OUR ARROW

Hail to our arrow!
Long may it shine
In truth and in beauty
And joys that are fine
Speeding its course
Where there's work to do,
For sisters we love
In the Wine and Blue.
Swiftly it flies
To the close of day—
Past shadows of night
It wings its way
To the starlit heavens
Above in the sky,
Our beautiful Arrow
Of Pi Beta Phi.

(Part of speech of Louise Spaulding Malin, Iowa B, now president of the Long Beach club, at the Founder's Day banquet of the Los Angeles Alumnae Club.)

Convention Call

Once again it is my privilege to issue for Pi Beta Phi a Call to Convention—to bid her members, active and alumnae, gather together for the inspiration and the strengthening of fraternity love and loyalty which come with a better understanding of her organization, strength, and ideals, with a part in the formation of her policies, and with the joy of association with each other. In keeping with her character as an international fraternity, Pi Beta Phi will hold her Twenty-seventh Biennial Convention at Bigwin Inn, Lake of Bays, Canada, June 22-27, 1925. The ideal which the Fraternity has for these days of Convention is that the business sessions shall efficiently and constructively review the past and plan for the future, that the Round Tables shall bring helpful conferences on problems and policies, and that the Sing, Settlement School Night, Stunt Night, Recreation Day, the Banquet, and the Model Initiation shall bring us all more closely together in true fraternity. Because TOGETHER we shall work and sing and play, shall come closer to our Settlement School and realize more fully what an incomparable memorial we have established for our beloved Founders, and shall feel the joy in old friends and in new friends, the thrill of a convention banquet, and the unforgettable inspiration of an initiation, we shall catch a new and deeper vision of our Fraternity and of its place in our lives. It is to these things—to the best of good times, to service, to understanding, and to inspiration—that Pi Beta Phi calls!

AMY BURNHAM ONKEN,
Grand President.

TWO OF OUR FOUNDERS

It is with very real sorrow and with a sense of irreparable loss that Pi Beta Phi, during the past year, has mourned the death of two of its dearly loved Founders, Ada Bruen Grier and Rosa Moore. Pi Beta Phi counts as the greatest contributing factor towards its present strength, numerically, intellectually and spiritually, the fact that its Founders have lived the ideals which, from the earliest days of I. C. until now, they have held before their fraternity. The death of these two Founders brings to us all a renewed sense of the obligation which we have to be worthy successors of these women whose lives of unselfish service are a challenge to the best in each of us, and makes us cherish even more tenderly than before the living Founders who are such a constant inspiration to us.

AMY BURNHAM ONKEN, Grand President.

ROSA MOORE, FOUNDER.

By FLORENCE CLUM TEMPLE, Pennsylvania B.

On July 8, Rosa Moore, Founder, was buried in the little cemetery about two miles west of Mechanicsburg, Cumberland County, Penn. The funeral services were conducted from the Myers Undertaking Parlors where about a dozen relatives and five Pi Phis had gathered. None of the relatives had seen Miss Moore in more than thirty years, except Elizabeth Craighead, Pennsylvania T, who had taken a great interest in her, especially during the past ten years.

Miss Moore was buried in a place very fitting for one of the Founders of Pi Beta Phi. It is on top of a beautiful hill under an evergreen tree. The flowers thrown into her grave with the "Dust to Dust" were wine carnations.

The officiating clergyman was Dr. Hagerty of the Presbyterian Church in Carlisle, and a member of Phi Delta Theta. Dr. Hagerty has always kept a very active interest in fraternities due to living in a college town and having boys of his own. His brief remarks were very beautiful. He said that most of the people present were absolute strangers to the deceased but that he knew something about her which was far finer than anything she could ever have written with a pen. Then he expanded the idea of the value of college fraternities and what they mean to their members. No one could have paid such tribute to a Founder except someone who knew as much about fraternities as did Dr. Hagerty.

At the close of the service the Pi Phis present recited the Creed which never had had more meaning to anyone of them than at that time.

Rosa Moore was born on the Moore homestead seventy-five years ago on July 1, and later went to college in Monmouth, Illinois, where she was a member of the family of an aunt. She was a great favorite with her intimate friends and entered wholeheartedly into the founding of the local group which was the mother chapter of Pi Beta Phi.

According to a girlhood chum, Miss Moore went to New York City about fifty-two years ago, where she did social service work and newspaper work for many years. Her outstanding trait was her generosity which showed keenly in the following message sent to The Arrow several years ago:

"The one word out of my heart to every other heart is—give, all that you are and have, and this consecration will restore all that has been lost to you, to others, and the world—forevermore."

Although she had not been back to Mechanicsburg, Pennsylvania, where her relatives lived, for more than thirty years she had during that time kept in correspondence with her girlhood chum who says of her: "Miss Moore was little, with snow white hair and 'talking brown eyes'."

What a splendid thing it is that Pi Beta Phi should have had the opportunity to care for Miss Moore and to make her last days comfortable and happy ones.

CONVENTION

The Twenty-seventh Biennial Convention of Pi Beta Phi will be held in June at the Bigwin Inn, Lake of Bays, Canada. This hotel which is the largest and most modern one in Canada is built on an island in the Lake of Bays, which lies north of Toronto among the hills of the blue Laurentians in that wide area known as the "Highlands of Ontario."

Although the Convention is to be held outside of the United States, the Inn is only about as far north as Charlevoix, Mich., where the 1919 Convention was held. Huntsville, the gateway to the Lake of Bays, is 146 miles north of Toronto and is on the Toronto-North Bay line of the Canadian National Railways. In order to reach Bigwin Inn the journey must be made by boat from Huntsville and requires two and one-half hours.

Kappa Kappa Gamma held its Convention at Bigwin Inn last June and the members of that organization are most enthusiastic over the place. In writing to the Crescent of Gamma Phi Beta, Estelle Kyle Kemp, National Panhellenic Delegate of Kappa Kappa Gamma says:

"The Kappas would urge all their Panhellenic sisters to have a convention at Bigwin Inn, Lake of Bays, Ontario, Canada. It is a wonderful place for both work and play. The climate is ideal, —the peppy kind that makes one active mentally and physically; the hotel accommodations are splendid. There is a fine golf course, excellent tennis courts, a good swimming beach, all kinds of boating and the island itself is beautiful. All this sounds like "advance press agent stuff," but we did love every minute we were there and would like others to enjoy it, too."

Alumnæ Clubs should begin now to plan, if possible, to send a delegate or to urge one of their members to attend the Convention as important matters concerning the reorganization of the alumnæ department are to be considered.

Active chapters should urge all members to consider going to Convention in order to represent the chapters with stunts, with assistance on the Convention Daily, with participation in Convention sports, in competition for the Mileage Cup, etc.

Begin to save your money now. Talk to the girls who went to Estes Park—and you will not fail to be with us at Bigwin Inn.

Full information concerning transportation, program, plans, and every phase of Convention will appear in the March ARROW which will be a special Convention number.

Ontario A will be the hostess chapter and Dr. Edith L. Gordon has been appointed Convention Guide.

HONOR GRADUATES FOR 1923-1924

(Note: A flood in the building in which Miss Wilder had her statistics filed destroyed data and pictures from Indiana Δ and New York A so that the pictures could not be used in this issue.—The Editor.)

Pi Beta Phi can review with pride the number of young women wearing the arrow who last June went out from college life leaving behind them a record of distinction. Of the chapters to which they belong, we note in particular Indiana A and New York A with six honor graduates; Arizona A, Washington B, Indiana Δ, and Vermont A each with four; and Wisconsin A, and Nevada A each with three. Wisconsin A has the honor of having three of the nine Mortarboards and three of the eight representative women on the campus elected from among its seniors. Two honor graduates, Dorothy Arndt of Indiana B and Grace Rodee of New York Γ, held the highest average in their classes.

Worthy of special mention is the record of Dorothy Burrows of Illinois Z who last year as a freshman had a straight A average and tied with two others for the scholarship cup awarded to freshmen women at the University of Illinois.

NORTH CAROLINA A IN ENGLAND

By ALINE E. HUGHES

Last year on June 20, the four of us, Jane Toy, Dorothy Greenlaw, Hariotte Taylor and I, sailed from New York City on the good ship President Polk, United States liner, bound for England. It was an adventure for all of us, a journey to a strange and yet somehow very familiar land, and for months past we had been dreaming and working toward that very moment when we began first to feel the throb of the ship in motion, and began to steal out to sea through the great harbor of New York.

That first day as we travelled up the coast to Boston was ideal, a blue and gold day with a sea like glass. But soon after we left Boston we struck a storm which held us in its grip for days, which kept the baggage rolling and tossing in most disconcerting manner; kept the racks on the table almost all the way across; at one time sent the piano rolling into the living room, leaving the pianist alone on the piano stool; while many of the passengers, myself among the number, went through those agonizing hours when life seems worse than useless, hours known only to those who have intimately lived with mal de mer. But the weather cleared up in time for us to grow to love the good old ship and to hate to leave her hospitable decks.

"What is that squawking?" one of our party asked one morning early. "They must have some chickens on board."

"Oh, you land-lubber," an old traveller replied, "They're sea-gulls."

And our first sight of land was of the lovely southern shores of Ireland which we skimmed past on a beautiful blue and gold morning, while hundreds of sea-gulls circled about us with their never ceasing cries. At Queenstown's outer harbor we halted long enough to send a few of our passengers ashore and for us to be boarded by a wild horde of Bridgets and Pats selling Irish laces and shelallehs.

A young English Canadian scholar was much embarrassed on this occasion. He purchased a lovely lace scarf for his mother from one of the vociferous venders, and as the officers shoed her off the boat, she shrieked back her gratitude to him as he stood on the crowded deck, "God bless you, sir, an' may He make you the father of sixteen!"

But never will any of us forget the first of July, 1923, and our first glimpse of England! We were called at about four a. m., when through our portholes the golden mists of dawn were stealing over the blue waters. It was a perfect day and we could scarcely eat our hurried breakfast for peering through the portholes at the lovely scene around, for we were anchored in the beautiful harbor of old Plymouth.

After the usual business of passports and after bidding our friends of the voyage farewell, we climbed down into the tender awaiting passengers, and as we steamed into the picturesque harbor, we watched the good old ship glide swiftly off toward Cherbourg, the blue waters rippling off to each side of her, and hundreds of sea-gulls swarming about her.

Never did anything seem greener than the wooded little hills which dot Plymouth harbor. The water and the sky seemed to vie with each other in blueness on that lovely morning, while sailboats with rich red-brown sails added another touch of color.

Plymouth Hoe is the principal spot of interest in the quaint old city with its hilly, winding streets and its old, old houses. The Hoe is a sort of open plaza or park, a-top a high rocky cliff and from here was first sighted the Spanish Armada as it came to threaten England. From here, too, sailed Drake for his trip around the world. And from the Babican of Plymouth the Mayflower set forth for America.

On a Sunday afternoon in Plymouth, The Hoe fairly swarms with English lads and lassies a-holidaying, lovers lolling on the grassy slopes, children racing about, families informally lunching, and hundreds swimming in the blue waters of the harbor below.

But on Monday morning, July 2, we set out on our hike through Devonshire, clad in knicker suits, packs on our backs, a few sandwiches in our pockets, a cake of chocolate and an orange apiece.

That first day took us over the moors of South Devon, a land of soft green hills where sheep and horses wandered at will, a day of pale sunshine and occasional mists, with lunch at a very small village at the center of the moorlands. We encountered several regiments of British Tommies that day, the fifes and drums making gay accompaniment for their march.

It would be hard to describe the real delight of those days of tramping through Devon, the freedom of them and the changing but ever delightful vistas of lovely English landscapes. Sometimes our tramp would lead us on and on over the open moors, with the wind and the mist in our faces, and with ever a view of quaint villages nestled on the hillsides, their ever-present gray church tower and thatched roofs giving a picturesque touch to the soft green of the rolling hills.

Sometimes we would tramp for hours and almost a whole day between the lovely and far-famed hedgerows of Devon. The fox-gloves were in bloom and the grassy mounds of the hedgerows were purple with their graceful waving stalks, while close to the ground bloomed wild flowers of every kind and color. At intervals open gateways gave tempting views of the green checkerboard of English pasture lands. We couldn't resist these openings, and often climbed over the bars to rest or to eat our lunches in the cool green shadow of the hedges. I can see us now, lolling in the long grass, eating our simple meal, gracious fields stretching away at our feet, with a gray church tower peeping over the distant trees, while we talked of this or that or the other as it struck our fancy.

The first night we stopped at Tavistock, then Okehampton, Bideford, Barnstaple and Ilfracombe. And each day the last miles were weary ones, with blistered feet and tired bodies. But how good did those English suppers taste, pots of tea, delicious marmalade, bread and butter and cold meat. But one can't mention all the charming, funny little incidents which kept us laughing and made us forget our frequent weariness.

From Bideford we made a short trip by bus to Clovelly, a quaint and beautiful little town almost overhanging the sea, whose streets are only winding stairways and whose vehicles are small donkeys. Here, at Ilfracombe and every time we were near the sea, we were fortunate in having the brightest weather, with blue seas and skies, saucy sailboats and the graceful and ever-present seagulls.

Ilfracombe is a resort town, made unique by its gray, rocky coast overlooking the sea. From here we took bus to Linton, where we transferred to a real old English coach. With what a delightful flourish did it swing down the streets of Linton, its horses prancing, its bright red paint gay in the sun, its driver and footman in livery of red and green, its long brass horn sounding out a brave greeting. Clinging to the top of this picturesque but rather uncertain equipage, we followed the banks of the East Lynn to Doone Valley, a long, peaceful, treeless valley between heather-covered hills, and we had a country dinner with berries and the famous clotted cream at the Lorna Doone farm house.

Bath was our next stopping place of interest, where we saw the old Roman Baths, the Pump House where Beau Nash reigned and many other old and interesting places.

Oxford next, and how we did enjoy it! It was there that we received the cablegram telling us of the granting of a charter to North Carolina. We celebrated with a tea at the Boffin tea house, which was also appropriate since the nickname of Beta Alpha Phi had been The Boffins.

There are too many delightful spots in and around Oxford to describe them all. We visited the colleges with their beautiful old dining halls, their chapels and their lovely gardens, and heard many a tale about old and famous alumni. We went punting on the Isis at night, where the stately rows of poplars cast faint shadows on the calm waters, where graceful boughs drooped low over the bending stream, and where white steps led down to the water's edge from hidden gardens.

We had the unique opportunity of witnessing an Elizabethan Revel in Worcester college gardens, when Margot Asquith took the part of the Virgin Queen. The costumes and dancing were beautiful, but as much as anything else we enjoyed watching the crowd who attended the pageant. We wandered about over the cricket ground from booth to booth seeking ice cream or something cooling, for it was as hot as a June day in Carolina, but the hot tea booth was the most popular place on the grounds. It was a lovely place, with swans gliding about on a nearby shady pool and the gardens vivid with color.

At Oxford we rented bicycles and set out for the Shakespeare country. We had some funny experiences with our bikes, for they had hand brakes instead of the American foot brakes, and the rules of the road in England are exactly opposite to ours. It was most disconcerting to jam one's feet down in an effort to stop suddenly, only to find the pedals whirling about helplessly while we flew along at the same breakneck pace—we had forgotten to use our hands. Once I nearly ran into a brick wall by this same method.

We spent a night in Banbury, then on to Stratford-on-Avon, where we stayed with a quaint old lady just opposite Old Trinity church. We loved the church and the quiet waterside and Ann Hathaway's cottage, but Shakespeare's house and much of the town are too much commercialized to seem quite natural. The theater with its splendid collection of paintings and its museum was very interesting.

In the late afternoon we biked over to Warwick, and just as we came into town met a long processional of choir boys and townspeople singing and marching to St. Mary's church. A most interesting old building it was, in which in one of the chapels all of the Earls of Warwick are buried. In the crypt we saw an old ducking stool. The castle is a very beautiful and well preserved place with its gray, ivy-covered walls overlooking the river, its peacock walk, lovely gardens, and its fascinating contents, its splendid armory and wonderful old paintings.

Kenilworth's brown old ruins make one dream and wonder and wish to read again Sir Walter Scott's old story. We reached Coventry that night. One of the loveliest sights along these old roads was the many wheat fields, splashed with the crimson of poppies.

When we set out from Coventry the next morning, a faint, cold mist was driving in our faces. We had some difficulty in getting out on the right road and by the time we had gone a few miles the mist had turned into a piercing, cold rain. By the time we were pretty well soaked, an old wayside inn broke on our view and gladly we welcomed it. After stumbling over the stable and the bar, we finally found the innkeeper's wife who took us into the cosy warmth of her own little parlor-dining room. A bright coal fire soon dried our clothes and warmed us delightfully, and never did lunch taste better than the delicious hot food she set out on the table before the fire, while a big cat purred happily in a low chair.

We spent a week in Chester, a quaint and delightful old place, with its fine old wall, splendid cathedral and fascinating arcades of shops. The old brass shops were especially interesting. From Chester we took motor bus trips into rugged and beautiful North Wales.

By several days of biking we arrived at Windermere in the English Lake country, and there we could have gladly stayed on and on. We hiked and biked all through that lovely Wordsworth country with its wonderful green mountains and splashing waterfalls, its beautiful quiet lakes like gems in perfect settings. It was hard work biking. Wearily we would push our bikes up the unending hills, only to dash madly down on the other side, one's life depending on one's brakes and wits.

From Windermere we rode past Grassmere and Thirlmere through the most beautiful country, to Kendal, where we bade farewell to our good steeds, shipping them back to Oxford as we took the train for Glasgow.

From here we made the interesting trip through the Scotch lakes over to Edinburgh in a day—and what a gloomy, rainy, cold and misty day it was. The mist was so thick as we went down Loch Lomond and Loch Katrine that we could scarcely catch a glimpse of the shores, except a brief view of Ellen's Isle. And on top of the busses the wind blew and the rain came and our umbrellas poked each other's eyes and dripped water in our laps and nearly blew away. It would have been miserable if it hadn't been so funny. We "got the giggles," much to the amazement of our fellow travellers, especially a group of Americans who foresaw pneumonia and various other ills confronting them. That wasn't the only time when "the giggles" saved us from being miserable.

We spent nearly a week in Edinburgh and it is well worth a long stay. The castle, perched high on its great gray promontory of rock; St. Giles Cathedral with its myriad memorials, its Order of the Thistle room and its vast dimness; Holyrood Palace, Arthur's Seat and many more historic and picturesque spots keep one on the qui vive. And the Edinburgh shops are unusually fascinating. Wonderful plaids of brilliant hues fill the windows and the sweaters and woolen goods are particularly attractive.

A very interesting bus trip from Edinburgh took us to Abbotsford, Melrose Abbey, Dryburgh Abbey, past Earl Douglas Haig's home and other interesting places, much of the trip being along the banks of the lovely River Tweed.

and kidney pie with its accompanying ale or cider and delicious toasted cheese. And we then visited the nearby law courts, Temple Bar and the Inner Temple, famed in history and story.

The stay in London was all too short to do and to see the things we wished to, but we couldn't resist a run across to Paris, since we didn't know when we would be so near again, and since our port of departure was Le Havre. Again we were lucky in the weather for we had a beautiful, clear, breezy day, with white plumes on the blue waves, for our trip across the channel from Newhaven to Dieppe, the white chalk cliffs were bright in the sunlight.

We didn't think our French education had been neglected, but the first sputterings of a foreign language which we heard in the customs house at Dieppe were most confusing. The boat train to Paris was crowded with two parties of tourists, and the long lines which stood in the aisles waiting for a chance at the restaurant car, the meager lunch with the train rocking so that one's chocolate stayed more in the saucer than the cup, were unpleasant, but we forgot these things when we crossed the Seine just at sunset and rolled into the noise and confusion of the Gare du Nord.

I don't think I shall ever forget the magic of that first night in Paris when we had a late supper with friends in one of the open air restaurants on the Champs Elysees, that beautiful and brilliantly lighted boulevard. Automobiles and carriages streamed constantly before our eyes, and up above the Arc de Triomphe a bright moon sailed.

Window-shopping alone is enough to make any woman love Paris, for the shops are fascinating. But there are so many beautiful and interesting places to see, Notre Dame with its beautiful dignity, its gargoyles, its associations; the interesting Latin Quarter with the Sorbonne and the Luxembourg nearby; the Arc de Triomphe sheltering the grave of the Unknown Soldier; Napoleon's Tomb, the Bois de Boulogne. We spent a Sunday at Versailles when its marvellous fountains were playing, thousands of people from all over the world thronging the gardens to see the wonderful sight. Versailles the beautiful, with its thrilling associations of the long past and of more recent days, its great hall of mirrors where the Versailles Peace Treaty was composed; its

We had always thought of the North Sea as cold and gray and dreary but it presented a most blue and smiling aspect to us as we travelled down the coast, while the grain fields were golden in the sunshine.

While in Edinburgh we had heard of President Harding's death, and at York we had the privilege to be present for the memorial service in his honor at beautiful York Minster, when the Archbishop of York made a brief but very touching address. The service was most solemn and beautiful, the burial service being read with marvellous music by the boy choir and Beethoven's funeral march on the great organ. It would take a long essay to describe the beauties of the splendid Minster, which appealed to me entirely. York's old walls and its narrow, winding streets were most appealing also, but we had little time to visit them as we barely caught our train for Cambridge as it was, the guards shoving on our luggage as the train pulled out.

The "college backs" or gardens of Cambridge are uniquely beautiful, and made more interesting of course through the associations of famous students. A myriad of graceful bridges are reflected in the quiet, winding Cam, one being a replica of the Venetian Bridge of Sighs, and picturesque punts drift slowly under drooping willows. We had a most interesting week-end with friends at a country home near Cambridge and they were kind enough to point out all the interesting spots which we should see.

Then London! We stayed at the Thackery, just opposite the British Museum, which received several visits from us between other excursions. It's hard to know where to stop or start, for we all loved London and enjoyed it. Of course we went to St. Paul's, an afternoon service. Just after Sunday morning service at Westminster Abbey, we walked right into friends of ours from Chapel Hill, which as all good Pi Phis know, is the home of North Carolina A. It was a delightful surprise for we did not know they were in England.

We saw Buckingham Palace and the nearby parks, dignified old Trafalgar Square, Charing Cross, Fleet Street, the Strand with its crowds, its flower venders, its many tea shops, Piccadilly, the Tower, the shops. We went with friends to the Cheshire Cheese Inn, where we saw Samuel Johnson's and Dickens' favorite seats and where we enjoyed the famous steak—and pigeon—magnificent paintings, tapestries and relics of days of former glory.

We heard the opera, "Aida," at the great opera house, and we heard "Carmen" at the Opera Comique. The great opera house alone is a wonderful sight, with its great marble stairways, its famous galleries and promenade, filled with beautifully dressed men and women. The music was splendid, and I think I won't forget the scene of the triumphal march in "Aida," when the trumpeters play that inspiring march as the conqueror brings in his captives; nor the dim stage and those lovely strains of, "O, Celeste Aida."

But since all good things must end, we had to take the boat train, and from Le Havre we set sail for home on August 30. The voyage was uneventful but very pleasant, and New York and Home, on a hot September day looked mighty good to us.

SNAPSHOTS OF SCHOOL CHILDREN IN THE PHILIPPINES

LIFE IN THE PHILIPPINES

By HATTIE GASSNER TORRENCE, Iowa A

(Note—Mrs. Torrence died in Manila and lies buried in the American Teacher's Plot of the Cementerio del Norte. Her daughter, Margaret Torrence Petry, Iowa A, who has been teaching at Kobe, Japan, was recently married to F. W. Petry and is making her home in Japan.)

Zamboanga, Mindanao, P. I.

Thinking that you might like to know something of the moral state of the inhabitants of these islands, and conditions surrounding them, I'll write you this time in regard to the foregoing. Not to know the language (I should say the 179 dialects) acts as a great wall to shut one out from the heart life of the people. You doubtless know that English is the official language here and it is used to the exclusion of all other languages in the public school. So, since attendance is compulsory, one would expect to be able to use English almost as we do in the States.

However the modifying circumstances give us a somewhat different result. If you will take a large map of the P. I., you will see a rather large island,—really the largest in the group through which runs latitude 7 degrees north of the Equator. On the extreme southwestern point is situated Zamboanga, one of the few Filipino cities that can lay claim to being at all modern. We have electric lights, telephone, a library, paved streets, a water system, many modern vehicles but no railroad. We however, have that article so necessary to the comfort of an American in this hot climate, artificial ice. There are also a good American hotel, department store, fine high school building, and an expensive Normal school. Now that sounds quite enlightened and civilized, but if you could see the island dotted with points indicating each public school, you would see them as a fringe along the coast, and often the spaces between would be great.

Then what of the people who live back from the coast? The great number who have no schools? You can answer that question almost as well as I, for the greater part of this island is unexplored country and so far as known the people are pagan and absolutely untouched by civilian life. This condition can be found on most of the islands—that is, a fringe of civilization along the coast and waterways, while the interior is as it has been for ages.

If you ever saw a tropical forest, or tried to cross even a small mangrove swamp, you would understand that reaching the interior is such labor, attended by such dangers, that it will require untold wealth, men, and years to bring these regions into a condition approaching civilization. So the assertion that the Philippines has a fine public school system needs acceptance with its grain of salt. To my mind it is not "fine" even where they have it, for the reason that lack of funds and the scarcity of American teachers has made the employment of native teachers a necessity. Many of these have not finished more than the fifth grade, and their English is exceedingly faulty both in vocabulary and pronunciation. So in addition to the faults in English which they acquire from the teacher, the pupils pile up their own, and the result is a language which is difficult to recognize or understand unless one has been here long enough to guess at a word.

One department of the school system is that of the farm schools. The climate and soil will produce with the minimum of labor a great many of the staple foods of the temperate climates; foods which the half-starved, ignorant aborigines need more than education from books alone. Not that books are entirely set aside, but the teaching of the children to produce foodstuffs of desirable quality, with the small amount of mental training received from books added, seems a most humane method of bringing civilization to the mass of the people.

These islands are supposed to have been originally peopled by the Negritos, a black race, and the brown or Malayan people to be aggressors. The Negritos live mostly in the northern islands although a few are found scattered over the archipelago. There are over 3000 islands in the Philippine group, but only fifteen or so of considerable size. The Malaysians, who people the Philippines for the most part are of three religions,—the Moro or Mohammedan; the Pagans who are wild and uncivilized; and the Christians, who are Roman Catholic and those affected by the Protestant missions. These last are called Filipinos. They are brown, and frequently show mixed blood; Chinese, Spanish, American, etc., in which case they are known as mestizos. Their features incline to heaviness but not like the negroes. We find them a very lovable people and forget their color when we know them.

The influence of the white people here is in general everything it ought not to be in a moral way. As the Filipinos regard the Americans (and English) with a respect often akin to worship, you may imagine the harm these godless people do and how much harder they make the work for the missionaries. I shall not go into detail regarding the lives of many of these miserable examples of "Christian America," but their open drunkenness, their mestizo children, their utter godlessness make me almost ashamed to acknowledge myself an American.

Last week I had the pleasure of going to Taluksangay, a Moro village. There is a good auto road practically to the town. We then walked over a most rickety trestle about half a block long, under which the rising tide was swelling. Along the edge of the bayou were queer, picturesque, native boats, all carved and time-worn, and through the trees the nipa-thatched houses of the village could be seen. Immediately on reaching the end of the trestle we were in a coco palm grove with graves scattered thickly in their shade. Crossing this we entered the one long main street, many of the houses on one side being built out over the ocean. By this time the crowds began to gather and followed us as we visited the boys' school and then the girls'; where we were much entertained and amused with the program given by the pupils—of course in English. It is impossible to picture adequately the children and their dialect; but we could understand the most that they said and they really did quite as well as white children in the states, except for the pronunciation and the strident tones in their speaking and singing. They were dressed somewhat as one would expect a slum school to be dressed, in American fashion, and the most of them looked quite clean, even though sometimes the dress was in doubtful taste or very slipshod in appearance.

The head Mohammedan of the place treated us very courteously. He is a rather fine-looking man, somewhat larger than the most of the Moros, and really dignified in his bearing. He allowed us to take his picture, and also permitted us to walk on the long veranda of the "meschid" and look into their place of worship; a very tolerant act in a Mohammedan. Though this Moslem meschid is second in size and importance in the islands; to our eyes it appears very crude, but in comparison to their houses it is quite a pretentious and grand structure. It bears aloft the star and crescent as the Moros belong to the same sect as the Turks. This head man, the Hadji, had made the pilgrimage to Mecca, so has especial honor. The Moros go in thousands on a pilgrimage to Mecca every year or so—families and all.

On our return we faced a glorious tropical sunset, and when this faded it was almost immediately night, as so near the equator, not only does "the dawn come up like thunder," but "at one stride comes the dark"; and to those of us who have ever found the twilight hour the most restful of all the day, to be deprived of it thus continually emphasizes the fact that we are far from home and in a strange country.

