Begin to Make Plans Now

OUR IDEALS

BY SALOME MEAD, Colorado B

In the years of college pleasure
Through the years of college play,
While we work and ponder over
Problems of each college day,
While we have our joys and troubles
While we have our smiles and tears,
Through it all we know that Pi Phi
Guards and guides us through the years.

To her lofty standards Pi Phi
Holds each girl in honor due,
And each one must give her service
To these ideals strong and true;
She must live to make things better,
She must work with motive high,
She must have a helping spirit
If she loves Pi Beta Phi.

She must learn to treat her schoolmates
Though they wear the Kites or Keys,
Though they wear no honored emblems,
Just as she treats one of these
Who in bonds of loving firmness
Is bound with that life-long tie
To be ever as a sister in the bonds of our Pi Phi.

CONVENTION—ESTES PARK!

JUNE 25-30

There's a Pi Phi trail a-winding to Colorado this June,
Special train, and car a-traveling you will see us real soon.
There's a big hotel a-waiting to take care of us all,
And we'll soon be there a-smiling in Pi Phi convention hall.

Clatworthy Photo

Convention! Why? Convention more nearly represents our conception of national organization and national interests than anything which we have in our fraternity system. It gives each chapter the opportunity to be recognized as a link in the national chain and brings to each chapter the realization that it has a far-reaching influence rather than just that of an independent or isolated group.

By our coming together in a big national meeting we are enabled to know our beloved Founders, our national officers, and the representatives of every Pi Beta Phi group. Names which we have learned in cold type become living, thinking beings. Problems which loomed grave and menacing in the cold ink or type of letters are smoothed out and explained away with words and the human touch.

If this is your first convention it will enrich your life with new friends; if it is not your first, you will find the joy and pleasure of renewing old friendships and of making new ones. Instead of finding your horizon limited to the state in which you live, you will find it widening to Canada, to Florida, to California, to Washington.

After days spent in working out constructive legislation or in making more perfect the laws which we have; after nights spent in singing and after hours filled with the joys of viewing the snow-capped Rockies or hiking through timber and scaling mountain sides, you will return home with a renewed faith in humanity and with an earnest endeavor to strive after the ideals for which Pi Beta Phi stands.

This convention is to be a "Singing Convention." In speaking of the war, Lieutenant Howard A. Johnson, ΣN , said: "If one asks why the Germans had no chance to win, my answer is that they had to fight singing armies. The British with 'Tipperary,' the French with 'Madelon'—all the Allies with their extemporized songs—men whose morale couldn't be broken, but who put their complaints in the form of songs—they couldn't be defeated. Most of all does this apply to the American Army. No war ever brought out the humor and the songs that this war did, although no other war caused so much real suffering."

It is a common saying among fraternity inspectors and officers that wherever they find a singing chapter, they find harmony and an ideal spirit of fellowship. Hence, we intend to make our meeting at Estes Park so filled with the songs of our colleges, our fraternity, and our chapters that the entire six days will be like a symphony orchestra—producing with its many individual players and instruments the effect of one huge organ and its song: perfect harmony.

THE ATTENDANCE CUP

Are you going to win the silver attendance cup which Louisiana A won at Charlevoix in 1920? From the amount of enthusiasm displayed by the Louisiana girls we will all have to work exceedingly hard if we expect to win it. The attendance cup is awarded upon the following points: total number of chapter present; mileage; actives present; active enrollment; and total enrollment. Every chapter has an equal chance.

CONVENTION EXHIBIT

One of the most interesting phases of convention is the chapter exhibit contest. These exhibits leave lasting impressions upon the minds of the convention delegates and visitors. The award is made for the best chapter exhibit upon the following points: Representation of chapter: social, athletic, dramatic, musical and other activities to be included; representation of university or college; artistic effect. (See October ARROW, 1920, p. 44 and December ARROW, 1921, p. 203).

BRING YOUR FAMILY

Bring your families to convention. There will be plenty of things to keep them busy while you are attending sessions, from playing golf and riding horseback, to hiking over glaciers, up cañons and mountain sides or just resting in the mountain sunshine.

Estes Park is filled with mountain cottages which may be rented if your family prefers to live in them rather than in the hotel. These cottages give a touch of vacation and outdoor life not obtainable in the larger hotels.

SUMMER HOME SITES

You have undoubtedly heard of the summer home sites now available in the national forests. Come to Estes Park to the convention and while there investigate a site for your summer home. Throughout such areas in the Colorado National Forest there are numberless attractive summer home locations easily accessible to those who love the mountains. Study the areas offered and pick out a location for your home in the mountains so that you can return year by year with your family. These home sites are rented or leased from the government for the sum of $10 to $25 a year. Permits are transferable with the approval of the Forest Service and permittees are allowed ninety days in which to remove or sell their improvements in case they desire to relinquish their permits. Full information concerning these home sites may be obtained from the Forest Supervisor at Fort Collins, Colo., or the District Forester, Federal Building, Denver, Colo.

ESTES PARK—THE BEAUTIFUL

During the season of 1921, more than 273,000 lovers of nature visited Estes-Rocky Mountain National Park and yet there are so many miles of forests and mountains, so many cañons and trails and so much space that one can always find solitude. Estes Park is only eighty miles from Denver and eighty-nine miles from Cheyenne, Wyo., and is easily accessible by rail and auto. During the tourist season Estes Park enjoys three mails daily and has direct long distance telephone and telegraphic connections with the East and the West. The railroad does not run into the Park but auto stage lines make the trip daily up and down the cañons connecting with the railroads at Denver, Longmont or Fort Collins.

"Here in the heart of the Rockies the naturalists find more than one thousand of the continent's rarest and most beautiful flowers and hundreds of birds; the hiker finds more than sixty peaks above 11,000 feet to scale and a number of glaciers with their ice caves; the golfer finds splendid links at the Country Club, the angler discovers many, many miles of trout streams to coax him, and the automobile enthusiast, hundreds of miles of fine mountain roads to urge him on. In fact, almost any temperament may find something of interest, although the grandeur and ruggedness of nature is the chief attraction."

Last season, 1,060 persons reached the summit of Longs Peak which towers 14,255 feet above sea level with the sheer cliff rising perpendicularly 2,800 feet above Chasm Lake. Fifty years ago this peak was considered unconquerable.

There are scores of places of interest that may be reached by auto or horseback or foot trails and the entire country is a paradise for the kodak enthusiast.

Wild game may be found in the park such as deer, elk, mountain sheep, bear and hundreds of beaver.

HISTORY OF ESTES PARK

With its large herds of game and streams teeming with trout, Estes Park was for countless ages the paradise of the Redskins of the Western plains. Later, trappers for the Hudson Bay Company found this territory just to their liking. The winter of 1840-41 found Kit Carson and his band of trappers in the Park. From that time until 1859 it was an unexplored land. At that time it was discovered by Joel Estes for whom it was named. He discovered newly-erected lodge poles but from that day to this it has never been visited by Indians. But the white men have found its advantages so great that they have annually visited the Park in ever increasing numbers.

SPEND THE SUMMER IN THE WEST

Just a short distance from the Hotel Stanley, the Y. W. C. A. has its conference grounds which will be open all summer. There you may rest and play to your heart's delight.

In the latter part of July the big Frontier Days' Celebration which is the rendezvous for hundreds of Wild West riders both men and women who come to test their skill in busting bronchos, bulldogging steers, roping calves and conquering in all sorts of western sports, will be held at Cheyenne, Wyo., just eighty-nine miles from Estes Park.

Those who are planning to accompany Mrs. Rugg on the Third Pi Beta Phi European Tour will start for the eastern coast immediately after convention; those who contemplate making a tour of American parks and pleasure spots will also start on their jaunt from the convention sessions.

This June, ESTES PARK will be the Pi Phi Hub!

CONVENTION CLOTHES

You must keep in mind the fact that Estes Park is in the mountains at an altitude of more than 7,500 feet so that the nights are always cool and a wrap of some kind is necessary. Do not fail to bring a sweater and a coat. There will be no chance of a "heat wave" as it is rare when the thermometer rises above ninety degrees at our chosen meeting place. And hot weather is unknown the last of June in the Rockies.

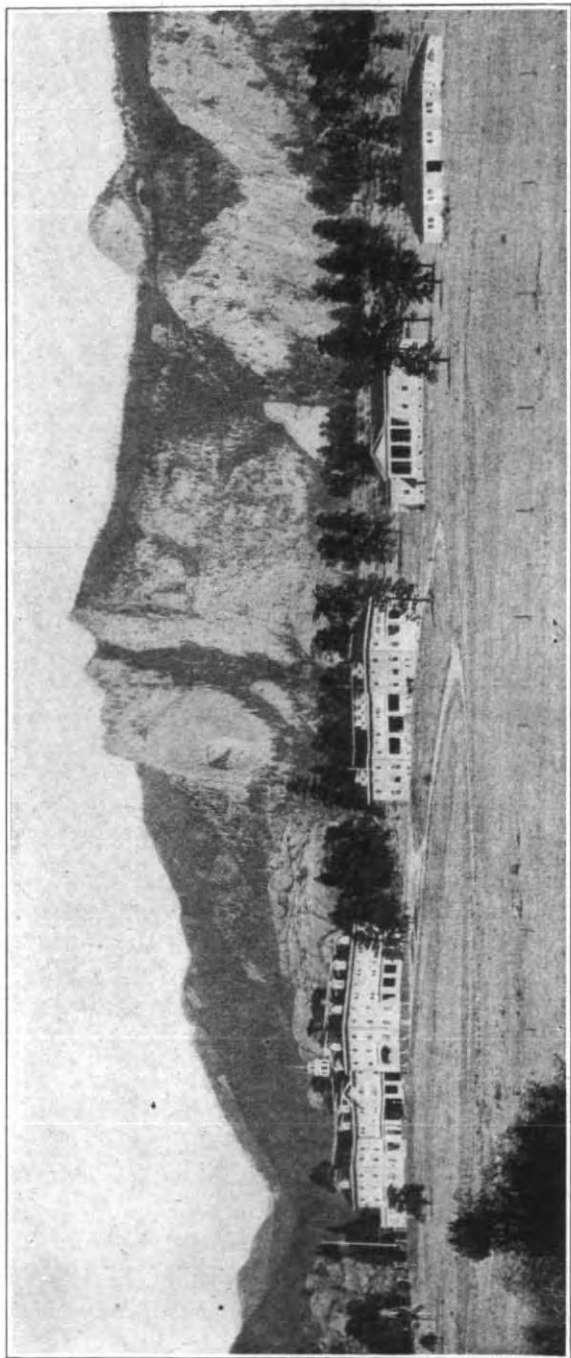

You will want "convention" clothes but not a lot of "conventional" garments because there will be no great formality when the Pi Phis take command of the Hotel Stanley. Elaborate dress will be most unsuitable.

One party dress for the banquet will suffice, a hiking suit, either of the prescribed trouser type or a heavy skirt and middie will be essential; spring dresses will be comfortable for the day time and for convention sessions; but an afternoon dress of serge, or silk will probably prove more serviceable.

Do not fail to bring the sweater and coat for evening wear!

THE BANQUET

Those of you who have attended previous conventions know what a crowning feature the banquet is. Nothing can take the place of it. Plans are now under way for a splendid affair. A very low special rate has been made by the Hotel Stanley to the hotel guests and the hotel management is also prepared to accommodate every Pi Phi who can attend the banquet whether she is a guest at the hotel or elsewhere. Prices for the banquet will be announced in the April Bulletin and in the June ARROW.

Hotel Stanley

STANLEY HOTEL AND GROUNDS

Stanley Manor

The Casino

The Garage

THE HOTEL STANLEY

No expense was spared and no modern ideas in hotel equipment overlooked in building the Hotel Stanley. The hotel management has turned over the exclusive use of the hotel, the manor and the casino to our convention. There are also many other hotels which will accommodate any overflow of Pi Phis, relatives, or friends.

Convention sessions will be held in the Casino, a most attractive building exactly suited to our needs.

The hotel grounds are well lighted with electricity; the hotel kitchen is equipped with electrical appliances and the laundry is fully supplied with every appliance for taking care of the work of its hotel guests.

Reservations for convention should be made as soon as possible with Mr. Frank Haberl, Stanley Hotel, Estes Park, Colo.

The rate of $5.00 a day made by the hotel is excellent.

It is very essential that you fill out the enclosed registration blank, and mail to the Convention Guide when making reservations with Mr. Frank Haberl, as the Guide has charge of room assignments. If you desire to be en suite with or near friends who have made previous reservations, give necessary details of information and everything possible will be done to accommodate you. People making the earliest reservations, will, of course, obtain the most desirable rooms. Be sure to give the name of each member of the party for whom you are making reservations, to avoid duplications. If you do not have a regular registration blank to send do not wait to get one—send a letter.

AFTER-CONVENTION PLANS

Plans are being considered for an After-Convention House-Party and for various interesting trips throughout Colorado and the West. Full details will be announced later. Watch for the Bulletin and for the June ARROW.

THE PI PHI SPECIAL

Have you an ARROW for December, 1915? Hunt it up or borrow one and read the article on page 157: "The Tour of the Pi Phi Special" by E. Louise Richardson. After you have read it you will surely telegraph at once for reservations on the Special which will leave Chicago, June 23.

TRANSPORTATION

A Pi Beta Phi Special Train under the supervision of Mr. and Mrs. Ford J. Allen (Nina Harris, Illinois B) will leave Chicago the evening of June 23, arriving in Denver 7:30 A. M. the morning of June 25. From Denver the party will go in the touring cars of the Rocky Mountain Parks Transportation Company, a distance of eighty-one miles to Estes Park. Special arrangements have been made to route our party through the wonderful Big Thompson Canyon. A stop will be made en route for rest and luncheon and the party will reach Estes Park at 3:00 P. M., Monday, June 25.

Mrs. Allen will mail to every ARROW subscriber in April, a special transportation pamphlet giving full detailed information concerning the Pi Beta Phi Special Train and general matters of interest pertaining to convention transportation. These pamphlets will also be sent upon request to any Pi Phis, relatives or friends who are not on our regular mailing list.

The railroad companies will sell tickets at the regular summer tourist rates of one and one-tenth fare for round-trip. The fares quoted in this issue of THE ARROW include the $10.50 round trip fare from Denver to Estes Park. By paying $15.00 more, purchasers of tickets will be privileged to make the Rocky Mountain "Circle Trip" with stop-overs anywhere. This trip requires two days and includes points of interest from Estes Park, Horseshoe Park, Fall River Road, Milner Pass, Grand Lake, Berthoud Pass, Idaho Springs, Lookout Mountain, Golden and Denver. Mr. and Mrs. Allen will conduct a party on this "Post Convention" Circle tour.

Baggage: A suitcase and handbag will be carried by the Rocky Mountain Parks Transportation Company from Denver to Estes Park without charge. There will be a charge of $1.25 per hundred pounds for trunks from Denver to Estes Park. Trunks may be left in Denver free of charge with free access to them at any time.

Pullman Reservations: In order that the necessary number of sleeping cars may be provided from Chicago to Denver, it is essential that you let us know as soon as possible where you will join the special train. Make your Pullman reservations early, even if later on it may be necessary to cancel them. It is not necessary in making such reservations to make a money deposit now. For Pullman reservations and any further information address,

NINA HARRIS ALLEN (Mrs. Ford J.),
 Chairman of Transportation Committee,
 678 Park Blvd., Glen Ellyn, Ill.

CONVENTION CARAVAN

Sometime in June there will roll out of Chicago "headed West," a caravan of automobiles bound for Estes Park, Colo. "Go West, Pi Phi, Go West," will be the slogan of this group of adventurous collegians who are going to camp along the way and rough it to the mountains.

Gladys Dixon, Wisconsin A, director of Camp Panhellenic, has been elected head of the Pi Phi Convention Caravan and reports that already eight cars are ready to hit the trail for the Rockies.

If you would like to join the highway group drop a card to Miss Dixon at 1244 Stone St., Chicago, and make arrangements either to start when the caravan leaves Chicago or to join it along the way.

"Westward Ho!"

CONVENTION DAILY NEWSPAPER

Plans are now under way for a daily newspaper to be published each morning of convention. Volunteers are wanted for the Daily staff. Will every Pi Phi who desires to help with this important piece of work please send her name and chapter to Mrs. Archer T. Spring, Box 566, Fort Collins, Colo., as soon as possible, or at least before May 1.

We desire to make the Daily a real, live-wire news sheet full of the doings of convention. We need all available journalistic talent including cartoonists, joke writers, reporters—in fact all sorts of "cubs." If you cannot attend convention and have some material which you think suitable for our Daily please send it before June 20, to Mrs. Spring. Marion Dale, Colorado A, has been appointed editor-in-chief.

Subscribe now by sending 50¢ to Mrs. Spring for the five issues which will be mailed direct to you each day if you are unable to come to Estes Park or will be delivered to you if you are in attendance. Through the Daily you can have the news each day without having to wait for the return of your delegates.

ALUMNÆ CLUB DELEGATES

Alumnæ clubs should now be considering seriously the selection of a delegate to represent their groups at the alumnæ sessions of convention. Urge your members to attend. Estes Park should be an excellent place for the alumnæ and their families to spend the summer. Write to the Chamber of Commerce of Estes Park concerning the rental of summer cottages.

Settlement School Program will be in charge of Evelyn Bishop, Head Resident, and the Settlement School Committee.

Gladys Hagee Mathew (Mrs. Steere B.), will conduct the Sing as chairman of the Music Committee.

CONVENTION COMMITTEE

The Convention Guide, Lorena Accola Fitzell (Mrs. Grant R.), 1359 Race St., Denver, Colo., will gladly furnish any information which you desire concerning the coming session. The members of the convention committee in addition to the Guide are: Lena Harper Trott (Mrs. A. M.), 4101 East 22nd Ave., Denver, Colo., hospitality; Mabel Dickerson Davis (Mrs. E. H.), 1205 Monroe St., Denver, Colo., athletics; Nina Harris Allen (Mrs. Ford J.), 678 Park Blvd., Glen Ellyn, Ill., transportation.

POST CONVENTION EUROPEAN TOUR

As announced in the December issue of THE ARROW, the authorized Pi Beta Phi Tour to Europe for 1923 has been arranged with special consideration for Convention plans making it possible to proceed from Estes Park immediately to the port of departure. The party will meet in Montreal on the evening of July 5 and embark on the following morning on the popular new S. S. Montrose for the voyage down the St. Lawrence River. The first two days on this scenic route are a feature of the trip and the approach to the natural fortress of Quebec is an impressive experience.

On arrival in Liverpool, the party will proceed direct to Chester and the first night on English soil will be spent in this romantic town. Travel in England and Scotland includes a special three-days' motor tour in rural England, enabling the party to witness a performance in the Memorial Theater at Stratford-on-Avon. A recent letter from the business management says: "Mrs. Rugg is indeed fortunate, as we have just received advice that the Summer Shakespeare Festival opens on July 23."

The itinerary offers a variety of attractions: some of the stateliest English and European cathedrals; carefully chosen examples of ancient and medieval castles and the art of the great galleries, including the unparalleled Egyptian relics in the British Museum which are now of particular interest. Restful trips on lake steamers and through quiet Dutch canals are provided at intervals. Mountain trips are a most attractive feature and the maximum of motoring has been planned to insure delightful travel over a wide rural area. The climax of the tour will be a three-day motor trip through the valley of the Loire, visiting the marvelous chateaux of the French kings.

Mrs. Rugg is in correspondence with the Belgian girls who have welcomed the previous parties so warmly and who are eager to spend an evening in Brussels with the 1923 group. Other plans of a personal nature are now under way, which will give the party unusual glimpses of contemporary life and customs abroad.

The homebound sailing from France on S. S. Rochambeau brings the travelers back to New York, allowing time for visiting and shopping in that popular city before returning home. Particularly attractive steamship reservations are available for early registrants but the supply is limited. A detailed itinerary will be mailed on request and special queries answered by Mrs. F. A. Rugg, 201 Davis Ave., Brookline, Mass.

BASEBALL TRIP TO JAPAN

By EDNA HATFIELD EDMONDSON (Mrs. C. E.), Indiana B

(An account of Mrs. Edmondson's public activities will appear in the June issue.—EDITOR)

To travel 14,000 miles to play eleven games was the experience of the Indiana University baseball team on its recent visit to Japan. The team went to Japan at the invitation of Waseda University at Tokyo to play a series of games with the Waseda and other Japanese university teams. The Indiana team is one of a number of American college teams to exchange visits with Japanese college teams. While the expressed purpose of this exchange of visits is the playing of baseball, a deeper purpose as Professor Abè, who is responsible for the idea sees it, lies in the hope that through the field of sport an important contribution may be made to an international understanding between the young men of America and the young men of Japan.

The team left Bloomington the last of March and returned the last of May after an absence of sixty days, thirty-five of which were spent on trains and steamers. The party consisted of twelve players, the assistant coach, the coach and his wife, my husband as faculty manager, and myself. At this distance it may be safe to say that I went along "by way of decoration." As a matter of fact I found a number of ways to make myself useful—not the least of which was the official reporting of the trip and the games. My knowledge of baseball English increased amazingly and I was soon able to write "he flyed out to center" and "he died on third" without serious shock.

We sailed from Seattle over the northern route on the American steamship Keystone State, since renamed the William McKinley, following the decision of the United States Shipping Board to name the steamers under its operation for the presidents of the United States. As we steamed down Puget Sound our party stood on deck watching the snow-covered mountains receding in the background and the great flocks of sea gulls that circled round and round the boat. As we leaned against the rail one particularly bold gull flew past within a few feet of us. As he got along side he turned his bill into our faces and said "ha-ha ha-ha." "Ha-ha ha-ha, yourself. You've nothing on me," retorted one of the team. It was this light-hearted come-back so characteristic of healthy American youth which neither storm at sea, or earthquake on land, nor the lassitude induced by an unaccustomed climate, nor the confusion of strange situations could ever quite overcome, and which was responsible in the end for the very decisive victory of the Indiana team over the Japanese team which had defeated us in the opening games.

The northern route passes within forty miles of the Aleutian Islands and at this time of the year was very cold and stormy. We ran through hail, sleet and snow. In the midst of a heavy storm at three o'clock in the morning seven nights out, it was necessary to stop our engines to make some repairs. This allowed our boat to drift helplessly about and suddenly we "fell off in the trough." Our boat listed thirty degrees to one side and twenty-three to the other. We were awakened out of a deep sleep by the terrifying wrenching of the boat, the dreadful crash of the dishes in the dining-room, and the sound of what seemed to be thousands of feet on miles of ladders as the crew was called out to clear away the wreckage.

We had been told the night before that we had been forced considerably out of our course by the storm in order to take the wind on a more favorable quarter. Knowing that we were to go close to the Aleutian Islands, my first thought as I tried to regain my balance on my narrow bed was, "we are on the breakers and are lost!" Disappointing as it has been to me in looking back to the experience, none of the conventional deathbed thoughts flashed into my mind, my past remained a dead past, and I dipped no farther into the future than a sort of detached speculation as to how it would feel to be suffocated by the intruding water. In the terror of the moment I made sure that my husband was in his narrow bed beside me, resigned myself, turned over, and calmly went to sleep! The morning brought stories of passengers having been thrown from their narrow beds to the floors of their staterooms, and their baggage and furniture having been rearranged in the most surprising fashion.

Only two of our party were not sea sick at all. Some of the rest of us were sick before we were out of the Sound into the open sea, and some of us were sick the entire fourteen days of the unusually stormy crossing. After being one day over due because of the stormy weather we docked at Yokohama one afternoon about five o'clock in a cold drizzly rain. Here we found waiting to greet us Professor Abè, Professor of Economics and Sociology at Waseda University and our host while in Japan; Mr. Ishii, third baseman on the Waseda team that had played in America the year before; Mr. Okada, the Chief Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of Yokohama; and Mr. Isobe, representing the Indiana University Japanese Alumni. Little souvenirs of welcome from Waseda and from the City of Yokohama were pinned on our coats.

It was quite dark when we finally finished the ordeal of the immigration officials and the customs house, made as pleasant as possible by our Japanese friends, and were ready to start for Tokyo. Professor Abè had arranged for rikishas to take us from the dock to the railroad station.

Our first jinrikisha ride! I shall never forget the sensation. As we were pulled along the narrow unpaved streets between the rows of low tile-roofed buildings in Yokohama, with other jinrikishas and carts and bicycles filling the streets, passing and repassing us, each with its Japanese paper lantern as a traffic light, it seemed like a staged performance. This sense of the unreal experienced on our first night did not leave us during our entire stay in Japan.

We were taken by electric train to Tokyo, a distance of some forty miles and drove to the Seiyoken Hotel. There we were met by President Shiozawa, President of Waseda University, several members of his faculty, and scores of newspaper men. Our reception was most cordial. It was by this time quite late but we were kept up much later being photographed for the early editions of the Japanese newspapers.

