

But Not Too Solemn!

I am going to open my mouth and stick my foot in it! Tho I must add that I am very grateful to you for sending The ARROW to me all of these years, for I am old (87) and ought to be dead.

Could someone influence the girls to just look intelligently straight forward when being photographed and give up all those fatuous, self-conscious silly grins and giggles that appear on page after page in the magazines? Once in a great while I find one such and what a relief it is to me and how fine and beautiful that particular one looks. I look back at our pictures of so long ago and we all seemed to have character and personality in our faces and no one was giggling and looking self-conscious as is now apparently the fashion. They all look like giggling teen-agers instead of college girls.

What do you think?

Margaret Maar Darch Pennsylviania Alpha London, England

→ We agree that sometimes the pictures look silly, but since we must rely on amateur photographers and mostly candid pictures we use what we get. We must say, however, that we prefer the current attitudes over those of a few years ago when to see a smile on the face of a college student was a rarity to be cherished.

Met Mrs. Fisher

I don't wish to brag or seek publicity—I just want to share my delight in reading the article on page 12 of the Winter issue of The ARROW, about Welthy Honsinger Fisher.

Once I heard her speak and met her later when I took my husband's mother to hear her. Mother Stewart was her first cousin—both were Honsingers from New York state.

The ARROW's new look is great.

Ruth Welty Stewart Kansas Alpha Wagoner, Oklahoma

→ We too have had the opportunity to meet and lunch with Mrs. Fisher, when she visited in Atlanta several years ago. She is a remarkable, lovely, fascinating woman.

Wants Alum Stories

I am enclosing an article about an outstanding and remarkable alumna. She received special recognition in March of 1977 at our joint alumnae-active Founders' Day celebration at the Michigan Beta house during a year in which I was president of the Ann Arbor Alumnae Club. I have expanded my remarks and updated her 'life and times.' We all hope that it will be published, both as a tribute to her and as an inspiration to Pi Phis everywhere. (See page 24).

Also, I would like to suggest a continuing feature or column devoted to living Golden Arrows, and focusing on their lifetime accomplishments and current activities. Older alums have made and are making valuable contributions of all sorts. Their wisdom, experiences, and achievements can provide a strength, and should be a source of pride and interest to all Pi Phis, young and old, active and alum.

Teresa Howe Bartholomew Virginia Gamma Ann Arbor, Mich.

→ We have said many times, and written many times, that we want stories about our interesting alumnae, whether Golden Arrows or not. AND we want those stories while the alumnae are living, not after they have passed away. But, as is true of chapter news, we can't print the stories if we don't know about them!

Objects To Gray

I hope future Fraternity Directories will be printed in black on white paper. The dark paper of the present directory (Fall, 1978) makes reading for many an unnecessary hardship.

Mary Griffin Newton Michigan Beta Detroit, Michigan

A word of explanation . . . we used the gray background on the directory to set it apart from the rest of the magazine. However, if the above is a valid objection that outweighs the reason for being, we'd be happy to change. Any other opinions?

Just A Flyer? Or Card?

This is just a suggestion from a college graduate of 48 years.

I do not believe that many people after 10 years from college are interested in a magazine as thick with routine details as a magazine of this kind must (I'm afraid) be as considered from the viewpoints of officers and actives!

It seems to me that a single summary sheet on occasion would be all that is necessary. That is the kind of reports we have for many of the organizations to which I belong—and it is a pleasure (not a burden) to glance at them then and there and quickly dispose of same. Once a year is sufficient—certainly not more than four at the most.

I do not believe there is anyone who would not welcome the opportunity to give $1.00 for such a cause. Actually, a greeting card on April 28 to the oldsters would seem sufficient.

These are my thoughts at the moment, and may change or may not. At any rate they are not written to detract from anything you are doing.

I feel younger (much) than I did in college (which I loved). Every day is exciting and has so many rewards—the most delightful of which is being with people—and also, on occasion—being alone.

One of our favorite people and one who has been very active in Pi Phi, both nationally and locally, is Shirley Bradshaw, Manitoba Alpha, of Winnipeg, Canada. Now comes word that this outstanding career woman has been appointed director of the Manitoba Woman's Bureau which was established in 1972 to advise and counsel women who wished to return to the work force. Since then it has expanded its activities and offers guidance to women in all areas of employment, as well as providing lectures on employment opportunities to schools and other organizations requesting them.

Shirley is a long-time career public servant in Manitoba. She reports directly to Labor Minister Ken MacMaster, in a position which, MacMaster says, may be unique in Canada.

Another public servant who has been recognized nationally is Mary Carter Wallace, Arkansas Alpha, of Clearwater, Fla. The President's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped has cited Mary for her efforts to place handicapped workers in jobs. Mrs. Wallace, a 14-year employee of the Florida State Employment Service, received a citation for meritorious service.

By the time this issue of The ARROW is in readers' hands, Pi Beta Phi will have colonized at Washington and Jefferson College in Washington, Pa. This is a small, liberal arts college, chartered in 1787 as Washington Academy. There are eleven fraternities on the campus, but there have been no sororities. The college became coed in 1969. Pi Phi colonized in April, and we'll have more information about this newest chapter in upcoming issues. However, we don't want to miss this opportunity to welcome the young women to Pi Beta Phi.

We are pleased to note that daughters of the national presidents of two men's fraternities are Pi Phi initiates this year. Peggy Pollock, South Carolina Beta, is the daughter of O. Edward Pollock, International President of Delta Upsilon. Allison Smith, Iowa Gamma, is the daughter of Dr. Louis E. Smith, Grand President of Sigma Alpha Epsilon. Both gentlemen are in the education field. Mr. Pollock is Director of Development at Wright State University in Dayton, Ohio. Dr. Smith is Registrar and Associate Dean at Simpson College in Indianaola, Iowa.

It's always a delight to hear from chapters who are so appreciative of what alumnae have done for them. We don't always have room to publish the stories of what has been done, but an example of how a chapter feels comes from Ann Feldstein of Ohio Epsilon. Last fall alumnae from the Toledo Club spent many hours redecorating the chapter apartment at the University of Toledo. They worked with actives in painting the walls, hanging new wall paper, and buying new furniture, getting ready for fall rush. Ann says the apartment looks great and the chapter planned a dinner for the alumnae who helped. That's nice!

Speaking of lack of space—there are two major frustrations in the life of a quarterly magazine editor. (Note, we said major...) One is not having enough copy to fill the allotted pages, and the other is having too much copy. The latter was true this issue. We had so many good stories and good pictures left over after the magazine was dummied that we couldn't believe it. We have used at least one item or picture from each chapter submitting on or before deadline, but the folder for this issue is still bulging. So sorry—we wish we could have used everything.

We know of at least three Pi Phis who competed for the opportunity to participate in their state beauty pageants and, at the time of this writing, are waiting to find out if they will represent their states in the Miss America Pageant. Christine Cardamon, Iowas Beta, was one of twenty-five chosen to appear in the Miss Iowa Pageant. It's possible that Cyndi Jones, Colorado Alpha, may have been chosen by now for her state title. Marla Neelly, Kansas Beta, competed in April for the Miss Manhattan-K-State title with the winner to go to the Miss Kansas pageant in July.

In 1977 a local sorority, Alpha Omega, on the Baylor University campus, became Texas Zeta of Pi Beta Phi. Alumnae of the local could have become Pi Phi alums by fulfilling certain conditions within a two-year period of the installation, and many did at the time of the installation. Others across the country have been doing so from time to time and we have two stories in this issue about A-O alumnae who have become Pi Phis. Add Mrs. Leni Henke who was initiated with thirteen other pledges in January by Maryland Beta. Leni said she enjoyed being with the chapter and sharing the job of initiation with the pledges.

Had you heard—it's what you learn after you know it all that counts!?!

Have a Happy Summer-msf

Sherri Cress, Arizona Beta, Betsy Campbell, Washington Gamma.

1979-80 Traveling Counselors Selected By Grand Council

They are both scholarship winners, listed in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities, and Mortar Boards. To those honors, add ones earned by each young woman in the course of her college career, and you have Pi Beta Phi's Traveling Graduate Counselors for 1979-80. Betsy Campbell, Washington Gamma, and Sherri Cress, Arizona Beta, were selected by Grand Council at its meeting in Phoenix in March. Completely involved in campus activities as well as in their chapters where each served as president, these outstanding young women will travel the country during the coming school year, to assist chapters in any way necessary, as well as to give chapters an insight into the scope and love of Pi Beta Phi.

Betsy Campbell

Betsy earned her undergraduate degree in interdisciplinary writing at the University of Puget Sound. Her career plans include graduate school in journalism with the hope of working in radio eventually.

Betsy spent the summer of 1977 in Sweden. She has had a rather wide job experience as well, ranging from being an Intern in the office of a Tacoma City Councilman, to writing, editing and arranging printing specifications for a public relations brochure. She plays the piano and guitar and sings, so she will have a ready-made audience wherever she visits.

In applying for the Traveling Graduate Counselor position, Betsy wrote, "The TGC must know how to be more than a friend. She must provide a resource to chapters. She not only passes on new information but helps chapters appreciate the 'special responsibilities' that membership in Pi Phi entails. To her comes the opportunity to help chapters realize their strengths and build upon them. And in areas where they are not as strong, she can offer solutions suggested by other chapters and sisters. The TGC is a builder and helper . . . I hope to further the aims of our Fraternity through such a position."

In recommending Betsy for the position, a university official wrote, "Betsy is personally attractive, alert, resourceful, reflective and analytical in her thinking, self-initiating in her actions, and capable of mature judgement. . . . She has a clear vision of the best that is possible for women through sorority membership."

Sherri Cress

Although her home is in Iowa City, Ia., Sherri decided to go away to school, and Arizona State was just about as "away" as she could get. Her service to Pi Phi began almost as soon as she was initiated and she was elected president of her chapter as a sophomore. Her initial inspiration for applying for the position of TGC came from Barb Hengen, TCG in 1976-77. Her exposure to Barb "became a personal inspiration for me because I knew that I wanted to serve the Fraternity in the same capacity."

During her senior year Sherri was president of the Arizona State Panhellenic. "She has been a tremendous asset to the entire Panhellenic and Greek System of ASU," wrote an official. "Sherri is a very unselfish individual who is willing to give of herself to become involved and assume responsibilities so that others may benefit. This was quite evident through her involvement and participation in her sorority, the Greek system, the ASU Student Foundation, the academic honoraries, as well as other numerous University committees and organizations."

Sherri feels that the Fraternity has helped her reach a level of maturity where she is ever conscious of the needs and desires of others. She says, "A traveling graduate program such as ours opens doors for many. It enables collegians and TGCs alike the opportunity to counsel and listen, to guide and direct, to participate and share in the growth of Pi Beta Phi itself."

Sherri holds a Bachelor's Degree in elementary education, and she hopes to become a teacher following her year of travel with Pi Phi.

Has House Grandmother

Oklahoma Alphas not only have a housemother but a housegrand-mother as well. Sophomore Kathy Malone is Mom Ream's granddaughter. Mom Ream has been with Oklahoma Alpha for several years and she has gone beyond the call of duty many times. If anyone needs anything from a vase to an envelope, Mom helps out. Each year she gives all the Oklahoma Alphas a super Christmas party at her Norman home.

Gamma. Nancy is working on a law degree, Susanna will have a MA in business, and Ruth is in medical school.