INTERNATIONAL FEDERATION OF UNIVERSITY WOMEN THIRD BIENNIAL CONFERENCE

By SOPHIE P. WOODMAN, New York B

(Note.--Miss Woodman was one of the non-voting delegates and represented the BARNARD ALUMNAE BULLETIN as Editor-In-Chief thereof.--The Editor).

Many Pi Phis are active in the American Association of University Women and so will be able to read at length in the October Journal the accounts of the business and pleasure of the Third Biennial Conference of the International Federation of University Women held last July in Christiania. Perhaps, however, a short account of this gathering may serve to introduce our undergraduates to this movement. Of course, all Pi Phis know that May L. Keller, President Emeritus of Pi Beta Phi, is one of the vice-presidents of the A. A. U. W. However, she was unable to attend the conference and so the writer believes that she was the only $\Pi\Phi$ present.

After several weeks in the grandeur of the fjords, days running the gamut from somber majesty in mist and rain to joy in the intense northern sunshine and moonlight, we arrived in Christiania just in time to hurry over to the Grand Hotel for the very end of the banquet Monday night, July 28, at which all delegates were guests of the four hostess federations: Norway, Sweden, Finland, and Denmark. Tuesday morning, after registration, came the opening meeting in the beautiful "festive hall" of the University. All the delegates were asked to wear academic costume but very few had it in their suit-cases and so we were allowed to go in as we were, minus hats! The student garb of Norway is a blue tam with visor and large tassel resting on the right shoulder. In Sweden the head gear is a yachting cap, white with black visor with a button on the crown. The Finnish delegates wore an abbreviated stove-pipe and so on. The "festive hall" was very beautiful, with its stage banked with yellow marigolds, blue larkspur and red gladioli in the intense colors of Norway; the remarkable symbolic paintings of Edvard Munch on the walls and the handsomely dressed audience which rose as the delegates marched in. Before the program began Aksel Anderson conducted his orchestra in a program of Grieg, Sinding and Svendsen, giving an interpretation which the ardent music lovers had never been privileged to hear before. Then addresses of welcome were given in English by Professor Halvdan Koht on behalf of the University of Christiania; Kristine Bonnevie, president of the Norwegian Federation, Dr. Alma Sundquist, president of the Swedish Federation; in German by Dr. Jenny of Forselles, president of the Finnish Federation and in French by Dr. Clara Black, president of the Danish Federation. Dr. Caroline Spurgeon, professor of English at Bedford College, London University, made a very fine address as president of the I. F. U. W. It may be found in the October Journal and should be read by all college women. Professor Fridtjof Nansen, famed scientist and explorer, High Commissioner of the League of Nations, honored the gathering with an address on "Intellectual Co-operation."

A record of business meetings, reports, plans and discussions may be found in the Journal, just a word here of the social events. It seemed as though all the good things of this delightful city were put at the disposal of the delegates and their friends. No word of praise can be too high for the efficient courtesy of the Norwegian hostesses and their personal charm will be ever remembered. The first "personally conducted" trip was to the ancient fortress, the Akerhus, which has looked over town and harbor for four hundred years. This building is closed to the general public but we were not only privileged to go through it but to be conducted by Professor M. Sinding-Larsen, who is restoring it and who gave us a very fine lecture in the old post chapel after we had listened to an organ recital. The viking ships, kept on the University Campus, were another attraction. One afternoon we took an automobile ride around the city with undergraduates as guides. One evening the whole convention visited the Folk Museum across the bay and had dinner in a rustic restaurant. Another evening all were taken by trolley, to the top of Frognerstaern where a banquet was tendered by the Municipality of Christiania, and later in the same evening, Mr. Wilse, foremost photographer of Norway, gave a lecture on Norway and the North Cape illustrated with his remarkable work. Another unusual privilege was a visit to the studio of M. Gustave Vigeland, greatest living sculptor of Scandinavia, whose studio has never before been opened to the public. The last afternoon H. M. the Queen of Norway entertained the officers of the Federation at a garden party and the British and American Ministers received their nationals. We rejoiced that the United States government has recently bought the beautiful mansion built by the Nobel of "peace prize" fame, for his daughter. It is exquisitely furnished. Besides this garden party of Mr. Swensen, those who later visited Stockholm were delightfully received by Mrs. Bliss, wife of the American Minister.

As we look back on the week in Christiania, inspiring talks by Viscountess Rhondda, by Mrs. Corbett Ashby and others, interesting reports of the work college women are doing in eighteen different countries, plans for peace and good will among nations are mingled with the remembrance of wonderful shops where we bought our Christmas presents and the charm of fascinating Christiania and her delightful townsfolk, old buildings, dancing blue water surrounded by green hills, and laughing, well-dressed people, always courteous to the hapless stranger.

These figures and facts may be of interest.

The I. F. U. W. was founded in London in July, 1919, by a group of far seeing women led by Dr. Spurgeon. There was a conference in London in 1920 and one in Paris in 1922. The fourth will be held in Amsterdam in July, 1926.

At Christiania two new federations were voted in, the Swiss and Irish, making 20 in all. There were 112 voting and non-voting delegates distributed as follows:

Australia -----	4	Holland -----	2
Austria -----	2	Ireland -----	1
Belgium -----	2	Italy -----	1
Canada -----	7	New Zealand -----	1
Czecho-Slovakia -----	2	Norway -----	2
Denmark -----	2	South Africa -----	1
England and Scotland -----	10	Sweden -----	3
Finland -----	2	Switzerland -----	2
France -----	2	United States -----	66

Each federation is allowed from one to five voting delegates according to its membership, and one non-voting delegate for every two hundred members. There were 31 additional American women visitors (not listed as national members of the A. A. U. W.)

The newly elected president of the Federation is Virginia C. Gildersleeve a graduate of Barnard College, Kappa Kappa Gamma, and for many years dean of Barnard. The treasurer is also an American, Mrs. Thomas Raeburn White, of Bryn Mawr.

RAMBLES IN SCANDINAVIA

New York City,
October 26, 1924.

Dear Arrow Editor:

Since you want a bit on Norway, I wish I could show you all my pictures and describe our rambles in detail, for Scandinavia more than met my expectations and is fascinating in scenery, old cities, quaint farms, people, color, and the long twilight.

A very dear friend had been twice to the Northern countries so I knew that Bennett was the firm to plan one's trip and went armed with typed sheets of where to shop for this and that and what to see. My companion carried Baedeker so we learned and did a lot in four weeks. Norway, itself, can be covered successfully in four weeks; three for the fjords and one for the interior and Kristiania. The trip to the North Cape takes two more. Therefore plan for six weeks for Norway, and may I wish you now fine weather (at least every other day glorious) and a full moon. One can scratch the surface of Stockholm—fascinating city as far east as Vienna—in a week, and one more would allow for the Gota Canal trip and Denmark. Eight weeks would be none too much. But you would be surprised to see how passably intelligent my companion and I are with only four to our credit! Three weeks I had to give to England as I had a rather unusual opportunity to go with English friends on a real English holiday. I think my friend and I were the first Americans to appear in Robin Hood's Bay. Anyway, the girl at the ticket window couldn't understand me when I asked for a "one round-trip to Scarborough. "Oh," volunteered one of my companions, "she means a single return."

But to return to Norway Mr. Bennett had told us not to worry as English was understood quite generally since it was taught in the schools. Knowing something of modern language results on this side of the water I trembled. Our first day however, in Bergen saw us lunching on Floien, the mountain over-looking city and fjord,—such a gorgeous view—and eating lobster to which a most patient waiter introduced us as "hummer." Now and then the words resemble the German but when we were really desperate and tried it, it didn't work). That evening, we took a train out about half an hour in the heavenly country to visit an old Staverkirke at Fantoft. Here we decided to dine at the Berge-

lund Cafe where the tables seemed up in the trees and the view of golden sunshine on the green, green valley was entrancing. New England in the September light. But the menu was in Norwegian and no one knew a word of English, French or German. Further than this Charlotte and I could not go. Finally when the whole establishment was in hysterics with me looking "perishing" and pointing to train time on my watch the waitress "got an idea" which electrified the whole company. She dashed to the telephone and presently a pretty girl from the near-by hotel came running down the hill to tell us that "lax" meant salmon. Hereafter, we had the "open sesame" for all occasions.

The next day found us leaving Bergen with its fascinating museums, old fortress and marvelous enamel jewelry for Norheimsund on the Hardanger Fjord and our gastronomic difficulties vanished. The fjord country is as easy as one of Yellowstone Park,—minus dust and crowds. An hour by train followed by an hour by auto. Lunch. If time and pocketbook do not drive you perhaps you spend the afternoon and evening, going on next day by boat to the next beauty spot. A trip planned by Bennett is carefree: "Cash down" gives you a little book of tickets which are accepted everywhere on trains, boats, autos, hotels and there is always a good room awaiting you at night.

How many pages did you say you were leaving for this account? I could fill the ARROW did I but begin to describe the Hardanger in a mist, waterfalls leaping thousands of feet down black cliffs, seemingly from the clouds, or in the wild glory of the Voringfos boiling into a rugged canyon which might be anywhere in Colorado. And moonlight at Ulvik! There was a German destroyer in the harbor and first the band came along the strand and then, about midnight, as I finally persuaded myself to go to bed, the boys minus instruments—but each with a girl on his arm, came by humming. Just like musical comedy. The Norwegians do not admire the Germans but girls are ever tolerant to sailors—in such moonlight!

During a ride in the native two-wheel cart down the magnificent valley from Myrdal to Flaam we saw almost too many stupendous waterfalls and fell completely in love with the Norwegian ponies. The best—at least the most adorable—are the Nord Fjord variety. They are the exquisite faun color of a Jersey cow and down the mane, along the back to the tip of the long tail runs a black band. And they are so fat and strong. Nevertheless, tourist must walk up Stalheim hill! No pony must get too tired! How it rained the day we walked it! Coming into Gudvangen was as grand as anything I have ever seen. Sheer walls of rock several thousand feet towering into swirling white mist and grey-black cloud. And, then the rain! But about five the sky cleared and the view down the valley, with a great bare rock which reminded me of Half Dome in the Yosemite, was fine but best of all was the red Alpine glow on the snow fields which glittered in the moonlight about eleven o'clock. It is no use for children to ask to sit up "until dark" in Norway; it just doesn't come!

From Gudvangen on the Naerofjord, we passed the next day a brilliant sunshine to Balhohn on Sogne. No wonder Britain and German royalty have summered there! No lovier spot under heaven, we thought, as we approached it, a green jewel set in snow covered mountains. And the Kvickne Hotel is a first class resort hotel. Be sure you get a room on the front with a private porch overlooking the fjord! And the dining room offers the best inducement to eat slowly as it is filled with splendid examples of the wreck of Normann and Haus Dahl. Balholm is an artist colony and we had several delightful hours in studios during our stay.

It is well for the ARROW that it rained two days out of three in Olden, on the Nordfjord, as I should never be able to stop writing about it. On the one good day we went by Stolkjaenne to the Oldenvand, across the lake, surrounded by high mountains, on a little boat, took another cart to the hut at the confluence of two hanging valleys, a tongue of glacier glistening down each and a silver thread dropping from another world opposite. The Bridalsbrae is the most beautiful glacier I have seen—pure white, terminating in a great dazzling wall.

Our last days on the fjords were spent at Merok on the Geiranger. Some think this the finest of the fjords. Certainly I have never seen mountain scenery to surpass that at Merok, straggling up the hill, or the splendid road which twists up and over the mountain to the land of eternal snow at Djupvashytten. And then another branch of the road from Grotli to Vide Saeter and Hjelle on lovely Lake Stryn. At Merok we climbed all the time; to a humble gaarde, or farm, far up above the hotel. One of the choicest experiences of the summer was the afternoon we toiled far up to a very prosperous farm, hanging to the steep mountain about a thousand feet above the fjord. The last of the hay was drying on the fences in true Norwegian style, blue bells and daises were adding color to the grass roofs on all the comfortable buildings, an air of quiet contentment lay over the old homestead—three hundred years, says Baedecker, in the same family. And while we were looking back on Merok with the snow mountains above, and down on the black water, deep in afternoon shadow, a woman in peasant costume, came out to greet us. We could not speak each other's language but we understood each other perfectly, and I am going to stop my account of the fjords of Norway right here so the last thing you will remember is the smile of friendship in her eyes.

With best wishes for yourself and THE ARROW.

Pi Beta Phi Convention

OUR GRADUATE FELLOW, 1924-25

MARY SHANNON SNOOK, Arkansas A

Mary Shannon Snook, Arkansas A, is now attending the Medical School at Harvard University as the Pi Beta Phi Fellow for 1924-25.

In 1917, Mrs. Snook applied to the Surgeon General of the United States for government service. In May, 1918, she was called into service and was sent to the training camp at Reed College, Portland, Ore., to become a Reconstruction Aide in Physio-Therapy. While there she was an assistant instructor in anatomy and in physiology of exercise, in addition to her duties as a student.

Five months later she received her commission as a Reconstruction Aide and was, in October, attached to Base Hospital No. 58, Bordeaux, France. Her unit, however, after being on board ship for five hours, was ordered ashore and did not discover until after peace had been declared that their sailing orders had been lost.

After serving several months as an assistant to the chief nurse in the mobilization station in New York City at the Hotel Albert, Mrs. Snook was sent to Camp Devens, Ayer, Mass., with Unit No. 13, where she served in surgical ward No. 8.

From Camp Devens she was sent to the Letterman General Hospital at San Francisco and was there put in the Electro-Therapy Department to treat wounds with various electrical devices. Later she was detailed to "Bed Side" cases, that being the highest honor she could obtain in her work since those cases are the most delicate to handle.

In February, 1920, Mrs. Snook was sent as Head Aide, the highest rank to be obtained in her work, to the Crocker Street Hospital, Los Angeles, where she was in charge of a number of aides and assistants and several hundred men who had been dismissed from the service but who had to receive medical aid and treatments. There she remained in charge of Hydro-Therapy, Electro-Therapy and general treatments until her marriage to Dr. Frederick E. Snook, a major in the Service, who was Divisional Dental Surgeon of the Forty-first division in France.

Mr. and Mrs. Snook have made their home at Twin Falls, Idaho, where Mrs. Snook continued her work of making casts for broken bodies or bones and in giving treatments to those who needed them.

The following letter from Mrs. Snook to the Grand Council gives a glimpse of the interesting work which she is now doing as a representative of Pi Beta Phi:

197 Longwood Ave.,
Brookline, Mass.

I have had one of the most profitable of summers and am still having. I am delving rather deeply in Medical Electro-Physics and find it most fascinating. It is marvelous the things it will do toward curing the ills of the injured. I have one baby patient to whom I have become so attached that it is going to be awfully hard for me to give her up when she is sent home from the clinic.

In Poliomyelitis (Infantile Paralysis) the control of the deep seated pathology, by electro-physics, is rather problematical but being harmless and affording comfort to the patient, it is used. I think personally, however, I as well as others, am getting better results with hydrotherapy, massage and muscle training.

In the period when the fever declines and the paralysis approaches, leaving the extremities cold and flacid, the immersion bath at a temperature of 100 degrees F. gradually raising to 103 or 104 by adding hot water, seems very useful as well as soothing. The limbs are more active in water and motion more easily obtained because water as you know makes them lighter than does air.

Massage enhances the circulation of both blood and lymph, stimu-* lates nutrition and maintains muscular tone in the paralyzed region of the body.

The dear little souls are so very appreciative of what we do for them and they try so hard.

The use of the ultra violet light (air cooled quartz lamp and Alpine sun lamp) is very effective in the cure of hay fever, rickets, ulcers, etc.

I hope I have not tired you with this sort of resume of my work but I just must tell you a little of the wonderful things I'm doing through the goodness of my fraternity to me.

Most sincerely yours, In Pi Beta Phi,

MARY E. SHANNON SNOOK.

THE PI BETA PHI FELLOWSHIP FOR GRADUATE STUDY.

For the year 1925-26, Pi Beta Phi will offer one graduate fellowship with a value of $500. This fellowship is open to any member of the fraternity who has received her bachelor's degree, and may be used at any university, either in this country or in Europe, which offers special opportunities in graduate work along the particular line desired by its holder.

Two points will be considered by the Grand Council in awarding the fellowship: scholastic standing and all-round development of character with its resulting ability worthily to represent the fraternity. Each applicant must state definitely the university which she wishes to enter, the courses which she desires to pursue, and the ultimate aim of her graduate study. Applications accompanied by photographs of the applicants, credentials from college professors, and other recommendations must be in the hands of the Grand President, not later than March 1, 1925. All material should be collected by the applicant and submitted as a whole. Blank forms for application for the fellowship may be obtained from the Grand President at any time. If she so desires any applicant of former years who has not received the fellowship may make a new application.

All applications for undergraduate loans should be made to the committee in charge of the Loan Fund. Information as to conditions, credentials, and terms of loans may be obtained from the chairman of the Committee on Loan Fund, Monta Hunter, Y. W. C. A., 5th St. and Avenue C, San Antonio, Texas.

AMY BURNHAM ONKEN, Grand President.

BALFOUR CUP AWARD

The Grand Council has the pleasure of announcing that the Balfour Cup will be held during the present college year by Pennsylvania Alpha. This beautiful cup, presented to Pi Beta Phi by Mr. Lloyd G. Balfour in memory of his wife, Ruth DeHass Balfour, Indiana Gamma, is awarded upon a three-fold basis of the meeting of responsibility to the college, the national fraternity, and the local chapter. While, as has been said before, Pi Beta Phi does not classify any of her chapters as "strongest and best," she does rate all of them upon the degree of cooperation given to college authorities and to the national fraternity and upon the strength and effectiveness of local internal organization, thus marking the chapter which wins the Balfour Cup as one in whose faithfulness to the ideals of the fraternity every Pi Beta Phi feels a keen pride.

Never before has the competition for the Balfour Cup been so close and the Grand Council congratulates most heartily the chapters whose records made them such strong contestants for the award. Upon a 100 per cent basis, the averages of the four leading chapters were:

Pennsylvania A	-----92.715%
Louisiana A	-----92.15 %
Indiana A	-----91.689%
Washington B	-----90.645%

AMY BURNHAM ONKEN,
Grand President.

PENNSYLVANIA ALPHA

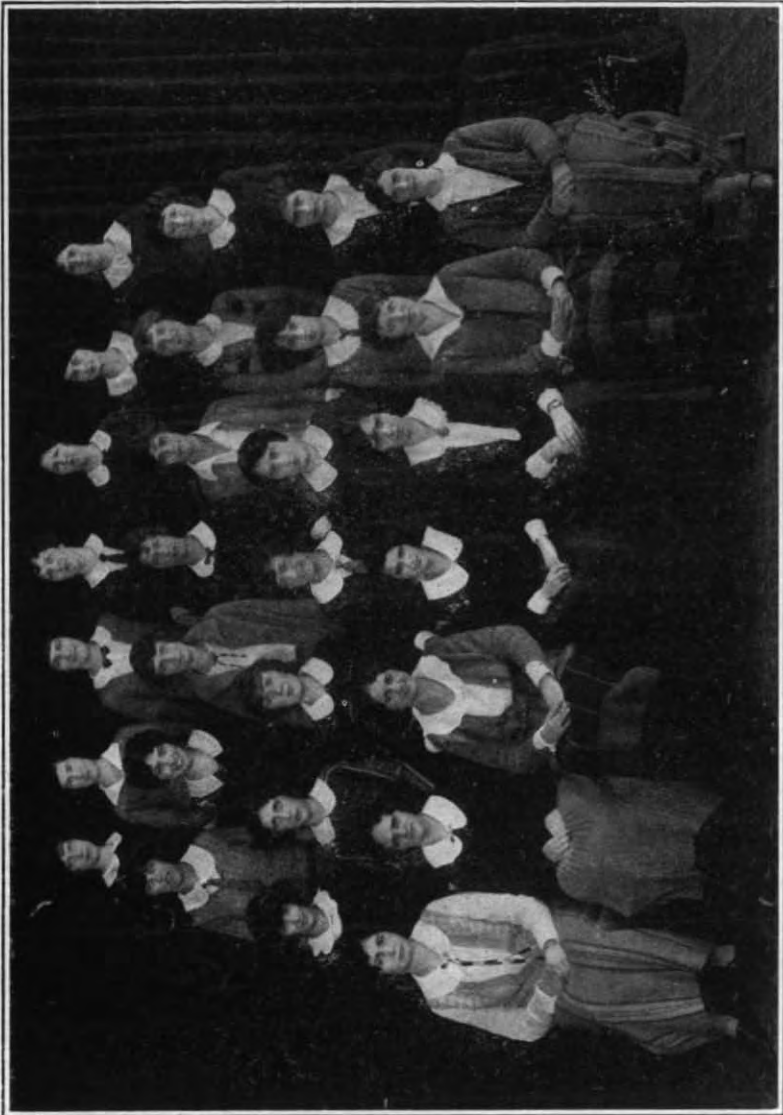

(Note: Upon request Pennsylvania A has sent an outline of what it did to win the Balfour Cup.—The Editor).

Pennsylvania A has striven for the past year to cooperate with the college authorities, with the national fraternity, and with our alumnae. The chapter kept in constant touch with Mrs. Miller, our Province President, and her valuable suggestions were carried out to the best of our ability.

The sophomores were required to give two hours each week to special college activities. Any members who were low in scholarship were honorbound to spend twice as many hours in study as the number of hours they carried.

The requirements of the constitution were enforced and all records and archives were kept up to date. Pennsylvania A still feels that she has far to go to fulfill the lofty ideals of Pi Beta Phi.

PI PHIS IN THE PUBLIC EYE

In the Woman Voter of September, 1924, published in Tacoma, Washington we find the following:

The story of the presentation to the White House of the beautiful portrait by Howard Chandler Christy of the wife of the president of the United States.

Mrs. Inez Soule of Tacoma, one of the founders of the fraternity is the mother of Mrs. Leonard Brown. Mr. Brown is proprietor of the Tacoma Engraving Co.

Fifty-seven years ago twelve college girls founded the first national fraternity for women. At the present time six of them are living, among them being Mrs. Inez Soule of Tacoma. Today, 15,000 women turn to do them reverence.

INEZ SMITH SOULE

Then followed a description of the presentation of the portrait as it appeared in the JUNE ARROW, and a full page cut of Mrs. Coolidge and members of the Eastern Conference.

A BISHOP'S WIFE

WELTHY HONSINGER FISHER, New York A

Under date of June 28, the Herald carried the following item:

A change in plans advanced the marriage of Bishop Fred B. Fisher and Miss Welthy Honsinger about one month before the date first set, which was July 16, as noted in last week's Herald. The wedding took place last Wednesday in New York. Bishop William F. McDowell of Washington, D. C., performed the ceremony before a small group of relatives and friends, and Mrs. William Henry Bliss of New York and California, as cousin of the bride, gave her in marriage. A picturesque touch was lent the bridal party by the presence of Miss Tillayampalam of Columbia University, '23, and Lucknow, India, and Miss Haion Trengiang of Vassar, '24, and Nanchang, China, both in native costume. Bishop and Mrs. Fisher will sail shortly for India, visting Japan and China en route, arriving in Calcutta in October. Their home there will be at 3 Middleton street.

A review of Miss Honsinger's book, "Beyond the Moon Gate" will appear in this issue of THE ARROW.

THE WOMAN SHOPPER

Both the Enquirer and the Times-Post of Cincinnati, Ohio carried articles last spring upon the work which Mrs. James T. Conners (Elsa Schlicht, Ohio Γ), was doing relative to the shopping problem.

According to the Enquirer:

Presentation of the feminine angle of the shopping problem was deftly done last night at a dinner at the Hotel Sinton by Mrs. Elsa A. Conners of Cleveland, before a gathering of the Retail Merchants' Association. The address was dressed with all the intuitive wit of a woman of keen insight into women's ways, and contained economic truths which made their impress upon the minds of the hearers.

A reporter for the Times-Post says:

It would have warmed your hearts to have heard Mrs. Elsa A. Conners of Cleveland tell the members of the Retail Merchants' Association at a dinner at the Sinton hotel just what she thought of shopping in Cincinnati.

Mrs. Conners is making a thorough study of retail buying and has been writing articles upon this subject for some time.

AN ACTRESS IN VIENNA

Marion Lessing writes from Marienbad that she has just accepted a year's contract with the Volkstheater and the Raimdrof Theater in Vienna. Marion has been studying in Berlin for almost three years under two of the best dramatic teachers in Europe.

She was initiated into Illinois Z at the same time I was in the spring of 1919 and studied architecture for three years at Illinois. She excelled in her studies and carried off honors in athletics, especially swimming. I remember that she was judged to be perfect physically, one of a very small number in college.

Marion will certainly continue to be in the public eye even though she is farther away from home than most Pi Phis. Her father is head of the German department at Williams College.

MARGARET D. SEARS.

BERNICE MARSOLAIS, Minnesota A

Bernice Marsolais, Minnesota A, is now in Minneapolis coaching plays, directing skits, and has just completed an engagement in a commercial motion picture.

MARGARET TORRENCE PETRY, Iowa A

Margaret Torrence, Iowa A, who has been teaching in the Canadian Academy, Kobe, Japan was recently married to F. W. Petry and is now making her home at: 34 Kamitsutsui, 5 Chome, Kobe, Japan.

In a letter to the Arrow Editor, Mrs. Petry says:

"Since I last wrote you I have been married. Last summer I had a most interesting trip through Korea, Manchuria, and China. I was at Port Arthur for several days and found it most interesting, 'did up' Peking, was at the Ming tombs, and climbed the Great Wall. This latter feat I did with a Pi Phi from Missouri whom I met on the train.

"Soon after my marriage the terrible earthquake came. I spent most of the time at the Canadian Academy where I had taught the previous year. There we housed, clothed and fed more than two hundred foreign refugees—many of them persons like you and me, coming in without a toothbrush, comb, handkerchief—just thankful for the one or two articles which they had on at the time of the quake."

DIRECTOR OF AN ORPHANAGE

The Sunday Sun, Baltimore, Maryland in a recent issue carried a picture of a Near East Relief School for Higher Education. The picture showed an outdoor dining room of the orphanage at Juniyeh, Near Beirut, Syria, where older girls of ability from other orphanages are sent for higher education.

Inez Webster, Illinois Δ , is at present the director of this orphanage.

When you give to the Near East Relief Fund, remember that the money may be going direct to assist a sister Pi Phi in her great work.

AN ATHLETIC CHAMPION

Nan Elberfeld who was pledged to Tennessee A in February 1924, and initiated on April 4, 1924 is one of Pi Beta Phi's best athletic young women. She made her letter in basketball at the University of Tennessee, playing in every important game of the season and finished the tennis season as women's champion of the university.

NAN ELBERFELD
Tennessee A

At the end of the quiz period when the report of grades was made immediately after Nan's initiation into Pi Beta Phi, she held third place on the honor roll of 356 students.

Nan Elberfeld is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman A. Elberfeld of Little Rock, Ark., both of whom are exceptionally good athletes. Big-league baseball fans of fifteen or twenty years ago knew the "Kid" Elberfeld who fought his way to stardom on the baseball diamond. Today he is the father of five splendid daughters, Nan being the oldest one.

In writing of the Elberfeld daughters, Anne Heagney says in Sporting Life:

"Probably nowhere in the whole world is there a group of sisters which has won the distinction accorded the five Elberfeld girls, daughters of Norman A. Elberfeld, manager of the Little Rock baseball club and formerly manager of the New York Yankees. All the Misses Elberfeld are playmembers of the Life-Saving Corps of the American Red Cross, although Nan, the oldest girl, is just twenty, and Ruth, the youngest, is only thirteen years old.

"The girls are all lovers of outdoor sport in every form, as well as expert swimmers. They are perfect examples of splendid young American athletes. For example, they love horseback riding and excel at tennis. During the summer they devote a part of their time to general playground activities at the various school grounds where games of this kind are played. Baseball, as played by girl teams with an indoor baseball, is one of their favorite forms of amusement.

"Nan was the winner of the state tennis championship for girl high school entries in 1922, and last year the championship was passed on to the third oldest of the Elberfeld sisters, Miriam, who is sixteen years of age. Nan at present is the champion woman swimmer of Arkansas.

"All the girls are fond of basketball and have been members of the first teams of the high schools and junior high schools where they have attended school. All-around gymnasium work is also their specialty. In addition to this, they enjoy dancing and have marked dramatic ability."

SANG FOR STATE LEGION

Kathryn Browne, the prima donna mezzo of the Chicago Civic Opera Company, who as a member of Illinois Z has already been introduced to the ARROW readers, sang on August 31 at the opening of the American Legion's state convention at Champaign-Urbana, Illinois. Among her selections were "Khaki Sammy," "Over 'There," and other songs with which she entertained the soldiers in their crude "Y" huts behind the trenches in France.

Quoting from the press :—

As the only American grand opera star who volunteered her services as an overseas entertainer, and who helped the boys fight the battles of homesickness and despair, Miss Browne is always in demand at legion gatherings.

A typical American girl, her patriotism is not a veneer. She is not only an active member of the Women's Overseas league, but of the Daughters of the American Revolution, being of Revolutionary stock and having had ancestors in the Lexington alarm and at Bunker Hill.

