind. "I'm old, I'm no longer healthy and I'm tired," she told the delegates. Then, with a smile and a shrug, she added, "I'll do my best."

For the next five years, Carrie led the fight for the passage of the 19th Amendment, giving women the right to vote. Finally, in 1919, the 66th Congress passed the amendment in both the House of Representatives and the Senate. At NAWSA's 50th anniversary meeting, members pondered their future pending the amendment's ratification. Carrie proposed the formation of the League of Women Voters, an organization that would continue to work toward freeing women from other legal discriminations and would provide nonpartisan political education and leadership. Her idea met with solid support, and the League was created.

In the years following the amendment's ratification, Carrie continued her work toward world peace. She was an active supporter of the League of Nations and later the United Nations, and she established the Committee on the Cause and Cure of War. For her efforts she received numerous accolades, including selection five times as one of the 10 most admired women in the world.

Despite her international connections, Carrie never forgot Iowa or her alma mater. She was the first woman to deliver a commencement address at Iowa State, doing so in 1921 and again in 1931. Fulfilling the wishes of husband George Catt, Carrie gave more than $100,000 to Iowa State in 1922 to be used for scholarships for promising students. Today, the endowment is worth more than $270,000.

In March 1947, Carrie Clinton Lane Chapman Catt died peacefully in her New York home. Nearly 30 years later, she became one of the first inductees into the Iowa Women's Hall of Fame. And in June of this year, Iowa State University paid her its highest tribute when it renamed Old Botany Hall in her honor and pledged to include the building's renovation in its capital campaign plans.

This wasn't the university's first physical commemoration of one of the country's American feminism founders, however. Many years ago, a short road leading to an ISU parking lot was named "Carrie Lane," a path so insignificant that it rarely makes the campus map.

An ironic twist, perhaps, to the story of a woman who spent her life pursuing the road not taken.

Written by: Laura Kline, VISIONS Magazine, Iowa State University Alumni Association.

The 1946 Convention set aside January 9, the birthday of Carrie Lane Chapman Catt, as Chapter Loyalty Day. In 1946 it was declared, "On that day, each member is to think with special tenderness of her own chapter through which she gained her priceless heritage in Pi Beta Phi, and each chapter is to think with special appreciation of the alumnae whose loyalty and service have made its position today possible."

This Chapter Loyalty Day pay tribute to your chapter. Host a small reunion, send a note to your chapter or a fellow chapter member, send flowers to the chapter house, give a contribution . . . renew your pledge and loyalty to Pi Beta Phi.

Scholarships

Pi Beta Phi is now accepting applications for Alumnae Continuing Education Scholarships. You must be an alumna of Pi Beta Phi, out of school for at least two years, in a career requiring further education and in need of financial assistance. Application due date is February 1, 1991. Write for a scholarship application form today. Contact Miss Lisa Gamel at 3025 Van Ness Avenue, #9, San Francisco, CA 94109.

The Fairfield County Alumnae Panhellenic Association announces its twelfth annual scholarship in the amount of $1500. The scholarship is available to an active sorority member whose home residence is in Fairfield County, Connecticut.

The applicant must be an active member of a National Panhellenic Conference sorority in her sophomore or junior year at any U.S. college or university. Selection is based on academic excellence and service to sorority, school and community. Requests for information and applications should be made through Miss Julie Maxwell, 29 Reservoir Avenue, Norwalk, CT 06850. Completed applications and accompanying recommendations must be received no later than April 1, 1991.

Last year's winner Alison Glazer of Old Greenwich, Connecticut is a Pi Phi. Alison is currently a senior at Lafayette College.

Arrowmont School of Arts and Crafts is offering summer scholarships and assistantship programs. Scholarships are available to Pi Phis for one or two week classes. Scholarships are granted on the basis of financial need.

Assistantships are available to students who can be in residence at the school for five weeks and who have a strong background in a particular medium. This is a work or class exchange program.

A work study Program for five or ten weeks will allow students who have a food service interest or background to work in exchange for classes.

For more information on these programs contact Arrowmont School of Arts and Crafts, P.O. Box 567, Gatlinburg, TN 37738

Elections

At the 1991 Convention, members of Grand Council and Fraternity Directors will be elected to serve two-year terms of office.

During the spring, all chapters and alumnae clubs will receive forms to be used in making recommendations for these offices. The Nominating Committee requests that your recommendation forms be completed and returned, as directed, prior to convention.

Individuals are invited to send letters of recommendation for Fraternity officers to the Nominating Committee Chairman Mrs. E. E. Frizell, 2609 Heather Parkway, Hutchinson, KS 67502, no later than May 1, 1991.

The St. Louis skyline, one of the many sites you can see at the 1991 Convention to be held in St. Louis June 22-27, 1991.