Three Earn Pi Beta Phi Graduate Fellowships

Familiar to nearly everyone, parents with young people in college in particular, is the fact that tuition is increasing every year. This is true not only for undergraduates but in the graduate fields as well. It is with particular joy, therefore, that Pi Beta Phi was able to present three graduate Fellowships for the current year. The third Fellowship was made possible through the help of the blue mailing sent to each individual Pi Phi. Pi Beta Phi is pleased to announce that the following young women have been awarded the $1,000 Graduate Fellowships for 1979-80: Susanna Baker, Louisiana Beta; Ruth Barron, Alabama Gamma; and Nancy Mason, Texas Gamma.

Susanna Baker

Susanna began her pursuit of a graduate degree last year at Baylor University as she was serving as graduate counselor to the new Texas Zeta chapter. Although her undergraduate degree was in speech and broadcast journalism, she has found a new interest in business administration, and is working for her Master's degree in that field. She plans to continue her studies at Baylor.

As resident counselor, Susanna has completed 36 hours, with a full year of school left. This was done, of course, while guiding the new chapter in its transfer from being a local group for many years to the ideas and ideals of Pi Beta Phi. Her success in both areas has elicited words of praise from everyone concerned. One letter of recommendation calls Susanna "an unusually mature young lady, bright, pretty, and extremely self-disciplined . . . I have never known anyone, of any age, who uses her time as well, or functions as productively as does Susanna."

Another recommendation notes that "Susanna is hard-working, enthusiastic, and exhibits a special and perhaps undefinable élan vital that is contagious to all with whom she associates . . . Both as a person and as a student, Susanna is outstanding in every regard."

Ruth Barron

Ruth is currently enrolled in Vanderbilt Medical School, but she had been accepted at a record number of schools and was the first Auburn student to be accepted by more than one. This speaks highly of her academic achievements during undergraduate years and her achievements during her first year of graduate study are no less impressive.

An ABO winner in her chapter, Ruth went on to be named Kappa Province winner last year. She also received the Comer Award for the most outstanding student in the physical sciences as well as a number of other honors.

In writing about Ruth, one Vanderbilt professor says that "she represented the epitome of a medical student. Intelligence, empathy, sincerity, awareness, and charm are but a few of her demonstrated qualities."

Ruth feels that she is furthering the aims of Pi Beta Phi by being in medical school. She writes, "There are very few other sorority women in medical school; in fact, many of the other women in Vanderbilt Medical School are opposed to the Greek system, feeling that it stifles individuality and excellence in scholastic endeavors. Hopefully, I can represent Pi Phi in a way that will change some of their stereotypes."

Nancy Mason

Nancy is currently working toward her law degree from the Bates College of Law at the University of Houston. During the three years since she was graduated from Texas Tech, Nancy has been working in the legal field, feeling it was important to get a first hand knowledge of the field before going on to attain her goal as a lawyer.

Her first job after graduation was as a grants analyst for Dallas County's Department of Planning, Research and Grants. She coordinated and wrote applications for federal and state agencies for various grant projects within the county. One of the grants was the Jury System Management and Improvement Project. District judges asked her to become the project manager for the next two years, and this she did. Through her implementation of new management techniques, the county realized savings of $50,000 in the first year of the project. The project culminated last summer in a statewide seminar, for which Nancy had full responsibility. Attending were district and county judges, county commissioners, district clerks, and computer analysts from twenty-three Texas cities and counties.

In writing about Nancy, one of the District Court judges said, "Miss Mason exhibits a high degree of intelligence and character, is a self starter and has demonstrated the ability to assume difficult tasks on an executive level . . . I believe she has the enthusiasm and industry to pursue these fields [law and government] as a career if given the opportunity to gain the academic background."

Club Celebrates 50 Active Years

Fifty years ago a group of Pi Phi alumnae living in the community of Glendale, Calif., applied for an alumnae club charter. The date was December 4, 1927.

By June, 1929, the newly organized Glendale Alumnae Club was eager to participate in the Convention at the Huntington Hotel in Pasadena. Their president, Nelle Parr, was appointed chairman of publicity for that Convention.

During the formative years, the group initiated the tradition of visiting the active chapters at USC and UCLA, presenting recognition pins to the freshman girls with the highest scholastic rating. This tradition continued until just a few years ago when the number of girls far exceeded the club's budget.

According to available information, fund raisers in those first years were benefit bridge parties, teas or luncheons, and fashion shows. Proceeds always went, of course, to the Settlement School in Gatlinburg. As the years progressed, additional philanthropies were added.

During the war years, the group bought Series E bonds and donated them to the Fraternity's physio-therapy fund, Red Cross, Service Wives and Babies Home, and the Children's Hospital. They also adopted a small Belgium war orphan in support of the national aid to war victims abroad.

From fifteen aspiring women of fifty years ago, and with a membership reaching its peak during the 1950s with 116 members, the group of today consists of only thirty-seven paid members.

The first Panhellenic president of Glendale was Pi Phi Alice Herzog. By supporting Panhellenic benefits, the group continues to contribute to scholarships and to Greek orientation.

They have consistently contributed to Arrowmont. In the past few years they have held an annual Arrowcraft sale at the USC chapter house.

There are ten active past presidents in the club today, five Golden Arrow members, two past province presidents, one current national committee member, and one charter member.

Wisconsin Beta Colony's pledges are shown with the national officers who conducted the official ceremony. ## Wisconsin Beta Chapter Returns To Beloit Campus

February 6, 1979, was a gala day for Beloit Pi Phis as seven young women were pledged to Wisconsin Beta, marking the provisional re-establishment of the chapter.

Conducting the pledging were Nancy Blaicher Pollock, NPC Delegate; Mary Ann Fisher Olinger, Director of Extension; and Mary Ann Phelps O'Callaghan, Lambda Province President. Traveling Graduate Counselor Becky Rhoten spent two weeks in March on the Beloit campus to help with plans for enlarging and strengthening the group.

Thirteen members of the Beloit Alumnae Club were present for the pledging and the club held a tea for the new group following the ceremony. Actives from Wisconsin Gamma at Lawrence University presented a gift to the new group and were responsible for teaching them some of Pi Phi's traditions, including the friendship circle and a number of the familiar songs.

Wisconsin Beta relinquished its charter in 1971 when campus conditions at Beloit precluded a strong sorority system. The Pi Phi house was sold to the college at that time so the current pledging took place in the World Affairs building on campus. The girls are meeting in a dormitory library.

Present for the ceremonies were alumnae from Rockford, Ill., Lake Geneva, Brodhead, and Orfordville, Wis.

The anniversary was celebrated during a Golden Reunion luncheon in November at the home of Nancy Holland DeWind. Scrapbooks were thumbed through and notes from many past members were read. President Phyllis Overton Hilts presented a historical look at the development and accomplishments for the club. Reminiscing and renewing old friendships was indeed a celebration.

A Rainbow shot across the sky
In colors of wine and blue
And mixed within was love and trust and friendship that was true.

I followed the rainbow to its end And found a place of love Where warmth and loyal sisterhood mirrors the rainbow above.

Holds Leadership Position On Senate Floor

"The opportunity to see politics and the process up close and first-hand is an education that is tremendously exciting. I have learned a great deal and yet there is still so much more to take in; the job remains a challenge even after two years."

These are the words of Susan Alvarado, Ohio Beta, in talking about her position as legislative assistant to Ted Stevens, Assistant Minority Leader in the U.S. Senate. At the age of 24, Susan is the first woman to hold a Senate leadership staff position. An article by Barbara O'Reilly, of the Gannett News Service, written about Susan, has been printed in the Congressional Record at the instigation of Sen. Stevens, Alaskan Republican.

Susan is one of three staff members representing the Republican leadership on the Senate floor. She briefs Republicans only, gives them the minority leadership's position on each item, and sometimes, when asked, she even gives advice on how they should vote. She is the first woman to break into these powerful ranks, in either party.

Her job is to "watch the floor when Senator Stevens is not there. Beyond that I'm there for Republican senators and staff members. I'm available for any questions."

Frequently those questions come hard and fast. What are we voting on? What amendment are we on? When do you expect the next vote? How are the conservatives voting on this one? What's been said on this so far?

Sometimes a senator isn't at all familiar with the item up for vote. It might be an issue that had nothing to do with his committee work or constituents' interests. His vote will be based entirely on what she says.

In her capacity, Susan knows more than almost anyone else about what's going on in what some call "the world's greatest deliberative body."

Susan works with two men, one 55, the other 35, elected by the 38 Republican senators to guide and advise them on the Senate floor. They work under the direction of Stevens and the minority leader, Sen. Howard Baker of Tennessee.

Susan originally applied for a job on Capitol Hill because she was interested in Alaskan issues, having lived in Anchorage during her junior high school years. She is an Air Force brat for whom Alaska was only one of many homes. She had been graduated from Ohio State University with a degree in political science after only three years, and had spent a year traveling in Europe, skiing in Colorado, and teaching tennis for Washington area country clubs.

She attributes her fast job advancement partly to luck and timing, but also to ability and a drive to succeed that many women don't have. "A lot of women have never competed, have never known what it was like wanting that next point, wanting to win, wanting to take it all," she says.

As a college student, Susan was one of six starters on the Big Ten champion Ohio State women's tennis team. She's still athletic, jogs a few miles three times a week, and plays tennis with Sen. Lowell Weicker, a formidable opponent, every Saturday.

"I think the reason for my success, for wanting this situation, for handling it, is the fact that I've participated in sports all my life," she says.

"I can say without hesitation it has been a very rewarding experience for me to work in what is still basically an all-male institution.

"Any woman pioneering in an area should expect a rather traumatic adjustment period at the beginning. A woman, as does a man, must first prove herself to be knowledgeable and a person of integrity before she can expect credibility or approval. But, in my opinion, the 'pioneer' woman cannot do just a good job, she must do a great job in order to pave the way for other women. Her job performance will depend a lot on whether or not another woman is selected for the same or similar position of responsibility. The pressure of this reality can be overbearing at times, but in the end it has made me work that much harder in my job.

"I love what I am doing and look forward to each new day. Washington is unquestionably 'the political hot spot' of the nation so I couldn't be in a better place to pursue my career and interests. This has been a fantastic experience for me and I am very grateful to Senator Stevens for giving me the opportunity to handle the responsibility of my position with the Republican leadership staff."

Susan sees the Senators as individuals now, a different light than when she started her job. At first she was intimidated, but now she sees them as men as well as personalities. "I'm not intimidated by anybody any more at this stage of the game," she adds.

With thoughts of going into politics someday herself, Susan Alvarado is a young woman to watch . . . a young woman whose ambition and ability will take her to the top of the heap before too many years pass. As for her Fraternity, Susan writes, "My affiliation with Pi Beta Phi is something of which I am very proud, and I find myself benefited by the experience every day, in many different ways."

Cornelia Paton Aims For 105

"Women should stay at home. It won't be long before the men stay at home and women take over the working world!"

Agree? Disagree? Regardless of personal feelings about the above statement, one has to agree that the lady voicing that opinion has every right to do and say what she pleases. Cornelia Ward Paton, Illinois Beta, has earned that right by living to be a venerable 104 years of age!

Cornelia Paton, Illinois Beta

Cornelia was born in Pennington Point, Ill., on February 7, 1875, just eight years after Pi Beta Phi was founded. She was the only graduate of the class of 1892 of Table Grove High School. She became a Pi Phi while attending Lombard College (now Knox College) in Galesburg, Ill., and was a member of the class of 1897.