General Pershing, from whom Miss Browne received a medal in recognition for her services in France, will be present at the meeting and is anticipating with pleasure again hearing the young singer.

Kathryn Browne was married recently to Clarence E. Cramer, a graduate of the University of Wisconsin in 1917, and at present manager of the Artists and Grand Opera Company of Chicago.

WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY'S FIRST QUEEN

The St. Louis Globe-Democrat of May 23, carried a large cut of Margaret Steele, Missouri B, the May Queen and the King in the May festival. The King was the newly elected president of the Self Governing Association but the creation of the Queen was somewhat more mysterious.

Says the Globe-Democrat :

Miss Margaret Steele, a senior in the law school at Washington University, was crowned May Queen yesterday afternoon by her sister co-eds in pretty ceremonies on the lawn of McMillan Hall.

Miss Steele, who resides at 3126 South Compton avenue, is the University's first Queen of the May.

After the King was seated upon a throne mounted on a dais on the lawn a dozen co-eds filed out and took their places below the throne.

In a moment of rather breathless silence on the part of the spectators the herald tripped across the lawn and received a sealed envelope from Chancellor Herbert S. Hadley, which was in turn placed in the hands of the King, who opened and read it.

The royal purple robe was then given to the herald, who promptly walked down the line of expectant candidates and draped it over the shoulders of Miss Steele, who stood at the end of the line.

She walked to the throne and received a crown of roses from the hands of the King, while the spectators applauded.

Miss Steele is a blonde, has bobbed hair, blue eyes, and is rather small. She is well known in St. Louis as an amateur dancer.

The selection of the Queen is made by a special committee which considers the qualifications of the candidates, basing their choice on scholarship, popularity and feminine accomplishments.

RE-ELECTED EDITOR

At the recent national convention of Sigma Alpha Iota, honorary musical fraternity, held in Decatur, Illinois, Mildred Odell, North Dakota A, was re-elected editor of Pan Pipes, the official publication of that organization.

ON NATIONAL BOARD OF Y. W. C. A.

An announcement from Y. W. C. A. headquarters in New York City of the election of members of the National Board, which appeared in the New York Times, carried the name of Mrs. Burdette Gibson Lewis (Pearl Archibald, Nebraska B), of Princeton, N. J.

REGISTRARS

Bessie Weirick, Wisconsin B, is Registrar of Beloit College and Florence McGahey, Nebraska B, is Registrar of the University of Nebraska.

EXPLORER'S SECRETARY

The Denver Post of October 17 carried a large photograph of Mrs. Jack Wilcox (Olive Rathbun, Wyoming A), and also an interview with her.

Mrs. Wilcox has already been introduced to the ARROW readers as the very efficient private secretary of the explorer, Stefansson. Both Mr. and Mrs. Wilcox sailed on May 7 for Australia, where they went for a year to gather data for a history which the explorer is compiling.

Mrs. Wilcox, who came back to the United States on a short business trip, stopped a few days to visit a sister in Denver. In her interview Mrs. Wilcox said:

Having come from a small town in the backyard of Wyoming, I remember how none of its pathways seemed to lead anywhere in particular. But when I had gone through the high school and university, I determined to trace those paths out to where they would join up with a highway. It's what thousands of others are doing. In no country have I discovered a greater zeal for education than among the boys and girls of the West.

And when they accomplish something, it's because they've developed an explorer's spirit. They must overcome such wide horizons, they must put behind them the fear of the unknown, represented by the busy world 'way out there,' and they must have confidence, plus, in themselves.

BABY PEGGY

Admirers of "Baby Peggy" whose latest screen picture, "Captain January" is now being offered to the public, will be interested to know that Baby Peggy belongs to our Pi Phi family. She is the great-niece of Alice Howell, Nebraska B, and the cousin of Wilburta Knight Cady, Wyoming A.

HOME BEAUTIFUL DIRECTOR

Dear Pi Phis:

There is a dictum that great people make us feel larger than our conception of ourselves; that petty people make us feel smaller. By showing such kind and unexpected interest in my absorbing work here you have made me feel sufficiently important to rank as a great person. Would that I were!

CATHERINE BUR
Wisconsin A

It is open season in the hunting grounds of nomenclature. Peddlers are designated as "outside salesmen." Typists are known as "private secretaries." Even cooks are advertising as "household engineers." Why be surprised when the simple florist appears as a "landscape artist," or when your paper hanger or plasterer hands you a card bearing the legend,

Mike Jones

Interior Decorator

Satisfaction Guaranteed

Give Us a Ring

Deep pride in my own profession made me especially resentful at first of the latter appropriation of terms. I have learned to smile at the misnomer, if such indeed it be, and have quite conquered a tendency to clothe my associates in mental white duck and hand them imaginary buckets and brushes.

All of which, however, makes some one ask "What is an interior decorator?" An interior decorator, Pi Phis, is he or she, and often it, who follows the profession of interior decoration. And what, pray tell, is the profession of interior decoration? There I confess, Pi Phis, you have us on the hop. It is so many things. But surely, there can be no truly good decoration without good taste as its essential factor; however, there is a great deal of good taste flung about that could never in the wildest flight of fancy be classed as being good decoration. It is the dash of lemon that makes the oyster palatable. It is the touch of imagination that makes the difference between true interior decoration and the flat offering of good taste.

The great modern stores of today are more than buying and selling establishments. Through their highly specialized purchasing organizations they scour the globe for the pick of the world's markets.

But they go farther than this. They interpret to their customers the proper use of the merchandise in order that patrons may gain the maximum of value and comfort and usefulness for the money they spend.

Why not, reasoned Carson Pirie Scott & Company, apply this art interpretation to the decorating and furnishing of the home? Why not co-operate with the earnest architect and builder, by beginning where these leave off.

The result was that after its survey it inaugurated what is termed a "Home Beautiful Service"—the first service of its kind in the country. Here gratuitous personal assistance is offered to home makers. Each inquirer is given individual and courteous attention, and after ascertaining his particular problems or requirements, personally advised and conducted visits are made to those departments in the store where the required materials are to be had. Entire decorative plans are worked out, or established schemes are given new interest.

This precedent of a decorating service given without charge has now been generally followed by all the larger stores in Chicago and outside, showing the popular demand for guidance in this rapidly developing field. There is no one thing so universally appreciated as beauty. Perhaps in endeavoring to assure beauty for the homes of its patrons, Carson Pirie Scott and Company is helping greatly to bring back renewed interest in the American home. And I am proud to be a member of its staff.

It seems to me a matter of congratulation that so many college women are finding their way into business, for the informed and trained woman is revolutionizing the standard of cooperation and service in commercial life.

CATHERINE BUR, Wisconsin A.

(Note.—Miss Bur makes various trips out of Chicago in connection with her work and some of her most interesting trips have been to Champaign, Ill., and Madison, Wis., where she aided fraternities in selecting decorations for their new homes.—The Editor.)

A. MARGARET MERRILL MEMORIAL

By EMILIE MARGARET WHITE, Columbia A

Time flies, love stays, though low she lies,
Our friend of old, and death denies
That we today may see her go
On deeds of kindness to and fro,
Love smiling in her sunny eyes.
Yet still she lives, and sanctifies
This garden spot, where flowers rise
Year upon year, and, blooming, show
Time flies, love stays.
And garden of still fairer guise
To her sweet life here testifies,
The hearts of Eastern girls, where grow
White thoughts, high dreams,— true hearts that know
The lesson of her sacrifice,
Time flies, love stays.

—Mrs. B. L. Gardner.

Beautiful memorial services were held at Eastern High School, Washington, D. C., on October 26, upon the dedication of the sundial, given by the faculty and students in recognition of the splendid work for girls done by A. Margaret Merrill, Columbia A.

Margaret was initiated into Columbia A, November 12, 1904, attended George Washington University for two years and got her A. B. from the University of Maine in 1908. She spent one season at the Ferien Rurse at the University of Marburg an der Sahn, in 1909, and in 1913 she spent a summer with me in Germany; German was her subject.

The sundial is a bronze with the inscription:

In Memoriam—Anne Margaret Merrill—Eastern High School, 1909-1920.
"Time Flies, Love Stays"

The decorations are Camp Fire Symbols. It is on a beautiful polished granite shaft and stands in the midst of the school's lovely garden, looking toward the river and the Maryland Hills, all a fitting expression of Margaret's beautiful spirit and love of the out-of-doors.

Margaret Merrill died of the "flu" in February 1920, when she was on a semester's leave of absence, doing special work at the University of Minnesota, to fit her to carry on more fully her work with girls.

The order of exercises at the dedication included a talk by Mr. C. J. Schwartz, Head of the Modern Language department, upon "Miss Merrill, the Teacher" and two addresses by students of the school upon, "Miss Merrill, the Camp Fire Guardian."

NEW CHAPTER HOMES

NEW YORK DELTA'S HOME

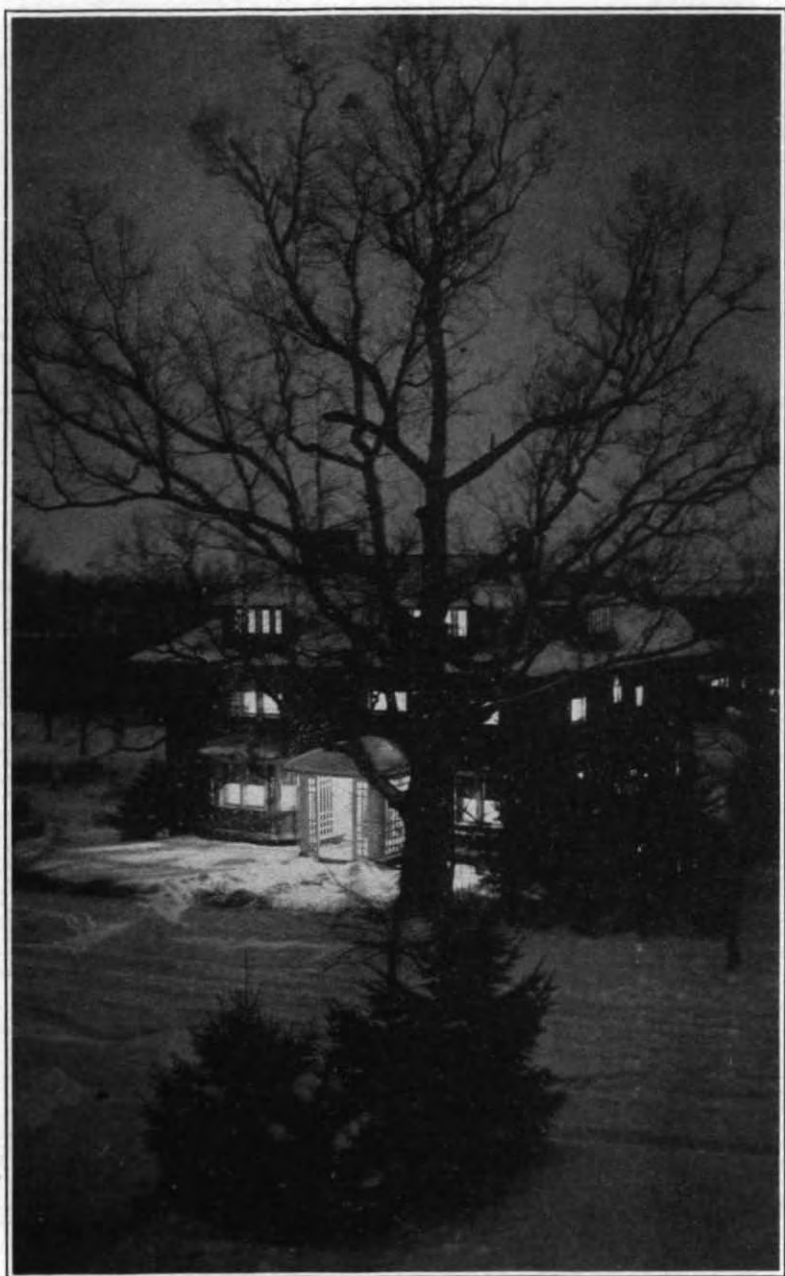

New York Δ , Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y., has just purchased a lovely new home at 114 Kelvin Place. This was accomplished by the sale of bonds among the alumnae and friends of the chapter and by taking out of first and second mortgages. These, with a loan from the National Treasury of $1,000 made it possible to bring to realization our long cherished dream for a chapter house of our own.

ELINOR JENNINGS, New York Δ .

MICHIGAN ALPHA'S HOME

The Michigan Δ chapter house was purchased by the college, but its beauty was made possible by the cooperation of alumnae, patronesses and members of the active chapter who contributed most generously, not only of their money but of their time and energy in making it such an attractive home.

SUMMER GATHERINGS

THE TRI-STATE PI PHI CONCLAVE

The third annual gathering of Pi Beta Phis of the adjacent territory of Illinois, Iowa and Missouri at the summer home of

Our Grand President and Jinks

Mrs. Idella Egbers Parks and her daughter, Clarabelle, in Hamilton, Ill., was held Saturday, August 16. Heavy rains the preceding day prevented many from attending but for those who were able to go, there was a warm welcome and an enjoyable time. Miss Amy Onken, our Grand President, with two friends, drove from her home at Chapin, a distance of 200 miles over rain-soaked roads.

After the picnic lunch which was spread on tables under the trees, where we sat overlooking Lake Keokuk, Miss Onken gave a very interesting report of the Washington Conference relating many incidents seen from the "inside." She also talked on that subject so dear to all Pi Phis—The Settlement School—illustrating with views of the School and samples of hand work.

A happy feature of the afternoon was the part taken by the Carthage Club. To perpetuate the thought of an annual outing at Mrs. Park's home, a christening ceremony was performed and a bottle of grape juice broken on the wall of the drive-way, the name bestowed being "Arrow Point." (Mrs. Park's summer home is located on a very beautiful, wooded rocky point that extends into the Mississippi river). To close the christening ceremony, all joined in the Pi Phi yell. Mrs. Parks is a member of the Carthage chapter, Illinois F.

Arrow Point is sure to become a favorite rallying point for Pi Phis from the three states, Illinois, Iowa, and Missouri, bringing us a larger realization of the bond which unites us and the objects for which we stand.

AN IOWA PICNIC

Forty Pi Phis gathered in the garden at the home of our National Historian, Mrs. Sigler, in Indianola, Iowa on Thursday evening, July 17, to do honor to two Iowa Betas: Anna Wright Dowell, who was leaving shortly to continue her work at the Settlement School, and Eva Anderson Hatfield of Long Beach, Calif., who with her son, William, was making an extended trip through the East.

Among the guests were Mrs. J. M. Harlan of Pasadena, Calif., Mrs. F. E. Johnson of Chicago and Mrs. J. P. Anderson of Indianola.

BOOK NOTES

BY DOROTHY K. CLEVELAND, NEW YORK Γ
1204½ W. Oregon, Urbana, Ill.

"Prudence's Daughter"—by Ethel Hueston. Bobbs-Merrill, $2.

In this latest book of the Prudence series, Mrs. Hueston tells the experiences of Prudence's daughter Jerry. Jerry goes to New York to study art and the first part of the story deals with the life of Greenwich village. In the second part, Jerry returns to Iowa and finds an outlet for her energies and finally her happiness in beautifying her city by buying houses and remodeling them. It goes without saying that a love story runs through the book.

One does not think of Uncle Sam as a publisher likely to be printing works of Pi Phi authors, but recently he has been the publisher for two of our members.

Grace Hazen, New York Γ is author (with Freida Kenyon) of "Primary radio-frequency standardization by use of the cathode-ray oscillograph." This is published as Scientific paper 489, Bureau of Standards Department of Commerce, 1924. Miss Hazen is an assistant physicist in the Bureau of Standards and is an expert in certain branches of radio research.

The Monthly Labor Review, published by the Bureau of Labor Statistics Department of Labor, in its issue for December 1923, and February, April, and June 1924, contains articles by Mrs. Ethel Yohe Larson, Columbia A, on the labor laws of Mexico. Mrs. Larson translates the laws from the Spanish besides analyzing them in English.

"Switzerland as Interpreted by Byron" is the title of a splendidly illustrated article in ZION'S HERALD of July 9, 1921, by Sarah Pomeroy Rugg, Massachusetts A. In the article Mrs. Rugg gives first hand information gained from her trips abroad and tells of the observance in Switzerland of the centenary of Lord Byron's death.

"Since Byron," says the author, "wrote some of his best works while he was sojourning near Lake Geneva, the Swiss desired that a special effort be made to honor his memory and, in consequence, there is a revival of interest in Byron's poetry among the many visitors to their country this summer."

The illustrations consisting of "Underground Passage in the photographs taken by Francis A. Rugg, the husband of the Chateau of Chillon," "The Heart of the Bernese Oberland," "On Lake Lemman" and the "Chateau of Chillon" were made from author.

MARINE PI PHIS

By a Pi Phi Husband, LIEUTENANT CARLSON

When the Navy transport Argonne left Hampton Roads, Virginia on May 8 for its cruise around to the west coast of the United States the passenger list carried the names of two Pi Phis, and the husband of a third. They were: Mrs. LeRoy P. Hunt, wife of Captain Hunt, Mrs. Evans F. Carlson, wife of Lieut. Carlson and Captain Norman C. Bates, all of the United States Marine Corps.

Mrs. Hunt and Mrs. Bates are both members of the University of California chapter, while Mrs. Carlson is a member of the Maine A chapter and of the class of 1919, University of Maine.

The fortunate husbands immediately formed an organization which they were pleased to call "The Pi Phi Husbands," a term which one of the members stressed must not be confused with Pi Eyed husbands. All the Marine officers are going to duty with Marine detachments of the Pacific Fleet, Captain Bates going to the U. S. S. New Mexico, Captain Hunt to the U. S. S. Maryland and Lieut. Carlson to the U. S. S. Nevada.

The trip on the Argonne was a honeymoon for Lieut. and Mrs. Carlson who were married at South Portland, Maine on April 28. They first met in San Juan, Porto Rico last winter where Mrs. Carlson, formerly Estelle B. Sawyer, was organizing Girl Scouts and Lieut. Carlson was buying horses for the Marine Corps Expeditionary Force at Culebra Island.

OUR OFFICERS

GAMMA PROVINCE PRESIDENT

Hardenia Fletcher Logan, Virginia A, the new president of Gamma Province was born in the town of Accomac, Virginia, where she took her preparatory school work at Accomac Academy and Accomac High School.

In the fall of 1907 she entered Randolph-Macon Woman's College and received the degree of A. B. from that institution in 1911.

Hardenia Fletcher was a member of Alpha Sigma Alpha and was its president during her senior year. This local group petitioned Pi Beta Phi and received its charter in 1913 as Virginia Alpha. And hence, as a petitioner and charter member of a Pi Beta Phi chapter Mrs. Logan gained much knowledge of fraternity significance.

During the years 1911-12 and 1915-16, she was instructor in Psychology at Randolph-Macon Woman's College and pursued post-graduate work at the same time. When Phi Beta Kappa was installed in that college in 1917, Mrs. Logan was elected to membership.

As a member of the Home Service Department of the Red Cross Mrs. Logan was in Washington, D. C., during the World War. Later she spent one winter in Japan and for two years was principal of the Accomac High School.

In August, 1923 she married Robert H. Logan, Pi Kappa Alpha, of Salem, Virginia. Mrs. Logan is keenly interested in the work of the active chapters and the fraternity is fortunate in having her as a province officer.

ETA PROVINCE VICE-PRESIDENT

Genevieve Herrick Smith, newly elected Vice-President of Eta Province, attended the University of Kansas, where she was initiated into Pi Beta Phi in 1912. During her college life she was keenly interested in both university and fraternity activities. She twice served Kansas A as president of the chapter, and was also president of the local Panhellenic. She was always alive to the worthwhile activities of the campus, being secretary of the Y. W. C. A., and on the Student Council two years. During her senior year she was elected to Phi Beta Kappa and to Torch, honor society for senior women, and graduated in 1915 with an A. B. degree.

After leaving college she taught French and English in the high schools at Paola and Topeka, Kansas. She attended the Charlevoix convention of 1918 as an Alumna delegate.

In the fall of 1920 she married Harry Alvin Smith, Sigma Chi, Kansas University. Mr. and Mrs. Smith are now living at Eudora, Kansas, where Mr. Smith is cashier of the Home State Bank. Mrs. Smith is an active member of the Lawrence Alumnae Club, and keeps in close contact with the active chapter at Lawrence.

She has taken up the duties of her new office with enthusiasm. Her interest in the Pi Phi world will stimulate the interest of the alumnae not only in her own province but in others as well.

NITA HILL STARK

Because every member of Pi Beta Phi is deeply interested in the work and progress of our Settlement School, each one should know and appreciate the fact that the management of the

NITA HILL STARK

School is carried on under the direction of the Settlement School Committee of which Nita Hill Stark, Texas A, is the chairman.

Mrs. Stark assumed the duties of her office some time ago and at once enlisted the interest of her husband, J. Luther Stark, Jr., and of all her co-workers in the School's welfare. Her keen sense of humor carries her far in the work with her committee and with everyone with whom she comes in contact.

Mrs. Stark modestly claims for herself no greater distinction while in active chapter life than that of painting floors for "Rush Week" and fixing refreshments for "Cooky-shines" but those who knew her in college found the same admirable characteristics which make her such a favorite.

The accomplishment of a purpose or project undertaken seems to be Mrs. Stark's slogan and whatever she attempts she sees to the finish. With the cooperation of her Committee, Mrs. Stark is piloting the progress of our Little Pigeon endeavor with marked efficiency and with an interest and enthusiasm so necessary to success.

NEWS FROM LITTLE PIGEON

Edited by

DOROTHY SMALLWOOD GEARE (Mrs. R. W.), Columbia A

When the Settlement School Committee held its annual meeting at Gatlinburg last spring, one of the most important questions under consideration was that of the Sugarlands Extension.

SETTLEMENT SCHOOL COMMITTEE

sion. This extension work had for a long time been the dream of Emma Harper Turner, Columbia A, who had suggested the idea to the Committee.

After careful consideration and with the approval of the Grand Council, the Settlement School Committee decided to establish a Center in the Sugarlands to be known as the Emma Harper Turner Center. Before the final plans were adopted the Committee made a tour of inspection to that locality and came back to Gatlinburg thoroughly convinced of the great need of our entering that field.

The trip to the Sugarlands was made in two Fords—most of the way—although some of the members of the Committee traversed part of the road on foot. The reason for traveling a-foot can well be imagined after a careful study of the snapshot on page 180.

The cover for this issue of the Arrow and most of the photographs used in this department were furnished by Melinda B. Stuart, Nebraska B.

"THE SUGARLANDS EXTENSION" OF LITTLE PIGEON.

By HELEN CHEW

To many Pi Phi this is an unknown land. To a fortunate few who have visited the school, it is a country of higher mountains, rockier streams, and rougher fords, a valley of delight to the hiker. To those who have lived within the shadow of these hills it is a home of poorer and less enlightened people, whose lives are bounded by the sky line of Bull Head, Balsam Top and the Great Smokies.

For many years the roots of Pi Phi's influence have grown deep into the life of Gatlinburg. Unconsciously they have spread until they have touched the lives of many existing on the edge of this fuller life. Barren as their lives are, with so little comfort and beauty, they reach out for something which they call "larnin," the Sesame of life.

For several years the problem of moving into the Sugarlands and establishing a center, has confronted those who have felt the needs of these people. During the summer months last year preceding the opening of our own school, we held a little free school for all who wanted to come. Thirty children came. When the six weeks were over, the parents asked us to stay and continue the work during the year. Various reasons prevented then. But the following spring in April a meeting was called in the Sugarlands school at which the following plan was outlined to be submitted to the Pi Beta Phi school committee.

Two acres of land were to be purchased by the people, adjoining the county school land, on which the school house now stands. After four years of continued work by us, this land definitely becomes our property. With the co-operation of the people, we hope to erect a cottage to serve as a home for workers, and social center for the community. The county will give a modern rural school. This is our plan for the next year, a co-operation of county, community and Pi Phi. At present we are using the old one-room school and an old mountain house for living. It will be known to all Pi Phis as "The Emma Harper Turner Center."

Though only five miles from the "Burg" many of our friends have never visited this settlement. The roads are very difficult to travel except by horse or on foot. Because it is so little known, except through its liquor, it has a very bad reputation for worse, let me say, than is the truth. The seed of many a Gatlinburg family tree was planted in its soil. Of course the most progressive blood has moved to the plain country leaving the more inert to struggle with the rocky hillsides. In spite of this emigration, the spirit of co-operation and desire for the best for their children is very strong.

SUGARLANDS SCHOOLHOUSE

"What are you going to do there?" we were asked at the Mountain Workers' Conference last spring. "What chance have you to develop leadership? Will it be worth your money and effort?" These are questions that only the future can answer. No intelligence test can do it for you.

But you are all wanting to know the more tangible things of this new undertaking of ours. First of all comes the school house, first, for in it eighty some pupils con their lessons, as in the Legend of Sleepy Hollow, all in one room, and not a very large one at that. With a curtain stretched down the center, Cora and I try to get into their dear unenlightened minds, that Tennessee is not all of the United States and North Carolina is not a foreign country. We are learning to read, spell and figure fairly well, but oh, geography and history! Nothing to tie to makes these subjects so difficult. The redeeming feature is their desire to learn. The pupils want it and their parents want it for them, that intangible something called "larnin" with which they can succeed in this world and prepare for the next. A few are quite bright, others learn with difficulty.

When I say the Sugarlands is a country of poorer homes you may wonder how poor that means. Possibly if I tell you about a home in which Cora and I took dinner a few Sundays ago, you will understand better. We left the road about a mile above our house and started up through a field. It must have been that we climbed a mile up an uncomfortable slant, through cornfields and brier patches, until finally, after climbing a fence, we arrived at this two-room house over which was a small loft. A family of nine lived there. We ate our dinner from tin lids from lard buckets. The sweet potatoes were served on a lard can lid. Three broken dishes held the other food to be served. Four of us sat on the only chairs, while the boys stood up around the table. Chickens picked up the crumbs about our feet as we ate. The walls of the kitchen, where we were, were smoked black as coal. In the "other room" large bright blue paper bows were fastened here and there on the walls, a touch the two girls had given to brighten up a cheerless existence. Outside, late summer flowers grew in great abundance, a most striking contrast to the inside. Of course, this is in a way an exception, but I can go to more homes in which there are just as few comforts and which are not nearly so clean.

I wish I could tell you about some individual cases of courageous struggling to live, usually women. One with a tubercular husband, who for five years now has planted and gathered and prepared every bite of food her family of five has eaten; who, with the help of her fourteen year old daughter, saws down the trees from which she chops her winter fire wood. The only money they have had for months she received from us for potatoes, a chicken now and then, and carded wool. Barter has been the means of their securing shoes from the store. Again I suppose this is an extreme case, but she comes to our house every week and her fight is so brave it seems worthy of telling.

Yesterday one of the most affecting situations occurred that I have ever known. From the last house up the river, the parents brought down their little six months old baby to be buried in the little graveyard on a hill not far beyond the school house. The crowd had gathered and I could see them waiting. Presently a committee of two boys came for me to conduct the funeral services, there was no one else. Our week-end preachers were in the lumber camp during the week. What could I do? Helpless as I was I had to go. When I reached the spot they were standing about in a large circle. Within, beside the deep hole, stood this girl, scarcely seventeen, alone with a little wooden box covered with white muslin, over the top of which she had laid a piece of embroidery work evidently taken from the fire board of her cabin. No one within ten feet of her to comfort her or to support her in this first great sorrow of her life. I asked where the father was and a rough looking creature with a cigarette was pointed out, a fellow arrested the day before for making liquor. The revenue officers had entered his house just as the baby was dying the day before and had given him permission to stay until after the funeral. She surely had more than her baby's death to cause tears. When our little service was over the man who stepped forward to lower the little white muslin covered box into the ground was another of the same liquor crowd, but because he could pay his fine was free to do his community and friend this service. With a cigarette in his mouth he did the last service for the little mountain baby. After all was over the mother went home across the hill, her husband down the river to work out his fine. Life seems so much uglier sometimes when contrasted with our gorgeous hill-sides this time of year.

Cora and I went to discover the cause of a fifteen year old girl's not coming to school. In two rooms so filthy you sat on the very edge of your chair to avoid any contact, were living nine children and the parents. Five deep they stood behind their mother's chair while she told us Beulah was there all right, but no use sending her to school, she was too dumb; never could learn. For ten years she had carried babies on her right hip until she was almost deformed. Little eyes, pimply skin, scraggly hair, protruding stomach, huge bare feet, she certainly did look impossible to teach. But how did they know, she had never had a chance, so busy minding babies for two lazy parents. Every night after school she comes to our cottage, thrilled to death that she has something else to do and think about. She thinks she is learning, but it will be a terrible struggle. In ten days she knows maybe five words, can't count to five and make a B, the first letter in her name. It will not be the facts she will learn but her life will be the brighter for having something to think about.

I could go on telling you these tales, how a thirty-three year old mother of seven children put up sixty gallons of krout to feed them through the winter, how I met an old woman last week hobbling down the road in the pouring rain taking the last look of the Sugarlands, the mortgage had taken her farm and she had to leave. Life is full of these tragic things everywhere.