It had been originally arranged for our party to stay at the Imperial Hotel in Tokyo. On our arrival at the Port of Yokohama we saw the beautiful big white British Battleship Renown with its escort of Japanese battleships riding at anchor, telling us that the Prince of Wales had preceded us by a few hours. Every available room at the Imperial Hotel had been reserved to house his large, glittering retinue while he and other members of his staff were entertained at the palace. So arrangements had been hastily made for us at the Seiyoken Hotel, where after a day or so when certain adjustments could be made we were quite comfortable. In the end the change in arrangements which had been a matter of apology on the part of our Japanese friends turned out to be a fortunate circumstance, for the next day after our arrival—a Sunday when everyone was on the streets or at a garden party or festival—the Imperial Hotel was destroyed by fire and the guests lost all their baggage. And so it was, having weathered the storm at sea, we escaped the second peril of the expedition—the Imperial Hotel fire.

The next morning after our arrival we were, of course, up early and out into the streets. For the first time in our lives we were conscious of being objects of great curiosity. Wherever we went we were followed about. If we stopped for an instant we were immediately surrounded by a crowd of eager, pushing Japanese of all ages and both sexes. They were interested in our faces, our clothes, our moving about. They were never rude, never impolite, never impertinent. Our smiles brought answering smiles, but never any undue advances. We soon accepted these manifestations of interest, at times with complete indifference, at times with friendly indulgence just as we accept at home the American small boy type of curiosity.

Arrangements were immediately made for our team to practice on the Waseda diamond and with only a week's time to recover from the trip and to regain their baseball eye they started the series of games. The Japanese are intensely interested in baseball. The crowds that came to watch the Indiana team practice were as large as those which usually attend college games here in America. These good humored, demonstrative crowds were quick to applaud good plays, to shout derisively at poor ones, and to laugh at awkward blunders.

At our first game there were 6,500 paid admissions. As our team entered the gates there was a great cheering and shouting. My husband and I remained outside the gates for a time talking to some Japanese friends. As we walked to our places a little later another cheering arose. We looked about for the cause of the demonstration when to our great surprise we found that the appearance of our own unconscious selves was the cause of the outbreak. The good-humored crowd was ready to applaud anything. Our smiles and American bows of acknowledgment brought further cheering and we slipped into our seats greatly flushed and quite self-conscious.

The heartiness of these demonstrations did not diminish during our whole stay in Japan. Wherever the team went it was greeted most enthusiastically and treated with the utmost courtesy and consideration. We were showered with gifts of all sorts. Whether the gift was of great or small value, its presentation always conveyed to us the good will of the Japanese and the feeling that they were glad to have us there.

Tokyo even staged for us an earthquake, officially said to be the most severe in that city since 1894. It occurred during the day when our party was scattered all over town. My husband and I happened to be in our room at the hotel at the time. We had already experienced several slight quakes since our arrival and when the first little shake came on this day we looked across the table at each other and smiled making mental note of one more experience to "tell the folks back home."

In a moment, however, this slight shaking increased to a violent jerking. This jerking gave way to a whipping motion as the earth rocked up and down, east and west, and north and south, accompanied by terrifying grinding, and groaning sounds as though the earth itself were writhing in agony.

With one movement we reached the large window in our room overlooking the street. We threw up the window and stood waiting for what would come next, not doubting for a moment but that death would be our final part in the succeeding events. What seemed ages of time was really only a few minutes, and the earth seemed to settle back gradually onto a firm base again. Our building remained standing and intact but was considerably damaged. And so with storm at sea and hotel fire passed, we escaped the third peril of the expedition.

In our ignorance my husband and I had unwittingly done the wisest thing by standing in the open windows. We were told later by those who have been taught to care for themselves in earthquakes in Tokyo that the street is a very unsafe place because of the danger from flying tile whipped off the low roofs of the buildings; that the safest place is in a building in an open doorway or window whose supporting timbers often remain standing, affording protection, when all the rest of the building collapses.

Several members of our party were upstairs in an ivory shop. At the first shake the Japanese proprietor yelled "Earthquake" and disappeared before the boys could understand what he said. They hurried to the stairs and started down where they were caught as one of them expressed it "rattling around on the stairway like dice in a box." Some of the party were out sightseeing, visiting the temples in Shiba Park. They hurriedly quit the temples, preferring to pin their faith to more familiar gods.

A short time after our arrival in Tokyo the Waseda team gave a banquet at the Waseda Club to welcome the Indiana team formally to Japan. This was a six course banquet of American food, served American style, with speeches of welcome by President Shiozawa of Waseda University, members of his faculty and representatives of the Japanese Press, responded to by members of our party. The delicate compliment of conducting the entire affair in American style served to put us at our ease at once. This banquet gave opportunity for the two teams to meet in a fine spirit of comradeship and good fellowship to the promotion of which they soon found difference in language was not an insurmountable barrier.

Quite different was our first experience at dinner in a Japanese tea house, when our Japanese Alumni took us to the Koyokan or Maple House, one of the most famous tea houses of Japan. Fortunately by this time we felt quite at home with our gracious alumni, so that our awkward attempts to do the proper Japanese thing and our blunders served only as sources of merriment in which our alumni heartily joined.

The first thing on arriving at the tea house was to take off our shoes and check them at the door just as we would check a hat or an umbrella in this country. We were offered Japanese house shoes but to no purpose. The Japanese shoe requires a stocking with a special compartment for the great toe, and as our stockings were not constructed on these lines, there was nothing for it but to go in our stocking feet. I am happy to say the state of our stockings cast no unfavorable reflection on our native country.

We were first taken to a small room and served tea. To the American notion this room was absolutely devoid of furniture. It was not a question as to whether we would sit on chairs—there were no chairs on which to sit. Around the room on the scrupulously clean matting which covered the floor there were a number of pillows about two and half feet square, and about four inches thick, filled with material firm but at the same time somewhat soft, and covered with silk of two shades of brown and buff in large plaids—not gaudy but quite pleasing to the eye.

On these pillows we were expected to sit in true Japanese style. Be it said to our credit that we did our best at first. After a very few seconds, however, we yielded to the protest of our untrained knees and toes and sank into more comfortable if less graceful positions. Our Japanese friends joined in the general laughter following our ludicrous failure to adapt ourselves to forms of polite usage of Japan.

A number of waitresses came in kneeling on the floor to serve us. We were brought tea in cups with no saucers. There were no handles on the cups, and no sugar, lemon, or other "seasoning." A lacquer saucer was set before each of us with a bean cake—a round lump of sweet cake about the size and shape of a tangerine. The cake was a sweetish pudding-like mixture with white frosting all over it. In frank imitation of our kindly and amused Japanese hosts we picked up our cake with a small wooden stick like an enlarged toothpick and did our best with tea and cake. The experiment was not very successful, however.

After our tea a tiny wicker basket containing a napkin wrung out of very hot water and left still twisted in the bottom of the basket was brought to each one. This was the "finger bowl."

After a short intermission in which we were taught some Japanese games and strolled about the beautiful formal garden with its velvety grass and its cherry trees now in full blossom, we were taken to another room where the dinner was served in six courses.

CHILE: FIRST IMPRESSIONS

Casilla 77 D,
Santiago, Chile.

Dear Editor:

Perhaps it would be well for me to explain just how I happen to be here and what I am doing. I came out last August (1921) under the Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church, to serve as a teacher in the Instituto Inglés, a school for boys here in Santiago. Those of you who still think of missionaries as long-faced folks who stand around in long black robes, Bible in hand, under that everlasting palm tree are saying: "But why a missionary?"

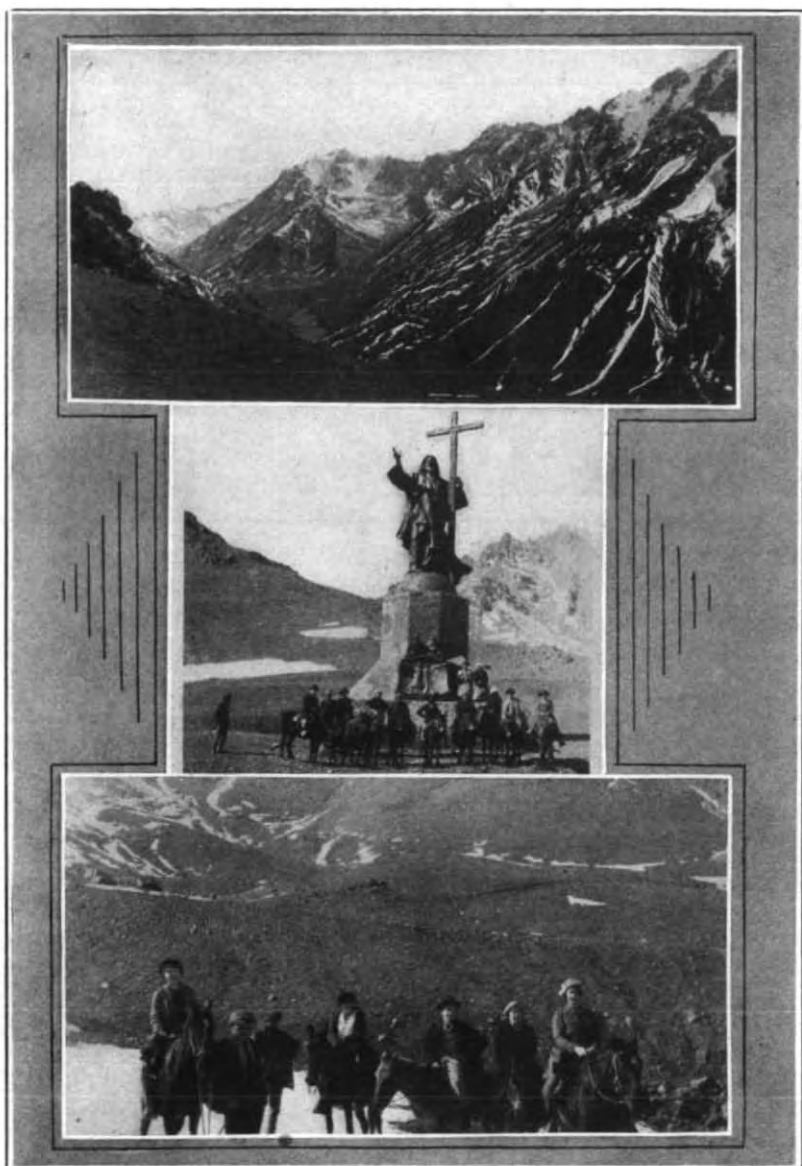

My reason is simple. I was grateful for the things that Christianity had put into my life, for the influence it had had over me in my daily living and I wanted to share it with others in a land where the need seemed greater than in our own United States.

I saw no visions: My desire for service came about in a perfectly normal, natural way as the outgrowth of the influences around me in a Christian home. For me it was not an easy task to leave home and loved ones, but since I have been here my days have been so filled with new duties and experiences and folks have been so wonderful about writing to me that there has been no time to sit around and get homesick.

I was fortunate, too, in finding another $\Pi \Phi$, Mary Firebaugh Swaney, Iowa A, here to welcome me when I came. You can't begin to know how strong the bonds are that bind you until you get way off at the end of the globe and find a perfectly good $\Pi \Phi$ waiting to make you feel at home. I have enjoyed so much knowing Mrs. Swaney and we have had some happy times together.

On Founders' Day she sent a beautiful basket of wine carnations to me and in the afternoon we celebrated by taking tea together at Gath and Chaves. We had to omit the songs as we hardly dared burst forth in a foreign tongue right there in public.

As to our work: we teach, she in the Methodist school for girls and I, in the Presbyterian boys' school. There come days of course when you feel as if perhaps you aren't teaching the children anything except English, history, geography or arithmetic, as the case may be, and then when you are in the depths of despair lest you are failing in your responsibility, something will happen, some child will say some little thing that shows that the truths you have been trying to give along with the studies have gone home, that your seeking to show what Christianity means by living it out day by day, has had its effect, and you climb one step higher and start all over again with renewed energy. The boys differ from our own in many ways and yet there are many points of similarity and they are a lovable lot of youngsters despite their faults.

Now living in Chile seems quite natural to me and still there are some things which I will never get used to I guess. Among them are the reversed order of seasons and the boldness of the men who pass you on the street. As you blossom into spring and look forward to summer days we are crawling into our heaviest clothes and getting out our raincoats, for our cold rainy winter days are just starting. We moan at the thought of coming chilblains, for Chile has been called the land of flowers and fruits, chilblains and fleas! Words fail me when I try to tell of the glory of the flowers here! The fruits too merit a whole page of their own. Words also fail me when I try to hold forth on the subject of fleas! I am a missionary and so must not use the sort of language that an adequate description of fleas demand! Suffice it to say that there never was, praise be! a bird, beast or fowl created with such a sneaky, low down disposition as a flea has. I have never been able to fathom "the why" of a flea. Now chilblains are different. You can at least see some cause for them, though that doesn't make them any more pleasant. All Chilean houses are unheated and when you remember that they are, for the most part, built like a hollow square with a patio in the center into which the rains pour in the cold wet season, you can understand that your circulation might get poor and so make chilblains a probability.

I am slowly becoming accustomed to the Chilean way of serving each meat or vegetable as a separate course. The food, while sometimes prepared differently, doesn't differ much from our own and I for one have found it tremendously fattening.

To me one of the hardest things to get used to is being looked upon as a foreigner. If you have never lived in another country you can't begin to realize the queerness of the sensation of being looked upon as different somehow. It is a good experience for it gives you a chance to get the foreigner's point of view. You realize then how many things, little in themselves, you could have done for the foreigner in your own land to make his stay a pleasurable one. If you speak his language you could often interpret for him what is being said, a word or a sentence or two will often start him on the right track and make what would otherwise be a jumble of words for him an interesting conversation. Nothing gives you a worse case of the blues or makes you feel quite as unnecessary as being in a group where you can't get the idea even of what is going on. Perhaps now there is some girl in one of your classes to whom you could show a kindness by inviting her into your home for a meal. It means a little trouble, a little sacrifice on your part perhaps, but it will be tremendously worth while.

Our week days here are pretty well taken up with school duties but over the week-ends and during holidays, in which this country delights, we have opportunities for trips and hikes. We are particularly fortunate in having a wide awake and interesting group of Americans here and surely have some good times together. During Easter week a number of us went up to Christ of the Andes (the story of which is doubtless familiar to you). We had a special car (attached to a freight train!) which took us as far as Laguna del Incas where we got off for a visit to the lake. It is a beautiful little lake, clear, cold and as blue as a sapphire, tucked away in the mountains there. We took our tea by the side of the lake, for Chile is a land of tea drinkers and you soon get the habit whether you will or not. After a row on the lake we started our hike up to Caracoles where we were to spend the night before we started on the last lap to the "Cristo." We were getting higher and higher all the time and before we reached Caracoles we were doing considerable puffing because it took a good deal of breathing to get a little air. We spent the night there (and oh! such a night!) thirteen of us sleeping in one room on seven cots, the boys slept in the coach which had been left on a side track for our use. Bright and early we started our climb, some on foot and some on burro back. Up and up we went until we reached the statue which is located on the boundary line between Chile and Argentina at an elevation of 13,000 feet. The views all along were wonderful and the trip was tremendously well worth the effort. Some of last winter's snow was still on the ground and the patches of white against the rugged brown peaks added to the beauty. The Andes are so big, so rugged and strong looking that they make you feel ever so small and unimportant somehow! We frequently go for hikes or picnic suppers though and are getting to be pretty good friends with them nevertheless.

But there! I am rambling on and supper is almost ready. With one word more then I'll close. Don't ever waste any sympathy on missionaries. It isn't sympathy but interest that will culminate in more volunteers for mission work, that we want. I promise you that you will love your work and have lots of good times besides if you will trust, try, and smile. *

Always sincerely yours in Π Φ,

M. ELIZABETH SCHAAFF, Columbia A.

NATIONAL TEACHERS' AGENCY

By EMILY A. LANE, Pennsylvania B

(Very often young women desiring teaching positions are hesitant in applying at "agencies" but hereafter you may know that you have a "friend at court" if you apply at the National Teachers' Agency because a Pi Beta Phi, Emily A. Lane, is the manager of the Pittsburgh, Pa., branch. Her office is 304 House Building.—THE EDITOR)

The work of the Teachers' Agency is a kind of welfare service which has grown to very large proportions. Fitting the teacher to her work and filling the school position with the teacher who fits, is a scientific service. This science has been evolved by study and research in the field of candidates and their positions. The agency has been its principal laboratory and the elements used are the needs for teachers and the teacher's needs.

The agency opens up for the teacher, a comprehensive view of the school world with reference to the demand for teachers. Candidate and opportunity are brought together by careful grading and selection. Teachers are informed of positions which suit their preparation, experience, salary, etc. They are permitted to choose and apply for whatever positions concerning which they are informed. They may reject those which do not attract them.

The agency keeps the teacher alive to educational progress. To be informed means advancement with bigger and better professional prospects. It keeps the teacher in touch with the buyers of her service and informs her of the "market." Teachers pay nothing until their membership brings acceptable results. Worthwhile placement means that service is never complete and final unless both teacher and school are pleased.

The National Teachers' Agency operates five offices: Philadelphia; Pittsburgh, Pa.; Syracuse, N. Y.; Northampton, Mass., and Indianapolis, Ind. These cities are centers of trade communication, finance and education—excellent watchtowers from which to view a great field of opportunities. Into these offices, by personal interview, letter, long distance telephone and telegram, pour hundreds of direct calls for teachers, representing every phase of the demand for men and women in the educational field.

PI PHIS IN THE PUBLIC EYE

GLADYS HAGEE MATHEW

There is no doubt that the coming convention will be a SINGING CONVENTION with Mrs. Steere Mathew (Gladys Hagee, Colorado A) in charge of the convention music.

Mrs. Mathew has achieved unusual success on the operatic and concert stage. The following from the Rocky Mountain News of Denver will be of interest to every $\Pi B \Phi$:

"When Puccini and Belasco created The Girl of the Golden West they intended to bring into the world of the opera all our own American romance and adventure symbolized in a sort of glorified unreality. They did not expect this lovely creature of their imagination to come to life, but to-day The Girl of the Golden West has become a flesh-and-blood reality in the musical world which centers about the Metropolitan opera house in New York.

"Among the scant half dozen extraordinarily promising American singers, Gladys Hagee Mathew has had a full measure of attention during the past winter, especially from those who are doing so much to make American opera really national art. And Mrs. Mathew is truly 'The Girl of the Golden West' for she was born in Denver and lived there until her romantic marriage in New Orleans a little more than two years ago.

"Gladys Hagee as it is still so much more natural to call her, was graduated from South Denver High School in 1914, and from the University of Colorado in 1918. During her four years at college she was even better known for her charming songs than for her innumerable social and college activities.

"It was Gladys Hagee who found time along with college work to sing in church and university chapel quartets. In addition she twice sang the leading rôle in the yearly musical comedy, which was first established as an annual university event during her time. The girls of Pi Beta Phi still have happy chapter traditions about the 'thrill of Gladys' singing.'

"But Mrs. Mathew says she always believed that some time, some way, she would find expression for the greater power which she felt her voice possessed. For this reason she has never been satisfied with her own achievements, no matter how others have praised her singing. As opportunity offered she continued studying during the winter of 1920, at the Institute of Musical Art. And just when she realized that nothing short of New York had much more to offer her, a Mr. Mathew asked her one evening, very casually, if she would like to go to New York.'

"Steere Mathew, like his wife, is a Colorado product. He was graduated from the university in 1917, where he was a member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity and earned the right to attach 'E.E.' to his name. Henry L. Doherty started him upon his professional career, and it has not taken him long to reach the New York office, the mecca to which all good Doherty men go.

"In the year and a half they have been in New York, Mrs. Mathew has put in eight hours or more daily at music, besides managing a tiny and altogether fascinating and New Yorkish bandbox apartment. Oscar Saegner, who is one of the most widely known and respected teachers of operatic singing in this country, has been her instructor. He makes no secret of the fact that he considers her among the most promising of his students.

"Mr. Saenger is in a position to speak with authority for he was the first American instructor in opera singing to place a native singer in a leading rôle with the Metropolitan. Mrs. Mathew has already a wide choice from which to make her debut, for Mr. Saenger considers that she may count as well-rounded rôles in her repertoire six difficult parts: 'Margarita,' from Faust; 'Mimi,' and 'Musetta,' from La Bohème; 'Nedda,' from Pagliacci; 'Micaela,' and 'Frasquita,' both from Carmen.

"Mrs. Mathew's voice has a clear sweetness uncommon in a coloratura soprano, and a quality of restrained strength which gives promise of greater power to come. But a wonderful voice alone does not make an opera singer, and Mrs. Mathew's prospects are a thousand times brighter because she unites with her art a charming simplicity, and what is most important of all, a passion for good hard work.

"If they tell us, genius is merely an infinite capacity for taking pains, then Mrs. Mathew is doubly sure of success, for she is possessed of the uncommon combination of a remarkable voice and a talent for making drudgery easy by undertaking it with love for the work itself."—Zilpha Carruthers.

MINNIE FREEMAN PENNEY

BY FLORENCE TAYLOR SHIELDS, Nebraska B

The school girls and boys of Nebraska are all familiar with the story of a courageous, young school teacher, who in the pioneer days of the state saved the lives of her pupils during a raging blizzard. It was Minnie Freeman, now Mrs. Edgar B. Penney, Nebraska A, who tied the children to her with a rope and led them safely to their homes through the blinding and treacherous snow.

Such resourcefulness and courage have ever been characteristic of this member of $\Pi B \Phi$ who attracted national attention as a delegate and speaker at the last national biennial convention of the Federation of Women's Clubs held at Chautauqua, N. Y.

As president of the Nebraska Federation of Women's Clubs, Mrs. Penney now occupies a prominent place in the club activities of that state as well as in the national work of federated women. Mrs. Penney took up the work of the presidency with a splendid foundation of experience, having served for four years as state chairman of Literature; two years as a district president; and two years as a state vice-president of the state federation.

Mrs. Penney is the only woman member of a committee of three appointed by Governor McKelvie to serve on the State Seal Commission of Nebraska; was first president of the American Legion

MINNIE FREEMAN PENNEY
Nebraska A

Auxiliary Department of Nebraska; is a member of the National Advisory Council for Better Homes in America and of the national league of American Pen-Women.

During the war Mrs. Penney was chairman of the Bandage Circles of Nebraska; county chairman of the Women's Council of Defense; Red Cross Surgical Dressings Instructor; chairman for the French Orphans; a member of the state executive board of the United War Work Campaign; and as a member of the National Speakers' Bureau War Work, covered assignments in all parts of the state in behalf of the Near East Relief and the United War Work.

The first public service of Mrs. Penney was in Lexington, Neb., as president of the Church Guild of the Episcopal Church of which she is a member. Since that time she has had a continued interest in Sunday School Work. Her first club membership was in the Chautauqua Circle of Lexington. She has also served as Matron in the Eastern Star chapter; registrar of the Daughters of the American Revolution, Pawnee Chapter; state chairman of the D. A. R. Magazine; president of the Mary Barnes Club of Fullerton, Neb., and as an officer of many other civic and literary organizations.

Mrs. Penney's home is in Fullerton, Neb., and her family consists of her husband and two sons, Freeman S. and Frederick D. Penney who are members of $\Phi K \Psi$ at the University of Nebraska. She also has one sister living, Mrs. Carra-Belle Doyle of Los Angeles, Cal.

In one of her messages to the federated clubs, Mrs. Penney said: "It takes three 'Gs' to keep organization work moving. Not entirely the three graces of Faith, Hope and Charity, but the three 'Gs' of Grit, Grace and Greenbacks." She also said that, "A woman's life is divided into three interesting and rather distinct periods: first, her schooldays and the joyous preparation for life's duties; second, days of fulfillment, years of loyal service for home and family or active business interests; third, when home duties and other cares lighten and she is free to serve the public. This last period should be ushered in with the prayer 'Lead me not into temptation' to settle down and be 'Just old and comfortable' in the soft places of life."

Minnie Mae Freeman was initiated into Nebraska A of $\Pi B \Phi$ at the Methodist College at York in 1885, from which institution she was graduated in 1889. She has always been loyal to her fraternity and keeps actively in touch with Nebraska B. What an influence our fraternity has been to her is shown in her words:

"My first inspiration for service came to me through the ideals of $\Pi B \Phi$. My church taught me to be good so that I might wear a crown in heaven. You may know that it appealed to me very much. I only hoped that I should get the shiniest one possible and for that I was willing to try to be good. But $\Pi \Phi$ taught me that it was the beauty of right living that made starry crowns worth while and the crowning glory of womanhood was the crown we should seek to wear."

BLANCHE BANE KUDER

The name of Blanche Bane Kuder has been very prominently mentioned in recent newspapers and magazines as the author of April Weather, a little volume of poems which has come from the press of the Cornhill Company of 2A Park St., Boston, Mass.

Blanche Bane was initiated into Pennsylvania B, Bucknell University, in 1901 and has always been a very loyal member of $\Pi B \Phi$.

BLANCHE BANE KUDER

After doing editorial work for four years in Philadelphia immediately following graduation from college, she married William S. Kuder. Soon they left the East and went to Oakland, Cal., to live. In writing of her experiences Mrs. Kuder says:

"We came to this heavenly spot thirteen years ago and here remain—with occasional trips East and to Canada. My hobby? (Of course I'd have to have a hobby!), is my lovely little garden and old furniture and china. When East this summer I acquired (from a barn!), four wonderful old brown Dutch fiddleback chairs, stencilled in plums and grapes, and a twisted glass lamp, and copper luster pitchers.