Cornelia taught school in Joliet, Ill., and was also the society editor of the Joliet newspaper. She quit her jobs to become a mother, following her marriage of John Paton in 1899. They had a son and two daughters, Mary and Helen. Currently there are ten great grandchildren and one great great

Living with her daughter, Mary, in Waukegan, Ill., Cornelia is an active member of the Little Fort Chapter of D.A.R. there. She and Mary attend all the meetings. She is a member of the local PEO group and an honorary member of the Lake County (Ill.) Pi Phi Alumnae Club. She maintains her Cleveland East (Ohio) Alumnae Club

Pam Roach Is Elected Prexy Of House Of Representatives

How can you get excited about "going away to college" only two blocks from where you've lived all your

Pam Roach, Texas Delta, couldn't. Perhaps because the TCU campus had become such a familiar place by college-choosing time, she assumed that she would like another city, another school better.

She didn't though. After orientation at the college of her first choice, she came home to attend TCU "for a semester" during which she intended to choose another school.

Now she is a junior finance major and president of the Student House of Representatives.

Even though she was unopposed on the ballot, she visited with several student groups including most Greek organizations before the election.

'Higher tuition was asked about more than anything else," she said. "I think I understand the reasons for higher costs, but I'm not sure that most students do. I think better explanations could be given about why tuition has to go up.'

Tuition is not something she and the House can control. Some other areas of the University are more likely to feel her influence.

"We need to be strong academically. We need to have good professors. We need to make sure students get their money's worth when they come here," she said.

membership. Last year, at the age of 103, Cornelia attended the Lake County (Ill.) Founders' Day program.

So whether one agrees or disagrees about the role of women today, Cornelia Paton's opinion is one that must be respected. She's seen her share of history, and lived it well.

If she had three wishes for TCU, the new House president might list better academic advising, more men students, and a winning football season.

On advising: "Counseling has improved since I was a freshman, but I still hear about troubles some students are having. . . . ''

On the male-female ratio (about 40-60): "I wish we had an engineering school, because that's what the men seem to be going into now. . . . .

There are other influences on TCU social life. "The campus is in the middle of a quiet residential area . . . and has taken on the atmosphere of Fort Worth-it's slow and easy-going. A lot of us like that; some don't.

"The Greeks have it better because they have something going on most of the time. We've tried some all-University parties but they didn't go over very well. We need to find some other things everyone can get involved in, get something started for all groups.'

On football: "I get a lot out of TCU-academically, through student government, with friends-whether we're winning in football or not . . . I think it important that the program improve both for the team's sake and to give students something to unite behind and support."

Pam is very active in Pi Phi, loves living on campus ("it's a completely different atmosphere-yet you can take friends home for a good meal or something") and sees herself working, probably in a bank and probably in Dallas, when she gets her BBA degree.

Maine Alpha, University of Maine St. Patrick's Day brought carnations to the door steps of many men and women. The Pi Phis sponsor an annual Green Carnation Sale and personally deliver the carnations on the morning of March 17 to on-campus students and fraternities. The traditional sale is the chapter's most successful fund raiser of the year.

Arkansas Alpha, University of Arkansas Jennifer Fox was chosen a Razorback Beauty for 1978-79 while Terri Scott represented the chapter as the 1978 Homecoming Queen.

Kentucky Alpha, University of Louisville

"A star is born." Karen McDevill, a communications major, made her debut as a television interviewer recently on one of Louisville's early morning shows. Her interviewee was a Pi Phi sister and airplane pilot, Lisa Johnson. The show aired at 6:30 a.m. and Karen overslept and missed her first appearance on the tube!

Ohio Delta, Ohio Wesleyan Communicating effectively is Nadine Pastolove's chief object when interviewing prospective students in the Admissions Office. Nadine's internship as a student member of the Admission's staff calls on her not only to interview but also to work on campus events organized by Admissions.

New York Delta, Cornell Cheryl Slinger, and Diana O'Connell serve as organizers, friends, confidants, and problem-solvers for the many underclassmen and women in their buildings, as resident advisors in West Campus dormitories. Their jobs require both counseling skill and creativity.

Illinois Zeta, University of Illinois
Bonnie Brown is performing at Opryland, USA, in Nashville this summer in a lead dance role. She goes to Opryland following two summers at Great America. Bonnie choreographed two campus-community musicals this spring—"Applause" and "Jesus Christ Superstar." Jeanne Jones was chosen to direct the University's spring musical "Pajama Game."

Washington Alpha, University of Washington

Jenni Dunn represents the chapter as one of the twelve songleaders for the University. She was selected on the basis of her personality, dance ability, and experience. There were over 100 applicants. Jenni, along with the other girls on the squad, also cheers for the champion Seattle Supersonics basket-ball team.

Kansas Alpha, University of Kansas Dawn Daniel has been accepted by the nursing school at the University of Kansas Medical Center. She will begin the two year program in the fall.

Michigan Alpha, Hillsdale College For the past four years the chapter has dominated the cheerleading squad. This year three of the five cheerleaders were Pi Phis, with many more hopefuls waiting to join the ranks at the first available opening.

Indiana Epsilon, DePauw University Cathy Jones and Cindy Gates spent their January Winter Terms doing mini-Peace Corps work in Central America. Cathy helped build a church in Bacadilla, Guatemala, and Cindy worked on an apartment for a schoolteacher in La Ceiba, Honduras. California Zeta, U.C. Santa Barbara
Dee Ann Terneuzen and Libby Borgen spent the spring quarter in Washington, D.C. in the Capital Hill Program.
Dee worked for California Congressman Anthony Beilenson on the House Rules Committee, and Libby worked with Colorado Congresswoman Pat Schroeder. The Pi Phis were among only eighteen students chosen to participate in the program.

North Dakota Alpha, U. of N. Dakota The chapter earned some extra dollars by sweeping out the arena after a recent Alice Cooper concert at the university. It was hard work but it gave them a chance to talk to band members and other interesting people.

Oregon Gamma, Willamette University Janet Stamper represented the university in national swimming competition in Reno, Nev. As one of the women on the team, Janet placed 11th in the 50 yard freestyle, and, at the same time, broke the 25-second barrier.

Indiana Delta, Purdue University
Lori Schnell and Kim Starzewski are among the thirty-three Indianapolis
"500" princesses this spring and participated in the many exciting festival activities throughout the fast-paced month of May. Freshman Liza Conte was named second runner-up in the Miss Indiana pageant and won the swimsuit competition. Last spring Mona Franklin was first runner-up in the Miss New Jersey pageant.

Connecticut Alpha, U. of Connecticut Cindi Marszalek is Executive Vice President for Policy of the Student Union Board of Governors and attended the NECAA in Hyannis, Mass., for that group. She has been appointed to two special committees by acting President Gant and still manages to be an Upper Division Dean's List student.

Missouri Beta, Washington University Betsy Kahn returns in July after spending her junior year at Hebrew University in Israel. Kathy Morrison was a member of the Kappa Sigma Sweetheart Court fall semester. Nancy Geobel, Lisa Lecker, and Elisa Recht are new members of Chimes, the junior women's honorary.

Vermont Beta, University of Vermont Christine O'Donnell has been accepted by the Temple University Medical School where she plans to specialize in orthopedics, eventually going into sports medicine. Chris was very active in her chapter and was a Dean's List student and a member of Mortar Board.

Nebraska Beta, University of Nebraska Mary Sawyers, former chapter president, was nominated for the McCreight Award for Outstanding Student Teacher. The annual award is given by the Lincoln school system to the student teacher who works well with the staff and children in the classroom.

South Dakota Alpha, University of South Dakota Sheree Tiegen cheered the USD Coyote football team on to their North Central Conference championship last season.

Sheree, a freshman, cheered on the varsity squad.

Tennessee Gamma, University of Tennessee

The chapter had a winning season in winter sports, capturing the All-Sorority Championship in basketball and water polo.

New York Alpha, Syracuse University A semester after her sister Angela pledged, Esther Vigliotti was wearing a pledge dart also. Now Esther has been elected Panhellenic vice president and Angela is the new treasurer.

Virginia Epsilon, Univ. of Virginia Laura Old was chosen Head Rush Counselor for UVA's formal rush program. She supervised over twenty rush counselors, chosen from each of the eleven sorority chapters on Grounds. Pi Phi's rush counselors were Dede Lowe, Jill Snyders, and Delinda Alley.

Ohio Alpha, Ohio University
Lynn Adair spent spring quarter in Salzburg studying German, while Pam Kraus was in France for the French program. Lynn is a sophomore majoring in communications. Pam is a junior with a psychology major.

New Mexico Beta, N. Mex. State In February twenty adventurous Pi Phis spent two nights and one full day of hard skiing at Sierra Blanca. Cold feet and noses didn't keep these girls from having fun on the mountain.

Illinois Epsilon, Northwestern Univ. Beth Shapiro placed first in the intramural annual cross country meet's team category last fall. Beth was one of six runners on the Delta Tau Delta fraternity team. The course is 4.2 miles along Lake Michigan on the Evanston campus.

Washington Beta, Washington State Kelly Bohart was one of two freshman women to play on the varsity volleyball squad, the first year freshmen have been accepted. She also was the chapter's intramural rep.

Iowa Beta, Simpson College
The chapter was the grand winner of the traditional Tomahawk Award given at Homecoming to the housing unit with the highest spirit and participation. Pi Phi came in first place in every competition during the week to win the coveted award.

Indiana Alpha, Franklin College Kathy Lay and Jean McErlane have been accepted by graduate schools. Kathy will attend Indiana University Dental School and Jean has been accepted at both Northwestern University and Ohio State University Colleges of Medicine.

Mississippi Alpha, Univ. Southern Mississippi Jenifer Duchek, Teresa Holmes, and Beth Watkins were tapped for Omicron Delta Kappa. Jenifer and Teresa were graduating seniors and Beth is a rising senior.

Texas Beta, Southern Methodist Linda Scott was hired by Price Waterhouse, one of the big eight accounting firms. She's had plenty of experience with numbers—she was the chapter's hard-working treasurer. Past president Carla Pearman has been named to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

Iowa Zeta, Univ. of Iowa Pi Phis, joined by the local chapters of Delta Gamma and Zeta Tau Alpha, raised their voices in song at the annual All-Sorority Sing. After mustering all its energy in presenting a rousing, appropriately re-written rendition of "Hello Dolly," the delegation brought down the house and walked away with the spirit trophy.

Kentucky Alpha, Univ. of Louisville Donna Malcomb was selected by Indiana University to attend Dijon University in France for six weeks this summer. She was chosen on the basis of a personal interview and a placement test and will receive six hours of credit from Indiana University.

Mississippi Beta, Univ. of Mississippi Melanie Walker has been chosen a Campus Favorite, one of the highest honors the University recognizes. The selection involves a campus-wide election whereby ten college students are elected by the student body to represent them as Favorites.

Maine Alpha, Univ. of Maine
Mary Levesque and Brenda La Roche were varsity cheerleaders for the 1978
football and 1979 basketball seasons.
The chapter has won Greek Weekend
for the past three years.

Missouri Gamma, Drury College
The three top officers on the Student Union Board's executive council for 1979-80 are Pi Phis. Dena Lasker was named president of SUB, Cyndi Roper was chosen as vice president, and Amy
Chenoweth is secretary.

Maryland Beta, Univ. of Maryland Sue Burke, the chapter's vice president of social advancement, is Alpha Gamma Rho's sweetheart. She is pinned to Eddie Woods of that fraternity.