PART OF MR. OGLE'S FAMILY, SUGARLANDS

But something a little brighter. In every rural community there are those boys who had no schooling in their boyhood and now in their manhood are too ashamed to show how little they know or to go to school with the little children. After much persuasion one started to school on Saturdays. Man size, he did not even know his letters when he saw them and of course never formed one. We began with the Moonlight School Material by following the outline of the letters in blotting paper until the accurate shape was in his mind. In this way he does not struggle over ill shaped letters impossible to read. In two Saturdays he knew his letters by sight and could write them. It will be a long hard pull for he is not above the average. Our number on Saturdays has increased to seven but I doubt if they will all stick. It takes a great deal of courage and ambition to begin at the very bottom after reaching man's estate. The girls are not so easily reached but it is not all their fault. In the eyes of their fathers girls need no education to bear children, it only fills their heads with nonsense.

The older women are interested in our little house as well as the school. The first time we invited them here we had eleven, the next time, seventeen. It was interesting and surprising how some of them accepted their first cup of tea with confidence and dignity and then slipped around afterward to ask Cora what it was made of. To see how many could write I asked them to put their names in a little guest book we have. Only four of the twenty-two different women who have been here could not do so. We told them about the hook worm which had been found to be so common up here, the highest infected region examined by Mr. Wile this summer.

Last Saturday fifteen women tacked comforters for us and such a good time they had. Ten were here for dinner which they thought was so fine. Indeed it was most ordinary, but the dishes were all alike and the silver ware still had its first shine and the table cloth was white. They are still talking about it. It was amusing to see them slip out after dinner to use a little snuff. All the women up here use it.

You would all be interested in the little old house which we remodelled to live in. New floors, the walls covered with orange colored building paper and a few more windows, for one room had none, we were able to feel clean at least. A man of the settlement made all our furniture from the heart of hickory, which is a lovely light brown. The school girls at the "Burg" wove the curtains, hand woven coverlets cover the couch, hand made rag rugs on the floor. With flowered draperies, rather curtains, at all windows and inside doorways to add an atmosphere of warmth and coziness, we look quite homey.

The spring was four hundred feet away, too far to carry water comfortably. We now have it at our very door. Cora carried sand and stones to make a spring box for our butter and milk.

Already the cold winds have blown down the river bringing the thought of wood for our fire place. It is almost impossible to get wood if you are a lone woman. Everybody gets his own. All over our hillsides it lies but no way to get it to us. Either the river is in the way or the road too rough to haul over. Every time we see any men we beseech them to get us wood. So long as the weather remains as perfect as these October days are giving us, we can continue to burn our old shingles which require one of us to stoke the fire while the other cooks, they go like paper.

The church has its problem. There is very little church spirit. The people are divided into two factions religiously, those up the river and those down. Preaching once a month cannot hold them together. But that is another long story.

This is the end of our first two months in the Sugarlands. The people have received us splendidly and made us feel perfectly at home. We have much to be thankful for. Only it is hard to be patient and await results. You learn from the people to plant and wait for your seed to grow. Time to them is day and night, it becomes to you one generation to another. Sometimes it seems almost hopeless to change the minds of children five and six generations held in such limited environment. You have to think in terms of more than years.

All this seems an added responsibility to a burden already as heavy as we can carry. But as a young mother of seven children said to me the other day. "You wouldn't take nothin' for any of them and wouldn't care for another."

GATLINBURG GROWING.

Writing in Montgomery's Vindicator, the newspaper of Sevierville, Tennessee, the editor of that publication said in July:

YE EDITOR VISITS GATLINBURG FRIDAY.

Ye editor spent a very enjoyable day at Gatlinburg Friday, July 4.

This Summer resort which has recently become very popular, was alive with humanity assembled from every direction and all seemed to be enjoying life and to be in a good humor.

The hotels fed more than a hundred each while many were entertained in homes of the community.

The lot sale conducted by Paine-Waters Auction company was a success and attests the confidence people have in the future prosperity of this popular resort.

Last summer the Y. W. C. A. of Knoxville as well as the Y. M. C. A. had a summer camp on the opposite shore of the Little Pigeon from the Settlement School.

The meals for nearly one hundred were successfully planned and managed by Allie Reagan, a graduate of the Pi Beta Phi Settlement School, who is at present our weaving teacher.

SUN UP.

OUR SOUTHERN MOUNTAINEERS.

Arrangements made by the local Pi Beta Phi fraternity for a benefit performance of "Sun Up," now in its second week at the Pitt Theater, in the interest of education among our Southern mountaineers draw attention to a subject upon which Americans should know much more than they do. It follows that as they come to know of the conditions among this neglected element of the American people their sense of responsibility will be aroused as their hearts are touched. It is well that we make generous contributions to the cause of education in foreign lands, but it is only reasonable that while doing so we should be careful not to neglect any of our own. The Pi Beta Phi fraternity maintains a mountain school at Gatlinburg, Sevier county, Tennessee. Thus every dollar it receives through the benefit performance—to be given Friday evening at the Pitt—can be applied immediately in a practical way to its intended purpose.

"Sun Up," depicting these mountaineers, is rated one of the truly great American plays produced in this decade. As it shows the ignorance prevailing in the section, it at the same time exhibits the admirable traits of character that are there to develop. From the standpoint of the play itself, it is one that you should see—one of those that stir the emotions greatly, bringing laughter at one time and tears at another. Miss Lucille LaVerne, who has the star part in the performance, is a native of Tennessee and has first-hand knowledge of the subject as well as that she has acquired by study of literature on it. In her declaration that the conditions are not overdrawn in the least in the play she has abundant support.

In the Pittsburg Press of September 9, appeared an interview with Lucille LaVerne, star of "SUN UP" which closed with the following :-

Yesterday, Miss LaVerne, in the Congress of Women's Clubs, spoke before the Pi Beta Phi, Pittsburgh chapter, of the national organization, which is maintaining a school for the mountaineers near Gatlinburg, Tennessee.

Friday night the Pitt theater will be given over as a benefit to the organization.

Women of 25 who never have owned a book, men of 30 who are learning to read in the primer, children who cheerfully trudge miles over mountain trails for the privilege of learning "two times two equal four"—these are the people who are being helped through this propaganda.

The Pi Beta Phi fraternity is the one to which Mrs. Calvin Coolidge belongs.

Marie McSwigan, Pennsylvania Δ , writes that her chapter would like to co-operate with other Pi Beta Phi clubs in putting on this benefit performance, and says:

While our financial returns were much less than those of the New York Alumnae Club, we worked on the benefit less than a week and feel that we could have sold the entire house had we been given time to work up the sale. Miss Emily A. Lane, 1205 House Building, Smithfield Street, Pittsburgh, will be glad to assist other clubs in this locality. The writer suggests that "The Shame Woman," also by Lulu Volmer, would do equally well for a benefit performance. We feel deeply indebted to Lucille La Verne for her whole hearted support of our cause and would like to acknowledge it through The Arrow.

OUR OFFICIAL JEWELER—L. G. BALFOUR

Lloyd G. Balfour, Sigma Chi, President of the L. G. Balfour Co., and the head of the largest emblem manufacturing business in the world, is the sole official jeweler of Pi Beta Phi.

The Balfour Cup, which is presented each year to the Pi Beta Phi chapter which in the judgment of the Grand Council most nearly meets its obligations to its college and its fraternity, was given by Mr. Balfour to Pi Beta Phi in memory of his wife, Ruth De Hass Balfour, Indiana T.

To quote from the Sigma Chi quarterly:-

"Although Mr. Balfour wears a Sigma Chi pin over his heart, he is responsible for nine out of every ten badges to be seen on any college campus in America. Either of his two factories at Attleboro, Mass., is at least three times as large as any other factory devoted exclusively to college fraternity jewelry.

"Indeed a remarkable accomplishment for a man who defied that age-old superstition about Friday the Thirteenth.

"Mr. Balfour, or 'Bally' as he is known throughout the entire fraternity world, started the L. G. Balfour Co. in a 30-foot loft on June 13, 1913. While at Indiana University he had seen the great field that existed for school and college insignia, and upon graduation he traveled the East as a salesman for a jewelry house. On a visit to Attleboro, Mass., he was impressed with the field for emblem manufacturing. One big concern was operating there, but it appeared to be slipping rapidly and the end was in sight. Mr. Balfour saw the handwriting on the wall, and he grasped the opportunity. He sought out some traveling companions and with a total capital of less than $5,000 he established the factory on the most superstitious day of the year.

"For a time it seemed as if 'Old Lady Luck' were running true to form. On the day of the opening there was less than $100 left in the firm's treasury. Three men were employed in the factory; all men of recognized ability in emblem making. Mr. Balfour took the line out, making inexpensive jumps around Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, and later the rest of New England, but things didn't seem so good. It was late September before the first order came in, and the profit in that was small. It had been nip and tuck to keep the business alive, but he had the courage and even the realization that the first year's business was a money loser failed to slow him up. In fact he drove harder. Then the worm turned.

"During that discouraging year the company improved its line, and 1914 found one of the best and most complete exhibits of insignia on the market. With the push of Balfour it could not fail. Orders that came in were filled, shipped out C. O. D., or on a thirty-day basis, and the returns grew. More salesmen, carefully trained and instructed by Mr. Balfour, were put on the road and the greatest sales system of the jewelry world was launched.

"Balfour quality and Balfour principles built up a business that doubled each year. The sales for 1923 passed the two million dollar mark. Today 53 salesmen cover all colleges and preparatory schools in the United States, so great is the demand for Balfour-made goods. Large stocks for immediate distribution are kept at branch offices at Pittsburgh, Richmond, Indianapolis, and San Francisco. A Canadian factory is in prospect.

"In ten years the floor space of the Balfour plant has grown from 30 square feet to 30,000 square feet. The payroll has increased from $90 per week to $10,000 per week. More than 400 skilled workmen are employed as compared with three in 1913.

"The Balfour Company believes that the fraternity badge representing as it does high purpose and friendship, should in every respect be a worthy symbol of the fraternity ideals for which it stands. The design should be uniform, the heraldry correct, the craftsmanship perfect, the metals of full weight and of standard fineness, the jewels genuine. An honest badge, fully guaranteed by its maker, is its first ideal.

"At least ninety percent of both men's and women's fraternities have adopted the L. G. Balfour Co. as sole official jeweler.

"When the L. G. Balfour Co. was organized the term 'official jeweler' was practically, if not absolutely unknown. A few fraternities, perhaps four or five, attempted to control the manufacture and distribution of their initiate badges, but as far as can be ascertained, there were no fraternities which made any attempt to control their jewelry, stationery, plaques, or badges other than initiate badges. High prices, indiscriminate distribution to persons unauthorized to wear the badge, variation in design, dishonest workmanship and materials, were among the evils arising out of this system; indeed, the Interfraternity Conference jewelry committee (1920) reported that often badges were made of ten karat gold, instead of fourteen karat as represented, sometimes they were filled with lead, to give necessary weight, and covered with a thin layer of gold, and poor or imitation stones took the place of genuine ones.

"The L. G. Balfour Co. was born with the ideals of honest fraternity badges, at honest prices, distributed only through the channels of the national fraternity. In its organization the company set about to make these ideals a reality, the first in the making of the badge; second in establishing the "sole official jeweler system" by means of the Balfour Contract.

"The universally approved Balfour Contract pays to the fraternity a royalty which represents the difference between the cost of duplication of overhead, distribution via jobbers, salesmen, etc., of the non-official jeweler system, and the cost of the sole official jeweler system under a Balfour contract. This royalty comes out of the jeweler's profits and out of the more economical manufacture and distribution in quantity lots. Under the royalty system, prices to the individual, instead of being higher, are lower than under the competitive system. In many instances this royalty is sufficient to pay the upkeep of the central offices, the general maintenance expense, the cost of traveling secretaries, or the entire convention outlay.

One of the Balfour plants at Attleboro, Mass., where fraternity jewelry is made for ninety percent of all the fraternities and sororities under the now famous Balfour sole official jeweler contract.

“Growth is essential to achievement,’ said Mr. Balfour recently, ‘and yet we do not believe in an expansion which outgrows the personal contact so necessary between a manufacturer and his customers. Such relations are vital and we are proud of our ability to maintain them.

“This institution which has won National Friendship is founded on Faith. It is built solidly upon the belief of all its workers in the need of the Greek letter fraternities for its services.

“It stands forth in all of its strength because all its employees, working in unison over a long period of years, have sensed the spirit of the organization; believe in themselves; believe in their product; believe in the essential part of the educational system of our country; and believe absolutely in the power of the L. G. Balfour Co., as a whole to give perfect satisfaction'."

"It was not luck, it was not sudden boom of business that has made the L. G. Balfour Co. the undisputed leader in its field. It was just courage of the good old-fashioned kind, plus energy, plus aggressiveness and plus the fact that L. G. Balfour is a man of wonderful personality, determination and alive to take advantage of every 'break,' to grasp every opportunity and make the most of it."

CLUBHOUSE FOR BUSINESS WOMEN

By MARION DALE, COLORADO A.

(Note.—Marion Dale, Colorado A, who for some time has been Assistant Editor of The Field, published at 425 Fifth Ave., New York City, was invited to attend a tea at Anne Morgan's last spring at which the project of a clubhouse of the American Woman's Association was discussed. Miss Dale has written the following account for THE ARROW.—The Editor).

According to many members of the older generation one of the drawbacks about providing the modern girl with a college education is that she is so apt to want to make some practical use of it in a business or professional way. Some of our grandmothers, in whose day education for girls was accounted rather as an adornment than a preparation for a career, are inclined to look a bit askance at the present college girl's ambition to "do something." She would better sit at home, learn to cook and sew, and wait the—providentially—right man. However, since she seems unwilling to do that, and since so often she must leave home to find the opportunities and environment she needs, both she and her family will rejoice in what is being done to take care of her when she comes to New York, that Mecca of career hunters.

Nobody has yet been able satisfactorily to explain the lure of New York to the girl just out of college. No matter if she has lived all her life on the prairies or has enjoyed the urban advantages of the next-larger City, she feels a peculiar kinship with the Biggest City. Somewhere there is a place and a welcome for her in New York.

Now, as a matter of fact, there are opportunities and openings in New York, and they are often easier to find than the worried mother anticipates. There are a surprising number of things that a girl can do—either in line with her chosen career or as stop-gaps until she finds more congenial work—which will pay rent of a sort, subway fares, and buy her bread and butter. As a rule the intelligent, trained girl, especially if she has some business education, will not need to be long without occupation, such as it is ; but it is also true that it may take her some time to get into just the sort of work she most enjoys. In the meantime she must have living accommodations, amusements, friends—and to a total stranger our beloved city could scarcely appear as hospitable as she does to us, who came to her with friends and home assured. I can imagine the horror of living in a small, dark room; eating—alone—at a small, dull restaurant or a marble-topped and garish cafeteria; riding—alone—to the parks; sitting—alone—on the top row of the theatre or concert hall. Doing without may be a lark in company with one's friends, and it may be quite a different proposition—alone.

That is why the proposed new Clubhouse for business women sponsored by the American Woman's Association is being hailed as such a step forward in providing living accommodations, desirable contacts and recreation for the business and professional woman. One might conceivably live a long time in New York without other opportunities for making friends than those afforded by the casual acquaintanceships of one's business or professional circle. One might also work for some time without being able to provide for oneself the comforts of the apartment hotel with its private baths, comfortable lounges and well-appointed dining room. The business women's club is designed to provide both the opportunity for making desirable acquaintances and that of enjoying gracious living accommodations. The American Woman's Association—until last winter a group of 1500 leading business and professional women but now having more than twice that number of members—felt keenly the need for a club whose interests would not be limited to a small, well-defined group, and whose expenses would not be prohibitive to the average income of the business woman. It was to meet this need that the present project was started.

It would take too long to describe all the plans for the club. The building, which is to be situated on a site with a frontage of 131 feet and running the depth of the block, is to be of Colonial brick with white trim, and will be erected around the four sides of a central garden terrace 80x90 feet, onto which the dining room and many of the bed rooms will open. In addition to the usual club equipment of lounges, reception rooms, private dining rooms and a ball room there will be a special club room for members, dressing rooms and an infirmary, while in the basement will be a completely equipped gymnasium and swimming pool. There will be a thousand bedrooms, one floor of which will be reserved for transients. Each bedroom will have its own bath—how rare that is in medium priced accommodations in New York any one who has gone room-hunting will tell you—and there will be no time limit on their occupancy and no rules other than the “recognized standards of taste and conduct.” The club will provide a social program of lectures, study clubs, teas and dances, but this will not be thrust upon the members as might be the case in a smaller group.

The estimated cost of the clubhouse, together with equipment, site, and carrying charges, is $4,000,000, which is being raised by the sale of 15,000 shares of preferred stock at $100 and 30,000 shares of common stock at $50, the rest of the amount to be obtained from a mortgage of $1,500,000. An estimate, said to be conservative, places the yearly income available for dividends on the common stock at $140,000. The financial basis of the club is more than usually interesting to new members—and it is planned to have five thousand “Charter” members in the next few months—inasmuch as they will each receive one share of common stock for the payment of the usual initiation fee of $50. Membership dues are $10 a year for Resident members, $5 for Non-Resident members (those who live outside of New York and use the club only occasionally) and $5 for Junior members (under twenty-five years of age). After the membership has passed the five thousand mark a straight initiation fee of $50 will be charged. The Charter members can always retain their membership, even though no longer in business or profession.

The most important thing about all this, however, is the fact that to live in this alluring club will not be beyond the means of most of us, for the rooms are to rent from $10 to $16 a week, due to the fact that this is not primarily a money-making proposition. Unless you know something of New York rates it will be hard to realize how exceptionally low these are. Ten dollars is almost a minimum for any kind of passable accommodation in a single room. One can live more cheaply in a co-operative apartment, which, however, means more or less crowding and an enforced intimacy; and to be successful must be shared by friends of proven congeniality (in which case there is nothing more delightful.) It also means a lease and often furniture and household equipment, and presupposes a stability of income and occupation which the newcomer may not have. Therefore, to the girl coming to the city alone, the combined privacy and companionship of the club, and the fact that she is bound by no lease of contract, would offer distinct advantage. She would find herself in irreproachable surroundings, would have someone to whom she could turn in case of illness or trouble, and would enjoy the possibilities of acquaintanceship and friendship not only with girls, who like herself, were starting the upward climb, but with women who had succeeded in her own and other lines. For the charm of the club is to be such that it will be sought by even high-salaried and successful women.

The clubhouse will not be completed for another two years, but reservations for rooms are already being made. The plans are drawn, the site—West 23rd Street just off Seventh Avenue—secured, and the undertaking, backed by prominent men and women both, seems assured of success. The "Divisions" into which the membership campaign committee is grouped are interesting as showing the various types of occupations which will and do engage members: Division "A," real estate, insurance, banks and trust companies, investment securities; Division "B" and "C," teachers, writers, publishers, librarians, advertising and publicity women, nurses, newspaper and magazine writers, doctors, dentists, lawyers, lawyer's executives, artists, actresses, designers and decorators, inventors; Divisions "D" and "E," electrical manufacturers, musical instruments, oil, copper, iron steel and smelting industries, transportation, telephone, telegraph and radio companies, automobiles and accessories, furniture manufacturers, hotels, restaurants, tea rooms, retail stores, and miscellaneous. A diversity of interest is assured, and certainly if the club ideal is realized, as it seems likely to be, it will prove of immense material and spiritual benefit to the business and professional women of many years to come.

EDITORIALS

IN THE DEATH of Rosa Moore, Illinois A, Pi Beta Phi lost another one of her Founders. If we would be worthy of the arrows which we wear we must strive to make this fraternity which was founded by that group of twelve splendid young women in 1867, the best organization of its kind. We must uphold the ideals which our Founders have ever cherished and which they have entrusted into our care.

THE ARROW welcomes into the world of fraternity publications Volume 1, Number 1 of The Aldebaran, the official magazine of Beta Phi Alpha. This first issue of our new N. P. C. fraternity is very worthy and promises to keep up the splendid reputation which Beta Phi Alpha is maintaining in the Greek world.

A VERY BEAUTIFUL tribute is being paid to the memory of Mary Gordon Holoway, California B of Pi Beta Phi, by the members of Beta Phi Alpha, in the establishment of the "Beta Phi Alpha Mary Gordon Holoway Loan Fund."

Harriet Williamson Tuft, writing in The Aldebaran of April 1924, says:

"Our relationship to Mrs. Holway may be likened to that of a mother and child. She had that kindly, loving, understanding spirit which alleviates the pain of the bumps and misunderstandings of life; promotes and encourages striving for ideals; and is ever a source of comfort. She was one to whom all our pleasures and pains, achievements and failures could be taken, and one could always be sure of an understanding sympathy, a whole-hearted desire to help in solution, and, when necessary, the gentle but firm rebuke.

"She came to us in the troublous times of a new club endeavoring to estalish itself on the California campus. We were rather distinctive as a club since the Collegiate Alumnae Branch of the Bay Regions was our sponsor. Mrs. Holway was an active member of the Collegiate Alumnae and, since she was much interested in young women, it soon came about that she became our guiding spirit.

"What that guiding spirit meant in those times was that she believed in us even when sometimes we were not sure that we believed in ourselves. She pointed the way when we were doubtful. She was always a source of inspiration."

The matter of the establishment of the Loan Fund was presented to the Beta Phi Alpha Convention held in September, 1923, and was enthusiastically adopted.

THE JUNE ISSUE of the Adelphean of Alpha Delta Pi contained an excellent article on "The Vicinity of Alpha Kappa Chapter" which is situated at Knoxville, Tenn. The article was illustrated with an especially good picture of the view looking toward Gatlinburg and Mt. Leconte, the view which everyone sees upon approaching our Settlement School.

CONVENTION—just yesterday we were talking of the joys of our Convention at Estes Park. Today we are again talking Convention, but this time of the coming one in Canada. For the first time our Biennial Convention will be held in the Dominion of Canada with Ontario A as our hostess chapter. Begin now to talk Convention and to save your pennies for the trip.

Convention is the strongest link in our big national chain.

THE EDITOR'S EASY CHAIR

BEYOND THE MOON GATE

"Beyond the Moon Gate"—By Welthy Honsinger, Abingdon Press, New York, Cincinnati, 1924.

"Beyond the Moon Gate" from the Abingdon Press is the most fascinating diary which has reached the Editor's desk in many months. With graphic descriptions which grip the reader's attention from beginning to end, Welthy Honsinger, New York A, now the wife of Bishop Fred B. Fisher of Calcutta, India, depicts the life of the Chinese people in a most entertaining manner.

The book is not a book of travel, "although it takes the reader by rickshaw, sedan chair, slipper boat and wheelbarrow away from port cities into real China. It is China itself—young China and old. It is the China hidden from the tourist; it is China behind the shelter of the gate closed to curious eyes, where Chinese ladies serve rare feasts and reveal their secrets" to "Little Sister Han" as they affectionately called this American Pi Phi who cast her lot with the Orient for ten years.

"And why," the reader may wonder, "was this American girl able to go beyond the Moon Gate and to enter into the intimate Chinese life?"

Miss Honsinger writes:-

"Once like so many others, I thought that East was East and West was West and never the twain would meet, but Lotus Virtue and many of her friends have taught me it is false and not what Kipling meant. They have lifted for me the veil of their supposedly sealed hearts and have opened to me their supposedly mysterious minds! And now I know that there is no border nor breed, nor birth among young women of any race, though they come from the end of the earth.

"It seems, according to Chinese friends, that I did an unusual thing upon my arrival, though I was all unaware of it. In the first place, I lived with Lotus Virtue—as charming and as finely bred a girl as was ever graduated from an American college. During our first weeks in the old city I received numbers of invitations from American and British friends which did not include her. As any well-bred person would have done, I refused them. It began to be noised about, it seems, that I would not accept an invitation unless my Chinese friend Lotus Virtue was included. After three months, no invitation came to me alone. Be it said to our Western shame, that never did Lotus Virtue have an invitation from her Chinese friends that did not include me, and because I was the stranger, I was usually the guest of honor. So we began to enter into a 'set' or 'coterie' that was to prove to me an entrance into the real world of the East behind the veil."

The literary style of Miss Honsinger's little book is exquisite. Paragraphs like the following run through the entire work:

"A full moon and a half have gone since the North Wind has blown, and meantime we have had no mail. It takes almost a month for mail to come from New York to Shanghai, then three or four days more up the Yangste—and then—the Poyang! The lottery of that Poyang! If the North Wind blows, the junks will bring the mail across in three days, but if the South Wind blows—we sit and wait! My ethics—or perhaps it isn't ethics—are all upset. I want to pray for the North Wind, but perhaps some lone soul farther in the desert of China's interior may need the South Wind to bring her letters—so I sit."

And again:

"There's the Temple Bell too that sounds every night at eleven. One can't call it a mechanical noise exactly, nor yet a human noise. No, it's a superhuman note that sounds and resounds over the whole wide expanse outside the city wall, for we live just outside the wall and very near the temples. There are no words that can describe the bell, it is music that hurts like a Chopin nocturne. It floats on and on, and after it stops I can still hear it singing to me."

Would that the Editor had time to tell you in detail how the Chinese almost caused a riot when they mistook Miss Honsinger for a high official because of the feather she wore on her hat; how she adopted a Chinese baby; how the Tourist-lady-Interested-In-Missions descended upon the School of Protecting Spirit and was finally entertained at the Temple of Hell; how our Pi Phi sister was thrilled at the call which the Governor of the Province made upon her; how finally when the school in which she was director was progressing, was burned to the ground; how this resourceful American woman bought a Chinese cemetery, supervised the removal of the dead, and then rebuilt her school on the ground after having become the admiral of a fleet of junks filled with 340,000 bricks.

Says Miss Honsinger: "Following the rumor of machine-made bricks and the railroad, I sailed across the Poyang Lake to the City of Nine Rivers, and through the proper middlemen

I bought three hundred and forty thousand bricks. Then through other sets of middlemen I had them put on large sailing junks to take them across the Lake. It took forty-nine big junks to carry them. For every junk there was a hieroglyphic bill of lading. By the time I had filed the thirty-ninth piece of literature I bought a bamboo basket to carry them in!

"While I was packing the bills of lading a notice came that a large freight consignment from America had arrived. Another adventure! What could it be? Upon spending a few hours unwinding the red tape I saw two hundred white iron beds that generous Mrs. W. had sent. I spoke on the School of Protecting Spirit in her drawing room in New York and here are two hundred beds—her gift! Nine more small junks, nine more large bills of lading."

On that journey with the bricks and the iron beds a storm overtook them.

"At the end of three days, however, the food was gone and I was tossing in my little boat," writes the author, "anchored six miles down the Yangtse—just within sight of Hu Kou (the mouth of the lake.)"

"The rain fell as though clouds had burst. Thunder roared. The nights were black and long. The days were dark and longer. How that little anchor, thrown into the mud on the shore of the wild, raging and ever-rising Kangtse, could hold our boat is yet a mystery. I wake up nights now living over the years of agony I spent in those hours of tossing in the wild blackness."

Through the book there runs a thread of romance in reference to "Tom," the fiance who was back in the United States, and who had no sympathy for the missionary work. In one place the author says: "I have met the Bishop. He does not approve of me—but he will!"

Whether the Bishop is the same one who is now Miss Hon-singer's husband is not known to the Editor—but at any rate if the Bishop in the book did "not approve" of her—another Bishop did, and so on June 16, 1924, married her and took her to Calcutta, India, where they are now making their home at 3 Middleton Street.

LAND OF THE SADDLE-BAGS

Through the efforts of Mrs. Franklin D. Cogswell (Elizabeth S. Fraser, Colorado A), an opportunity is being given to the alumnae clubs, active chapters and individual members of Pi Beta Phi to make money for the Settlement School through the sale of a book entitled, "The Land of Saddle-bags." This book is especially appropriate for such a purpose since it is a study of the mountain people of the Appalachian Mountains and is written by James Watt Raine, head of the department of English of Berea College, Berea, Kentucky. The book, which is published jointly by the Council of Women for Home Missions and the Missionary Education Movement, is an "authoritative account of the history and present social condition of the purest Saxon blood in America. Chapters on Mountain feuds and ballads, and the Elizabethan virtues of a people still speaking the language of Shakespeare, illuminate the character of folk who send young men to France and old men to school."

In reviewing the book, Sarah Pomeroy Rugg, who has visited the Southern Mountains as a former member of Grand Council and of the Settlement School Committee, says :-

"This book contains a very comprehensive review of mountain conditions of the present day. The author speaks from an experience of thirty years of steadily enlarging acquaintance with the Mountain People. He concisely reviews their history and gives their background, but the bulk of his volume is devoted to the problems of the present and the needs of the future.

"It is true that the Mountain people are contemporary pioneers but the area they occupy is not constant. Improved opportunities for transportation are gradually decreasing the area of the Land of Saddle-bags and the gradual change in the homes and habits of the people is exactly the same sort of change that takes place and always takes place in every developing country. The economic problem of the mountains is fundamental. With that in process of solution, we can with some hope work for good health, good schools and good citizenship.