"I've written verse, but infrequently, all my life. And have contributed to The Outlook, Sunset Magazine, Women's Home Companion, McClure's, Success, and other magazines. The Woman's Pictorial of London, England, has purchased British serial rights to Reward, which appeared in the Woman's Home Companion this fall."

The volume of poems which Mrs. Kuder has just published is a collection of her verses which have been published in various magazines in addition to new poems.

"APRIL WEATHER"

The poems in April Weather have an appeal which it is difficult to describe. They leave the reader with the breath of perfume from the old-fashioned garden, with the call of the sea in his heart, with the great longing for the open spaces, or with the mist of the April rain touching his face.

Literary critics have pronounced the poems "always technically correct," yet possessed of an unusual appeal and perfection.

Mrs. Kuder is not a prolific poet but what she has written is far superior to that which we designate as "verse" to-day. The thirty-eight poems which are collected in April Weather show great variation of moods and as a writer in the Independent-Gazette of Philadelphia has said: "The literary workmanship throughout is superior. Not only is there music in the lines, but there is thought and substance and a careful choice of diction that is most agreeable to the reader wearied with the crudities put forth by modern versifiers straining after novelty."

Two of the poems which especially appeal to the Editor are: "Song" and "The Wet Road."

SONG

There was a rose that fell to dust
 There was a wind that blew.
 And a butterfly with yellow wings,
 And you—and you!

The dust of the rose is scattered far
 The wings are clogged with dew,
 The little wind died when the sun went down,
 And you—and you?

On account of the lack of space only the first and last verses of "The Wet Road" are quoted. The other two verses are equally good.

THE WET ROAD

Leave the stretch of the dusty highway, strip your fetters and make you free.
 Heedless of lure of lane and byway, forsake your dreaming and come with me.
 The way of the gray and the shining surges, the long wet road that is called the sea.

* * * * *

And the years hold promise of glad to-morrows and of great joys that are yet to be,
 And the keenest sorrow of all your sorrows becomes but a shadowy memory,
 When you take the road where the winds are running, the long wet road that is called the sea!

EVELYN OWEN

BY GENEVIEVE McSWIGAN, Pennsylvania Δ

Evelyn Owen, Indiana B, is a concert reader and entertainer of rare ability, who possesses the gift of entrancing the tiny folk with impersonations of "Raggedy-Ann" or of swaying an audience of grown-ups with her rendition of selections from Browning, Shakespeare and the Bible. Her dialect work is especially good and she puts her whole soul into her work.

After graduating from the University of Indiana, Miss Owen attended Northwestern University School of Speech and later studied at Wellesley College and in Europe.

Thomas W. Nadal, president of Drury College, Springfield, Mo., who knew Evelyn Owen as a teacher at Olivet College says: "During her years with us, she gave a number of recitals, and I had ample opportunity to judge her ability as a reader. I rank her very high as an interpreter of literature. She has a fine artistic sense and is well trained. Her genuineness of character expressed in her natural simplicity of manner, gives to her readings unusual force. She is what I would call a satisfying and convincing reader."

During the past season Evelyn Owen has been busy appearing before Women's Clubs, school and college audiences. Perhaps the secret of her success is the fact that she always strives "to bring to every audience a real message." Her "Riley" program for children's parties has been especially popular and well received.

Miss Owen whose address has been 2515 Grand Concourse, New York City is now planning to open a studio of her own in that metropolis.

"Pi Phi," says this gifted young woman, "has ever been an inspiration to me."

WISCONSIN BETA'S NEW HOME

With the aid of the alumnæ, Wisconsin B at Beloit College bought a chapter house last spring. It is ideal in its location, for it is only a half block from the campus and within easy reach of the women's dormitories. We use the house only for meetings and social gatherings, since, under the present rules, the women of Beloit College are not permitted to live outside the residence halls. The chapter and alumnæ have the use of three large downstairs rooms and the porch. The upper floors have been rented.

The purchase of the house was made possible by the Pi Beta Phi House Corporation, an incorporated company of $\Pi \Phi$ alumnæ. A cash payment was made and a mortgage was taken for the remaining sum. A certain amount of this is being paid off each year by notes. $\Pi \Phi$ is the first of the women's fraternities on our campus to own its chapter house.

PHYLLIS ARNEMAN.

THAT ARROW CAR!

(Because the Editor's attention had been called to the fact that the arrow on the Jordan automobile had $\Pi B \Phi$ significance she wrote to Mary Stirling Begg (Mrs. Russell S.), Illinois E, for information concerning it.)

My dear Mrs. Spring:

Your letter addressed to Mrs. Russell Begg was handed to me by Mr. Begg with the request that I answer it in what he chooses to call my characteristic manner. Since it is a great joy to be considered eccentric, I do not resent his questionable compliment.

RUSSELL BEGG, HUSBAND OF MARY L. STERLING, Illinois E, EDWARD S. JORDAN

While I was the originator of the trade mark, I must tell you that Mr. Begg has been responsible for its significance. No doubt when he saw that we had chosen a trade mark significant of Pi Beta Phi, he immediately thought of the chain which bound him to Pi Beta Phi, and the golden emblem in which now and then men find a pearl.

I am enclosing a copy of our house organ which originally had the name of THE ARROW. We changed it because of the conflict with the trade name of Pierce-Arrow.

However, the Jordan idea will interest you. The man on the left of the illustration on the front cover is Mr. Begg, to whom Pi Beta Phi has such powerful significance. The man on the right is the one who is responsible for Mr. Begg's opportunity to prove this significance.

When the Jordan trade-mark was first found necessary I spent many hours in the Chicago Public Library looking over all the trade-marks that had been registered, and found nothing that suited me. The trade-mark is simply the result of many efforts with a pad of paper and a pencil to combine geometrical figures in a distinctive way. My first idea was the combination of two triangles, but they blended together so nicely in the arrow head that we determined upon that.

But you must not deduct from this explanation that the Jordan arrow has no Pi Beta Phi significance. While I have been directed for many years by an Alpha Phi, I am quite certain that Mr. Begg has been well managed by a Pi Beta Phi.

The trade-mark itself means nothing unless it is backed by a motor car that is properly designed and built. Mr. Begg is responsible for the success of the car in an engineering way, and I am quite sure that Mrs. Begg is responsible for Mr. Begg's success in every way.

Therefore, I think we may say that the Jordan arrow has a very powerful Pi Beta Phi significance.

Sincerely yours,

EDWARD S. JORDAN, President,
Jordan Motor Car Company, Cleveland, Ohio.

WHAT OUR COLLEGE AND CHAPTER ARE DOING FOR THE HEALTH OF WOMEN STUDENTS

(What a Fraternity Girl Thinks)

WEEKLY HEALTH REPORT

Aside from the well developed physical department, Simpson College has no very definite program for the promotion of the health of the women students. In this department all the women in college are given definite and systematic physical training. Various sports are taken up during the year, such as soccer, hockey, hikes, and basketball. This tends to develop strong physical bodies. Shower baths are required after every class or game.

Simpson is very fortunate in having a fine college nurse who lives at the girls' dormitory and is constantly busy keeping the girls well. Every case of illness must be reported to her.

At the chapter house definite rules as to the hours, sleeping arrangements, etc., are in force and the chaperon makes a weekly report concerning, among other things, the health of her girls.

Although these arrangements may seem rather inefficient, nevertheless the amount of illness is surprisingly small among the students of Simpson College.

IOWA BETA.

EATING REGULARLY

Iowa Γ has been striving to establish in the chapter house a set of rules to comply in part at least with the Health Program advocated by our fraternity. For this purpose we had Miss Winnifred R. Tilden, head of the physical education department give us a talk concerning things that would be advisable to do. An "Everybody to Bed at Ten-Thirty" movement was agitated and its obedience enforced. Rules pertaining to the diet, such as overcoming habits of eating between meals and indulging in too rich foods were made and a committee appointed to keep a watchful eye on our health "campaign," and to see that every one had the right amount and right kind of exercise.

Iowa Γ feels as though a step has been made in this direction and will do everything to coöperate with those in charge of the fraternity Health Program.

IOWA GAMMA.

FREE MEDICAL CARE

I think none of us devote enough time to the important question of health. Once during the year we devote a fraternity evening to a discussion on health given by a doctor. He gives us general points about health, and instructs us in preventive measures. Our medical school, which ranks among the first in the country gives the student of the university free medical care in the university hospital. The university also maintains a student health department which conducts medical and physical examinations and gives free consultations and medical aid. The Children's Hospital (a state institution) has many experts on its force, among whom is Dr. Steiner, one of the foremost foot specialists in the country. The students may obtain free medical care for foot ailments from Dr. Steiner and his assistant. The university requires two years of gymnasium work for the girls.

IOWA ZETA.

HYGIENE LECTURES

The physical education department of Washington University requires a physical examination, at the beginning of the year, of every girl registered in gymnasium classes. All defects and weaknesses are noted, and the work throughout the year is an attempt to correct them. Freshman girls are also required to attend weekly hygiene lectures. The members of Missouri B feel that their greatest opportunity to promote the health of women students, both in the college and in the chapter, is by coöperating with the physical education department, and also by having health talks throughout the year as recommended by our II B Φ Health Program.

MISSOURI BETA.

HOW TO KEEP FIT

In connection with physical education every freshman and sophomore woman is required to have a physical examination. This includes heart, lungs, throat, and eyes. Dr. Mary Atherton of Springfield talks with the women of the college once or twice each year about simple remedies, and how to keep fit. Talks on hygiene are often given at house meetings in the dormitory. The matron of the dormitory has charge of quite an extensive medicine chest. The chapter decided shortly before the close of last semester to have health talks about once every two months in connection with the regular meetings. So far this plan has not been put into execution.

MISSOURI GAMMA.

WOMEN'S ATHLETICS JUST STARTED

Until lately Nebraska University has not been noted for its athletic activities for women students. The past three years have witnessed a great change in this field. The various sports, swimming, hockey, tennis, etc., have been provided for and the students urged to participate in them. A fair amount of college credit has been offered as an added inducement.

Our chapter has followed strictly the college rules concerning physical examination and has urged upon the younger girls as they have entered upon their college career the advisability of benefiting from the college sports. In our life within our $\Pi \Phi$ home health has been of primary consideration in the making of rules and in the arrangement of schedules. Regular hours are enforced and healthful, out-of-door habits encouraged.

NEBRASKA BETA.

WALKING ENCOURAGED

The University of Kansas is giving more and more attention to the health of its students. Every freshman woman is required to be physically examined and if found defective in any way must take corrective exercises. Walking and hiking is encouraged and extensive riding in cars, discouraged.

Kansas A coöperates with the university in every health program which it wishes to carry out. In addition we require our girls to keep regular hours, i.e., to retire by eleven, to dress properly, and to eat only at meal time.

KANSAS ALPHA.

THREE HOURS A WEEK

Kansas State Agricultural College requires in every course, three hours of physical education a week for four semesters. Before starting this work, the instructors, physicians and nurses give a very strict physical examination to every girl. If she is unable to take the regular work, yet is not in a serious condition, she is assigned to "Corrective gym," for the required number of hours each week.

These same instructors, doctors and nurses repeated the examinations last spring when we of Kansas B were requested to send physical reports to our health committee.

KANSAS BETA.

WOMEN'S LEAGUE SUPERVISION

In the University of Wyoming it is required that all freshmen and sophomore girls take physical education. Before entering any of these classes each girl must take a physical examination by a physician. If any physical defects are found the girl is given corrective exercises to remedy these defects. Also the Dean of Women gives lectures to all freshmen girls on personal hygiene. The dormitories and all houses under Women's League rules are inspected by the Dean of Women to prevent unsanitary conditions and over crowding. In addition the rules of the Women's League are very strict in regard to the hours the girls may keep. On Friday and Saturday nights the hours are ten-thirty and on Sunday nights ten o'clock.

WYOMING ALPHA.

KEEP REGULAR HOURS

At the beginning of each college year all women entering the university for the first time are required to take a physical examination given by the head of the department of physical education. They are then graded and put into classes according to their needs. For instance, those having pronated ankles are put into a corrective class and taught to stand properly. The services of the school physicians are free to all women students. $\Pi \Phi$ tries to do its bit by urging the girls to keep regular hours. This summer the sleeping porch was enlarged so as to accommodate those living in the house.

COLORADO ALPHA.

POSTURE WEEK

Nature designed a health program for Colorado. Denver University coöperates in making this effective, and contributes an additional program of her own.

Miss Rilling, $\Gamma \Phi B$, who is our gymnasium instructor, conducts many hikes and week-end trips in the mountains, teaching our women the essentials of good sportsmanship and the value of mountain climbing. Tennis, golf, and swimming figure in the athletic program in addition to basketball and the regular gymnasium work.

Each freshman has a thorough physical examination by a Denver woman physician, and all activities for the individual are based on the results of this examination.

During "Good Posture Week" tags are given to the girls who have correct postures and this encourages all the girls in attaining good posture.

The girls of our chapter work with and under Miss Rilling in all her health building activities, as well as having their own mountain trips and house-parties.

COLORADO BETA.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION REQUIRED

Oklahoma State College requires a two-year course in Physical Training, preliminary to every degree. A four-year course is also given which leads to a B.S. degree in Physical Education. A life-saving corps, the second to be placed in a southwestern college by the Red Cross, and of which two Pi Phis are charter members, is trying to interest students in the cultivation of vigorous health by swimming.

Our chaperon, Miss Rosemond Bell, is a graduate nurse, and has given us some excellent talks on personal hygiene which we have tried to apply, and various ones in the chapter have prepared discussions for the general meeting on vital health problems as applied to any students whom we can help in that way as well as ourselves.

Enforcement of rules and prohibition of late hours are practiced to keep students in the best physical condition possible.

OKLAHOMA BETA.

UPPERCLASS SPONSERS

In the last year the University of Texas has done much more for its women students than ever before. Through the efforts of the Dean of Women the university authorities have worked out a scheme to watch over and protect the first-year girls by placing them under the guidance of the junior and senior girls, who are held personally responsible for their welfare and behavior. These juniors and seniors must see to it that the first-year girls pass all their courses, that they observe the rules and regulations passed by the university, attend all rallies and meetings of the gymnasium staff, and conduct themselves properly on all occasions.

The university gymnasium is now being enlarged and remodeled and we are anticipating the university dances will be held there every Saturday night. These dances we feel will promote a more friendly spirit among all women students.

Our chapter is always urging our freshmen and older girls, too, to take a more active part in the various organizations on the campus. We try to have a representative at every meeting of the Y. W. C. A. and the Women's athletic association, chapel, and literary societies, so as to keep in touch with the activities going on about us. Our freshmen are urged to try out in the swimming club and dancing clubs.

TEXAS ALPHA.

CHAPTER HEALTH TALKS

Southern Methodist University is making quite an effort this year to improve the health of its women students. Every girl who enters college is required to undergo a thorough medical examination. Those who are found to be in poor health, or are under-weight and nervous are given directions about improving their conditions, and are told to report back to the doctor at stated intervals for observation. All students are required to have two years of physical training; and must take this work up in their freshman year.

Texas B has started, again this year, the custom of having a health talk at one of the meetings of the chapter, once a month. The committee invites some prominent person who is interested in health conditions, such as a doctor or a social service worker, to advise the girls. We have found this to be very enjoyable and profitable.

TEXAS BETA.

HEREDITARY ILLNESS STUDIED

The health of her students is one of Newcomb's first cares. The physical education department maintains a special office furnished with modern equipment for ascertaining the physical condition of every student. At the beginning of each year the students are examined and the results of the examination filed. By examined, we mean in no sense, an ordinary medical examination, for, aside from the personal information each student gives about her health in the past, certain measurements are taken, height, weight, chest-expansion and others, and facts about the student's family are ascertained. This last information is helpful in bringing to light hereditary illnesses, thus allowing physicians ample time to prevent their recurrence in the present generation. If the proportions of the body are not correct, corrective exercises are given by the physical education department. At the close of the year each girl is again examined, and a comparison made between her condition at the beginning and end of the year. If this comparison is not favorable her family is notified. The faculty and students of Newcomb heartily endorse all outdoor sports.

LOUISIANA ALPHA.

SKIING AMONG OTHER ACTIVITIES

Montana State College has always maintained a high standard of health for its women students but the lack of a gymnasium has made it impossible to carry on any extensive work in women's athletics. This year, however, with the completion of the new gymnasium and under the guidance of a fine physical education director, we are hoping for great improvements.

A girls' hockey and basketball team are soon to be organized and also five clubs, including swimming, tennis, skating, skiing and hiking. Besides these there are the regular classes in gymnasium which are required of all underclassmen, and special classes for upperclassmen desiring further work.

Montana A has always been behind every movement concerning the health of the women students, and this year will see many Pi Phis actively engaged in some form of athletics or gymnasium work.

MONTANA ALPHA.

SPECIAL REST ROOM CLASS

The University of Washington requires every freshman woman upon entering, to take a physical examination from Dr. Irwin. If there is any reason why anyone should not take the regular gymnasium course, there are corrective gymnasium classes which help in so many ways to correct physical ailments and to aid in general health.

There is also a rest room class for women who are unable to take even corrective gymnasium and that is held in the regular rest room once a week, where the girls rest, completely relaxed, for an hour.

The chapter does not permit girls to attend classes when they have the slightest temperature or a bad cold. The house mother sees that they remain at home and the college nurse is informed of their illness. This prevents contagion.

WASHINGTON ALPHA.

OUTDOOR GYMNASTICS

Washington State College is one of the foremost in promoting physical education for women. Every student is required to take some form of physical activity. For those who are not physically fit for taking the more strenuous exercises a milder course has been added to the curriculum. Outdoor gymnastics are participated in as long as the weather permits. The Dean of women is stressing the necessity of working on a schedule for recreation as well as for studies, in order to get the most benefit from one's work and at the same time keeping one's self physically fit.

In our chapter we have a health committee which promotes the physical well being of the girls in the house. The committee has a set of rules, one of which compels every girl to retire by eleven o'clock on college nights. We adhere very closely to getting plenty of fresh air which we obtain by sleeping on a large sleeping porch. To stamp out contagious diseases which are prevalent we have provided sanitary drinking cups for the use of the girls.

We are stressing the small things in our health campaign which might be overlooked, in that way trying to better the health of every individual.

WASHINGTON BETA.

SLEEP OUT OF DOORS

The University of Oregon has done much within the last few years for the health of its women students, and Oregon A has a reputation for active coöperation in all health programs and requirements. Our physical education department ranks high in this country, and especially commendable is its corrective and clinic laboratory. Any girl who cannot pass a comprehensive physical examination is given individual care in this clinic until she has been corrected or improved as much as possible.

We also have a campus nurse who not only inspects the living quarters as to sleeping facilities, food, lighting, etc., but also visits all the sick, and gives health talks at house meetings once each term.

Every girl in the chapter sleeps out of doors the year around.

OREGON ALPHA.

TRAINED HEALTH SERVICE

O. A. C. has taken some definite steps in caring for the health of the students. A health service with a good physician and trained nurse is at the disposal of the students at all times. The department of physical education for women has a corrective branch. Every girl, before entering any gymnasium class must have a medical and physical examination. If she is found to be defective in any way, she is put into corrective work to be treated at her regular gymnasium hours. The Home Economics department gave out a set of rules governing good health and these have proved to be very helpful. Every girl in college must be in bed by ten-thirty week nights, twelve on weekends and ten-thirty Sunday nights. The girls get a sufficient amount of sleep and are more able to do efficient work. Our chapter endeavors to see that all rules governing our health are strictly adhered to and altogether I think we have very good health on the campus.

OREGON BETA.

PLENTY OF SLEEP

Strict social regulations, combined with an efficient physical education department, are promoting the health and welfare of our women students. The rule that all women students must be in by 10:30 on week nights is vigorously enforced, thus enabling all girls to get enough sleep. Two years of work in the physical education department is compulsory, and a very thorough physical examination is given to every new girl before she starts her work in the university. Special classes, such as Corrective Gymnasium, are provided for girls who need such work, and marked benefits have been derived from such classes. Health cards are given each girl and a record kept of her physical condition.

The chapter coöperates with the university in doing everything possible to preserve the health of the women students. It also encourages the girls to "go out" for athletics, and has quiet hours every day for study or rest.

CALIFORNIA ALPHA.

COMPULSORY HYGIENE COURSE

The girl's health is carefully guarded in the University of California.

Each girl must take a physical examination on entrance. Then she is assigned to a gymnasium class according to the results of that examination. If she is normal she is put in a normal class, if she needs restricted or corrective work she is put in a restricted or corrective class.

This physical education work is compulsory for two years of the college life. The work is not simple and easy nor is it too strenuous for the girls.

When the two years' course is finished another physical examination is given which is compared with the first one and it almost always shows improvement.

A compulsory course in hygiene is given to the freshmen. This course is very complete in instructing the girls as to the importance of health, and its care. Special instruction is also given on any of the sports which allow the girls to be out of doors a great deal.

CALIFORNIA BETA.

UNIQUE GYMNASIUM SUITS

The most important work for the health of the women comes through a highly organized physical education department. As each girl enters college, she takes a stringent physical examination and the records are kept. The examining physician is one of the best diagnosticians available, and is in her office for certain hours for free consultation. Her work is followed up with corrective exercises.

There is also a resident nurse who has charge of the rest room and reports infectious diseases in boarding-houses. Her work is the more difficult as we are without dormitories.

A new sleeveless gymnasium suit has been introduced, to be worn with white waists which are laundered each week by the department.

In our house we have a study room, and certain hours are devoted to study and quiet each evening. Freshmen are not allowed dates on week nights, and upperclassmen must have good scholarship before they can go out. We have had little illness, and since most of the girls are not far from home, they are cared for by their family physicians.

CALIFORNIA GAMMA.

OUTDOOR EXERCISE ENCOURAGED

At the University of Arizona outdoor exercise is encouraged. In her two years of regular gymnasium work each girl is required to become proficient in four sports, one each semester. Two hours each week are spent in learning and practicing the different sports in their seasons—from swimming in the early fall, through hockey, basketball, riding, baseball, tennis, track, back to swimming again as the weather grows warm. With such a variety of sports open all the year, every girl with any athletic interest at all gets a chance to develop it by competition, and girls who are physically lazy learn to play with the rest, and enjoy it. Inter-organization and inter-class tournaments keep the interest high and give every girl a chance to make a team and win points toward her athletic "A."

ARIZONA ALPHA.

CORRECTIVE GYMNASTICS

The University of Nevada is attempting to improve the health of its women students largely through its physical education department. All freshmen and sophomores are required to take gymnasium work three hours each week. Lectures are often substituted for the gymnasium work concerning the general hygiene and care of the body.

At the beginning of each semester a thorough physical examination is given to all freshmen and sophomore women students and all others wishing to be examined. A class in corrective gymnastics works with the purpose of correcting all minor physical posture defects.

NEVADA ALPHA.

VOLUNTARY TAX

The appointment of a dean of women who acts in a supervisory capacity has been a great help in promoting the various activities of the women students. Athletics in various forms have been encouraged and indications point to active participation in these activities during the coming year.

A women's rest room has been provided by the university.

A voluntary student tax of $10 provides for the furnishing of free medical attention during the whole college year to the student who may be unfortunate as far as health is concerned. This feature of the voluntary tax covers not only medical attention but hospital treatment as well for a period of two weeks.

OUTDOOR EXERCISES

Massachusetts A has as yet no definite health program. We have hitherto confined our health activities to a general interest in athletics. All of the girls are more or less interested in outdoor exercise as the best means of insuring good health. Some of the girls take long Saturday afternoon hikes out into the country; others are enthusiastic over basketball and tennis.

Several of the Boston Alumnæ are either doctors or doctors' wives. The chapter feels that with their coöperation it will be able to work up a very creditable health program for this year.

MASSACHUSETTS A.

HEALTH CARD

Last spring under the auspices of the Women's Athletic Association a health campaign was started. Each girl had a card which was filled out daily for two weeks. In it were such items as: bath, eight hours sleep, three meals, nothing to eat between meals, exercise, relaxation for at least ten minutes. Each of these items counted a point a day. Points were deducted for a headache or a cold. At the end of three months the girl who had the most points received a prize. This year the Council has voted to give a certain number of points to a girl who keeps this card four weeks with fifteen omissions. These points count toward a girl's class numerals.

A series of lectures is given the two lower classes by the dean of the Medical College in connection with the required gymnasium work.

NEWS FROM LITTLE PIGEON

EDITED BY SARAH POMEROY RUGG, Massachusetts A

From time to time we have recorded in these pages the development of various phases of work of our School, industrial, medical, social, all of which have left a decided impress on the community of Gatlinburg. It is a long time since we have devoted space to a discussion of the purely educational side of the work from the viewpoint of the schoolroom. Yet it is the oldest part of our entire settlement scheme and in the schoolroom life lies the greatest hope for the future. For this reason space in this issue is given over entirely to consideration of this topic and no one is so well able to discuss it as the highly successful principal of our Pi Beta Phi School.