Indiana Epsilon, DePauw University
Sheila Horn and Martha Way were elected officers of the two major student government organizations of the university. Sheila was chosen secretary of Academic Council and Martha took over as Student Senate treasurer.

South Dakota Alpha, U. of S. Dakota Colleen Ellingson is the newest Pi Phi to be tapped as a member of the Dakotans, an honorary organization at USD. Colleen is an accounting major and is the chapter's V.P. of Mental Advancement.

Kukana's Kalabash Will Find Anything

Have you felt a need recently to rent an "ape" pealing ape that would be "ape" preciated and "ape" propriate for all occasions? Or how about a magician, a phoner, a house-sitter, a piano teacher, a new or used Mercedes, or a Rolles Royce? If you live in Honolulu, Hawaii, there's no problem. All that needs to be done is call Kukana's Kalabash, Inc., and Susan Suman Hindle, California Gamma, will take care of it all.

Kukana's Kalabash is a $100-a-year service that puts people in touch with other people who have what they want or do what they need, within the bounds of the law and what's available. The ape that Susan rents isn't real, of course. She bought two gorilla suits in San Francisco and rents them to people who want to liven up their parties.

How did it all get started? Susan says, "I have always known where to find things it seems, or at least who to ask. I think I was a 'resource center' in kindergarden—perhaps pre-school! After having supplied so many people with so many answers for so many years, I decided to try it as a business. I continued to do what I always did and began to charge: $1, then $10, now $100—and more."

Susan and her husband have been in Hawaii nearly fifteen years. Bill is a doctor with the Straub Clinic which he joined after thirty months in the service in Okinawa. According to Susan they become more pleased with living there each day.

The word kalabash is a "calabash" with a "k", and means a big wooden bowl to Hawaiians. In searching for a name for her business, Susan figured that she put all the things she, and others, know and do into the big bowl and then they draw the appropriate item out as it is needed or requested. Kukana is Hawaiian for Susan.

"I have had requests for large fat juicy worms for a worm farm, camels and elephants, magicians and mimes, diamonds and dirt, private islands and midnight cooks. Nothing is too outrageous to ask for. I make no guarantees and match a lot of things."

Susan doesn't go out and get a Swiss flag or a sled—both recent requests—but she'll tell you where to look. The answers are filed away in a battery of little tin boxes on hundreds of cards listing sources and hundreds more listing inquiries. She pairs them up.

Susan Hindle at her Kalabash desk in Honolulu.

During the holiday season Susan had three Santas for hire. One was a young, hip Santa, one was a lecherous Santa who hit people (gently) with a cane, and a third was the jolly ho-ho-ho type. All carried business cards that said "Have Reindeer Will Travel."

Susan and two friends are responsible also for several books on Hawaiian restaurants. In the first one, the author credits Susan with being the world's greatest researcher since she doesn't like to cook and consequently eats out 7 or 8 times a week! "What better friend could a writer have, to help select the BEST 99½ restaurants of Hawaii?"

The business keeps growing by leaps and bounds. "I do a bigger and bigger off-island shopping service and a growing Island shopping business for mainlanders," says Susan. "I even sold some animal puppets in Vienna over the Christmas holidays. I'll be in New York City in April looking for more gorilla suits and a bear head. The jewelry business is fast growing, with set pieces and raw stones.

"It's all available and such fun to track down.

"It's a fascinating, exciting, always changing, unique business and adventure. It's full, full time because it's all the same as how I live and what I'd be doing if I had no Kukana's Kalabash."

Centennial Is Celebrated

by JULIE DAINES

1978 was an exciting year for the University of Western Ontario. It was the University's centennial and the year was filled with celebrations of all sorts.

Delta Upsilon fraternity, located across the street from the Ontario Beta chapter house, had further cause for celebration as they commemorated their fiftieth anniversary on campus.

The events of the year came to a pinnacle with homecoming weekend activities in October. Hundreds of alumni poured into London to reminisce and recapture their youth at the special functions of this year's celebration. Western's football team won a victory over Laurier, and the DU formal was held that evening.

Sunday mellowed things out a bit with visiting Pi Phi alumnae dropping by the house for tea and a peek at their old rooms in the house. Both Delta Upsilon and Pi Phi had spent many hours raking leaves and primping gardens in anticipation of the arrival of the respective alumni. There was even a tulip growing contest, with the winner to be named when the spring buds show who had the greenest thumb.

The weekend was celebrated by the students of U.W.O., alumni, and friends, and lent itself ideally to interfraternity relations.

Two Pi Phi Achievers Among Glamour's Ten Success Choices

Two members of Pi Beta Phi were among the ten outstanding achievers named by Glamour Magazine as Success Choices for 1979.

The ten were selected from over 700 applicants who represent a cross-section of successful young working women throughout the United States. Their professions span a wide range of fields and reflect a growing interest among women to pursue careers-not just

The two Pi Phis selected are Penny S. Farthing, Indiana Delta, and Joyce Hergenhan, New York Alpha. Penny is a corporate lawyer for the Allstate Insurance Company in Washington, D.C. Joyce is vice president and executive assistant to the chairman of the Consolidated Edison Company in New York City.

Penny Farthing

As a registered lobbyist and lawyer for Allstate, Penny spends more than half her time on Capitol Hill attending hearings and talking to members of Congress and their staff to gather information about issues that affect her company. She is currently tracking car airbag legislation, national health insurance, and consumer protection issues.

After graduating from law school in 1970, Penny taught high school social studies while waiting to be hired for a government job. During the next eight years, she had five jobs specializing in regulatory work-government regulation of business. Her first was with the Federal Communications Commission. In her last position, where she worked in the Food Safety and Quality Service of the Department of Agriculture, Ms. Farthing was the highest salaried and youngest person at her level.

Joyce Hergenhan

Six years ago, Joyce Hergenhan was an investigative reporter for a group of suburban newspapers and wrote stories on the energy crisis, most not favorable to big business. A high-ranking Con Ed executive who thought her stories were the most accurate ones offered her a position as manager of public information. She wrote press releases and speeches and researched information for the press. Within a year, she was promoted to assistant to the vice president of public affairs, a key position where she was able to observe firsthand how management handles government relations and corporate communications.

While Joyce was completing her work in a special MBA program for executives at Columbia University, her boss resigned, and she was elected to his job by the Board of Trustees. She is the first woman to sit on the Corporate Policy Committee. In December, Joyce represented the utility industry on an energy panel at the Democratic National Party Conference, the first comprehensive policy conference.

selected in The ten women Glamour's Fifth Annual Search for Outstanding Young Working Women prove it takes know-how and hard work to get to the top. Some started out as teachers or secretaries; most decided they needed more than just an undergraduate degree if they wanted to get ahead. And as role models for young achievers across the country, they offer more confidence, more assertiveness, and more faith in individual talent than ever before.

Chapter Shines In Panhel Participation

by AMY OELSCHLAGER

An overwhelming interest in Iowa State's Panhellenic Council has been shown by the Iowa Gamma Pi Phis. Their participation has gone far beyond just two Pi Phi representatives each Barb Lacke, a recent graduate of Iowa State and Pi Phi's Traveling Graduate Counselor this year, started this Pi Phi trend when she was elected Panhel president in 1977. Her interest and enthusiasm about Panhel was spread throughout the Pi Phi chapter.

That same year Julie Emerson became the president of ISU's Junior Panhellenic Council. Suzanne Steinbrenner replaced Julie as president the next year and Suzanne was followed by another Pi Phi, Sean Oakley.

Diana Marcum, Iowas Gamma's current president, caught the Panhellenic fever last year and served as Panhel's assistant rush coordinator for 1978 formal rush.

Two Iowa Gammas now hold positions on Panhel executive board. Mary Power, the 1978 secretary, was followed by another Pi Phi, Anne Paule, the present secretary. The informal rush coordinator is now held by Pi Phi's Patti Said.

Pi Phi Did It

Softball Award

Simpson College—The Jack North Memorial Award is given annually to Iowa's outstanding girls' softball player who was graduated from high school the preceding year.

This year the recipient of the award was Iowa Beta's Mary Yori. Mary was selected for her fine all-around play during the 1977-78 seasons when she led her Ankeny team to the state championship in fall softball in 1977, and the state championship in summer softball in 1978. Mary received her trophy, with her high school softball glove bronzed and mounted on top, during ceremonies at the Iowa Girls High School State Basketball Tournament in March, 1979.

A rising sophomore at Simpson College, Mary plans to continue her softball career at the shortstop position for the Simpson Women.

Turnabout Serenade

Michigan State—Michigan Gamma Pi Phis sang their hearts out in a formal serenade in February in celebration of their chapter's thirty-fourth birthday. The women sang to nine fraternity houses.

Michigan State's Pi Phi chapter was founded in February of 1945. In honor of the birthday, Michigan Gamma shared their love and sisterhood by singing to the fraternity men and taking a birthday cake to each house. The men appreciated the singing almost as much as they enjoyed the birthday kisses!

Participation for the birthday serenade was fantastic and everyone wore long dresses and Pi Phi smiles. The serenade lasted the entire evening with sentimental songs and humorous ones.

Annual Sweet Shoppe

Dickinson College—If there is one thing that will bring a sisterhood together, it's ice cream. Pennsylvania Gamma sisters joined together, with pleasure, for their annual Pi Phi "Sweet Shoppe."

"Sweet Shoppe" is a fund-raising function in the form of a '50s soda shoppe. Sisters waitressing in '50s costumes, collegiate decorations, and "Happy Days" music create a super atmosphere for eating ice cream.

Sister soda jerks scooped out fourteen stands of ice cream to create yummy sundaes and specials like "Animal House"—a peanut butter ice cream with hot fudge and animal crackers. Since it was Valentine's Day, they also had a variety of special sweetheart sundaes, sundaes to share, and, of course, a lonely hearts sundae.

Aside from the fact that it's a super fun way of raising money for the Convention fund, it's a good campus event.

Everyone looks forward each February to the smiling Pi Phi faces serving those delicious Pi Phi sundaes. For Pennsylvania Gammas, it's a great way to break a diet!

Anne Fiore

Share the Fun

Louisiana Alpha—What do a fashion show, Slightly Older Sister (S.O.S.) luncheon, Pi Phi Christmas parties, and a philanthropy project have in common? They are all activities which brought the Newcomb Pi Phis and the New Orleans Alumnae Club closer during the year.

Pledges were especially involved with the alums through a pledge-active-alum lunch held by senior Laurie Ellis, and a S.O.S. luncheon at the home of alumna Suzanne Whann. Plenty of delicious food and pleasant conversation helped everyone get acquainted, and both functions were a great success.

In addition, the alums held their annual Christmas party for New Orleans and Louisiana Alpha Pi Phis in December. The group also worked together on a style show with fashions modeled by actives, alums, and children. Proceeds from the event were sent to Arroymont.

All these projects served to bring the Newcomb chapter and their alumnae club closer together to learn and grow in the Pi Phi spirit.

Maki San Miguel

Top Scholars

Millikin University—Last semester, Illinois Eta Pi Phis were the number one house on campus for scholastic achievement. Since this was a major victory for the house, the scholarship banquet was particularly joyous.

After all the group and individual honors were presented, Mrs. Helen Russell offered the chapter a particularly intriguing challenge. Mrs. Russell had loaned the chapter $1000, half of which was to be repaid with 3% interest at the discretion of the chapter. At the banquet, Mrs. Russell offered to burn the contract if the Pi Phis become number one in scholarship again! It's quite an incentive to achieve good grades.

There's No Business . . .