"Everyone who has ever come in personal contact with Mountain people and their problems will agree with the author when he writes :-

“In the recesses of the Appalachian Mountains these fundamental elements of the American character are found today in stark simplicity, uncontaminated by the rush of business or the greed of money; unencrusted with social ambitions; unbroken by industrial fears. This rich deposit of true Americanism is a priceless possession, the unspoiled heritage of the American people.”

Anna Robinson Nickerson, Grand Vice-President, in considering the book as a means for making money for the Settlement School, writes:-

“The book came two days ago and though I have not read it from cover to cover, I have read several chapters and have glanced through it all. The only reason I have not devoured every word of it, is the lack of time. I feel that it gives one such an education, that it should be read slowly with atlas, history and autobiographies at hand. It is intensely interesting, and from my three brief visits to the School, I should say that the author had portrayed these people as only one who had an intimate knowledge and perfect understanding could. I thoroughly believe that this book would be of great interest to Pi Phis, and that after reading it their interest in our School would be increased. I wish every alumna interested in the School could have the opportunity to read ‘The Land of Saddle-bags’.”

Quoting from various book reviews of “The Land of Saddle-bags”:

And that is the secret of the history of the Mountain People, the alpha and omega of the mountain problem, the genesis of the racy traits and vocabulary of these Southern highlanders, the significance of the name, “The Land of Saddle-bags” which Mr. Raine has given this book. Nothing has come to these people except what has come on horseback. Their roads are rocky creek-beds that plunge down either side of the ridges. Their products, aside from their own home-made living, are only such things as can walk to market—mainly cattle and hogs and turkeys. Their moonshining—an industry the proportions of which have been exaggerated by descriptive writers—has the same reason for being as that which produced the so-called Whiskey Rebellion of Washington’s time; only in liquid form can their corn reach market over the nearly vertical mountain roads; with the doctor fifteen miles away at the county seat, the usual medicine is “yarbs” steeped in liquor, with every mountain wife her own pharmacist.

“If Shakespeare could revisit the earth today,” says Mr. Raine,

"he would feel more at home among our mountain people than anywhere else." So, we think, would Spenser and Chaucer, for the idioms of all three are still current among them—strange and racy turns of speech like holp for help, clomb for climbed, begone for get out, prank for play, embers for ashes, afeard for afraid, foreparents for forefathers, aim for intend, crave for want, and a thousand others. The Elizabethan spinning wheel and lard lamp are yet in use, with the cooking utensils of an elder day. How are you going to pack a kitchen range on a horse's back up a creek road as steep as the hypotenuse of a right-angle triangle?

"The Mountain People are too far from the doctor; their land is mostly too steep for the plow; their live stock needs the services of choice stallions and bulls and rams and boars; their diet is not sufficiently varied; their knowledge of sanitary conditons and precautions is far too casual; their schools last only two or three months in the year, and attendance falls off whenever a storm turns a creek road into a wild torrent; their too sudden contacts with an industrial civilization, whenever a railroad, a mine or a factory finds its way into the fastnesses, have deplorable and pathetic consequences."

So Mr. Raine sketches the problems and suggests solutions which the Office Window will not record here. But the other side of the picture, which he sets down with sympathy and fidelity, haunts the reader. For all their wild feuds, these people have a sense of God to a degree unknown in what they call "the level country." They are implacably honest; they simply don't steal at all. Their hospitality is splendid and utter. Good manners are their birthright. Love of country is their life-blood. Thus we paraphrase Mr. Raine, and indorse, for while we have done no riding, we have done a little tramping in "The Land of Saddle Bags." We add only one comment of our own. About the handsomest men we have seen anywhere were among these same mountaineers.

Of all the books we have read about this region only two or three are comparable with Mr. Raine's. It is framed upon backgrounds of abundant historical lore and long and intimate contacts with the land and the people. It is written with understanding, nervous vigor and a graphic charm. It is published in New York jointly by the Council of Women for Home Missions and the Missionary Education Movement.

Cincinnati Times-Star.

March 28, 1924.

Copies of "The Land of Saddle-Bags" may be purchased by individuals for $1.50 direct from Mrs. Franklin D. Cogswell, 16 Cedars Road, Caldwell, New Jersey. The plan of purchase as arranged by Mrs. Cogswell for alumnae clubs and active chapters will be sent direct to those groups. Because the publishers of the book are interested in education and not profits the book is retailing at $1.50. The same book coming from a regular publishing house would sell for $2.00 or $2.50. For the same reason the publishers have generously offered to the Fraternity the book at a reduction which should clear for the School $45.00 on every 100 books sold. Single copies or lots up to 25 will be sold us for $1.00 per copy; lots of 25-99, for $.95 per copy; lots of 100 or more, $.90 per copy. The books are to be retailed at $1.50, the difference to go to the Settlement School. The postage and small service charge for wrapping and mailing will have to be deducted from the profit, but even so every copy should net on an average of between $.40 and $.45.

THE NEW BOOK OF ETIQUETTE .

The New Book of Etiquette. Lillian Eichler. Nelson Doubleday, Inc. Vols. I, II. $1.98 plus postage.

The New Book of Etiquette by Lillian Eichler is a splendid work for chapter study of social usage. In a clear, concise manner the author writes of the history of etiquette and describes the correct customs of today.

"Standards have changed, just as the machinery of living has changed," says the author. "The typewriter was once frowned upon, and etiquette writers forbade its use in social correspondence. But modern etiquette accepts and welcomes so splendid a time-saver. There was a time when no one would have dreamed of inviting a friend to tea or dinner over the telephone, but now it is being done quite as a matter of course—except on occasions of formality.

"The new etiquette introduces a fine simplicity that cannot fail to appeal to the person who has tired of the stiff, stilted, heavily formal etiquette of the last century. But by its very simplicity and informality, this etiquette forbids the disregard of those rules and conventions, determined by good sense and experience, that are observed wherever well-bred people mingle. Unless you are acquainted with the customs that are now good form, you will find yourself exposed to many little discomforts and embarrassments."

It is true that most fraternity members come from homes where the correct social usages are observed, but chapter life offers a field for splendid development in every way and a study of The New Book of Etiquette will assist every member to find out what is correct, and to enable her to make it a practice to do that correct thing always, in private as in public, so that it becomes as natural and instinctive for her to do it, as to say, "Good Morning."

Says Miss Eichler, "The final test of good manners is the ability to mingle comfortably among all people and in all environments, the ability to feel equally at home at a simple country fete and a formal city function. The well bred are able to adapt themselves instantly to any environment. They never assume a haughty or superior air when they find themselves in an environment which is not as fashionable as their own."

Among the many interesting chapters in these little volumes we find: The Little Courtesies of Daily Life; Self-Consciousness; Cards and Titles; Calling Customs; Social Correspondence; Invitations and Acknowledgments; The Gift of Voice; Correct Dress; Courtship and Betrothal; Marriage; Correct Gifts for Every Occasion; At the Table; Teas, Luncheons and Suppers; The Dance; New Ways to Entertain, etc.

A set of these books should be found on every chapter reference shelf.

POLITICAL CAREER OF LORD BYRON

The political Career of Lord Byron. By Dora Neill Raymond. Henry Holt & Co.

While holding the Alice Freeman Palmer Memorial Fellowship for 1922-1924, Dora Neill Raymond, Texas A, collected the very excellent volume recently published by Henry Holt and Company under the title of "The Political Career of Lord Byron."

Through this book Mrs. Raymond portrays the career and character of one of the most talked-of men of England, Lord Byron. With keen understanding of human nature the author weaves the story of this historical character from the information which she obtained through painstaking research work among original documents, newspapers and records of England and the Continent.

"It will be readily conceded," says Mrs. Raymond, "that Lord Byron's career was picturesque, amatory and literary. That it was political also, is perhaps, not so easily apparent."

With skill she proves to the reader that the life of Lord Byron was primarily that of a statesman and that his interest in the political life of England and of entire Europe was inspiration for most if not all of his writings.

From his early days in England, through his exile and intense years in Italy the reader follows with keen appreciation the forces which entered the life of the man who in the end sacrificed himself to the cause of Greece.

Students of literature and history will find this book of Mrs. Raymond's full of facts and atmosphere. It is a splendid contribution to the world's bookshelf.

OUR FELLOWSHIP FUND

A NEW FOURTEEN POINTS

How many of you know that Pi Beta Phi offers annually to a member of the fraternity, a $500 fellowship, for the purpose of graduate study in some American or foreign university?

Do you realize that the importance of this fraternity activity imposes upon each of us the obligation of supporting it financially?

Do you know that until 1915 this sum of $500 was taken each year from the national treasury?

But do you know that at the Berkeley Convention in 1915 a committee was appointed to raise an endowment fund of $10,000 to provide automatically this annual amount?

Do you also know that it was planned to raise this endowment fund in ten years, that is, by the convention of 1925, expecting each province to contribute $100 for each of those years?

How many of you know how much has actually been raised up to the present time? That due to the curtailed activity during the war period, progress has been slower than was planned, and there remains about $3,000 to be raised in one year?

In short, do you realize that we have three years' work to be done in one?

Reference to the recent October ARROW will show the distribution of last year's gifts among the various provinces. Where does your province rank in that list? Did you help put it there?

Are you going to help put this thing across this year, so that at convention next summer our committee chairman will be able to report "C'est fini?"

If you belong to an organized group, do your part by seeing that your chapter or alumnae club contributes as soon as possible and to the maximum of its ability.

If you are not affiliated with any chapter or alumnae club, sit down today and mail your donation to your province representative. It need not be large; each of us can do something, and if we all do that, the sum total of those "somethings" will easily make up the necessary amount. Only, however, if every single one of us does what she can! In the front of any recent Arrow you will find the correct names and present addresses of the various committee members. In order that your province may receive the credit for your gift, and also to simplify the work of the committee, be sure to mail it to the member of the committee from the province in which you now reside.

In the March ARROW we hope to be able to publish a partial, and we also hope, very substantial, total—the contributions for this year up to that time. Be sure that you are represented in that report.

Help put your province at the top of that list!

Furthermore, do it now!

A member of the local alumnae advisory committee says this concerning the proposed activities of that committee: The advisory committee this year expects to be of real service to the active chapter. The committee is well organized and since the college year has opened we have cooperated fully with the chapter. In order for the advisory committee to give the most, there must be a spirit of willingness on the part of the active girls to take any help that the alumnae can give. The girls in the chapter want our help. We have planned to send a representative once each month to meet with the active chapter, this representative to speak on some subject of national scope or of local interest. We have planned to help in rushing the local high school girls.

The Tucson Panhellenic club's meetings for the past three years have been in the nature of teas with a short program. The tentative plans for this year propose a more definite program for these teas and also include a possible luncheon. A woman's fraternity register has been placed in a book store down town and all local and visiting fraternity women are asked to register in order that all may be more easily reached.

Her early school life was spent at Salisbury. Then she attended Middlebury College one year and completed her work at St. Lawrence University in 1916. She was initiated by ΠΒΦ at Middlebury and transferred to N. Y. Γ when she entered St. Lawrence University—an excellent student, in her senior year she was elected to ΦΒΚ. After graduation she taught in the high school at Norfolk, N. Y., a year, and in Carthage, N. Y., three years. She was married to Dr. Charles F. Adams at Carthage, January 22, 1921. Surviving her are her husband, a stepson, Darwin Adams, and one brother, Royal Boardman, of Salisbury, Vt. She was prominently identified during her residence in Carthage with social and charitable work and community activities. Her deeds of kindness and helpfulness make her death a loss to many.

BROOKS (MRS. SILAS N.) Irma Patton, Wyoming A, '17, died suddenly at her home in Casper, Wyo., July 2, 1924.

She was initiated into Wyoming A on Jan. 8, 1916. On Jan. 5, 1921 she was married to Silas N. Brooks, and to them was born a daughter, Patricia Belle, who is now a year and a half old. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Patton, living in Cheyenne, Wyo., also survive her.

EAST (MRS. JAMES MONTGOMERY), Catharine Ferrell Fonda, died on March 31, 1924, in Boulder, Colo., after a year's illness.

She was always interested in all Pi Phi activities and her enthusiasm was ever an incentive to all who knew her to give more and to do more for Pi Phi. She was initiated into Colorado A, Oct. 16, 1908.

RECTOR, (MRS. PERCY N.), Ruth Stanford Foskette, Iowa A, died at the Mercy hospital, Denver, Colo., July 9, 1924.

Mrs. Rector was born in Chicago, Aug. 28, 1894. She graduated from the Iowa State Teacher's College in 1916 with the degree of Bachelor of Arts. She also attended Iowa Wesleyan College where she became a member of Iowa A chapter of $\Pi\beta\Phi$.

She was instructor of physical education in the high school at Marshalltown, Iowa, from 1916 to 1919 and the following year in the high school at Ames, Iowa.

On December 23, 1920 she was married to Percy N. Rector at Greeley, Colo., who with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. Edward Foskette, survive her.

At the time of her death she was instructor of physical education in Skinner junior high school at Denver, Colo. Her loss is keenly felt by her many friends, students and Pi Phi sisters.

ST. JOHN, (MRS. ADRIAN), Marie McMahan, Vermont B, died on May 12, 1924 at the Fanny Allen Hospital, Burlington, Vt., following an illness of several months. She had been living in Edgewood, Md., until several weeks before her death, going to Burlington to be with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. D. McMahan.

She was born in Burlington, Vt., Aug. 15, 1894 and received her first schooling in the parochial schools there, then graduating at the Edmunds High school in 1911, entering the University of Vermont in the class of 1915 and being initiated into Pi Beta Phi there. She was the first woman graduate in engineering at that institution. While there she was also prominent in dramatics, and held several class offices, finally being voted the most popular girl in her class.

Following graduation she taught mathematics in the high school from which she entered college. On Aug. 23, 1920 she was married to Capt. Adrian St. John of the Chemical Warfare branch of the army, who is a graduate of Vermont, '14. To them one son, Adrian, Jr., was born. Besides her husband and son she is survived by her parents, a brother, Dr. Karl McMahan, Brooklyn, N. Y., and a sister, Dorothy McMahan, of Burlington, Vt.

SUMMER TOUR

Mrs. Rugg who was unable to carry out plans announced at the last Convention for the Pi Beta Phi European Tour in 1924 is arranging for a small private party to tour Europe during the summer of 1925. She is especially anxious to get in touch with all who consulted her at Estes Park regarding European travel and those who wrote her concerning the proposed trip for 1924. While the tour this coming summer is not planned exclusively for Pi Beta Phis, members of the fraternity will be welcomed. For further information, Address—Mrs. F. A. Rugg, 93 Newbury St., Boston, Mass.

CHAPTER LETTERS

EDITED BY CAROLYN M. REED,
Nebraska B

539 East Pasadena St., Pomona, Calif.

ALPHA PROVINCE

ONTARIO ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO
(Chartered December 11, 1908)
Pledge Day—October 17, 1924.

Owing to the introduction of sophomore rushing and preferential bidding, which are now being tried for the first time at the University of Toronto, Ontario A is already busy with its two parties, the cabaret dinner and a bridge at the Scarboro Golf Club. The chapter has secured rooms very near University College and they are proving most convenient headquarters.

The annual house-party was held at Jackson's Point between examinations and Convocation, and proved a great success. Some of the alumnae were there all the time and several more came up for the week end.

Convocation saw the eight seniors graduate with flying colours, thus maintaining the six years' record of no condition or failure in the fourth year. In Convocation week the new tower in memory of the six hundred and forty men and one woman from the University, who fell during the Great War, was dedicated. It is a beautiful grey stone Gothic structure connecting Hart House and University College, and is a great addition to the campus. The University Stadium has been enlarged and concrete bleachers have taken the place of the more insecure wooden ones. Also the new home of Trinity College is rapidly nearing completion, and will probably be occupied by Christmas.

During the summer the University was the scene of several conventions, the largest of which was the one held by the British Association for the Advancement of Science. Since college opened the debaters from Oxford have been heard in Toronto again.

Ontario A is looking forward to the convention at Bigwin Inn, as it will provide a wonderful opportunity to come into closer contact with the fraternity as a whole. K K F held their convention at Bigwin this summer and the glowing accounts of the Toronto chapter are a further inspiration to ΠΦ.

KATHERINE BALL,

MAINE ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF MAINE
(Chartered 1920)

Pledge Day—December 2, 1924

Maine welcomed her freshmen a week early again this year, but they did not occupy the new Arts and Science Building until the upper classmen arrived. The building contains fifty varying sized rooms, including about seventeen offices. The economic department, history, psychology, and most language departments have moved into their new quarters leaving Estabrooke for M. C. A. offices and social rooms.

Last spring the week between examinations and Commencement was spent at a house party at the cottage of Elizabeth Pendleton in Dorothea Dix Park in Hampden. Maine A is smaller this fall because of the illness of Sarah Fisher and Christine McLaughlin, and by the transfer of Grace Armstrong to Simmons. Rena Campbell, '21, returned as an instructor in the department of home economics.

The three new upper class pledges this fall are Cecile E. Ham, Meredith Blanchard, Dorice Bennett, a Campus reporter. The active members, too, hold many responsible positions in campus affairs. Margaret Boothy is vice-president of student government, on the social committee of the Home Economics club, and of the Round Table; Madelene Brackett is manager of basketball; Helene Douglas is senior representative to student government and a member of Y. W. C. A. cabinet; Elizabeth Pendleton was elected president of the Domino. Several members are in the Contributors Club and on the Campus, the weekly newspaper of which Arelene Ware is social editor; she is also secretary of El Circulo Espanol. Pearl Woodard is president of the same Spanish club and Ardis Woodard is vice-president of the Domino and a Campus reporter.

The freshman girls were entertained at the Y. W. C. A. hare-and-hound chase and at the Panhellenic advertisement party.

ELIZABETH E. PENDLETON.

VERMONT ALPHA—MIDDLEBURY COLLEGE
(Chartered 1893.)

Pledge Day—October 24, 1924.

So far this fall the freshmen have been the center of college attention, during the four weeks of modified rushing. Preferential bidding has been used here very successfully for two years, and is to be used again this year.

The college has let contracts for three new buildings, a Music Practice House, a French Chateau, and an Infirmary. Everyone is much interested in the chateau, for it is to be built on the real French plan.

The chapter held its annual fall house-party at Lake Dunmore the first week-end of October. The spring and fall house-parties give all the members of the chapter an opportunity to get together for a few days, a thing rather difficult where the girls are scattered in different dormitories.

The fraternity ring annually given to the sophomore making the greatest improvement in scholarship during the year has been awarded to Margaret Sturtevant.

ΠΒΦ is well represented in the choir and dramatic club. She also has members on the Student Government Council, Y. W. C. A. Cabinet, W. A. A. Council and on the Kaleid Board.

MARY C. MOORE.

VERMONT BETA—UNIVERSITY OF VERMONT.

(Chartered 1898)

Vermont B has begun the college year with twenty-eight active members and three pledges. Ruth Stanley, ex '25, is now studying at the Peter Brent Brigham Hospital in Boston.

On Saturday of the first week, the freshmen girls were welcomed to the University at a Vermonter's Club Party. Entertainment consisted of stunts given by the various dormitories. The Pi Phis were well represented in these.

The Annual Mountain day is soon to be observed. On this day all classes are dismissed and every student has the opportunity to climb Mount Mansfield and to enjoy the beauty of the gorgeous fall colorings.

On Wednesday, October 15th, the chapter entertained the ΠΦ mothers of Burlington at a card party at the fraternity rooms.

Since second semester rushing will again be observed, the first weeks can be devoted entirely to fall sports and college work. Elizabeth Wilson is manager of class tennis, Ruth Frost, class secretary, Florence Lewis, Glee Club manager, Alma Tyler manager of class basketball, and Marion Symonds is on the Ariel Board.

RUTH E. FROST.

MASSACHUSETTS ALPHA—BOSTON UNIVERSITY

(Chartered March 7, 1896.)

Pledge Day—November 10, 1924.

The first ΠΦ cooky-shine found the actives of Massachusetts A glad and sad—glad to meet again but sad to face the loss of ten graduates and five undergraduates.

The girls' hopes have been fulfilled this year in the establishment of a chapter house. It has six large rooms which are artistically designed in wine and blue. The rooms overlook the Charles River and are directly opposite the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. The girls are very fortunate in having Mrs. Clark, a mother of two Pi Phis, as the house mother, and her pleasing personality and interest command the respect and admiration of all.

ΠΦ is represented in college activities by Hilda Forster, Hazel Bestick, and Louise Clark in basketball and volleyball; Constance Witherrall as secretary of Y. W. C. A., and Matilda McLeod as chairman of the Sophomore Commission. The girls are also interested in such activities as Orchestra, Glee Club, and Dramatic Club.

It was with deep regret that the student body learned of the resignation of President Murlin who recently accepted the presidency of DePauw University. A dean of women has been appointed by the trustees, she having the distinctive honor of being the first dean of women at Boston University.

The undergraduates assisted the new students in becoming acquainted by arranging a G. A. A. hike and house-party, a Y. M.-Y. W. social, a Y. W. C. A. tea and a ΓΑ reception.

MATILDA MCLEOD.

NEW YORK ALPHA—SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY

(Chartered 1896)

Pledge Day—September 22, 1924

The first ten days, this fall, were occupied with rushing, resulting in seven splendid pledges; Prudence Hawkins, Louise Gray, Virginia Morgan, Alys Johnson, Doris Whiting, Annette Hord, and Cornelia Pietro. One of this number, Louise Gray, is the daughter of a founder of New York A chapter.

A great deal of interest has been added to the courses in Syracuse University as a result of the new School of Citizenship, which is being established here, this year. This is the first college of its kind to be started anywhere in the United States, and some very remarkable professors have been secured to direct it. When the new school was inaugurated, September 3, the Honorable Elihu Root was present and addressed the student body.

A very remarkable series of speakers and artists is scheduled to visit the university this year. Among them are Jane Cowl, Geraldine Farrar, Billy Sunday, Paul Whiteman.

The chapter has promise of a very brilliant year in college activities, since so many are represented in the different organizations on the Hill. Dorothy Parker is editor of the women's staff of the Onondagan; Mrs. Charles McAdams (Margery Gilmore) is an associate editor of the Phoenix; two sophomores are reporters for the Daily Orange, and five pledges are trying out for the staff. Marjorie Green and Dorothy Parker are chairmen of committees in the Women's Student Government Association. Larry Lawrence is manager of basketball and cheer leader of the junior class. Thelma Hord is manager of rifle, and Geraldine Ridings is captain of the team.

Some very novel entertainments have been planned for the pledges, such as marshmallow roasts before the fire-place, steak suppers in the woods, and slumber parties. The chairman of scholarship is holding supervised study for the pledges two nights a week. The object is to give them all possible help toward making the eighty per cent average.

Plans are now under way for the annual Settlement School Benefit Dance, to be held in the Onondaga Hotel ball room.

Last June, eight of the ten seniors graduated cum laude, four of them were elected to $\Phi K \Phi$, and one to $\Phi B K$.

The chapter sent two delegates to the Y. W. C. A. conference at Silver Bay, and two others attended at their own expense.

LU ESTHER TURNER.

NEW YORK GAMMA—ST. LAWRENCE UNIVERSITY

(Chartered March 20, 1914)

Pledge Day—October 1, 1924

INITIATES

(Initiated June 6, 1924)

Rosine Delmage, Hermon, N. Y.

Clementine Mills, Jersey City, N. J.

Football season is in full swing at St. Lawrence University. By means of a special train, the whole student body, and many alumni went to Watertown to attend the game with Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute.

St. Lawrence was recently honored by Dr. Frank P. Graves, of Education of the State, who gave an excellent address on "The Conquest of Man's Mind."

Rushing season closed very satisfactorily with six girls pledged; Laura Baillie, who is a transfer from Wells College, Marion Delmage, Dorothy Colby, Ruth Lewis, Janet Gordon and Margaret Van Bergen.

Pi Phi promise to be active in college affairs this year as the following honors have already been won: Ruth Moir, vice-president of W. S. G. A.; Alice Bennett, co-ed editor of the Gridiron, the St. Lawrence year book; Beatrice Matteson, vice-president of Mummies, college dramatic society; Ursula McDonald, secretary of the junior class; Clementine Mills, vice-president of the sophomore class, and Ruth Lewis, secretary of the freshman class.

The first social gathering of the W. S. G. A. is to be held at the $\Pi B \Phi$ house. New York Γ opened the fraternity social season with an informal dance on October 18.

The active chapter is planning to solicit the alumnae for funds with which to redecorate the chapter house. New York Γ is very fortunate in having Mrs. F. K. Conger, of Illinois B as chaperone. A tea was recently given in her honor.

JOYCE TAYLOR.

NEW YORK DELTA—CORNELL UNIVERSITY

(Chartered 1919).

Pledge Day—October 18, 1924.

The year begins splendidly for Cornell University and New York A. The new Straight Union is progressing rapidly and will probably be open by next spring. The Schoelkoff Memorial Stadium is now complete and has seating capacity for 25,000 persons.

New York Δ is at last in its new home, made beautiful with antiques and gifts from the alumnae and patronesses. The house is ideally situated and is well arranged for entertaining.

Many honors came to the chapter at the close of the spring semester. First in importance was the winning of the Panhellenic Scholarship Cup when $\Pi B \Phi$ stood first in scholarship among the fourteen women's fraternities on the campus. Eleonar Gage was elected to Mortar Board and Elinor Jennings to Raven and Serpent, the junior honor society. Frances Winney was chosen corresponding secretary of the Women's Dramatic Club; Elinor Jennings was elected to active membership and Betty Kallman to associate membership in the club. Dorothy Rogers was chosen treasurer of the Dixie Club, an organization of the southern women and Elinor Jennings was elected manager of the junior crew and representative on the W. A. A. Council.

New York Δ is happy to announce the pledging of Helen Faber and Elizabeth Lawson.

PENNSYLVANIA ALPHA—SWARTHMORE COLLEGE

Pledge Day—December 1, 1924

Pennsylvania has started the year with unusual pep and enthusiasm after a wonderful house party at Lakeville, Conn. Vacation was extended one week for the finishing of the new Worth dormitory. Worth is an architectural masterpiece, of gray stone, after the charming old English cottage style. Kitchenettes fully equipped with all electrical appliances, and handsomely furnished reception rooms, add to the luxuries that seventy-two girls are enjoying.

The campus boasts of new roads and flagstone walks. Plans for new fraternity rooms or a Panhellenic house are now under discussion.

Pop nights, Y. W. C. A., and class receptions to the Freshmen brought out many favorable prospects to be cultivated through natural friendship rushing.

Pennsylvania A feels greatly honored this year in being awarded the Balfour cup. Each girl realizes the grave responsibility which such an honor entails, and is striving to maintain the lofty standards of our fraternity.

Pennsylvania A is strongly represented in all college activities. Out of eight possible student government offices $\Pi B \Phi$ holds four. Gahring Price is president of student conduct; Anna Powell is chairman of honor committee; Emilie Spear is chairman of student affairs and Lois Thompson is secretary of student government. Other Pi Phis serve on committees. Anna Powell is also president of Y. W. C. A. and chairman of the Table Committee. Marjorie Lapham is dramatic editor of the Phoenix, the weekly paper, while Ruth Longacre and Lydia are members of the staff. On the Halcyon staff, the college annual, are Frances Pace, who is feature editor, and Emilie Spear who is photographic editor.

Mary Lee is president of Le Circle Francais and Marjorie Lapham is a member. She is also coaching one act plays.

Mary Konkle, 48 Hawthorne Ave., East Orange, N. J.

Mabel Ruhl, Lewisburg, Pa.

Pennsylvania B started the new year with only eight active members back, but in spite of this handicap, chapter cooperation and enthusiasm have never been more marked. The rushing outlook is most promising and the various bridge parties, breakfasts and luncheons for the freshmen have been very successful.

Mary Konkle, a $\Pi\Phi$ daughter and Mabel Ruhl, a $\Pi\Phi$ sister were initiated October 15 at the home of Carolyn Hunt.

The Y. W. C. A. Cabinet and the Panhellenic Board have each entertained for the freshmen and the cooperation between the women's organizations of the campus is very pronounced this year.

The new stadium seating 18,000, was in use for Home-coming, October 18.

PENNSYLVANIA GAMMA—DICKINSON COLLEGE
(Chartered 1903)

Pledge Day—December 5, 1924.

Dickinson College opened September 11 with an enrollment of five hundred, of which one-fourth are girls. Tangible results of the endowment drive are now being appreciated by the students. Old East College has been remodeled and was formally opened on Parent and Alumni Day, October 31. A new grid-graph has been installed in the gymnasium on which all games played away from home are reproduced. The college has enjoyed several successful social events including the annual reception to the freshmen, a corn-roast and the annual picnic. A masquerade is being planned now for Hallowe'en.

Pennsylvania Γ is represented this year by Carola Learned, president of the honor court and a member of the Y. W. C. A. cabinet, Rachel Forcey and Ruth Chambers, also members of Y. W. C. A. cabinet, and Anne Shellenberger, vice-president of the governing council at Metzger Hall. Sallie Sigmund and Ruth Chambers are on the staff of the college year book, the Microcosm.

