THE MIGHT OF DREAMS

(A Thought for Founders' Day)

Columbus nodded, dreamt, and lo—a continent
Rose phoenix-wise:
Flammarion's thoughts afar strayed, and another star
Swung in the skies.
Dreams, which are made of nought excepting thought,
Can grow to an Ideal both true and real,
Which flourishes and thrives, affecting countless lives.

A certain group of women, years ago,
White-hot with dreams and inspiration's glow;
Thrilled with the thought that sometime stride by stride
They'd keep pace with the men they walked beside;
Knowing no goal so difficult or far
They might not strive for; that their sex's star,
In the ascendant, gleamed with brightening ray
And lighted up their former, duller way:—
Had an Ideal, and from this Ideal rose
An Actual Fact that lives and thrives and grows
On through the years; whose creed is "sterling worth
And virtue are the greatest things of earth";
Whose arrow is today as keen and bright
As when it sped on its initial flight.

This little group faced Failure, grim and cold,
And merciless, who strives to daunt the bold,
And Criticism, who with subtle sneers
Stands ever in the path of pioneers.
Yet they went on, this gallant, earnest band,
By love united, hand locked fast in hand,
Their colors flying proudly, heads held high,
Their arrow pointing to a bluer sky
Than any sky they ever yet had seen!
And so—because one small group chose to dream
And had the "will" to further their Ideal,
Pi Phi became a Fact, both true and real;
Deep-rooted, like a green and fragrant tree
That flourishes and grows eternally.

And those who placed the seed within the ground—
Can ever fitting thanks for them be found?

INSTALLATION OF INDIANA DELTA

Happy New Year and many happy future years to Indiana Delta, of Pi Beta Phi, installed January first, at Purdue University, LaFayette, Indiana. Never has a new chapter been given a more cordial welcome by its neighboring chapters. Every chapter in Delta Province was represented and Indiana Pi Phis, long noted for their fraternity loyalty and enthusiasm, made a real state celebration of this installation.

To the broad vision and untiring efforts of Verna Weaver, Washington A, who takes a degree from Purdue this year, the fraternity, for the second time, owes a new chapter. In 1917, Oregon B was sponsored by Miss Weaver and installed at her home in Portland, Oregon.

The installation services were arranged and conducted by the Grand President, Anna Lytle Tannahill, assisted by Nina Harris Allen, Alumnae Editor, Edith Carpenter, Cataloguer, Ethelwyn Miller, Delta Province President, and Miriam Deming, retiring Delta Province President.

With the exception of the banquet and the two luncheons, given by alumnae and patronesses, all events took place at the chapter house, which has been the home of  $\Delta P$  since its founding. Many beautiful gifts, flowers and courtesies from fraternities and friends were received by the new chapter. All the visitors were entertained at the chapter house and greatly appreciated the generous hospitality and housekeeping efficiency of their charming hostesses and their chaperon, Kate Stewart, Indiana B.

Three days were filled with the usual schedule incident to the installation of a new chapter. The interpretation of fraternity membership and responsibilities given by the Grand President will always be an inspiration, not only to the charter members of Indiana  $\Delta$ , but to all the Pi Phis who shared in the services.

UNDERGRADUATE MEMBERS OF INDIANA DELTA OF PI BETA PHI

Following the installation, seventy-five members of  $\Pi B \Phi$  dined, New Year's night, in the College Inn of Hotel Fowler. While the largest delegations were from Indiana chapters, the roll call brought responses from chapters from Vermont to Washington and other distant states. During the serving of the banquet, Faith Otten, a sophomore of Indiana  $\Delta$ , sang and several members of the Purdue University faculty, in compliment to the new chapter, gave a classical musical program.

Although without it was mild, muddy and rainy, the toast program transported the entire company to a climate fitting the calendar date and the toastmistress, Jessie Christian Brown, a charter member of Indiana  $\Gamma$ , was fully equal to the exigencies of the trip.

Carol Meiks, Indiana A, started the "Jingle Bells," and Gay Case, Indiana  $\Delta$ , led on "Across the Snow." Doris Geile, Indiana B, helped "Ring in the New." "Snow Flurries" and "Rolling Snow Balls" were described by Avenella Klepinger, Indiana  $\Delta$  alumna, and Ruth Clark Prentice, New York A, president of the La Fayette alumnae club. Gertrude Hunter, Indiana  $\Gamma$ , brought the figurative journey to an end, "Snow-bound." Informal talks of visiting officers closed the program.

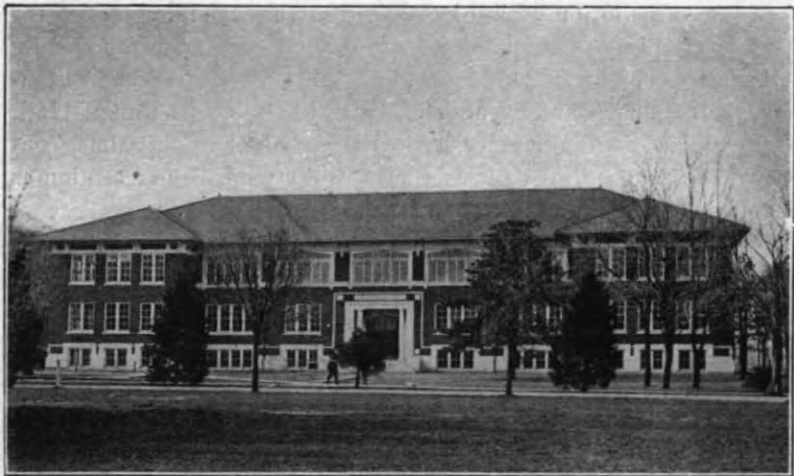

As the installation took place during the Christmas recess, the formal reception, presenting the new  $\Pi B \Phi$  chapter to the faculty and students of Purdue University, was held a week after the installation, the afternoon and evening of January sixth, in Colonial Hall. Any Onken, Grand Secretary, visited the chapter at that time, conducted the pledging of their freshmen and attended the reception as the official representative of the national fraternity.

In addition to those already mentioned, the active chapter delegates attending the installation were: Indiana A, Katharine Cassady, Carol Meiks, Indiana B, Doris Geile, Myra Allison, Margaret Yeager, Dorothy Magley, Dorothy Long, Kathryn Mullinnix, Ellen Woody, Helen Herbst, Esther Schild, Evelyn Hervey; Indiana  $\Gamma$ , Gertrude Hunter, Anita Welch, Martha Hawkins, Marian Webb, Margaret Kellenback, Marjorie Parrish, Charlotte Comstock, Velma Rich, Florence Stanley, Sarah Birk, Kathryn Mead; Michigan A, Ruth Miller; Michigan B, Gertrude Boggs, Elizabeth Travis, Lenore Dinius.

Visiting alumnae: Washington A, Verna Weaver; New York A, Ruth Clark Prentice; Michigan A, Flo Gosma Wilson; Wisconsin A,

HISTORY OF PURDUE UNIVERSITY

Purdue University is located at La Fayette, Indiana. It was organized under an act of Congress, passed July 2, 1862. The state accepted from John Purdue and other citizens of Tippecanoe County many large donations. Purdue University is also a beneficiary of four acts of Congress, known respectively as the Hatch, Morrill, Adams and Nelson acts.

Purdue University is located on a campus of forty acres with additional grounds and farm lands to the total of 692 acres. The campus is artificially laid out in a beautiful arrangement of trees, flowers, hedges, shrubs, walks and drives. There are forty-six buildings on the campus and grounds.

The university grants the following degrees: Bachelor of Science, Bachelor of Science in Agriculture, Chemical Engineering, Electrical Engineering, Mechanical Engineering, Pharmacy and Pharmaceutical Chemistry. In the year 1919-1920 the university faculty consisted of 202 men and 18 women. The enrollment of students numbered 2,500 men and 300 women.

The following national Greek-letter fraternities for men have chapters at Purdue: Acacia, Α Γ Ρ, Α Τ Ω, Β Θ Π, Δ Τ Δ, Δ Υ, Κ Σ, Λ Χ Α, Φ Δ Χ, Φ Δ Θ, Φ Γ Δ, Φ Κ, Φ Κ Σ, Φ Κ Τ, Φ Κ Ψ, Σ Α Ε, Σ Χ, Σ Ν, Σ Φ Ε, Σ Π, Θ Χ, Θ Ξ.

The following national Greek-letter fraternities for women are also represented at the university: Α Χ Ω, Χ Ω, Κ Α Θ, Κ Κ Γ, and there are two locals for women, namely: Ω Τ, Φ Ζ.

HISTORY OF DELTA RHO, NOW INDIANA DELTA OF PI BETA PHI

Delta Rho, as a local fraternity, was organized on December 14, 1915, and was officially recognized by the faculty in May, 1916, with fifteen charter members. During the first year of its existence a closer and stronger organization was effected through the continuous and concentrated efforts of every member. The present Women's Panhellenic Council of Purdue University was organized in that year by  $\Delta P$ ,  $\text{K A } \odot$  and  $\text{M } \Sigma \text{ A}$  (now  $\text{K K } \Gamma$ ).

During the second year, strength in outside activities increased and developed. Since that time, equal stress has been placed upon the strength of the organization in its inner workings and upon the campus.

Early in the fall of 1919, the organization determined, after due and careful deliberation, to place a petition for a charter grant with  $\Pi B \Phi$ . Definite negotiations began at once. During the school year 1919-1920 a great many active and alumnae Pi Beta Phis from various parts of the state, as well as elsewhere, visited us. Among these were Mrs. Nickerson, Grand Vice-president, and Miss Miriam Deming, at that time President of Delta Province. Everyone who visited the chapter extended her enthusiastic support to the group.

In May of 1920, each chapter in Delta province was invited by the group at Purdue to send one representative to a week-end house-party. This served as a means of getting acquainted, of investigating the situation and of providing an opportunity for hearty approval by the active chapters.

The group at Purdue was also very greatly aided by the advice and help of the members of the La Fayette Alumnae Club.

The period of anticipation and expectation as well as of earnest endeavor in preparation, terminated on December 18, 1920, when the joyous news of the charter grant was received. Immediate preparations were made for installation which took place just two weeks later, January 1, 1921.

The chapter considered itself extremely fortunate in having the following officers participating in the installation festivities: Mrs. Anna Lytle Tannahill, Grand President; Mrs. Nina Harris Allen, Alumnae Editor; Miss Edith L. Carpenter, Cataloguer; and Miss Ethelwyn Miller, Province President.

CONVENTION SONG, 1921

BY HELEN L. WITMER, Pennsylvania Γ, '19*(AIR—Tell Me Little Gypsy—from Ziegfeld Follies of 1920)

Listen, Pi Phi, do you hear the summons
 Sounding forth anew to you to-day?
 Charlevoix the Beautiful is calling,
 Do not say that you cannot obey.
 Pi Phi calls to you,
 Say that you'll be true.

Chorus—

Hearken, all you Pi Phis, to the call that comes to you;
 Rally all around the standard of the wine and blue;
 Hasten to convention if to Pi Phi you'd be true
 For there may be other frats in the world,
 But it's Pi Phi for you.

Keys or kites or anchors may hold others,
 Arrows in our hearts shall always reign.
 Old Pi Phi is asking for your allegiance;
 Surely she must never ask in vain.
 Hear the summons, do,
 As it comes to you.

 CONVENTION

The twenty-fifth Biennial Convention of Pi Beta Phi will be held at The Inn, Charlevoix, Michigan, July 1-6, 1921.

The attractions of Charlevoix and The Inn, given in detail in the December ARROW, should help to make this Convention the largest and best ever! Since we are again at peace, and free to think of vacations, may we not suggest that a very pleasant way to spend that of 1921 would be at Charlevoix—where you may renew old friendships and begin new ones with our active Pi Phis, who are carrying on the work we left with our college days!

ATTENTION!

Detailed instructions concerning hotel reservations, purchase of railroad and pullman tickets, and care of baggage are given on the following pages. Please read these carefully and make your reservations as early as possible! A circular letter containing detailed plans of the day previous to Convention to be spent in Chicago or Detroit, Convention program, and house party following Convention to be held at Camp Panhellenic, will be sent to the active chapters and alumnae clubs sometime in April. Will any individual Pi Phis, who are not in touch with a chapter or club, wishing such information please write to the Convention Guide.

The atmosphere of Charlevoix and The Inn is simple and homey, and every effort is being made to have Convention in keeping with it. By that we mean to say that elaborate dress will be most unsuitable. A simple evening or semi-evening gown, a silk or summer afternoon frock, blouses for the traveling suit, a sweater or heavy wrap for cool evenings, and special togs for any out-door sports you wish to join are all that is necessary to make one feel suitably dressed.

HOTEL ANNOUNCEMENT

During Convention Pi-Phi will have exclusive use of The Inn, which will accommodate about 400 guests. However, any overflow of Pi Phis, relatives, or friends who wish to share our pleasures at Charlevoix) can be accommodated at The Belvidere or Charlevoix Beach, two nearby hotels, which promise us good rates.

Our rates at The Inn—$5.00 per day per person, two in a room also include the banquet, which will be the only formal occasion of Convention.

Reservations for Convention should be made, as soon as possible, through Mr. A. I. Creamer, at Highland Pines Inn, Southern Pines, N. C., until June first—after that date Mr. Creamer will be at The Inn, Charlevoix, Mich. June twenty-second is the latest date possible to make reservations!

VINE CLAD ARBOR

It is very necessary that you fill out the enclosed registration blank, and mail to the Convention Guide when making reservations with Mr. Creamer, as the Guide has charge of room assignments. If you desire to be en suite with or near friends who have made previous reservations, give necessary details of information and everything possible will be done to accommodate you. People making the earliest reservations will, of course, secure the most desirable rooms.

SECTION OF THE INN GROUND

Be sure to give the name of each member of the party for whom you are making reservations, to avoid duplications.

CONVENTION VIA CHICAGO AND DETROIT

The alumnæ clubs of Chicago and Detroit will establish headquarters, at which to meet and get acquainted with the Pi Phis who will pass through their respective cities on June thirtieth, on the way to Charlevoix. Detailed plans have not been completed as yet, but will be given in the June ARROW or circular letter.

CONVENTION VIA MOTOR

The latest maps and general information concerning roads to Charlevoix from Chicago and Detroit are in the hands of the Convention Guide, who will be very glad to give special advice to anyone who applies. The Michigan roads which are through beautiful resort country, are being greatly improved this spring, and promise a pleasant trip to those who are interested in motoring.

IMPORTANT

TRANSPORTATION

Buy your railroad tickets from your home or your starting point direct to Charlevoix, Mich., arriving there on the Pere Marquette Railroad, via Grand Rapids, Mich., Detroit, Mich., Toledo, Ohio, or Chicago. These will all be meeting places for Pi Phis, and starting points of the Pere Marquette Resort trains. Be sure to ask for summer tourist rates, from the above mentioned points.

THE INN

Our train for Charlevoix will leave the above starting points on Thursday, June 30, as follows:

Leave:
Chicago .....	6:30 P. M.
Detroit.....	7:45 P. M.
*Toledo .....	2:10 P. M.
Grand Rapids.....	11:50 P. M.

* Passengers from Toledo arrive in Detroit at 4:10 P. M. and leave with Detroit Pi Phis at 7:45 P. M.

A MESSAGE TO MOTHERS AND DAUGHTERS

To all who have been privileged to attend Convention have come the thrills and excitement, the inspiration of the session the good times and friendship.

But have you ever thought what an added meaning it would have for Mother and Daughter to attend together? Have you thought of the wonderful privilege of having mutual friendship and of belonging to an organization where there were no boundaries of age; where both young and mature women mingle with a common interest, all working with one object, which is service and loyalty to the ideals of our fraternity.

To you, Mothers and Daughters in Pi Beta Phi, we urge that you plan to attend the 1921 Convention at Charlevoix, we have tried it and know that what we say is true.

A WORD TO INITIATES

Convention! Just what does that word signify to most of us? Possibly the gathering together of Pi Phis from each chapter for dry business meetings, or maybe merely a pleasure trip. But to one who has attended a convention the word signifies a deeper feeling. We call it "Inspiration."

Imagine Charlevoix Inn converted into a large fraternity house and many Pi Phis from all over the country living there for a week. An experience such as that cannot but broaden our vision. Pi Beta Phi is no longer a group of girls confined to one college but means an organization comprising the North, South, East, and West. And with this broader vision comes a deeper conception of what our Fraternity means.

One convention session alone acquaints us with the workings of the organization better than many hours spent in study. Above all we can readily catch the spirit of Pi Beta Phi, the indescribable something which makes the Fraternity what it is.

At the end of my freshman year at college being then a duly initiated member of our loved Pi Beta Phi I went to convention. I'll admit my knowledge of fraternity was slight—I had really been a wearer of the arrow for only a few weeks. But what I gained at Charlevoix I never could have gained in three years' activities on the campus. The Scholarship Symposium gave me a realization that our Fraternity thought work honorable. The discussion of suitable war work and of the Settlement School showed me the breadth of our interests. Then, too, there was manifest that feeling of fellowship which means so much to the girls gathered at Convention. Last but not least I'd mention the friendship with the leaders of Pi Beta Phi. It was they who inspired the undergraduate, with the inspiration which remains.

Many times since I have looked back upon that happy week, and it was so pleasant, and so helpful, that I am hoping to be "among those present" again this year. Here's to the success of the Charlevoix Convention of 1921, and here's hoping that many newly-initiated members may be in attendance.

WHERE IS SHE?

BY WELTHY HONSINGER

The writer of the following article is better known to our undergraduates than are most of our sisters engaged in foreign service as she addressed many student audiences during 1919-20 and was one of the most popular speakers on the program of the Student Volunteer Conference in Des Moines last winter.

WELTHY HONSINGER

During her college days and the years immediately following her graduation from Syracuse University, Miss Honsinger had no thought of foreign missions as a profession but was a teacher of languages and a student of voice culture with a talent so great that her teachers urged her to study for Grand Opera. Her life in China at first, differed little from that of the average foreign missionary—then came a frightful conflagration destroying Baldwin School in Nanchang where she was located—and the rest of the story is best told in her own words.

"I rushed home to America, made 465 speeches, raised money, equipment and faculty and returned to build. I built for one and a half years. I wish I could tell the whole story of the difficulties I met and the fun I had in surmounting them. *

With hundreds of coolies working daily to fill in ponds and level the earth, I kept myself in fine physical condition racing from class-room to building operations, and meanwhile I was buying brick. . . . There was scarcely a moment during all the years of building when either Ilien Tang (my Chinese assistant) or I was not on the spot. And what we learned about mixing concrete; how to make fireplaces that do not smoke; how to lay floor beams and floors. We learned many things beside. One Chinese man said that by knowing just when to change my mind I could manage contractors and workmen without strikes.

After completing five buildings, I came home and did war work for the War Work Council of the Y. W. C. A. Going over to France the first time I traveled in a company of 55,000 soldiers carried in nineteen camouflaged transports. In answer to a cablegram I returned, still before the Armistice, to help in the big drive for funds. Then after a few short weeks at home, I started out again, and saw the women of Belgium, Italy, France and England, demobilizing their forces and getting ready for the war of peace which was to be the greater war for every lonely thinking woman. Afterwards, I lectured on the Chautauqua platform."

Miss Honsinger sent this article from Tokyo, Japan, where she was spending a little time on her tour of the world with Miss Margaret Slattery. On her return from this long journey, this spring, we hope she will have another message for her fraternity sisters.—EDITOR.

I met her in a little German village near Coblenz. She had walked up with our boys through the mud on that dreary march after November 11, from Sedan to the Rhine. She had gone always ahead of her regiment, far enough to have ready hot coffee and sandwiches as often as they caught up to her. With shoes worn and feet almost bleeding, they marched uncomplaining, because the spirit of this great-souled American woman ever led them on. And when they arrived at this hitherto unknown little German village, she stopped with them. Out of nothing-at-all, except her American ingenuity, she transformed an old empty barn into a bower of comfort and a home. She was an American woman of whom the whole world was proud, and whom every doughboy loved.

America is no longer at war: and we are already hearing much about the return to petty class distinctions which, during the spiritual exhilarations of war, were too small to be thought of. We are hearing of the slump in all strata of social life. I am unwilling to believe that those great souled women whom I met serving under the colors, and under the great Red Cross, both in America, and in France, Belgium and on the Rhine—I am unwilling to believe that they are indifferent to the cry of the children of the world.

In the past few weeks, I have passed through many Oriental ports; yesterday we sailed into one too beautiful to describe—only to be told it was closed on account of cholera. We were microscopically examined and held in quarantine for twenty-four hours, but were still not allowed to land. For two months every bit of water that has passed our lips even for brushing our teeth, has been boiled and filtered; and not one taste of fresh fruit or fresh vegetables have we dared to take, although they have been served every meal. I have walked through the street where ninety deaths from cholera were reported in one week. Part of the East is fighting cholera. The student East is fighting, while the untutored East is breaking every law of sanitation, and prevention and is scattering the scourge as only Ignorance can.

I looked down through the narrow streets of cities and saw the children who could not possibly resist it when it came—I looked for a trained district nurse who could help the untaught mother to fight. I looked for her and wherever I found her, there was intelligent prevention, but mostly I looked in vain.

A few weeks ago I walked down from the mountains of Central China where one must flee to escape the consequences of heat. The mountains were over four thousand feet high and weary from the journey, I rejoiced to see a Ford ready to take me across the plains. To buy the ticket, I went into the Rest House and in the room lay a child very ill. One look assured me it was small pox, and the Chinese standing by reassured me it was "heavenly flowers" (small pox).

Where was the help for China?

I met her in the busy mart of the great interior city of China. The city numbers a million people but has no water system; its reservoir is still its yellow muddy river and its viaduct the shoulders of many coolies. The heat was unthinkable; and she was in a quaintly covered jinricksha bumping along over the uneven pavements—the street was so narrow, my ricksha had to wait in an alcove for hers to pass: for she was the American Doctor rushing to a patient. She is the only one for all the women of the city and when all other hope has fled, they send for her.

Last year the Governor decorated her, because she saved the city from an epidemic of small-pox—she had herself vaccinated ten thousand people! The government furnished the vaccine and she, the skill. All classes are her friends. Officials' wives and coolies' wives look to her as their savior, while the Government recognizes her as a great asset—this weary woman of a far country who has come to them with skill and love to serve.

Where is the American woman sanitarian who will come to join the hands of this great woman—and join the hands also of the young Chinese women physicians to teach the very idea of prevention?

I walked again through the great city and visited its schools and found that boys and girls altogether in schools were three thousand! Three thousand in a city of a million, going to school!

Where is the American woman of culture and sympathy and ability who will come to help this great Chinese people who are struggling for a New Life? Where are the teachers who will spend themselves upon the children of China and thereby lay the foundations for a Great New Day in that land?

In the corner of that city I found one who had come, who had gathered two hundred Chinese girls about her. Within the walls of that compound where the girls lived, was health and laughter, and purpose, it was the earnest of a New Hope; the pledge of a New Day.

There are cities in every part of China and the Orient which are screaming out their need to one who can hear; their need for strong-minded, strong-bodied and strong-spirited women.

The educated Oriental women are spending all that life has given them in complete devotion to the task. There are Chinese doctors, nurses, teachers, bankers and mothers who are breaking with the burden; the task is colossal and they need help.

They need the American woman who is greater than any creed; a woman who puts love before dogma, a woman whose great passion is to serve.

JAPANESE LIFE IN TOWN AND COUNTRY

By THOMASINE ALLEN, Indiana A, '11

Five years ago as I was starting out on what was for me an untrodden path, a friend said, "You will doubtless soon become so fond of your little Japanese friends that you won't care to come back to us." That seemed to me then the greatest impossibility my mind could fathom, and yet it has almost come true. Within a week I will be leaving the shores of my adopted country for those of my native land, and looming above the natural joy of home-going is the sorrow of leaving my Japanese friends, for I love them dearly.

For the first two years of my existence in Japan I lived in Tokyo and attended the Japanese Language School. I will not go into the intricacies of the Japanese language, but suffice it to say that it is without doubt the hardest language in the world, for not only must you learn two ways of writing Japanese characters, but in addition you must learn several hundred Chinese characters with their Japanese as well as Chinese readings. I hope that this will be a challenge to all Phi Beta Kappas and linguists to come out and tackle it.

In Tokyo one has many social advantages, afternoon teas galore, receptions, dinner parties and occasional fêtes at the embassies, and once in a lifetime either a cherry or chrysanthemum party at a palace where you see the Emperor and Empress and attendants. Friends were surprised that I wanted to leave the capital city and go to the country where foreigners were few and far between. But those who have once really tasted the country life feel nothing but pity for those missionaries who have to live in Tokyo or the other large foreignized cities. You must remember that the Japanese meaning of country is different from ours. Anything outside of Tokyo (with the possible exception of Yokohama, Osaka and Kyoto) is country to them. For three years my home has been in Sendai, the largest city in northern Japan and yet it is "country." Here I spend part of my week teaching Bible in Japanese; and my native tongue to about one hundred fifty girls to whom it is a foreign language. Then with my Japanese helper, Obara San, I go on week-end trips to country towns and villages on my "field"—a field which covers a large part of northern Japan.

AFTERNOON TEA

Thomasine Allen and Ubara San.

The place where the picture is hanging is called the tokonoma or honorable place. In the center of the room is the hubaihi or fire-box—the only heating apparatus. Then you can see the cake box, the tea cups, etc.

Go with me in imagination for just a little while. You will probably want to hold your nose as you climb into a third class coach for our two hour ride. (I have no sense of smell—an excellent qualification in a missionary in the Orient.) But you will want to keep your eyes open for many and varied are the sights you behold inside as well as outside the car window—the queer dress; the babies on the backs of the women or men, or frequently on little children; the curious little one-puff pipes which demand constant refilling and relighting; the small thatched roof houses with their attractive paper doors; and then the ever present water-covered rice fields in which the clouds, the sky, the gnarled and twisted old pines and even the passing train are mirrored.