University of Maryland—Ten girls from Maryland Beta got into the show biz swing in February when they worked on makeup, costumes, and ushering for the University of Maryland's Greek play "Guys and Dolls."

Melissa Snowden bought costumes for the cast as well as coordinating costumes purchased by the cast members themselves. Her preparations took four months from the tryouts to the actual presentation.

Pi Phi was well represented on the makeup crew. Lisa Pescosolido, Maureen Collins, Michele Therien, Linda Stanton, Mary Ann Furgala, Judy Johnston and alum Sue Valenta devoted their time to transforming ordinary college students into '40s style gamblers and "dolls." Debbie McCarthy, who has worked on makeup since her freshman year in high school, chaired the committee.

The Greek play was a cooperative effort among all the sororities and fraternities on the University campus.

Debra Shapiro

No season would be complete at UVM without Greek Week and its exchange dinners, skit night, games, and parties. This semester's games were a bit unusual. Due to a lack of snow, thanks to an early heat wave, the snow shoeing and cross country skiing events were quickly changed to cross country running and a back-to-back race. But Pi Phi recovered and hung in for a third in games, and this, combined with a third in skits and the Winterfest finishes, earned them a second over-all performance for Greek Week '79.

Debra Randle

Win Relays

Washington University—The annual Sigma Nu Relays were held in October, and Missouri Betas made an excellent showing in the competition. Activities during the week included a luncheon for the Sigma Nus and a "When I Grow Up" costume party where everyone went dressed as what they wanted to become.

The actual competition segment of the relays took place on Saturday. The Pi Phis scored the most points in the events to win the relays. Later that afternoon at a picnic given by the Sigma Nus for all the sororities who participated, the Pi Phis were declared overall winners and received the first place trophy for the second year in a row.

Carrie Bumgarner

Well, Hello!

Miami University-The Ohio Zeta Pi Phis, along with the Gamma Phi Betas, found a unique way to solve an age old

The Miami campus is filled with charming young men that the girls would love to meet but are admired from afar, day after day. So the two sororities combined efforts and planned a "crush" party. Each girl invited two men whom they had admired but never dated, and the men were invited anonymously. The invitation contained all the information about the party and was to be presented at the door.

It was a "Shoot for the Moon" party, representing the arrow of Pi Phi and the crescent moon on Gamma Phi Beta. It was a huge success and some of the girls even left on the arms of their crushes. This was a sure sign that the party will become an annual event.

Bonnie Snyder

Winterfest '79

University of Vermont—There are many things, good and bad, to be said about winters in Vermont, but for the Pi Phis, this was a winning season. Theme for Winterfest '79 was the Catamount Olympics. Vermont Beta's ice sculpture representation of the olympic torch and rings with Charlie Catamount, UVM's mascot, on the front and the caption "A light for the cats" won them second place. They also captured first place in the sorority division of broomball and ended up second in the all-campus field of forty-five teams.

Winning Swimming

University of Nebraska-What were twelve Nebraska Betas doing in the middle of the winter with swim suits on? They, and other members of the chapter who cheered them to victory, were swimming away with the Annual Sorority Swim Contest title, after many years of competition.

In the past, the next door neighbors Kappa Alpha Theta, had taken the title home, but such was not the case this year. Nebraska Beta won first in every event. To top it off, they also took second places in all but a few events. They took home a big trophy and T-shirts. The latter went to first place winners so the Pi Phis took all of them!

Taking honors were Cathy and Trish Morrow, Jeanne Weatherly, Lisa Pate, Jo McFayder, Joan Light, Carol Rankin, Deb Hartford, Kim Berguin, Kelly Tooley, Sharon Young, and Pam Shald.

Amy Russell

Swedish Tradition

Washington State University-Christmas 1978 at the Washington Beta house was a beautiful experience as well as memorable. On December 13, thirty pledges, dressed in silver blue, wearing golden halos and carrying glowing candles, paraded down the stairs and into the living room singing the Swedish ballad "Santa Lucia," as members looked on.

Freshman Lori Talcott represented Santa Lucia, the Christian martyr who was crucified, by wearing seven candles on her head and a red sash around her waist signifying the stab wound Lucia received because they could not burn her. Lori recited a Swedish passage, then translated it as several others read small poems and quotes to close the ceremony. Santa Lucia brought light and goodness to all the dark countries of the world just as the 1978-79 pledge class did on that special winter evening.

Dixie Thompson

Talented Pledges

Monmouth College-In February the Tau Pi chapter of Mortar Board hosted its annual talent show. As is tradition, the Illinois Alpha pledge class entered the event. Performing a comical dance routine to the tune "Short People," the girls placed first of thirteen acts.

Also entered in the show were sophomores Kim Kelly and Conny Davinroy. Kim's solo, "You Needed Me," was accompanied by Conny on the piano.

Illinois Alpha is represented by senior Thea Nelson in Mortar Board.

Treat (?) Big Sisters

Birmingham-Southern College—On the morning after initiation, the new initiates of Alabama Alpha were so excited about being official Pi Phis that they just couldn't sleep. They were also so appreciative of their big sisters that they thought, "What better way of showing what good Pi Phis we are than treating our big sisters to breakfast?"

So all the old actives were dragged out of bed and asked to put on their jerseys so they could be taken out for pancakes and such—how neat to see twenty-four Pi Beta Phi jerseys all together at 4:00 in the morning!

Funny—the actives failed to see the great generosity and sacrifice of their little sisters. . . .

Lindsay Stroud

University Champions

North Texas State University—The Pi Phi Packers volleyball team this year accomplished what the independent teams thought could not be done. They won the university women's championship in a major intramural sport.

The Packers, who have won the overall sorority intramural trophy in previous years, became the first sorority ever to win a major university championship with their win over the dormitory division champions, Wild, Wild West.

In sorority intramural play, the team also won football, racquetball, and basketball this year. And in what may be a repeat performance, they were in the running for the university women's championship in basketball.

Cheryl Taylor

Blizzards Bumped

Denison University—Avalanche Weekend, the university's winter carnival, was held in February. Snow sports tournaments were the major attraction of the weekend. Ohio Eta, fraternities, other sororities, and campus dormitories were all represented in the cross country skiing, broomball, ice skating, and ski jumping competition. In addition, there was an ice sculpting contest in which Pi Phi and Sigma Alpha Epsilon teamed up to win first place, sculpting a giant Indian.

Included in the entertainment of the weekend were a takeoff on the Gong Show and a concert by the group McCoy. After a weekend of blizzards, Denisonians readily enjoyed Avalanche Weekend.

Two on Varsity Team

by BETSY PFEILER

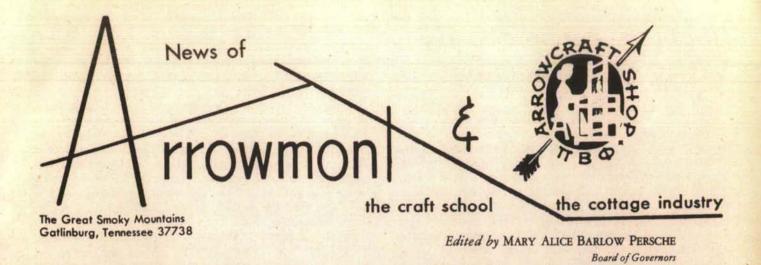

In the fall of 1978, two scared freshmen arrived at Duke University, ready to try out for the Duke Women's Tennis Team, which was ranked fifteenth in the nation. Neither Debby Klein, from Toledo, Ohio, nor Linda Patlovich, from Lake Bluff, Ill., knew anyone else at Duke; but both needed someone to practice with. On the second day of practice, after both girls had been practicing with their fathers, they passed each other on the main quad, going in opposite directions. They took a long look at each other—both knew that the other played tennis—but were too shy to ask the other to play. At last, Debby's father said, "Go ahead, why not ask her to hit?" So they did. . . .

Not only did Linda and Debby make the varsity team, they also became great friends. Today they are roommates, and North Carolina Beta pledges. Debby is currently the tennis team's number 11 singles player, and is challenging up on the ladder in hopes of making the traveling team. Linda plays in the number 3 singles position, and she plays number 1 doubles. In the first semester of this year, Linda captured the Atlanta Coast Conference fourth flight singles championship. Linda and her partner were also runners-up in the first flight doubles of the tournament.

The team practices from 1:30 to 4:30, Monday through Friday, in the fall and again in the spring, with a short winter break. In addition, Debby and Linda try to run about two miles every day. In this way they keep in good shape so they can indulge in the hot fudge sundaes that are so "dear to their hearts!"

It was a busy fall semester for Kentucky Beta's song chairman Sandra Schroat. In addition to her Pi Phi duties, she was marching the field with the University of Kentucky Marching Band. Sandra is a sophomore and has been twirling since her high school days.

Arrowmont Student Now Teaching In Louisville

Dorothy Yabroff came to Arrowmont in 1963 and hasn't stopped weaving since. Looking for a craft school she could attend between her graduation from Cornell University and her August wedding, led her to Gatlinburg, which had another advantage of being not too far from her Martin, Ky., home.

At Arrowmont, she took courses in weaving, jewelry-making and pottery but the weaving became her real interest and continues to give her much satisfaction. This spring she taught a third series of tapestry weaving classes at Locust Grove* in Louisville, Kentucky. The students used small frame looms which she constructed as an inexpensive way for a beginner to learn weaving. An advanced class met at her home for a session with the dye-pots. Using black walnuts, onion skins, and coffee with the addition of various mordants produced a variety of shades to inspire their creativity. Inspiration came also from her home where creativity and the love of weaving were translated into wall hangings, pillows and curtains. She is a member of the Louisville Craftsman's Guild and has exhibited work in its show. She also belongs to the Ann McGinty Weavers Guild.

Mrs. Yabroff and her husband, Ronald, an engineer with E.I. duPont de Nemours & Co., lived in New York, Delaware, and Tennessee prior to returning to her home state of Kentucky. While in New York, she began graduate studies at Cornell and in 1972 completed work on her master's thesis on tapestries, receiving her M.A. degree.

During their stay in Wilmington, Delaware, she exhibited in the annual juried show at the Delaware Art Museum with craftsmen from other eastern states. She also showed in the Delaware Women Artists, a show sponsored by the University of Delaware, and another at the University of Pennsylvania. Teaching weaving in her home, the museum, and a cultural arts center were other activities she pursued there.

Dorothy Yabroff comes to the aid of one of her students.

She glows at the mention of Arrowmont, remembers the experiences there with pleasure, and would like to return taking her husband with her. His interest in photography complements her work by providing a record of designs and exhibits.

Interest in weaving has spread to their daughters. The two older, Robin and Ann, have won prizes at the Kentucky State Fair as has their mother. Even the youngest, Jenny, can weave but has to wait until she is older to enter the Fair.

Dorothy has introduced weaving to Jenny's kindergarten class where it has proved especially interesting to the boys, and she has given demonstrations at the other girls' school.

Another interest this family shares is music with Dorothy at the piano, Robin and Ann on flute and oboe, Jenny on auto harp, and Ron as their appreciative audience.

*Locust Grove is a house built circa 1792 where George Rogers Clark, Louisville's founder spent his last days. It has been restored by the Historic Homes Foundation, Inc., and is open to visitors.

Chapters Fascinated By Visits To Arrowmont

"A fantastic time"—"a much-needed break"—"were extremely impressed" are comments Pi Phis made following recent trips to Arrowmont. The schedule for rental of the Red Barn and Stuart Cottage reads like a roll of chapters in adjoining areas to Gatlinburg and their enthusiasm for repeating this experience and encouragement to others to try it are evident in their letters and pictures.