The fraternity has new rooms in the home of Mrs. Wilson S. Ritter (Christine Stuart, '17) and entertained the faculty, $\Pi\Phi$ patronesses and alumnae at tea there recently. Two girls from each fraternity and representative non-fraternity girls were also invited. The chapter is planning a Hallowe'en dance at the home of Nora Shenk in Newville.

Local Panhellenic has revised all of its rules and constitution, doing away with much of the trouble of the pre-rushing season. The freshmen girls were heartily welcomed during Little Sister Week, the first week of the term, and since that time have been encouraged to form friendships among their own classmates. The rules strive to create equal opportunities for both the fraternity girls and freshmen girls to learn to know one another.

PENNSYLVANIA DELTA—UNIVERSITY OF PITTSBURGH

(Chartered September 19, 1918)

Pledge Day—Not Decided Upon

The center of attraction this year is the new stadium which is being constructed on the campus. It is to be completed for the football season of 1925 and will have a seating capacity of 70,000.

The non-fraternity girls of the university have formed an organization called the Arcus Club and every non-fraternity girl is a member. Dean Amos gave the annual officers' banquet October 2, at which $\Pi\Phi$ was represented by Ferne Wein and Lysbeth Hamilton.

The chapter has taken a new suite of rooms on Terrace street which is very convenient to the new stadium. The rooms were formally opened by a cookie-shine October 13.

The play "Sun Up" was given as a benefit for the Settlement School one night during its run in Pittsburgh. The sale of tickets, candy, and the song, "Sun Up," amounted to $250, the songs alone bringing in eighty dollars.

Ferne Wein is publicity manager of the Panther for the college year. Sylvia Hannan is on the Panhellenic committee for Fraternity Day. Lysbeth Hamilton is president of the co-ed organization of the class of 1927. Doris Lindbom is studying music at Carnegie Institute of Technology this year.

OHIO ALPHA—OHIO UNIVERSITY

Pledge Day—October 6, 1924.

As a result of a very successful and delightful rushing season Ohio A has nine splendid new pledges. During the thirteen days allotted by Panhellenic, the chapter entertained the new girls with several social affairs. A picnic breakfast, tea, a bridge party, fudge party and moonlight hay ride to the country bungalow where supper was served, were the events of social interest.

The ground has been broken for two new university buildings, an Engineering and Manual Training building and a Training School. There was an increase of 139 in the registration at Ohio University this fall which makes the enrollment double that of 1917.

Louise Truby is president of the Women's League, the largest women's organization on the campus. Jean Gust is editor of the Green Goat, the humorous publication. Two Pi Phis are in Σ A I, honorary musical fraternity; three were selected for English Club; three hold the positions of junior, sophomore and alumnae editors on the Athens, year book of the university; four are reporters for the weekly newspaper, The Green and White; one is on the sophomore advisory board and one girl is social chairman of Y. Rushing began November 1, the chapter giving five interesting parties, among them a Colonial party and a formal progressive dinner. Initiation was held October 31, when six pledges became full-pledged Pi Phis.

The chapter is proud to welcome the new assistant Dean of Women, Mrs. Sophie Barker of Iowa. Ohio B has organized a Mother's club which meets once a month.

Josephine Bye was elected to Φ B K in June and Rhea McCarty has been elected Grand Secretary of Σ Δ Φ , honorary speech arts fraternity.

Ohio B is well represented in activities. Dorothy Calkins is a member of Y. W. C. A. cabinet, Browning dramatic society and Women's Ohio, Elizabeth Johnson is secretary of the junior class. Margaret Berry is a member of the Big Sister Cabinet and is sub-chairman of two Y. W. C. A. committees. Margaret Arnold is a member of Chimes junior honorary society, Y. W. C. The women students of Ohio State University are working very hard to put through a petition for the remainder of Pomerene Hall, the women's building.

WEST VIRGINIA ALPHA—WEST VIRGINIA COLLEGE.
(Chartered 1918)

Pledge Day—Undecided.

West Virginia A returned this fall to find a new stadium at her very door. Although the stadium obstructs the view, it offers a financial advantage—candy sales in the front yard during the football games.

The students also found a new chemistry building and a large cafeteria nearly erected. A local woman's fraternity $\Lambda \Theta Z$, became $\Lambda \Delta \Pi$ during the summer months.

West Virginia Λ had a scholarship average of 83.46 per cent for the entire of last year. This was the second highest average made by a national fraternity.

Dorothy Bone has assumed her duties as president of Woman's Student Government. Dorothy Bone and Evelyn Dowling are members of Laurel, which became Mortar Board on November 11. Dorothy Bone is a member of $\Phi \Upsilon \Theta$. Lenila Thomas and Ruth Deffenbaugh are secretaries of the Scribbler's Club and Dramatic Club, respectively. Pearl Hill is a member of the Rhododendron, the junior honorary society.

The chapter had the pleasure of entertaining Mrs. Catt the first week in November.

College did not open until October 1, so Maryland Λ spent the first month busy with plans for rushing which began November 1.

During the first week of college Mrs. Stark paid the chapter a flying visit and gave a talk on Settlement School. As a result Settlement School seems much more real and vital.

Panhellenic gave a dance on October 24. A similar dance was given last year and helped to promote a good spirit among the fraternities during rushing season.

In recent elections Jean Gardiner was made president of the sophomore class and Helen Graham was elected chairman of senior tea. Caroline Stone conducted College Spirit Week and Rachel Payne is pianist in the Goucher College Orchestra.

INITIATES

(Initiated May 28, 1924.)

Joan Collins, '26, Alhambra, Calif.

(Initiated September 25, 1924.)

Pauline Heitmuller, '27, Washington, D. C.

Dorothy Latimer, '27, Washington, D. C.

Mildred Volandt, '27, Bolling Field, D. C.

Frances Walker, '27, Washington, D. C.

Roma Wornall, '27, Kansas City, Kan.

Initiation was held at the Littlepage's summer home in Maryland. The good times began early on the morning of Matriculation Day and that first afternoon, $\Pi \Phi$ held Open House for freshmen from four until six. Immediately afterwards, all active members and pledges left for the country where two wonderful days were spent on the farm. Some of the alumnae came out for the initiation ceremony, and twenty-two girls stayed over. By a happy chance, there were exactly eleven beds.

Freshmen are entertained at luncheon twice a week. The rushing period is very much shorter this year. The long and fatiguing season which attends second semester bidding seemed to outweigh its assets, and Panhellenic voted that pledge day come sometime around Thanksgiving. Until that time, each fraternity could give out more than three formal parties—five or more freshmen guests constituting a formal party, the annual Fall Dance, was held at the Columbia Country Club on October 24, the Alumnae Luncheon, and another informal party completing the chapter's program for entertaining its rushees.

Columbia A considers itself very fortunate in becoming better acquainted with Genevieve Hendricks, Wisconsin A, now an active member of the Washington Alumnae club. Genevieve is a very clever interior decorator and has been studying abroad during the past few summers. This fall, she very generously gave much time in directing and helping the chapter to re-decorate its rooms.

Florence Berryman, besides graduating with distinction, won the E. K. Cutter prize for excellence in English. Sophia Waldman won the $\Lambda \Delta \Pi$ prize for excellence in third year French. Mildred Molandt is wearing the $\Pi B \Phi$ scholarship bracelet which the chapter hands down each year to the freshman who attains the highest scholastic average.

K chapter of $\Phi \Sigma \Sigma$ fraternity was installed at George Washington University on September 20.

Surpassing all previous records in the history of the university early season registration has already reached the gratifying total of 4,273, over three hundred more students than had enrolled this time last year. The campaign for a million dollar endowment continues with unabated interest and success. The first tangible sign that things are prospering is the completion of a new $325,000 building, Corcoran Hall, the first unit of the Greater George Washington. The gymnasium which is fast nearing completion, will mean better facilities for athletics. The rifle team will soon be practicing in its own range in the basement of the new building.

INITIATES

- Virginia Akers, '27, Lynchburg, Va.
 Mary Crippen, '27, Washington, D. C.
 Betty Holt, '27, Decatur, Ill.

Randolph-Macon opened September 17 with the largest registration in her history. On September 24 the college was formally opened by Dr. Poteat of Wake Forrest College in North Carolina.

In preference to a closed rushing season of six weeks, the fraternities here are trying a shorter period of four weeks in which there is to be no other relations than business between the old girls and new ones. The aim is to do away with the fraternities completely monopolizing the time of the new girls and thus give the new girls a chance to seek the fraternity girls. Randolph-Macon believes that this will raise the scholarship of the freshman class, and normal friendships and better acquaintances will exist between the old and new girls. The President of Panhellenic has had several meetings with the new students in order to explain the new regulations. Panhellenic has held open meetings frequently in order to facilitate a more mutual understanding between the different fraternities.

Several averages for the Panhellenic Scholarship Cup have been turned in and so far Virginia A is ahead. Virginia A held this cup during 1921-22.

Rebekah Burks is on the executive board of the Y. W. C. A. and several girls are on various committees. Martha Akers is president of the Sock and Buskin Dramatic Club; Nellie Wilson and Margaret Lowe are in the college chorus; Sallie Wright Mason is president of the Day Students.

The following girls have transferred to other schools: Mary McCelvey at the University of Texas, Eleanor Rathbun at Wellesley, and Mary Bishop at the University of Wisconsin. Three pledges who did not return have been repledged, Elizabeth Talliferro at the University of Colorado, Elsie Townes at the University of Texas, and Maude Harris at the University of Missouri.

Douglas Arnold of Lynchburg entertained the chapter at a delightful tea, October 10.

VIRGINIA BETA—HOLLINS COLLEGE

Pledge Day—April 7, 1924

Virginia B bid on October 4, and got ten most attractive and promising freshmen. They are: Helen Bruce, Jane Hardy, Helen Woodruff, Helen Milliken, Marjorie Fort, Katherine Snyder, Emily Wedge, Eta Wedge, Sarah Phillips, and Virginia Hall. Moreover two $\Pi\Phi$ transfers are in the faculty this year, Evelyn Richmond from New York Δ and Margaret Canfield, Colorado A.

$\Pi\Phi$ teas are given each Sunday so that the members may come together in a social way. These are very delightful and always have an informal tone that is particularly attractive.

Hollins now has a Little Theater which the girls have built by their own efforts, and the Pi Phis are very active in dramatics, Lucy Loulnot and Anna Mary Blount have leading parts in You and I, soon to be given.

On October 4 a banquet was given at the Tea House for the new girls. The hall was decorated in wine and blue, with multicolored balloons as favors. The new girls gave a delightful bridge party to the chapter on October 11 and a supper was served after the game.

Many of the girls are interested in hockey, and are in line for the class teams. The new gymnasium is almost ready for use.

NORTH CAROLINA ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA

(Chartered 1923)

Pledge Day—October 15, 1924

INITIATES

(Initiated Oct. 1, 1924)

Mary Traill Yellott Denny (Mrs. George Vernon Denny)

The University of North Carolina has begun the year, with its largest registration of students. During the summer three new dormitories have been completed and work is now progressing on the new Chemistry building and on the Graham Memorial. Ground has been broken on the new women's building which will probably be finished before September.

North Carolina A joined with EB of $X\Omega$ in observing a two weeks' truce at the beginning of the college year. During the truce there was no rushing and no pins were worn; all energies being bent on bringing all the new women students into the life of the university. The truce was ended at a tea given to the women students by the local Panhellenic and the city Panhellenic. The rushing activities during the two weeks before Bid Day on October 15 included a tea given to the rushees and patronesses by Elizabeth Branson; a progressive dinner party at the homes of some of the actives and alumnae and a supper party at the chapter house.

The new pledges are: Louise Sawyer, Louise Latta, Lois Rogers, Naomi Alexander, Annie Moss Taylor and Mary Verner.

At the time of North Carolina Alpha's first anniversary the alumnae presented the chapter with two dozen teaspoons engraved with $\Pi\beta\Phi$. On October 10 Mrs. A. C. Roberts of Winston-Salem spoke in Gerrard Hall on the Settlement School, using the lantern slides. After the talk tea was served and baskets and linen sold in the Y. M. C. A. Building. It is planned to have a weekly sale of the work.

The $\Lambda\Lambda$ Chapter of $X\Phi$ was installed October 15. The Southern Order of $X\Phi$ was founded at the University of North Carolina in August 1858, but the chapter died when the University closed its doors in 1868.

The second volume of Carolina Folk Plays, which will come from the press of Henry Holt and Company this fall, will include Fixin's by Erma Green, in collaboration with her brother Paul Green. By many critics this play has been ranked as one of the finest the Carolina Playmakers have fostered in their six years of development.

Pi Phi is represented on the Students Council, on the campus newspaper, and on the Carolina Magazine. Daisy Cooper has been elected president of the Gaston Law Club. Daisy Cooper, who last year won the pennant as Tennis Champion, is in charge of the tournaments for this year.

At Commencement time, two Pi Phis were initiated into $\Sigma\Xi$, honorary scientific fraternity. Mildred Morse and Nan Smith were the only and first women students to attain this high honor. The Bailey prize of fifty dollars and the Buchan Philosophy prize of sixty dollars for the philosophy paper were won by a $\Pi\Phi$. Katherine Batts won a prize of \$200, the second prize in a contest which was open to contestants in Great Britain, North and South America.

FLORIDA ALPHA—JOHN B. STETSON UNIVERSITY
Pledge Day—October 6, 1924

The new Panhellenic rules on rushing made last spring have proved very satisfactory in lessening expense and fatigue—three weeks were devoted to rushing with one formal party for each fraternity. Only two days a week were open to all, the other days being divided among the fraternities. After a round of swims, beach parties, teas, a pirate party, and the eleventh annual progressive dinner on October 6, $\Pi\Phi$ welcomed eight pledges, entertaining them with a spread and a movie party. They are Helen Barker, Laurie Buck, Lucille Caywood, Frances Copeland, Grace Haldeman, Elizabeth Henry, Barbara Hines, and Anna Laura Singleton.

Football season opened Saturday, October 11 with a victory for Stetson over Pensacola Naval-Air Station which boasts of several Annapolis graduates and three all-American players on its team.

The Glee Club is one of the most interesting college activities, and besides a concert here soon and a Christmas cantata the club is planning trips to Tampa, St. Petersburg, and Miami. $\Pi\Phi$ is very proud of having Dorothy Dietz for president of the club, Dorothy Mosiman business manager, Lucille Newby treasurer, Margaret Bow, Elizabeth Hughes, and Grace Haldeman members.

Π Phis are also active in other campus activities this year as the following offices are already held; Charlotte Farrington, president of Y. W. C. A. and on Student Council; Dorothy Dietz on Student Council; Mary Markey, orchestra treasurer, house president of Stetson Hall, and society reporter for the college paper; Katherine Peters, treasurer of ΦB (musical); Dorothy Masiman, national historian for ΦB ; Lucille Newby, ΦB president; Elizabeth Hughes, member of the basket ball team.

Florida A is glad to welcome Julia Johnson, Indiana B to this chapter.

The chapter is very pleased with the pledges of last year in presenting Santa's Wax Works, a stunt with which they entertained the old girls last Christmas, and for which the chapter was awarded the Social Exchange Cup.

LUCILLE NEWBY.

FLORIDA BETA—FLORIDA STATE COLLEGE FOR WOMEN
(Chartered 1921).

Pledge Day—September 29, 1924.

Florida State College still continues to grow, as it opened on September 16 with a freshman class of seven hundred members. It has a beautiful new library building, and the auditorium has been remodeled and a fine new organ installed. The student body is looking forward to an excellent artist series, scheduled for this winter. A programme of special interest was a lecture by Count Llya Tolstoy in October.

The form of rushing used this year proved very successful. There were two weeks of rushing termed as open with moderations. No parties were given during this time. September 29 was pledge day and Florida B was very happy in pledging twenty-three promising girls. They are taking a keen interest in campus activities. To promote the scholarship standard among the pledges, a recognition pin will be awarded to the girl making the highest average.

The Leon Hotel was the scene of much gaiety when the pledges were entertained at a banquet on pledge day. At each place was a passport for a maiden voyage into $\Pi\Phi$ land. Small gold aero planes waited beside each place ready for the voyage. Sunday night the pledges were initiated into the joys of the cooky-shine.

Florida B is anticipating having a chapter house by the spring semester. The lot is ideally located on College avenue, one block from the campus and the plans for the house have been completed.

Tallahassee will celebrate her Centennial during the month of November. A splendid program is being arranged and all of Florida is taking an active interest in this anniversary of the making of Tallahassee their capital city.

MICHIGAN ALPHA—HILLSDALE COLLEGE

Pledge Day—December 17, 1924

College has opened this year with a splendid increase in enrollment and much enthusiasm. A new chapter of $\chi\omega$ and a new local fraternity, $B\Delta\Delta$ have been installed. Seven new professors have been added to the faculty this year and all are exceptionally well qualified. Miss Opal Harsh of the Physical Education Department has introduced hockey as a sport for girls and a new field has been made for this purpose.

The first week of school was Y. W. C. A. week during which time all fraternity women laid aside their pins and helped every new freshman girl get acquainted, and also helped establish a spirit of good fellowship among all the organizations. The big sister movement was successful and the recognition service unusually impressive.

Three Michigan Alphas attended the Y. W. C. A. conference at Lake Geneva this summer and brought back a great many suggestions helpful to fraternity as well as college life.

The chapter announces two new pledges, Ruth Bedell and Helen Slater.

Owing to the ill health of Mrs. C. H. Drybread, (May Copeland) Michigan A has as new chaperon, Mrs. C. E. Mark (Grace Higbee), Michigan A.

Michigan A has been unusually fortunate this year in having several members active on the campus and at the same time leading all the other women's fraternities in scholarship.

Mae Keller, '27, Hastings, Mich.

Margaret Purdy, '26, 932 Euclid Ave., Detroit, Mich.

With the chapter house newly decorated and Miss Patch back again as chaperone, Michigan B began another busy year. A strenuous rushing season at once commanded the attention of every member, at the close of which the following girls were pledged: Grace Beckham, Louise Bixby, Florence Lawson, Elsie Murray, Charlotte O'Brien, Frances O'Brien, Marian Wells, Mary White, and Caroline Wooster. Panhellenic limitations on the expense and amount of decoration for the parties made rushing a little easier than it had been in previous years. Still further restrictions are being considered by Panhellenic for the purpose of simplifying the parties and giving the women's fraternities a better chance to get acquainted with the rushees.

During rushing, announcement was made of the engagement of Louise Roberts to James Gilpin, ΘX.

The annual pledge dance and the Panhellenic Ball were given October 31 and November 28 respectively. On October 14 the entire Michigan B chapter was invited to a formal reception and dance at the Michigan Union, given by Mr. and Mrs. Homer Heath and Dr. and Mrs. Beebe. The reception was a large affair attended by a great many important members of the faculty. As it was a mid-week occasion the chapter was given special late permission and had a most delightful time. The ΦΔΘ fraternity and several medical fraternities were also invited to serve as escorts for the Pi Phis.

Class and inter-fraternity hockey teams are being organized and a large percentage of the Pi Phis have gone out for this sport. The underclassmen have also been started on campus activity work, of which at least two hours a week is required of each girl.

Michigan B is hoping to have the pleasure of entertaining the ΠΦ chapters of Northwestern University, Wisconsin University, and the State University of Iowa at the football games which take place here. The chapter has received an invitation from Illinois Z to visit them at the Illinois game, and some of the girls have accepted.

The University of Michigan is very fortunate in having an addition to its campus of a beautiful lawyer's club. It is a bit of old Oxford in America, and when completed will be a quadrangle. The doner is Mr. Will Cook, an uncle of Florentine Cook, Michigan A and B.

Because of a local Panhellenic ruling, second year initiation was tried out for the school year 1923-24. For this reason, Indiana A returned to college a few days before registration, to initiate ten sophomores, and enjoy a brief house party at the chapter house, chaperoned by the new house mother, Mrs. J. F. Phelan, of Sheridan, Wyo.

Just two weeks after this initiation, sixteen pledges were added to the chapter; and the event was duly celebrated by a spread luncheon at noon, pledging service in the afternoon, and a cooky-shine and open-house in the evening.

Franklin entertained the annual state high school press convention the week-end of October 24.

The local Panhellenic Association is sponsoring a series of informal teas for the football men after home games. The first of these teas was held at the $\Pi\Phi$ house after the Indiana Central College game.

Marian Coy has been appointed co-ed editor of the Franklin; Jeroline Powell is vice-president of Student Council; Helen Forsyth is president of A X A and snap-shot editor of the Almanack; Janice Jopling is vice-president of the glee club and has been initiated into A $\Theta\Phi$; Helen Parks is vice-president of W. INDIANA BETA—UNIVERSITY OF INDIANA
 (Chartered 1893).

Pledge Day—September 21, 1924.

With only twelve of the active girls back and without a rush captain, $\Pi\Phi$ pledged nineteen fine freshman girls. They are Margaret Coombs, Katherine Consalus, Della Mae Davis, Eldereen Deal, Elizabeth Decker, Ruth Fries, Irene Hay, Jean Heighway, Ruth Henry, Mary Hirsch, Marguerite Holland, Nancy Hurd, Lois Keller, Thelma McMillan, Esther Roark, Martha Rott, Frances Sellers, Elizabeth Squires, and Elizabeth Yarling.

Indiana B is proud of her freshman spirit, in that the girls are trying out for dramatics, debates, athletic teams, and attending Y. W. C. A.

Although handicapped with having such a few upperclassmen, $\Pi\Phi$ is well represented on the campus. Anna Ruth Haworth is on W. S. G. A. council; she, Katherine Shaw, and Mary Jane Kuhn belong to $\Theta\Sigma\Phi$, honorary journalistic organization; Elizabeth Dietz and Mary Jane Kuhn are members of Marguette club; Ilda Gifford and Mary Swain of the honorary Home Economics club; Anna Ruth Haworth and Elsie Stephens elected to membership in W. A. A.; and Elizabeth Paul and Frances Milner on Y. W. C. A. board.

The ΠΒΦ house kept open all summer and clearing $300 enabled the alumnae to pay off the debt on the house that they so kindly built for the active members.

The chapter is fortunate and happy to have again Mrs. Martha George as chaperon.

On September 21 the active chapter entertained the freshman class with a reception in honor of the new pledges.

Campus activities are holding the interest of all girls. The following have been elected to the offices: Jeanne Bouslog as president of Scarf Club, Eugenia Brooks vice-president of ΦΔΦ, Constance Forsyth as vice-president of Philo and vice-president of Student Budget, Dema Kennedy as president of ΔΦ and Margaret Schoener as vice-president of the Y. Due to the increased enrollment at Butler there has been a need for the establishment of new women's fraternities. TIT recently was granted a charter by ΔΖ. INDIANA DELTA—PURDUE UNIVERSITY

(Chartered 1921)

Pledge Day—September 13, 1924.

Indiana Δ begins the college year with fifteen splendid new pledges. The chapter hopes to hold initiation early this fall for five pledges who were held over from last spring.

Purdue Dad's Day was celebrated November 8, when DePauw played football here. The program for the day included an inspection of the university in the morning from eight till eleven o'clock. During this time reconnaissance trucks carried the dads to the Ross-Ade Bowl, which is now under construction. At eleven o'clock an entertainment was given in Eliza Fowler Hall, President Elliott and Dr. Moran speaking. A one act play The Robbery, was presented by the Little Theatre players. A luncheon was given in the Union Building at noon for all dads, their sons and daughters, and each fraternity had a special evening dinner for its dads.

Purdue's Homecoming was November 22 with Indiana University. Indiana Δ turned over her house space completely to the alumnae and other chapter visitors that week-end.

This chapter feels honored particularly in being able to entertain Carrie Chapman Catt, who comes to address the League of Women Voters during a three day convention in Lafayette.

Doris Clark was elected treasurer of the Purdue Girls' Club. The girls are all participating in women's athletics on the campus. Hiking, swimming, baseball, and basketball are all well under way.

Mildred Tingley, '24, has returned as instructor in the Home Economics department of the university, taking the place of Conradina Lommell, '19, who was married this summer to J. Adam and is living in Fargo, N. D.

TENNESSEE ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF CHATTANOOGA

(Chartered 1923.)

Pledge Day—October 10, 1924.

INITIATES

(Initiated June 4, 1924.)

Lorine Pruett Fryer (Mrs. Douglas), '18, New York, N. Y.

Tennessee A has fourteen members back in college this year, but regrets the loss of Mildred Garner, who has been enrolled in the University of Colorado, and Iola Viers, who has gone to the University of Iowa.

The chapter was happy to be able to initiate Lorine Pruett Fryer (Mrs. Douglas), on Commencement night, June 4. Lorine is one of the alumnae who was to have been initiated when the chapter was installed, but as she and her husband were teaching in the University of Utah last year, her initiation was deferred until her return last spring.

A rummage sale was held to raise money for Settlement School. A large number of old clothes were given by alumnae and other friends and a considerable sum was realized.

Tennessee A announces the pledging of the following girls: Josephine Blocker, Marjorie McLeod, Mary-Ellen Acuff, Mary-Frances McGhee, and Doris Berry.

The patronesses recently entertained the active chapter and pledges with a party. The list of patronesses has been increased by the addition of Mrs. J. P. Hoskins. The new faculty patrons are Dr. and Mrs. Lindsey, who came to Chattanooga this year from the University of North Carolina. It is an especial pleasure to have them as patrons, since they were intimately acquainted with members of North Carolina A, the chapter installed the day after Tennessee A.

The new Panhellenic House was opened during the week of September 29, when each of the women's fraternities entertained the faculty and student body at tea in the community rooms on the first floor. On the second floor each fraternity has one of the three separate rooms, which, after much painting and cleaning, have been made attractive.

As soon as practicable after the opening of college, Tennessee Alpha's birthday was celebrated, at a birthday party to which the alumnae and patronesses were invited. A birthday cake was cut and favors won by various guests. Many beautiful gifts for the new fraternity room were presented by guests and by members of the chapter, including pillows, vases, flower baskets, rugs and flower bowls.

Evelyn Freese, '26, 315 N. Summit Ave., Sioux Falls, So. Dak.
Katherine White, '26, 602 S. Glenwood Ave., Springfield, Ill.

Initiation was held on the first afternoon after the opening of the house for the fall semester, and an informal supper was given at the Old-fashioned Tea Room. The following week was filled with parties for new girls and at its close fifteen girls were pledged and a cooky-shine was given in their honor. Corinthia Gilbert, Joy Bacon, Mary McLean, Helen Shipley, Anita Haven, Florence Fox, Sarah Wild, and Della Mann were guests during this week.

II B Φ received first place in scholarship for the spring semester among eighteen women's fraternities.

Wisconsin's first Fathers' Day was celebrated October 18, the date of the Minnesota-Wisconsin football game. The chapter sent invitations to the fathers of all active members and pledges to be its guests on that day.

Politics holds the attention of all students just at present, and Wisconsin A has a part in the campaigns. Dorothy John is a candidate for senior vice-president, and Mary Haven is running for junior vice-president.

Rosamond Nolte, Marian Metcalf, and Anita Haven were chosen as three of the eight most representative Wisconsin women, and full page pictures of them appear in the 1925 Badger.

Margaret Wegener, as president, Bernardine Chesley as treasurer, and Mary Haven were elected to Crucible, junior women's honorary organization. Several girls hold offices in W. A. A., Y. W. C. A., Euthenics, and Keystone; Bernardine Chesley is assistant editor of the 1926 Badger, and several others hold positions on its staff. Dorothy John is president of Blue Dragon, organization of all senior women.

Freshmen are having a chance to become acquainted with other university women at junior advisory teas and at the parties which are given every Friday and Saturday evenings from seven to eight under the supervision of W. S. G. A.

MARY GARSTMAN.

WISCONSIN BETA—BELOIT COLLEGE

(Chartered 1919.)

Pledge Day—October 13, 1924.

The fall quarter has begun most successfully for Wisconsin B. Although only thirteen in number, due to the loss of nine graduates and several members who were unable to return to Beloit, the chapter has worked with a strong spirit of enthusiasm and co-operation. All groups opened rushing by holding open house for the freshmen, a new custom introduced by Panhellenic. After a week of intensive rushing preferential bidding again proved very satisfactory bringing into $\Pi B \Phi$ fifteen exceptionally strong girls: Jessie Cady, Ilsa Weinberger, Margaret Lauderbaugh, Anna Mary Rogers, Edith Grampp, Ruth Birdsall, Catherine Haskell, Gertrude Pearl, Lurana Lindeman, Mary Lindeman, Dorothy McCullough, Della Nottingham, Margaret Lindsay, Winifred Cheney, and Evangeline Johnson.

$\Pi B \Phi$ holds first place in scholarship above all other fraternities and sororities on the campus. The chapter intends to expend every effort to win the cup another year.

Beloit has just celebrated Big Hill Day by an all-college picnic on a beautiful spot up the Rock river. Many loyal Beloiters returned for Homecoming and the big game with Carleton. $\Pi \Phi$ held open house after the game and entertained at breakfast for the visiting alumnae.