Arriving at our destination we can do one of three things: walk five or six miles, ride in a jinriksha, or go in an auto (a late acquisition—but the roads are so terrible, riding is anything but a pleasure). We go first to our little Japanese hotel where we have a cup of tea and are urged to enter the bath. But as these are more or less public affairs we refuse and proceed to the Japanese evangelist's house where we make our "aisatsu," or greeting, which consists of many low bows (sitting on the flooring of thick mats and almost touching your nose to the floor), punctuated by many polite phrases, such as, "It has been a long time since I hung my eyes upon your honorable face"—"For all the many kindnesses of the past I thank you"—"The last time I saw you I was very impolite to you"—"How is your honorable body?"—"Thanks to your honorable shadow I am quite well," etc., etc. You can keep this up as long as your vocabulary lasts. Then you partake of more tea and cake with the necessary accompanying bows.

Our work during the two or three days we are in this village consists in holding several children's meetings, a women's meeting and calling on the Christians and inquirers. Upon entering a house, after the many bows and polite greetings, the first thing the hostess does is to serve you tea and cakes. The wife can hear nothing you say until this sign of hospitality is shown (poor homes as well as rich). So you can imagine after a day's calling that one is not in dire need of supper.

There is one home where we always go. The man is an invalid who has not walked for twelve years, so on the wife's shoulders rests the financial burden of caring for the family. She sells charcoal and frequently has to deliver it also, carrying heavy bags on her back. In no other place do I feel more the presence of the Unseen than when I meet with them in prayer.

From this humble home let us go to the site of the old feudal castle. Here situated on a high hill with the old inner and outer moats now seen as rice fields, is a lovely old house, a relic of past glory, where the granddaughters of the old daimyo or feudal lord live. We are likewise most cordially welcomed here. One of the girls plays for us on the Japanese harp or koto, and then a desire is expressed that we teach them some Christian hymns which of course we gladly do, following this up with a Bible lesson and prayer.

At our hotel we find a Japanese lad awaiting us. Because he is a Christian he has refused to participate in a heathen festival where he was one of the chosen ones to carry the god on his shoulders through the streets. This was a hard test for the boy for it meant a family break and a break with his village boy's association, but after a whole night of prayer his answer came—"What would Jesus do?" And he knew that his Leader would not hesitate to walk the hard path and he must not be less faithful. Shortly after this the boy's grandfather died, and the father thinking that the boy's infidelity to the gods of his fathers and his adherence to the new faith responsible for the death began to persecute the lad and tried to kill him with a knife. He is still being persecuted but is faithful to his Christian convictions. He always comes to us to talk things over and have prayer together. I know you will understand when I say that I feel as though I were the pupil and not the "sensei," or teacher, for I always come away strengthened and helped.

During these days in the country I live entirely Japanese fashion (wearing American dress however), eating Japanese food on a tray set before me on the floor, sitting and sleeping likewise on the same floor. So when the day comes for returning to our American built home in Sendai, my knees are a tiny bit stiff. It is also good to get back to a good old wood stove and not just a little charcoal fire in a box, for our winters are very cold.

Then I begin a busy life of teaching in the school and also some outside Bible classes; supervising the dormitory, entertaining Japanese callers, keeping accounts—school, dormitory, evangelistic, poor house, and our own house accounts (three of us live together); instructing the servants and the ever present studying of the language. But we missionaries believe that "All Work and no play makes Jack a dull boy," and so we get together occasionally for teas and dinners, and once or twice a year we put on, for our own amusement, a first class minstrel show or sometimes a concert, for we have several fine musicians in our small foreign community. And so we work and play and pray—loving and laughing and trying to lift.

We need you college girls—we need short term English teachers, we need first class musicians, and in all we need girls who are willing to consecrate their lives, their music, their intellect to the work which offers the greatest opportunities in the world—Foreign mission work.

Sendai, Japan.

COME TO CHINA!

BY RUTH PYE KING, Arkansas A, '12

How limited is the Westerner's knowledge of the activity of the oriental mind in its process of reasoning! Nevertheless a continual study of these wonderful people and of their ways, never ceases to be intensely interesting. For the girls of Pi Beta Phi fraternity, there is no greater field for service than in China if one cares to think and work in terms of the world. On the other hand, if one cares to consider only the welfare of our beloved United States, one can not afford to ignore China with all that that word means.

The ruins of the old cathedral at Macau which inspired Sir John Bowring, governor of Hong Kong, to write the famous hymn, "In the Cross of Christ I Glory." Notice the cross at the top that still towers o'er the wrecks of time.

In the current magazines there are so many splendid articles on China and the East, it would be useless to try to present information to my Pi Phi sisters in regard to China by giving long descriptions. In passing, let me say that China knows that America is her friend. She looks to the United States more than any other nation, to help her help herself out of the present chaos. Are we going to disappoint her?

Perhaps China will be presented to you from various standpoints by others interested in different phases of this wonderful nation. May I make an appeal for more of our Pi Phi girls to help in the task of the spreading of Christianity in China? Let me state briefly several reasons why. One reason is that if China adopts Western civilization without Christianity, the peace of the entire world will be endangered. What benefit will be derived from an educated nation without the sound guiding principles that only Christianity can instill? Some might call attention to the great number of good people in the United States who do not pretend to be Christians. Nevertheless the moral standard by which they live and the laws by which they are governed are based on Christianity. If Christianity had never been preached in our great America, our nation would still be in the condition of China with her robbers, plagues, floods, uprisings and immorality.

ON MY WAY TO SUNDAY SCHOOL AND CHURCH ON SUNDAY MORNING

Another reason for the call of China to Pi Phi is because the task of spreading the Gospel here, is a difficult one. There is use for every talent that any girl may possess—the more ability one has, the greater the service to be rendered. Girls with initiative are needed; girls willing to accept responsibility and girls who forget self in the task they are doing; girls who are cheerful in the face of what the world calls defeat and girls who are broad-minded and far-sighted enough to see beyond today's task—these are needed.

Sisters of Pi Beta Phi, if you have great faith in God, faith in yourself, and faith in your fellow man, you are needed in China. If you want to study one of the most difficult languages on the face of the globe, come to China; if you want to work among an interesting people, come to China; if you can be successful without the praise of man, come to China; if you care to lay up treasures where neither moth nor rust doth consume, come to China!

Tung Shan,
Canton, China.

AN AMERICAN HOME IN JAPAN

BY MARJORY WHITNEY HALL, Michigan A, '10

American Board's Japan Mission,
Maebashi, Japan, May 11, 1920.

I can't resist stopping my strenuous duties long enough to tell you how happy I am every time THE ARROW arrives. I always have more enthusiasm for my daily tasks after reading what the other Pi Phis are doing. Thomasine Allen, Indiana A, lives at Nakajima Cho, Sendai, Japan. I used to see her quite often at Language School. She knew our beloved Mrs. Drybread, so we were more than friends right at the beginning.

We live about three hours from Tokyo, right in the midst of the silk reeling district. Maebashi—population 60,000—is the center of the government of the Kenor province. There are 20,000 factory workers in this city and no work being done for them. The girls enter these factories at eleven or twelve years of age and last two, three or four years according to their vitality. No time for being just "girls" makes them old before their time. I wish I could go on and describe their dormitories and their work in general and I wish all Pi Phis knew the great need and opportunity for social work here. These girls don't know how to play and are influenced by superstition and their ideals are those of the men and women around them. My heart aches for them when I think of our girls at home. There is a big field for work—pioneer work at that.

Japan is beautiful at this time of year. We are enjoying the springtime more than ever for we are settled in our own field to work. Mr. Hall has charge of the Mission churches in this province—Gumma Ken. and has English Bible classes besides. At present the Niigata province is without a missionary so he has charge of that work too. It is more than one man can do, but we are hoping for reinforcements soon to relieve the situation.

About myself? I'm just a wife and mother as I would be in America. Servants are scarce. Factories are drawing all such people so I have had to get along with my outdoor man. His wife comes in three hours a day to do the upstairs work. We live in a mammoth, big old-fashioned house—no gas, no running water, only electric lights to show we belong to this age. We use charcoal to cook by. All our water is pumped and brought in. You can see then when I say that after my housework is done I don't have much time for outside work. But I am acting Superintendent of the Sunday School in the Maebashi Church, teacher of the Cradle Roll department, and teach music to the choir girls. These girls attend the Christian School here in our compound. Besides this there are always callers and calls to make.

Of course most of my time is used in looking after our son. He is the only foreign kiddie in this province of 2,000,000 people and is quite a curiosity with his white hair and blue eyes. He attends our Mission kindergarten with the Japanese kiddies and enjoys his Japanese playmates and teachers.

This is the time to turn Japan toward higher ideals. She is undergoing a political and economic change. All the Orient looks to her as a leader. She may be hated by China, Korea, etc., but she is the leader nevertheless. Now is the time for all kinds of specialized Christian work. We love the country and its people—we want others to do the same.

KULING

(The many friends of Dr. Gertrude Beggs, Colorado B, '93, who learned with surprise of her departure for China last September will read with interest this fascinating account of Kuling, where she is now a valued member of the faculty.—EDITOR.)

The Kuling School is a school in the mountains of Central China, founded three years ago primarily for the children of missionaries. It is not a large school as yet, but its intimate relation to the missionary enterprise in a large section of the greatest mission field of the world gives it an importance out of all proportion to its size.

Kuling is the largest of the summer resorts and sanatoriums that have of recent years revolutionized life for foreigners in China. It is situated in the Lu Mountains close to the Yangtse River some five hundred miles from the coast. Automobiles take visitors from the river steamers to the foot of the mountains; and a funicular railway, now under construction, will this year, it is hoped, supersede sedan chairs and coolie bearers in carrying them to the top.

Some seventeen hundred foreigners assemble in Kuling in the summer months, while a smaller community including the staff of a well-equipped hospital remain through the year. The three hundred and more bungalows are scattered in a lovely valley set between the mountain peaks at an altitude of nearly four thousand feet. The climate is superb, and the place is one of the most beautiful and healthful in all Asia. It is an ideal location for a school.

To appreciate the unique service rendered by the Kuling School, one must understand the situation which it relieves.

Until recent years the children of missionaries in Central China have grown up in an environment unhealthy and enervating. The death rate among them was high, and many who survived carried through life a weakened vitality as a result of the experience of their early years.

Because of the lack of all schools their only resource was such teaching as the parents were able to spare time for in their busy lives. Furthermore the morally enervating influence of heathen customs and standards was to the parents, as the children grew older, a cause of ever graver concern.

As the only escape from these conditions the custom in the past was to send children home to school anywhere between the ages of seven and fourteen, after which they saw almost nothing of their parents until they were grown. Often the mothers went home with their children, leaving their fathers working for years in the field alone. It is not too much to say that this break-up of families with the subsequent separation of parents and children has, in the past, been the source of more pain and anxiety to missionaries than all other causes combined.

It not infrequently happened, where families were large, that both parents gave up their work in China and returned home to educate their children. Many valuable workers have thus been lost to the field. To relieve this crying need schools have been established by the several missionary boards to educate the children of missionaries on the field. The Chefoo School, of the China Inland Mission, is the oldest and largest of these, practically all the others have been established in the last ten years.

The Kuling School was intended primarily for the missionary children of Central China, but it promises to be no less a boon to children of consuls, business men and European customs officials. Of the missionaries alone there are one thousand working in the Central China provinces, and soon the opening of the Hancow—Canton Railway will make the school available to the seven hundred missionaries of the semi-tropical southern provinces. The school is inter-denominational and international as several nationalities are represented among its pupils.

The school offers these hundreds of boys and girls a refuge from the enervating climate, the many epidemic diseases and the moral miasma of the cities of the plain by receiving them at early primary age into this veritable mountain paradise where they acquire the health and physical stamina of young mountaineers. It gives them a sound education according to approved modern methods in place of fragmentary teaching by their parents. It prevents the pitiful break-up of families and keeps the children with their parents until they are almost ready for college. The fact that the mothers of most of the children are in Kuling for all of the summer months, and the fathers for part of the time makes it possible for the children to be a maximum of time with their families, with a minimum of expense and trouble.

The school also effects an immense saving of missionary time by making it unnecessary for the parents to teach their children themselves. Kuling and similar schools save many valuable workers who would otherwise for the sake of the children's education return for years, or permanently to the home land.

Moreover the school promises to render another valuable service to the mission cause. Almost the best missionaries in China today are those who are themselves the children of missionaries. To illustrate this point let me cite the case of two brothers the sons of a distinguished missionary of Hang Chow now gone to his reward. One of the brothers is president of the Hang Chow College, and the other has just been called to the presidency of the University of Peking.

Unfortunately, in the past comparatively few missionary children have returned to China as missionaries. This is probably due to the fact that they were away from China and away from the influence of their parents in the impressionable years that follow adolescence. It is expected that, among its graduates, the influence of the Kuling School will result in a much larger proportion of second-generation missionaries.

The home side of the problem is also relieved. The missionary children who come home to school become especial responsibilities to their relatives, to the Mission Boards, and the schools to which they are sent. Often grave problems arise in regard to them which are the cause of no little anxiety. While removed from immediate parental influence and restraint they are expected to be particularly good because they are the children of missionaries; often this expectation expressed and "rubbed in" operates to drive the child in the contrary direction.

A gentleman recently told me that in the school of which he is a trustee a girl was to be brought before the disciplinary committee for some offense. It was remarked to him that the girl was especially culpable because she was the daughter of a missionary. He replied that he thought the reverse was true, that because she had been from a little child separated from her parents without their training and influence, less should be expected of her, and she was therefor entitled to greater leniency. I have also recently heard of one school in which there are now three children, each presenting a grave problem to both mission board and school management, the parents of all three being absent in the foreign field. It should be quite evident that the schools that keep children of missionaries with their families until ready for college lift heavy burdens from many shoulders, at home.

The Kuling School is now in its fourth session. Last year it had an enrollment of ninety pupils, representing eleven different missions. In a year or two, when accommodations are adequate, one hundred and fifty are expected. An unusually fine faculty of eight teachers has been secured, and educational work of a high order is being done.

One has only to think of the service which the school renders to the missionaries, their children, their relatives at home, the mission boards, and the mission cause to realize what large interests it conserves, and that aiding it will be an investment promising unusual returns. This is the only thing that the missionaries of Central China are asking for themselves, a school for the educating of their children. Certainly they deserve this of the Church, and certainly these hundreds of American boys and girls, with their unusually high moral and intellectual heritage, deserve a chance to prepare themselves for the work and service of life in the world of our generation.

Y. W. C. A. SERVICE IN INDIA

BY MARTHA DOWNEY, Michigan B, '08

The responsibility of writing anything about the work of the Y. W. C. A. in India, the conditions and the difficulties we meet is truly great and I hesitated to write on that account. India is a land of the complex, and it is impossible to generalize even in Y. W. C. A. work. The purpose of the association in the East is the same as that at home—to unite girls and women in all-round development and whole-hearted service—but our problems are far from settled when it comes to fulfilling the purpose.

The chief difficulty in Y. W. C. A. work here, to my mind, is the race problem. In India are to be found three distinct classes of people, the Indian, the so-called European, meaning the Westerner, and the Anglo-Indian, those of mixed parentage.

India, as never before, is awakening to an intensely national feeling which we are most happy to see; but with that feeling have come unrest and often resentment at "Western interference." It is a most natural and justifiable feeling, but it nevertheless intensifies the problem. If we from the west are to expect to do any good in India, we must strive with all our energy to think with India's mind, to feel her problems, to adapt ourselves to India's point of view, to adopt Indian methods wherever possible, in fact, to be willing "to sit at India's feet and learn," and to take a subordinate position, if need be. This does not mean in any way compromising our Christian principles, but studying how to express those principles to meet the need. India's culture, art, and industries are not to be despised; and as for her people we have much to learn from them. India's women cannot be equalled anywhere for their modesty and dignity.

It is not my purpose to write a eulogy on India, but I want to show that the blending of East and West is growing more difficult every day, and that the Westerner is not in an easy position. He is tolerated, but whether he will be loved or not will depend upon his ability to love in the truest sense of the word.

It is not only the relationship between the Indian and the European that makes the work difficult, but also the problem of the mixed race. In India there are one hundred thousand people of mixed Indian and western parentage. The Anglo-Indian woman, although numerically in the minority, is one of our most serious problems, as the work in India was originally organized for her benefit. English is her native tongue, and her life and customs are western. She is looked down upon by the Indian and European alike and she, in turn, despises the Indian. This most lamentable situation makes the blending of the work next to impossible, and yet if the Y. W. C. A. is to fulfill her mission she must do her part in helping to bring about a more sympathetic understanding, not only between the Indian and the Anglo-Indian, but also between the European and the Anglo-Indian.

Then for the Americans there is the third problem, that of adjusting themselves to the British point of view. We must adopt an English vocabulary, and must with studied effort seek to put aside any Americanisms that set up a barrier between ourselves and our British co-workers. America is in none too good favour with the British in India, but individual Americans can do much to break down the barrier by being willing to do their part. We need not try to cover up the fact that we are Americans, for that would be impossible even if we wanted to, but we can try to "rub off the corners" that emphasize our differences.

The climate and the resulting langour of the people, including ourselves, is another serious hindrance to rapid development. One has to learn very soon that she cannot do the same quantity of work in a given time as she does at home. "The East moves slowly," and there is a reason. We would be sent home on sick leave in six months time if we tried to hurry things along; and yet, in spite of this drawback of climate, everyone is usually trying to do three people's work because of the shortage of workers!

The work of the Y. W. C. A. varies considerably according to the needs of the different cities and towns, and the different communities. If anyone is especially interested and will write me, I shall be very pleased to send her copies of printed matter giving a fairly good idea of our work and of what we are trying to do.

India needs workers, but she needs only our best. The Indian sets a very high standard for and expects much from the Westerner, both intellectually and spiritually. A religious motive is essential for everyone who wishes to work in this land, and no one should come who has not the keenest sense of her mission, for she will be called upon to face many difficulties and to suffer, and without this driving force she will most certainly be doomed to failure.

I have said nothing about the joy and compensation in the work, as you asked me to tell of the difficulties that one meets, but I cannot close without saying that these far outweigh any suffering, physical, mental, or spiritual which every one that comes to India is bound to meet.

THE WORK OF A HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS' DEAN

BY ANNA E. MARSHALL, Michigan B

Many ARROW readers know the thrill of the moment when an editor becomes interested in the little realm of one's daily business, and sees in it many things that would be of interest to others. They will, therefore, appreciate that it is a real pleasure to write briefly something of my work in Battle Creek, Michigan, as Girls' Dean in the high school.

The World War has had to assume so many responsibilities for changes in our every day life that it is adding only one more to the long list when I say that the unusual part of my work started as a war inspiration and because Camp Custer was located so near Battle Creek.

Approximately seven hundred girls attend our high school, and consequently with the many sided interests of girls of that age there is enough for a girls' dean to do in normal times. However, soon after the United States declared war on Germany our girls became imbued with a spirit of service, and were anxious to take a place with other civic organizations in the city in helping to win the war, and at the same time to train themselves to assume places of responsibility in the community. It was a noble purpose and met with hearty response on the part of the school authorities and the city Council for National Defense. An organization was therefore formed under my direct supervision which became known as the Daughters of Liberty. The constitution provides for officers as in any organization, with an executive board composed of the officers, the chairmen of the committees and the faculty advisers. All girls in school are members and they elect the officers, while the chairmen of committees are appointed. There are six standing committees, each consisting of four members, one girl from the four grades. Each committee also has a faculty adviser. The remaining girls in school are divided into six groups and assigned to a committee, so that every chairman has a large group of workers to call upon. The demands on the committees have been quite varied, but it has always been possible to classify them under the following heads: School Service, Public Service, Patriotic, Red Cross, and Publicity. Extra committees have been added from time to time as occasion demanded. Our object has been to serve the community by accomplishing a specific result and at the same time give each girl as much responsibility and experience as was deemed best. We know that girls are happier "doing something," provided they are not overtaxed and the work is well supervised.

Our first undertaking was the establishment of a fully equipped Red Cross workroom in school. We had a trained teacher in charge, and girls were allowed to work there during their study periods. The amount of splendid work which was accomplished in a short time was surprising and very gratifying. Patriotic activities did not stop with the war. The Daughters of Liberty have since presented to the school two very fine memorials, one a beautiful bronze tablet with the Honor Roll of our schools' heroes who died serving their country, and the other a handsome hand-lettered roster containing the names of the six hundred and twenty boys from our school who answered the call of military service. It took many schemes to raise the money and pay for these memorials, but the girls were ingenious and determined to earn every penny by their own enterprises. For the past two years this organization has had charge of the Memorial Day exercises at school. Programs were arranged for each day and patriotic organizations in the city were invited guests. As a part of the exercises the two memorials were unveiled and given to the school, one each year.

Perhaps the largest and most detailed undertaking were the two Victory Festivals given to commemorate the signing of the Armistice. Each of these entertainments, one given December 11, 1918, one month after the document was signed, the other November 11, 1919, were original in character and form. The gymnasium was used as an amphitheater, the bleachers being put up on three sides of the room, and the fourth left as a stage. About three hundred girls took an active part in both entertainments, which were in pageant form. The first festival was presented by seven distinct scenes, each one showing some work which the girls and women of the United States had done to help win the war. Novel costumes, stage arrangements and spoken lines gave the audience picturesque conceptions of the Garden and Canning Clubs, the Red Cross Workers, the Farmerettes, the Women's Employment Bureau, the Day Nursery, and of many other occupations so familiar all over our land during the war. The high school orchestra, and the girls' glee club furnished the music, while the aesthetic dancing classes gave some clever dances in costumes appropriate to the scenes. The second festival was similar to the first in arrangement but different in theme, for in this one, the girls carried out the idea of how the first news of the armistice was received by women in many lands all over the world. The acts and lines, which were entirely original, cleverly showed the native impulses of women at such a time, in some cases joy, for instance, in others sorrow, or revenge. Among the best acts were the extemporaneous trial of the Kaiser by English women, the Armenian relief from Turkish oppression, and a religious scene of the Italians. Both entertainments were free to the patrons of the schools and needless to say a great many people were in attendance.

Important as our patriotic activities have been they represent but one phase of our work. Many social affairs have also been undertaken by this organization. One of these is for new girls at the opening of school and then others are given during the year when the upper grade girls entertain the lower grade girls, the older girls acting as escorts for the younger ones. Last year, on Valentine's Day, they managed an elaborate masquerade dance for high school boys and girls.

Beside these patriotic and social activities there have been a great many miscellaneous ones for the Daughters of Liberty. I can only mention a few to show the variety: taking care of the restroom at school; keeping the medicine cabinet in order; looking after new girls in school and helping them to find congenial friends; collecting college catalogues for the use of senior girls; helping to find employment for those who wish work outside of school hours; and the making of two war scrap-books for the library. Also they have affiliated with the city organizations and have rendered valuable assistance to them in many ways, such as typing, driving automobiles, selling red cross seals, giving short talks for public enterprises. They made up Thanksgiving baskets; took children to see the toy shops at Christmas time; conducted a Day Nursery during the summer of 1918; assisted in the Child Welfare Work, and presided over numerous mass meetings. Assisted by the Y. W. C. A. and the Collegiate Alumnæ, the Daughters of Liberty conducted last May a Vocational Conference at which many noted speakers from our Michigan colleges were present and spoke on the special educational advantages offered at each institution.

As can readily be judged a more detailed account of the workings of this organization is necessary to an understanding of my position as girls' dean. For my work with individual girls and policies for the school are so bound up in the work of this society that they can hardly be separated. Let me emphasize again that these activities of the girls are under direct faculty supervision and I have had a splendid corps of teachers to assist. The girls, however, do the active work and the results are very gratifying to all concerned.

In conclusion I may add that I assist the Principal in regard to all girl problems, both general and individual, and by this coöperation the girls feel that they have an equal chance with the boys in getting all they can out of their high school life.

*A PI BETA PHI AND NEAR EAST RELIEF

When Mrs. Rosalie Nixon, Louisiana A, was a little girl her mother must have impressed most strongly on her mind the ancient maxim, "Handsome is as handsome does." For since the not very distant days of her childhood Mrs. Nixon refused to be content with being handsome; she has insisted on "doing handsome" as well.

That she has succeeded in following the second precept, as she so obviously has the first, anyone who has read the newspapers of the southern states knows very well. Her career as woman's editor is an unusual one even in this day of unusual careers. But when the call to war came Mrs. Nixon gave up the profession in which she had won such success and departed for France to serve with the Red Cross.

* Manuscript furnished by Near East Relief News Service, One Madison Ave., New York City.

Mrs. Nixon's most signal achievements however, have been in connection with her latest field of activity—the work of the Near East Relief. Immediately on her return from France after the Armistice Mrs. Nixon became interested in the cause of this martyred people—one and a half million of whom had died by massacre or starvation since the beginning of the Great War. Her sympathies being enlisted it was a short step to the enlistment of her services.

MRS. ROSALIE NIXON

Mrs. Nixon had tried and done various things in her quite short life, but public speaking was not one of them. But public speaking it was that she was asked to do. A deep conviction and sympathy for the cause she was presenting and a winning personality, she was told, were the secrets of success. All of these Mrs. Nixon had—though she was rather reluctant about discussing the personality.

It proved a good recipe. Through all the southern and many of the northern and eastern states Mrs. Nixon went on her tour of arousing and organizing the college women of the country to come to the aid of the women and children of Armenia. Thousands of little orphan waifs in far away Turkey owe their lives today to the appeals made by Mrs. Nixon to the women of America. Five dollars a month feeds a child at the soup kitchen of the Near East Relief—which is the official organization chartered by Congress to carry on in Armenia—ten dollars feeds and houses him in one of the American orphanages and fifteen dollars a month provides for his education and clothing as well."

"Adopt an orphan" was the slogan and as a result of the work of Mrs. Nixon and her associates there are today one hundred and ten thousand children being fed daily at the soup kitchens of the Near East Relief. There are fifty-nine thousand orphans housed in the two hundred and twenty-nine orphanages established throughout Syria, Armenia and Asia Minor. But for the generosity of America these children would have perished of cold and starvation as hundreds of thousands of their brothers and sisters.