Here is part of what Martha Collier, Philanthropies Chairman for Alabama Gamma said: "After a seven hour drive in a five-car caravan, the Alabama Gammas arrived at Arrowmont on Friday, November 3, just in time to tour Gatlinburg. Because it was so late, we could only experience part of the excitement that awaited us. The group split on Saturday morning to enjoy the beauty of the area. Some climbed Pi Phi mountain, some got an early start in the craft shops, and others enjoyed the peaceful atmosphere of the Red Barn. After lunch, we joined Mrs. Caroline Riddle for a tour of the campus. It was during this time that the pride of Pi Phi was lifted as we began to realize the true worth of Arrowmont and the part we, as Pi Phis, have played in making it so. In the evening, we built a fire in the Red Barn, had a talk session, ate, and played cards. We hated to leave the beautiful mountains covered in multi-colored trees and the campus of Arrowmont, but we carried back with us a renewed pride in Pi Beta Phi. Such an impact was made on the sisters and pledges of Alabama Gamma that we plan to incorporate the trip into our Fraternity orientation program. We encourage any chapter within the travel limits of Gatlinburg to take advantage of this resource made so readily available to us.'

Alabama Beta's six visitors are talking it up for more to participate next year. Pledge Elizabeth Foley detailed their group's experiences thus: "On arriving, we went straight to the Stuart Cottage which had seven bedrooms all decorated with Arrowcraft wall hangings. Saturday was most eventful as we browsed through the Arrowcraft Shop buying Christmas presents for our Pi Phi sisters and then toured Arrowmont. It was really exciting to see what Pi Phi has contributed to society rather than simply reading or hearing about it. As a pledge, it made me feel proud to be a Pi Phi and made me realize we were more than a social club devoted only to ourselves."

As frequent visitors from not-so-far-away Chattanooga, Tennessee Alpha President Janet Jordan calls this a yearly "spirit retreat" for members and said: "It was both fun and educational, especially for the pledges. The chapter took time out from ice skating, singing, playing backgammon, and shopping to visit Arrowmont. The pledges were fascinated finally to see the school they had heard so much about. The Red Barn was great as usual because there is such a warm, cozy feeling there."

Regarding shopping, she said, "The number of angels we bought that day was unbelievable." About the tour of the school, "It is such a great feeling to know that we support such a fantastic school. Though some of us had been there several times, we see something new and interesting every time.'

Indiana Alpha traveled to Arrowmont the weekend of March 9. The weather, rain on Saturday and snow flurries on Sunday, didn't dampen their spirits and everyone enjoyed the weekend. Nancy Glover said, "We were in awe of the vast outreaches of Pi Beta Phi. Seeing this portion of Pi Phi's involvement truly deepened our pride. That weekend provided an experience which the Indiana Alphas will never forget. In order to be a larger influence in this philanthropy, we scheduled a game marathon in April, and all proceeds are going to Arrowmont."

South Carolina Betas decided to add a touch of history to their formal this year by having it in Gatlinburg. They chose the theme "Pi Phi Premiere" since Gatlinburg is the place where many aspects of the Fraternity began.

Conclusion: The Great Smokies are a beautiful part of America and a visit which includes Arrowmont will make for a memorable experience for all Pi Phis.

Third Generation Is New Ohio Beta Active

by EDIE RADER

Three generations of women in the same family have called Ohio Beta at Ohio State University their fraternity home. Edith Hoyer Rankin was followed by her daughter, the late Mildred Rankin Rader, and now by Mildred's four daughters, Edie, Carol, Linda, and Janet Rader. Janet is the youngest daughter and the newest Pi Phi active, having been initiated last February.

The late Mildred Rader was the 1946 National Amy Burnham Onken Award winner. She was a member of many campus organizations and honoraries, including Phi Beta Kappa, the first woman elected president of Ohio State University Student Senate, and national secretary of Mortar Board. In recognition of her many contributions to Pi Phi, a large lighted trophy case was built in the chapter house.

Edie, a 1976 graduate of Ohio State, was active in chapter offices, as well as serving three years on the campus Panhellenic executive board, one year as vice president. She received the Conaway-Chase Award, given to four senior women at the university for outstanding contributions to her Fraternity, university, and the Greek system as a whole. Since graduation she has served on the Columbus Alumnae Club board as membership chairman, corresponding secretary, and currently as assistant treasurer.

Carol, a senior majoring in animal science, is a member of Gamma Sigma Delta agricultural honorary. She has been chapter Panhellenic representative and a member of the chapter Coffee House singing group.

Linda, a junior marketing major, is an officer in the American Marketing Association, Pi Sigma Epsilon. She is on the Greek Week steering committee and Greek Year Book staff. She was the recipient of the Verna Stewart Gardner Scholarship award from Pi Phi and is currently serving as chapter vice president of mental advancement.

Janet is a freshman majoring in business administration. She was vice president of her pledge class and is currently working on the Greek Week committee. Janet and Carol are both members of the chapter Academic Honor Society.

Mrs. Rankin, a Golden Arrow, has given continuous service to Pi Beta Phi from active chapter, to alumnae club, to mothers' club, as well as province and Settlement School participation. She was the recipient of Eta Province Evelyn Peters Kyle Award. Her greatest joys are the facts that her daughter Mildred was the 1946 National ABO Award winner and that Mildred's daughters have become members of Ohio Beta.

Ohio Betas all, Linda, Janet, Edie, and Carol Rader have followed in the illustrious footsteps of their grandmother, Edith Boyer Rankin, second from left,

Four Complete 1978 Marathon

by GERALDINE DEBENEDETTI SENNER

On December 10, 1978, four Hawaii Pi Phi alumnae ran the sixth annual Honolulu Marathon in Honolulu, Hawaii. All four completed the twenty-six mile 385 yard event, running with 1,037 women, the most female entries in any marathon ever run anywhere. The Hawaii Pi Phis acknowledge that women's running is an idea whose time has come, and Honolulu is the running capitol of the world as any visitor to Hawaii can attest. There were a total of 7,204 entries in the 1978 marathon, making it the third largest field in the world.

Cathe Christiansen Huemer, Colorado Gamma, and Ann Brockman Axelrod, Indiana Delta, were both running their second marathons. Cathe is a group worker with the Honolulu YWCA and Ann is a homemakerstudent.

Wende Sackerson Lyman, New York Alpha, an instructor in marketing and advertising at the University of Hawaii, finished with an injury. "But I finished," says Wende.

Geraldine DeBenedetti Senner, Nevada Alpha, state program administrator for Child Protective Services, entered her first marathon as her fortieth birthday present to herself. Geraldine and her 15-year-old daughter, running her second marathon, won the third place mother-daughter team trophy.

All four of the women have found that running has changed their lives. One cites running as responsible for the "total transformation" of her legs. The seven-year-old child of one of the running ladies took up distance running in order to have "something to do while mommy runs" and recently completed a ten mile event. Family eating habits and household obligations created role reconsiderations for spouses and children, and a new appreciation of the "mature athlete" in the home.

In describing the 6 a.m. start, one runner notes, "There is nothing that can really describe the sensation of standing nearly naked in the middle of an eight lane highway in the dark with 7,000 people. All about are people slathering vaseline on chaff areas, drinking de-fizzed coke, and gulping aspirin. And when the gun goes off, you get to create a peak experience in your life."

What's next for these Pi Phis who run? The second annual women's 10 kilometer, the Primo Beer Relays, the United Airlines 30-30, the ten mile Turkey Trot, and the 1979 marathon in Hawaii on December 9, 1979, are among other events. All visiting Pi Phis are welcome!

At the annual Greek Week Awards Banquet at the University of North Dakota, Matilda Maris Severson, Montana Alpha, was named Outstanding Alumna of the Year. She was nominated by North Dakota Alpha. Mattie is a past province president, and serves on both House Corporation and AAC. A sister, two cousins, and three daughters all wear the golden arrows.

Panhellenic Goal Is Sorority Interaction

by BETH STIER

The Panhellenic Council at the University of Illinois governs twenty-seven sororities, part of the largest Greek system in the country. In order to keep the system strong, it works through various committees headed by sorority members. Roz Baudendistal, Illinois Zeta, is chairman of the House Interaction Committee, working to foster friendship and good relations among the sororities. One of its primary goals is to get sororities to interact, especially since many friendships made through rush are broken up when girls pledge rival houses. A second goal is for committee members to form friendships which will last after the term of service is over.

The twenty-member committee has members from sixteen sororities, including a second Pi Phi, Patty Hurdlebrink, chosen for her enthusiasm and willingness to work hard.

House Interaction planned three major events before the new committee is chosen next February. Sororities formed trios for the Progressive Dinner in April. Also, in April, a new disco in town was the setting for the Greek Ladies' Happy Hour and style show.

The committee is planning a unique rush psych-up for next fall which will involve active members traveling from house to house "rushing." The committee also sponsors workshops which center on the improvement of house offices.

Roz and Patty hope that their hard work will help break down house stereotypes and promote sorority unity and affinity.

Proud of Busboy

North Dakota Alpha Pi Phis are extremely proud of Bobby Stalker, a busboy at the chapter. Bobby received first place honors in the World Junior Curling Championships held in Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan. Along with an enormous trophy and a gold medal, Bobby won the chance to travel to Switzerland to curl, and to tour all of Europe next fall.

Doing Unto Others . . .

Through Chapter Service Projects

LOUISIANA ALPHAS participated and raised approximately $2,000 in the annual Children's Hospital Fund Raising Festival in New Orleans in October.

The project included city-wide participation. Pi Phi's booth, "The Treasure Hunt," was one of the main attractions. A huge treasure chest was filled with 5,000 capsules, each containing prizes ranging from a "Whopper" at Burger King to a weekend for two at a luxurious New Orleans hotel. Prizes were written on paper inside the capsules and sold for $1.00 each. The chapter worked in conjunction with their ever-active and supportive alums. Actives decorated and manned the booth, as well as buying chances to win the prizes. The Newcomb College Pi Phis raised more money than any of the other participating booths during the two-day event.

The Campaign for the College at William and Mary is an all-out effort to solicit aid from alumni all over the country. The campaign included an all-sorority competition in which all nine national sororities on campus participated in the fund-raising drive. VIRGINIA GAMMA's Susie Callison was coordinator of the competition. Of a total of $51,323 raised in the competition, Pi Phi was responsible for a whopping $9,466.50, earning a plaque and first prize of $250. Funds raised are put to faculty development, student aid, program enrichment, concert and lecture series, and library supplies, to name a few uses.

Carrie Brown, CALIFORNIA EPSILON, and her partner danced for thirty-two hours for the San Diego Epilepsy Society in the "Dance to Give Them a Chance" dance marathon. After bringing in over $200 in pledges from various sponsors, Carrie danced her way to a first place trophy and a $500 scholarship. Carrie is Panhellenic president at San Diego State.

For a fun fall philanthropy, OKLAHOMA BETA joined with the men of Delta Tau Delta to build dog houses for the Stillwater Animal Shelter. After a fun filled afternoon of building, with all the nails hammered and all the paint brushed on, the Pi Phis and Delts had made three dog houses.

During the first week in March, ILLINOIS ETAS participated in the Millikin University Campus Chest. There were various events held each day with the proceeds going to the Cancer Fund. Six Pi Phis danced the night away to win the trophy for raising the most money. One of the Pi Phis, Carol Young, won first prize for the highest amount raised by an individual, collecting over $600.