$\Pi B \Phi$ is represented in all phases of college life, holding important offices; among them, vice-president of Y. W. C. A., vice-president of W. S. G. A., and president of Emerson Hall, one of the upperclass dormitories.

North Dakota A has been most successful this year in her wonderful new pledges, who are Helen Leo, Letitia Scott, Gladys Edin, Mary Sullivan, Margaret Tool, Josephine Garnett, Frances Lynch, Esther Johns, and the $\Pi \Phi$ twins, Rhea and Ruby Shaw. In honor of the pledges, the chapter gave an informal dance October 11.

On October 7, the alumnae gave a birthday party in the form of a cooky-shine celebrating North Dakota Alpha's three yaers in $\Pi B \Phi$. The patronesses who were guests of honor, presented the chapter with six beautiful cut glass candle sticks. Mrs. Carol Humpstone, one of the alumnae, gave a silver serving tray.

Catherine Colosky was elected to Women's League Board. Helen Leo and Gayle Pugh, two pledges, are on the Student staff, the university daily publication. Louise Page is a member of the student government committee.

Two fraternities are moving into their new homes which were built during the past summer. The $\text{AT}\Omega$ fraternity house, built of brick and stucco in English Gothic style, is situated on University Avenue. IIPX, a local fraternity, has a new home which is located on University Avenue and Harvard street.

ILLINOIS BETA—LOMBARD COLLEGE

(Chartered 1872.)

Pledge Day—October 16, 1924.

Illinois B feels that the opening of the fall semester of 1924 at Lombard college is the beginning of what is to prove to be a splendid year, both for the college and the chapter. The enrollment is much larger than ever before.

Last spring Hortense Gehring, an Illinois B girl, won first place in the annual Townsend Contest in the speech art department. Illinois B was represented in the Commencement play by Margaret Holly and Helen Barrett. The chapter was also successful in the spring elections for the year 1924-25. Alice Simmons was elected president of the House Government Association at Lombard Hall, and Marjorie Longbrake was chosen to be social secretary of the Hall. It is her job to plan all the Hall parties with such help as she appoints. Two chapter girls, Eleanor Poor and Mary Elliott were elected to serve on the staff of the college paper, The Lombard Review-Alumnus.

This year, the chapter and some new girls were entertained at a week-end party at the home of Alice and Ethel Simmons just before registration. The chapter feels that this is the very best way to get acquainted with the new girls and this is the third consecutive year that such a house party has been the forerunner of college registration.

Before Panhellenic rules went into effect the chapter entertained some freshmen at a tea at the Mary Louise Tea Room, which was opened this fall. It is just off the campus and is run by two alumnae of Illinois B, Mary Gumm, and Louise Crissey. At one chapter cooky-shine the favors were cookies with a tiny lighted candle stuck in each one. It made the table look very unusual and the guests were both surprised and delighted. The chapter alumnae entertained the Illinois B girls and some freshmen friends at a delightful party on October 4. A cabaret luncheon was served at noon and at night a cooky-shine, followed by a dance. The favors at the cooky-shine were tiny birch bark canoes filled with candy corn, and small bows and arrows were used as place cards. The idea of the arrow was again carried out at the dance where the decorations were Robinhood with emphasis on the target and arrows.

Three of the chapter girls are serving as student assistants in the college this year, Alice Simmons, Esther Allen, and Ethel Simmons. Alice Simmons was initiated into $\Phi K \Phi$ on October 8. $\Sigma \Delta$, a new national honorary English fraternity has just been installed at Lombard and Mary Elliott is one of the charter members.

Pledge Day—September 27, 1924.

INITIATES

(Initiated October 11, 1924).

- Gladys Hackman, '26, Peru, Ill.
 Florence Hall, '27, Freeport, Ill.
 Virginia Leonard, '27, La Grange, Ill.
 Roberta Scherer, '27, Granville, Ill.
 Mildred Swank, '26, Galesburg, Ill.

Illinois Δ had a most successful campaign for members this fall, and the chapter is pleased to announce the pledging of the following girls; Elizabeth Bennett, Mary Jeanette Bent, Mary Coggshall, Irma Craig, Margaret Gillis, Frances Lamont, Nadine Odell, Geraldine Owen, Dorothy Rice, Elizabeth Sinclair, and Dorothy Wilson.

Several teas and parties were enjoyed during the rushing season, and they culminated in a charming lawn party at the country home of Miss Louise Seacord. On October 13 the chapter and the pledges were entertained at dinner by Mrs. E. C. Franing, whose daughter, now at Leland Stanford University, was a $\Pi\Phi$ at Knox last year.

Illinois Δ took first place on the campus in scholarship last semester and has the further distinction of attaining the highest average ever made by a social group at Knox. Dorothy Drake took special honors in Biblical Literature, and Helen Bogue in Romance Languages. Helen Christy, Dorothy Drake, and Virginia Leonard received General Honors. Illinois Δ attributes much of her success in scholarship to the supervised study plan which the chapter carried out last semester and is continuing this year.

Four Pi Phis, including two freshmen, were selected for the Girls' Glee Club this fall, and two members appeared in the musical comedy, Mollie Mine, which was given October 24 at the Knox Homecoming celebration. Illinois Δ has two members on the Y. W. C. A. Cabinet, two on the W. S. G. A. Board, and one member on House Council. Helen Bogue is president of the French Club; Helen Christy is president of the L. M. I. Literary Society; the president and treasurer of $\Theta\Sigma\Phi$, honorary journalistic fraternity, are Pi Phis; and three of the chapter are Mortar Board members.

Several of the chapter are interested in journalism. Three are on the staff of the college weekly and others are trying out for positions. Constance Irwin is a member of the Gale Board.

Knox is fortunate in being among the first colleges and universities to establish a Maison Francaise where no English is spoken. The House has as its resident head Mademoiselle Roseneige, a French-woman, who is a new instructor in French at the college. Several Pi Phis live there and are finding it a great help to their facility in speaking the French language.

On October 7th, the college celebrated the anniversary of the Lincoln-Douglas Debate which took place on the campus, by long chapel and a half holiday.

Knox had the pleasure of entertaining and being entertained by Dr. Richard Burton of the University of Minnesota on October 15.

ILLINOIS EPSILON—NORTHWESTERN UNIVERSITY.

(Chartered 1894)

Pledge Day—September 17, 1924

As the result of an intensive rushing season, eighteen new girls are now wearing the golden arrow head, and Illinois E announces the pledging of Ruth Chatfield, Thelma Boyd, Evelyn Garvey, Dorothy Hunt, Genevieve Koester, Eugenia MacComas, Sarah May Morey, Marjorie Nicholson, Brooke Phillips, Ruth Marcy Quinn, Gertrude Rollins, Marjorie Smith, Josephine Washburn, Helen Whitacre, Louise Williams, Martha Thomas, Theodosia Paynter and Helen Phillips.

The new pledges began the year by entertaining the active chapter at a house party at Lake Marie, the week-end of October 25.

Estelle Farley, a sophomore was sent as a delegate to the Lucknow Convention of the Methodist Church at Indianapolis, Ind. Helen Nash is president of W. S. G. A., Margaret Shippen is vice-president of Y. W. C. A., Mildred Kinney is editor of the Daily Northwestern, Helen Finn is social chairman of the senior class and Dorothy Coleman is secretary of Y. W. C. A. Illinois E has three members on the Y. W. C. A. cabinet and four members on the council.

With the first $15,000 to start a house raised, the task now is to get the money to furnish it and pay off the rest of the cost of building.

Football holds the center of interest for everyone these days and several girls from other $\Pi\Phi$ chapters have come to Evanston to attend the games.

GRACE DISBROW.

ILLINOIS ZETA—UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS

Pledge Day—September 26, 1924.

After a strenuous week of rushing Illinois Z pledged fifteen girls. The new Panhellenic regulations made rushing especially difficult this season, and it is hoped by all the women's fraternities that they will be revised before next year.

Illinois has been very successful so far in football, having defeated her first two opponents. The first conference game with Michigan on October 18 was played in the new stadium at the Homecoming game. A stunt for the Homecoming show was submitted and accepted by the committee in charge. This Homecoming marked the dedication of the Stadium. As a result of the one thousand dollar contribution towards the erection of the building, $\Pi B \Phi$ has been inscribed on one of the hundred pillars that adorn the stadium. These pillars are tributes to the Illinois men who died in the World's War.

Illinois Z hopes to build a new house in the spring. With this aim in view a carnival under the auspices of the alumnae was given October 30-31 to raise money.

All the freshmen have gone out for campus activities. Elise Warner and Martha Browne received a prize for selling the most Homecoming stamps.

ILLINOIS ETA—JAMES MILLIKEN UNIVERSITY
(Chartered 1912.)

Pledge Day—October 4, 1924.

College began very enthusiastically this fall. The new president, Dr. Mark Penney, took up his duties with its opening. Millikin is happy to have a President after several months of waiting, and everyone feels that he is the right man for the place. The students are supporting him loyally, and are finding in him a true friend and leader.

The Pi Phis had the pleasure and honor of being the first Greek letter organization on the campus to build a chapter house. Last spring this chapter was especially honored with a visit by Miss Amy B. Onken, Grand President, and Miss Francese Evans, Grand Secretary, at which time Miss Onken broke ground for the new chapter house and gave a very pleasing and inspiring talk. After constant work this summer by the various alumnae committees the house was ready for the girls this fall. It is a large, spacious, thirteen room house, the decoration of which is carried out in good taste and harmony.

The first week of college Miss Onken paid another visit here to help her niece, Miss Barbara Watkins, register. Barbara Watkins is one of the new pledges, the other pledges being: Genevieve Mautz, Catherine Coffey, Marjorie Sullivan, Martha Holt, Rolanda Brosseau, Dorothy Edwards, Lois Seago, Lois Hood and Dorothy Canant.

The formal rushing dinner was attractively carried out in hotel style at the chapter house. Alsace Sullivan presided as toastmistress at the pledge banquet, at which time Marjorie Nielson received the recognition pin for having the highest scholarship of last year's pledges.

$\Pi B \Phi$ has the following offices in the campus activities this year: president of Panhellenic, vice-president of Art Guild, president of Women's Athletic Association, treasurer of Y. W. C. A., member on Y. W. C. A. Cabinet, vice-president of Household Arts Club, and president of French Club.

Iowa Wesleyan has the largest enrollment in its entire history this year, with a 30% increase over last year's enrollment. An addition was made to Hershey Hall this summer which doubles its capacity.

Second semester pledging proved successful at Iowa Wesleyan last year and will be the rule again this year.

This fall Pi Phis are represented in the following activities; Maude is vice-president of the junior class; Nell Pontius is president of Hershey Hall council and represents the hall on the student council; Constance Chambers is also a member of the house council; Maude McDonald and Florence Leist are members of the Iowa Wesleyan quartette; Constance Chambers and Edna Van Syoc are members of the W. A. A. board of control; Florence Leist, Ruth Holland, Norine Becker, Edna Van Syoc, and Maude McDonald are in the college chorus.

On October 13, the Mt. Pleasant alumnae club entertained the active chapter and patronesses at a six o'clock dinner at the Oakland club. The active chapter and pledges enjoyed a cooky-shine at the home of Regina Conner on October 15.

IOWA BETA—SIMPSON COLLEGE

(Chartered 1874)

Pledge Day—September 27, 1924.

Simpson College has at present an enrollment of about 730, practically the same number as were enrolled at this time last year. Much interest has been centering about football recently. Simpson has won both games—with Iowa Wesleyan and Saint Ambrose—by large scores, and everyone is expecting Simpson to win the conference championship again.

All-college parties have included the annual Y. M. and Y. W. C. A.

mixer and a lawn party given by the Y. W. C. A. to the new girls. The first week of the college year is known as Y. W. Week, and women's fraternities are temporarily subordinated.

After a two weeks' rushing season, Iowa B pledged the following girls: Hester Beery, Florence Martin, Katherine Allen, Rebekah Beymer, Lucille Hartman, Ethyl Kirk, Evelyn McKinley, Inez Shamp, Dorothy Smith, and Carol Stoddard.

The latest item of interest in Simpson fraternity life has been the establishment of Iowa B chapter of a new national fraternity, ΘKN , this chapter being one of the eleven organized. The new initiates were formerly members of $\Sigma\Delta\text{X}$, a local fraternity. They entertained at a tea at the chapter house, to which all fraternities were invited; and a dinner at the Country Club, at which fraternity and class presidents were guests.

Members of $\Pi\text{B}\Phi$ are prominent in various school activities. Ruth Little has been chosen Art Editor of the Zenith, the college year book; Elizabeth Wright and Marie Lafferty are members of the staff of the Simpsonian; Ruby Glascock has been elected president of the Home Economics Club; Catharine Carpenter is a senior representative in the college council; and Catharine Carpenter and Katherine Hilmer are presidents of two of the four women's literary societies. Harriet Henderson has the leading role in the Opera and Margaret Patterson, Esther Kirkendall, and Mary Alexander are members of the company.

$\Pi\text{B}\Phi$ has kept up her usual ranking in scholarship, being again first in scholarship on the Simpson campus last semester. This is the second successive semester that the Panhellenic scholarship cup has been awarded to $\Pi\Phi$, and if it is received two more successive semesters, it will become the permanent property of the chapter.

Last June, at commencement time, a local honorary scholarship fraternity, $\text{E}\Sigma$, was organized at Simpson, and it is hoped that in time a chapter of $\Phi\text{B}\text{K}$ will be established. Of the thirty charter members of the organization, chosen from fifteen classes, eight are Pi Phis. Only two Juniors were chosen, and both of these, Catherine Carpenter and Irma Brasher, are Pi Phis.

September 21 found Iowa F well established in a newly redecorated house and ready to begin their rushing season. The first week was given over entirely to the Big Sister movement when all rushing was put aside in order to make all of the new girls feel at home on Iowa State's campus.

Ann Leichliter, who has spent the last two years at the Fine Arts Academy of Chicago, has returned to Ames this fall as a member of the faculty and is completing her Home Economics course. She had an important part in the style show recently presented by the Department of Applied Arts. Dorothy McCarroll, Helen Holloway, Helen Brown, and Thirza Hull also took part.

Annette Adams was appointed by the Y. W. C. A. Advisory Board to manage the financial campaign. She and Helen Holloway, who was installed as a member of the sophomore council of the Y. W. C. A., attended the state Y. W. C. A. Convention at Des Moines, Iowa, October 23-27.

Several of the fraternities have changed their place of residence during the summer. B Θ Π has moved into a beautiful new home as well as El Paso, a local fraternity.

The chapter welcomed about thirty alumnae who returned for Homecoming on October 18 to witness the Ames-Missouri game. Several Missouri Pi Phis were also the guests of the house at that time.

September 20, brought the rushing season to a close, and with it came sixteen lovely girls to Iowa Z. The new pledges are: Marthanna Baker, Marilouise Coughlin, Shirley Dakin, Margaret Foster, Marguerite Jones, Ella Kraushar, Doris Lampe, Dorothy Lewis, Vadna Linde-man, Helen Lisle, Marcia Norton, Dorothea Starbuck, Winifred Starbuck, Mary Strub, Marjorie Tabor, and Gwen Vinson.

Because the chapter house is in the process of building, Iowa Zeta's rushing took place at Red Ball Inn, a large, beautiful house which added much to the variety of the entertainment.

Although being without a chapter house is a great disadvantage, the Iowa City alumnae have been very generous with their homes. Pledging took place at Mrs. Swisher's home, and October 22, the pledges entertained the pledges of other women's fraternities at a pledge tea there. The chapter has a private dining room at Youde's Inn where the girls put forth every effort to create a truly home-like atmosphere. This provides for social hours together which would otherwise be impossible. The girls miss their house mother, Mrs. Mona Jolley, but she will be with them in their new house the first of the year.

KKΓ has just moved into her beautiful new house just across the street from the new ΠΦ house.

Homecoming was a big day for Iowa. The thrill of winning the game from Minnesota was intermingled with the joys of seeing again old friends. Iowa Z regretted not having a house in which to entertain alumnae and visiting Pi Phis from Minnesota A. One feature of Homecoming was the sale of Homecoming badges and for selling five thousand of these badges, Iowa Z received a hundred dollars.

Iowa Z has established study supervision for all pledges, at the Reserve library, from seven to nine on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights, an upper classman always in charge.

MISSOURI ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF MISSOURI
(Chartered 1899)

Pledge Day—September 13, 1924.

Last year was brought to a successful conclusion through the election of Mary Virginia Doerschuk to Mortar Board; of Jane Spencer to KTA; of Frances Brewer as president of Junior Women; of Mary Virginia Doerschuk as president of Senior Women; and the winning of the silver cup in the inter-sorority riding contest held at the annual university horse show in May. Frances Brewer and Margaret Gibson were the riders.

Rushing began this year on September 8, and six parties were given during the four days of rushing, including the carnival, and The Sweetheart Shoppe. The alumnae club gave a charming tea one afternoon. Twenty-four attractive girls were pledged, who are already taking their places on the campus as leaders. They are Mildred Aiken, Eula Terry, Sidney Bacon, Marjorie Hall, Agnes Hildebrand, Helen Louise Woodsmall, Elizabeth Hall, Elinor Grubb, Wilma Elliott, Frances Montgomery, Maude Harris, Alma Moore, Marjorie Steele, Kathleen Musson, Martha Feeny, Catherine Berry, Frances Coleman, Mary Evans, Margaret Parks, Lucile Newton, Lillian Hart, Grace Stumpe, Jennie Cox, and Kitty Price.

IBΦ is actively represented in practically every organization on the campus, and holds offices in most of them. Agnes Hildebrand and Mary Gentry are members of the Y. W. C. A. cabinet; Mary Virginia Doerschuk was elected secretary-treasurer of the Journalism school; Margaret Gibson secretary-treasurer of Pre-Journalists; Lulu Moss Robnett, secretary-treasurer of Women Journalists. Lucy May Marquis is vice-president of ΓΑΧ, professional advertising sorority. Lulu Moss Robnett is a member of ΘΣΦ, professional fraternity for women journalists.

Laura Clark is president of Panhellenic and Helen Louise Woodsmall was elected to freshman commission, and later elected president of the organization. Other organizations in which IBΦ is represented are W. S. G. A., Sketch club, Spanish club, Agricolae, and University Chorus.

Eight Pi Phis from the university took part in the dedication ceremonies held at the state capitol in Jefferson City on October 6. Elected from their counties to serve as queens were Madeline Bergman, Cape Girardeau county; Margaret Frances Mayes, Johnson county; Mary Evans, Boone county. Mary Virginia Doerschuk was chosen as Miss Journalism, and among the ten girls chosen by the university to take part in the pageant were Mildred Aiken, Grace Stumpe, Wilma Elliott, and Dorothy Halcomb.

Scholarship is being emphasized and with this end in view, study hall is held two hours every school night for pledges, and quiet is observed in the house for studying. A bar pin will be given the pledge making the highest average for the semester.

Fall parties included a luncheon-shower given on October 11 for Mrs. George Bond (Estelle Robnett) a bride of September 29, and for Dorothy Logan, a bride-elect of December; and a breakfast dance on October 25 in honor of the pledges.

Alice Buzard, Illinois E, and Katherine Diffenderfer, Missouri Γ, have been affiliated.

Work on the Memorial Tower has started, and a number of Pi Phis are included in the workers in the Memorial fund campaign, for the erection of the Tower and stadium. The Francis Parker fountain, erected on the red campus in honor of David R. Francis, was unveiled during Commencement. The president's home, which was being remodeled, was also completed in June and open house held. Delta Delta Delta is building a new house, to be ready for occupancy soon.

MISSOURI BETA—WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY
(Chartered 1907)

Pledge Day—September 24, 1924.

At the close of a most successful rushing season, Missouri B is very happy in having pledged seventeen exceptionally fine girls and having repledged one. All of the pledges, as well as most of the actives, have been busy attending try-outs for the various campus organizations and practically every $\Pi\Phi$ has succeeded in making something. Edith Cann was elected to membership in Ternion, the honorary junior organization for women, and Elizabeth Morton became a member of Peppers, the honorary sophomore society.

On October 2 the active chapter gave an informal dance in honor of the pledges. At a cooky-shine held soon after pledging, the freshmen entertained the actives with several clever stunts and songs.

This year the attendance at Washington shows a marked increase. The Commerce and Finance building was completed during the summer and a new Geology building is under construction.

Several of the men's fraternities have bought or are erecting new fraternity houses.

MISSOURI GAMMA—DRURY COLLEGE
(Chartered January 9, 1914.)

Pledge Day—November 24, 1924.

Drury is to have three fine new buildings soon, according to plans authorized by the Board of Trustees. There will be a new library, girls' dormitory and music hall, with a total expenditure of $250,000.

The one remaining local men's fraternity at Drury is now a member of a new national, ΘKN . Installation was held recently, with various social events.

Missouri Γ has started the fall semester with one determination above all others—to win the Panhellenic scholarship cup this year. All the girls worked hard the spring semester of last year and a noticeable improvement in scholarship was made. Jessie Kump made the highest scholastic average in the entire college last year—97.5.

Every student at Drury these days is vitally interested in the football team, under the energetic direction of a new coach. Prospects are bright for a winning team, and never before has there been so much pep and enthusiasm displayed by the entire student body in athletics.

The two highest offices in Drury are held by Π Phis. Marie Summers, the chapter president, was elected president of the Student Body, an office never before held by a woman. Gladys Dishman is editor-in-chief of the Sou'wester, the college annual. Three members of Missouri Γ , Hester Haymes, Marie Summers, and Jessie Kump, made Skiff, woman's senior honorary fraternity, whose membership is limited to eight. $\Pi B \Phi$ is also well represented on the Y. W. C. A. cabinet, Mirror staff, and in class offices.

Katherine Johnson, '27, 1136 No. Park, Fremont, Nebr.

Winifred McMartin, '27, 5102 Webster, Omaha, Nebr.

On September 25 a cooky-shine was given for the twenty-three new pledges, to which the alumnae were invited. Formal pledging took place on October 1.

Nebraska B raised her scholarship to fifth place among the nineteen women's fraternities last semester.

Campus activities are being stressed more than ever this year. The rule of having each upperclassman interest some particular freshman in her line of activities is again proving successful.

ΠΒΦ won the prize in the Daily Nebraskan campaign by selling the most subscriptions. She turned in over $200 more than ΔΓ, who ranked second. The prize consisted of having the chapter picture appear in the paper and thirty subscriptions free for the year.

Helen Simpson is a new member of Vestals, Arts and Sciences honorary society. Ethel Wild was elected secretary-treasurer of Valkyrie, senior honorary society. Elinor Pickard was elected to Silver Serpent, junior honorary; Elsa Kerkow was elected to ΞΔ, sophomore honorary; and Catherine McCoun to Mystic Fish, freshman honorary. Pauline Cheyney was elected to Tassels, women's pep organization.

Elinor Pickard is secretary-treasurer of the Women's Panhellenic Association. Helen Simpson, Alice Summers, Katherine Goodson, and Lorren Taylor have positions on various student publications and Helen Simpson was also appointed manager of the subscription campaign for the Augwan, monthly humorous magazine.

Every ΠΦ was present at the Cornhusker Homecoming Luncheon on October 18.

KANSAS ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF KANSAS

(Chartered 1873)

Pledge Day—September 12, 1924

Preferential bidding was used for the first time this year at the University of Kansas and proved very satisfactory, resulting as it did in the pledging of eleven congenial girls. The new pledges are: Lucile Crumley, Dorothy Fontren, Virginia Hutson, Ann Katherine Innes, Florence Layton, Virginia Layton, Mary Marshall Miller, Virginia Mills, Wilna Oliver, Frances Westfall and Juanita Yeoman. The pledging ceremony was followed by a cooky-shine at which many alumnae were present.

The chapter held open-house for the pledges September 19, entertaining between the hours of seven-thirty and eleven approximately five hundred men.

Kansas A is very fortunate in having again as a chaperon Miss Elva Plank, a member of Iowa A, and feels that with her aid the forthcoming year will prove as successful as the preceding.

ΠΦ ranks well in its representation in student activities. Elizabeth Sifers is Fine Arts representative on the Women's Self-government Council, and is president of the Women's Glee Club of which Naomi MacLaren, Lucile Crumley, and Frances Westfall are also members. Eleanor Hanson is the representative on the Women's Self-government Council from W. A. A. and is manager of the women's tennis team. She was recently made a member of Quill Club and is now circulation manager of the Oread Magazine, the publication of that organization. Winona Thompson is editor-in-chief of the Oread Magazine. Isabel Doerr was recently made a member of Pen and Scroll, a literary organization of which Helen Walton and Frances Cheatham are also members.

ΠΦ ranked third in scholarship for the preceding year.

The enrollment at K. U. has exceeded all previous expectations and present indications point to a most successful year for the university. The new library with its distinctive architecture adds new beauty to the campus and constitutes an inspiration to the students.

CAPITOLA BASSETT.

WYOMING ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF WYOMING
(Chartered 1910.)

Pledge Day—September 29, 1924.

The University of Wyoming has begun a most promising college year. The enrollment is greatly increased and everyone is watching with interest the outcome of the football season which has just begun. The new coach, Lone Star Deitz, is the source of much enthusiasm and Wyoming is looking forward to more success in athletics this year.

The new gymnasium is rapidly nearing completion. This is to be one of the largest in the United States and will be a great help to the university in many ways. They are also planning to have a skating pond on the campus this year.

Panhellenic has put into effect sophomore initiation. This is a step toward sophomore pledging which they hope to install in the future. Wyoming A has been very successful in rushing. The new pledges are: Nell Avent, Anne Gilbert, Sarah Holmes, Miriam Jenkins, Elizabeth Johnston, Jean Mabee, Helen McGarity, Aileen Nelson, Louise Price, Alice Wright, Alice Thompson, Mary Whelan and Virginia Sanford. The annual pledge dance was given on October 11.

Plans are being made for different ways of paying for the new $\Pi\Phi$ home. A definite sum must be raised this year and the alumnae are bearing half of the burden. The chapter plans to give a play to raise a portion of this money.

Louise Frantz, '25, 765 Corona, Denver, Colo.

Frances Wiegler, '26, 20 E. Uintah, Colorado Springs, Colo.

Colorado A entertained at their first cooky-shine of the year the two new initiates and the twenty-six new pledges who are: Celeste Barker, Madge Ferguson, Vivian Fort, Ruth Gordon, Cornelia Gray, Carla Haley, Catherine Healy, Elizabeth Hughs, Margaret Owen, Mary Isabelle Rienks, Josephine Spindler, Eunice Weicker, Mary Whittaker, Elizabeth Cattermole, Margaret Graham, Mary John Hesse, Reve Phares, Margaret Jackson, Iona Scofield, Helen Cohagan, Evelyn Cover, Allyene Crawford, Helen Larrick, Anne Mae MacRae, Margaret Robison, and Elizabeth Taliaferro, a former Randolph-Macon pledge, of Beaumont, Texas.

To accommodate the increase in enrollment of five hundred students, the University of Colorado has begun its program of enlargement by remodeling Old Main and Hale Science, and building a $300,000 gymnasium of Italian Renaissance Architecture and an $80,000 stadium. The stadium, built in an almost entirely natural formation, has a seating capacity of 26,000.

Colorado A is upholding its reputation for participation in campus activities by having many of the girls represented on the campus. Mary Rose and Isabelle Keating are in the cast of the Player's Club play and Helen Taylor and Frances Pattee were chosen for the Freshman Commission. Isabelle Keating is chairman of the organized Big Sister Committee on which there are six Pi Phis. Ella Johnson is prominent in the Scribbler's Club. Frances Pattee and Isabelle Keating were elected to hold offices in the Senate, the administrative and executive body of fourteen who control W. S. G. A.

The new girls are working on the Freshman Vaudeville given before the Pi Phis at Thanksgiving. All of the girls are getting ready for the $\Pi\Phi$ Christmas Bazaar so that the Settlement School may know that Colorado A is backing it to the last degree.

FRANCES PATTEE.

COLORADO BETA—UNIVERSITY OF DENVER
(Chartered 1885)

Pledge Day—February 16, 1924

Thru two weeks of rushing Colorado B emerged in triumph. In spite of the efforts of the other fraternities, $\Pi\Phi$ did not lose a bid, and sixteen new girls were pledged.

Such success was but the herald of other honors. The Panhellenic Scholarship Cup was awarded to Colorado B on October 25. The average which wrested the cup from other fraternities on the campus was the highest made by any women's fraternity in the state.

For three years the chapter has struggled toward prominence in campus activities. This year Pi Phis hold offices in two classes, in drama club, in literary society, in Y. W. C. A. The freshmen are showing unusual talent. One had been given the lead in the first all-college play; the offices of freshman big sister representative and freshman vice-president are held by pledges; one is a pledge of press club and on both the Kinevisbok and Clarion staff; two are on the Y. W. C. A. freshman commission; and a number are pledges to literary, drama, and language societies.

The chapter is holding cooky-shines in the bungalow every Monday night after meeting. This is a fairly adequate substitute for chapter house life.

Cooperation is the watchword of Colorado B this year: cooperation with the national officers, with the college authorities, with the chapters in Eta Province, and cooperation within the chapter itself.