TALES OF CLASSROOM AND PLAYGROUND

BY HELEN CHEW

To tell you that we have a five-roomed schoolhouse, 110 pupils enrolled, seven teachers, ten grades, with courses in cooking, sewing, weaving and shop work would hardly help you to recognize our school as an institution somewhat different from other schools of its class. And no doubt the same everyday trials and pleasures of all schoolrooms are experienced here, for boys and girls are alike the world over. But the little personalities of the children, developed through generations of isolation, give the school a character which is almost indefinable. It is through these little characteristics that you learn to know institutions as well as human life. It would take an able pen to bring our school to you in such a way, but adding this little glimpse of school life to the health work and farm activities about which you have been reading this year, you may be able to recognize the school as a whole in its vital relation to our community.

The influence of the school, and by that I mean every phase of activity included in the settlement, is not confined to the pupils or their families. When a situation requires the advice and support of the school, everyone is ready to take the responsibility, if expedient. The problem of the church house could not be solved without Miss Evelyn's advice and Mr. Mattil's aid in drawing the plans. Elections are held in the school yard, for which we supply chairs and tables. There is no other meeting place for public addresses and social gatherings, and now until the new church house is completed all services will be held at the schoolhouse. With all these the real life of the school is its pupils, their everyday activities and possibilities.

Tardiness and irregular attendance are two of the local problems. A glimpse of the roads, without the pleasure of traveling them, would be sufficient excuse for truancy, most of our friends would say, and indeed they are—but the temperamental slowness of the mountain boy transcends his desire for punctuality and even the brightest, driest days find stragglers at nine or even later.

One of the aims of education is to develop the ability to use those things nearest to hand. To find a use for the natural Tennessee rocks which adorn the school ground would tax the wisdom of many. A stone for every minute lost from school would hardly clear the field for action but the result will be evident in the foundation of some future building. Nothing has furnished more amusement and gained more permanent success than the rock pile in the far corner of the school yard. This may savor of the old galley idea, yet the motive and attitude of the offenders were quite to the contrary. The scheme worked splendidly as long as the culprits were little fellows (the authority of the teacher is still unimpaired), but it was with fear and trembling that the same sentence was pronounced on the big boys. After much deliberation they began the rock gathering, giving the impression of slipping away every minute. It was not until the time was up and they were safely out of the school yard that the outcome of the venture was assured.

The result of the discipline was soon very noticeable in our outdoor basketball court which was cleared in this way and ready for our first game, in fact the first game the players had ever seen. The interest in the game was high, their team work quite good, but the skill in throwing baskets still undeveloped. The rain had made the court very muddy and the new suits and bare knees soon gave evidence of insecure footing. Their faces glowed with the violent effort they were making. Never before had the boys moved with such speed and quickness. For once they were shaken out of their habitual deliberateness. It was not without its humorous touch. Several boys insisted upon wearing their caps which were frequently knocked off. Nothing prevented the owner from stopping the game to replace the lost article on his head. Even Mr. Denton's "Let the old cap go" couldn't move the owner. A score of 70-1 would have discouraged most boys but not ours and when the weather permits, they line up for daily practice.

The boys are taking another step forward this year by the organization of a Hi-Y.* With us such progress is very slow but two boys are going to the Conference of East Tennessee Hi-Y Clubs at Morristown which will no doubt broaden their vision of school life, its activities and possibilities. We hope they will bring home an inspiration for all the boys.

The girls have surpassed the boys in that phase of school life. Until this year the boys and girls have always had their literary society together, but the needs were so different that this year the experiment of dividing them has been tried. The success with the girls is very marked. Few high school girls of their age would show superior ability and poise in conducting a meeting to the two girls here who have served as presidents the first term. Their fear of appearing before an audience is gradually disappearing and their ability to plan programs was shown in the Christmas meeting. Every guest was presented with a spray of holly which they were requested to pin on. Every girl answered roll call with a seasonal verse or Bible text, and after the entire company had sung several carols a very delightful program was given, every number of which was executed by the girls, even to the piano accompaniment.

Last year the School gave The Birds' Christmas Carol, and this year we shall give Little Men. Nothing delights these mountain boys more than dramatic work. We hope to win first in the oratorical contest at Sevierville this year, as we did last year. We are handicapped a little in these activities as well as in athletics, since we are the only two-year high school that participates in these events. Even if we lose out in many meets now the time will come when we can enter on equal terms with the others, and our place will be assured us. The latent abilities and talent which these children show is remarkable, especially when their background of life is so void of those elements that develop taste and appreciation. We hope to make this attempt at girls' organization a part of the National Girls' Reserve Movement of the Y. W. C. A.

For some time the need of a suitable home for the boys who come to us from a distance has been most apparent, and for the first time that problem has been solved. At present three boys and Mr. Denton are living in the Creswell house on Burg Hill. Mrs. Ownby is installed as housekeeper. The boys are very happy to live so near for last term one walked twelve miles and the other sixteen miles each day. The third member of the family is handicapped by the loss of one leg and unless we could have cared for him here, school would have been impossible for him. There are many others who could come if we could take them. The only way we can take any more girls is by making use of the Huff Hotel. Unsatisfactory as that would be, it is the best and only solution at present. Mrs. Dowell and the family of six in the Mary Pollard Cottage is the extent of its capacity. These are some problems which every year become more acute.

This winter term sees the beginning again of the noon lunch served to the youngest children in school. This lunch consists usually of one warm dish, sometimes a bowl of soup, a baked potato, an egg or glass of milk with crackers which they add to what they have brought. They delight in sitting about the table in the basement, all saying their grace together before the meal and each taking turns acting as host and hostess when it is time to be excused. The time may come when the older ones also may have this privilege. Added to the value of warm food is the practice of preparing the meal, setting the table and the unconscious absorption of table manners, quite unknown in their own homes.

An interesting experiment has been made in the high school with the Thorndike-McCall intelligence tests which have been given to the New York City pupils, a test which ascertains the ability to obtain facts and ideas from the printed page. "The results show an evenness and similarity of intelligence, a homogeneity of the group strikingly in contrast to city groups of school children." These tests were graded by and the above criticism quoted from Miss Miller, the school chairman. One is often appalled at the ignorance in our advanced pupils of the simple facts which are required as a foundation for all educational progress. Yet when you remember that every fact they learn is through conscious effort, nothing is absorbed unconsciously through the years at home and outside associations, it is no wonder that London as the capital of England is as unfamiliar as Teheran in Persia, that California and Massachusetts are as foreign countries as France or Germany. High school pupils who have never seen a street car or a business block, railroad train or brick sidewalks have difficulty in forming concepts of the social, economic and political institutions of society. These tests were especially well-fitted for us because the pupils' knowledge of facts was of no consideration, only his ability to think.

Lest you receive the idea that the path of a mountain school-teacher is strewn with success at every turn, here are some of our difficulties and worries. In a number of homes, instead of making school life a serious business, there is a tendency on the part of the parents to humor their children in their notions. Then the teacher must make a series of visits to try to reconcile the sulking child without losing her position of dignity and authority as well as not antagonizing the family. The desire for an education is never great enough to rise above the usual schoolroom difficulties. Possibly three months later you will learn of the circumstance which led some pupil to walk out.

The attempt to hold a class together until their second year of high school is difficult. The present sophomore class was the eighth grade, of course, three years ago, and without the loss of a member it had reached its last year in our school. In October the first blow came when serious eye trouble prevented Lillian from continuing. Another loss came in December when Lona "stopped out" to complete her sister's term of teaching "up Baskins." An aunt required the services of a third during an illness. The removal of the Whaley family to a new farm upon which a great deal of work must be done, such as building and clearing land, took the oldest boy from school two-thirds of the time, leaving one boy to hold up the honor of the class.

Seldom does such misfortune befall a class in that way. Nine finished last year which was unusually good. The freshman class, though very young, some having commenced school when they were three, is a strong one. The eighth grade is weak, made up largely of stragglers who cannot possibly finish the work satisfactorily enough to enter high school. Some days there are two in the class, some days maybe seven, making progress very slow. Then again the seventh grade is a large class and a strong one that can very possibly progress normally a grade a year, especially if we have a nine months' school year. The sixth grade is another strong class as is also the fourth, but the fifth is made up largely of those pupils who never progress by merit of work, too old for the grade, too indifferent for effort. The high school is rather free from that type because such pupils rarely reach those grades before reaching the age at which they can drop out. However, there are very few boys of real school age out of school this year.

A class in agriculture for the boys and men not enrolled for regular school work will reach those who have outgrown the schoolroom. By and by some of these older ones will come strolling back and then the problem will be to find them a place, a task for which one must be equal in such a school as this. With the spring work season near at hand the difficulty of organized progress in some classes is increased for the children do the work, even the very littlest tots.

In spite of these discouragements each year brings us a little nearer to our goal. More children stay with us every year, parents feel the need and try to plan their work accordingly, and there is a greater desire on the part of the pupils themselves. Every year finds some of our pupils enrolled in other schools which can take them farther than we can. If we continue nine months this year, for the first time, it will be because of their wish. Our success cannot be measured by the facts stored away in their heads but by their awakened desire to learn and to seek after those things by which the next generation of mountain people will take a step forward. When we use this as our scale to measure success or failure the Pi Phi School need not be ashamed.

Very often one of our leading magazines tells the story of some mountaineer who has risen from his log cabin birthplace to a position of eminence in the professional or business world. No doubt the slumbering scientist can be discovered in the following dissertation on natural history which was delivered before an English class some weeks ago. It is published here for the edification of all readers.

WHY A TOAD HAS NO TAIL.

I think toads have no tails because they are hatched out of an egg, just like a chicken. They are raised in water and not in fields. A cow and horse need a tail to keep the flies off and protect their legs. Flies do not bother a toad so he needs no tail. If a toad had need for a tail it would have been put on him.

SETTLEMENT SCHOOL NOTES

Special attention is called to the Book Reviews in this issue where the notice of the volume Sergeant York and His People will be of interest to all readers who wish to increase their knowledge of mountain conditions.

The end of the fiscal year is approaching and all clubs and chapters are reminded that their contributions should be sent promptly in order to be credited on this year's books. Every year there is much burdensome and unnecessary correspondence for our hard-worked treasurer because of misunderstandings caused by delays which result in substantial sums failing to be credited in the fiscal year in which they were raised.

Mrs. Rugg is keeping a file of clippings of all reports of benefits or other meetings held in the interest of our work. Do not fail to send her a marked copy of any publication containing such references to our school.

Early in the history of our school, a leaflet containing a reading list on the southern mountaineers compiled by M. Alice Matthews was issued. Only one copy of this valuable leaflet is now in the possession of the Settlement School committee and there is need for other copies. Anyone having a copy of this leaflet in her possession will confer a favor if she will send it to Mrs. F. A. Rugg, 201 Davis Ave., Brookline, Mass.

PANHELLENIC

(News of Panhellenic events is always desired by the Editor of THE ARROW. Please do not hesitate to send such material at any time.)

The second annual Panhellenic luncheon was held in Boston, January 13. Nearly three hundred fraternity women were present representing the eighteen N. P. C. fraternities. Pi Beta Phi had the largest delegation of forty-nine members who represented fifteen chapters.

BOOK REVIEWS

Sergeant York and His People, by Sam K. Cowan. Funk and Wagnalls Company, publishers, 354-360 Fourth Ave., New York, N. Y. Price, $2.00 net.

So long as the human race endures, hero stories will be a part of the literature of all languages, and heroes' names will be emblazoned on the records of all nations. From the mountains of Tennessee, from a humble cabin home, came the man who did what Marshall Foch in decorating him said was "the greatest thing accomplished by any private soldier of all the armies in Europe." The author of Sergeant York and His People in describing the volume says: "It is but a story of the strength and simplicity of a man—a young man—whom the nation has honored for what he has done, with something in it of those who went before and left him as a legacy, the qualities of mind and heart that enabled him to fight his fight in the Forest of the Argonne."

It is the record of these ancestors, however, and of his contemporaries, friends and neighbors whose lives have influenced young York, which has special interest for Pi Phi readers, for the author pictures a community whose characteristics are similar in many respects to the one which we have made peculiarly our own through our Settlement School.

How truly the author understands these people and how sympathetically he portrays them may be suggested from the following paragraphs selected from his pages:

"So the mountaineer to-day is the transplanted colonist of the eighteenth century—he is the backwoodsman of the days of Andrew Jackson; but his life has the hospitality, the genuineness and simplicity of the pioneer. It has been said of the residents of the Cumberland Mountains that they are the purest Anglo-Saxons to be found to-day and not even England can produce so clear a strain. . . . They are Anglo-Saxons in their blood and their customs. They are Colonial Americans in their speech and credences.

"They know they are not ignorant, except as everyone is ignorant who lacks contacts with new customs and changes in world progress. They are fully cognizant of their lack of that knowledge which 'comes out of a book.' But, whatever their educational shortcomings, no one has ever laid at their door the charge of stupidity."

The book will repay the reader both as a story of a remarkable deed of valor and as a record of the characteristics of a body of our own people whose potential power for good in the development of our country is very great.

SARAH POMEROY RUGG (Mrs. F. A.), Massachusetts A.

A poem by Blanche Bane Kuder (Mrs.), Pennsylvania B, entitled "Reward," appeared in the Woman's Home Companion for September. A review of Mrs. Kuder's collection of poems entitled April Weather appears elsewhere in this issue.

"The 'Sigmas' of Denver" is the title of an article in a recent issue of the Sigma Chi Quarterly, by Lorena Accola Fitzell (Mrs. Grant R.), Colorado A.

"With the publication of The Young Wireless Operator—With the Oyster Fleet, Brother Lewis F. Theiss adds another volume to the boys' bookshelf; published by the W. A. Wilde Company, of Boston."—Phi Gamma Delta. Mr. Theiss is the husband of Mary Bartol Theiss, Pennsylvania B.

In the "History of Alpha Chi Omega," which is in the January number of Banta's Greek Exchange, Sarah Pomeroy Rugg (Mrs. F. A.), reviews the recent history of our sister organization.

A poem entitled "Arbutus," written by Mabel Balch, Vermont B, was recently published in The Vermonter.

"Why I Don't Buy There" is the title of an article written by Elsa Schlicht Conner (Mrs. James T), Ohio Γ, for the November number of System.

IN MEMORIAM

ROBERTS (Mrs. C. D.), LUCILE SMITH, Missouri Γ , died August 18, 1922, at the home of her aunt in Kansas City, Mo., following a brief illness. She was initiated into Missouri Γ in 1918, and attended Drury College for three years as an active member of various branches of college and fraternity life. In her sophomore year she was class secretary and the following year she held the office of recording secretary in her chapter of $\Pi B \Phi$.

Lucile's gift of music and her winning personality won for her many friends in Springfield as well as in her college. She specialized in home economics and had planned to become a dietetical nurse, when, in the fall of 1919 her fiancé returned from France and persuaded her to give up her studies. On April 28, 1920, she was married to Charles Dewayne Roberts, an ex-captain of the Marines, who won the Croix de Guerre and the Distinguished Service Cross as well as several honorable citations. They made their home in Kansas City for a while, but later moved back to Springfield, where Lucile became an active member of the alumnæ club. She was on the advisory board and had charge of rushing. Under her capable guidance the active chapter successfully added many new pledges.

Mr. Roberts was called to Kansas City for a few months this fall on account of business, and, while there, Lucile suddenly became ill, and, after four days, passed away. In losing her, the fraternity has lost an ardent worker, a loyal friend, and a true follower of the wine and silver blue. $\Pi B \Phi$ extends sincere sympathy to her husband and her parents.

KEMPTON (Mrs. C. H.), BERTHA MYERS, Michigan A, '98, one of our best beloved members, died at her home, Hillsdale, Mich., December 8, 1922.

Mrs. Kempton was actively interested in all work of uplift and culture in the city and college, and beautiful tribute is paid to the high standards and critical appreciation that marked her whole attitude toward life.

BLACKLEDGE (Mrs. Glen), EFFIE SILVUS, Ohio A, '18, died at Tucson, Ariz., of tuberculosis, December 15, 1922. She was initiated into Ohio A at Ohio University, February 27, 1915, and received her A.B. degree from that university in 1918. On June 24, 1921, she was married to Mr. Glen Blackledge.

STONE (Mrs. John E.), DALLAS LISLE, Ohio B, '99, died at her home, 387 West 8th Ave., Columbus, Ohio, January 7, 1923, of complications after an illness of several months. She was initiated into Ohio B, at Ohio State University, on November 5, 1895. She is survived by her husband and two daughters. She was a member of the Columbus Alumnae Club at the time of her death.

COON, ELSIE MAE, Illinois Δ, died November 26, 1922, at the Methodist Hospital in Peoria, Ill., after undergoing an operation for appendicitis.

After graduation from Knox College in 1917, Elsie taught in Grand Forks, N. D., where she acted as chaperon at the Pi Phi house. She also served as a member of their advisory board. She had just returned from a trip to Europe and had expected to spend a few months with her mother. To those who survive her we extend our loving sympathy.

NEWELL, DOROTHY, Washington A, '19, died at her home, 1831 7th Ave. W., Seattle, Wash., of inflammation of the lungs, December 11, 1922. She was initiated into Washington A, June 10, 1915, and attended the University of Washington for two years. At the time of her death she was a member of the Seattle Alumnae Club.

EDITORIALS

ON APRIL 28, PI BETA PHI will celebrate Founders' Day in recognition of the women who had a vision, who dreamed dreams for our fraternity and to whom we owe our existence. Wherever two or more Pi Phis are in the same locality they should meet and pay tribute to the women who in 1867 founded our organization at Monmouth College, Monmouth, Ill. Perhaps the most unique Founders' Day celebration held last year was in Chile. There in a foreign land with the sound of foreign tongues on every side, two Pi Beta Phis dined together in honor of the day. And although they dared not rise and sing Pi Phi songs they paid homage with their thoughts and memories. What are you planning to do this year?

AT PRESENT the widespread discussion among men's fraternities concerning the hiring of hostesses for fraternity houses is most gratifying. The discussion in itself shows that our young men are awake to the present-day tendency to disregard conventions and culture. From The Shield of Phi Kappa Psi we quote: "It has been the practice of the fraternities in many universities to employ a mature woman as matron of the house. There has been much discussion among fraternities as to the advisability of adopting such a plan, but the widespread distribution of this system would indicate that there is something worth while in it. There is no doubt that such a plan lends efficiency to the fraternity system and at the same time, places a chapter on a higher moral plane in a college community than would otherwise be the case. A tendency to neglect social conventions is rapidly developed when there is a lack of the restraining influence which makes the observance of these customs necessary." The entire discussion of this subject in The Shield is most commendable.

CHOOSING YOUR DELEGATE is one of the most important duties to be considered by your chapter. Your delegate will represent to the rest of the fraternity your chapter "type." Do not send a girl to convention simply because you feel she deserves the honor since someone else was elected president or received other recognition. Disregard personal feelings and choose the young woman whom you consider most representative of your group and who can also bring back the greatest amount of inspiration and national information to you. Send someone who is not afraid to rise on convention floor and present your problems and ideas; choose someone who is a quick thinker and who can make decisions wisely.

REVOLUTION in the matter of fraternity correspondence may be brought about within a short time by the radio. In any event it may serve to put chapters into close touch with each other and although no secret work can be broadcasted, fraternities may be able to work out an "air code" even for that purpose. On October 13-14, Pi Kappa Alpha broadcasted a radio program from the Atlanta Journal's station at Atlanta, Ga. The Georgia Tech and Emory chapters assisted by the fraternity's Grand Treasurer furnished an excellent program from station WSB and thereby received much national publicity. Such a mode of chapter intercourse may soon become a most powerful means of strengthening fraternal bonds.

IF YOU COME TO ESTES PARK for convention you will have the opportunity to meet not only Pi Phis but other fraternity women as well. Sigma Sigma Sigma is planning to hold its convention at the same time as Pi Beta Phi, and Zeta Tau Alpha will open its convention sessions on July 1.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Lucile Kile, Illinois Z, 1005 South Wright St., Champaign, Ill., has been appointed exchange editor for $\Pi B \Phi$ for Banta's Greek Exchange, to succeed Alice Barndt, resigned.

Attention is called to the fact that lines 30, 31, p. 100 of the October, 1922, ARROW do not belong to that page, so should be disregarded.

The Pi Phi Mothers' or Patroness' pin has just been placed on the market by our official jeweler, L. G. Balfour, and sells for $1.25 and $3.50, plus tax. The monogram pin or fob for husbands, brothers, and fiancés is also ready for sale. Consult the Balfour advertisements in the back of this issue.

The Senior Farewell Ceremony adopted by Pi Beta Phi last year is a required service, just the same as the pledging or initiation ceremonies.

Mrs. Rugg wishes to thank all those who so kindly answered her request for missing copies of THE ARROW to complete her private files.

Massachusetts A, situated in the heart of the student section of Boston, has a three-room kitchenette suite which is available for sub-rental during the summer months. It is admirably located for the use of students who plan for summer school work, or for the use of a small family who may desire to make Boston the center of summer sightseeing. Inquiries may be addressed to Mrs. Walter I. Chapman, 18 Central St., Somerville, Mass.

Students who are considering studying in Boston next year and would like to make their home in the city at the Pi Beta Phi Suite are urged to write to Mrs. Walter I. Chapman, 18 Central St., Somerville, Mass.

An account of the Alpha Province house-party held last summer will appear in the June issue of THE ARROW. No information concerning this Pi Phi gathering was sent to the Editor and she did not learn of the event until plans for the March ARROW had been completed. The Editor would appreciate it if in the future each province gathering would appoint someone to report Province House-parties so that proper recognition may be given them in our official magazine.

Pi Beta Phi is one of the organizations mentioned in the new Sigma Chi fox trot called: "My Blue and Gold Girls." Harold Weeks, who wrote "Hindustan," "Chong," "Fuzzy Wuzzy Bird," and other big hits, produced the music, and Chester W. Cleveland, editor of the Sigma Chi Quarterly, wrote the words.

NORTH CAROLINA ALUMNÆ CLUB

Another alumnæ club has been added to our already rapidly increasing number: the North Carolina Alumnæ Club of Pi Beta Phi. The organization of the club is directly due to the efforts of Millicent Perkins Lawrence (Mrs. A. S.), New York B, and Jane White Comer (Mrs. Harry F.), Texas A, who planned a week-end party last May for all Pi Phis in North Carolina. This meeting held at Chapel Hill was attended by Pauline Turnbull, then province president, Rose Nowell, Florida B, and Elizabeth N. Weaver, Arkansas A, in addition to the North Carolina Pi Phis who represented chapters from Ontario A to Texas A and from Florida B to Oregon B.

This new club, which was chartered in the fall, is actively in touch with the petitioning group and its patronesses at Chapel Hill and until the status of the group is determined will hold all of its meetings at that place.

CHAPTER LETTERS

EDITED BY MABEL SCOTT BROWN, Maryland A, '07

ALPHA PROVINCE

ONTARIO ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO

(Chartered December 11, 1908)

Pledge Day—November 13, 1922

On November 13, membership campaign ended with the pledging of seven lovely girls. Another freshman has since been added to their number, and they are all studying hard in preparation for initiation in February. The chapter is also eagerly anticipating the initiation banquet and dance which will take place soon after.

MABEL SCOTT BROWN

Just before Christmas, the chapter held a small tea-dance at the rooms, making $15 for the student conference fund.

The birthday celebration took the form of a cooky-shine with the alumnae, who presented a much appreciated gift of dishes and cutlery. Shortly after Christmas the active chapter joined the alumnae in a most enjoyable bridge party in aid of the Settlement School.

During the Christmas holidays, the first national conference of Canadian students was held in Toronto. Outstanding authorities addressed the conference on various problems, followed by lively and interesting discussion by the delegates. Among the speakers were His Excellency Lord Byng, Hon. E. C. Drury, Senator Belcourt, Hon. N. W. Rowell, Professor Aggrey of India, and John R. Mott of the World Student Christian Federation.

Building operations have been commenced on the university war memorial tower, the new Trinity College building, and the administration building. The latter will house the administrative offices of the university, and leave to U. C. once more the dignity of a separate college instead of its present ignominy as the "Main Building." The new women's union is open now too, and is a very useful as well as much needed adjunct to the college.

The hockey and basketball seasons are in full swing. A number of II B Φ members are trying for the teams which will play in the inter-collegiate series at McGill late in February. Indoor baseball, too, is becoming very popular among the women students, and has quite won the affections of the seniors. Still others are practicing for the swimming meet.

MARGARETTA SPENCE.

MAINE ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF MAINE

(Chartered 1920)

Pledge Day—November 27, 1922

With the huge realization of mid-year examinations ahead, scholarship is the password and goal of actives and pledges alike, who are just plain "plugging."

Since the last chapter letter, Maine A has two pledges to introduce: Margaret Boothby, Gorham, Me.; and Elizabeth Laughlin, Portland, Me.

Early in the fall, a visit from Mrs. Nickerson was greatly enjoyed by the chapter, which surely derived great inspiration to gain the best only for our beloved fraternity.

Before leaving college for Christmas holidays, the active girls were greatly surprised and pleased with a portable Corona from the alumnae. Just what was needed!

At present the university campus is fit for a model of Whittier's "Snow-bound," a true fairyland in its snowy blanket and winter attire. But everywhere is the evidence of a festival, after examinations. The second winter carnival for the university will be a great affair. Preparations are being made to make this even a greater success than the one last year, with skiing, snowshoeing, skating, and various other activities, including a masquerade ball.