Besides the rescue of the little children left orphan by the massacres and the deportations, the Near East Relief has also done a marvellous work with the Armenian girls held captive in Turkish harems. It is estimated that in all some ten thousand of these girls have already been brought out of captivity, and cared for by the American relief until they have been put on a self-supporting basis or been returned to their own homes in the cases where they are fortunate enough to have homes to be returned to.

In this work, especially, Mrs. Nixon has interested many women's clubs and college fraternities. The frightful experiences through which these girls, so many of them in their early teens, have passed since 1915, are such as to win sympathy from even the most self-centered of women.

In many cases the situation of these Armenian girls is complicated by the fact of their having children by their Turkish masters. Too often leaving the "house of bondage" means also giving up their babies. And Turkish though they be, these little Armenian mothers will not give them up, even though the price is servitude and too frequently hardship and mistreatment. In many cases, however, the Turks, either through fear of the Americans or because they do not care to support their Armenian offspring, permit the mothers to take their children with them. So both baby and mother are taken to the rescue home, there to be kept until some provision can be made for them elsewhere.

There are many tales of suffering and cruelty and horror that pretty little Mrs. Nixon has stored away in the back of her curly head. Many she tells to her audiences.

Not very pretty work you may say—especially when one takes into consideration the annoyances of "one night stands," small town hotels and way-station railroads. Yet Mrs. Nixon has not forgotten the old motto, and while she makes no claims for her personal achievements, she is very emphatic in declaring that it is "handsome work" and that it is a privilege to be engaged in it.

That each of the chapters of Pi Beta Phi might share in this work that she has been helping carry on, would be a splendid evidence of real spirit. Many fraternities over the country have undertaken the support for one orphan or more under the plan laid out by the Near East Relief, engaging for his feeding, or his meals and shelter or for his complete support, according to their financial ability.

All pledges and contributions for this work should be sent in to Mrs. Florence Spencer Duryea, National Secretary of Women's organizations, Near East Relief, 1st Madison Avenue, New York City. It was under Mrs. Duryea that Mrs. Nixon worked and it was largely due to her leadership and help, she declares, that she was able to attain her success.

THE PI BETA PHI EUROPEAN TOUR

The party will sail from Montreal or New York on July twelve. Since the steamship companies had not made their schedules definite at the time our itinerary was issued, choice of ports was given to insure the best accommodations available on the date selected. Members of the party will be notified of the port, name of the steamship, time of meeting and hour of sailing as soon as possible after those details are settled. Those attending Convention can accompany the leader of the party directly to port of departure.

A question has arisen which was not anticipated before our literature was circulated. Several prospective travelers have inquired if they might include a friend or relative who is not a member of the fraternity in the party. In all instances the same reply has been given—viz., that it would be unfair to allow this privilege to one member of the party unless the same opportunity were given to all and that such permission could not be granted unless a notice to this effect were published.

As it is the consensus of opinion that a moderate sized party will be most desirable, it has been decided that the tour will be open to Pi Beta Phis exclusively until April tenth. After that date applications of friends or relatives of members of the party who are not members of the fraternity will be considered in the order of their receipt but the number admitted will depend upon the size of the party.

The payment of sixty dollars insures registration and in the final allotment of berths on steamship, first registrants are entitled to first consideration.

Should illness or other serious obstacle prevent the registrant from going to Europe and notification of this fact reaches Temple Tours as early as five weeks before sailing, the advance deposit will be returned on demand. If notification of such fact is received after that date, the advance payment will be returned, provided the steamship companies do not claim any forfeit of Temple Tours in connection with the relinquished berths.

Copies of the itinerary and an explanatory circular have been sent to all officers and secretaries of chapters and clubs and to all who have made special inquiry. Anyone personally interested may secure full information on application to the ARROW Editor, Mrs. F. A. Rugg, 201 Davis Ave., Brookline, Mass.

NEWS FROM LITTLE PIGEON

By

PHYLLIS HIGGENBOTHAN

We have just come home from a ten mile trip—Dan and I—into the unknown. This time we have been up into the "Sugar Lands"—so called in years gone by because of the number of sugar maple trees there.

Last night on returning from visits to several sick people I found Dr. Massey had called, but could not wait as he was anxious to get "down off the mountain" before dark. He had been up to see a boy who was "pretty sick" with pneumonia, and he left word to go up and see him if possible, that he would not come back unless we sent word as it was a long, hard trip (over forty miles for him, sixteen of which he can make in his car, and the remaining twenty-six—from Pigeon Forge—on horse-back).

Before starting, Dan was treated to a few of the hard candies which came in two huge buckets sent the children for Christmas by one of the clubs. We saved out a few for him when filling the candy bags. I know he very much appreciates them—and sends his thanks—for he is always looking for more.

The roads at present are terrible; Dan's feet went "squishy squashy" through the dreadful, muddy clay of Mill Creek hill. A solid curtain of mist hung before everything ahead of us, and shut out the usual, wonderful view of the mountains into which we were riding. Three times we found the road obstructed by fallen trees, and once a rail fence had blown across our path and had to be moved before Dan could proceed;—an unpleasant occurrence, for when I'm trying to mount, Dan always stands at right angles to the stone I choose.

On either side we saw the havoc wrought by "the mountain wind" which blew with such terrific violence last night (everywhere trees blown down and broken off) and underneath, the result of the terrible rain, for the springs and streams, following the line of least resistance were running down the road in many places, so that Dan spent a good deal of his time wading. Our progress was slow, for the road beside being very rocky was constantly ascending; finally we began to descend the mountain—unbroken woods on either side, no one to ask if this were the right road, and no noise except the distant roar of water. At last we came in sight of our destination; Dan, tied to the fence, viewed what he could of the landscape while I went in to see the sick boy. It was a home of three rooms;—seven small children besides the grown-ups,—but the kindness and hospitality shown by these mountain people is truly an inspiration. Though I had had a sandwich they insisted that I should have some dinner with them; and the invariable remark on leaving is "Better spend the night with us." To my great relief the sick boy was better and well on the road to recovery. I also discovered that he was one of a number of boys I had met while taking care of a desperately ill lad, and I shall always maintain that they are among the finest lads I have ever met. He suggested a shorter way home—just four miles of more level road, so we arrived home as school was being let out, in time to meet one of the high school girls with a noticeably swollen jaw. Very reluctantly she came back with me, after a solemn promise not to hurt.

A TYPICAL WAYSIDE MILL

The small children are filled with importance if the need arises for them to see the nurse. Several days ago, while playing, one of the boys had his finger cut;—Miss Ditmars found him with a stocking of uncertain age tied round it and sent him over to the office. It was dressed and he returned to the school, finger prominently displaying the white bandage, and—wonder of wonders—he returned next day with the bandage still white. I'm afraid some-one else must have provided fire-wood, for that finger was never near the wood-pile that night.

After consultation with a number of representative women we decided on a definite fee to be charged: 50c for a home visit and .25c for an office visit. Last month the fees collected amounted to $14.75 so this will help very materially toward the cost of supplies, and I was told by one of my committee that the people are very well satisfied with the fees.

This last week most of my spare time has been spent over in the school examining the sight and hearing of the children in the primary grades; (at least doing routine work that will save a specialist's time). It is quite a novelty to them, and, far from being afraid, they usually say "my turn next" a classroom examination of eyes and mouths showed 79% needing attention of some kind—teeth, tonsils, etc.; the result of the eye and hearing tests will probably swell this number still more. There is urgent need of a dentist's services, and we are hoping to have one come in for a few days or a week when the roads are passable.

The accompanying picture of the "Andrew Ogle house," taken from our porch, will give you some idea of what will eventually be the office. We are hoping to have possession in March, and when the necessary changes are made this ought to be very useful as a central place to which the people can come to see the doctors—for we are hoping that in the spring it will be possible to have a doctor here at least one afternoon each week. With a definite schedule this will enable those who wish to see a certain doctor to come his particular afternoon. I cannot say enough for the help and coöperation I have received from the doctors.

These are splendid people and it is indeed a privilege to be able to work with them. I feel that they are in no wise different from us—an independent, fine people that Uncle Sam has just reason to be proud of.

With Mr. Whaley ploughing the fields, Christmas seems rather a long way off, except for the memory of how good the clubs were to us. The boxes were wonderful,—and so many, that from the beginning as they piled up in Miss Evelyn's office there was never a doubt of there not being enough to go round. No one was forgotten—there were lovely presents for all the children and the little visitors; there were even presents for the teachers and the cottage, and so many nice things for my work. In fact one great big heavy box (I carried it up from the store myself, so I speak feelingly) from Ames, Iowa, club was so full of sheets, towels, etc., that more than a beginning has been made in the line of such equipment. With papers and old clean pieces of linen scarce, it was a joy to receive a big package of old table-napkins.

The entertainment was splendid; our only regret was that it rained so hard that all the parents and friends were not able to come.

If you had been with me, one day on a visit, and been shown, with great glee—a tiny scrubby tree, very wobbly, but nevertheless planted after a fashion in the back yard, and decorated with an almanac, the wrapper off a cake of laundry soap, and a few such articles, you would have felt the joy of those same children on seeing the huge Christmas tree in the schoolroom trimmed with tiny colored electric lights, and, nearby, baskets full of presents that every boy and girl—whether in the mountain or the city—loves to get.

The clubs can all be very sure that the time and money spent on those Christmas-boxes have been amply repaid.

IN MEMORIAM

CESSNA, GINEVRA ELIZABETH, Iowa B, '13, died at Fenger Hospital, Omaha, Neb., of tumor of the brain, December 19, 1920. She was initiated into Iowa B September 26, 1900, and completed the course in music there in 1903. In 1905 she was graduated from the Los Angeles Normal School, and then taught in Ventura and Orange, Cal. Owing to the fact that she was an invalid and blind for the past nine years of her life, she was not a member of the Omaha Alumnae Club, but always showed a keen interest in anything connected with Pi Beta Phi, and was very appreciative of the little attentions offered by members of the club.

DUFF (MRS. WALTER), HESTER PYLES, Pennsylvania B, '11, died of typhoid fever in August, 1920, at her home in New Castle, Pa.

Hester was a Washington girl and a graduate of one of the Washington high schools. She entered George Washington University and was initiated into Columbia A, February 23, 1909. The following November she was transferred to Pennsylvania B, at Bucknell University where she became an active and valued member of the chapter and where she was graduated in 1911 as valedictorian of her class. Returning to her home in Washington, she became second secretary at the Library of Congress until her marriage to Mr. Walter Duff, a classmate at Bucknell. To Mr. Duff and their three lovely children, Pi Phi extends deep and sincere sympathy.

EDSALL (MRS. WILLIAM S.) WINIFRED WEBBER, Massachusetts, A '17, died January 13 at her uncle's home in Reading. She was graduated from Wheaton College in 1916 and took graduate work at Boston University in 1917 when she was initiated into Massachusetts A. For three years her wonderfully vital manner and vigor of personality in the schoolroom endeared her to all her pupils who, from the first, accepted her as one who understood. Everywhere she was loved as a willing worker and for her ever ready wit and art of entertaining at all times. She just brimmed over with the utter joy of living and was always giving of her happiness to those about her. Her short sweet life was one of giving and she had only the best to give. She was married to Mr. Edsall only last August and Massachusetts A extends its deepest sympathy to him, to Mr. and Mrs. Lewis and to her little sister, Chris.

LUKENS, VIOLA B., Indiana A '95, died at her home in Peru, Indiana, January 4, 1921. She was initiated into Indiana A, November 1, 1890. Following her graduation from Franklin College she taught in the schools of Franklin, Indiana, for several years, then moved to Peru, where she had taught the past eighteen years, being teacher of English in the high school the past year. She was active in club life in both Peru and Franklin and a worker in the Baptist church, where for many years she was the teacher of a class of boys in the Sunday School. The summer of 1912 she spent traveling in Europe. She attended Wisconsin University several summer terms and last summer acted as chaperon at one of the chapter houses there.

A conscientious student, an efficient teacher, a woman of innate courtesy, of rare poise and dignity, who attracted by her cheerful spirit, her deeds reveal her character. For eight weeks she assisted daily in nursing a friend who was dangerously ill. She visited the aged invalid mother of a friend for several years whenever she was within a two hours' car ride of her home, and she always came with flowers. During the war, beside the usual war work, she wrote regularly to fifteen boys who had been members of her Sunday school class and who were with the army in France. As one of her pupils said, "She was true and loyal; she gave us her whole self." To her mother, her sister and young nephew, Indiana A extends its deepest sympathy.

NUBEMYER (MRS. HAROLD), MADGE ACKLEY, Oklahoma A ex-'14, died of pneumonia the last week in November, 1920, at her home in Muskogee, Oklahoma. She had been married only a few months at the time of her death. She was initiated into Oklahoma A September 1, 1910.

OGDEN (MRS. F. A.), CATHARINE THOMPSON, Ohio A, '08, died at her home in Fostoria, Ohio, October 9, 1920. She was initiated into Ohio Alpha at Ohio University October 23, 1906, and received her diploma of music from that university in 1908. In September, 1920 she was married to the Rev. F. A. Ogden.

STERN (MRS. WALTER E.), IDA MAY MCCOY, California B, '08, was instantly killed in an automobile accident in Portland, Oregon, December 3, 1920. She was born in Red Bluff in 1885 where she went through both grammar and high school. In August, 1904, she entered the University of California, was initiated into California B, October 1, 1904, and graduated in 1908. Ida was married to Walter Stern, Δ Y, '11, on June 22, 1910. They lived in Eureka for five years and then moved to Portland where they have since made their home. She was the sister of Mrs. A. Sheffield (Florence McCoy, California, B) and Joseph McCoy, Δ Y and the cousin of Mrs. Mays Brown (Alice McCoy, California B) and Georgia Dell McCoy, California B. She leaves a five year old daughter and an infant son.

SHELDON, CLARISSE, California B, ex-'21, of Berkeley, California, died January 13 in San Leandro, California. In the fall of 1917 she entered the University of California and was pledged and initiated into California B of Pi Beta Phi. During the second semester of 1919, due to ill health she was forced to leave college. During her years in the chapter the girls learned to love her and appreciated her quiet judgment. She was a quiet girl but always interested and sympathetic toward the problems and interests of others. A conscientious student, she was deeply concerned in the welfare of her chapter, while her never failing sweetness and interest caused her to be beloved by all her friends.

WHITEMAN, MARGARET METZGER, Pennsylvania Γ, 1910, passed to the fuller life at her home, Latrobe, Pa., January 23, 1921, following an illness first discovered in October, which an operation had failed to combat. She was initiated into Pennsylvania Γ Oct. 26, 1906, and was graduated from Dickinson College in 1910, with the degree Ph.B. Following her graduation she prepared for the profession of librarian at Drexel Institute, Philadelphia. In 1911 she installed the public library at Pottsville, and later served for a year as an assistant in the library of Columbia University, New York. For two years following she was first assistant librarian at Swarthmore College and in the fall of 1914 she was chosen as librarian in charge of the Carnegie Free Library at Connellsville, Pa. She filled this position with great executive ability until her death, the board of directors declining to accept her resignation. She was a member of the Culture Club, of Connellsville, and was organizer and guardian of the Pottowatomie Camp Fire Girls of the same city. She was also a member of the William Kenly Chapter D. A. R. and of the Latrobe Methodist Episcopal Church. Her great desire was always to be of service and she had realized that desire to a marked degree, while holding the promise of much larger achievements. "Words that would praise thee are impotent."

Eve to the Rescue

BY ETHEL HUESTON (MRS. ETHEL POWELSON-HUESTON-BEST, Iowa A, '09)
12mo. Bobbs-Merrill, $2.00

Those who enjoyed the popular Prudence of the Parsonage and its successors will be anxious to read this latest book by the same author. Eve, the heroine, has an original philosophy of life, which turns duty to joy, not only for herself but also for her friends in general and one young man in particular.

Primary Arithmetic

(Philippine Industrial Series, revision of 1919)

BY MABEL BONSALL, Indiana B, '01

Especially after reading the most interesting article in the December ARROW on work in the Philippines, Pi Phis will be interested in the announcement of a revision of the Philippine Primary Arithmetic written by Mabel Bonsall. Miss Bonsall was for two years a teacher in the Philippine Normal School, and while there wrote in collaboration with G. E. Mercer a full series of arithmetics for the Islands, which have been in exclusive use ever since.

Indiana Child Welfare Association

BY MRS. EDNA ELDER HATFIELD EDMONDS, Indiana B, '11

This booklet is published as Extension bulletin v. 5, no. 5, University of Indiana.

The November Century contains a delightful article In the Land of the Basques, illustrated with photographs by the author. This is of special interest to Pi Phis, as the writer is Mr. F. A. Rugg, the husband of our ARROW editor and the writer of the article At Home in a French Village in the Second International Service number of THE ARROW.

"For the Sake of Phyllis" in the November issue of Ladies' Home Journal and "Bittersweet" in the January issue of the same magazine by Shirley L. Seifert, Missouri B, '09, are stories well worth reading. Miss Seifert's first story appeared in the American Magazine in July, 1919, and since then her work has appeared in the Saturday Evening Post, the Metropolitan and the Delineator. Stories from her pen are now listed with Scribner's and Everybody's. All Pi Phis will enjoy watching the development of Miss Seifert's real talent for storytelling.

"Exchanging Literature with France" is the title of a most interesting article from the pen of Florence Finch Kelly, Kansas A, '81, which appeared in the New York Times Book Review and Magazine, January 2, 1921.

"Marking the Oregon Trail, The Bozeman Road and Historic Place in Wyoming, 1908-1920," a Report prepared by Grace Raymond Hebard, Iowa Z, '82, State Historian of the Wyoming Daughters of American Revolution and published by that organization. This pamphlet is profusely illustrated and is a most attractive and valuable addition to our historical records. Dr. Hebard is thoroughly conversant with her subject as she is also Secretary of the Wyoming Oregon Trail Commission and State Historian of the Wyoming Colonial Danes.

An English Wife in Berlin

BY EVELYN PRINCESS BLUCHER

E. P. Dutton & Co., 681 Fifth Ave., New York. $6.00

In the midst of the natural and general reaction against war books this volume stands unique and it is quite worthy of its unusual reception. Princess Blucher, the English wife of a German nobleman of distinction was forced to leave home and kindred at the outbreak of the world war and dwell throughout the great conflict in the heart of Germany. She had exceptional opportunities to learn the truth about conditions in that country and it was her custom to record all the daily incidents of her life in a journal designed for her mother. This manuscript now given to the public in book form makes interesting reading and in many places tells an exciting and dramatic story. It is doubtless one of the few authentic records of its kind which will be consulted for years to come by future historians. All students of our own times should read it for themselves.

New England in the Life of the World

BY HOWARD A. BRIDGMAN

The Pilgrim Press, 14 Beacon St., Boston, 19 West Jackson St., Chicago

The Pilgrim Tercentenary as an event of national importance is being appropriately observed in various parts of the country. For New England influence has made itself felt in every part of our broad land and men and women of New England ancestry everywhere are ready to pay tribute to the hardy pioneers who blazed the trail for civilization. Probably few students of the present generation realize how much they are indebted to New England influence for the privileges they enjoy today. To quote from a newspaper editorial:

With the New England caravans went the New England church and the New England school. Often the colonists listened to a sermon from the pastors who traveled with them immediately upon reaching the site selected for their new homes and before undertaking any of the pioneer duties of settlement. A company of Yale men founded Illinois College at Jacksonville. The settlers at Beloit named their first street "College Street," in token of the intention that soon was realized in the useful institution known as Beloit College. Vermonters founded Oberlin and its graduates aided greatly in establishing Hinsdale and Olivet, Ripon, Tabor and Iowa College, Drury in Missouri and Carleton in Minnesota. Evanston and its university trace back to Maine. The free school system of Indiana is derived from the work of a Dartmouth graduate, and to the influence of a Yale graduate is attributed the whole system of land-grant universities. Three colleges, Western Reserve in Ohio, Beloit in Wisconsin and Whitman in Oregon, call themselves the Western Yale.

Dr. Bridgman has done the country a notable service in preparing this volume in the tercentenary year. He has shown in detail the exact part which New England has played not only in influencing education but in founding middle and far western commonwealths and in developing society in more distant climes.

Whether you are of New England lineage or as a student owe your education to the opportunities furnished by New England you will find in this volume evidences records of New England activity which were previously unknown to you. It is a distinct contribution to American literature.

CLUB INTERESTS AND EVENTS

ANNOUNCEMENTS

The committee on selection of the best Convention Song submitted under the conditions outlined on page 21 of the October issue of THE ARROW have awarded the prize to Helen L. Witmer, Pennsylvania Γ, '19. Miss Witmer represented her chapter at convention in 1918. The words of the song with a note in regard to the music appears on page 298. It is hoped that all chapters and clubs will sing it on every possible occasion previous to convention. The committee on the Convention Song consisted of the following: Mrs. Fletcher Linn, chairman, Mrs. Grace Hancher Beck and Miss Martha Rice. (Miss Rice took the place of Miss Martha Tinker who was unable to serve.)

The Fellowship Fund Committee again wishes to remind all Pi Beta Phis everywhere that contributions are needed for this very important work of our fraternity. This is Convention year—do we all not want to make it a banner year for our Fellowship Fund? Let every chapter and club and every isolated alumna consider this seriously, and let every Pi Beta Phi at Convention be able to say that she has contributed, individually or through her club or her chapter. Send your contributions either to the committee woman in your province (see ARROW Directory) or to Mrs. Julian W. Schmid, 1101 Cherry St., Springfield, Mo.

Attention of all chapters is called to the fraternity Statutes of Pi Beta Phi, IV, Section 6, Official Reports, which reads:—"All official reports sent to any national or province officer shall be in typewritten form."

Chapters are reminded that the office of Custodian of Supplies must be filled by a member of the chapter resident in the city in which the chapter is situated. In case no active member is resident in the city, a resident alumna should be chosen. This office was created in order that adequate care of fraternity property should be insured during the vacation months.

Alumnæ clubs which have not yet sent in their membership list with addresses should do so at once. The Cataloguer would appreciate it if the club secretaries would also include in this list resident Pi Phi alumna who are not club members.

Will Pi Phis, visiting Gatlinburg, and all others as well, refrain from buying directly from the mountain people, baskets, brooms, etc.? The Settlement School gets a percentage of profit, but, as it is very small on some types of basket, this profit does not give much in the way of returns, especially when the labor and time spent in soliciting, packing and shipping, and the breakage is considered. Real trouble comes when clubs feel that some get baskets at a lower cost, or find out that baskets apparently are being sent out to new patrons ahead of those orders of long standing. As the baskets are handled by the school primarily for the purpose of keeping up interest, havoc is wrought through the indignation resulting from what appears to be discrimination in the filling of orders. Pi Phis have been known to order baskets of the makers who then bring them to "Miss Evelyn," sometimes at the purchaser's request, too, for her to pack and ship!

Undoubtedly, this direct purchasing has been made unthinkingly, in which case no further difficulty need be feared.

EDITORIALS

CONVENTION IS APPROACHING. You may not be a delegate but you can be a visitor and no more delightful spot to spend a summer holiday could be found than Charlevoix the Beautiful. If you are a sophomore you will want to come to broaden your friendships and learn the breadth and the scope of the great organization to which you have so recently pledged your allegiance. If you are an upperclassman, you will want to come to support your delegate and confer with her on the momentous questions which her vote will help decide. If you are an alumna you will surely wish to come to renew old friendships, catch the inspiration of youth and lend your best efforts to the solving of the problems which confront our alumnae body. Convention is for all and this is a personal invitation to YOU to be present.

THE SOCIAL SERVICE WORK of the Panhellenic organizations is comparatively well known to all of us but the practical work of honorary organizations is less familiar. Theta Sigma Phi the national journalistic fraternity has started a Woman's National Journalistic Register which now maintains two offices, one in New York and one in Chicago.

It includes a central bureau "to comb for the jobs on the vast number of newspapers, house organs, advertising firms, etc., in the west and middle west; a New York office to do the same service among the many publications concentrated in the east; both offices to register many capable literary women, trained and untrained, non-college women as well as Theta Sigma Phis and other college girls. The one requisite is capability. Thus the bureau is to serve all trained women journalists. The deciding point of eligibility is journalistic ability training, not college work or membership in Theta Sigma Phi. A small fee is charged each registrant.

An advisory council of writers is backing the register. The council includes Mary Roberts Rinehart, Dr. Frank Crane, Fannie Hurst, Zona Gale, Frances Donovan, John Price Jones (Publicity Counsel), Judge Jean H. Norris (President of the New York Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs), Jane J. Martin (President of the League of American Advertising Women), Mrs. Frederick Van Renneselaer Dey (President New York Women's Press Club), Miss Edith Brownell (National Publicity Secretary Y. W. C. A.)"

THE FOLLOWING LETTER is intended for us all:

Monmouth, Ill., January 28, 1921.

Mrs. Sarah Pomeroy Rugg,

Dear Editor:

I am again in receipt of many letters, telegrams and cards sent me by dear Pi Phis on my birthday in January. I surely appreciate your kindness. It is a beautiful and pleasant way to show your remembrance. May the good cheer and happiness which you gave me be returned an hundredfold. For every message I thank you and I send you this little quotation:

Whate'er you do, whate'er the path you choose,
 Whate'er may be your tools,
 Let it be said that always, win or lose,
 You played the game according to the rules.

Yours in Pi Beta Phi,

CLARA BROWNLEE HUTCHINSON.

IT WOULD BE of great assistance to the alumnae officers in planning for the alumnae share of convention activities, if they could know who of the alumnae plan to attend convention. So if each alumna intending to be present at Charlevoix would drop a card to her Province Vice-president or to the Grand Vice-president, it would facilitate to a great extent the plans now under consideration.