SOUTH CAROLINA BETAS, in conjunction with the Clemson Theta Chi fraternity, collected over $1,100 for the Heart Fund during the month of February.

NORTH DAKOTA ALPHA provided entertainment at a party for mentally handicapped citizens sponsored by the Valley Association for Retarded Citizens. The time was spent playing games, singing, and dancing.

The University of Georgia Panhellenic Association presented a spring fashion show to raise money for the American Cancer Society. Pam Anderson, GEORGIA ALPHA, was the Pi Phi model. Theme of the show was based on "The Wizard of Oz" with background music being taken from the sound-track of the new hit movie.

Six INDIANA GAMMA Pi Phis gave time and love to the Indianapolis New Hope Foundation of Indiana this spring. The facility is the home of over one hundred handicapped teens and adults. Cheryl Geer teaches piano to those who are musically inclined; Michelle Human lifeguards at New Hope's large swimming pool; Sandy Nelson's creativeness is revealed in the arts and crafts classes. Lisa Klingenberger, Annie Klausing, and Brenda Healy spend one evening a week playing checkers, ping pong, or disco dancing with the residents.

MISSOURI BETA presented a Thanksgiving play for the children of the Edgewood Children's Center and the Methodist Children's Home. Everyone participated in some way and found the experience to be very rewarding. The play was called "Thanksgiving is for Everybody."

Laura Goehring, OHIO BETA, participated in a style show sponsored by Kappa Kappa Gamma at Ohio State. Funds from the event went to the "Recreation Unlimited" camp for mentally retarded citizens in Columbus. Laura was chosen the Model Most Likely To Succeed!

WASHINGTON ALPHA Pi Phis participated in the March of Dimes Walk-a-Lot to raise money for muscular dystrophy, played volleyball at 4 a.m. at a Variety Club volleyball marathon to benefit the Pacific Northwest Heart Fund, and solicited pledges for the University of Washington alumni fund in a phone-a-thon sponsored by UW. Over $600 was raised for charity and other services as a result of the chapter's hard work.

OHIO EPSILONS bowled in the Cystic Fibrosis Bowl-a-Thon and had a chance to win T-shirts, jackets, and free games while raising money for a good cause. Ten members worked as phone operators on the TV public broadcasting station's pledge drive. During breaks between shows Pi Phis took pledges totaling $30,000 and had a chance for plenty of camera shots. The fall pledge class and guys from a campus dormitory sponsored "Steppin' Out," an all-campus party in the dorm cafeteria, benefitting the Autistic Society. The party raised $400, enough to send seventeen autistic children to summer camp.

A campus-wide dance marathon for cerebral palsy was held at Northwestern University in February. ILLINOIS EPSILON Marsha Metzdorff and her Chi Psi partner, Howard Beder, danced a total of thirty hours. Jan Good and Francine Twine were participants also. The Marathon raised over $30,000 and of that, $1,400 was raised through the efforts of Pi Phi and Chi Psi. Out of 62 couples, Marsha and Howard placed

NORTH CAROLINA BETA contributed to the campus philanthropy scene by donating money towards the operation for a ten-year-old boy who underwent extensive heart surgery at Duke Hospital last January. Pi Phis sponsored a contest to guess the number of jelly beans in a large jar, with each guess costing 50¢. The person whose guess came closest to the actual number of beans won the entire jar. $200 was raised and donated towards a successful operation.

The youngsters at Syracuse's Elmcrest Children's Center

have a new ping-pong table, thanks to the recyling program at NEW YORK ALPHA. The chapter regularly schedules cleanup days when they collect cans and bottles, thereby cleaning the community and accumulating points toward a prize. The chapter has placed each semester and prizes won include a quad stereo, tapes for the tape deck, and a dishwasher.

CALIFORNIA ALPHAS spent an evening at the Stanford Children's Hospital baking with the kids. Chocolate chip cookies widened many young eyes as the products of their labor emerged from the oven. The only casualty was a dropped egg.

Excitement and enthusiasm were generated in January as twenty couples bumped 64 hours in the annual all-campus Bump-a-Thon for Muscular Dystrophy at Kansas State. Patty Cook, KANSAS BETA, and her SAE partner, Mark Dayvault, raised $1,130 for the cause and earned the right to travel to Florida to participate in the M.D. Youth Convention.

OHIO ALPHA collected a grand total of $800 for the American Heart Association in spite of heavy rain and flooding. The chapter collected $425 on a February Sunday, along with $150 from local alumnae and $300 from individual chapter members.

WASHINGTON BETA's Terri Torseth was honored at the end of the fifth annual ATO dance marathon. Terri has raised money and participated for the past four years, with the Eastern Washington Epilepsy Foundation benefitting. The pledge class visited a convalescent home, entertaining with songs and visiting individually.

Vermont Beta Hits Top With Greek Awards

Greek Formals is an annual event at the University of Vermont, with the evening including dinner, dancing, and the presentation of various Greek awards.

This year was an extra special one for Vermont Beta as they received awards for performances throughout the year in Greek Skits, Greek Week, and scholarships, and a very special sister, JoAnne Wall, was named Greek Woman of the Year. But no award is quite as special as the Lambda Cup, presented each year by Lambda Iota fraternity in conjunction with the Greek Coordinating Council, Fraternity Manager's Association, and the Dean of Students' Office.

It was presented with few words this year, each of which will be remembered forever by Vermont Beta Pi Phis: "I would like to present the Lambda Cup for the outstanding sorority, and we all know that that is Pi Beta Phi!" It brought the Pi Phis to their feet with excitement. It was a moment of glory for years of hard work, dedication, and time from hundreds of actives and alums.

The last time Pi Phi had the cup was in 1968, the year Sandy Wynne Liable was president. Sandy is now chairman of AAC for Vermont Beta, and her dedication and understanding have been instrumental in returning the cup to Pi Phi.

The cup was dedicated to the seniors who have experienced and watched the climb to the top, one small step at a time.

Each addition and improvement brought Pi Phi a little bit closer to the cup. Winning skits and Greek Week; full pledge classes; officers on GCC and Panhel; philanthropies for Pi Beta Phi, UVM, and the Burlington community; intramural sports; ice sculptures; scholastic achievements for individuals and the highest sorority cumulative average; and, most of all, an amazing amount of enthusiasm, spirit, and Pi Phi love—all had a part in returning the award to the chapter.

Chapter Has Founders' Weekend

Several major changes have taken place for Founders' Day at the University of North Carolina. It has been changed to a weekend instead of one night. Recent alumnae were asked to spend the weekend at the house. Saturday activities included a softball game, a cookout, and home movies of the chapter's activities.

Sunday plans included a luncheon to which all area alumnae were invited. A special award was presented at that time. The Buff Wick Memorial Award, a gold medallion, was given to the chapter member who best exemplified the qualities everyone saw in Buff. These include strength of character, leadership, enthusiasm, love of life, and contributions to Pi Phi. The medallion is similar to one Buff wore in high school. Each year the name of the new recipient will be added to a special plaque. Buff's favorite poem is engraved at the top of the plaque.

Golden Arrow Overcomes Handicap To Serve Others

by Teresa Howe Bartholomew

Sparkle and savvy, sensitivity and service, spirit and a secure sense of self—all are attributes of a super, very special Pi Phi alumna, Evelyn Harwood Schmale, of Ann Arbor, Mich. A positive philosophy of learning, doing, and caring characterizes her life. Her life is one of careers—as collegian and student, as salaried professional, as homemaker, and as volunteer.

Evelyn firmly believes that a woman has both the freedom and moral obligation to exercise options for personal development, and to help and inspire others to do the same. Her accomplishments and contributions have resulted not only from making the most of her own natural abilities, but, in recent years, in spite of disability. She lost her sight and nearly her life in an accident about 15 years ago. But she says that ''. . . other than the blindness, I have had complete recovery, and find that I can still enjoy my own life and hopefully justify my continued existence in this beautiful world by doing what I can to be a responsible, helpful person.' And so she does! One year before becoming a Golden Arrow, she serves and has served in capacities which would challenge a younger, sighted person.

Evelyn was born and grew up in the small town of Marshall, Michigan. Living in the same town of the then province president and several other outstanding women who were Pi Phis, led Evelyn to the conviction that there was "never any other sorority but Pi Phi." She was initiated into Michigan Alpha at Hillsdale College in 1930. In her college career, she served Pi Phi as rush chairman and vice president. Her sophomore year, she represented the college at the Carnegie Internation Relations Conference on world peace and interracted with students from around the world. She won prizes for public speaking and debate, was the first woman editor of both the college newspaper and the yearbook, was maid-of-honor to the May Queen, and was graduated valedictorian of her class!

A master's degree in clinical psychology from the University of Michigan led to her selection as clinical assistant in a psychotherapy pilot program, and the beginning of her professional salaried career. Later, she became an American Red Cross professional in the field of military welfare. She served in the Red Cross throughout World War II, both in Michigan and overseas, on duty that was often difficult and hazardous.

Marriage to a psychiatrist-in-training began her career as a wife, and later, with the birth of two sons, as a mother. Committed to the strength and unity of home and family, and confident in the value of her own contributions to such a career, she was satisfyingly and completely occupied.

When her children no longer needed her always available, she felt free to expand her activities outside her home. Thus, she began her career as a volunteer.

After recovering from her accident and upon her adjustment to an unsighted condition, indomitable Evelyn returned to volunteerism. She served for over a year as Coordinator of Volunteers with the local Juvenile Court. After training, she served as a mental health worker at the community Crisis Walk-In Center for three years. Active in the RSVP (Retired Senior Volunteer Programs) since its local inception, she became Coordinator of Volunteer Programs at the High Point Center. This center is a part of the Intermediate School District and serves the needs of severely mentally impaired and the trainable mentally impaired children and young adults.

It is characteristic of Evelyn to develop new interests as well as challenges. Thus it was typical of her to become involved in an innovative geriatric program. The Turner Geriatric Clinic was established in 1977 to provide under one roof, comprehensive service-physical, psychological, emotional, and social-for those citizens 55 years of age and older. Evelyn took the special training to serve as peer counselor on a oneto-one basis, which she does by telephone. She participates in monthly workshops on subjects of interest to older adults, and functions in a leadership position in the low vision group. She has spoken eloquently on behalf of the Clinic and its care to interested persons in the university and the community. As a senior citizen, coping with the problems of low vision, she feels she is adding to her understanding of human beings and helping others to deal with and experience the "Golden Arrow years' with dignity and self-respect.

Always loyal to Pi Phi and its ideals, Evelyn held the office of treasurer in the alumnae club for six years. She has helped to strengthen the bond between actives and alums by her presence at Michigan Beta initiation ceremonies, by opening her home to joint active-alumnae gatherings and for summer rush parties, and by speaking at the house about volunteering. She has held the office of vice president and program chairman of the Ann Arbor Alumnae Club. Two years ago, she became co-chairman of the first "Pi Phi to Pi Phi" project, an effort to make contact with older or inactive Pi Phis in the area. Through telephone, letter, or visit, about 40 alums were reached with the personal message that Pi Phi remembers and cares. A number were encouraged to become active alums; others were heartened and helped in other ways.

Evelyn loves to cook, enjoys books for the blind, types for herself, and travels (she made a trip to Sweden unaccompanied). Her vital interest in current and community issues is often expressed in an informed and pertinent letter to the editor of the newspaper. An effective and articulate public speaker, she is aided by a fine memory and her clear, warm voice. A witty and stimulating conversationalist, with an abiding interest in individuals, and a great capacity for true friendship, she is an inspiration to and beloved by her host of friends and admirers.