The annual initiation banquet and dance is to be held the week-end of February 16, and for this enthusiastic plans are being made. The chapter is expecting a great homecoming.

The first dean of women of the university takes up her duties of office next semester. It is with great pleasure that the women of Maine are looking forward to having a true friend in Dr. Caroline Colvin. Dean Colvin has been for many years connected with the university, and was the first woman to occupy a place on the faculty.

The alumni are putting on a drive for an endowment fund with which the new students' hall is to be started in June. This is to contain an armory and gymnasium as well as an auditorium.

"Convention at Estes Park in June!"—was not this on every Pi Phi's lips after reading the December ARROW?

Pledge Day—November 20, 1922

Vermont A was very successful in the membership campaign this year. Eight freshmen and three upperclassmen were pledged on November 20. They are: Phyllis Crane, '25, San Diego, Cal.; Dorothy Johnson, '25, Newburyport, Mass.; Christina Tasker, '25, Wakefield, Mass.; Madeline Dunn, '26, Swanton, Vt.; Eleanor Frost, '26, Amherst, Mass.; Elizabeth Howard, '26, East Northfield, Mass.; Mary Moore, '26, Canastota, N. Y.; Ruth and Margaret Sturtevant, '26, Florence, N. Y.; Mable Thornly, '26, East Providence, R. I.; and Beatrice Winch, '26, Concord, N. H.

Barbara Stilphen, '23, has been elected secretary and treasurer of the dramatic club. Ruth Cowles, '24, has been elected president of the home economics club. Marjory Winter, '25, is secretary of the social committee of the Y. W. C. A. Martha Bolton, '23, student government president, was sent as delegate to the student government convention at Randolph-Macon, Lynchburg, Va. A pledge, Elizabeth Howard, '26, is captain of freshman hockey.

The largest affair held just before Christmas was the Y. W. C. A. annual bazaar. The gymnasium was effectively decorated with evergreen to carry out the Christmas idea. All the booths were very popular. A side-show was a great feature of the evening which was added to by an entertainment of singing and dancing. Frances Caswell, '23, had entire charge of the bazaar. Helen Lingham, '24, had charge of arts and crafts, and Ann Wilkinson, '24, had charge of candy.

The new home economics practice house is progressing rapidly. Interest is growing and a new shift will enter in February. The house has just given a successful formal tea and is to give several formal dinners. The $\Pi B \Phi$ girls living in the house enjoy the experience and find it of great value.

After a very successful party and tea, Vermont B chose nine splendid girls to wear the arrow: Frances Burditt, Pittsford, Vt.; Helen Cushman, Proctorsville, Vt.; Miriam Dailey, N. Troy, Vt.; Ruth Frost, Middletown Springs, Vt.; Grace Killam, Burlington, Vt.; Florence Lewis, Poultney, Vt.; Lois Martin, Essex Junction, Vt.; Grace Norton, Bristol, Vt.; Marian Symonds, Waban, Mass. Before the pledging ceremony the active girls entertained the pledges at a luncheon at the Hotel Vermont.

Following the Thanksgiving recess, the actives entertained the mothers' club, alumnae, and patronesses at an informal party at the rooms. The freshmen presented several original stunts and a $\Pi \Phi$ chronicle was read.

Vermont B is happy to announce a new patroness, Mrs. D. F. Pollard of Burlington, Vt. She is an aunt of one of the active girls and has always shown an active interest in $\Pi B \Phi$.

Basketball season has started successfully for Vermont since only one of the seven games already played has been lost. Vermont hopes to win the state championship in basketball, as it did in the fall in football.

On February 22-23 the annual Kake Walk will be presented. This is a unique feature of the college year. Each fraternity puts on a stunt and also "Walks fo' de kake." A winter carnival is held at the same time.

A practice house has just been remodeled for the home economics department. After mid-years two juniors, two seniors, and one sophomore will live there for a week. They will have charge of the marketing, cooking, and planning of meals, and the care of the house. One will act as hostess and one will be maid.

Vermont B is planning for convention and is sure that the necessary tax will be more than repaid in the inspiration and benefits derived from the convention.

Harriet May Davis, '23, Poland, Ohio

Beatrice Stearns, '24, Fredonia, N. Y.

With New Year resolutions, six promising pledges, beautiful snowy weather, and more rigid scholarship standards to stimulate the chapter, Massachusetts A is determined to make semester examinations successful.

The chapter held a very successful informal Christmas dance in a college hall to which were invited other women's fraternities. In addition to the good time this yielded twenty dollars.

The Christmas cooky-shine was a real $\Pi \Phi$ time with plenty of fun and good spirit from Santa Claus to the alumnae. The chapter was glad to have Mrs. Rugg and Mrs. Nickerson with it.

The alumnae held their annual health meeting at the home of Mrs. Chandler on January 6. Several active girls who attended are very enthusiastic about the meeting. On January 14 Mrs. Nickerson spoke to the liberal arts fraternities on college loyalty. The chapter feels it indeed an honor that a $\Pi \Phi$ should be the first to address the Panhellenic open meetings.

Last year $\Pi B \Phi$ had the largest representation of any fraternity at the first Boston Panhellenic luncheon, so it is sending three delegates this year, as a "starter" to the luncheon at the Brunswick, January 14.

The chapter is enthusiastic about convention and hopes to gain much from interchange of ideas with other chapters.

Before the Christmas recess the annual party was given to a group of lively orphans, followed by a Christmas tree for the chapter. The house was presented with attractive brass andirons from Ye Pledges.

$\Pi B \Phi$ has in university activities three members on small board of W. S. G. A.; secretary of Y. W. C. A.; associate editor of the Orange; women's editor and associate of the Onondagan; one member of H Π Υ , women's honorary society; Ruth Barker, '23, Helen Van Vleet, '24, Geraldine Ridings, '25, and Dorothy Nelson, '26, on their respective executive committees; Bernice Bohlman, '24, and Geraldine Ridings, '25, members of the rifle club; Lois Lawrence, '26, captain of track and a member of her class basketball squad. Marjorie Green, '25, and Geraldine Ridings, '25, are two of six to appear in the sophomore speaking contest which is held in February.

Pearl Metzger and Alta Williams were chosen in fall elections as class vice-presidents of the senior and freshmen classes respectively. Dorothy Coleman, '24, accompanied the president of W. S. G. A. to a convention held at Randolph-Macon on November 20, 1922.

Dorothy Manwarren, '22, was honored with $\Phi K \Phi$ last June. Elections were held late and as she is a graduate now, her name was overlooked in the December letter.

During the fall months the Syracuse alumnae club gave a bridge party for the Settlement School; Chancellor and Mrs. Flint were guests at dinner; and a tea was given for the new chaperon.

Chancellor Flint's formal inauguration took place November 17, 1922. Many noted men were present and the inaugural events were joyfully closed with a victory over Colgate in the traditional combat. An all-university affair, known as Bill's Barn Party, was staged at the university farm on Hallowe'en. The latest addition to the campus is a toboggan slide and an enclosed skating rink.

Senior ball is planned for January 30, a gala event that every Syracusan considers a fitting close to the semester.

The members and pledges of New York Γ have returned from the Christmas holidays with new plans and with renewed energy to meet the approaching final examinations. The chapter has the coöperation of Hester Cushing, the new pledge.

The varsity basketball team has shown the results of hard practice by winning three of the five games thus far played. The women's basketball team as yet has played no games, but the manager is arranging a schedule.

In the late fall elections on the hill, $\Pi B \Phi$ was well represented. Ruth Herzig, '24, was elected vice-president of the new radio club, and Alice White, '24, was elected secretary of the new chemistry club, and vice-president of Mummies, the dramatic association. Three $\Pi B \Phi$ girls, Marion Cater, Beatrice Matteson, and Evelyn Harding, have parts in Charley's Aunt, the university mid-winter play, and have also been elected to Mummies.

Lillian Eddy, Beatrice Matteson, and Ruth Moir have been working on committees for the sophomore hop, which is to be held February 2.

But better than all of this, the chapter led the college in scholarship again last semester.

Before the Christmas holidays the chapter entertained the non-fraternity women at a Christmas party. The formal house-party was also a Christmas party, and the decorations were suggestive of the Christmas season. The girls enjoyed too, going on the annual Christmas serenade, at which they sang only Christmas carols.

One of the patronesses, "Aunt Julie," and the chaperon, Mrs. Walker, had the dining-room redecorated for the chapter as a Christmas gift, and all are delighted with it.

The varsity football season was most successful. The team, as last season, won every game. For two consecutive years Cornell has defeated its old rival, Pennsylvania, and so has evened up the score a little. All loyal Cornellians are hoping for an equally successful basketball season.

The chapter had the pleasure of having Sophie Woodman as a guest for Thanksgiving. She inspired the girls to make even greater efforts toward attaining the ideals of $\Pi B \Phi$.

A number of the girls have been engaged in university activities. Edith Klenke and Eleanor Gage do work on the Cornell Daily Sun. Grace West had a leading rôle in Androcles and the Lion, which was presented by the women's dramatic club; Helen Schreiner, Mary Smith, Beatrice Ecks, and Eleanor Gage are active members of the club. Beatrice Ecks had charge of the costumes for the festival of the Cosmopolitan Club, and has been appointed coach for the freshman play. Grace West has been elected to $\Phi K \Phi$.

Shortly after examinations New York Δ is planning, with the help of the alumnae, to give a benefit bridge party for the Settlement School.

New York Δ is putting forth every effort to further the ideals and purposes of her Alma Mater.

Pledge Day—November 6, 1922

On November 6, the pledge day appointed by Panhellenic Council, Pennsylvania A pledged nine girls. They are: Anna Engle, '25; Anne Gaumer, '26; Elizabeth Huey, '26; Elizabeth Lewis, '26; Catherine Mather, '26; Marjorie Mode, '26; Frances Pace, '26; Emilie Spear, '26; Katherine Turner, '26.

The last meeting of Pennsylvania A before Christmas vacation was like a premature New Year's resolutions meeting. The girls decided to devote themselves to making the meeting as inspiring as possible instead of allowing it to degenerate into mere form. All are hoping that this renewal of $\Pi B \Phi$ spirit continues the whole year of 1923.

Swarthmore has just recently had a visit from two foreign students who are making a tour of the United States. Both Antonine Palecek of the University of Prague, and William Robson of the University of London talked in the Forum and in Polity Club on the European youth movement.

The English club is planning to have a series of lectures given in the college during the spring term. Possible speakers are William Lyon Phelps, Vachel Lindsay, and Charles Lomax, the cowboy poet. The club is also at present producing As You Like It for their yearly Shakespearean play.

Recently a chapter of $\Sigma \Xi$, national honorary society for scientific research, has been installed at Swarthmore. It is quite an honor, for very few colleges of this size have chapters.

Pledge Day—December 9, 1922

This year, at last, local Panhellenic council decided on a pledge day in mid-December. The chapter took thirteen new girls, three of whom are sophomores, transferred from other colleges. The day the new girls are invited into membership is required by Panhellenic to be very quiet, so no great demonstration took place. However, the girls spent the afternoon at the home of Natalie Musser, rejoicing in friendships now freed from restraint. Shortly afterwards the pledges were introduced to the joys of regular $\Pi \Phi$ cooky-shine; and later, at the open meeting of the chapter, learned something of the aims and ideals of the fraternity.

On the night before Christmas vacation the active chapter gave a formal dance in honor of the new girls, in the $\Phi \Kappa \Psi$ fraternity house.

Pennsylvania B sent its annual Christmas box to the Settlement School early in December, and for a week previous to the date set for sending it the chapter room resembled Santa's workshop, with dolls, drums, books, and games scattered about in profusion.

On November 14, 1922, the alumnae and patronesses of Pennsylvania B entertained the active chapter at a tea, given in honor of Mrs. Emory W. Hunt, a new $\Pi \B \Phi$ patroness, at the home of Mrs. Howard Leiser.

Bucknell University suffered a great and irreparable loss in the death of Dean Llewellyn Phillips on January 9, 1923. The sympathy of the chapter goes out to his wife, Mrs. Jennie Davis Phillips, a member of Pennsylvania B chapter.

Pennsylvania Γ announces the pledging of the following girls: Lucinda Brought, Ruth Chambers, La Rue Gresse, Margaret Gresse, Anna Hoyer, Florence Leubert, Anna Shellenberger, Sarah Sigmund, Reba Skyles, and Isabel Ward. The chapter is very happy to have ten such attractive pledges who are already filled with enthusiasm for $\Pi B \Phi$.

A Christmas party held at the fraternity rooms afforded an opportunity for chapter and pledges to become better acquainted.

Pennsylvania Γ is working hard for the Settlement School, and has already raised ninety-five dollars from a Christmas bazaar.

Members of the chapter are interested and active in every organization on the campus. Elizabeth Filler is president of the athletic association; Elizabeth Armstrong, president of the day students; Helen Conklin, vice-president of the W. S. G. A.; Helen Shaub, head proctor of the house; Mary Chambers, vice-president of the Y. W. C. A.; Katherine Stevenson on the editorial board of the junior yearbook. There are four Pi Phis on the Y. W. cabinet, four on the women's senate, four cast for parts with the Dickinson Players, two on the basketball team, and two on the college mixed octet.

The chapter feels that much of its success this year is due to its alumnae. One of the most pleasant events of the year was the progressive dinner given to the active chapter by the town alumnae.

Dickinson College won her million and a quarter endowment campaign. Four Pi Phis were members of the executive committee which managed the campus drive. Among other interesting college events was the faculty dinner given to the students following the winning of the campaign, and the all-college night just before Christmas vacation.

The chapter is now thinking and talking convention. Pennsylvania Γ wishes to coöperate with the other chapters to make this the best convention that has ever been held.

GRADUATE

Marian Reagan, A.B., 1401 N. Highland Ave., Pittsburgh, Pa.

The University of Pittsburgh closed a most successful football season with a decisive victory over Leland Stanford University, on December 30, and has turned its attention to basketball. The season started most auspiciously, Pitt's team winning the opening game with Syracuse University.

The night before Christmas vacation the chapter pledged five splendid girls. They are: Doris Lindbom, Dorothea Lucas, Margaret McConohey, Elizabeth Webster, and Jane Zacharias. The membership campaign was especially strenuous this year. The alumnae coöperated with the active chapter, giving several parties for the prospective members.

The chapter with the assistance of the alumnae, has just rented a three room apartment, 4329 Dakota St., on Schenley Heights, overlooking the entire residence section of Pittsburgh. Compared with the former room, it seems almost palatial and it really will be very attractive when it is ready for use. Immediate preparations have been made for the furnishing of the house, for which the alumnae are planning a shower on January 20.

Members of $\Pi B \Phi$ at Pitt are taking an active part on the campus. Bertha Prichard has been elected vice-president of the senior girls, Ruth Trimble has been appointed sophomore editor of the junior Ozol, and Eleanor Matthews has been initiated into $\Sigma K \Phi$, the honorary foreign language fraternity. Other girls are serving on committees for the Y. W. C. A. and W. A. A. $\Pi B \Phi$ is particularly enthusiastic about entering the women's inter-fraternity basketball league.

The chapter is preparing to cooperate with the alumnae in the annual bridge party for the benefit of the Settlement School.

Pledge Day—September 29, 1922

During the football season the $\Pi B \Phi$ girls sold home-made candy, popcorn, and sandwiches at the games, and profited by the sales enough to meet some local expenses. Just before Thanksgiving vacation, a benefit bridge party for the Settlement School was given, at which \$48 was made.

The largest social function of the year was the formal dance given at the Armory on December 9, at which time many alumnae returned, and seven girls from Ohio B were guests. The hall was beautifully decorated with pastel shades of crepe paper which hung in shower effect from the ceiling, and along the walls. On each side of the hall were console tables bearing doll lamps whose lights were reflected in the mirrors above the tables. In the center of the floor stood a huge doll lamp dressed in rose crepe colonial costume.

Always before the Christmas holidays the chapter has a Christmas party. This year it was held in the fraternity hall, and the only lights were those on the Christmas tree, and the candles from the cooky-shine. Instead of a grab-bag, each girl drew a name, and purchased a gift suitable for the one whose name she drew. After $\Pi B \Phi$ songs had been sung, the gifts about the tree were distributed.

One of the main features of the fall term is the doll show given in the gymnasium under the auspices of the young women's league. The girls of the university dress dolls for poor children in the neighborhood, and a prize is awarded for the best-dressed doll. This year two skits were given, one in the afternoon, and another in the evening, and the various booths attracted much attention.

A late addition to the university is the men's new gymnasium which is now being erected. When it is completed there will be accommodations for new classes.

Pledge Day—October 5, 1922

In December the chapter had a Christmas party to which all the active girls and pledges came with a small gift for another member and a gift for the Settlement School. They packed a large box and sent it down to Gatlinburg. The pledges gave a beautiful gift of flat silver for the house.

Woman's council held a Christmas bazaar in the new girls' gymnasium. They made about eight hundred dollars for their student loan fund. There was dancing and a tea room and each fraternity had a booth, for which they furnished the wares and which they decorated in as original a fashion as possible. The $\Pi B \Phi$ booth represented a powder box and the girls sold fancy powder puffs which had been made at a party given by Margaret Arnold, a pledge.

Ohio B held a large semi-formal dance at the Elks' Country Club in December, and has had several small house dances. The junior prom is to be given January 26 in the new gymnasium.

Five of the chapter were guests at the Ohio formal dance December 9. They enjoyed their visit in Athens greatly.

Pledge Day—October 4, 1922

In December the dramatic club scored a big success when it presented Come Out of the Kitchen. Evelyn Dowling, a $\Pi B \Phi$ pledge, took the leading part.

At present the interest of all women's fraternities is centered on the revision of the Panhellenic constitution. A tentative plan for a proposed constitution has been worked out, and submitted to all the fraternities for discussion and vote.

The West Virginia University gridders were selected as one of the three representative eastern teams, and played Gonzaga University at San Diego, Cal., on Christmas day. This was a wonderful trip for the boys and a victory at the end made a perfect Christmas present.

Much interest is being manifested in the inter-fraternity basketball tournament. There are five women's fraternities on the campus, and a silver loving cup is offered by the women's athletic council to the team winning the largest number of games.

Laurel, a women's honorary organization, is making elaborate preparations for its annual student night to be held in April. At this time, every student on the campus will be given an opportunity to show what he can do in a literary, musical, or dramatic way.

Among the pleasant events which took place during the fall semester was the Panhellenic tea given by B T chapter of $K K \Gamma$ in honor of Miss Rosalie B. Geer, the editor of the Kappa Key.

The formal semester dance was held January 12. The chapter was glad to have so many alumnæ present.

West Virginia A is anticipating one of the biggest and best-ever years, and hopes the year of 1923 holds an abundance of good things for all wearers of the arrow.

Maryland A has instituted a new plan of entertaining her friends at teas to be given on the second and fourth Wednesdays of the month. The first of these was given in honor of the alumnæ immediately after the campaign for membership. The chapter was glad to have the alumnæ present at the first really intimate gathering with the pledges.

Panhellenic has been very greatly concerned about the position of fraternities in Goucher which seemed to be particularly dangerous this year. Mrs. Younger, national traveling delegate of I Φ B, came to Goucher to analyze the situation and advise her chapter here. She met Panhellenic and discussed the matter with it. Panhellenic was glad to hear that she feels that conditions have improved decidedly since a visit for a similar purpose five years ago. Her little talk was greatly appreciated.

Many members were busy during the holidays earning their pledges to the Greater Goucher campaign for $6,000,000. Several successful dances and card parties were given by chapter members and alumnæ. In addition the chapter has been raising money for the Settlement School by selling Christmas cards and stationery.

Initiation will take place on February 23. It will be followed by the annual mid-winter house-party which will again be at Country Club Inn, Bellair, Md. Many alumnæ are planning to come back for it.

Pledge Day—February 23, 1923

As pledge day is late this year, Columbia A is not able yet to give the names of the freshmen.

Just before Christmas vacation the chapter had a tacky party in the rooms for freshmen. The girls came dressed in tacky clothes and played games appropriate for the occasion. Popcorn balls, hot chocolate, sandwiches and candies were served. Each freshman received a favor of a little doll dressed in wine and blue. On January 30 Columbia A is having a tea for freshmen and their mothers. For the final party before pledge day the alumnæ are giving a luncheon at the Lafayette Hotel. Their plans sound most interesting.

At the last meeting Mrs. Compton, president of the Washington alumnae club, told of a Settlement School meeting to be held at the Church of the Covenant here on February 6. The purpose of the meeting is to tell by the use of tableaux and pictures what the Settlement School has meant, and is going to mean to the Tennessee mountain people in the future. The chapter girls are to open the meeting by singing $\Pi \Phi$ songs and represent the chapter in the tableaux. The whole meeting will be radioed and Columbia A⁷ hopes some of its far off sisters will hear the anthem by radio.

Rebekah Burks, '25, Bedford City, Va.

Lois Quattlebaum, '25, Columbus, S. C.

Elsie Ribble, '23, Petersburg, Va.

The fall semester of this college year has been a successful one for Virginia A. The plan of having a six weeks' membership campaign, just initiated by the local Panhellenic this year, has worked out unusually well. Thirteen girls have promised Virginia A to become pledged members of $\Pi B \Phi$. They are: Minta Bond, Martha Cardwell, Elizabeth Caywood, Lucile Caywood, Marie Hopson, Margaret Lowe, Mary McCelvey, Anne Prewitt, Eleanor Rathbun; Louise Roberson, Kathleen Williams, Mary Wilson, and Nellie Wilson. They will be pledged the last of February, after twelve hours of work have been passed.

This increase in the amount of work to be passed before pledging has caused the mid-year examinations to be more dreaded among the freshmen than ever before. But the fact that the strain and worry of the membership campaign is over will greatly influence the scholarship of the freshmen as well as the old girls. An effort is being made by the Panhellenic association to raise the scholarship among the freshmen. A cup has been offered to the freshman, of all those promised to any fraternity, who makes the highest average on the first semester's work. And $\Pi \Phi$'s hopes are high!

This fall Randolph-Macon has had several splendid lecturers, Dr. Alphonso Smith, Dr. Kuno Francke, and Dr. Thomas Williams. The exhibits of the college art association have also been remarkably fine. The first exhibit was a collection of beautiful miniatures. This was followed by an exhibit of paintings, among which there were six by Sargent.

Soon after mid-term examinations comes the triangular debate between Agnes Scott, Sophie Newcomb, and Randolph-Macon. $\Pi \Phi$ is represented on the college debating team by Mary Love Green.

Plans are already being made for convention and Virginia A is expecting to be well represented.

Virginia B has had the great pleasure of meeting and entertaining the new Province President, Mrs. Brinkley. All were charmed by her sympathetic and inspiring interest in Virginia B. It will be no effort but rather an incentive to coöperate with one so devoted to the ideals of $\Pi \Phi$.

Before Christmas the chapter pledged Ruth Pollard, Bismark, N. D., whose mother is also a $\Pi \Phi$, Wisconsin A. Lucy Poulnot has been elected president of the freshman class and Ruth Pollard vice-president. Two of the pledges made the class hockey team and the active members were well represented on the various teams. Elizabeth Clack, '24, a most enthusiastic athlete, has received her "H" and is now a member of the Monogram Club. She has been on the blue basketball team for three consecutive years and also played on the even hockey team this year. The hockey cup was awarded to the odd team, of which Rosalie Weill, '25, is captain.

Judith Rhoads, ex-'24, has given the chapter a dozen silver spoons which are greatly appreciated.

As usual the girls had a very enjoyable Christmas party before vacation and were all highly amused by the clever individual gifts.

Under the auspices of the dramatic association, of which Louise Huger, '23, is president, a drive has been launched for a Little Theater fund. $\Pi \Phi$ is doing its utmost to raise the desired amount.

Elizabeth Clack, '24, and Ann Milton, '24, have become members of the honorary organization of Freya.

Not only Virginia B but all Hollins feels deeply the loss of "Tucker" (Constance Echols, '22), so dearly loved by all the chapter and so admired and respected by the entire college.

Florida A closed its membership campaign with an informal boat trip on the St. Johns River, culminating in a bacon bat at the Tomlinson Fernery. The guests on this occasion were the ten girls pledged on October 23. These represent several sections of the country: Evelyn Ashby, Lakeland, Fla.; Burnis Campbell, Oberlin, Kan.; Annette Emrich, Casey, Ill.; Violet Ever-sole, Lexington, Ky.; Constance Freeman, Evanston, Ill.; Mary Markey, Dayton, Ohio; Lillian Park, Miami, Fla.; Rebekah Stewart. Frances Wade, Ruth Wade, DeLand, Fla. The alumnae entertained the chapter on pledge day with a formal cooky-shine in honor of the pledges. The new girls are already adding strength to the chapter by entering into student activities. Florida A regrets the recent loss of one of her pledges, Constance Freeman, who left college on account of illness.

Having received the annual Panhellenic cup for the highest scholarship average in the university last year, the members of Florida A are striving this year again to lead the college in this respect.

Stetson University was one of the fourteen institutions to be admitted to the national athletic association this winter. The football score was above the average in the university last year, the members of Florida A are striving championship now, and stand first in the list of schools contending this year.