PI BETA PHI was represented by eight members of the New York alumnae club who occupied a table at the dinner conference on the International Federation of University Women held at Hotel Gotham on Friday evening, January 28. Dean Gildersleeve of Barnard College presided. Among the speakers were Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, Dr. Caroline Spurgeon of London, president of the International Federation of University Women, the presidents of Wellesley, Vassar, Smith and Mt. Holyoke Colleges and several foreign university women. The following Pi Beta Phis were present: Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, Mrs. Burton L. Maxfield, Mrs. William S. Lough, Mrs. C. Grant Cleaver, Mrs. Oliver C. Martin, Mrs. Clyde Brown, Miss Sophie P. Woodman, Miss Elisabeth Thompson and Miss Annie Van Buskirk.

THE MANY FRIENDS of Mrs. E. T. Miller, Vice-president of Theta Province, wish to congratulate Mr. and Mrs. Miller on the birth of a daughter, Emily Virginia on January 19.

AGNES WRIGHT, '13, a charter member of Wyoming A, and Archer T. Spring, K Σ, of the Colorado School of Mines, were married in Denver, Colorado, on February 14. Mr. Spring is a geologist with the Matador Petroleum Company with headquarters at Cheyenne, Wyoming. THE ARROW extends its congratulations. Mrs.

Spring has been the editor of our chapter letter section for the past two years.

DR. EDITH H. GORDON, Ontario A, and Dr. Edith Hedges Matzke, New York Δ, were each granted the degree of Doctor of Public Health at the February Commencement of the University of Pennsylvania.

AS THE ARROW goes to press news comes that the Pi Beta Phi house at Ames, Iowa, was destroyed by fire on February 19. The fraternity sympathizes with Iowa Gamma.

GRAND COUNCIL announces the appointment of Mrs. David Underhill Smith (Florence Underhill, Colorado A) as president of Epsilon Province to fill the unexpired term of Mrs. Compton and of Mrs. C. L. Kribbs, Jr. (Ellen Clare Gillespie, Texas B), as president of Theta Province to fill the unexpired term of Mrs. Dyer.

 Marguaretta Spence, '24, 27 Linden St., Toronto, Ont.

Our 100% successful membership campaign ended in a splendid initiation on December 17, after which we were greatly strengthened by the addition of twelve very fine girls. We were sorry that two of our pledges: Grace Ryrie and Marie Fraser, found it impossible to be initiated with the rest. Among our initiates is Marguaretta Spence, an Edward Blake Scholarship girl. Helen Deane brought honour to the fraternity as the winner of a scholarship in political science. Our banquet for the initiates is to be held on January 18, and on January 25, we will be at home to our mothers. We find this a splendid idea for the mutual acquaintanceship of the mothers, who thus gain added interest and insight into the fraternity.

We were brought into much closer touch with our southern sisters and received a new vision of work and womanhood through the much appreciated visit of Mrs. Rugg and Mrs. Bowen, who gave us a better perspective of other universities.

Our own university is much interested in sport this year, having won the intercollegiate and Dominion championships in Rugby. We now desire to accomplish wonderful things in hockey as our team was down in the States during the Christmas holidays.

Happy New Year to all!

Maine A hails the new year with bright hopes, since we are very fortunate in the results of pledging the following five splendid new girls: Mary Friend, '24, Skowhegan, Me., Una Greenlaw, '24, Belfast, Me., Alta F. Jones, '22, Portland, Me., Dora Ramsdell, '24, Lubec, Me., Louise Thompson, candidate for M.A., Dallas, Tex.

College activities claim many of our members. Mary Friend, one of the pledges, is president of the freshman women. Five Pi Phis are in student government association. Rena Campbell is president of Y. W. C. A. and also on the council. Three more Pi Phis are on the Y. W. C. A. cabinet, while others have various class and college offices.

Florence Salley has been elected to  $\Phi K \Phi$ .

Four of our B  $\Phi$  alumnæ: Beryl Cram, '18, Christine Northrop, '19, Ethel Sawyer, '19, and Victoria Weeks, '19, have been initiated into  $\Pi \Phi$  since last fall. The girls who returned last fall are now wearing their arrows. We are very proud of our new pledge and initiate, Frances Dunning, '21.

We are eagerly anticipating convention. Martha Chase will be our delegate and several of the girls are hoping to accompany her.

The girls' glee club, of which Ardis Lancey is manager and Frances Dunning, pianist, is now working on the operetta, The Egyptian Princess.  $\Pi \Phi$  is represented in the prominent parts.

We are especially proud of the new chapter rooms, where our first regular cooky-shine was held, during Mrs. Bowen's delightful visit.

We are especially glad to welcome on the campus the new fraternity B  $\Gamma$ .

Plans have already been started for our annual "formal," which will be held April 25, and we hope to meet then some of our  $\Pi \Phi$  neighbors.

VERMONT ALPHA—MIDDLEBURY COLLEGE

(Chartered 1893)

Pledge Day—October 21, 1920

The first semester is nearly over and we are anticipating our Christmas vacation which begins December 16.

After pledging ten girls in October, we added two more to the list on December 6, giving us the following twelve prospective members: Matilda Axton, '22, Washington, D. C., Marion Prince, '23, Franklin, Mass., Lily Axton, Washington, D. C., Margaret Brown, Enosburg Falls, Vt., Ruth Cowles, Hartford, Conn., Helen Field, Greenfield, Mass., Sarah Fisher, Ft. Fairfield, Me., Norma Foster, Greenfield, Mass., Helen Lingham, Newton Highlands, Mass., Elisabeth Smith, Gloucester, Mass., Margaret Smith, Bristol, Vt., Anna Wilkinson, Rutland, Vt., all of the class of 1924. Mrs. M. S. Gooding, '03, of Rutland, Vt., and Mrs. I. C. Poole, ex-'03, of Fall River, Mass., were present at the second pledging ceremony and during the evening Mrs. Poole gave an interesting talk to the pledges.

A new arrangement has been made in the women's dining hall whereby Spanish students may obtain practical knowledge of the Spanish language. Senoritas De Onate and Rodriguez, who recently came from Spain to teach at Middlebury, have charge of several tables and during our meals the conversation is in Spanish. The girls are very much interested and benefited by this new plan.

Two more Pi Phis, Marion Prince, '23, and Edith Tallmadge, '21, have entered the college choir.

We are doing a great deal this year to raise our scholastic standard. We are having special study with our pledges and have offered a reward to the one who enters the fraternity with the highest numerical average. Rewards have also been offered as an incentive to the upperclassmen.

Mrs. R. C. Bowen, our province president, visited us this week and we were delighted to have her with us.

Ruth Alger, ex-'20, and Miriam Kempton, ex-'20, visited on the hill for a few days last week.

Pledge Day—November 20

Great things have happened at Vermont since the last chapter letter was written, and not the least of these was pledge day when Vermont B pledged nine enthusiastic girls. Our last party was in the form of a progressive dinner with courses served at the homes of three girls and also at the home of "Mother" Gebhart, who is always as enthusiastic as an active member. Then we took the freshmen to our rooms at the Klifa Club and entertained them. This party was a great triumph. As our share of the spoils of pledge day, we would like to introduce the following freshmen: Priscilla Crabtree, New Britain, Conn.; Dorothy Gunter, Washington, D. C.; Mable Goodwin, Montpelier, Vt.; Madeline Everest, New Haven, Vt.; Mary Holman, Circleville, Ohio; Anna Martin, North Ferrisburg, Vt.; Erminie Pollard, Proctorsville, Vt.; Elizabeth Ritt, Circleville, Ohio; and Dorothy Smith, Jeffersonville, Vt.

Although these girls were new to Vermont and to the fraternity, they soon displayed the true  $\Pi \Phi$  spirit in becoming very active in class and college affairs. Practically every one of them were on the class hockey team squad, and they are now on the class basketball squad, of which Anna Martin is the captain.

Of the actives, Marion Horton, '21, is vice-president of her class; Eula Ovitt and Hildreth Tyler are members of Akraia, the women's senior honorary society. Eula is also president of the Y. W. C. A. cabinet and Hildreth is president of the women's athletic association. Marion Killam, '22, Catherine Beers, '22, and Muriel Crewe, '23, have parts in to be given this month by Masque and Sandal, the honorary dramatic club of which Marion is vice-president. Marion Killam, '22, is also leader of the girls' orchestra which has been organized this year. Hildreth Tyler, '21, Lois Bartlett, '22, Katherine McSweeney, '22, and Marion Killam, '22, are on the editorial staff of the Cynic, the weekly publication, and Katherine McSweeney is also one of the grind editors of the Ariel, the junior yearbook. Anne Sargent, '23, was on the committee for the sophomore hop, which was held January 7, in the gymnasium. Lois Bartlett, '22, is leader of the girls' glee club and Anne Sargent is assistant business manager.

Mrs. Bowen, the president of A Province, visited us early in December, and we truly enjoyed her charming personality and benefited from her inspiring talks. We are anticipating her next visit.

Pledge Day—February 14, 1921

At the time of the last chapter letter we were anticipating the Panhellenic tea in honor of Mrs. Coolidge which was held the afternoon of October 30. Many of the active girls attended. We gained from it a panoramic view of the bigness of women's fraternities.

The first weeks of November were spent in strenuous preparation for our first membership party, at which we entertained more than twenty freshmen. We consider this the most successful party we have had for several years.

The week before Christmas we had an excellent visit from our province president, Mrs. Bowen. We also had the extra opportunity of meeting H Province president in the middle of January. Her accounts of the chapter activities in Kansas, Nebraska and the rest of H Province made us feel a new friendship for our sisters in the middle west.

Boston University closed a successful football season November 11, when the red and white won from Norwich University. Classes were held in the morning but discontinued at noon so that everyone could come out and root for B. U.

Other college events are progressing as usual.  $\Gamma \Delta$  banquet came early in December, at which there was an attendance five times as great as there was in early times. So B. U. grows! Mary Mills, '21, gave the  $\Gamma \Delta$  toast at the banquet.

Interclass basketball games are being played Thursday noons. Margaret Sale, '22, and Mildred Rich, '23, both play on their class teams. Class dances have been held by each of the four classes.  $\Gamma \Delta$  dance, the big formal dance of the year will be held early in the second semester. Margaret Sale, '22, is chairman of the committee. The girls' glee club has already held its concert.

Semester examinations are upon us as we write this letter. It seems impossible that half of the college year is over. "Tempus legsit," as some bright person once remarked.

NEW YORK ALPHA—SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY

(Chartered 1896)

Pledge Day—Matriculation Day

We are almost engulfed by midyear examinations, and each one of us is studying hard to make New York A head the chapters in scholarship.

Mrs. Rugg was with us a few days the first of December. Of course we enjoyed her visit very much.

Just before we went home for our Christmas vacation, we gave a little Christmas party for fifteen children from the Associated Charities. One of our freshmen played Santa Claus. Their eyes simply danced as she distributed the gifts, one useful and the other a toy, to each child, besides little stockings filled with candy, and popcorn balls.

Our interest in "hill" activities has not waned. Ruth Landry, '21, Antoinette Stone, '21, Anne Hawkins, '23, Elizabeth Chapin, '24, and Bernice Bohlman, '24, are on their respective class executive committees. Ruth Barker, '23, and Ruth de Lano, '23, are on the sophomore women's advisory board. Marian Morris, '24, was our delegate at the student volunteer convention held at Wells College, Aurora, N. Y., during the first week of December. Dorothy Manwarren, '22, is secretary of local Panhellenic and a member of the large board of women's league. Dorothy Coleman, '24, and Gladys Thompson, '24, made the university chorus.

In November the active chapter entertained the pledges after chapter meeting. Each class submitted and sang two original fraternity songs, after which the freshmen performed "stunts." This was our first big get-together party since pledging.

Two of the biggest organizations on the "hill" are our Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. Many innovations have been introduced this year. Among them are Sunday afternoon religious discussion groups which are led by faculty members in all the chapter houses and other living centers. These have proven more than interesting and profitable. In Y. W. C. A., great strides have been taken in extending social service work in the city. Florence Caldwell, '21, and Pearl Metzger, '23, have charge of a girls' industrial club at one of the city canning factories. Norma Quiri, '22, and Dorothy Manwarren, '22, are the leaders of a high school girls' club at the city Y. W. C. A. On the "hill," Π Β Φ had charge of a weekly Y. W. C. A. meeting a short time ago. We are well represented on the various committees of our university Y. W. C. A.

DOROTHY MANWARREN.

NEW YORK GAMMA—ST. LAWRENCE UNIVERSITY

(Chartered March 20, 1914)

Pledge Day—October 4, 1920

The usual midyear season of houseparties is upon us causing us to alternate between joy and sorrow. Our formal houseparty was January 8, the scheme of bluebirds being carried out in the decorations and dance orders. Judging from our party, I am sure we all feel that happiness can always be found here in our chapter house.

Other social events, too, claim our interest. The Β Θ ΙΙ ball which is an annual affair was held in December. The sophomore hop—a formal ball instituted by the class of, '22, will occur on February 4—and promises to be a truly joyous ending to examinations.

Two of our patronesses entertained us at a Christmas party before our vacation and gave us a much needed and appreciated music cabinet. The alumnae of the class of 1920 presented to us a pedestal and jardiniere for our fern. As a result of these additions the appearance of our living room is greatly improved.

Our girls are well represented in college activities. Ruth Inman, '22, has the leading part in the play, Her Husband's Wife which will be produced in February. Miss Inman has already shown great dramatic ability and we are anticipating her success. She has also been elected vice-president of the mathematics club of which Dorothy Bullen, '23, is treasurer.

The first girls' glee club at St. Lawrence has been recently organized under the leadership of Edith Mileham, '22.

A new movement to have social regulations turned over to the government of the students and carried out by means of the honor system is being discussed in forum, an organization of the college women. Senior privileges are also being advocated.

Basketball is becoming more popular than ever. The girls are doing their best to organize a team and so faithfully are they practicing that they will undoubtedly be able to play outside teams before spring. The varsity team has played two games so far, both of which were victorious for us.

The students are anticipating a concert which is to be given very soon by the glee clubs, the college orchestra and the college band.

The endowment fund is still progressing and also the gymnasium fund. We are hoping to be able soon to have a new gymnasium. We are working hard to maintain and better the standards of both our college and our fraternity.

INITIATES

(Initiated December 18, 1920)

Elizabeth Montgomery, '21, West Augustine, Va.

Ann Lardner Moore, '21, Mooresville, N. C.

Ida Helen Schreiner, '23, Pittsburgh, Pa.

We are very proud of our new pledges: Marian Covell, '24, Ithaca, N. Y.; Addie Faber, '24, Ithaca, N. Y.; Edith Klenke, '24, New York City; Harriette Lohr, '24, Ithaca, N. Y.; and Marjorie Rudell, '24, Sault Ste. Marie, Mich. We expect to initiate them sometime early in the second term which begins February 11.

Our godmother, Dr. Edith H. Gordon, was here for our initiation on December 18 and for our Christmas party the next day at which she gave us a very inspiring informal talk. It was wonderful to have her with us and to give the new girls an opportunity of meeting the one who has done so much for us.

With examinations so near we are all very busy, trying to attain the proper degree of concentration to enable us to come out with the sort of marks Pi Phi should get.

Two of our freshmen, Edith Klenke and Marjorie Rudell, have parts in the freshmen play, The Wizard of Oz, which is to be given January 15.

The basketball season is in full swing. We have been very successful so far, having defeated Princeton in a fast game December 20, and Yale January 14. We defeated our ancient rival Syracuse on January 11. This is the first time we have met Syracuse in a game for nearly twenty years.

There is considerable agitation at the present time concerning the establishment of a university honor system. The law and agricultural colleges already have an honor system. Both faculty and students seem to feel the need for such a system in the other colleges and we hope to have it in effect for the June examinations.

Pledge Day—January 4

The chapter eagerly waited for the Christmas vacation not only because it meant going home but also because it was the time decided upon to send out the bids to the freshmen who received the invitations at their homes and answered them before their return to college. We pledged soon after college reopened and feel that the chapter will be greatly strengthened by the addition of these eight fine girls: Nella Arnold, Swarthmore, Pa., Anne Hunt, Iowa City, Iowa, Mary Jones, Pottstown, Pa., Margaret Kennady, West Grove, Pa.,

Dorothy McClaren, Connellsville, Pa., Elizabeth Rogers, Corry, Pa., Alice Schrack, Coatesville, Pa., Riddell Young, Lansdowne, Pa.

Already our pledges have shown their enthusiasm by their interest in a show which was presented by the freshman girls, six of them having important parts.

The first part of the college year has been filled with activities. The people both of the college and the town of Swarthmore felt honored to have Rabindranath Tagore give a lecture to them a short time before the holidays.

A new departmental club called "The Campus Club" has been formed and admits biology majors to membership. One of its aims is to protect the trees on the campus.

Pennsylvania A is well represented in college activities. Edith Cugley, '22, has been elected into membership in the English club, which is now working on its big annual play, The Taming of the Shrew. Frances Miller, '21, Henrietta Turner, '23, and Frances Carter, '23, are on the varsity basketball squad. Ella Falck, '22, is assistant art director of the Halcyon, the junior annual.

We gave an informal dance in Philadelphia on December 10, but our regular spring dance will be given on April 9.

Mrs. William Evans (Helen Rogers, '02), invited us to have our last meeting before Christmas at her home. We had a real Christmas party with gifts and poetry for everyone and were glad at that time to welcome back several alumnae.

Our handkerchief sale was a great success as we cleared forty-five dollars for the Settlement School. We also have been selling sandwiches to increase our sum to seventy dollars.

Our alumnae club has been holding meetings in Philadelphia which several of our members have been able to attend.

We are anticipating a visit from our province president, Miss Lulu Clark sometime during the second semester.

Phillis Ottmyer, '23, 455 Beaver St., York, Pa.

Contrary to our expectations Panhellenic decided to have a late bid day as usual. At first an early bid day was considered but after a long and heated discussion it was decided to follow the old custom, making bid day come in February. We have always preferred knowing the girls and making true friends, rather than having a quick concentrated membership season.

Just now we are plunged into real hard work due to the impending examinations, which start next week, January 25, and we are all working hard, striving to maintain the scholarship record of Pennsylvania B.

Since our last letter we have added to our chapter, a splendid girl, Phillis Ottmyer, '23. To celebrate her initiation we had a grand old cooky-shine.

Another recent enjoyable social function was an afternoon tea, which we gave in honor of our patronesses and alumnae.

A number of girls from the chapter are planning to attend the luncheon to be given by the Lancaster alumnae club for all the Pi Phis of central Pennsylvania at the Penn Harris Hotel, at Harrisburg, Pa.

A new fraternity, Zeta Nu, has been organized at Bucknell, making two local women's societies. We are glad to welcome this new Greek organization as there is a pressing need for more fraternities with the number of girls increasing so rapidly each year.

We are deeply concerned over the illness of our former president and beloved professor, Dr. J. H. Harris, who has undergone an operation. He is reported to be getting along nicely and we hope he can resume his work with us next semester.

Pledge Day—February 4

The students of the college, who up to this time have been enjoying the year, are beginning to realize that the day of reckoning has come, for examinations are once more at hand.

We finish our examinations the last of the month, and on February 1, the three fraternities, each have a day on which to entertain the girls. Every one is getting quite excited about that. We expect to pledge a number of lovely girls this year.

To show the pledges how much we really wanted them, we are going to give our big, formal dance this year as a pledge stunt. It will be on February 11, and we think it will be quite pretty, with heart and arrow decorations, appropriate to St. Valentine's Day.

Compulsory gymnasium work has just started for the girls. Some rather begrudge the time it takes up, and others quite enjoy it. Skating on Conodoguinet Creek is also very good now, so we are all busy every minute.

ELIZABETH B. BRATTON.

PENNSYLVANIA DELTA—UNIVERSITY OF PITTSBURGH

(Chartered September 19, 1918)

Pledge Day—November 5, 1920

Since our last letter we have pledged eight splendid girls: Vera Hamstrom, Anne Martin, Lois Martin, Catherine McFarland, Katherine Muir, Jean Robb, Mary Robb, and Katherine Stephens. It is needless to say that we are immensely proud of them and they have shown so much enthusiasm and spirit since they have joined us that we feel sure they will make ideal Pi Phis.

The most important event which has taken place at "Pitt" for some time was the installation last week of Chancellor Bowman. Although we were all more than sorry to have Chancellor McCormick leave us we believe that our new chancellor is going to do wonders for "Pitt," and already we have caught his wonderful spirit of enthusiasm and interest. Another event was the changing of our women's activity association into the women's self-government association. This is quite a step forward as the men students have not as yet organized for self-government. We feel very pleased that the women should be the first to adopt this new form. Then our new alumnae hall will be ready for use this spring and we are all anticipating its opening.

Our chapter has had a very busy and profitable year and now we are preparing for those most terrible and greatly feared mid-year examinations! However, we hope soon to leave them in the past and to start our plans for initiation.

In the absence of a house we have decided to hold a social meeting once every month at Heinz House, the women's activity headquarters. We have had one of these meetings already with a supper which our versatile pledges prepared for us, followed by a dance. On January 7, our pledges gave a lovely dance for us which we appreciated.

We are very proud to announce the election of Mary Kelso, '21, to the honorary educational fraternity  $\Pi \Lambda \Theta$ . Catherine McFarland, one of our pledges, has just been elected chairman of the publicity committee of the W. S. G. A. All of the girls are interested in athletics and the other activities of the university, and we hope that you will have as pleasant a year as we expect to have.

Rachael Hopkins, '24, Athens, Ohio

Margaret Merwin, '24, Athens, Ohio

On Monday before our holiday recess we gave our annual Christmas dinner at the Colonial Hotel which was a great success. At seven o'clock we were ushered into the dining room, dimly lighted by wine colored candles on the various tables. In one corner there was the Christmas tree, not large but quite large enough to hold a lovely appropriate gift for each girl. Before being seated we sang the Anthem which was a good start for the other  $\Pi \Phi$  songs that followed during the evening. We greatly regretted that two of our members were unable to be present on account of illness.

Since Helen Chew, one of our alumnae, is teaching at Gatlinburg, we decided that she would no doubt enjoy a box of good things to eat so we sent one to her the week before Thanksgiving. In a letter thanking us for the box, Helen enclosed some interesting pictures of her pupils and views of Gatlinburg.

Examinations are now staring us in the face, but we are cheered by the thought of our dance. We are especially eager for that time to come as we are expecting a number of our old girls back.

Plans are now being made for a Mothers' Day party as we are anxious to have our mothers become better acquainted with the work that  $\Pi \Phi$  is doing.

We are anticipating soon a visit from our province president, which will afford us great pleasure.

OHIO BETA—OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY

(Chartered 1894)

Pledge Day—Matriculation Day

We are now collecting our wits in order to successfully weather the mid-year examinations which are again confronting us. After the good time which the Christmas holidays brought we are again finding it necessary to be at work.

This has been a happy semester for us, as we have taken an active part in all campus projects. The stadium drive as far as the campus is concerned far over-reached its quota due to the efforts, and sacrifice of many Ohio State students. Many Pi Phis took active parts in the drive, and we are all anxious to see the stadium a reality.

We are very proud of Ohio State's achievements in football this year and delighted that it was possible for us to have the privilege of playing against California in the Tournament of Roses. We, of course were disappointed in the outcome. However, I believe that although defeat came, our men realize that whether they win or lose Ohio State is always behind them. This was proven by the hearty reception given the team upon its return.

We are anticipating with great interest the coming  $\Pi \Phi$  convention and also sincerely wish that we could join Mrs. Rugg in July, in the European tour which we hope many Pi Phis will enjoy.

The campus is much interested at present in the production of the Scarlet Mask, a university men's musical comedy organization which is staging its performance this week-end in Columbus. Ohio State talent is revealed in the words, music, and plot and the production has been most heartily received in other cities. This pleases us all very much.

February 11, is the date set for the Y. W. Y. M. mixer. All organizations are asked to furnish stunts or other features that the entertainment may be a success. We always do our part in helping to make it so. Gene Bending, '21, represents the Y. W. C. A. and has complete charge of the affair.

Our chapter is planning for a formal dance to be held sometime in March. Our convention delegate, Christine Yerges, is anticipating with much pleasure the meeting of so many of her  $\Pi \Phi$  sisters.

INITIATES

(Initiated December 4, 1920)

Lillian Martin, '23, Shinnston, W. Va.

Elizabeth Glenn, '23, Clarksburg, W. Va.

Florence Juhling, '23, Hartford, W. Va.

The ending of the first semester enables us to look back with great satisfaction upon our work for the school year.

Since Panhellenic passed a new ruling giving us two pledge days each semester, we pledged Martha Thompson of Ronceverte, W. Va., who has already distinguished herself by being elected to the All Stars, an honorary organization of club workers in West Virginia. Another innovation of Panhellenic has gone far to promote inter-fraternity spirit. We have as our guests each Sunday members from another woman's fraternity and in accordance with a prearranged schedule  $\Pi \Phi$  sends representatives to each of the other three houses. This has worked out favorably and gives great pleasure to all the girls.

Our initiation was held December 4, when we added three more to our number. A formal luncheon at the chapter house followed the initiation. Two other important and very enjoyable social events were the pledge dance and the chapter dance. We were fortunate to have a number of our alumnae attend the latter.

Extensive preparations are being made to entertain the large number of farmers who meet here annually for Farmers' Week in West Virginia. Exhibits are arranged in the agricultural building, and among them are several articles made by Pi Phis.

GAMMA PROVINCE

MARYLAND ALPHA—GOUCHER COLLEGE

(Chartered January, 1897)

Pledge Day—October 9, 1920

The Christmas season with its overflow of happiness and goodwill has just passed, and we are all settled back into our college ways again. But despite the fact that the inconvenience of midyear examinations is fast approaching, much of the good-will of the holiday season has stayed with us and is felt in fraternity and inter-fraternity life more strongly than ever before.