INITIATES

(Initiated October 16, 1924).

Mary Ellen Lauck, '26, Mena, Ark.

Oklahoma A has started the new college year with a very successful rush season, pledging twenty attractive girls who are now entering into the college and fraternity work with much enthusiasm.

The chapter has laid especial stress on the importance of college activities. Pledges and members as well are required to attend two activities a week. Clara Waltrip is a member of ΦΜΓ, honorary dramatic fraternity; Mary Elizabeth Hill is a charter member of ΒΔ, honorary swimming fraternity. Several of the girls are members of the Duck's Club; Sibyl Callahan and Lucille Shelton are on the Y. W. C. A. staff.

Two new buildings have recently been erected on the campus and there is a drive on for the Stadium Building Fund. Oklahoma is noted for its good will and spirit of democracy. The state Alumnae Clubs have incorporated and plans are being made for a lovely new home.

OKLAHOMA BETA—OKLAHOMA AGRICULTURAL AND MECHANICAL

(Chartered August 12, 1924.)

Pledge Day—September 6, 1924.

Oklahoma Agricultural and Mechanical College opened with the largest registration in its history. It was with high hopes for a successful year that the old members returned to college for rushing which lasted three days. Their efforts were rewarded by fourteen pledges: Nellie Berry, Lois Bowman, Kathleen Coley, Ruth Calmes, Flossie Dixon, Mary Ann Dunbar, Maxine Hudson, Nanee Hamlin, Martha Johnson, Elizabeth Rowland, Marjorie Stevens, Elva and Ella Jane Wells, and Thelma Wells. $\Pi\Phi$ entertained with a reception on Sept. 21 in honor of its pledges.

To keep in touch with each other during the summer, a letter was sent out to all members. A party was given in honor of Oklahoma B's fiftieth birthday at the house on August 12 and many pretty and useful gifts for the house were received from active members and alumnae.

$\Pi\Phi$ is represented in the many activities on the campus by Margaret Bruington, secretary of the senior class; Ella Merry, vice-president of the girls' glee club and Francis Badger, secretary and treasurer, of which Mary Dunbar and Marjorie Stevens are also members; Bernice Stewart, president of EXA, journalistic fraternity and also president of the Home Economics Club. Carolyn Bagby, Eugenia Edwards, and Gladys Holiday were elected to $K\Delta\Pi$, honorary educational fraternity. Frances Campbell was elected to $\Phi K\Phi$.

Mable Foster, Oklahoma A, a pupil of Oscar Seagle, and who has been studying in Europe for the past year, is a new addition to the faculty of the music department. Mrs. Gladys Old, Oregon B, is a new addition to the faculty in Home Economics. Frances Badger, a charter member of Oklahoma B, has returned to college.

The first unit of the stadium on Lewis field is now under construction, the estimated cost being $250,000.

Ruth Miller, '25, Van Buren, Ark.

Arkansas A has opened the year with a very successful rushing season, seven new girls being pledged to $\Pi\Phi$. During rush week two clever parties were given, a Pullman Luncheon and a Bowery Dance.

On October 3, a cooky-shine in honor of the new initiates was enjoyed by everybody.

About ten Arkansas Pi Phis attended a houseparty at Bella Vista, Ark., the middle of August. A week of swimming, hiking, and dancing helped to make the summer pass more rapidly.

Arkansas A is very proud of the fact that she stood first in scholarship the last quarter of last year.

 Mary Hope Robinson, '27, 2506 Whitis Ave., Austin, Tex.

Texas A closed membership campaigning with twenty-six representative pledges. This year's campaigning was characterized by a manless rushing rule, which worked perfectly, but which was very unpopular. There are seven attractive transfers at the university from many other colleges this year.

The university is enthusiastic over its new stadium, which is almost completed. Texas A has contributed her share for its construction, and the freshmen are on committees for the stadium work. Stella Peden headed the list of subscriptions and was made captain of the team which has led so far.

Eugenia Dillworth is treasurer of the Turtle Club (swimming) and is a member of Orchaesus (dancing club). Helen Hargrave, law student, was elected to the student's Board of Editors of the Law Review. Margaret Barclay was elected to the Curtain Club (dramatic) and is a reporter on the Daily Texan. Nellie Barramore was elected to $\Phi B K$, and was chosen queen of all west Texas.

TEXAS BETA—SOUTHERN METHODIST UNIVERSITY
 (Chartered June, 1916)
 Pledge Day—September 22, 1924.

Texas B announces the pledging of the following girls: Anne Louise Allen, Olive Board, Elizabeth Brown, Elizabeth Campbell, Lilly Bell Cullom, Dorothy Downard, Julia Higgins, Lucille Dyke, Ruth Knickerbocker, Eermine Kirkpatrick, Willie Rea Markleam, Katherine Lythe, Joe Betsy Miller, Peggy Montague, Laura Mottly, Pauline Murphy, Margaret Noble, Mildred Robertson, Mary Olive Titterington, and Mary Elizabeth Cullom.

The day after the bids were given out an open house was held at the home of Mary Frances Flanary. In the receiving line were the pledges and the president of the chapter.

For the school year 1923-1924 Texas B won the scholarship cup given by the Dallas alumnae club. And the second term this chapter made the highest average that has ever been made by any organization at Southern Methodist University.

Bess Tankersley, Dorothy Downard, Anne Louise Allen and Margaret Noble were elected to membership in the Swasteeka. Ruth Knickerbocker was elected to Trais Singa.

At the inter-collegiate circus given at the Texas State Fair on the evening of the Texas University and S. M. U. football game two Texas B girls were put up for queen and duchess.

This year the chapter has adopted a new plan for social intercourse. Every other Sunday afternoon the girls of Texas B meet and enjoy an informal tea.

LUELLA CRUM.

LOUISIANA ALPHA—NEWCOMB COLLEGE
(Chartered 1891)
Pledge Day—September 27, 1924.

Louisiana A has pledged four sophomores who are to be initiated soon.

Ula Milner, who graduated as a Bachelor of Design in June, has returned and is studying for a B. A. degree. Last year, she was awarded a Varsity debating prize, the Class of 1914 debating medal, the George prize for best debate in Varsity preliminaries, and the Class of 1909 prize for scholarship and public spirit, which is considered the greatest college honor.

Last June, Louisiana A established an annual prize of ten dollars to be awarded for work in a laboratory science. This was won by Eola Wooley, a senior.

Five seniors are members of the executive committee of the Student Government Association, headed by Beatrice Adams, Student Body president, and other Pi Phis are holding minor offices. The junior party to the freshmen was given on October 17, and the French Circle is producing a play.

Newcomb has inaugurated a new plan this year. Each freshman has to go through a formal induction before becoming a member of the Student Government Association. This causes the freshman to give more thought to her duties as a college citizen.

The Newcomb swimming pool was completed in May. It is indoors, so swimming may be indulged in all winter. Marjorie Hay, '22, is instructor.

Before the opening of college the girls made the room attractive with new cushions and fresh paint, and the chapter is so proud of their handiwork that the annual tea to the alumnae was given there on October 21.

MONTANA ALPHA—MONTANA STATE COLLEGE

Pledge Day—October 5, 1924.

After a strenuous week of rushing Montana A pledged seven enthusiastic girls and renewed two old pledges. The pledging was followed by a fireside at the chapter house. The new pledges are: Mildred Cameron, Maxine Cameron, Ruth Rutledge, Claudina Opdyke, Judith Creel, Eloise Wright and Josephine O'Connor.

The quarterly party, a carnival dance, was given during rushing at a resort out of town. An immense arrow with frosted light globes as pearls was hung over the entrance and inside confetti and serpentine were popular. Tin horns and balloons were given as favors and ice cream cones and pop were served.

There is an enthusiastic response in this chapter to the urge to get into activities and each girl answers roll call in meeting by the number of activities she has been in the past week. Genevieve Cooley is president of the Women's League.

Montana A regrets the loss of two popular girls, Lucile Rohrer and Winifred Cobleigh, to Nebraska B.

K Δ granted a charter to a local petitioning group and instaled the chapter October 23.

IDAHO ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO

(Chartered 1923)

Pledge Day—September 21, 1924

An unusually successful year for Idaho has been predicted with an increase in registration of over a fourth. During the summer months it became definitely rated among the universities in class A. In addition to the new science hall several fraternity houses are being constructed. Among these are the B Θ Π and the Σ X. The nucleus of a college business center has appeared in the form of the Blue Bucket Inn and a new tea shop.

Δ K fraternity was installed in the fall. A new local men's fraternity has been organized.

Idaho A began the semester with seventeen old girls back. The following new girls were pledged at the end of rush week: Margaret Cuddy, Norma Mattensen, Bernice Wyman, Janet Hawkins, Minnie Knox, Mildred Weston, Lucille Anderson, Margaret Flesher, Marlys Shirk, Lucretia Foster, and Marion Featherstone.

As an incentive to the promotion of scholarship this semester some article of fraternity jewelry is to be presented to the pledge having the highest grade average.

Π Φ is already represented in the following activities: editor of the Blue Bucket (literary magazine), Ruth Hawkins; president Panhellenic, Cecilia Lemmer; vice-president Y. W. C. A., Helen Green; secretary Σ A I, Vivienne Beardmore; glee club, Florence Selby, Fern Anderson, Opal Hunt, Marlys Shirk, Vivienne Beardmore; play production, Marlon Featherstone; Argonaut staff (school paper), Betty Mount, Ruth Hawkins; Gem of the Mountains staff (annual), Opal Hunt, Marion Featherstone, Margaret Kinyon; orchestra, Janet Hawkins, Margaret Schick; pep band show, Ednah Burr, Opal Hunt; Women's Council, Cecilia Lemmer. Harriet Lucas, '27, Everett, Wash.

Mary Elizabeth Reisdorf, '25, Seattle, Wash.

Dorothy Scarborough, '27, Olympia, Wash.

The new chapter house was finished October 9. In reality it is the old house remodeled, but making drastic changes enabled Washington A to have a far more attractive home than if an entire new one had been built.

Panhellenic changed the date of fall rushing this year from the first two weeks of college to the week preceding and the week of registration. The chapter was handicapped by not having the house for rushing but, even so, was very successful in pledging sixteen fine girls.

The alumnae and active chapter have cooperated very successfully in the past year, one noticeable result being the new chapter house. The Tacoma alumnae collected $100 for the furnishing fund by giving a rummage sale.

Last year the Women's Federation brought to the campus the following artists, Josef Lhevinne, the Duncan dancers, Jeanne Gordon, and Amelita Galli-Curci. Doreen Aldwell was instrumental in this work as chairman of the concert committee and vice-president of the Federation. This year she has been elected president of the Federation, which is the highest position a woman can hold. Among other honors she is a member of Tolo club, the highest goal for women, based on scholarship and service.

Dorothy Brassington is a member of Tolo club also, and won a Daily Fob, awarded by the A. S. U. W. for three years' service on the Daily. Dorothy has been appointed associate editor of the Tyee (annual), chairman of the publicity committee for the Women's Federation, and is to serve on the A. S. U. W. Advisory cabinet. Adele Walker, who made a brilliant record in music and dramatics last year, has gone to Bush Conservatory of Music in Chicago to continue her studies.

The faculty of the University of Washington appeared in their full regalia of academic robes at the first all-university assembly of the year, an innovation which may develop into an impressive custom.

WASHINGTON BETA—WASHINGTON STATE COLLEGE
(Chartered 1912)

Pledge Day—September 23, 1924.

The big events for women during the fall semester at the State College of Washington are the Big Sister Walk-out and the Crimson W. Jamboree. All the old girls took their little sisters to the Walk-out to get acquainted with everyone. There was a large attendance and the new girls were initiated into the State College Spirit. The Jamboree was held October 10.

The enrollment in the State College this fall is nearly 2,500. It is very crowded and it is hoped that some new buildings will be erected soon.

There are thirteen new pledges to Washington B and two of them, Maude McDonald and Louise Clausin, were chosen for the College Glee Club.

It is the custom for the Women's League to sponsor a College Revue during the fall semester to raise money for a Women's Building. One of the Washington B girls, Louise Wheelock, is in charge of the Revue.

Louise Wheelock and Helen Campbell have been initiated into Mortar Board. Darcy Emerson was recently pledged to O N. Helen Campbell is finance chairman of the Northwest which makes her a member of the National Student Council of Y. W. C. A. Margaret Bement, Marjorie Freaques and Jane Rothrock were chosen for Orchesus Club.

OREGON ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF OREGON

Pledge Day—September 27, 1924.

After a very successful rush week Oregon A is proud to claim its sixteen pledges. The chapter is very appreciative of the help of the alumnae clubs of both Portland and Eugene. The Eugene alumnae club gave a tea for the pledges on October 12.

Maxine Edmonds, one of the new pledges, has just been elected vice-president of the freshman class and due to the resignation of the president, has been acting in the capacity of the president. Betty Manning of the sophomore class is running for treasurer of the Y. W. C. A.

Mrs. Benson, Oregon A house mother, was badly injured recently in getting off a street car but is now on the road to recovery. Harriet Ross has just returned from a trip to Europe.

The third floor of the new house has just been completed. This gives the girls the advantage of the chapter room and many conveniences.

The registration at the University of Oregon is the largest it has ever been as the college is rapidly growing. A new science building is being erected, the first floor of which will be used by the Library.

Luella Hausler has been made Secretary of the Directorate, a very great honor.

The year rushing system inaugurated at Stanford University for the first time last year was so successful in its entirety, that the same plan of rushing and pledging will be continued, with late spring bidding.

A new sponsor system for incoming freshman women is now in operation. Representative university women were elected at the close of last year, to live in Robel Hall, and to act in an advisory capacity to the new students.

There are twenty-four active members in the chapter this fall, which is an appreciable increase in personnel over last year.

Rosalind Coverley possesses the much-coveted Archery Cup, while Cecile Feusier won her membership in the women's S society by virtue of her all-star swimming ability.

Sigrid Orhwall, '27, Hollister, Calif.

As a result of a careful and well planned rushing season, California B pledged twelve freshmen, very nearly the largest class pledged by any house on the campus. The girls returned to college to find that local members of the chapter, mothers, and alumnae had re-decorated the entire first floor.

ΠΒΦ is represented in activities by Margaret Rowe, president of Panhellenic, president of Prytenean, president of Torch & Shield; Leora Sims, Woman's Social Council. The freshmen have been taking active part in athletics, Y. W. C. A. work and campus publications, with Beatrice Williams writing interviews for the Y. W. C. A. Lantern.

On September 18, a cooky-shine was given at Zella McCreary's home by the alumnae. The week of November 22 was Homecoming Week and on this day Stanford and California met on the gridiron. In honor of the Stanford chapter and alumnae, this chapter held open house. Other social activities for the fall quarter will include a faculty tea, a bazaar for the benefit of the ΠΦ Building Fund, and a formal dance.

CALIFORNIA GAMMA—UNIVERSITY OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

Pledge Day—October 7, 1924.

After a strenuous and most successful rushing season ever known at U. S. C., thirteen girls pledged ΠΦ. They are: Dorothy Bouck, Kathryn Chapman, Gwenevere Dennis, Kathleen Campbell, Katherine Gude, Roberta Martin, Mildred Northmore, Ethel Robertson, Lucia Soule, Elsie Snyder, Jean Summerfield, Nan Von Kleinsmid, and Elizabeth Von Kleinsmid.

This semester the chapter decided to send the active California alumnae a list of all the rushing parties. This seemed to bring more alumnae out and gave them more interest in the active chapter affairs.

At the beginning of the year, the Alumnae Club gave the chapter twelve card tables and with the active chapter gave a very successful benefit card party on October 18, the proceeds to go to Settlement School.

During the summer all members of the active chapter helped to make a new chapter-room. The father of one of the girls gave thirty-five chairs for it. Chapter meetings will be held there this year.

The new Science Building is built of concrete and brick and is of the same architectural design as the Administration Building.

Every girl has to be in two activities on the campus. Evalyn Ross was elected to the executive committee of the University, treasurer of the Amazons, an honorary society, and vice-president of the Tennis Club. Eloise Parke was elected secretary of the sophomore class. Helen Dosh is vice-president of the college of music and is also president of M Φ. There are eight girls on the El Rodeo staff, a yearly publication, seven on Y. W. C. A. committees, four in the French Club, ten on the Community Chest Committee, two in the Tennis Club and one in the girls' glee club.

INITIATES

(Initiated October 6, 1924)

Dorothy Jaynes, '27, Tucson, Ariz.

Martha Williams, '27, Tucson, Ariz.

Muriel Upham, '27, Tucson, Ariz.

Most of the Arizona A girls back this fall were from Phoenix. All summer, get-togethers were held on Saturday afternoon at the girls' homes, where plans were discussed for the coming year, pillows and curtains were made for the house, and a lively enthusiasm was kept up even through the hottest months of summer.

In spite of the fact that there were only nine active girls at the opening of college, Arizona A pledged eleven very promising girls. They are: Marietta Stirratt, Lucy Scott, Virginia Crowfoot, Marian Scott, Janice Gearhart, Mary Frances Crane, Eleanor B. Stephens, Aileen Donau, Jane Hoffman, Mignon Crepin, and Carolla Cochrane.

Due to the successful management of the finances of the house last year, the chapter was able to buy several new pieces of furniture this fall, among which were a dining-room rug, a library table, and two new floor lamps.

Although the cup for the organization on the campus standing highest in scholarship last semester, has not been awarded, the office reports that II B Φ has raised its standing very much over that of last year.

The university has more and finer spirit this year than ever before. The new library is under construction, and will be ready for use the second semester.

A lively interest is shown in activities and II Φ is represented in all of them. Lola Turner is the publicity manager of W. A. A. and secretary-treasurer of II Δ Φ, an honorary educational society for women. Katharine Coffin is assistant business manager of the University Players. Juanita Tisor is secretary of the junior class. Roberta McDonnell is secretary of the sophomore class, and hockey sport leader. Margaret Marks and Lucia Slavens are newly elected members of Wranglers, the honorary women's literary club. Ella Hege-lund is president of the Home Economics Club, member of the Mortar Board, and $\Pi \Lambda \Phi$.

LUCIA SLAVENS.

NEVADA ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF NEVADA

(Chartered 1915)

Pledge Day—Indefinite

This year's attendance in the University of Nevada has exceeded all previous years, there being 923 students enrolled. To stimulate further interest in the University of Nevada and to perfect its Mackay School of Mines, Clarence Mackay has donated a large fund to the mining department and is building a new physics building, besides giving many other donations.

Football holds much interest on the campus this year, and a special train took 250 Nevada students to Berkeley for the California-Nevada game on November 15.

For the third consecutive year Nevada A holds the lead in scholarship. Nevada Semenza received the Gold Medal for the highest scholastic average attained by any student during four years of college, while Rena Semenza, Leota Maestretti, Louise Grubnau, Nevada Semenza and Alice Norcross were on the honor roll.

The girls were forced to give up the chapter house, due to such a large percentage of Reno members but have in its place a chapter room near the campus.

Nevada A recently pledged Amy Goodman and Thelma Ninnis.

Alice Norcross and Eleanor Siebert are on the Sagebrush (school paper) staff, while Ethel Lunsford is on the Desert Wolf (school magazine) staff, and Phyllis Poulin is associate manager of the Artemisia (year book).

Regents scholarship, presented on the basis of scholarship was awarded to Leota Maestretti and Alice Norcross.

Edith Martin is track captain and Eleanor Siebert is treasurer of W. A. A. Wilma Blattner is on the Y. W. C. A. cabinet and Alice Norcross is a member of the Publication Board.

Marjorie Roach, Wilma Blattner, Alice Norcross and Phyllis Poulin were recently elected to membership in $\text{MB}\Sigma$, an honorary psychology club. Jeanne Misner was elected to $\Delta \Lambda \text{E}$, an honorary English society.

EXCHANGES AND COLLEGE NOTES

According to a newspaper report, the University of Washington at Seattle is contemplating giving a course in correct radio speaking, if students continue to request it of the forensic department. Student radio fans, who tried to catch the Democratic convention speeches, made the suggestion.

Old-style speaking methods are ineffective by radio, and impassioned outbursts become unintelligible, necessitating that speakers learn proper technique for radio oratory. An official of the Bell Telephone company says that President Coolidge speaks very clearly over the radio, due to his calm, quiet, self-contained manner and lack of bombastic oratory.

One of the greatest influences for the advancement of women in the Near East is the American College for Women, located on the Bosphorus about five miles from the Golden Horn and within easy access of Constantinople. This institution was founded by Americans more than a generation ago and has been supported by generous gifts from many well known persons of the United States, among whom are Helen Gould, Mrs. Russell Sage, and John D. Rockefeller.

A NEW NATIONAL

As the result of organization work on the part of the Committee on Expansion of the Interfraternity Conference for the purpose of extending to more college men the advantages of a national organization, Theta Upsilon Omega is now a growing new fraternity with ten chapters. The magazine of the fraternity is The Omegan, of which Kenneth L. Cober, of Lewisburg, Pa., is the editor.

COMPILING WAR HISTORY

Sigma Alpha Epsilon is compiling a history of the part which its members took in the Great War. More than 7,000 members of the fraternity were in the service and to date the editor of the war history, William C. Levere, has collected more than 6,000 of the records of these men.

Winifred Goodsmith Richardson, Alpha Phi, has been appointed by the board of trustees of Northwestern University to the position of Dean of Women.

According to the Sigma Chi Quarterly:

Swarthmore College, where fraternity members are not allowed to live in houses, according to The Tomahawk, will build a group of college-owned lodges on the campus which will be occupied by the chapters as their general meeting places.

A KAPPA CHAMPION

Miss Helen Wills, KKT, who defeated Mrs. Molla Mallory for the national women's tennis championship last year, recently received one of the Kraft Scholarship prizes for high scholastic standing at the University of California. Miss Wills is a member of the freshman class at the Berkeley institution.

DE PAUW SIG CREATES SCHOLARSHIP

Myron B. Reynolds, Xi 1922, of Anderson, Ind., has contributed $5,000 to the endowment campaign of DePauw University. This donation creates the Myron B. Reynolds Scholarship, the income from which is to be used to provide for instruction of a student of high promise and good character, preference being shown to a deserving member of Sigma Chi.

Phi Delta Theta, according to The Garnet and White of Alpha Chi Rho, has served notice on all of its chapters that they must own their own houses by the time of the 1924 Convention or show cause why their charters should not be withdrawn. At the present time the fraternity owns 75 houses and the new mandate applies to perhaps ten chapters.

Says the Tomahawk of Alpha Sigma Phi:

A popular idea is that there is too much social life among students. Thomas Arkle Clark, dean of men at the University of Illinois, says, however, that the great majority of students have too little, and a small minority, too much.

In Banta's Greek Exchange we find that:

A campaign has been begun for the raising of money for a women's building at Washington University, St. Louis. The building will house a gymnasium, cafeteria, organization offices, office of the dean of women, a number of rooms for general use, and a large lounge.

The May issue of Themis of Zeta Tau Alpha announced the engagement of the Grand President of the fraternity, Helen Alpha Burkart, to Robert Hasley Wettach, Σ A E. The wedding was scheduled for late summer.

A REMARKABLE HONOR

Miss Chloe Owings, Knox '10, Alumna '17, received some months ago at the Sorbonne the degree of Docteur de L'Universete, Tres Honorable, equivalent to summa cum laude, being the only woman of any nationality to earn a degree in sociology at the Sorbonne. Her thesis, in reality a monograph, entitled "The Juvenile Court: A Study of the Treatment of Juvenile Delinquents in France," has been accorded highest praise for its clearness and penetration as a study in sociology. As evidence of its acknowledged excellence Miss Owings was recently awarded the Prix Cartier by the French Academy of Political and Moral Science—a very remarkable distinction in any case, and especially for an American woman.

Miss Owings' career at Knox was most unusual, for she earned her way through college and was the only woman graduate to be chosen to Alumna membership at the institution of the Phi Beta Kappa Chapter in 1917. She was engaged for a time in social service in Poughkeepsie and New York, and soon after the outbreak of the World War went to France and was for nearly two years connected with the Red Cross. She is now living in New York City.

The Phi Beta Kappa Key.

The March, 1924, issue of the Phi Beta Kappa Key was exceptionally interesting since it was an historical number. One of the pages carried a reduced facsimile of the First page of the original records which of course, is the oldest fraternity record in the United States.

THE IDEAL CHAPTER PRESIDENT

To my mind the ideal chapter president should be a man:

1. who has won the respect and confidence of the chapter;
2. who is resourceful and tactful;
3. who accepts his office as a responsibility as well as an honor;
4. thoroughly familiar with the condition of each department of the chapter organization.
5. with a clear conception of the fundamental principles upon which the growth of a strong chapter depends;
6. who has at heart the ideals and policies of the fraternity;
7. who is fearless and just in the administration of such rules and regulations as may be necessary in maintaining and building a strong chapter.

Harold W. Stewart, AA, '09, Alumni Adviser, Wisconsin.

The Signet of Phi Sigma Kappa.

In the Purple, Green and Gold we learn that:

Two Lam Chis are members of the Winter Research Expedition, which sailed on May 10 for a year's trip to Borneo, Siam, India, Thibet, Sumatra, and the Himalaya Mountains to engage in several big game hunts and considerable film exploration. These Lam Chis, Elmer B. Howe, Washington, '19, and Charles F. Fogelquist, Washington, '20, are members of a party of nineteen, which includes explorers, scientists, camera men, scenarists, and press representatives. The party set sail from San Francisco on the Dollar liner, President Van Buren.

Brother Howe will be business manager and manager of staff, while Fogelquist will serve part of the time as a taxidermist and part as an assistant camera man. The party, which will establish headquarters at Singapore, India, plans to film a series of native legends among the islands of the Dutch East Indies and also record the native forms of manufacturing and the methods used by the South Sea tribes to protect themselves from wild animals. The scientists in the party will collect trophies and specimens for several large, prominent American museums.

In "Confessions of a Senior" appearing in The Phi Gamma Delta we find that:

The main trouble with fraternity freshmen is that they do not realize until about the middle of the senior year just what the fraternity means, then it is too late to go back and do things over again.

Several fraternity magazines have quoted this slogan of Delta Delta Delta:

Every Initiate a Graduate. What we start, we finish.

BANTA'S GREEK EXCHANGE

An intensive campaign is under way to bring about wider distribution of Banta's Greek Exchange, which has as its fundamental and only purpose the desire to serve the collegiate Greek-letter Fraternity system. Fraternities are urged to encourage its widest possible distribution.—Williard S. Hopewell, Delta Kappa Epsilon Quarterly.

* * *

Raymond Stites, Phi Epsilon Kappa, has been awarded the Du Pont Fellowship of $1,000 in Archeology, and has in consequence enrolled in the University of Rome for further study after he has completed an extended visit in Egypt.

Says the Key of Kappa Kappa Gamma:

Do you know that Evanston is becoming popular as a center for fraternity offices? Alpha Phi, Delta Delta Delta and Sigma Alpha Epsilon have their offices in this University town. Sigma Alpha Epsilon has moved into a fine old residence which stands in a commanding position opposite the campus.—Eleusis of Chi Omega.

It should be the dominant characteristic of the freshman, the constant inspiration of the alumna, the proof of a chapter's strength and achievement. And now that the New Year has duly and appropriately given us the opportunity for resolutions, for meditations and for editorial discourse—it is of loyalty that we would speak.

Loyalty to each other will make friendship truer and sweeter; loyalty to your chapter will be a magic wand to banish discord; loyalty to your organization will mean untiring effort on your part. Loyalty to each other will help you to forget the fault and to look for the virtue; loyalty to your chapter will mean fewer factions, greater unity; loyalty to your organization will assure its strength, its progress. It's a very good thing to possess and to cherish—this loyalty—The Crescent, Gamma Phi Beta.

HISTORY OF BETA PHI ALPHA

The history of Beta Phi Alpha, national sorority, is rather complex and very interesting. Founded in 1909 on the campus of the University of California, Berkeley, Cal., the organization changed its name three times in the next fourteen years, growing in vision and wisdom accordingly. These early years were given over to thorough organization on the part of Alpha chapter to meet the requirements set by the National Panhellenic Congress in order that Beta Phi Alpha might be admitted to membership in that body. There are four steps which point to the success of the petition to N. P. C., which convened in the Parker House Hotel, Boston, Mass., October 17, 1923.

The Crescent of Gamma Phi Beta.

Says the Scroll of Phi Delta Theta:

Perhaps the outstanding achievement in $\Phi\Delta\Theta$ in intercollegiate debating this year because of its novelty as well as its merit was the inter-radio debate February 29 between the University of Oregon and the University of California in which Brothers Walter Malcolm and Joseph A. Frazer, representing Oregon University, were declared the winners by popular vote of 1,420 to 680. This debate was the first of its kind in history and was heard by one of the largest audiences ever assembled. Brothers Frazer and Malcolm broadcast their speeches from Station KGW, the Portland Oregonian, and the California debaters broadcast their arguments from The Oakland Tribune, through Station KLX. Receiving sets were installed, enabling each team to listen to the arguments of the other.