The conservatory of music has been reorganized, having a new director and practically a new faculty. Mr. Duckwitz of New York, the new director, studied in Leipsig and Munich, Germany, and has taught in Toledo and Rochester. The glee clubs gave a Christmas cantata and are now working on a concert, opera, and a minstrel show to be given not only in DeLand but in Daytona and other Florida cities.

Stetson University and Florida A are having a truly successful year and the chapter is anticipating convention at Estes Park next summer.

Pledge Day—Second Monday after matriculation

With this New Year the chapter renews its firm determination for the very best of grades and has taken this measure of precaution. Each study night the girls who have failed to make an average of 85 per cent on the quarter's work are required to be in their rooms or in the library studying. In this way the chapter hopes to raise its average so that it may win the Panhellenic scholarship cup.

The pledges gave the chapter a lovely dinner party at the Cherokee Tea House December 1. This was quite an innovation from the customary spread.

The chapter is planning for initiation of its pledges in February. Several girls have assumed new campus responsibilities. Reita Chambers is president of the tennis club, Miriam Connor, vice-president; Myrtis Tureman, treasurer of classical club, and on the board of managers of the Flambeau: Edith Power, secretary of classical club, and student government representative. Two $\Pi B \Phi$ girls were on the even basketball team, and one a teacher of a freshman bible class.

Emory Glee Club of Atlanta, Ga., gave an excellent concert here on January 8. On their tour this year they played in many of the Southern states and Havana, Cuba.

Among the several faculty recitals which have been given recently the chapter enjoyed Miss Meek's presentation of Quality Street. Interest is steadily increasing in the expression department here and the college is anticipating a national dramatic fraternity in the near future.

Helen Gallup, '24, Bellevue, Ohio.

Edith Gutzzeit, '25, 4303 Euclid Ave. West, Detroit, Mich.

Michigan A pledged eleven lovely girls the night before Christmas vacation. They are: Vera Bowersox, Gladys Clark, Hillsdale, Mich.; Alice and Alma Dusenberry, Edith Hatch, Conneaut, Ohio; Eleanor Gillette, Toledo, Ohio; Joyce Godfrey, Jonesville, Mich.; Ruth Hill, Collon, Mich.; Donna Kelley, Saginaw, Mich.; Phyllis Myers, Roselle, N. J.; Bernadine Rice, Sodus, N. Y. After the pledging ceremony dinner was served to the actives and pledges, alumnae, patronesses, and other guests, and all joined in a celebration around the beautiful big Christmas tree. The girls drew names and exchanged small gifts, and all participated in a Christmas shower for the house.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion E. Hall (Marjorie Whitney), who are home on a furlough, gave a program on Japan before the women's club of Hillsdale, January 8, for the benefit of the student loan fund which the club maintains for the young women of the college.

Several interesting events are coming in the near future. The dramatic club of the college will present The Cassilus Engagement, January 15. Plans are already being laid for the annual Washington Banquet which is one of the most important social events of the year at Hillsdale. The managers of the banquet this year are two members of the chapter.

The chapter conducted a sale of baskets for the Settlement School before the Christmas vacation. Michigan A opened the serenading season on the campus by giving a serenade the night before the Thanksgiving recess. It is planning a formal dance to be given between semesters.

The chapter has enjoyed having with it Ellen Burns of Indiana A, who frequently visits the home of President Spencer. Mrs. Spencer is Miss Burns' sister.

The province president, Mrs. Edith Rhoades Spiegel, is coming to visit January 15, and the girls are anticipating her visit with much pleasure.

Pledge Day—October 1, 1922

The football season in which Michigan has been so successful this year ended the last of November. Two large events given by the women's league, the flower show and the Christmas bazaar, enlisted a great deal of interest. Dorothy Jeffrey, '24, managed both undertakings most successfully. For the bazaar, each house had a booth and every girl on the campus made some article for sale.

Immediately preceding vacation there were several parties in the chapter house. The active members gave a formal dance in honor of the pledges, November 26. The night before Christmas vacation the girls entertained at a Christmas party a poor child for whom, according to the annual custom, they bought new clothes and gifts. As a Christmas gift to the house the active members and pledges bought new serving tables for the dining-room to match the furniture.

Since the holidays Michigan B has pledged Jean Bentley of Highland Park, Mich. January 19 the pledges are entertaining the active chapter at a formal dance given in its honor. The following night occurs the annual women's league fancy dress party to which the chapter is going as a toyshop.

The junior girls' play, of which Helen Delbridge, '24, is assistant chairman, is occupying the center of interest. All the junior girls are trying out for parts in the play. For the first time in the history of Michigan the play is to be open to the public, and as a result the entire student body is looking forward to its presentation with greater interest than has ever before been manifested.

INDIANA ALPHA—FRANKLIN COLLEGE

(Chartered 1888)

Pledge Day—September 23, 1922

The Franklin alumnae club entertained the active chapter at a very delightful mask party on Hallowe'en. Each alumna brought a gift for the house, every one of which is very much appreciated. The chapter chose two new patronesses, Mrs. Oren Province and Mrs. Byron Deming, and then gave a chocolate for them and for the chaperon, Mrs. Floyd Cutsinger (Mary Lacy). Other social affairs very much enjoyed by the chapter were the dinner-dance which the pledges gave for the active girls, and the Christmas party, at which the girls entertained their men friends.

College spirit in Franklin has been at a very high point since the college basketball team won three hard and important games. Every student has resolved to support the team to the limit in all the games that are to come.

Frances Klyver has been initiated into A X A. Mary Ethel Thurston has been elected secretary of the junior class. Leona Turner, one of the pledges, is on the college women's debate team. Other Pi Phis are also taking part in college activities.

Indiana A is sorry to have missed having a visit from the Grand Secretary, Francese Evans, but vacation lasted until January 8.

INITIATES

(Initiated October 25, 1922)

Ruth Blachley, '25, Valparaiso, Ind.

Mary Sawin, '25, Edenburg, Ind.

Gertrude Wollenberger, '24, Evansville, Ind.

The Bloomington alumnae club, with the aid of other alumnae and girls of the active chapter, gave a Christmas bazaar and cleared $345. By selling Christmas cards the chapter cleared $75 for the house fund. The Evansville alumnae presented to the chapter two lovely silver bread trays.

The freshmen gave a delightful Christmas dinner party for the upperclassmen the night before Christmas vacation.

The alumnae are planning to hold another bazaar this spring with the aid of the active chapter and sell only Settlement School products.

The alumnae board of directors take dinner at the house once every month. They are placed at a separate table with the chapter president, house manager, and chaperon. During the meal they discuss informally points of interest concerning the chapter, and afterward the board of directors attend the fraternity meeting.

During Thanksgiving vacation the alumnae held open house in the new home for townspeople and for faculty members. The dean said that she had never seen a dormitory or house where such thought and consideration had been given to the dormitory, dining-room, and kitchen, and the general arrangement of the entire house.

Indiana B regretted losing Miss Harding, the past chaperon, but is fortunate in getting Mrs. George to take her place. The chapter is planning to give a faculty tea in honor of Mrs. George in the near future.

The visit of the Grand Secretary, Francese Evans, was an inspiration to the chapter and alumnae. $\Pi B \Phi$ gave a Panhellenic tea on Thursday of her visit.

The Garrick Club, a dramatic society, put on the annual "show-down" in which every organization presented a stunt, the best stunt among men's and women's fraternities being awarded a silver loving cup. The $\Pi B \Phi$ stunt, If Winter Comes, won the cup.

A new commerce building has just been completed which adds much to the beauty of the campus. The million dollar drive has been continued with a great deal of vim. The show-down was put on by the Garrick Club and was a great financial success.

INITIATE

(Initiated November 24, 1922)

Fleeta Heinz, '25, Proctorville, Ohio.

Indiana Γ has been more than busy since the last issue of THE ARROW, with concentrated efforts to raise scholarship and to uphold its college activity record.

Frances Evans, who visited the chapter January 6, was an inspiration to everyone and the time spent with her was very profitable and happy.

One of the loveliest social affairs of the chapter was the Christmas dance, given at Martinsville. Mrs. Tilford, an alumna, invited the chapter to her home there and had many delightful surprises.

Laurel Cissna has been chosen editor of the songbook. Irma Dykes took the leading part in the dramatic club play, Come Out of the Kitchen, and was chosen as junior representative in the school beauty contest.

The chapter is anxiously anticipating the moving of the college when it will have a new fraternity house of its own.

The girls are very proud of their mothers, who have formed a Mothers' Club and are helping in many ways.

One of the girls thought of a clever idea for making money for the house. During the football season the girls made several hundred crepe paper pompons which were sold at the games. Part of the money was given to the school budget fund and the rest was put into the house fund. The chapter also gave a card-party just before Christmas and made money for the house.

At the end of the football season when the men came back from the last game, the chapter gave them a breakfast at the Severin Hotel.

On January 11 the glee club gave an opera, The Pirates of Penzance, in which several Π Β Φ freshmen took individual parts.

This time of the year finds everyone deeply engrossed in final examinations, and every Π Φ is applying herself intensively in order to fulfill her responsibility to herself, to her college, and to her chapter in a praiseworthy manner.

INDIANA DELTA—PURDUE UNIVERSITY

(Chartered January 1, 1921)

Pledge Day—September 16, 1922

Among many events since the last letter are an informal dance, November 18, at the chapter house, honoring the pledges; a seven-day quarantine for diphtheria; and the annual Christmas party, at which time the chapter received many useful gifts, among them a beautiful mahogany and cane chair from the patronesses. On January 4, the chapter entertained with a formal reception at the chapter house in honor of President and Mrs. Elliott, who came to Purdue this September.

Early in December the Little Theater Players, a dramatic organization, presented Alice Duer Miller's Charm School, with Mildred Shugart, '23, and Faith Otten, '23, taking leads. Tryouts are being held for the annual production of the Harlequin Club, the premier dramatic society, which is to be a review this year, having George Ade, '87, as author. Members of $\Pi B \Phi$ have won places in lead and chorus. The performances have been scheduled for April 26, 27, 28, at which time the junior prom and annual fraternity house-party will be held.

Indiana Δ has been unusually successful in athletics this fall, having won the loving cup in swimming and, with Gertrude Fleisher, '25, as captain, at present has a clear record in basketball. Letters and sweaters are to be awarded for the first time to girls, this year, and greater competition is being shown in all sports.

Several new honors have been awarded. Gail Moss, '23, was initiated into $K \Delta \Pi$; Faith Otten, '23, was elected as one of the seven May Queen attendants, and Katherine Wallace, '25, was chosen as secretary of the sophomore class.

GRADUATES

Elizabeth Cotton, B.A., Mason City, Iowa.

Bonnie Lane, B.A., 3101 Second Ave. South, Minneapolis, Minn.

Minnesota A has been wonderfully busy this last quarter, with the girls extending their best efforts to maintain high standards on the campus and to make the ideals of $\Pi B \Phi$ felt in campus life.

After the whirl of membership campaigning in the fall, Minnesota A settled down to a regular routine. One of the pledges, Octa French, was elected to the Players' dramatic club, while Lucille Sasse has been elected as member of Y. W. C. A. freshman commission, and was one of the captains of the finance drive for the organization. Leonore Andrist, a junior, received the position of album editor on the Gopher staff. Julia Patty was admitted to membership in ΘE , an honorary literary society.

$\Pi E \Delta$, the honorary dramatic fraternity, sponsored as all-university production this fall, Lord Dunsany's If, in which Andrea McKinnon, a $\Pi B \Phi$ sophomore, took the leading rôle. Dorothy Shrader was also in the cast.

Local Panhellenic is doing everything to foster a friendly inter-fraternity spirit, and the plan of exchange dinners has worked out very well. Also the chapter entertained the Thetas at a cooky-shine supper some time ago.

The alumnae entertained at a lovely Christmas party for their younger sisters. There was a cooky-shine supper with a Christmas tree afterwards.

The chapter is giving its winter formal this year at the Minnesota Club in St. Paul on January 12.

The chapter is anticipating the time when it can initiate the new pledges and add their names to the lists of $\Pi B \Phi$.

WISCONSIN ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN

(Chartered 1884)

Pledge Day—October 1, 1922

Wisconsin A has begun the new year with three new pledges: Margaret Weguer, '26, Chicago, Ill., and Dorothy Morse, '26, Hinsdale, Ill., who were pledged just before the Christmas recess, and Elizabeth Romel, '26, Evanston, Ill., who was pledged January 12. The membership campaign for the second semester will take the form of a buffet supper early in February.

Due to the ideal location of Madison on four lakes, the University of Wisconsin has abundant opportunity for winter sports. The athletic department is planning a huge ice carnival for February 10. There will be tobogganing, skiing, iceboating, and speed and fancy skating. Florence Fox, '24, will take part in the fancy skating exhibition, and several other Pi Phis will enter the races.

The women's inter-fraternity bowling has been more than usually successful this year in fostering a friendly rivalry and intimacy between the members of Panhellenic association. The tournament is not complete, but to date, January 12, Wisconsin A has lost one match and won three. Florence Fox, '24, Rosamund Nolte, '24, and Dorothy John, '25, made hockey teams this fall, and several pledges made hockey teams and swimming teams.

Jessie Morton, '23, announced her engagement, Christmas, to Frank Wolfe, '23, ΣN . Thelma Blossom, '23, is returning to school this semester, and Dorothy Krebs, a transfer from Missouri B, has been affiliated. Wisconsin A stood second in scholarship among eighteen other women's fraternities for a period of fourteen semesters and was not more than five-tenths of a point below first. The chapter is exerting every effort to make its average the highest.

WISCONSIN BETA—BELOIT COLLEGE

(Chartered August, 1919)

Pledge Day—October 13, 1922

Wisconsin B is anticipating the initiation of its pledges on February 3. It is exceedingly fortunate in having another pledge, Marjorie Palmer, '25, La Crosse, Wis., who entered Beloit after Christmas. The chapter regrets very much the loss of Stella Rathbun, '25, who is now attending the Milwaukee Normal School, and Dorothy Fisher, '23, who is staying at home this quarter on account of illness.

Wisconsin B has spent a busy three months with chapter and campus activities. The new girls have taken a lively interest in the campus organizations and there are several members of $\Pi B \Phi$ in the girls' glee club, Beloit Players, Shakespeare Society, A Capella choir, vesper choir, the women's athletic association, and Ka-Nc, a local journalistic society.

Mrs. Laurence, Province President, was here December 6-7 for her annual chapter visit. She helped the chapter in many ways and it had a delightful time with her.

The chapter has been enjoying its new house immensely. As a house-warming, the girls gave, on November 29, an informal dance which was a big success. The annual formal is to be a valentine party on February 10.

Beloit College is very sorry to lose President Melvin A. Brannon, who has accepted the office of Chancellor of the University of Montana.

INITIATES

(Initiated November 2, 1922)

Lydia Koths, '24, Grand Forks, N. D.

Elsie McHaffie, '25, Grand Forks, N. D.

Gladys Warren, '25, Grand Forks, N. D.

On November 21, 1921, Elsie Mae Coon passed away and North Dakota A lost one of its greatest helpers. Miss Coon was the chaperon last year. She was a $\Pi B \Phi$ from Illinois Δ , but she always seemed to belong to North Dakota A. The chapter owes her a great debt of gratitude, for it was largely through her efforts that it obtained its charter of $\Pi B \Phi$.

The University of North Dakota has taken four big leaps forward in the fraternity world in the past semester. The local chapter of $\Delta \Sigma$ has been installed as ΓK of $B \Theta \Pi$. $A K Z$ is now a chapter of $A T \Omega$. During Christmas vacation $\Sigma A E$ granted a charter to the local chapter $A A P$. $\Delta \Phi \Delta$, national art fraternity, was installed at Thanksgiving time. Three of the ten charter members were Pi Phis.

The alumnæ in town have organized a local club. They have been very active in furthering our interests and will be a great help to the chapter in the future. Already they have sponsored a bazaar and a matinee dance, the proceeds to go toward the house fund. The mothers and patronesses gave the chapter a Christmas gift of a beautiful silver tea service.

$\Pi \Phi$ girls have been very active on the campus this semester and have won several honors. Mildred Odell is one of the first four elected to $\Phi B K$, and is also secretary of the senior class. Helen Wilder was elected treasurer of the junior class. Two new pledges made Dakota Playmakers. Two Pi Phis have been appointed on the staff for the Dacotah, the university annual. One of the girls is a reporter for the Student, the university bi-weekly paper. There are three Pi Phis in the cast for the DeMolay play, Clarence, which will tour the state. The chapter won second prize on its float in the homecoming parade.

INITIATE

(Initiated December 18, 1922)

Ida Frances Koenig, '24, 4133 Terrace Pl., Kansas City, Mo.

Mid-semester grades were splendid in all departments of college work, and all hope the high standard attained then may be kept up by the semester finals. Again this year the Olive and Gold football men proved to be made of fine material, for they won for Lombard the prized state championship.

The new endowment campaign is well under way. President Tilden hands in encouraging reports from all parts of the country for publication in the college paper. In October, Lombard held one of the best homecomings it has ever known. Old students came even from Massachusetts and Connecticut to meet college-day friends.

Illinois B chapter and the alumnae club at homecoming time welcomed back many alumnae, whom they entertained at a six o'clock cooky-shine in the $\Pi B \Phi$ bungalow.

$\Pi \Phi$ pledges are imbibing the spirit of coöperation and endeavor to succeed. Chapter mid-semester grades were on the same high level as those of all other students and a $\Pi \Phi$ girls was the only straight A student in college.

Illinois B chapter girls are this year supporting an Armenian orphan by paying twenty cents apiece each month. By the end of the year this will make the required amount, sixty dollars.

All greatly enjoyed Mrs. Laurence's visit December 11-12 and feel that the chapter will profit much by it.

May Estes Park be a big success!

ILLINOIS DELTA—KNOX COLLEGE

(Chartered 1884)

Pledge Day—September 30, 1922

Since the last issue, Illinois Δ has added two pledges to her list, Viola Herrick, '26, and Corinne McGee, '24. Mrs. Laurence spent two days with the chapter and her visit gave new inspiration and desire to rise higher in the scale of active chapters.

Just before the Christmas holidays the active chapter was entertained at two delightful parties. The pledges entertained with a rustic party given in a summer cabin near the country club, where they served a dinner which they had prepared, and presented a clever one-act play. The annual Christmas party for the alumnae and active members of Illinois B and Illinois Δ was given this year by this chapter on December 16.

One of the alumnae has been giving the chapter the use of her attractive studio and the girls have been enjoying Sunday afternoon "sings" there, which consist of special sacred or classical music and the singing of $\Pi B \Phi$ songs.

The Knox alumnæ entertained the officers of the chapter at a cooky-shine in December and discussed what had been accomplished, and further plans for the year. The annual benefit dance for the Settlement School will be given February 1, at the Elks Club.

One of the most successful parties given at Knox this year was the Christmas Prom under the auspices of the W. S. G. A. and the personal direction of Mary Houston, a $\Pi B \Phi$ senior.

Knox is anticipating the return of the basketball team which has been playing prominent eastern colleges during the holiday season.

Pledge Day—September 20, 1922

Mrs. Laurence, Province President, visited Illinois E the week-end of December 8. While she was here the alumnæ and the active chapter gave a card-party and food sale for the benefit of the $\Pi \Phi$ house fund, and raised about \$700. That same week-end the Campus Players gave their production, Moonlight and Honeysuckles, and $\Pi \Phi$ was especially proud of Jean Burns, who had the leading part.

Members of $\Pi B \Phi$ have won many honors in campus activities. Esther McDonald has been recommended for membership in $\Phi B K$, besides having been chosen by the students of Northwestern as one of the two most beautiful girls in the university. Mildred Kinney was elected president of Red Lantern, sophomore women's organization. Helen Nash is vice-president of the sophomore class. The senior class elected Marjorie Garvey chairman of the senior social committee. Margaret Shippen, Virginia Wadsworth, Jessie Cook, and Mildred Kinney are members of the House of Representatives of W. S. G. A. Miriam Simons is a member of Pen and Ink Club, and Rachel Siefkin, a pledge, has been accepted as a member of the authors' club.

Louise McDonald is on the board of the Syllabus, Northwestern's yearbook.

$\Pi \Phi$ is well represented in athletics, too. Jessie Cook and Louise McDonald are on the rifle team, and Jessie Cook was on the senior hockey team. Helen Call and Virginia Agar, pledges, and Mildred Kinney and Helen Nash made their class hockey teams.

Illinois Z was happy to entertain Mrs. Phillip Laurence, Province President, for two days shortly before Christmas vacation. A tea, the afternoon of her arrival, was arranged for her to meet the various Panhellenic representatives and members of the local alumnæ club. The second evening the chapter Christmas party was given. This informal affair gave Mrs. Laurence and the girls an opportunity to become much better acquainted.

A number of girls tried out for the student operetta given last month. Irene Streed, transfer from Illinois Δ , played one of the leads and Carol McConnell from Oklahoma B, Dorothy Stern, and Margaret Holton, '26, did specialty dances. Mary Gordon, Eunice Webster, Virginia Baker, and Dorothy Whitney were in the dancing chorus.

Fay Martin and Beatrice Stephenson were taken into Shi-Ai, honorary sophomore organization, and Dorothy Whitney initiated into ΨX , national honorary psychology fraternity.

In athletics, most of the girls' efforts have been confined to bowling and swimming. They started early to practice for bowling and have developed a fine team that promises success in the future. Eunice Webster, member of the freshman championship team, won first place in diving in the last swimming meet and Florence Webster was unanimously elected captain of the senior swimming team. The girls have proved, by their coöperation in the last money making project, their desire for a new house, and are working continuously to realize their aspirations. Last Saturday a cedar chest, generously donated by the alumnae, filled with lingerie and household accessories made and donated by the active chapter, was raffled off and the chapter rejoiced in a net gain of $250.

Erma Beall, '25, Niantic, Ill.

Kathryn Priestley, '24, Monticello, Ill.

Twila Miller, '24, N. Oakland, Decatur, Ill.

First among pleasant events since October was the initiation of Illinois Eta's three pledges, followed by a real cooky-shine at the chapter house. Homecoming this year was something to be remembered, for the many alumnae returning enjoyed with the active girls the homecoming play, reception, parade, game, dance, and of course, a good old-time cooky-shine. It is with real appreciation of "In the world where Greek meets Greek" that each big homecoming inspires the $\Pi B \Phi$ chapter.

Early in December the chapter had a three-day rummage sale, which was quite successful financially, and of which the alumnae took charge. Miss Jessie Lockett (Illinois H), the chaperon, most capably managed the Christmas card sale.

At the annual Christmas party the chapter was fortunate in having the Province President and Vice-president. Mrs. Laurence's visit came immediately preceding the holidays, and it seemed the best event of the year to be allowed to have a Christmas tree for the Province officers.

Since the good time during the holidays, only work seems coming toward the girls but, no matter how stiff the semester examinations may be, nor how varied the weeks' program, Illinois H hopes still to stand first in scholarship and hold its own in every way. May each chapter have this as Illinois Eta's New Year's greeting.

IOWA ALPHA—IOWA WESLEYAN COLLEGE

(Chartered December 22, 1868)

Pledge Day—September 30, 1922

Final examinations begin the third week in January. Iowa A is working hard to raise her scholarship standards, especially the pledges, who have the initiation requirements to meet.

The football season was thoroughly enjoyable because it was so successful. On January 16, the girls' inter-class basketball tournament begins. Six Pi Phis are on the various teams.

The choral club presented on December 19, Handel's Messiah. Dorothy Gilmore, '21, was the soprano soloist.

Just previous to the Christmas vacation the pledges gave the annual Christmas party, a cooky-shine, at the home of Kathryn Gilmore, '23. They entertained with a clever burlesque, Wild Nell or Final Sacrifice. Their gift to the chapter was a leather-bound Bible. The chapter was delighted to receive five pounds of candy from Paul Miller, $\Phi \Delta \Theta$.

Dorothy Gilmore, the alumna who supervises pledge study, assisted by Helen Baldrige and Louisa Jericho, who were pledged last year, gave a dinner for the pledges on December 7.

Iowa A regrets to lose at the end of the first semester, Maurine Colliver, '25; Vera Shipley, '24; and Vella Starkweather, '23.

The thought of initiation is an inspiration to every $\Pi \Phi$ and the chapter is anticipating it with eagerness.

Ruby Glascock, '25, Spring Hill, Iowa.

Edith Heckart, '25, Douds, Iowa.

Frances Sprague, '25, Indianola, Iowa.

All the members of Iowa B are wearing a broad smile and are holding their heads very high. The news has just come that the chapter has won the Z Province loving cup which is awarded on the basis of general merit, by the alumnae of the province. Every effort will be made to keep the present standards up so that in two more years the cup may be Iowa B's very own.

Basketball is the rage at present and Simpson's varsity promises to be one of the best. Girls are also basketball enthusiasts and a place on their class teams is coveted by many.

The Simpson orchestra and glee clubs are working hard for the coming spring tours of Iowa. $\Pi B \Phi$ has six members in these exceptional musical organizations.

Helen Dosh, Lavone Hamilton, and Harriet Henderson were pledged to $M \Phi E$, the national musical fraternity, this semester. Harriet Goodsell and Edith Bellman are already active members.

A new local women's fraternity, $B X$, has joined the group of Greeks on Simpson's campus. $\Pi \Phi$ gave an afternoon tea in honor of them and was very glad to become better acquainted with such a fine group of girls.