Maryland A has added two more pledges: Pauline Slater and Jessie Wilkins, both of whom are in all ways up to the standard of our original fourteen splendid pledges. They will bring our chapter roll up to forty. This year we have started a new plan of holding our fraternity meetings every Friday at five and of following them with suppers to which all pledges are invited. This has proved a very happy way of getting together regularly and of getting to know our pledges more intimately. Often our alumnae drop in, and one evening we were honored to have with us Mrs. Edward Johnson (Elsie Bradford), Columbia A, who was Grand President in the year in which Maryland A was chartered. Mrs. Johnson is the mother of one of our pledges, Elizabeth Johnson.

On November 13, Mrs. Culver (Frances Strader), gave our chapter one of the most unusual and thoroughly delightful parties we have ever had. It was a surprise from the time that a huge wagon piled with straw met us at the suburban station and carried us on a gay straw ride up to the lovely Culver estate "Treymore," until after an invigorating walk through beautiful autumn woods we returned to find an ideal log fire just outside the house. Inside was a famous, heavily laden Southern banquet board, the center of which was occupied by a little roast pig holding an apple in its mouth. We dined around the picturesque fire and completed the occasion with a festival of plantation, college and fraternity songs.

The junior play, The Dragon, which was given complimentary to the freshmen was an event to which all the junior Pi Phis contributed some part, Mildred Koehnline and Sarah Louise Voegtly had important rôles and helped to make the play a very great success. When the elections to Agora, our honorary dramatic society, were recently announced, the list included six Pi Phis: Mary Fisher, Melinda Moore, Sarah Louise Voegtly, Mary Louise Bird, Marvel Williams, and Mildred Koehnline. Agora is now working on a Greek play Alcesteis which promises to be an elaborate production in which all the members of Agora will take part.

Sing-Song, an annual college event, was held soon after the Christmas vacation. Each class contested to see which could write the best original song. Mary Fisher led the junior singing while Marvel Williams was the pianist for the all-college singing.

We are now anticipating initiation which will be the latter part of February after which we will spend the week-end at a house party in the country. It is one of the crowning events of the whole year and we will have to have an unusual celebration this year to do justice to the felicitous semester which Maryland A has already enjoyed.

Success to every chapter!

MARY LOUISE BIRD.

COLUMBIA ALPHA—GEORGE WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY

(Chartered 1887)

Pledge Day—November 5, 1920

We are glad to report a most successful membership season, having won each one of the nine girls whom we bid. Those wearing pledge pins are: Elizabeth Booth, Ethlyn Bradley, Vivian Bradley, Ione Kitchin, Ellen Littlepage, Marjorie Ludlow, Beatrice Mason, Thelma Reeve, Irma Schofield. We hope to be able to initiate all of them soon after midyear examinations.

It has been difficult to settle down to hard study after our pleasant Christmas vacation. Our annual Christmas dance was all the more enjoyable because it was attended by many out-of-town Pi Phis who were spending the holidays in Washington.

In February, George Washington will celebrate the one hundredth anniversary of its founding. Many functions are being planned, among them student banquets in the several departments of the university, an alumni reception and banquet, and various fraternity events. Immediately following the centennial celebration, comes junior week, for which many plans are under way. We are proud of the fact that Pi Phis are quite prominent on the committees arranging for these two affairs.

INITIATES

(Initiated November 12, 1920)

Willeene Alexander, '22, 1112 Olive St., Pine Bluff, Ark.

Mary Lyman, '21, Montevallo, Ala.

After an enjoyable two weeks of vacation we are back again at work with both fraternity and college examinations looming up before us. Pledge day, too, is not far off since February 26 has been set as the date by local Panhellenic. It seems hardly possible that a month has elapsed since we had our annual Christmas party. It is our custom to give gifts to the house at that time. Many of the alumnae remembered us this year with lovely gifts which add much to the beauty of our house.

One of the most interesting events that has occurred at Randolph-Macon for some time has been the taking of a moving picture. The picture portrays many scenes of college life, depicting the life of a student from the time she enters college until she is a senior in cap and gown. Only college girls took part, and the production had distinctly an R-M flavor. This picture was taken for educational purposes and will be presented in several cities which boast R-M alumnae clubs. It is also hoped by this means that R-M will obtain a share of the $3,000,000 endowment fund which is under the control of the Methodist church.

Randolph-Macon spirit has always been noted, and we think that even this will increase since we are beginning to enter into inter-collegiate contests. The two literary societies have given way this year to a debating council which some time in the near future will contest with Agnes Scott and Sophie Newcomb Colleges.

The  $\Sigma$  K fraternity, which formerly occupied a room in the dormitory, built a very attractive house down in the Pines. To welcome  $\Sigma$  K, all of the other fraternities gave a shower, each contributing something either useful or ornamental for the new house.

Panhellenic was fortunate in having Mrs. Mary C. Love Collins, Grand President of  $X \Omega$ , give a very interesting address some time ago on the present conditions of getting members.

Pledge Day—October 27, 1920

INITIATE

(Initiated November 4, 1920)

Louise Huger, '23, 3211 Prytanice St., New Orleans, La.

So many things have happened since our last letter that we scarcely know where to begin, but, ignoring the plan of saving the best till the last, we will tell you about our new pledges of whom we are so proud. By the vote of Panhellenic, it was decided to shorten our membership campaign, so on October 27 we took in the following freshmen: Cary Anderson, Richmond, Va.; Elizabeth Clark, Richmond, Va.; Anne Milton, Wilmington, N. C.; Josephine Winston, Richmond, Va.; Dorothy Pilkington, University, Va.; Judith Rhoads, Richmond, Va.; Olivia Staples, Roanoke, Va.; Mary Mason Williams, Richmond, Va.

These pledges started out at once to have regular pledge meetings conducted by a senior, at which they study parliamentary law, fraternity questions, and material for their examinations. A brief open forum discussion is also held at these meetings. The pledges also proved their talent by entertaining us with an attractive cabaret dinner-party. The wine and blue color scheme was used throughout the dinner, and the various vaudeville acts were unusually clever.

We were so glad to have visits from some of our older members. Anne Turner, ex-'22, and Seashols Noell, ex-'22, spent Thanksgiving with us, and Helen Hardwicke, '20, visited us on her way home from New York just before Christmas. Elizabeth Chesterman, Virginia A, was with us for a few days, and we hope to receive other visits from our neighbors at Randolph-Macon.

We have finally adopted a budget system for chapter finances, which, we think is a great help. We were unable to foresee, however, the number of our former members who were contemplating matrimony, so, needless to say, the greater part of "Incidentals" has gone toward wedding presents.

Hollins has had the pleasure of having several distinguished visitors during the fall, among whom were John Powell, who gave an enjoyable concert, and Dr. Caulkins, who, under the auspices of the Y. W. C. A. delivered a series of extremely inspirational lectures. In December the Devereux Players presented two plays at Hollins, and we are now anticipating the "Marionettes" next week.

We have all read with a great deal of pleasure and interest Mr. Rugg's article in the Century. With examinations almost here, we are all beginning to assume that characteristic worried expression.

MARIAN S. HOWE.

FLORIDA ALPHA—JOHN B. STETSON UNIVERSITY

(Chartered January 30, 1913)

Pledge Day—October 30, 1920

Our campaign for new members having successfully closed with the pledging of eleven attractive freshmen, Florida A has now settled down to the pursuit of a high scholastic standard in college and in fraternity examinations. We are very much pleased with the system of conducting pledge study outlined by our province supervisor, for we find that the "piffies" work harder to attain their arrows when they can realize by a more thorough study than we have ever had what a part in the fraternity world really means. The active girls are studying assiduously for our weekly chapter recitation, in order that we may do our bit toward the elimination of fraternity examinations.

We are very proud of the fact that we won the scholarship cup offered by Jacksonville Panhellenic last year. This cup must be won three successive years in order to become ours permanently. Since we won the last cup offered we are working hard to uphold our reputation.

The chapter has been very fortunate in having with us for a few days this winter Mrs. Kerns, from Minnesota, who visited the Settlement School on her way south. We were sorry, however, that she did not arrive in time for the tea which we gave in her honor, for we wanted our mothers and patronesses to hear what she had to tell us about affairs in Gatlinburg.

Just before the holidays our pledges entertained us with a unique theater party. They showed unusual talent in their portrayal of vaudeville, and we enjoyed their acting very much. At present we are anticipating a tea given by our alumnae in honor of  $\Pi \Phi$  visitors in town, our patronesses, and our mothers.

Among the visitors in De Land this winter are: Mrs. C. O. Boydston, and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. C. S. Boydston (Helen Cox), both of Knox College, Galesburg, Ill.; and Mrs. George H. Henshaw of Des Moines, Iowa.

DELTA PROVINCE

MICHIGAN ALPHA—HILLSDALE COLLEGE

(Chartered 1887)

Pledge Day—September 29

Michigan A feels justly proud of the following new pledges: Stacia Johnson, Hudson, Mich., Florence Conant, Ithaca, Mich., Marg'e Doster, Doster, Mich., Frances Doster, Doster, Mich., Zenaide Gifford, Lake Geneva, Wis., Helen Collins, Muskegon, Mich., Hazel Schell, Bellevue, Ohio, Miriam McNaughton, Ray, Ind., and Louise McLouth, Kansas City, Mo.

Hillsdale College was more than usually successful in football this fall, losing only one game, and we are now anticipating with interest the approaching basketball season.

Hon. Lewis Emery, Jr., again happily surprised the college when he equipped a new chemistry laboratory in the basement of Worthing Hall. We are expecting still more needed improvements, as the faculty and students have "gone over the top" in the $745,000 drive by pledging $26,000 as their portion. The money will be used for endowments and new buildings.

This fall the department of music was reorganized under the direction of Miss Eleanor Kelly, and a course in business administration which has attracted many new students has been added to the commercial department.

The dramatic art classes are at present rehearsing several plays to be given in the near future, two of the leading parts in which are to be taken by Ruth Miller, '22, and Charlotte Andrews, '23.

We were sorry to lose one of our number, Isabelle Frankhauser, '23, who has just entered National Park Seminary, Washington, D. C. Her father was recently elected to Congress.

Just before Christmas vacation, the chapter, together with the pledges, enjoyed a cooky-shine followed by a Christmas tree at which everyone presented gifts for the house. We are all happy in having Esther Fowler Lyons, '17, as our new chaperon.

At present we are busy preparing for the semester examinations and for the Washington banquet, which is the big college function of the year.

Michigan A recently enjoyed a visit from Mrs. Allen.

CECILE M. JOHNSON.

MICHIGAN BETA—UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN

(Chartered 1888)

Pledge Day—October 5

With the beautiful weather that we have had in Ann Arbor this fall, we have all felt exuberant and interested in our chapter and in the university. We have carried away a number of important honors. Hazel Storz, '22, is now president of the local Panhellenic; Beatrice Beckwich, '21, Gladys Reineke, '21, Alice Beckhan, '21, and Josephine McGinnis, '21, made "Mortar board," the senior honorary society. Hazel Storz, '22, Margaret Spalding, '22, Gertrude Boggs, '22, made "Wyvern," the junior honorary society. Ada Nutten, '22, and Christine Murkett, '22, have important parts in the junior girls' play. Dorothy Jefferey, a pledge, made "Masques," a dramatic society. In fact  $\Pi \Phi$  is well represented in all of the leading campus activities.

The pledges gave a wonderfully attractive dance for us on January 14. We had just had the dining-room papered, so the house looked very lovely indeed.

There is a great discussion, at present, about giving up the junior hop, which has always been Michigan's largest social function. We are waiting to see how it will come out, for the faculty are opposed to having it.

We established a new custom this year of setting apart one day for our alumnae. It was so successful, we expect to continue it in the future. We invited all of our alumnae to have a luncheon with us, and afterward had a program and meeting. Before this, the alumnae had come for initiation, but they were rather in the background, because then everyone is always interested in the new members. This new day, however, was entirely for the alumnae and we certainly enjoyed having as many as could come.

Three of our chapter went to the installation of the  $\Delta P$  chapter at Purdue University, and from all of the glowing reports I know that we shall all be very proud of our new sisters. We hope to meet them soon.

INDIANA ALPHA—FRANKLIN COLLEGE

(Chartered 1888)

Pledge Day—September 18, 1920

INITIATES

(Initiated January 8, 1921)

Ellen Burns, '21, Hamilton, N. Y.

Panhellenic of Franklin has just arranged for a girls' scholarship cup to be awarded to any girl on the campus excelling in scholarship during an entire school year, the recipient to be announced at commencement. The cup with the name of the winner engraved on it is to remain in some prominent public place, probably the library. By this incentive, fraternity girls wish to further the feeling of just and equal honors being distributed to the equally deserving. It means persistent, hard work if we want to set the pace and show our mettle in the race of our own challenging.

Saturday evening, January 16, the actives and pledges enjoyed a most happy time as guests of the Franklin alumnae club, in commemoration of Indiana Alpha's twenty-third birthday. Our cooky-shines are the jolliest ever, just as yours are only we're sure this one was exceptional. After the onslaught of the hungry hordes had been checked and the "peace pipe passed in court" we were privileged to enjoy an alumnae meeting. Professor Harriett Palmer, '89, talked on the founding and the history of Indiana A, and Professor Jeanette Zeppenfeld, '90, gave an "In Memoriam" to Viola Lukens, '95, deceased January 4, 1921. Both Miss Palmer and Miss Zeppenfeld were charter members of Indiana A, and have been intimately connected with our institution until in 1919, when Miss Palmer left the chair as history professor. Last spring Miss Zeppenfeld left the position as head of the Romance language department. You can imagine the wonderful things they could tell us and the spicy bits of lore we extorted from "dere teachurs."

We are very proud of Ellen Burns, whom we were permitted to initiate, January 8. Although she has been with us for so short a time we count ourselves most fortunate in having known her at all. We are happy that in returning to Dennison University to spend her last semester in her Alma Mater, she will wear the arrow.

We are sorry to lose Ruth Webb, alias Peggy, and Inez Webb, '23, who have withdrawn from college because of severe illnesses. Inez is spending the winter with her mother and father in the south. Lillian Henderson, '23, is leaving us to enter Redlands College, Redlands, Cal.

The girls' glee club has just been re-organized with Lois Williams as vice-president. Four Pi Phis are members of that organization.

We are proud to announce that Mildred Mickel, '23, has been elected to Scientific Association from the chemistry department.

INITIATES

(Initiated December 19, 1920)

Margaret C. Ball, '22, Rushville, Ind.

Winifred Welton, '23, Bloomington, Ind.

The first half of our college year will be over with final examinations the last week of January. All activities, both on the campus and in the chapter have been carried on more ardently this year than ever before.

At the beginning of the semester, fifteen Pi Phis took part in the musical comedy, Oh Cindy, which was given under the auspices of the Bloomington chapter of K K K fraternity. Helen Ward, one of our pledges, had an important rôle.

Doris Geile was elected to "Mortar board," a senior organization, which was just installed here this year. Margaret Thornburg, Eleanor Leavell and Dorothy Long made their points for membership in the woman's athletic association, this semester.

Before the holidays, we gave a Christmas party for the active members and pledges. The party started with a cooky-shine after which each person found a humorous, appropriate gift on the Christmas tree. Then followed a very clever, original minstrel show given by the pledges, which was called Π Β Φ Freshman Follies. Also before the holidays, we were very glad to initiate Margaret Ball and Winifred Welton.

During the Christmas vacation, fifteen members of our chapter attended the installation of Indiana Δ at Purdue University. It was indeed a privilege to be there and to meet our Grand Officers, Mrs. Tannahill and Miss Carpenter, and many other prominent alumnae. Many of us are acquainted with all of the new members of Indiana Δ and are very happy to see so many splendid girls wearing the arrow.

Five of our chapter, who live in the southern part of the state, attended a Π Φ luncheon at Evansville during the holidays and enjoyed meeting alumnae from different chapters.

The home economics department of the university held a very interesting style show this week, in which six Pi Phis took part. We have been selling a number of Settlement School baskets this year and have many more orders than Miss Bishop is able to fill. We have had two house dances this semester and are planning to give another one between semesters.

The Panhellenic association is planning to hold a convention here on April 6 and 7. There will be representatives from each Panhellenic association in this state and in the neighboring states of Ohio, Kentucky, Illinois and Michigan. All questions with which the associations have to deal will be discussed and ideas will be exchanged, which will be profitable to all.

INITIATES

(Initiated December 6, 1920)

Irene Kurman, '23, Indianapolis, Ind.

Ruth Craig, '23, Greenwood, Ind.

As the holiday frivolity is now over, we are preparing for the semester examinations, which begin January 25. Before vacation our alumnae club gave a delightful Christmas party for the active chapter. Each guest received a ten cent gift presented by "Divine Corollary" who forecast the girls' futures through a magic crystal. As it is our custom we sent a Christmas box to our French orphan. Recently we received her picture and are very proud of her.

During the vacation Indiana  $\Delta$  was installed at Purdue University. Representatives from each chapter in the province were present. The occasion proved to be an inspiration to all and we wish to welcome our "little sister" chapter into "Pi Phidom."

As the year advances we find Pi Phis in many activities, Laurel Cissna, '23, and Margaret McCain, '24, have character parts in The Passing of the Third Floor Back to be given by the dramatic club.

$\Pi \Phi$  is also represented in a new campus organization, the Writer's club. Martha Hawkins, one of the charter members, also serves on the board of editors of the Butler Brief Bag, the monthly literary magazine published by the club.

Recently our pledges gave for the active chapter a stunt entitled A Wedding. The following are our prospective Pi Phis: Francis Martin, Gwynethe Knee, Margaret McCain, Helene Harrison, LaVonne Larison, Louise Rich, Virginia Shortridge, Indianapolis; Janet Dean, Rushville; Mildred Winship, Goodland, Ind., Marjorie Spillman, Indianapolis, Ind. We have adopted a point system for the pledges and believe that it will prove successful.

A  $\Phi \Delta \Phi$  chapter has been organized at Butler of which two representatives from each fraternity and four non-fraternity girls are members. The organization is to promote good feeling between fraternity and non-fraternity girls.

With best wishes for a successful year to all.

Could there be a better or happier beginning for the New Year than one's initiation into  $\Pi B \Phi$  and the installation of one's chapter? Every member of Indiana  $\Delta$  deemed the evening of New Year's day, 1921, "the end of a perfect day," and furthermore the happiest day of her life. We had closed one chapter of our lives but had opened another one, vastly broader and more impressive. At last the wearers of the much coveted arrow, we began this year with determined resolutions to meet and fulfill every obligation to  $\Pi B \Phi$  which we had acquired.

The days of our initiation and installation ceremonies were ones of which we shall always hold beautiful memories. We are indeed proud to have had such women as Mrs. Tannahill, Mrs. Allen and Miss Carpenter participate in the festivities.

We desire in this manner to express our very sincere thanks for the enthusiastic support which was given to us by the members of the active chapters in  $\Delta$  province and by Pi Phi from other chapters who visited us. From them we have gained increased vigor, enthusiasm and higher ideals.

For the  $\Pi B \Phi$  wall plaque from Indiana  $\Gamma$ , the pictures from Indiana  $B$  and the innumerable flowers, telegrams and notes of congratulation from the installing officers and from members and chapters of men and women's fraternities represented at Purdue and from friends, we are duly grateful. May we also mention the informal dancing party given by Indiana  $\Gamma O$  chapter of  $A T \Omega$ , the party given by  $\Sigma E$  chapter of  $\Sigma \Phi E$ , the matinee dance by  $\Gamma \Delta$  chapter of  $K K \Gamma$  and the buffet luncheon by  $A X$  chapter of  $K A \Theta$ .

Indiana  $\Delta$  is proud to have Susan Van Deventer as the 1921 May Queen and Mary Prater, '21, Louise Fletemeyer, '21, and Gay Case, '21, as three of her seven attendants. Susan Van Deventer is also the only girl on our Purdue union committee. Gay Case, '21, is the first girl to gain a place on the varsity debating squad. Grace Adams, '21, is the co-ed editor of the Purdue Exponent, our daily paper. Catharine Christen, '21, is one of the three assistant co-ed editors on the Exponent and a member of the Y. W. C. A. cabinet. Three of our pledges, Mildred Tingley, Margaret Simminger and Irene Lentz have already gained places upon the Exponent reporting staff. Twelve of our sixteen actives are members of literary societies. The coveted O N badge (the insignia of the honorary national home economics society) has been gained by two of our seniors. Also K Δ Π and Θ X Γ (honorary educational and English societies, respectively) ribbons have shown up in our chapter. In the class elections this fall we won the offices of sophomore secretary and junior historian.

Our alumnae have presented to us a scholarship cup which will be won each month by the class holding the highest scholarship record. A further impetus to work for grades was given to us last week when we received a letter stating that Miss Miriam Deming, Miss Ethelwyn Miller and Miss Edith Carpenter are presenting a Π B Φ recognition pin to the chapter, to be worn each year by the girl holding the highest scholarship record throughout the preceding year.

Indiana Δ has the following twelve pledges: Naomi Christen, Doris Clark, Helen Horrall, Mildred Leiendecker, Irene Lentz, Leota McClure, Frances Präter, Betty Schmidt, Kathryn Seed, Margaret Simminger, Goldia Stoner, Mildred Tingley.

Kate D. Stewart, Indiana B, is our chaperon this year.

Our banks are already bulging with pennies for the Settlement School. We hope to reveal our various methods for acquiring these at our first cooky-shine which we expect to hold in the very near future.

Since local Panhellenic decided not to have a winter quarter membership season, we began work on our annual entertainment as soon as the university opened after Christmas vacation. Heretofore the entertainment has been in the form of a vaudeville, but this year we will present Little Miss Profiteer, a musical comedy, which will include thirty girls from the active chapter in its cast and choruses. The proceeds from both the afternoon and evening performances will go towards the house fund.

A few weeks before Christmas, Mrs. Jenks (Maud Huntley, Wisconsin A, '98) attended our cooky-shine and gave a most inspiring talk on the Settlement School. She and Dr. Jenks, head of the department of anthropology of the University of Minnesota, spent three weeks this summer in Gatlinburg. After hearing of their interesting experiences with the various individuals, their customs, mode of living and the work of our Settlement School, we felt as though we had actually taken a trip to Gatlinburg.

It has been the custom every year for the alumnae to give the active chapter a Christmas party and cooky-shine at the  $\Pi \Phi$  house. As a little diversion this year instead of each girl getting a present from the tree, the alumnae and actives gave useful gifts to the house. Consequently, our house is flourishing a new silver cream and sugar set, two pairs of candlesticks, and one dozen new knives and forks.

Panhellenic has accomplished a great deal this year in becoming an effective organization on the campus. As the president said, "It is more than a battleground for our petty differences." The constructive work began in the fall just before election when a series of interesting lectures were given to girls who could vote. Following this same policy the third Monday of each month has been set aside for a lecture by some eminent speaker. Other work of Panhellenic for the year has been an attempt to bring more national women's fraternities into Minnesota. Panhellenic feels that the twelve societies represented here are not enough in proportion to the number of women students in college, but as there are no locals to petition for national charters Panhellenic as an organization is sponsoring and helping groups of non-fraternity girls in their communication with national organizations. Already three or four nationals are interesting themselves in Minnesota as a field for extension and we hope by next fall to have at least one or possibly two, new national chapters.

We are very proud of the way our freshmen have been participating in campus activities. Lenore Andrist was captain of the  $\Pi \Phi$  freshman team which won the loving cup for selling the most buttons during Home-coming and Better Minnesota Week. Julia Patty 'is vice-president of Bib and Tucker, freshman girls' organization, and treasurer of the art department club, and also a member of Paint and Patches, girls' dramatic club. Dorothy Shraeder has been initiated into Players' dramatic club and Kathryn Swansen and Lenore Andrist are reporting for Minnesota Daily. Others are doing work on Y. W. C. A. and W. S. G. A. committees. It is our aim to have each freshman associate herself closely with some campus activity before her initiation and we feel that we have been unusually successful this year.

Emilie Bruno, '23, Washington, D. C.
 Frances Conklin, '21, Hutchinson, Kan.
 Adine Lampton, '22, Jackson, Miss.

 Ethel Meshinger, '23, Dubuque, Iowa
 Jessie Morton, '23, Webster Groves, Mo.
 Eleanor Sanford, '23, La Crosse, Wis.

Although semester examinations are almost here, we can still be happy when we think of the seven fine girls we have just initiated. Mrs. Lyman from Honolulu has been our chaperon since the holidays and we feel very fortunate in having her with us.

Just before leaving for Christmas vacation we held our annual party for the children from "Little Italy." We expected about ten children and when a very small Ford coupé rolled up to the house and deposited about eighteen shouting and excited little Italians you can imagine how surprised we were. We served supper, had presents, a beautiful tree, and borrowed a boy for Santa. The children had such a good time, particularly sliding on the polished floors, that we could hardly get them home.

Many of our old members were back for Home-coming and we were very proud over winning the prize, a floor lamp, for selling the most programs. The competition was keen and the weather was severe, but we were determined to succeed.

Three of our girls have been elected to  $\Phi K \Phi$ , the activity fraternity. We have all been working hard on the Wisconsin-in-China drive the money from which will be used to educate two Chinese girls in this country so that they can go back and teach in China.

We are very fortunate in having the lakes almost at our front door. The ice-boating and skating have been exceptionally good this year and every one spends many hours on the ice.

INITIATE

(Initiated January 6, 1920)
 Mildred Hartman, '23, Brodhead, Wis.

GRADUATE

Mildred Lytle, B.S., Byron, Ill.

One quarter of the school year has elapsed and we are now anticipating the initiation of our pledges on February 5. We are exceedingly fortunate in having two new pledges: Virginia Haskell, Princeton, Ill., and Carlotta Squier, Battle Creek, Mich., but we regret very much the loss of Lucy Pettijohn, pledge, Mary McCauley, '22, Iva Chester, '21, and Mildred Lytle who graduated at Christmas time. Dorcas Foss is with us again after having been absent for a year on account of serious illness.

Our new girls have taken a lively interest in the campus activities, many being members of the girls' glee club, Beloit Players, A Capella choir, Shakespeare club, vesper choir and journalistic societies. Mary Heald has been elected to attend the convention at Charlevoix.

Recently the chapter obtained new rooms just opposite the campus which are cozier and much more convenient than our old chapter house. We were happily surprised on returning from our vacation to find in our rooms a beautiful new floor lamp which was a Christmas gift from the pledges.

Plans are now being made for our formal dance which will be given March 19 at the Elks' Club.

Our Grand President and Dean of Women, Mrs. Tannahill, entertained the chapter at a "sing" at her home in honor of Abbie Langmaid of the Settlement School. Among our other visitors was Miss Marion Pierce, an officer of the Y. W. C. A.

ILLINOIS BETA—LOMBARD COLLEGE

(Chartered 1867)

Pledge Day—October 10, 1920

With resolutions to make 1921 one of the best years in the history of the chapter, Lombard Pi Phis are now facing seriously the perplexities of fraternity as well as final examinations. Mrs. Weatherbee (Charlotte Tainter, ex-'27), a member of our alumnae advisory board, has been conducting oral examinations at our regular meetings.

Marion Webster, '09, has been appointed vocational guide for Lombard. She gave a very interesting talk in chapel January 5 on the subject of choosing a vocation and through her influence Miss Helen Bennet of Chicago gave a most inspiring lecture on the same topic. Miss Bennet urges girls to decide early in their college courses for what work they are best fitted, then to obtain a general knowledge tending toward that work and to do specialization work only as a postgraduate course or in a technical college.

One of Cupid's little pranks left us for a few days without a president as Josephine Haws, '21, was married January 1 to Pierce Webster. Mr. and Mrs. Webster have the congratulations and best wishes of the chapter. Ruth Stevenson was elected president to fill her place. We are pleased to announce the pledging of Ruth Owens of Van Wert, Ohio.

Lombard closed a most successful football season with the defeat of our local enemy—Knox, and is now beginning what we are confident will be an equally favorable basketball season.

Sunday evening, November 14, our six pledges entertained the active chapter at a delicious three course cooky-shine, and on December 20 staged a five act vaudeville which ended with a screamingly funny movie entitled Nellie the Pet of the Plains. Our formal party will be a supper dance at the Elks' Club, February 19.

Pledge Day—Second Saturday after Matriculation Day

After a delightful vacation of more than two weeks, we are back to start in our work for the new calendar year. We have semester examinations ahead of us, followed a little later by fraternity examinations so we are not as care free as we were at the writing of the last chapter letter.

Martha Bennett, one of our pledges, could not return to college because of having smallpox but we are wishing for her a complete and immediate recovery.

We had a beauty contest not long ago for the Gale in which Mary Phillips, an active, and Aileen Trent, a pledge, were two of the six girls elected by the students of the college.

Our two new freshman pledges are: Aileen Trent of Rock Island and Bonita Urban of Quincy, whom we are glad to see wearing the arrow head.

Many of our chapters are busy with college activities: Alice Brandt, '22, is editor-in-chief of the Gale while Harriet Hurd, '22, is assistant editor as well as a member of the student council. Alice Brandt, '22, and Dorothy Merriman, '23, are members of  $\Theta \Sigma \Phi$ . Gertrude Gamble, '23, is vice-president of her class; Martha Bennett is girls' treasurer and Martha Cooke, secretary of the freshman class. Frances Crane and Marjory Dyson, two pledges, have received most honorable mention for scholarship records thus far. Gladys Weaver, '23, and Miriam Wylie, '21, are on the Y. W. C. A. cabinet and with Dale Farrell, '22, are on the W. S. G. A. Dorothy Dyson, '21, is on the house council of Whiting Hall, and student council. Eight Pi Phis are in the glee club.

Next month the college will celebrate "Founders' Day" at which time the seniors will appear in their caps and gowns for the first time. Dr. Gunsaulus, of Chicago, will be the speaker. We are to have a song contest this year as a part of the celebration and are anticipating an enjoyable time.

ILLINOIS EPSILON—NORTHWESTERN UNIVERSITY

Pledge Day—December 16, 1920

After an exceptionally long period in which to become acquainted with the new-comers on the campus, Illinois E announces the pledging of six splendid girls: Jean Burns, Omaha, Neb.; Jeanne Cheadle, Frankfort, Ind.; Vivian Lovén, Oak Park, Ill.; Marion Merrill, Chicago, Ill.; Adella Mitchell, Carbon-dale, Ill.; and May Rogers, Gary, Ind. Since invitations were not issued until the day before Christmas vacation, we entertained the girls at dinner and formally pledged them immediately afterwards. We were delighted to have with us at our pledge dinner our new Province President, Mrs. Compton, and a number of our alumnæ.

We still feel that our system of meeting the new girls this year was undesirable, and since most of the other fraternities at Northwestern are of the same opinion, our local Panhellenic is undertaking to devise a new system.

We have been directing our energies very seriously this semester, toward the attainment of high scholarship as a chapter, and, since semester examinations are now drawing near, every  $\Pi \Phi$  has pledged herself to give up all outside interests and entertainments the week before, and the ten days during examinations. We hope by this to enable ourselves to concentrate solely on our studies and in our examinations in order to do credit to  $\Pi \Phi$ .

Although most of our time has been taken up in making new friends, we have not entirely forgotten our old ones, and on Home-coming day, November 13, we entertained our alumnae at a tea, immediately after the Northwestern-Purdue football game.

Mrs. Eli A. Helmick and her daughter, Florence, both of Michigan A, have returned to Fort Sheridan to live, and have, we are glad to say, immediately renewed their acquaintance with Illinois E. At one of our recent meetings they were both present, and Mrs. Helmick gave us a most interesting talk on our Settlement School, made doubly interesting because of her own close personal contact with it. She has also invited us to Fort Sheridan in the spring, to hold our formal initiation at her home. It is certainly an ideal place for a ceremony of that sort, and we sincerely hope that all Pi Phi who are planning to be in the vicinity of Chicago at that time (either late in March or early in April) will spend that evening with Illinois E.

Pledge Day—September 25

With alumnae back from states as far away as Florida and all but two of the charter members here, Illinois Z spent a delightful Home-coming. We realized then how very nice it was to have alumnae back and how much we enjoyed knowing them.

After two months of closer acquaintance with our pledges, we are as proud of them as ever. They are taking part in campus activities with a fine spirit. Virginia White has been elected vice-president of the freshman commission; Virginia Baker is a member of the freshman frolic committee; Betty Phillips is on the European relief committee; Hazel Fellers has just been pledged to Alethenai, literary society; and Margaret Weldon to Athenian; while Dorothy Schulz was elected to the woman's cosmopolitan club. The upperclassmen, busy with their college work, have received several new honors. Laura Treadwell, '23, was chosen a member of Shi-Ai; Margaret Sears was elected to  $\Gamma \Phi \Lambda$ , honorary agricultural fraternity, and took part in a Mask and Bauble dramatic hour; Marian Lessing, '22, won the doll show poster contest; and Dorothy Preble, '21, has been elected to  $\Sigma \Delta \Phi$ , honorary public speaking fraternity.

The festive air of Christmas is prevalent on the campus and is manifest by the junior prom and many social affairs. We are giving our first informal dance at the country club just before Christmas. The more serious aspect of the season is evidenced by the European relief campaign now being launched at the university. Jeanne White, '22, is chairman of the committee in charge of the campus Christmas tree, while Enid Ireland, '21, has charge of the carols. The day after our party we are going to give a children's Christmas party for children recommended by the united charities. Each youngster will receive some useful present and a simple toy. Imagine the fun we shall have as well as they!

Among the names of pledges the name of Margaret Weldon, '23, of Centralia, Ill., was omitted.

INITIATE

First we would like to introduce to you our new initiate, Vida Thompson, of Mount Vernon, Illinois, of whom we are very proud.

In the past three months, besides the general routine of lessons, labor and fun, we've had some extraordinary things take place. Our grading system has been changed from the old percentage system to the letter system which is now used in most of the best colleges. We are now classified as A, B, and C students. The lower classmen have adopted a measure which says that only those students with three-fourths of their grades above 80% may graduate from the university.

Our blue and white team was again victorious in conference football, defeating every opponent with only one team scoring any points against us. Our basketball team is to be highly commended for the scores it has registered against the University of Illinois, Beloit, Wabash, Chicago and Iowa. As yet our conference games have not been played, but we have the same end in view which we had last year and the chances look even.

Millikin and Decatur considered themselves quite indebted to the Millikin English club for having had Tony Sarg's Marionettes here January 10 for two performances. The plays, Rip Van Winkle and Rose and the Ring were remarkably presented. The charm and humaness of those little puppets won the praise of everyone.

Three numbers of the Artists' series have been presented in the Millikin auditorium. Salvi, the world-famed harpist, Harold Bauer, pianist, and Ruth Ray, violinist, have given musical feasts. The last number of the series will be given January 31, by Miss Marie Rappold, who has been for years a prominent singer of the Metropolitan Opera Company.

The oratorio choir under the leadership of Don M. Swarthout, assistant director of the conservatory, has begun practicing of Handel's "Messiah." The members of this choir will give a concert in connection with the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra as their annual production.

As for  $\Pi \Phi$  news—we have had several pot-luck dinners and one cooky-shine. Miss Olive M. Young, head of the household science department and also II  $\Phi$  adviser, talked to us recently in a most helpful and suggestive way stressing sincerity and poise.

Just at present we are studying both for the semester finals and the II  $\Phi$  examination and we are wondering who will hold the highest standing in the roll of chapters.

IOWA ALPHA—IOWA WESLEYAN UNIVERSITY

(Chartered 1868)

Pledge Day—October 2, 1920

It is nearly the end of the first semester and with examinations fast approaching we are all beginning to wish we had studied more and played less. We will surely be thankful when they are a thing of the past, even though we do fail, which we are all determined not to do.

Just before the Christmas holidays, the chapter, had a party at the rooms. The pledges had decorated the rooms, displaying their artistic ability. Suspended from the ceiling of the whole room were strings of cotton batting representing snow. The Christmas tree lighted by electric lights, held a present for each girl. We were wonderfully surprised by a gift of the fraternity coat-of-arms mounted upon a plaque, presented to us by the pledges.

On the evening of January 10, the pledges invited the actives to a party at which they announced the engagement of one of their number, Margaret Sisson. After we had all eaten all we could, we had a mock wedding, and from start to finish it was very funny.

We have been worried for fear we were going to have to move. On account of the death of our patroness and also landlady, Mrs. Northrup, the house where we have our rooms was sold but we were greatly relieved when we found that the new owners would let us keep the rooms, although during the month of February the house will be vacant. However, one of the alumnae, Mrs. Garrison (Marion Becker, '15), has kindly offered us the use of her home during that month.

We have a great many representatives in student activities this year. Ina Shaul, a senior, is president of Hershey Hall. Edith Whiting, Blanche Thomas and Nelle Hadley are on the Y. W. C. A. cabinet, and June Berry is on the annual staff. We are very proud of Nelle Hadley one of our pledges who came to the university to fill the position of pastor's assistant in the Methodist church. Besides the duties that this places upon her, she has had the added honor of being made business manager of the girls' glee club and secretary of the student art club. Kathryn Gilmore is the girls' yell leader and coöperates with the college yell leader at all of our pep meetings and athletic events. Dorothy Gilmore, Nelle Hadley and Kathryn Gilmore are members of the dramatic club and Dorothy Gilmore, Kathryn Gilmore, Mildred Vertrees, Joyce Brown, Edith Davidson and Nelle Hadley are members of the glee club. Edith Whiting and Mary Dutton are our representatives on the News staff.

Pledge Day—October 1, 1920

INITIATES

(Initiated December 18, 1920)

Bernice Hannelly, '23, Mt. Ayr, Iowa

Miriam Heckart, '23, Douds, Iowa.

After the twelve days' respite of the holiday season we are once again back in the whirl and business of college life. Iowa B celebrated Thanksgiving with due festivity. A cooky-shine was held in the chapter house for our men guests, the evening being spent informally. One feature was the singing of original songs by our pledges.

The annual Christmas party lacked nothing to make it a complete success. From the cooky-shine to the distribution of our gifts mirth and jollity prevailed. Our Christmas offering to the Settlement School this year consisted of money instead of the usual individual gifts. We also contributed to the "Invisible guest" fund. Simpson students have responded nobly to this cause. The girls of Mary Berry hall by denying themselves of certain items in their table menu saved more than sixty dollars for this fund.

We are privileged to have with us Mrs. Henry Wallace (May Brodhead, Iowa I, '87,) of Des Moines and to hear her interesting account of her visit to Little Pigeon. Her talk deepened our interest and enlarged our sympathies in the work of the school.

At our initiation service held at the chapter house we were pleased to have with us two visiting Pi Phis: Mrs. Guy Morrison (Wilma Haldeman, '02) of California and Mrs. F. L. Davis (Alice Seoles, '81,) who is National Field Secretary of the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal church.

Our chapter is anticipating with pleasure the coming visit of our Grand Secretary, Amy B. Onken from which we expect to derive great benefit.

Among the new college activities several Pi Phis have prominent positions. Winnifred Seay, '21, is president of the home economics club and Margaret Kirkendall, '21, is secretary of English seminar.

January 21 and 22 are the days when our new administration building and reconstructed chapel will be dedicated. An elaborate program including a banquet and reception is planned. There will be speeches by Bishop Homer Stuntz of Omaha, Hon. Lafette Young of Des Moines and other notable men. It is expected that many alumni and friends of the college will be in Indianola at that time.

INITIATES

(Initiated November 11, 1920)

Dorothy Harriman, '23, Ames, Iowa

Harriet Tilden, '23, Ames, Iowa

The second quarter of the college year began January 10, a week later than usual, owing to the fact that the annual short courses in home economics, dairying and animal husbandry were held here the week beginning January 3. Four Pi Phis, Ruth Barton, '23, Helen Hart, '22, Ethel Dowell, '23, and Ann Leichliter, '23, did not return this quarter but we expect them back this spring.

On November 3, Hazel Sheerer, Burgess, Ill., was pledged making a total of thirteen pledges—a very lucky number for us. The freshmen are organized and have meetings each Wednesday night at the chapter house with study supervised by Helen Secor, '22. Every two weeks the freshmen come for dinner and a social meeting.

The alumnae gave a cooky-shine for us on December 5, with a short program following the dinner. We are very fortunate in having such an interested and active alumnae club.

In college activities, Helen Secor, '22, who is on the Bomb board, the Bomb being the annual junior publication, was pledged to Mortar Board, an honorary junior and senior organization, and is also treasurer of the Y. W. C. A. Anna Dowell is a member of the women's guild and Helen Hart has been elected to dramatic club. Helen Budd is secretary of the Y. W. C. A. and president of the sophomore council. Clara Jordan, '23, made the college glee club,  $\Theta \Sigma \Phi$ , honorary journalistic fraternity, and is on the Student staff. Ethel Dowell, '23, Dorothy Harriman, '23, and Clara Jordan were in the H. M. S. Pinafore which was given last quarter by the college glee clubs. Ann and Beth Wood, '22, due to their journalistic work on the Student staff have attracted wide attention.

IOWA ZETA—IOWA STATE UNIVERSITY

Pledge Day—September 23, 1920

It seems such a short time since we all started into the university, and yet, here we are near to the close of the first semester. The girls are very busy with their work anticipating the examinations which must come. Pledge examinations are also approaching and since we wish to have our freshmen well prepared, the supervisor of pledge study is concentrating much effort on her work. We are trying to have our pledges understand perfectly the founding, growth, etc., of our fraternity.

The scholarship committee has been busy looking up the entire chapter's grades. In this way the girls realize their standing before it is too late to remedy it if necessary. We found the grades on an average very good.

The end of this semester is going to mean the loss of Ruth Wallace of Des Moines who is planning to go to Goucher; and Catheryn Bradford, also of Des Moines, who is going home the second semester. We shall miss them greatly for they have done much for the chapter.

We have just invested in a new davenport of which we are very proud and which improves greatly the appearance of our home. We hope to pay for it in gradual assessments this year.

There are many interesting social events scheduled for the next semester. The formal parties have begun with the military ball and sophomore cotillion taking place this month. Besides these university formals, there are the fraternity formals. We are planning to have a  $\Pi \Phi$  dinner dance sometime in the near future.

The chapter is eagerly anticipating the visit of Amy B. Onken, the latter part of February or the beginning of March.

The girls are working well in their activities which they started at the beginning of the year; several of the girls won their letters for playing on athletic teams during the fall term. Plans are being made now for next year for our membership parties and housing conditions.

Grace Gilmore was chosen to be our delegate to the convention. This is certainly a great opportunity for Pi Phis and we hope many of the girls will be able to attend.

INITIATES

(Initiated December 9, 1920)

Kathryne Cole, '22, California, Mo.

Elizabeth Estes, '22, Columbia, Mo.

Lily Harrison, '22, Steelville, Mo.

Sarah Molony, '22, St. Joseph, Mo.

Laura Mary Simpson, '22, Jefferson City, Mo.

Elizabeth Smiley, '22, Tyler, Tex.

Zelle Whitmarsh, '22, Texarkana, Ark.

Missouri A is very proud of seven new initiates, who are all juniors, and are girls that we feel sure will make splendid Pi Phis.

Two more laurels have been added to the chapter's wreath since the last letter. Henrietta Stewart, '21, was elected Harvest Queen at the annual Barnwarming of the students of agriculture; and Corinne Mackey, '21, has been elected to membership in  $Z \Sigma \Phi$ , the honorary women's fraternity of the school of journalism.

We have had great pleasure during the fall term in acting as hostesses to members of five other chapters. Missouri's splendid and successful series of football games was mostly played on the home field, which afforded us the honor of having  $\Pi \Phi$  guests from Missouri B, Missouri  $\Gamma$ , Kansas A, Kansas B, and Oklahoma A. We were also very happy to have with us many of our alumnae for Thanksgiving, which was Missouri's Home-coming day.

The Christmas vacation marked the close of one semester and the beginning of another in the university. The results of last term's work are still unknown, but we are starting on the new term with a determination to make better grades, no matter how good the preceding ones are. We suffer a great loss in the graduation at this time of Elizabeth Spencer, the oldest initiate in the active chapter, and one of our best and most dependable workers.

Our plans for the new term include the formation of a basketball team. We have several experienced players, the prospect of a good team, and a chance for the inter-fraternity cup. We are also planning initiation for our freshmen sometime in February, and with these girls added to our chapter, we hope for a year successful in every way.

MISSOURI BETA—WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY

(Chartered 1907)

Pledge Day—September 23, 1920

It is hard to make our minds work as they should when they are whirling with knowledge to be dispensed to the professors in our final examinations.

Nevertheless, all Missouri Betas have most pleasant memories of the visits of Mrs. Tannahill and Mrs. Allen early in December. We were singularly fortunate in having these two national officers with us at the same time. It was fun to gather 'round in a good old  $\Pi \Phi$  circle while they talked to us about the work of the Settlement School, and showed slides and snap-shots of the Gatlinburg region. We remember, too, the lovely formal dance that the pledges gave in honor of the active chapter on December 3.

On December 11, Keod, the senior honorary society, gave its annual Vodvil in which each fraternity and women's organization on the campus took part. Our number, a clever sketch worked out by Grace Woods, '19, proved to be one of the most appreciated acts of the performance.

During December, Elizabeth Bradshaw, '21, was pledged to Ternion, the junior honorary society, and also to  $\Delta \Psi K$ , an honorary athletic fraternity. Genevieve Orear was chosen as the  $\Pi \Phi$  member in the freshman honorary society.

While we are speaking of honors—four of the eleven girls picked to play another school at hockey were members of our chapter. A Panhellenic series is to be played in basketball sometime in March and our chances are very good to win the championship.

But even while we are keeping up to our standard in activities, we are not neglecting the more serious things. In order to raise our chapter average in scholarship, we have divided the chapter into teams under the leadership of the four seniors. The purpose of organizing the chapter in this way is to create a spirit of competition within the chapter and to give us a good start toward a record year.

MISSOURI GAMMA—DRURY COLLEGE

Pledge Day—November 16, 1920

INITIATES

Dorothy Daily, '23, Springfield, Mo.

Frances Myer, '23, Springfield, Mo.

Helen Louise Terry, '23, Springfield, Mo.

No word could characterize Drury just at this time better than busy. It is now less than two weeks before mid-year examinations, when all outside semester work must be finished very soon. We are anticipating the second semester, however, and hope that we can take more time to be sociable then.

Before the last ARROW went to press, we had thirteen of the very loveliest freshmen in college wearing the arrowhead. In addition to these we have three upper-class pledges: Grace Gambill, Octavia Johnston, a junior, and Effie Robinson, a sophomore. We are sure that all of our pledges will prove very worthy.

We were very fortunate in December in having a visit from Mrs. Nina Harris Allen. We were disappointed that Mrs. Tannahill could not accompany her as she had planned to do. Mrs. Allen brought with her some new slides of the Settlement School, and we had a "picture show" in one of the college buildings to which we invited all students, faculty and friends of the college. At this meeting Mrs. Allen lectured as she showed the slides, and brought to the attention of the college what fraternities can do in service to those less fortunate than we are. We were particularly surprised at the very little difference in the appearance of the children of the Settlement School and those whom we see every day. We certainly can recommend to all chapters that they get some one to bring those slides to them. Mrs. Allen not only brought us news of Little Pigeon, but also helped us in a very real way to solve our local problems. We felt as if we could start with renewed effort upon our college and fraternity work.

On December 4, we gave our semester dance in the college gymnasium, and the committee worked very hard on the attractive Christmas decorations. We were especially pleased that Mrs. Allen could be with us for that big social affair.

Just before the holidays we had a bazaar in our room, from which we made about sixty dollars to help pay for a new set of furniture. Our room is very well furnished now and we are quite proud of it.

For the last two weeks, a Drury student committee, in which  $\Pi \Phi$  was well represented, has been working on a campaign to put Drury-in-Madura, which ended successfully today. Madura College is in India, and the plan is for Drury to have a part in its support.

We were entertained recently by our faculty adviser, big sister and patroness, Dr. Mildred MacArthur, who announced her departure for Europe in February. We will miss her very much indeed, but are glad of her good fortune and will anticipate her return.

We take this opportunity of announcing that two of our members Ruth Esther, '21, and Margaret King, '22, have transferred to Missouri A.

ETA PROVINCE

NEBRASKA BETA—UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA

(Chartered 1895)

Pledge Day—November 20, 1920

With finals coming on, we are all bending our energies toward the betterment of our scholarship record and with the aid of the many splendid freshmen that we have, we feel quite confident that we shall be gratified and pleased with the record of this last semester.

Many excellent things are happening to this university of ours, among them being the purchase of additional six square blocks for enlargement of our campus. One section of this new ground has already been used for five new cottage dormitories. There is a house chaperon of course and each girl is well taken care of by her. Each dormitory is equipped with a laundry which the girls may use making things quite handy for them. There is one cottage which has a dining-room for all the dormitory girls. They have lovely rooms furnished with the necessities and each girl is permitted to use her own ingenuity in adding the "furbelows." A man from Chicago is here now to plan the remainder of the campus and we are anxiously awaiting and anticipating the changes which he will recommend.

Two of our newest buildings, the teachers' college and the social science, have just been formally dedicated and both ceremonies were very lovely.

Another thing which every loyal student feels proud of is the recent proof of our unitedness and "stick-to-itiveness." If there were any skeptics or pessimists in the school who tried to prophecy or lament upon the lack of spirit at Nebraska, they surely must be in hiding now. We had to pay $37.00 for our best ballroom for our formals, with the warning of a raise to $50.00 the first of the year, $60.00 for an orchestra, $2.50 per plate for banquets, and other outlandish prices for the things which most college students feel are necessities. Well, the feeling against all these unfair prices had been growing since early fall until finally, the last of November things came to a crisis when the above announcements were made. Representatives from each Greek-letter organization and other organizations were called in a joint meeting. This meeting was very successful and everyone representing some big group of people agreed to do all in his power to bring the dealers to terms. A committee was chosen to draw up the plans of campaign and to submit these plans to each organization. Each individual complied with the rules and it was because of this united effort that the dealers were finally forced to submit and consequently cooperate with the students.

We are expecting a visit from our Grand President, and as this will be the initial meeting for a great many of us we are anticipating it with pleasure. Of course we are a little fearful that she will find we have numerous faults but then we are hoping there will not be too many.

Melba Bradshaw, who was taking postgraduate work this year, left for New York last week to enter Sargents' School of Dramatics. We all hated to see her go but of course it is wonderful for her.

We had planned an especially nice Christmas party but because of the hard times and the accompanying boycott, we turned it into a house dance and bent all our efforts towards making it a success both from an artistic point of view and a satisfying one.

INITIATES

Irene Boyer, '22, Kansas City, Mo.

Betty Bradbury, '23, Paola, Kan.

Several influences have been exerted recently to bring about in our chapter, an enthusiasm which has not been equalled for several years. An extremely enjoyable visit from Mrs. Tannahill in December achieved an inspiration in our fraternity life which has left the chapter more keenly aware of its own purposes and ideals, as well as its relation to the university and the world in general. This too brief but charming association served to reveal in a new way our goal as fraternity women. Mrs. Tannahill's visit had been preceded by a current of response to our Alma Mater during a stadium-union campaign, conducted to obtain finances for a long desired stadium and a much needed union building. The drive was so successful that we are not only assured of the two improvements on our campus, but are also imbued with a bond of fellowship and a school spirit, previously dormant.

Early in December, the chapter gave a bazaar, the proceeds of which were sent to the Settlement School. Our alumnae were the patrons and demonstrated a greatly appreciated interest. This attitude had a precedent in the fall, when the Kansas City alumnae club gave our chapter a gift of seventy-five dollars, for which we were exceedingly grateful.

Kansas A is proud of two new pledges: Anne Suderman of Newton, Kansas and Sarah Jane Jones of Hutchinson, Kansas. Sarah Jane has been pledged to  $\Delta \Phi \Delta$ , honorary art fraternity, and two of our freshmen, Marian Brandimoor and Dorothy Blackmar, have been elected to membership in the dramatic club.