The party for the alumnae, the initiation of three dear girls, and the Christmas cooky-shine are very happy memories of the $\Pi \Phi$ social life of the fall semester.

Plans for convention are being enthusiastically made and Iowa B hopes to have several representatives at Estes Park.

GRADUATE

(Graduated December 21, 1922)

Frances Dewell, B.A. in Home Economics

Ten weeks of membership campaigning ended most successfully with the pledging of eleven splendid girls. They are: Joyce Archer, Sheldon; Jean Bramhall, Des Moines; Winifred Brown, Chicago; Carolyn Carey, Pittsfield, Ill.; Mary Concannon, Davenport; Barbara Dewell, Missouri Valley; Mary Elizabeth Innes, Council Bluffs; Ruth Landers, Clarinda; Celestine Maschek, Ottumwa; Jean McKinnon, Des Moines; Kathryn McWhinney, Chicago. Helen Welty, Nevada, was pledged January 7.

The alumnae gave a tea at the home of Norma Lee Merrick, for the actives and prospective members, and they coöperated faithfully with the chapter during campaigning season, assisting wherever possible and always giving their loyal support.

The actives entertained the pledges at a dance on pledge night at the Sheldon Munn Hotel. December 18, the actives and pledges joined in a delightful Christmas party at which the pledges presented the chapter with a basket for firewood.

The house has been made more attractive this year by the addition of a new davenport, several Windsor chairs, a Victrola console, and a floor lamp. A loving cup was awarded to the chapter by Cardinal Guild, for the best decorated house during homecoming.

Π Φ is well represented in many activities. Dorothy Kenworthy, Beulah Taylor, and Florence Todd played in Why the Chimes Rang. Marian Duke was in the junior class play, and Marcella Dewell and Ada Havner took parts in Love the Locksmith. Clara Jordan has been elected to Mortar Board, honorary senior women's organization. Paula Braunlich is a member of sophomore council and is sophomore representative to home economics club. Marvel Secor is a member of W. A. A. Florence Todd received first prize from the Bomb board for having secured more subscriptions to the annual than any other individual during the campaign.

The chapter is glad to welcome Ruth Myerhoff, Iowa B, to Iowa State.

Pledge Day—September 24, 1922

Iowa Z has pledged three girls since the last letter was written: Marjorie Bishard, '26, of Des Moines; Mary Goodykoontz, '26, of Boone, and Marie Van Oosterhaut, '26, of Orange City. The freshmen have made good progress toward their seventy-five points for outside activities needed for initiation. Three of them are on freshman commission, and Ailene Barger is president of this organization. Five girls are members of the freshman literary society, and Esther Harding is sergeant-at-arms of the society.

The Iowa football team went through the season undefeated, and tied with Michigan for first place in the conference.

The chapter gave a benefit bridge tea, December 12, for the Settlement School.

The Rockefeller Foundation has given two and a half million dollars to the University of Iowa for the medical school. The university is to give an equal amount, and beautiful new buildings are to be built across the river.

A chapter of Z T A has been installed on the campus.

MISSOURI ALPHA—MISSOURI UNIVERSITY

Pledge Day—September 3, 1922

The opening of the winter term finds Missouri A rejoicing over the fact that twelve girls have made their grades for initiation. The question of scholarship is now of utmost importance. The chapter has been divided into four teams each headed by an efficient captain, to compete for highest grades. Recognition pins will be given to the two girls making the highest averages.

The girls have taken a great interest in student activities. Eugenia Dodd, who finished at Christmas, was president of the journalism school, and a member of Γ A X and Mallet press club, journalistic fraternities. Marjorie Harbaugh is on student council, and the Savitar staff, and is a member of Γ A X. Ruth Belcher has been elected to Z Σ. Virginia Gardner is on sophomore cabinet, and is a member of $\Gamma A X$ and Mallet press club. She is also vice-president of the journalism school for this semester. The pledges are finding their places on the campus. Mary Gentry is on student council, and freshman commission. Nearly all are doing work in Y. W. C. A. and W. A. A. Several girls belong to dramatic clubs. Mary Allen, Eugenia Dodd, Mildred Walker, and Dorothy Martin were in the Breeze Bug, the annual school musical comedy.

The chapter has instituted faculty dinners which have helped in getting acquainted with the instructors. During the football season Missouri B was glad to entertain girls from Missouri B, and Kansas A. Homecoming was indeed a joyous occasion, and brought back more alumnæ than ever before. On December 8 the chapter entertained the varsity letter men with a turkey dinner. Before the holidays Missouri B had a Christmas party for the $\Pi \Phi$ girls themselves. A Valentine dance will be given in February.

INITIATE

(Initiated October 20, 1922)

Helen Gray Binns, '24, 5440 Vernon Ave., St. Louis, Mo.

The formal dance, held early in December, and a most delightful informal dance given to the chapter by the pledges on December 23, are only pleasant memories. The girls are bending every effort to obtain again the $\Gamma \Phi B$ scholarship cup which $\Pi B \Phi$ held last year, and which it is hoping to hold again this year.

Miss Onken spent two days here during the first week of December, and the chapter received great inspiration and help from her visit. It was a pleasure to meet and to know her, and all feel a new enthusiasm to work for $\Pi B \Phi$.

Margaret Steele, '24, was appointed chairman of the May Day program which is given annually; Virginia Gorin, '25, won the women's tennis tournament, started last spring and finished this fall; Louise Riley, '23, is a member of the National Y. W. C. A. Council of the Southwestern Division; and two of the new members admitted to the staff of Student Life are Pi Phis. The chapter sold candy on a commission basis just before Christmas and expects to give the proceeds to the Settlement School.

Most of the girls are hoping, and some are really planning to go to convention and meet the many officers, active girls, and alumnæ of whom they read in THE ARROW, and whom they long to know.

MISSOURI GAMMA—DRURY COLLEGE

(Chartered January 9, 1914)

Pledge Day—November 24, 1922

Membership campaigning for freshmen began November 20, 1922. On November 24, Missouri Γ pledged eight freshmen, making its pledges as follows: juniors: Lulu Kerr, Ozark, Mo.; sophomores: Eula Turner, Bolivar, Mo., Mildred Pitt, Monrovia, Cal.; freshmen: Doris Berry, Helen Finley, Mary Margaret Holbrook, Hazel Robertson, Paula Wingo, Springeld, Mo.; Edna Mae Hammack, Iberia, Mo.; Mary Margaret Kerr, Crane, Mo.; and Irma Robertson, Ozark, Mo. The date for initiation will probably be early in March.

The girls' glee club made its sixth annual tour December 4-14. There are four Missouri Γ girls in the club. The trip was a success in every way, and it put Drury "on the map" in more than one city. The home concert was given January 9 at Stone Chapel to an appreciative audience.

Missouri Γ celebrated its ninth birthday with a cooky-shine in the chapter room. Both actives and pledges were present.

The point system has been extended to the pledges. They are showing up in splendid fashion.

Plans are being made to move into new quarters about March 1, 1923. The house is not yet completed. The second floor has a separate entrance, and consists of one very large room, a dressing room, and a kitchenette. It is very conveniently located, and will be quite an improvement over the present situation.

INITIATES

(Initiated December 9, 1922)

Lois Butler, '25, Ponca, Neb.

Aurel Foreman, '24, Alvo, Neb.

Ruth Goodson, '25, 1717 D St., Lincoln, Neb.

Irene Jacobs, '24, Kingfisher, Okla.

Dorothy Mansfield, '24, Central City, Neb.

Ethel Wild, '24, Wilber, Neb.

Initiation for the six girls eligible this fall took place on Saturday, December 9. The chapter had long anticipated this day, which was one of joy for everyone concerned.

The time until the Christmas holidays passed all too swiftly. First, there were plans to be made for a stunt to be presented at the all-university girls Cornhusker party, December 15. Dorothy Sprague had this in charge, and produced for the occasion a dance and song skit which popular opinion decreed the finest bit offered.

To express the chapter's gratitude to $\Phi K \Psi$, which came to the aid of $\Pi B \Phi$ when its house was ruined at the opening of the year, $\Pi \Phi$ entertained $\Phi \Psi$ at a thé dansant the afternoon of December 23.

At the Christmas stunt and party, the freshmen gave an evening's clever performance. The Christmas tree with Irene Bolter impersonating Santa Claus concluded the evening. The alumnae and their children had been invited. Such a large family made the Christmas spirit real.

The alumnae gave to the house, for a Christmas gift, a lovely cut-glass vase and a beautiful silk pillow. The freshman present was a set of chimes.

After the holidays plans were immediately begun for the all-university carnival to be given for charity January 13. The officials requested that the $\Pi B \Phi$ stunt given for the girls' party be given again on this occasion. The chapter's aid, besides, was commandeered for service at the booths and for many other duties. A gratifying amount was netted for the Near East Relief.

(Initiated October 31, 1922)

Charlotte Aiken, '23, 4037 Walnut St., Kansas City Mo.

Sue Bidwell, '25, Kinsley, Kan.

Evelyn Lowman, '25, 816 N. 9th St., Kansas City, Kan.

Louise Robison, '24, 302 Roosevelt, Wichita, Kan.

Sarah Elizabeth Williams, 1609 Tennessee. Lawrence, Kan.

Five members were initiated into $\Pi B \Phi$ on October 31. On November 17 a bridge-tea was given for the benefit of the Settlement School. On November 25 the freshmen gave their annual farce, which was followed by a party for the upperclassmen.

On December 14 at a Christmas bazaar, over a hundred dollars were raised for the Settlement School. The bazaar was followed by a Christmas dinner to which the patronesses and town alumnae were invited, and at which everyone received an appropriate gift. Afterward the whole chapter went out to sing Christmas carols.

KANSAS BETA—KANSAS STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE

(Chartered June, 1915)

Pledge Day—September 16, 1922

On December 6, Kansas B gave its second annual football dinner, at which the men seemed to enjoy themselves very much. Coach and Mrs. Bachman (Grace Cary, Oklahoma A), Coach Curtiss, and twenty-two letter men were guests.

The center of the table was decorated with a miniature football field made of chocolate candy. The field was marked off with white candy, and purple and white stick candy represented the goal posts.

The active chapter assisted the alumnae club in giving a food sale for the benefit of the Settlement School. The girls made candy and the alumnae donated cakes, pies, and other good things to eat. We cleared $35.00 toward the chapter quota for the Settlement School fund.

The pledges gave a matinee dance at the country club, Saturday, December 16. It was a snow festival and was one of the cleverest parties ever given for the seniors. The rooms were decorated with Christmas colors and artificial snow. During the intermission, Nora Yoder, as a snow fairy, gave a solo dance. Attached to her dress were large powder puffs which she gave to the seniors as favors. One of the prettiest parts of the decorations was a large wooden arrow head with the raised "B" which was placed above the fireplace and electrically lighted with wine and blue lights.

Dorothy Churchward was elected to O N this semester. Julia Caton has the leading part in the play Adam and Eva, which is to be taken to different towns over the state for the coming week and will be shown here next Friday and Saturday.

The chapter went caroling on the night of December 16, as is the custom. Afterwards all were entertained at a spread at Elizabeth Bressler's home, and the chapter surely enjoyed it for everyone was cold and hungry after caroling at thirteen houses.

WYOMING ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF WYOMING

(Chartered 1910)

Pledge Day—October 12, 1922

Wyoming A is making a special effort this year to win the cup which is offered by the local Panhellenic, and the chapter feels that the winter term will prove very satisfactory.

The basketball spirit has caught Wyoming students and everyone is anticipating a victorious year. The climax of the season will be the annual high school tournament, which gives students a good opportunity to become acquainted with the high school students and to interest them in the university.

Π B Φ is entertaining its friends at a Valentine party February 10. There have been many social functions in the university this year.

Three Pi Phis have made the cast of the Θ A Φ play, The Gay Lord Queex, to be given in February. Thora Slade has just been initiated into the national dramatics fraternity, Θ A Φ. Two junior girls are on the Wyo staff.

Many alumnae, patronesses, and friends remembered the chapter generously at Christmas. The pledges presented to the chapter a Hoover vacuum cleaner, which has long been needed.

In order to keep the alumnae in touch with the chapter activities, Wyoming A is sending out letters which it hopes will help arouse and keep up interest.

The chapter enjoyed a very pleasant and instructive visit from the Province

President, Mrs. Fraser, and is anticipating with much pleasure a visit from Mrs. Spring, ARROW Editor.

COLORADO ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF COLORADO

(Chartered October 15, 1884)

Pledge Day—September 25, 1922

Colorado A announces the pledging of Isabelle Keating, '26, of Pueblo.

The chapter held the annual bazaar for the purpose of raising money for the Settlement School, at the house, on December 9. Many useful and dainty articles were contributed by the alumnae, the active girls, and their mothers; and the baskets made by the mechanical training department of the Settlement School were in great demand. In every way the bazaar was a great success.

The freshman vaudeville, given the night before Thanksgiving recess began, was made up of clever songs, original dancing, and bits of farcical comment on the active girls. Preceding the vaudeville, the annual Thanksgiving dinner was attended by sixty active and alumnae members.

A new custom of Sunday night supper was instituted at the house the last quarter. It serves the purpose of bringing all the girls together about the big fireplace in the chapter room, to spend an hour in telling stories, singing, or comfortably chatting. As the supper is very simple and is served by the members of each class in turn, no especial burden rests on anyone.

The beginning of the holidays was celebrated by the traditional Christmas tree party at which everyone received a foolish present with a bit of original poetry attached to it.

The girls are making a good record on the campus. Out of the three people in the university elected to $\Phi B K$, $\Pi \Phi$ is proud to claim one, Eleanor Noonan, '23. Mary Larrick, '24, represented the university at the women's self government association convention in Salt Lake. Nancy Crisp, '24, has been appointed to serve on the junior prom committee; Lucille Johnston, '24, has had a part in the Little Theater plays, and Helen Savage, '26, served on the freshman party committee.

The Boulder alumnae club has recently purchased six lots in the new paved district, on which the chapter hopes to begin the erection of a new house soon.

All are anticipating with much enthusiasm initiation and the visit of Mrs. Archer T. Spring.

COLORADO BETA—UNIVERSITY OF DENVER

Pledge Day—October 2, 1922

Colorado B wishes to express its gratification that the 1923 convention is to be held in Estes Park and hopes to welcome a record breaking number of members of $\Pi B \Phi$. The Rocky Mountains will be in their early summer glory and full of matchless wonders. Anticipations of the convention color the activities of the chapter.

The alumnae were entertained at supper just before Christmas vacation. Santa Claus and a Christmas tree furnished merry diversion. The generous gift from the alumnae took the form of pongee curtains for the bungalow.

The arrival of Chancellor Harper's sister from Boston has been the cause of much entertaining in university circles. Colorado B initiated courtesies by a tea at the home of Mrs. Willard Johnson (Edith Thomas) in Miss Harper's honor.

A $\Pi \Phi$ dinner-dance at the Shirley-Savoy, New Year's night, was a gala event.

Rehearsals for the musical comedy, Leave It To Jane, are in full swing and give promise for a most creditable presentation. The performance will be given at the leading theater, the Broadway.

Mrs. Archer T. Spring, Editor of THE ARROW, will be the guest of the chapter at the comedy.

OKLAHOMA ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF OKLAHOMA

(Chartered 1910)

Pledge Day—September 16, 1922

Oklahoma A has had a most enthusiastic and energetic semester's work thus far.

Just before the Christmas vacation the chapter had a lovely Christmas party and a tree laden with significant little gifts for everyone.

$\Pi B \Phi$ has been well represented in campus activities. Marjorie Walcott was reelected president of the Philologist literary society, Edna Ackley, treasurer, and Betty Hunt, secretary. Two pledges, Clara B. Waltrip and Katheryn McKinney, are to appear in the Yellow Jacket, a play to be given soon by the dramatic art department of the university. Georgia Loving is a member of the financial cabinet of the Y. W. C. A. Katheryn McKinney conducted initiation this fall for the Oklahoma City high school chapter of the National Honor Society, of which she was president during her senior year of high school.

Oklahoma A is glad to welcome Vera Griffin again after an absence last semester when she attended the University of Missouri.

The attention of the entire campus has been concentrated on the attempt to obtain a stadium, and among those chosen to carry on the drive, the $\Pi \Phi$ chapter has one captain and several lieutenants.

Four members of $\Pi B \Phi$ attended the Panhellenic formal, the most exclusive dance of the year on Oklahoma University campus.

Membership campaigning takes place at the beginning of the second semester.

Neill Wilson, an Oklahoma girl, has pledged $\Pi \Phi$ at Randolph-Macon.

The chapter's effort throughout this year will be to live up to the ideals of $\Pi B \Phi$ and to teach these ideals to the freshmen. The pledges are organized in a business-like body and continue the system of fraternity study. By co-operation with the national fraternity and with its interested and helpful alumnae, Oklahoma A hopes to be a potent factor in the success of $\Pi B \Phi$.

OKLAHOMA BETA—OKLAHOMA AGRICULTURAL AND MECHANICAL COLLEGE

(Chartered August 12, 1919)

Pledge Day—September 14, 1922

Oklahoma State College has witnessed the organization of many new activities and societies. November 24 was the occasion of the alumni homecoming. A K Σ district conclave was held in Stillwater at this time. Σ B X was installed in Σ X in December, and Δ Σ into B Θ Π in January. This leaves only four petitioning groups among the eighteen men's and women's fraternities on the campus.

Since the last letter, Oklahoma B has added a number of new activities to her list. Lucille Glazner is secretary-treasurer of the Federation of County Clubs, a publicity organization. Eunice Peterson is playing the leading rôle in Clarence, dramatic club play, while Josephine Hale plays another important part in the play. Eunice Peterson read the prologue and Billie Owen was the dancer in The Doctor of Lonesome Folk, a Christmas pantomime given just before the holidays. Eunice Peterson, Gladys Holt, Mary Watson, and Irene Bass were pledged to dramatic club after November try-outs. Virginia Bagby is vice-president and Ruth Jones is secretary of the science and literature club. Of the senior class, Josephine Hale is secretary, and Mildred Maroney, treasurer. Mildred Maroney is secretary of women's efficiency council. Virginia Bagby has been chosen as sponsor of the second battalion, regimental corps. She will also accompany the glee club on its annual tour as a member of the quartet. Edna Rouse is on the upperclass hockey team, and Mary Watson is on the frosh team.

Π B Φ held the annual Christmas formal December 22, 1922. Guests of the fraternity were stray Greeks on the campus, three high-school students, and representatives from other fraternities. The Settlement School dance held on November 4 was for the purpose of starting this year's fund for Oklahoma B's contribution. The pledges entertained the members with a pledge dance, on January 20.

Oklahoma B is looking forward to the initiation of several pledges in February.

ARKANSAS ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF ARKANSAS

(Chartered 1909)

Pledge Day—January 7, 1923

Arkansas A has pledged Lucille Sutton, '26, of Little Rock. All of the girls returned to the university after Christmas except Josephine Bullock.

The University of Arkansas has made another important step forward. It is now a member of the Association of American Universities. This places it on an educational plane with the best universities of the country. It has also made it possible for the women graduates to become members of the American Association of University Women. A charter of this association has recently been granted to a group of University of Arkansas women here.

Five pledges are now eligible for initiation. Doris Gladden, '26, fulfilled the university requirements by making a B average. Others are not eligible until they pass thirty hours' work.

Margaret Earle, '24, is a member of the Annual staff in the capacity of woman's editor.

Marceline Campbell, '24, made the highest average in the junior class and also the highest in the college of arts and sciences.

Dr. Snooks (Mary Shannon), a charter member, visited the chapter just before Christmas while she was here on a visit to her family.

TEXAS ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS

(Chartered February 19, 1902)

Pledge Day—October 21, 1922

Thanksgiving was a gala occasion for Texas A, as many of the old girls came back to visit. Some brought their husbands and children and all together we had a very delightful reunion on Thanksgiving Day.

All were disappointed when Fritz Childress, a senior, was unable to return after the holidays on account of a death in her family.

Good grades were made by both the initiated girls and the pledges at the end of last term. Texas A has won the scholarship cup for the past two years and is working hard to keep it permanently by winning it this year. The girls to be initiated January 15 will help to do this, as all four of them are good students as well as all-round girls.

The Province President paid the chapter a visit just before Thanksgiving which it enjoyed, and is anticipating another visit from her soon.

HELEN HARRIS.

TEXAS BETA—SOUTHERN METHODIST UNIVERSITY

(Chartered 1915)

Pledge Day—October 6, 1922

Texans are enjoying such very mild weather that it seems as if springtime had immediately followed the fall, and winter had lost its usual place among the seasons. If beautiful warm, sunny days continue, the state will gain for itself the reputation of Southern California or Florida as a winter resort.

Texas B found at Thanksgiving and Christmas how much more pleasure one can get from giving to those less fortunate than by receiving gifts. Instead of exchanging presents, the chapter found some very needy families and took them bountiful supplies of groceries, besides nicely prepared Thanksgiving and Christmas dinners. For the children the girls added toys and candy.

Southern Methodist University is soon to welcome two new fraternities into the group of national fraternities on the campus. Φ A, a local petitioning Σ A E, was awarded a charter at the recent convention of Σ A E, in Detroit. $K \Theta \Phi$, another local, will soon be installed as a chapter of $\Phi \Delta \Theta$.

Both groups expect the national officers of their respective fraternities within a few months to install the new chapters. Texas B extends a cordial welcome to each of these.

The chapter is already enthusiastic over the coming convention. Since it is to be held so much nearer than formerly, Texas B will be much better represented than ever before, and hopes to send a large proportion of the chapter to Estes Park. Wouldn't it be fine if every girl in the chapter could be there?

MARIAN LEWIS.

LOUISIANA ALPHA—NEWCOMB COLLEGE

(Chartered 1891)

Pledge Day—Not determined

The long desired gymnasium is now completed and ready for occupation. A big opening night will be held in January in which all the classes will participate. The gym adds greatly to the appearance of the campus and will fill a long felt need at Newcomb.

College organizations have been very active and have been presenting most interesting programs. Two charming plays: The Far Away Princess and Tickless Time were given by the dramatic club in December. Leading parts in both plays were taken by Alice DeBuys, '23, Edwa Stewart, '23, Perrine Dixon, '24, Beatrice Adams, '25, Helen Hughes, '25.

On the Carnot debating team open to all university students, both Newcomb and Tulane, Newcomb won three places to Tulane's one. All three debaters were members of $\Pi B \Phi$; Wilmer Shields, '23; Virginia Butler, '23; Ula Milner, '24. The final prize of a gold medal was won by Ula Milner.

Inter-class athletics have held a prominent place and $\Pi B \Phi$ was well represented on every team.

Newcomb sent as her three delegates to the woman's intercollegiate association for student government convention at Randolph-Macon, her student body president, Wilmer Shields, $\Pi B \Phi$; Eleanor, Shannon, $K A \Theta$, dormitory president, and as junior delegate Perrine Dixon, $\Pi B \Phi$.

Panhellenic allows but one campaigning party; $\Pi B \Phi$ gave a Pierrot supper, especially lovely in decoration and costumes.

The chapter Christmas party was lots of fun, as the presents were particularly to the point. But the real Christmas party was at the Home for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children where the chapter does its altruistic work. The children were thrilled at everything and it was therefore a source of great pleasure to all.

Louisiana A is anticipating with great pleasure convention and a meeting with her sister chapters.

MONTANA ALPHA—MONTANA STATE COLLEGE

(Chartered September 30, 1921)

Pledge Day—October 30, 1922

With the beginning of the winter quarter, Montana A is anticipating the initiation of six pledges which will take place sometime in February. The chapter is planning to give a remnant party in February and a formal dance in the spring.

The chapter was extremely disappointed to lose its president, Kathleen Cameron, who has been transferred to the University of California for the remainder of the year.

Although the chapter is small this year and in spite of keen competition, it was able to come out ahead in scholarship, and with each girl interested in one or more activities, it has managed to keep up its standards.

There are four active girls in the Treble Clef Club and five pledges. One member, Eleanor Marston, is in Tormentors (dramatic club), and another is to be initiated soon. There are three Pi Phis in A E Θ, the literary society, and two are in the Y. W. C. A. cabinet, while several are active in athletics, Eleanor Marston being president of the hiking club. As for honorary organizations, there are two Pi Phis, Alice Moody and Ruth Davidson, in Φ T O, and one, Alice Moody, in Cap and Gown, a senior organization.

Stunt night was held December 9, all fraternities taking part. Π B Φ won second place with a stunt entitled The Modern Girl; Σ A E took first.

The building program is progressing rapidly, the engineering and biology buildings to be ready in the spring. The whole college is looking forward to the dedication of the new gymnasium to be held March 1, when the M. S. C. basketball team plays Denver University.

Montana A is greatly encouraged over the prospects of the remaining year.

WINNIFRED COBLEIGH.

WASHINGTON ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF WASHINGTON

(Chartered January 5, 1907)

Pledge Day—October 8, 1922

The recent visit of Miss Onken and of Mrs. Beck, Iota Province President, gave the girls an added inspiration and much valued advice and assistance.