The annual Christmas dinner had an additional charm with the presence of Mrs. Tannahill. We launched forth upon the holiday season with this event as an appropriate beginning.

Since vacation, our chapter has been submerged in school work, so that we hope to close the semester satisfactorily with the promise of many candidates for initiation.

Pledge Day—September 18, 1920

After a delightful holiday season, Kansas B arose, shook off her stupor and started to gather up the threads of existence. We are taking a bigger part in college activities this year and have been prominent in campus and social affairs as well. We are proud of our seniors and of Hortence Caton, our popular junior. She is on the cabinet and conference committee of Y. W. C. A., she was also elected one of the most popular girls in college. Our freshmen are all busy with Y. W. C. A., athletics chorus, dramatics, and literary societies. Julia Caton was the leading lady in a recent moving picture which was taken to advertise our college. Ruth Briggs a pledge will re-enter school this semester after teaching in Arkansas.

We had an excellent visit with Mrs. Anna Lytle Tannahill, our Grand President. Inspired by her aid, her constructive criticism, her helpful suggestions and her delightful self we have been vested with new zeal for our college and fraternity life. Mrs. Tannahill brought us the latest news of the Settlement School and told such interesting stories that we all want to go there to visit. We are making plans for a way to earn money for the Settlement School and will welcome any suggestions.

We tried on November 30 to show in part our appreciation to the football men who had such a successful year, by giving the team and the coaches a banquet. The men enjoyed it and we hope to continue the custom.

We hope to hold our initiation soon when we can make our splendid pledges into real Pi Phis.

Pledge Day—November 1, 1920

Wyoming A is proud and happy over fifteen new pledges who are already adding strength and character to the chapter. We would like to have you meet them: Rowena Hasbrouch and Velma Beaumont of Sheridan, Elizabeth Moore of Cheyenne, Mary Hay of Rock Springs, Alice Caldwell of Powell, Marjorie Coons of Basin, Marie McNamara of Douglas, Ida Ward of Cody, Lydia Tanner and Mary Maynard of Laramie, Fern Laird of Worland, Helen Clifford and Florence L'Hommedieu of Chicago, and Alice Beck of Ogden, Utah. We are expecting real achievements from our pledges. We are pleased over the election of Florence L'Hommedieu as vice-president and Rowena Hasbrouch as secretary and treasurer of the freshman class. Alice Beck and Elizabeth Moore have been elected to the dramatic society, the Thalian Club. Elizabeth Moore took the leading part in one of the one-act plays given for the benefit of the A. S. U. W.

We are sorry that it was necessary for three of our members to leave school because of ill health, Marjorie Coons and Esther Pauley having returned to their homes in Basin, while Marie McNamara has gone to a lower altitude to attend school at Northwestern. Susan Breisch, '22, discontinued her school work in December and will leave shortly for California with her mother.

Laura Crompton, '22, and Jane Beck, '23, have been elected to membership in  $\Phi \Gamma O$ , a home economics honorary fraternity.

From this time on Wyoming will be on the map in athletics because last week we were admitted to the Rocky Mountain Conference. We have high hopes of the championship in basketball.

One of the biggest things which has happened on our campus is the establishment of a women's league. It has yet to prove its place, but it was formed to meet a real need and the girls and faculty women interested are sure to make it go. Jane Beck, '23, was elected secretary.

We are all delighted over our wonderful Christmas gift from the freshmen, a brand new victrola which we have long wished for and dreamed of.

We are anticipating initiation to be held the last of February and our annual May dance. We are expecting a number of our alumnae to return for both of these occasions.

COLORADO ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF COLORADO

(Chartered 1884)

Pledge Day—September 27, 1920

We are well launched on the second quarter in the University of Colorado, having had our final examinations before the holiday recess. Many things of importance are already coming up.

Of vital interest to the women of the university is the installation of women's self-government. The organization of the system has been hindered by many things, but no doubt the plan will be put to a final vote of the women students within a very short time. The faculty is supporting self-government practically without exception, and is interested in seeing it become one of the important institutions of the university. All campus activities for women will be under one head, thus preventing much over-lapping and duplication of work. The plan, as mapped out by the committee, is based on the honor system, and provides for a graduated scale of social privileges.

The University of Colorado feels most fortunate in obtaining Sherwood Eddy for a series of lectures, January 27-30. He is to talk on conditions in Europe and the Orient, as he has seen them since the signing of the Armistice. He will also give the students concrete suggestions which they may follow to help better conditions abroad. It is felt that Sherwood Eddy will bring to this campus a message for which there has been a long-felt need.

Much time and thought is now being given to our biennial May fête. As these fêtes for the past few years have been modelled after the old English plan, it has been decided that a Chinese festival would be a welcome innovation. Therefore, the scene is to be laid in a Chinese garden between the years 700 and 800 A. D. A white wall is to be used as a background, in order to better display the brilliant costumes of the visiting countries—Egypt, Byzantia, Persia, and the Kingdom of the Ancient Tartars—, which are to be represented by the four classes.

Various committees have been working on the different phases of the May fête—the color and balance of the settings, gorgeous costumes and accessories, music, and dancing. Also much time is being devoted to unearthing the customs of those nations during the eighth century, and every effort is being made to utilize all of the talent of the school to the highest degree.

Many of our girls are taking part in the preparations: Patricia Sherrill, as president of Women's League, has entire charge of the affair; Aldean Mc Gowan, chairman and Lucile Cowan, designing committee; Margaret Eckles, publicity; Katherine Lester, property; Mary Belle Nicholson, dance; and Isabel Mason, music.

Besides these girls taking an active part in the May fête, Mary Belle Nicholson had the leading rôle in the last Players' club production, Seven Keys to Baldpate.

Colorado A has undertaken to contribute a definite sum to the Near East Relief fund each month. Each member brings to chapter meeting all the pennies which she has acquired during the previous week. If sufficient funds are not connected in this fashion, an assessment will be made to cover the deficit in our pledge.

Ruth Hartman, '23, Pueblo, Colo.

Margaret Tulley, '23, Denver, Colo.

A Happy New Year! Although the New Year will be well on its way when this letter reaches you, still this phrase is in order, because we hope that the first three months have been happy and that the next nine will be happy for every  $\Pi \Phi$  sister.

The chapter has been very busy since school opened as every girl has had something to do with the many various drives that came just before Christmas. Our annual bazaar came the week before, and the Christmas party the week after. It has been the custom of Colorado B to have a party for the active girls and the alumnae. This year, instead of bringing gifts for each other we brought the things which were so needed for the bungalow. We had many pleasant surprises. The best part of the affair was seeing last year's seniors and re-newing our acquaintance with our alumnae.

Every girl in the chapter this year is active in many organizations on the campus. Two of our seniors, Marie Melzer and Marjorie Mathers, were elected to Kedros, the honorary senior society for women. Lorene Allen has been pledged to R. A. C., the honorary women's athletic organization. We found that we had two literary lights: Ruth Sellers and Eleanor Staats. Both were elected to Quill. We are certainly proud of these girls.

Dan Cupid has been making a raid on the chapter this year. No less than four happy girls announced their engagements during the Christmas holidays. The rest of us are enjoying the candy and anticipating many June weddings.

Dorothy Engle was elected convention delegate with Aurelia (Pat) Trauger and Marion Dickinson as alternates. Dorothy is a junior and the daughter of our acting chancellor. She is active in all school affairs, a splendid student and a representative that Colorado B will be very proud of.

With our many interests we are not forgetting why we are in college. Scholarship reports come regularly. We made a new ruling that every cut from class costs the girl a quarter. It is working splendidly. All of us are studying for the examination and the first of the preliminaries comes January 17. And last but not least, FINALS, a whole week of them are confronting us.

Unless I stop immediately this letter will be a book and I must save something for the next issue.

This has been a progressive and prosperous year in the history of the university and our members have been very active on the campus. Three of our pledges, Mable Foster, '24, Dorothy De Freese, '24, and Genevieve Douglass, '23, were successful in making the glee club; Genevieve Douglass is also a member of the girls' glee club quartette. Helen Patchelle, '23, is one of the Sooner Trio who are touring the state giving concerts. Both Helen Patchelle and Marguerite Pendleton, with the university orchestra made an extended tour over the state during November. Sue Thompson, '23, played the part of Miranda in the Tempest. Marcelle Darling, Xyla Pendleton and Jesse Hamilton were also in the cast.

The greatest honor that has ever been given to a girl on this campus was conferred on Catherine ("Peggy") Patterson, '22, when she was chosen as the "Typical Sooner Girl." Marguerite Pendleton is a student assistant in violin, and Ruth Asher in English. Ruth Asher who will take her B.A. degree this semester will leave to teach English in the high school of Ponca City, Oklahoma.

The members of  $\Sigma \Delta X$  held their sixth annual national convention here on November 18-19-20, 1920. The Oklahoma chapter were hosts, and the delegates and other visitors were guests of the various fraternities and other organizations. The Knights of Columbus have established a residence for all members who are students in the university.

Just now we are very busy preparing for the finals that are coming next week. We are anticipating the opening of next semester, and are especially eager to pledge a few of the most promising girls on the campus.

After a pleasant holiday season of ten days, we have returned to college with renewed enthusiasm. The only check to our joy is the realization that the end of the semester is drawing near with its examinations.

Since our last chapter-letter was written, we have pledged three more girls: Jeanne Steele, '21, Hattie Hayman, '22, and Josephine Hale, '24. Jeanne and Hattie have been particularly active in dramatics and other college activities. Josephine, too, is a valuable addition to the chapter.

The week-end of November 6, we entertained a number of visitors who came to Stillwater to attend the football game with the University of Oklahoma. Among these guests were Frances Lewis, Helen Collins, and Alta Meachan of Oklahoma A.

Our annual formal dance given at Katz Hall on the evening of December 18, was attended by sixty couples. The decorations, in keeping with the Christmas season, consisted of cedar and berry bearing shrubbery suspended in festoons on the walls and from the center of the ceiling. There were favors for each guest on a large Christmas tree. The music was furnished by an orchestra from Guthrie, Oklahoma. The out-of-town guests included Vivian Brengle and Mable Foster of Oklahoma A and Caroline Cantwell, '19, Blanche Madigan, '19, Gladys Madigan, '19, Vinita Nelson, '18, and Frances Badger, ex-'22, of the alumnae of our own chapter.

We had a Christmas tree at the house this year, and the members, instead of placing on it gifts for one another as has been our custom in the past, each gave a useful present to the house.

The Oklahoma City alumnae club gave us some beautiful table linen. We appreciate their generosity very much indeed. Mrs. T. L. Stern (Alice Crary, ex-'22), of Wisconsin A was a recent visitor at the chapter-house.

Ruth Jones, ex-'23, has withdrawn from college to travel in Europe with her family. Iva See will graduate at the end of this semester and will return to her home in Tonkawa, Oklahoma.

Pledge Day—January 13, 1921

After Christmas nineteen Pi Phis returned to Fayetteville bringing a little sister, Bessie Coleman, '24, who is now wearing the arrowhead. We are now living in a new house right across from the campus. It is one of the most desirable residences for a fraternity house in Fayetteville.

Since the last letter to the ARROW, we entertained with a Panhellenic tea, to which we also invited all of our patronesses and mothers in town and all of the fraternity house mothers. We will not entertain with a formal dance, as usual, this year because it was decided in the inter-fraternity conference and Panhellenic that the formal fraternity dances would be omitted this year and be replaced by informal cadet club dances. This decision was largely due to the expenses of the fraternity dances.

The council on student affairs had already ruled that there could be no extra decoration in the armory in addition to the permanent draperies and other interior decorations which the council will provide. Hughlett Coleman, '22, is on the committee for planning these decorations.

About two weeks before the holidays one hundred of the state legislators and senators spent a week visiting several large universities, including Iowa State College, Missouri, and Illinois Universities; and then visited our university. The purpose of the trip was to compare the equipment of these larger universities with that of our own. It is hoped that the appropriation which has been asked of the legislature for the upbuilding and improvement of the university will be granted. If so, one of the first new buildings to be erected will probably be a gymnasium which has been needed on the campus for a long time.

One of the latest clubs in connection with the campus is the Greek-letter mothers' club, which is composed of the fraternity house mothers, who meet at the different houses once a month for a social good time and a discussion of their similar conditions and difficulties.

In student activities we are represented by Dorothy Gregson, '22, who was lately taken into Black Friars, dramatic club, and who is also class editor of the annual; by Hughlett Coleman, '22, as art editor of the annual; by Lunette Hedgepeth, '22, as vice-president of the junior class; by Margaret Maxfield, '22, as Panhellenic representative to the student advisory council; and by Emily Russell as a member of II K, honorary journalistic woman's fraternity.

Ellen Hughes, '23, Palestine, Texas.

Bess Kavanaugh, '23, Waco, Texas.

Katherine Risher, '22, Waco, Texas.

Frances Sleeper, '22, Waco, Texas.

The present is certainly a critical time in the history of Texas University. The institution has grown so rapidly that the regents have recommended to the legislature that it be moved from the present campus to a new situation several miles out on the Colorado River. It would be a beautiful location, but it would mean many changes, and would make the future of fraternities more questionable.

Last November Helen Williams, '23, was paid one of the highest social compliments of the state by being made Queen of the Cotton Palace, an elaborate affair held in Waco each year. Almeida McGregor, '23, was her attendant, and among the princesses and duchesses were twenty-three other Pi Phis. The day after the coronation there was a  $\Pi \Phi$  luncheon at the Raleigh Hotel for Helen and Margaret Stubbs, '22, the latter being the princess from Kansas.

Just before Christmas the alumnae club held its annual cake and candy sale at the chapter house from which they cleared about sixty dollars for Little Pigeon.

The whole chapter is becoming more active in university affairs. Blossom Wooten, '22, has been made president of the women's athletic council, and Dorothy Markle, '21, is a member of the women's council, which is a part of the system of self-government. Laura McGee, '21, is the student assistant to the dean of the education department. When the honor roll for the fall term was published, Bess Hines, '22, was among the best one per cent of students, and Martha LaPrelle, '21, Nancy Wynne, '22, Sidney Grogan, '22, Fritz Childress, '22, Mae Bess Huberick, '24, were among the best three per cent of students. Bess Hines, '22 is treasurer of the junior class and Isabel Camp, '22, is the vice-president.

At present it seems as if all of our chapter will meet at Charlevoix next July. At any rate several of us will be there, and we are already excited over the prospects.

Pledge Day—October 25, 1920

After many deliberations, Panhellenic finally designated October 25 as pledge day. This necessitated extra work at the last, as we had been planning on after-Christmas pledging. We were very successful and are proud to announce as our pledges: Lillian Muckleroy, Terrell; Dorothy May, Dallas; Ella Katharine Pierce, Dallas; Josephine Bigger, Dallas; Dorothy Brown, Dallas; Louise Hines, Dallas; Edith True, Dallas; Mignon Sockwell, Dallas; Rachel McClung, Terrell; Jeanne Toomer, Okmulgee, Okla.; Nancy Bonner, Gainesville; Katharine Elliott, Van Alstyne; Edith Boaz, Dallas.

Our freshmen have adjusted themselves to the workings of the fraternity exceptionally well and are now spending much time on the pledge study, in order that they may all be initiated when they have completed thirty hours of university work with an average of C in accordance with the Panhellenic rule.

Edith Boaz, one of our freshmen who had received a degree at Texas Woman's College where her father was president, informed us that she was to be married the day after she had completed satisfactorily the required work here. We were authorized to initiate her which we did and she was married the next day. Her husband, Prentice Terry, a B Θ II from Vanderbilt University, is an assistant under Hoover. Immediately after the wedding, they left for a visit in Kentucky, and later sailed on the Aquitania for Europe, where Mr. Terry is now a food administrator.

We are taking a very active part in student activities. Most of the girls are members of the workshop while all of us belong to the Y. W. C. A., some being members of the cabinet.

Ellen Clare Gillespie was married to Charles Kribs, a Σ Φ from Cornell University, on New Year's Eve. We are very proud of having her for our new Province President, and were extremely fortunate in previously having Mrs. Dyer, who has been a great help to our chapter in every way.

The university is beginning to wake up to the need of more buildings. A large fund has been raised for new dormitories and a plan to have a mothers' memorial is under way.

The entire campus is interested in seeing whether S. M. U. will withdraw from the Southwestern Conference. It is a big question and is foremost at present in the minds of all the students.

In December, Louisiana A had the splendid fortune to receive a visit from our Grand President, whose visit was an occasion of the greatest pleasure to the chapter. We feel that we have been immensely benefitted by her talks on fraternity matters, and we now have a truer conception of what  $\Pi \Phi$  really stands for, and a broader idea of the work and aims of the fraternity.

We had our usual Christmas-tree party just before the holidays, and it was one of the most amusing and most enjoyable parties of the year.

The open meetings which the chapter holds once each month, on some Saturday night, have been much enjoyed. After the meetings we have a spread, some stunts, and a general good time.

Wilmer Shields, one of our Sophomores, was the winner of the Jennie C. Nixon debate. That is quite an honor, for the Nixon debate is considered one of the big events of the college year.

Cora Miltenberger was pledged on January 8.

With so much anti-fraternity feeling at Newcomb, it seems advisable to keep fraternities as inconspicuous as possible, therefore we no longer use the  $\Pi \Phi$  whistle on the campus. This suggestion was made by Mrs. Tannahill during her visit here.

The fraternity agitation at Newcomb seems to have quieted down for the present, and Louisiana A is working hard to better conditions, so that there will be no trouble for next year.

Pledge Day—Indefinite

Our lives are so full that the college year seems to be fairly speeding away. One university event follows another in rapid succession and in all activities Pi Phi may be found.

The big all university event of the future will be the evening of Anna Case. It has always been the custom of woman's league to raise money by means of a county fair held in the spring. This year, however, it is hoped that a very large sum will be realized, a real treat offered to the music lovers of the city and that we may raise money with that dignity so necessary to the college woman.

Panhellenic has instituted a series of exchange dinners which it is felt will be of real help in establishing a feeling of greater friendship among the women of the seventeen fraternities on the campus. Panhellenic has also set a limit of eight dollars a couple on all university formals. In view of the fact that some organizations were going to such excess in the matter of expense, this seems to be a step in the right direction.

Two new national organizations have recently come to the campus: Z Ψ made a spectacular entrance by pledging the president of the university, Dr. Suzzalo, and M Φ E, the honorary music fraternity, is also making a worth while beginning.

In the smaller circle of our own chapter we are having a wonderful time of course. A Christmas masquerade proved of great enjoyment and we sent all of our toy-gifts to the Children's Orthopedic Hospital. We are now anticipating our formal which promises to be a very beautiful affair.

INITIATES

(Initiated December 11, 1920)

Doris Ganson, '23, Odessa, Wash.

Bess Fritts, '24, Waterville, Wash.

After a very refreshing Christmas vacation of two weeks, we are all hard at work in preparation for semester finals which loom up in the near future. Washington B felt very fortunate in obtaining second place in the scholarship records at mid-semester, for all the national fraternities, as well as both women's and men's residence halls on the campus. So we are endeavoring to keep the good work going the last half of the semester.

Pi Phi here were both active and much interested in the inter-collegiate conference of all-women's organizations which remained in session on our campus from the afternoon of November 11 to November 13. It was most important probably from two standpoints, first from the fact that it was the first conference of the kind ever called in the country; second, from the nature of its discussions. Our dean of women originated the idea with our women's league executive council and helped the officers of the conference to push it through from its inception to a successful close. Delegates from fourteen participating institutions from as far east as Nevada and from California in the south were present. Discussions covering every phase of women's student life on our various campuses were very vital and seemed to help much toward the future solution of our problems. It was decided to form a permanent organization to which all women's organizations in any college or university might be eligible. The University of California expects to entertain the next convention in 1921, and it is hoped that more institutions will join, and be ready to participate in the convention.

We helped to make a success of the Y. W. C. A. bazaar, an annual event here, held a week before Christmas vacation.

We held initiation on December 11, for our two pledges, and in the evening had a house dance in their honor.

Since our last letter, several Pi Phis have assumed new campus responsibilities. Bess Fritts has been elected to M Φ E, the honorary musical fraternity on this campus. Dorothy Cunningham was elected to the Sponsor club, composed of college women who are elected by various military units to sponsor military social affairs and other military events. Mildred Perry is president of the Scribblers' club, a journalistic society. Ruth Inkster has recently been elected vice-president of the Spokane club, and also to represent the sophomore class in women's athletic association. Lucile Pinkley is social chairman of the junior class. One of our alumnae, Doris Schumaker, now on Cornell University extension faculty, has recently been elected to Φ K Φ.

We feel that our long membership season has indeed been successful even though it was strenuous. We succeeded in pledging the following: Helen Anderson, Puyallup, Wash., Carolyn Bickelhaupt, Waitsburg, Wash., Alice Brindle, Spirit Lake, Idaho, Rachel Davis, Spokane, Wash., Leila May De Mers, Eureka, Mont., Josephine Hamilton, Dayton, Wash., Anne Turnley, Malden, Wash., Marie Steiner, Pullman, Wash., Blanche Turnley, Rosalie, Wash., Leone Webber, Spokane, Wash.

We returned from vacation and found Estelle Campbell, Bab Leavitt, and Ruth Diehl back with us again, but Velma Ross, and Louise Clausen did not return. We hated to lose our junior and senior, but were glad to have the old girls back.

During the Christmas vacation Velma Ross, Kate Chatburn and Louise Clausen all married Sigma Chis and all will live in Marshfield.

Construction on the campus is still progressing. Already we have moved into the new women's building for which we have worked so hard. It is satisfying to see it completed after so long a siege of campaigning for it. Then, too, Susan Campbell Hall, the girls' new dormitory will be ready for occupancy by the middle of February and will accommodate about 125 girls who are now living in rooms in town. The new university high school, school of commerce, and music building will be ready for occupancy by the beginning of the third term. Oregon is truly progressing.

Last term the faculty began an active campaign to raise the standard of the university, and as a result we were all kept pretty busy, especially toward the latter part of the year, but we feel that it is worth it. After all, we are here primarily to study.

Laura Rand graduated this term, but is back assisting Madame Rose McGrew, who is professor of voice in the music department. Laura is working for her master's degree, also.

We will initiate eight girls the first week-end in February, when Mrs. Burton Beck will be with us. At this time, in addition to our initiation banquet we will have a formal reception for Mrs. Beck.

The system of exchange dinners is again in vogue and each Tuesday every house of residence and fraternity exchanges six girls at dinner. This informal democratic system has proven very successful and is a means of bringing together not only members of the different fraternities, but also the non-fraternity girls in the dormitories.

INITIATES

Fayne Burdon, '23, Gladstone, Ore.

Dale Coshow, '21, Roseburg, Ore.

Lulu Johnson, '21, Moro, Ore.

Kathleen Meloy, '21, Moro, Ore.

Mary Helen Reider, '23, Riveria, Cal.

Helen Ross, '23, Portland, Ore.

The second quarter of our school year started off with a zip along with 1921, and the campus is teeming with activity, both educational and constructional.

We are very proud of our state. Oregon is certainly keeping up with the times in educational matters. Last spring the people, realizing the growth of our institutions of higher learning and their limited capacity, voted on and passed a measure granting to them a greater income. Our college is getting its share of this appropriation and at the present time about $705,000 is being spent for new buildings and equipment.

A new wing which cost $130,000 has been added to the home economics building, and the first unit of a women's dormitory costing $176,000 will be completed for the opening of the third quarter in March of this year. For some time we have felt the need of a new engineer's laboratory and $103,000 of our allotment has been spent for the building and furnishing of one of the most modern laboratories on the Pacific Coast. As soon as the machinery is installed it will be ready for use. Two units costing $121,000 are being added to the men's gymnasium, one of which is to be a large swimming pool. We also have a new stadium costing $42,000.

With all of these additions and improvements we feel that we can prophecy unlimited success for our college and its work in the future. As an indication of this success, we might add that our registration now numbers only five less than 4,000.

This growth in number of students, and in efficiency and extension of college equipment, gives a wide field to fraternities and Oregon B is awake to its opportunities.

The plans for our one big formal of the year are well under way and everything indicates that it will be a big success. For that week-end we are expecting Mrs. Burton Beck, our Province President, and Mrs. Fletcher Linn, both of Portland, Oregon, as guests and we are anticipating their visit with a great deal of pleasure.

CALIFORNIA ALPHA—LELAND STANFORD JUNIOR UNIVERSITY

(Chartered 1893)

Pledge Day—January 12, 1921

College opened this year on January 3, and after a short membership season we pledged two freshmen, Kathleen Evans of Riverside, and Marian Pritchard of San Francisco.

We are having initiation on January 24, when we will be able to initiate all of our six pledges of last quarter as they all made fine scholarship records. Also they were all allowed to move up to the house this quarter as thirty new women students have entered Stanford, and this has overcrowded Roble Hall, the women's dormitory. Usually freshman women have to live at Roble one whole year before they can move up to their houses.

We are very proud of Beatrice Edmonds, '21, who has the lead in Trewlaney of the Wells, the play to be given by the Masquer's society on January 21. Dorothy Buffum, '22, who travelled in the East last fall is with us again and we are glad to welcome her.

Stanford is sending out to the high schools this year 750 copies of the Quad, the annual yearbook. The purpose of this is to inform high school students of our university, so that they will want to come here.

We are all starting the school year with much enthusiasm, and our freshmen are becoming well represented in college activities.

Another semester has rushed by full of study and campus work for every California B. Inability to meet the needs of the huge student body which enrolled in the university caused the authorities to increase the scholarship requirements making us work harder than ever before. However, the effort bore results and we are all back, planning attacks on another semester of hard courses.

The university opened January 10 and of course there are numbers of wonderful new plans under way for this semester. Actual work is soon to commence on our long dreamed of student union building, prospects for a splendid season in track and crew are looming up and everyone expects that the semester will be wonderful in every way.

Our pledges did wonderfully last semester. Their scholarship record was good and their willingness and interest in campus work might be followed by the active girls. January 22 we will hold initiation and will be more than proud to have our new full-fledged Pi Phis.

Last semester a women's conference was held at Pullman, Washington, to which the student bodies of many of the western universities sent representatives. Edith Cordè, '21, one of the three women sent from California, came back with inspiring reports of the conference plans and of some of our northern chapters which she visited. A conference such as this gives the women of one university an opportunity to study the problems and solutions of problems on other campuses and enables us to profit by the experiences of other student bodies. Next year a similar conference will be held in Berkeley which we are eagerly anticipating.

We are also awaiting convention this summer when representatives from every chapter can meet to discuss our problems.

Pledge Day—Indefinite

Once more the holidays have come and gone, and we are in the midst of finals and our midyear membership campaign. We have met lovely girls who are coming to the university in February and as we cannot bid until after the second semester has started we have plenty of time to become better acquainted with them.

Since our last letter we have pledged Isabelle Graves, a splendid girl.

We are mighty proud of our football team as they have won every game of the season. On December 10, we had our second annual  $\Pi B \Phi$  football banquet for the varsity men, coaches, yell leaders and student body president. There was dancing afterwards.

Due to the untiring efforts of our alumnæ who are always on hand when we need them most, our bazaar on December 3 was a big success not only from the financial side but everyone who came had a good time and it was talked of for many days afterwards. In the afternoon we had seven booths, a Japanese tea-room, fortune telling, and grab-bags. In the evening we had dancing, a punch booth, grab-bags, fortune telling, checking-room, and a shooting gallery on the third floor which was very popular. The bazaar was to raise money for the Settlement School and our permanent house fund.

We have been splendidly represented on the campus this semester, especially in athletic activities. Helen Huff, Hilda Blatz, Dorothe Lane and Marquita Wardman are all members of the tennis club. Marquita is also a pledge of  $\Delta \Psi K$ , the women's honorary athletic fraternity on the campus, and captain of the swimming team. Grace Loudon is captain of the girls' varsity baseball team and vice-president of the women's athletic association.

During the holidays we had a Christmas tree with all the trimmings and candy for some Mexican children in the city. Our girls sang Christmas songs and told stories, and the children sang Holy Night in Spanish for us.

$\Sigma A E$  has granted a charter to one of the local men's fraternities and the chapter will soon be installed.

We are anticipating having the following Pi Beta Phi on the campus with us next semester: Wacil Dees, Texas B; Pauline Bond, Kansas A; Lucile Cartwright, Michigan A; and Genevieve Chambers, Illinois Z.

Pledge Day—November 23, 1920

INITIATES

(Initiated November 6, 1920)

Vera Dallas, '23, Modesto, Cal.

Madelaine Dallas, '23, Modesto, Cal.

Erma Hoskins, '23, Winnemucca, Nev.

Marjorie Stauffer, '23, Winnemucca, Nev.

That the University of Nevada now ranks with the best institutions in the country is shown by recognition of the Association of American Universities. Dr. Clark received the notification the day before Christmas, and as he says, "It is one of the most acceptable Christmas gifts that could be made to the University of Nevada." This makes all women graduates from now on eligible for membership in the Association of Collegiate Alumnae, which admits only graduates of recognized colleges. This is a long step in realizing our ambition to make the University of Nevada one of the best small universities on the coast.

Our football team spent the holidays in Honolulu. This is the first team from the United States to play football in Honolulu. In their first game, played Christmas day, they defeated the University of Hawaii, 14-0. Their second game played with the Outrigger Canoe Club was a scoreless tie. The team has not yet returned, but we hope to welcome them back in the near future.

We are glad to greet a chapter of  $A T \Omega$  which has been granted to the local fraternity,  $\Phi \Delta T$ .

The four women's fraternities are giving a joint reception in honor of the installation of this new chapter.

And now a word about our new pledges. We feel that we have just reason to be proud of the following eleven girls: Mary Margaret Shaughnessy, '24, Louise Grubnau, '24, Dorothy Middleton, '24, Merle LeMaire, '24, Helen Robison, '24, Marguerite Patterson, '23, Bertha Blattner, '23, Bertha Joerger, '23, Bessie Jones, '24, Frances Jones, '22, and Carr Gardner, '24. They have organized themselves, elected a president, and are, we hear, working on an exceptionally fine stunt with which to entertain us at our next social meeting.

ARIZONA ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF ARIZONA

(Chartered August 1, 1917)

Pledge Day—Indefinite

Campus life in sunny Arizona this spring has been as bright as our proverbial blue skies. Our university is expanding phenomenally, and our chapter is having a very satisfactory year.

Our seven pledges have gladdened our hearts with a spotless record in scholarship: not one delinquent monthly report has found its way to us.

President and Mrs. von KleinSmid have returned from their tour of South America, and Mrs. von KleinSmid, through her talk of their interesting journey, has inspired us to hope for participation in the European Tour this summer.

This year, we have perhaps a better representation than usual in college dramatics. All the plays so far presented have had Pi Phis in their casts. Helen O'Malley, who will be remembered for her participation in several plays last year, received a part in Harold Bell Wright's new play, Shamrock and Cactus, in which Emma Carus will appear. The play will be presented here for the Associated Charities, but Mr. Wright wants Helen to go with the cast for a New York appearance next summer. Jessie Bell Moeur will be "Nan" in John Masefield's famous, Tragedy of Nan.

Of the nine girls taken into Wrangler this year, three of the honorary society initiates are Pi Phis. Three out of nine members on the women's council are Pi Phis.

Interest in girls' athletics runs high this year. We have five members in both tennis and basketball teams. Martha Crowell was one of the university representatives for the Southwestern tennis tournament in Phoenix.

Miss Helen H. Halm, Kansas B, will be our head resident the second semester. We are very fortunate in having Miss Halm as she has had experience as a fraternity resident at Columbia, and through her position as teacher's supervisor of home economics in the state, will be able to advise us in our house management.

For some time, faculty members and alumnae of the University of Arizona have recognized a grave danger in the introduction of patronesses in fraternities here.  $\Pi \Phi$ , backed by  $\text{K K } \Gamma$ , led the opposition to the movement. Although no decision has been reached as yet, we are assured by the faculty and general school sentiment, that the matter will be settled satisfactorily soon.

RUTH ROBY.

EXCHANGES AND COLLEGE NOTES

Mr. Henry T. Claus published an article based on recent college statistics in the Boston Transcript for December 11, 1920. He says in part:

In sixty-eight representative institutions located in all parts of the country, ranging in character from the small cultural colleges of New England to the great technical schools of the East, and the vast State-supported universities of the West and Middle West, there are today nearly 165,000 men and women who are making study their chief business. This is nearly 5000 more than there were a year ago. Reckoned in other terms, the increase is approximately 3.4 per cent.

But if there is inflation, it is slight. The important fact to be considered is that the war brought to the attention of America the practical utility of college training and a much wider appreciation of the value of such training. The war also brought other things, among them much money to many people who had never had much money before. The people are now able to send their boys to college and they are sending them there. Until something happens to them, enrollments will probably continue to increase. Then there is the added factor that population is growing much faster than the number of colleges, which means, of course, that the colleges which exist will have to take care of more and more students. All in all, there seems to be reasonable ground for assuming that the near future will show no perceptible lessening of the human tide that is now flowing toward and, in some instances, overflowing our institutions of learning.

Because of the recent attempt on the part of Cornell undergraduates to have the women of the university segregated perhaps more than the usual interest attaches to the statistics covering the enrollment of women in our leading colleges. Out of a total registration of 164,000 in the sixty-eight institutions, 50,000 or more are women students. One other fact stands out. While the enrollment of men has increased 2.3 per cent since last year, the enrollment of women has increased 5.9 per cent. This increase has not been so noticeable in the strictly women's colleges as in the great co-educational institutions, particularly the State universities.

In more ways than one the star of education is moving westward and in the University of California the Pacific coast now boasts the largest institution of learning in the United States and perhaps in the world. California this year has 11,197 students in full academic standing.

The higher cost of going to college has not kept pace with the higher cost of living, but it is not so very far behind. Going to college is expensive business largely because the college student, in one or two respects, at least, is no different from the ordinary mortal. He has to eat food and wear clothes. These two items are the chief factors in the increased cost of living for everybody. It is true, of course, that tuition fees have risen. As a matter of fact, and barring the State-supporting institutions where no tuition is charged, only three colleges in the Transcript's list have made no increase in fees in the past three years. These fortunate institutions are Holy Cross, Princeton and University of the South. Strictly speaking, Bryn Mawr might be classed with the three, but practically it ought not to be, because it has announced that next fall an advance of $100 will go into effect. For the rest the increases range all the way from a few dollars a year to $100 a year.

Although most of the State universities are still free to residents of the various States, several of them have taken steps to increase their revenues by advancing what are called incidental fees. In some cases the rise is as much as 33 per cent.

It perhaps ought to be said that all colleges have made a sincere effort to impose no hardship on the needy student. When tuition fees have been increased the value of scholarships has also been increased.

The chapter letter from Alpha Iota in The Adelphean of Alpha Delta Pi has this interesting item—would that all were as progressive as the chancellor of the University of Pittsburgh.

You will probably notice the use of the word fraternity instead of sorority. At Pitt one never hears the word sorority, all organizations being known as fraternities. Even our Chancellor uses the word fraternity in his addresses to the Inter-fraternity Body composed of a Senior and Junior Representative from all organizations on the campus.

Zeta Alpha of Chi Omega sends the following account of her activity preceding the latest local city election to The Eleusis remarking truly—

It will be a joy to those who believe women active and interested in current events to know that their expectations are being fulfilled.

Our Zeta Alphas of voting age attended as many as possible of the speeches given by the candidates around the University, besides those made downtown. Also they read the newspapers. The discussion was not confined to the voters. Those who will vote next year or the year following took as lively a part, so that the discussions were hot. Records of the candidates were reviewed. Comparisons were made on the basis of the vital achievements of the nominees as indicative of their future actions. No one cast her vote because someone whose influence weighed with her had turned the scale.

The president of our chapter had control of the publicity work of the University in behalf of the one woman who was in the race—for a position on the School Board. Our president writes for the city dailies as well as being on the staff of the Daily Lantern, and supported her candidate because she believed in the principles for which she stood.

As a result, the chapter gained a deep interest in civic affairs, a feeling of real connection with the machinery of our government, and finally exulted in the success of nearly all of the candidates for which its members voted. Above all, it is convinced that American women as a factor in politics are to be estimated not as emotional creatures who vote by blind chance or by intuition, but as sincere, sensible, and actively interested citizens.

Says The Carnation of Delta Sigma Phi:

"An interesting instance of what might be termed hereditary membership is recorded in the Phi Beta Kappa Key. Caroline F. Ware, Vassar '20, was elected to Phi Beta Kappa in her junior year. Her father, grandfather, great-grandfather, and great-great-grandfather were all members of Phi Beta Kappa, and, with one exception, were elected in their junior years at college. All four men were Harvard graduates."—The Carnation of Delta Sigma Phi.

Following is a recent editorial of general educational interest in the Boston Herald:

PRINCETON AND STANFORD

Princeton University proposes to limit the number of its students to 2000. President Hibben says: "We do not feel that we can maintain the university's traditional policy and our present educational methods if we allow ourselves to be drawn into a policy of indefinite expansion." Teacher and student are to come close together.

Stanford University on the Pacific coast now limits the number of its students to 2000 men and 500 women. The school has 7000 graduates, and endowment of $30,000,000, and a campus more than half as large as Manhattan Island. The limit on the number of women students was imposed a score of years ago, and competition for admission is always keen. The authorities keep a preferred list and a priority application list, the former made up of young women of special qualifications. Now the university has begun experimentally to apply the same plan to its male applicants.

The operation of this method in these two great universities should be attentively observed throughout the country. On the one hand if the plan secures unity and fervent loyalty, on the other it is conceivable that it may tend to reduce the democratic character of the student bodies.

Says Banta's Greek Exchange:

It is believed to be unique in fraternity history that a fraternity brother should be portrayed on the stage. Such is the case in the drama Abraham Lincoln, by John Drinkwater, where Frank McGlynn plays the part of John Hay, a member of  $\Theta \Delta X$  from Brown University of the Class of 1858.

The following is an extract from a long article in the Springfield Republican concerning Wellesley's College Within the College:

Wellesley may soon outrank Boston as the center of culture, for there the college waitresses and housemaids appear to rival the students in their thirst for knowledge. Thirty-five are enrolled in special courses of a curriculum that includes subjects ranging from music to the commercial branches, with undergraduates who are members of the college Christian association serving as faculty.

There is, in fact, a college within the college—dormitory, tuition fee and all—which has grown from humble origin to the real institution that it is today. Tuition fees were omitted at first, but the waitresses, feeling that they wanted to be college girls in every respect and on a business basis, went on strike last year demanding to be permitted to pay. As the students had to wait on tables during their walk-out, arbitration was speedy, resulting in the establishment of a registration fee. Whether the receipts go for an endowment fund or a fudge fund, the president of the "college," Miss Dorothy M. Stevens of West Hartford, Conn., would not say.

HAS 35 TEACHERS

Miss Stevens, whose official title is chairman of the Christian association committee in charge of the maids' classes, is enthusiastic about the work of her pupils and teaching staff. For the 35 students there are 37 teachers, permitting a maximum of individual instruction.

The maids inherit, or have acquired, classic tastes, for most popular among the courses offered are dancing and music, ranking in that order. Whereas there are only 35 ambitious ones enrolled in the regular curriculum there are at least twice that number of special students in the dancing class, which like the others occupies one hour each week, with outside study optional.

Study of the pianoforte comes next in favor. The "school" authorities have in this department worked out a very efficient system of instruction. By consent of the Wellesley (bona fide) authorities the maids have the use of the battery of pianos in the music building. They buy tickets in strings of 20 or fractions thereof at five cents a ticket, each good for one hour's practice. After supper each night there are anywhere from one to six maids running over the scales or experimenting with classic and ragtime masters.

All are enthusiastic, but it sometimes happens that a real talent develops. Only last year one of the waitresses politely told her teacher that the time had come when she was the more skilful of the two, and that much as she hated to spurn the hand that taught her she felt she must go to Natick to a "regular" teacher. Which she did.

BECOMES CRITIC AS WELL AS PLAYER

The amateur teachers try to give their charges an understanding of music that will enable them really to appreciate it. That they are in some degree successful is proved by the spontaneous outburst of one of the pianoforte pupils several nights ago, just as she was coming out of the room where she had been practicing and in the room next to which a co-practicer had been doing execution. "That woman," she expostulated, "has wondrous technique, I've no doubt, but, bedad, she don't put her soul into it!"

The maids, as well as the students, have "sharks" and "grinds" in their ranks. Miss Stevens told of a girl who had gone through a high school geometry book in six months. With higher ambitions than any of her friends, she aimed at admission to Wellesley itself. Though she has had to give up her aim temporarily on account of the sickness of her father she still has hopes of a college degree.

FEEL CONFIDENT IN ENGLISH

In more respects than one the maids can feel that they are "going to college." A large number of them live in a well-equipped dormitory, Lake house, which stands on the shores of Lake Waban. Before the fire in 1914 it was a student dormitory, when it was part of historic college house, a portion of which was destroyed in the blaze. It has a large reception room where the maids may entertain callers and where they frequently have dances, chaperoned by their own house mother. It is here that all except the pianoforte classes are held.

Phi Gamma Delta has inaugurated a custom which all Greeks would do well to observe.

A new feature of the 72nd Ekklesia will be an open meeting the first afternoon. Everyone interested in the subject of fraternities will be welcomed to this meeting. It is not supposed to be any part of the regular sessions of the Ekklesia. Fijis, their wives, pledges, and Deans and Presidents of Colleges—whether or not Fijis—will be asked to participate. The object of this meeting is to tell to all those interested in our welfare what we are aiming at and how we are trying to accomplish these ends. Another reason for this gathering is to get a little better understanding between the active men, the alumni, the women interested in our fraternity, and the university heads.

Gamma Phi Beta is to be congratulated on the distinction which one of her undergraduate members has brought to her:

Mildred Welch, University of Illinois '21, member of Omicron chapter, has been chosen as the undergraduate woman delegate from the United States to the British Student Volunteer Convention which will be held January 4-9, in Glasgow, Scotland. Notification of the appointment came from the national student committee of the Y. W. C. A., which was responsible for choosing the delegate from this country.

The British convention will be similar in scope to the All-American convention held at Des Moines, Iowa, December, 1919, at which delegates from colleges and universities of the United States were present. Student delegates from the colleges and universities of Britain and her provinces, numbering 2,500, will convene at Glasgow in January.

Miss Welch was chosen from a list of recommendations sent in from all the associations in the middle western field of the Y. W. C. A., which includes the University of Wisconsin, Ohio State, Indiana, Chicago, Northwestern, Iowa, and Minnesota, as well as all the smaller colleges in the area. Miss Welch will represent all the undergraduate women of the United States.

Among those who will compose the party of ten or twelve who will represent the United States at the conference will be John R. Mott, president of the national Y. M. C. A., Sherwood Eddy, prominent in international Y. M. C. A. work, Kate Boyd George, head of the Y. W. C. A. work among foreign women in the U. S., Laura Ley, National Student Volunteer Secretary, Robert E. Speer, prominent in the Student Volunteer movement.

The party will leave New York on the Imperator, December 23. After four days in England visiting Oxford, London and other places of interest, the party will proceed to Scotland.

Miss Welch has been asked to prepare one speech to be given before the general assembly and several before smaller groups at the conference. In requesting a representative from this country the British authorities asked that someone be sent who could represent accurately the coeducational university of the United States.

According to B Θ II:

BOWL FOR STANFORD: A bowl and stadium costing in the neighborhood of $750,000 will be built on the Stanford Campus before the autumn of 1923. Preliminary surveys for the gigantic bowl have been made already and the excavation work is to start not later than summer 1921. The excavation will be pushed to completion at once and the earth allowed to settle for a year. Then the concrete work will be placed and the stadium completed in time for the season of 1923.

From The Trident of Delta Delta Delta comes the following pertinent anecdote:

"HOW MANY CLASSES HAVE YOU CUT?"

"We" ran into a small, seventeen-year-old person not long ago who rather jostled "our" self-esteem. (This, by the way, is a true story, and Margaret's her real name.) Well, Margaret is seventeen. She works from eight-thirty to six five days, from eight-thirty to ten at night on the sixth day of every week in a "cut-rate" Jewish clothing shop in a "cut-rate" part of town, for $10.00 a week. Due to the fact that Margaret's father succumbed to charms other than his wife's and left for parts unknown, all of the ten dollars, 'cept carefare, goes to feed and clothe a mother, grandmother and small sister. By way of recreation, the mother sews blue overalls in a blue factory through just as blue days. Margaret had left the grade school to take up father's cast-off burdens three years before. Four nights out of the seven, after work and a sandwich supper, Margaret goes to night school to learn bookkeeping and acquire further education, for she explained to me: "It's the educated girls can get on, an' I just gotta get on!" "We" never quite knew what the crumbs "we" brushed off the silver platters of our college education might mean to the Margarets of civilization. It's like throwing bread into a bonfire with three or four starving Belgians and an Armenian or so looking on, to have had so much and to have handled it so carefreely. Who was it that shouted, "Rest, rest? Shall I not have all Eternity to rest in?"—Trident of Delta Delta Delta.

Phi Gamma Delta clips the following, which will make Pi Phis smile, from the Columbia Record.

The silence of Governor Coolidge (Amherst '96) is probably due to his preoccupation in the selection of Mrs. Coolidge's inauguration gown.

B Θ II states:

Crosby Hall is a fifteenth century building in Chelsea, London, within which Sir Thomas Moore wrote "Utopia." A movement is on foot to make this a residence for British-Colonial and American students in England. The building will be enlarged for the purpose at an estimated cost of $1,000,000. Across the channel "Le College des Etats Unis d'Amerique a Paris" is being developed by a group of interested Americans among whom is Charles F. Beach, Centre '77. Its general plan is much the same. It seeks to make more pleasant the status of American students in France. Both of these movements are part of the allied endeavor to show to American students the advantages for training in other countries than Germany to which, before the War, many turned for graduate study.

HOW MUCH DID YOU PAY FOR YOUR HAT?

"How much did you pay for your hat?" a student from Russia asked me.

"Twenty-five dollars."

"Oh, you did not pay twenty-five dollars," he said, looking pained and disappointed.

"And why not?"

"Twenty-five dollars for a hat when children in Europe are starving for a bit of bread. I really didn't think it of you."

We shall admit that it was no concern of the Russian's how much I paid for my hat, but he spoke from his heart. And is it in Europe alone that there is great suffering among those who are unfortunate? In the United States there are evidences of a great unrest and shrewd radicals are silently trying to undermine the government. The dissatisfaction caused by the high prices only makes the soil more fertile upon which the "reds" scatter treacherous seeds.

Twenty-five dollar hats and higher priced ones, hand embroidered clothing, "marcels," silk hose, bead bags, imported toilet articles, all tend to make prices higher. All the little unnecessary trimmings, the delicate silk stockings, the transportation of foreign toilet articles takes labor. There is a great shortage of labor, and to increase the difficulty, what labor we have is turned to the production of these unnecessary luxuries because they command the higher prices. Then, as a result there is a shortage of the useful necessities of life. We all know about the law of supply and demand. The shorter the supply the higher the price. The average University student is able to pay the high prices. But how about the poorer classes who have to pay abnormal prices for bare necessities just because we demand that labor be turned to the production of luxuries?

A worthy campaign is to be started on the campus of the University of Nebraska. It is an economy campaign. It will endeavor to persuade the girls to wear cotton stockings to college and to do away with "marcels." It will advertise the doing away of eating ice cream and other sweets between meals. It will try to induce the students to buy plain garments. Saving will be encouraged instead of the spending of the last dollar of one's allowance.

The fact that this campaign is backed by the government gives it weight. The situation as it exists today is serious. Is there any better place to start a movement for better conditions than in a center of learning? Surely the example that a University sets will be followed. Will you support this campaign when it is instituted upon your campus?—Lyre of A X Ω.

According to a newspaper clipping:

A study of student migration shows that New Jersey leads all other states in the percentage of its college students sent to other states to be educated. New Hampshire leads all others in the percentage of students received from other States for education and New York ranks first in the total number of undergraduates sent outside the State for college instruction.

This information is furnished by Dr. Robert L. Kelly, executive secretary of the Council of Church Boards of Education, who has completed a survey for that organization of student movements throughout the United States. The survey does not include the larger State universities, but simply the institutions ranked as accredited colleges by the Association of American Universities, the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, the Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools of the Southern States and the University of California.

The survey revealed, Dr. Kelly said, that Ohio and Pennsylvania are in the lead with the greatest number of colleges, there being seventeen in each State; while there are twelve States which have no accredited college. These are Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, Delaware, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Utah, West Virginia and Wyoming. These twelve furnish 2246 college students to the institutions of other States, in the list surveyed.

"Conversely, it is interesting to note," said Dr. Kelly, "that California comes the nearest of any State to taking care of her own students. Only 6.6 per cent of California students attend college outside of the State."

Among other facts revealed by the survey are:

Ohio leads in the total number of college students enrolled.

The District of Columbia has the highest average enrollment per college, which is 2629.

Massachusetts leads in the total number of students drawn from outside the State, the number being 4165.

Ohio leads in the total number of students in and outside the State.

There is a striking lack of migration, the survey showed, of students of Southern States to States of the North. Outside of a limited amount of migration from one Southern State to another, Southern student migration is almost nil.

Stover at Yale was a "best seller" a decade ago but the editor of The Palm of A T Ω does well to quote this passage for the benefit of modern undergraduates.

ARE YOU EDUCATED?

Stover at Yale tests the mental capacity of his fellow students as follows:

"First, music. I won't ask you the tendencies and theories of the modern schools—you won't know that such a thing as theory in music exists. You know the opera of Carmen—good old Toreador Song! Do you know the name of the composer? One hand—Bob Story. Do you know the history of its reception? Do you know the sources of it? Do you know what Bach's influence was in the development of music? Did you ever hear of Leoncavallo, Verdi, or that there is such a thing as a Russian composer? Absolute silence.

"You have a hazy knowledge of Wagner, and you know that Chopin wrote a funeral march. That is your foothold in music; there you balance, surrounded by howling waters of ignorance.

"Do you know anything about Confucius, Shintoism, or Swendenborg, beyond the names?

"Who has read Taine's History of English Literature, or known in fact who Taine is? . . . What do you know about the strength and spread of Socialism in Germany, France and Holland? . . . What was Spinoza, Holman Hunt, Dostoievsky, Ambrose Thomas, Savonarola, Bastien-Lepage, Zorn, Bossuet? . . ."

According to a newspaper clipping Dartmouth College has followed the lead of Columbia University in the matter of psychological tests.

Hanover, N. H., Nov. 13.—Under the direction of the department of psychology, a system of personal undergraduate ratings has been introduced at Dartmouth, and it has been of such general value to the administration that it will be adopted and used throughout the college year. At the close of the year 1920-1921 all members of the faculty were requested to submit personal estimates of the men in their classes. The ratings were made on the regular letter scale with A as the highest mark attainable and E the lowest. Practically every man in college was rated by one or more of the judges and approximately 1150 were rated by from three to five judges. These marks in turn were handed over to the psychology department for tabulation, and the individual averages were transferred to the permanent records in the office of Associate Dean Husband.

About four men in five were judged with substantial uniformity by those who rated them while one man in five created quite different impressions on the different instructors. In taking the results as a whole, the agreement was so great and the facts of such value that the plan will be continued, with especial precautions to insure accuracy in the reports. The ratings were made under the following heads:

1. Intelligence—Ability to grasp a situation; alertness of mind. Not to be identified with scholarship.
2. Aggressiveness—Personal force; initiative; assurance; decisiveness.
3. Reliability—Evidence of solid character; dependability; sense of responsibility; perseverance; attentiveness; punctuality.
4. Personality—Bearing; neatness; courtesy; personal acceptability.