The alumnae have been a great help to the chapter all through the year. During the membership campaign they worked along with the active members, helped plan parties and on several occasions arranged them entirely. Since that time they carried on a rummage sale and a bazaar, the proceeds of which are to swell the building fund. About seventy-five alumnae attended the annual banquet held during homecoming week.

The freshmen are living up to all expectations. Ruth Hecht had the title rôle in Mary Rose, a play presented by the University Associated players. This is the second year that a Π B Φ freshman has held the lead in the all-university production. Freshmen are well represented on class committees, in Daily work and the Y. W. C. A., one of them being vice-president of the freshman commission.

The chapter purchased a beautifully situated lot last spring and all are very anxious to build on it, because the present home does not meet all requirements.

Although scholastic requirements in the university have been raised, the chapter average for the last year was over 86 per cent. The enrollment in the university now is 4,851. Every quarter over one hundred are not allowed to come back on account of low grades.

The chapter has worked out a chart on which are recorded all the grades and the activities of the girls both in the fraternity and on the campus. This enables them to keep an accurate account of themselves.

Washington A extends its best wishes for a successful and prosperous new year.

DELIA DUNBAR.

WASHINGTON BETA—WASHINGTON STATE COLLEGE

(Chartered 1912)

Pledge Day—September 20, 1922

Homecoming this year was more successful than ever before. Many alumnae came back, whose visit the chapter enjoyed, especially that of the older ones, for even some of the founders were here.

The Grand President, Amy B. Onken, and Province President, Mrs. Burton Beck, visited Washington B, November 25-26. The chapter received very helpful suggestions from them both. Mrs. Beck has promised another visit this spring.

One of the most enjoyable events in the year was the annual Christmas party. Just the members of the fraternity and the house mother were present. Names were drawn and each girl received a small gift from the girl who drew her name.

The Christmas bazaar held in Spokane was very successful this year and added quite a sum to the building fund.

The girls' glee club is getting ready to make its annual tour. $\Pi B \Phi$ has four members in the club.

The women of the college gave a college revue of vodvil acts to raise money for a new women's building. Irene Oliver was in charge.

$\Pi B \Phi$ has received several new campus honors since the last chapter letter. Irene Canfield made the honor hockey team this fall and Ruth Chandler was manager of the sophomore class team. Several others made class teams. Helen Campbell had charge of a Y. W. C. A. Christmas bazaar. Four other $\Pi B \Phi$ girls are Y. W. C. A. cabinet members.

Margaret Bement is secretary and Marjorie Freakes social chairman of the sophomore class. Aileen Linney is social chairman of the freshman class. Already practically all of the freshmen are interested in some line of activity.

Ida Louise Anderson received the fifty dollar scholarship given by ΓT , senior women's honorary fraternity. The award is given to the junior girl, holding the highest scholarship, who has been prominent in college activities throughout her college course.

Semester campaigning begins February 4 and the chapter is already planning several parties. It hopes that this will prove a successful campaign.

INITIATE

(Initiated November 14, 1922)

Dorothy La Roche, '25, Portland, Ore.

All but two girls returned at the beginning of the winter quarter and chapter and campus work is going forward with enthusiasm. Plans for the new chapter house are developing under the guidance of the alumnae. A campaign is being conducted among parents and alumnae for loans of small amounts to create a fund large enough to start negotiations with a building corporation. The University of Oregon is giving active coöperation in this work because the housing problem on this campus is very acute and the faculty feel the need for fraternity houses of the best type.

Last quarter Oregon A celebrated its seventh birthday with a banquet. Each class presented the chapter with a lovely gift. The Portland alumnae club sent a generous check and the Eugene alumnae sent a gift.

Miss Onken's all too brief visit in November was a wonderful help and inspiration. It gave every girl in the chapter an opportunity to know her personally and love her. It also brought Oregon A closer to the internal organization of the fraternity and made everyone realize more keenly than ever what a big and wonderful thing $\Pi B \Phi$ is.

Oregon A shared Christmas cheer with three families for three weeks by sending them a gallon of milk each.

Tina Amick, '25, Corvallis, Ore.

Rachel Holloway, '25, Clatskanie, Ore.

Alice Peaper, '25, Portland, Ore.

Louise Squier, '24, Oregon City, Ore.

The fall term for Oregon B was one of the most pleasant in its history.

Miss Onken's visit eclipses all other matters of interest of course, as it was really the loveliest thing that has happened this year. Miss Onken and Mrs. Beck arrived the Monday morning after homecoming. Their visit was an inspiration to the chapter as a whole and to every girl. The Grand President left with the girls a better understanding of the things that $\Pi B \Phi$ stands for and a determination to live up to those standards. On Tuesday afternoon Oregon B gave a reception in honor of Miss Onken and Mrs. Beck, inviting as guests a representative group of the faculty, town people, and student body. After telling many interesting details and stories of the Settlement School that evening, and showing pictures of the school, Miss Onken and Mrs. Beck left for Portland. Every girl felt a deep regret that their visit was so short.

Homecoming was a very much enjoyed event this fall. Many graduates of O. A. C. were back to get in touch once more with Alma Mater and to see the progress that the college has made.

The chapter's social functions last term were two in number; an exchange dance with ΘX given in the house and a Hallowe'en party. The decorations were black cats, owls, and witches. For refreshments, individual pumpkin pies and coffee were served.

The night before returning home for vacation the chapter held its Christmas tree and formal dinner, a chapter tradition.

Pledge Day—May 15, 1923

Since the last letter, California A has pledged Iola Williams, a splendid girl, and the only girl who entered who is eligible before May 15, the regular date for pledging, due to the adoption of the year season.

The chapter is glad to welcome back Dorothy Williams, who has been away for two quarters during her trip to the Orient.

Many girls are taking active part in campus work. Marion Potter is now president of Y. W. C. A. Foresta Hodgson took part in the sophomore play. Kathlee Evans, Dorothy Williams, and Iola Williams are to be in the Masquers' play which will be given January 26.

Margaret Younglove, who graduated last June, returned this quarter after spending three months in the East, and is already busy in campus athletic activities.

All were pleased to receive, just before Christmas, a gift of one hundred dollars from several alumnæ.

CALIFORNIA BETA—UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA

(Chartered 1900)

Pledge Day—Undecided

The students of the University of California gather for registration on January 15. After the usual long holiday vacation of the university, students are returning to work with just that much more stored up energy to accomplish their ends.

The appointment of Dr. Campbell to fill President Barrows' place when his resignation takes effect in June, was recently made known. Dr. Campbell has been head of Lick Observatory for twenty years. He has had much experience of varied kinds and is heartily received by the students.

During the first part of December the chapter held a bazaar to raise money for the new house. The alumnae club and the mothers' club helped greatly. It was very successful in every way, especially financially. The chapter is still enjoying the new house as much as ever. All continually find new joys and advantages that can be derived from having such a comfortable, beautiful chapter house.

Honors were recently given to two $\Pi B \Phi$ members. Carol Andrew was voted into English club and Daphne Miller was asked to join the economic honor society. Some of the girls have prominent places on the staffs of the publications, the Occident and the Daily Californian. Others have places worthy of note with the Y. W. C. A.

Mrs. Holway's book, entitled Art of the Old World in New Spain and the Mission Days of Alta California has been released. All take pride in knowing that the writer was a member of the fraternity and especially of this chapter.

The visit made by Miss Onken was an inspiration to each girl individually, and to the chapter as a whole. Every girl in the chapter tried to spend as much time as possible in Miss Onken's company without tiring her. All feel that her visit did more toward showing the girls $\Pi B \Phi$ ideals than anything else they have experienced.

It is surprising the number of engagements the chapter has had within the last few months. The underclassmen are thankful that they are practically all among the older girls, who will soon graduate and would be leaving us regardless of their engagements.

The Stephens Memorial Building, often spoken of as the students' union building, is being rapidly completed. The two lower floors are already in use and before long the workmen can stop spilling mortar on the students and carry away the last of the shovels.

The chapter hopes to be well represented at the convention in June.

CALIFORNIA GAMMA—UNIVERSITY OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

(Chartered July 27, 1917)

Pledge Day—Indefinite

California Γ was visited by the Grand President, Miss Onken, who gave it a view of $\Pi B \Phi$ nationally which the girls had not had before. Miss Onken transformed the national officers from names to personalities, and gave much helpful advice. The chapter's only regret is that she could not stay longer and come more often.

On December 8 the chapter held its annual bazaar, clearing over $850.

Articles not sold at the bazaar were auctioned after the next meeting, making over $60.

The chapter has paid fraternity social debts with exchange dinners and informal buffet dinner-dances lasting from six to nine.

California F gave its formal dinner dance December 28 at the San Gabriel Country Club, in which alumnae and transfers were included.

New Year's Day the U. of S. C. defeated Pennsylvania State College 14-3 in a football game witnessed by 55,000 people.

On January 22 the chapter is having a card-party of fifty tables at the house. Half of the proceeds will go to furnishing the house and half to paying for the house.

California F is anticipating with enthusiasm the convention and hopes to be there 100 per cent strong.

ARIZONA ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF ARIZONA

(Chartered August 1, 1917)

Pledge Day—Not fixed.

Arizona A was delighted to entertain Miss Onken early in November. Since this was the second visit of a national officer since the chapter's installation, the members were all the more eager to become acquainted with her, and, through her, with the rest of the fraternity.

Just before the Christmas holidays the chapter gave a thé dansant at the Santa Rita Hotel, to raise money with which to endow a room at "St. Luke's on the Desert," a charity tubercular hospital. It cleared $125, enough to furnish the room nicely. It will be known as the "Π Β Φ Room" and will be supported by monthly contributions from the chapter. In April the chapter is planning to raise money for the Settlement School by a Mexican Kermis.

In the hockey tournament played just before Christmas Π Β Φ was represented on the senior team by Elizabeth March and Gladys Franklin; on the junior team by Catherine Fowler and Eleanor Parsons; on the sophomore team by Helena Karns and Helen MacDonald, and on the freshman team by Helena Brown and Margaret Marks, pledges. Helen Brown was chosen center on the all-college honor team.

Gladys Franklin, '23, has been elected president of the Varsity Villagers, the town girls' organization. Eleanor Parsons, '24, is associate editor of Who Doo, the university humorous magazine, and also on the staff of the annual. Emogene Mercer, '24, had the lead in the first big play of the year, Nothing But the Truth. Doris Crepin, Eleanor Parsons, Emogene Mercer, and Catherine Fowler, all '24, are charter members of the press club and Emogene Mercer is secretary. Helena Karns, '25, has been elected to the home economics club. Helen Brown and Eleanor Parsons are active members of Sock and Buskin, the dramatic club.

Arizona A announces the pledging of Tressye Napier, '26, of St. Johns, Ariz.

The girls are looking forward to convention at Estes Park and several are planning to attend.

CATHERINE FOWLER.

NEVADA ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF NEVADA

(Chartered November 13, 1915)

Pledge Day—October 16, 1922

Nevada A increased its number by acquiring eleven pledges October 16. They are: Luethel Austin, '24; Wilma Blattner, '26; Laura Durkee, '25; Ruth Hampton, '26; Margaret McCarran, '26; Leota Maestretti, '26; Helen Merchant, '25; Phyllis Paulin, '26; Marjorie Roach, '26; Virginia St. Clair, '26; Lois Wilson, '24. The pledges all show an active interest in chapter and college life.

Nevada A is particularly proud of her scholarship rating last semester. Both active members and pledges excelled the four other women's fraternities in scholarship with an exceptionally high average. Five members were honor roll students. Last semester was very busy, because of increased participation in college activities and the great amount of work required in starting the chapter house.

The house is progressing very successfully, accommodating twelve girls this semester.

Nevada A received a great deal of help and inspiration from the visit of the Grand President, Amy B. Onken, who was the chapter's guest for two days.

HELEN ROBISON.

CAMP KIMOHO

Gertrude Fitz-Randolph Currens (Mrs. J. W.), Colorado A, conducts a summer camp for girls in the heart of the Rocky Mountain National Forest and Game Preserve, fifteen miles from Estes Park. Make your plans to go there after convention. You will see more of the wonders of the mountains and be better satisfied with your trip than in any other way. The snow-capped peaks, the Continental Divide, five glaciers, streams, cirque lakes, moraines, forest trails, magnificent views and the celebrated wild flowers are all enjoyed from this camp. For reservations address: Mrs. J. W. Currens, 1445 Grandview Ave., Boulder, Colo.

EXCHANGES AND COLLEGE NOTES

THE INTER-FRATERNITY SING

Every June the fraternity men at the University of Chicago stage a function termed "The Inter-fraternity Sing," which is one of the most pleasing Panhellenic affairs to be produced.

Alumni of the various fraternities living in Chicago or thereabouts gather at their respective chapter houses at dinner-time and are the guests of the active men at a buffet supper. Considerable rivalry is evidenced among the fraternities in the matter of carrying off the attendance honors. Just at sundown the individual groups march to the campus. The many hundred spectators are seated in circle fashion, a large fountain being situated in the center. One by one each fraternity enters the circle singing a marching song on the way. Gray heads and big turn-outs are greeted by vociferous applause. Then in single formation extending entirely around the fountain the men sing another of their songs. The Betas "Loving Cup," "The Σ A E Violet," "Kappa Sigma's Sweetheart," and our own "Sweetheart," with their own peculiar charm captivated those present. The Phi Gams gave their Fiji yell, and so went a delightful program.

After the last fraternity had sung, winners of the Varsity "C" in various sports were called forward to receive their blankets. All in all it was a unique and impressive entertainment, and other colleges and universities, where the Panhellenic esprit de corps is not what it should be, might give it a try.—Sigma Chi Quarterly.

To the editor of Kappa Alpha Theta we are indebted for the following advice:

Convention gives you an opportunity to widen your horizon. Go to convention with the idea of learning and not with the idea of criticising. You have to dig for good things, but bad ones you can see easily, so it is no achievement to be able to go back from convention and mimic the peculiar manner, or the rather odd dress of some one from some other chapter, but it is real achievement to be able to find out what things there are about this unique person that make her a good Theta and an acceptable one, too.

TWENTY THOUSAND DOLLARS TO FELLOWSHIPS

The American Field Service Fund Fellowships will receive $20,000 from the visit of Clemenceau to America. The amount is the surplus received from the lectures and newspaper articles by the French Tiger after defraying the expenses of his trip. He was unwilling to accept financial assistance for his mission so accepted the lecture and writing contracts.

The fellowships are to perpetuate the names of 127 members of the field service who gave their lives in the ambulance service in France before America entered the war. Thirty so far have been established in the sending of worthy Americans to French universities.—Associated Press.

The following paragraph from the Sigma Chi Quarterly is worthy of most serious consideration:

A black ball is not a dagger for a coward's use with which to even up an old score. It is not a brush with which to besmirch the character of one who may hold different views from yours. A black ball is a fraternity's shield to protect not individuals, but the Fraternity, from those who would injure it. It should never be cast with a prejudiced mind, or a selfish thought. Remember, it is a serious thing to constitute one's self jury and executioner in one single act without the Fraternity interests demand it.

NO BOOR WANTED

This is a social organization. The members ought to be specialists in the niceties of social intercourse. The chapter is out of kilter in whose home the visitor or guest is not made to feel that he is among gentlemen of fine manners and careful breeding. Correctness and ease and thoughtful consideration for the comfort and satisfaction of the guest in every little particular ought to be manifest in every fraternity home. Now these are not inborn attributes of the healthy male, and there are a lot of good fellows in freshman classes who are but the raw material of which gentlemen are to be made; the fraternity is justified in accepting that raw but promising material—if it is going to work it up into the finished product. Not otherwise. Every chapter owes it to the Fraternity and to the individual brothers to see that every member knows the niceties of social intercourse and puts them in practice. That is an art, an art which no man may safely ignore, which no gentleman does ignore, which no fraternity man should be allowed to ignore.—Palm of Alpha Tau Omega.

Says the Alpha Epsilon Phi Quarterly:

The New York District Committee is happy to announce the establishment of the third Alpha Epsilon Phi Dental Clinic in New York, this clinic to be the most comprehensive and systematic one in New York. The first dental clinic was established at the Federation Settlement on East 106th Street two years ago and is running full blast in its prophylactic and dental work among the neighborhood children. The second clinic has been pledged to the Stuyvesant Neighborhood House, of which Ruth Heller Cohen, Epsilon, is Assistant Director. Although the money for this second clinic is on hand, it is being held in reserve awaiting the construction of this settlement's new home within the next few months.

SIX FRATERNITY BROTHERS TAKE PART IN KANSAS CAMPAIGN

Three members of the reception committee to meet Jonathan M. Davis, Democratic candidate for Governor of Kansas, when he arrives in Kansas City, Kansas, to-morrow will recall a meeting with Mr. Davis at the University of Kansas thirty years ago. The same men, Grant W. Harrington, campaign manager for the Wyandotte Democrats; T. A. Pollock, attorney for the Kaw Valley drainage board, and Daniel Mallison, an attorney, were on the committee that initiated Davis into Sigma Nu Fraternity.

Another odd incident of the Kansas campaign is that Davis helped initiate Richard J. Hopkins, attorney-general of Kansas, and now a candidate for justice of the Supreme Court on the Republican ticket. Later the two helped initiate Otis Allen, Democratic candidate for justice of the Supreme Court. Allen and Hopkins, however, are not opponents, Hopkins being a candidate for division 1 and Allen division 2. All of the men belong to the same chapter of the Fraternity [Nu].—Kansas City Star.—Delta of Sigma Nu.

Concerning the election of new university presidents the Purple, Green and Gold of Lambda Chi Alpha says:

Many universities and colleges have inaugurated new presidents recently. Among them are: Dr. A. G. Crane, University of Wyoming, succeeding Dr. Aven Nelson, who becomes head of the department of botany; Dr. Allen Hoben, Kalamazoo College; the Reverend Matthew Walsh, C. S. C., University of Notre Dame, succeeding the Reverend James A. Burns; Dr. J. D. Finlayson, Fairmount College, Wichita, Kan.; the Reverend Isaac O. Foss, Missouri Christian College; Dr. Walter D. Agnew, Alabama Women's College; Fred C. Boughton, Sioux Falls College, succeeding Dr. W. C. Coulter, resigned; Dr. Charles E. Cobby, Christian College at Omaha, Neb., succeeding Dr. J. Steward French, who has been elected president of Cotner College; Dr. William J. Davidson, Illinois Wesleyan University, succeeding Dr. Theodore Kemp, resigned; Dr. R. A. Montgomery, Centre College; Dr. W. P. Barr, University of Dallas, succeeding Dr. M. F. Winne; Dr. J. E. Avent, Martha Washington College; W. G. Spencer, Hillsdale College.

FRATERNITY RADIO CONCERT

The Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity, represented by Alpha Delta and Beta Kappa chapters, of Georgia Tech and Emory University, was introduced in highly enjoyable fashion to the radio world Friday night at WSB's first concert of the evening.

Following this distinctly diversified and lively program, the Journal radio-telephone station was turned over during the nightly 10:45 broadcast to a delegation of the leading wireless amateurs of Atlanta, who put on an immensely novel and entertaining burlesque of everything and everybody connected with radio.

The H K A program was given in honor of chapters of the national collegiate order throughout the nation, and was a riotous success. Some of the leading stars of the musical and dramatic organizations of Tech and Emory were on hand, mobilized by J. O'Donald Shepherd, of Alpha Delta, with Alton O'Steen, popular vocalist and pianist of the Emory Glee Club, serving brilliantly as a hub for most of the activity.—Atlantic Journal.—Pi Kappa Alpha.

HOME ECONOMICS IN CHINA

Miss Ava B. Milam, dean of home economics at the Oregon Agricultural College, has sailed for China to establish a department of home economics at the University of Peking. She will make a survey of Chinese home life between Canton, Southern China, and Peking, and another of Peking homes, in order to adapt the department, when established, to the needs of Chinese women. Dean Milam will remain in China two years. Miss Camilla Mills, home economics graduate of the college, who accompanies her, will then carry on the work. Both women will make a study of Chinese languages.—School and Society.—Purple, Green and Gold of Lambda Chi Alpha.

In a recent report made at the convention of Phi Beta Kappa we find that the secretary of that organization draws an annual salary of $4,000 a year.

A FIJI PRESIDENT

Colgate University continues this year under Fiji leadership. Dr. George Barton Cutten (Yale '97), former president of Acadia College in Nova Scotia, on October 7 was inaugurated president of the university, taking up the position held for the last two years by Brother Melbourne S. Read (Cornell '95), who has been acting as president.—The Phi Gamma Delta.

Phi Beta Kappa recently elected the following officers:

President—Charles F. Thwing, LL.D., Harvard '76, President Emeritus of Western Reserve University, Cleveland, Ohio.

Vice-president—Francis W. Shepardson, LL.D., Brown '83, Director of the Rosenwald Foundation, Chicago, Ill.

Secretary—Oscar M. Voorhees, D.D., Rutgers '88, New York, N. Y.

Treasurer—David Layton, M.S., Rutgers '94, New York, N. Y.

FRATERNITIES AT LANSING

Since the removal of the ban against fraternities at Michigan Agricultural College a year ago, two women's fraternities have chartered locals, Alpha Phi and Alpha Gamma Delta. Alpha Gamma Rho, which limits its membership to the agricultural division, has also entered the college. Phi Delta Theta and Delta Tau Delta both had strong chapters in the college for twenty-five years prior to the interdict against fraternities. There is a widespread movement among the alumni to change the name of the institution, eliminating the name "Agricultural" which they claim falsely describes the college.—The Scroll of Phi Delta Theta.

A BETA AT THE HEAD

The National Education Association is the great organization of American teachers. It has its membership all over the country.

The head of this big educational body is Dr. William Bishop Owen, Denison '87, Principal of the Chicago Teachers' College at Normal Park, Chicago. For some years he has been one of the most active and aggressive workers upon committees which have been studying problems of the greatest importance. He has attended many conferences at Washington. He has given addresses on educational topics in many states. His election by unanimous vote as president was the appropriate reward for most valuable service. No one, more than he, has had influence in perfecting and solidifying the association and in rallying to its support more than 150,000 teachers.—Beta Theta Pi.

The Scroll of Phi Delta Theta quotes:

State College, Pa., September 23.—Calling upon the colleges of the country to lead in a movement for "sensible economy," President John M. Thomas, of the Pennsylvania State College, to-day addressed the students of the institution on "the need of keeping college expenses down to a reasonable figure." Dr. Thomas deplored the tendency among all classes of people to increase their personal expenses unnecessarily from year to year and proposed a reform in the direction of economy in student life.

In his address of welcome to the students beginning the new college year, the president urged the undergraduates to restrict their expenditures for social, athletic, musical, and dramatic activities. He said, in part:

"College education has become unnecessarily expensive. The sacrifices necessary for many parents are more severe than they need to be, and a large number of students are handicapping themselves by larger debts for their education than should be necessary."

"THE SIGNBOARD"

Gamma Epsilon Pi, the honorary commerce sorority, founded at the University of Illinois, March 26, 1918, to fill the same need for women of the College of Commerce as does Beta Gamma Sigma fill for men, now has fifteen active chapters. Its magazine is The Sign-board and it contains much valuable information of interest to the business woman and girl.

A COSTLY LESSON

At a meeting of Psi chapter of Phi Gamma Delta at Wabash College on October 18, 1922, it was decided to have a photograph made of the charter of the chapter and to place the original document in a fireproof vault.

With characteristic undergraduate tendencies, the execution of the decision was delayed.

On October 20, 1922, the home of Psi chapter was destroyed by fire.

A handful of ashes is all that remains of the precious, priceless parchment, which was issued in 1866 and which can never be replaced.

Write your own editorial.—The Phi Gamma Delta.

THE FRATERNITY MAN

The man who joins a fraternity loses something of his independence. He must submit to regulations, he must learn to adapt himself to the conditions of home life, and to the idiosyncrasies of a score or more of people. He will often have to yield his desires and his rights, perhaps, to the will of the organization, for those who go into an organization must be willing to do what will bring the greatest good to the greatest number. He must learn to get on with people, to give up, to be unselfish, to do that which will be most helpful and advantageous to his brothers. Many fellows do not like to do this, and sometimes parents do not wish them to learn, so that such men would make poor fraternity men, and they would be unhappy and make their friends unhappy in the making.—Delta Kappa Epsilon Quarterly.

Phi Kappa Psi states in a recent Quarterly that it "has received the first bequest ever made to the fraternity by a member. The endowment fund received notice in September that Brother Robert F. Stever of San Francisco, who died in August, had made provision in his will for $100 to be left to the endowment fund of Phi Kappa Psi."

HOTEL FRANKLIN

If you are contemplating a visit to New Jersey or desire to spend a week-end away from the city, you will be interested to know that the Benjamin Franklin Hotel, formerly known as the Hotel Franklin, at North Asbury Park, N. J., is owned by Carrie E. Stroud, New York A. The hotel is located only one block away from the ocean and is centrally located in relation to the New Open Air Swimming Pool and Sixth Avenue Bathing Grounds.

Miss Stroud, who is a graduate of Syracuse University, writes that many Pi Phis have come to her hotel and that she is always eager to meet them. She is at present refurnishing the hotel with early American furniture and is making an interesting collection of things pertaining to Franklin.

In addition to the hotel, Miss Stroud owns and manages a number of cottages at Asbury Park.