Summer Schools Dwindling

SUMMER SESSIONS are being viewed as a possibly "dwindling down" institution on the college campus, according to the Chronicle of Higher Education. The reasons, observers say, include the expansion of continuing education throughout the year—so that the traditional summer session short, specialized course can be had at other times; the combining of administration of summer session with other duties as a diluting factor, and the decline of the student clientele traditionally found on campus in the summer—school teachers and undergraduates accelerating themselves into the job market faster.

months working needlepoint for cushions as a memorial gift to the memory of Mayor Howard Rogers of Newport Beach. The cushions were dedicated at St. James Episcopal Church on Lido Island, Calif., in January, and were accepted by his widow, Trudi Peabody Rogers, California Gamma, past president of the South Coast club from 1975-77.

The alumnae club provided the materials for the cushions which were part of St. James Alter Guild's project of furnishing the church with needlepoint kneeling pads and sanctuary cushions. Of all contributions to the project, Pi Phi's was the only memorial gift.

The cushions are in ultramarine blue with the one for the Bishop's chair bearing the state seal of California, and the one for the priest's chair, the seal of the City of Newport Beach. Boxing on both cushions is embroidered: "In Memory of Mayor Howard Rogers."

Rogers had served as Newport Beach councilman for 10½ years and was mayor for four months before his death. At that time his widow, Trudi, was appointed to fill his vacancy and served for twenty months.

Two Cal Zetas Earn Honorariums

by MARTY MCCLURE

At U.C. Santa Barbara, Golda Marshall, an Alpha Chi Omega and later a staff member on campus, was the embodiment of the "perfect sorority woman." She was so admired that, upon her death, three annual $100 honorariums were established in her name to be given to the most outstanding senior sorority women on campus. Cal Zetas are very proud that this year, two of the three recipients are Pi Phis—Lori Boyer and Ricki Vinyard.

Lori is a health studies major and plans to continue her education in physical therapy. A caring individual, she's presently volunteering her time working with and teaching handicapped children. Within the chapter she has been secretary and VP Mental, and in Panhellenic she has been head rush chairman. She is responsible, much respected, and often sought out by her sisters for advice.

Ricki, a political science major, is planning to go to law school. A true go-getter, Ricki is very involved in campus activities, having been a campus Tour Guide, a member of the head committee for the annual Spring Sing, and is volunteering her time currently as a "Big Sis" to an underpriviledged child. Within the chapter, Ricki has been "Big Brother" chairman, and she contributes her creative and imaginative ideas to every activity.

California Zetas consider themselves fortunate to have two such devoted, outgoing, hard working members as Lori and Ricki—women who truly deserve the honor of a Golda Marshall honorarium.

Stunt Flying Is Unusual Hobby

by DENISE ORTEN

Kathryn Ann Braden, better known as Kakie, is a Texas Beta junior with several unusual hobbies, one of the most interesting of which is stunt flying! Kakie started flying at age 17 after inheriting an interest from her father and brother who also fly. She continued her private training until her freshman year at Southern Methodist where she began stunt flying with national stunt flyer Duane Cole in Ft. Worth. Kakie's training included Hammer Heads, Loops, Chandels, and Crazy Eights.

All of this is not out of character for Kakie, as one can tell from her past activities. As a senior in high school in Hutchison, Kan., Kakie was fourth in the state discus throw. Later the same year she hiked through New Zealand while helping launch weather balloons for the National Center for Atmospheric Research of Boulder, Colo.

Other sports that Kakie enjoys are scuba diving, golf, tennis, and racquet-ball. She has been active on campus serving on the executive board of Student Foundation, a member of Kirkos (women's honorary), and as Texas Beta's Panhellenic representative. She will graduate in 1980 with a double major in accounting and economics, and a history minor. She intends to continue her broad span of interest by studying at Middlesex Poly-Tech in Britain during the 1979-80 academic year.

Pi Phis Reign At Mardi Gras

by САТНҮ СОВВ

In New Orleans, Mardi Gras is celebrated with parades and beautiful carnival balls. This year the police strike caused the cancellation of the parades, but the balls, not affected by the strike, celebrated Carnival in the traditional fashion.

Several New Orleans Pi Phis from Louisiana Alpha, Louisiana Beta, and Mississippi Beta were lovely queens or maids of honor in the different Mardi Gras balls.

Serving as Maids to the Queen of the Caliphs of Cairo were Katherine Casey, Beth Rome, Anne Lovick, Louisiana Betas, as well as Meg Farris, Mississippi Beta, and Cathy Cobb, Louisiana Alpha.

In the Prophets of Persia, Meg Farris reigned as Queen, with Cathy Cobb serving as one of her Ladies-in-Waiting.

In the Elves of Oberon, Ann Vandenburgh and Margot Rapier, Louisiana Alphas, enjoyed their presentation to the Queen of Oberon.

In the Knights of Momus, Carol Becker, Louisiana Alpha, was presented the Royal Edict requesting that she grace his court as a Maid of Honor.

Cathy Cobb reigned as Her Majesty, the Queen of Nereus, while Beth Rome, Katherine Casey, and Allison Kelly, Louisiana Betas, served as her Majds

Meg Farris, Mississippi Beta, reigned as Queen of the Prophets of Persia Ball during Mardi Gras. New Orleans is Meg's home town and she is a junior at Ole Miss where she is a chapter officer and in a number of campus activities.

Ann Vandenburgh and Mary Ellen Caraway, Louisiana Alphas, as well as Allison Kelly, Meg Farris, and Beth Rome, enjoyed their glamorous night as Maids of Athenians.

Enjoying royalty in the Court of Proteus for a night were Margot Rapier, Ann Vandenburgh, and Carol Becker as Maids of Honor.

Margot Rapier and Mimi Harper, Louisiana Alphas, celebrated their night in the royal court of Mithras.

Last but not least, Mary Ellen Caraway in Achenians, Beth Rome in Osisrus, and, in Mystery, Beth Rome, Allison Kelly, and Maureen McCarthy, Mississippi Betas, were all Maids of Honor to their respective majesties.

Stetson Returns To Greek Week

For the first time in years, Greek Week returned to the Stetson University campus, and, of course, Florida Alphas were involved as usual.

Each sorority and fraternity contributed a banner promoting Greek Week and the Pi Phis started the week off right by winning the contest for the best banner. They took second place for having the second largest percentage of people attend the "Olympic Most Anything Goes Games." They also participated in the Egg Toss, Helen Keller Tennis, Tug-of-War, and relay races. The next day Pi Phis surpised the campus with a unique and excellently decorated bed for the Bed Race down Minnesota Avenue. Each bed carried with it, in addition to its rider, a list of sponsors. The sponsors had donated money for a memorial fund established for three Stetson students killed in Austria in January. The Pi Phis came up with nearly $200 for this fund, as well as money they had collected for their own fund, the Katy Resnick Memorial Stetson had a barbecue for students on Friday and ended Greek Week Saturday night with a dinner dance at Daytona Beach. Awards were given that night, and, as a grand finale, Pi Phi Susan Perry won the First Lady of Panhellenic Award. The entire week was a great success for the Pi Phis as well as for the entire student body.

Swimmer Holds Six Pool Records

Jenny Tatnall, a record holding member of the women's swim team at the College of William and Mary and an active member of the Virginia Gamma, completed a very successful and exciting season in the spring. The possessor of six William and Mary pool records, Jenny returned from the Virginia State Championships in March with two first places in the 200-yard and 500-yard freestyle. She also placed in three other individual races and in two relays.

Nationals were held soon after the state championships, in Reno, Nevada. The change in altitude was a big adjustment for many, including the swimmers from William and Mary, but the team placed an impressive sixth in the competition—an eight place jump up from last year. Her performance in Reno made Jenny a seven-time All American in the Small College AIAW Nationals.

Jenny's outstanding ability is not limited to the pool. She has recently been elected Vice President of Mental Advancement at Virginia Gamma and also serves in the Volunteers for Youth program sponsored by the NCAA. Despite all the time and dedication put into these activities, Jenny manages to maintain an admirably high academic average.

Cyndi Roper, Missouri Gamma, was this year's Homecoming Queen at Drury College. Cyndi was nominated by the Student Union Board. Pi Phi's nominee, Kathy Anderson, was one of the three finalists.

Radio-TV Major Writes, Directs Children's Shows

by ANNE ROSE

Dallas Club Gala Is Spectacular Event

by SALLY FREEMAN MCKENZIE

Some day that woman in Barbara Walter's chair could be Illinois Epsilon's Joan M. Etten. The first impression that one gets from Joan is that she knows where she wants to go: to the top. And that she's going to get there.

Joan was graduated this spring of Northwestern's three year Bachelor of Arts program with a major in radiotelevision. That is not the beginning or the end though, for Joan has been involved in broadcasting as a career, and plans to continue her education at Medill School of Journalism Graduate School.

Joan talks quickly and easily about her involvement in broadcasting. She lists her successes matter-of-factly and without pretentions.

"I've held every major executive office at WNUR (Northwestern's radio station)," she begins. The list she reels off includes station manager and is colored with a few of the projects she initiated. One was a series of sixty-second news features, called "News Projects."

Joan's jump into the world of professional broadcasting came after one of the "Morning Shows," which featured soft rock and Joan, as disc jockey, reporting weather and Evanston/Chicago news. A woman heard the show and called to find out the name behind the voice. An offer followed to do voice-overs for Borg-Warner audio-visual projects and straight narration with Systems 80 machines, doing educational tapes and films.

Last summer Joan received a job offer in a similar manner when the director of telecommunications for WBEZ Chicago called a professor to get her name. She went to work on a children's broadcast, "Lollipops and Stuff," which won the Peabody Award in 1978. Joan now writes children's news, mixes, and directs the show. "'Lollipops and Stuff' is up for the award again this year," she adds.

Joan also is writing a soap opera called "Herbie the 63rd Street Brownstone." It will be used on WBEZ's children's talk show, Audio-Jam. On top of that, she is co-authoring a book on television and education with her father, Dr. John F. Etten.

At this moment, much of Joan's professional focus is aimed towards children and young teenagers. Last summer she taught classes in radio at the National High School Institute Program at Northwestern. She had been a "cherub" —one of the students—in the program in 1975. That was the first year she was a disc jockey at her high school, after she started a radio station with an interested German teacher and ending up with the school's Golden Mike Award.

Joan moves so quickly through what anyone would consider one conquest after another that the future seems to be with her every second. But her greatest ambition is to be a television personality. "I want to be more than a talking head. I want to be an investigative reporter . . ." her voice trails off. That is the future.

The members of the Dallas (Tex.) Alumnae Club decided to raise their aim this year and to shoot their arrows for bigger quarry. They got it, bagging a new kind of partnership in a major annual event: the Neiman-Marcus Fortnight Gala, held last October at the Fairmont Hotel in Dallas. The gala had the flavor of a Brazilian Carnival ball, complete with Sergio Mendes and his music, appropriate food, and Brazilian VIPs, serving as the prelude to NM's Fortnight celebration held each year. Proceeds of the gala, a whopping $36,500, were presented to the Dallas Parks and Recreation Department for a new Arboretum to be established in Dallas-a living, growing collection of trees and plants designed both for public enjoyment and for serious study. The check was presented in February at a gathering of "city fathers" hosted by Margaret Milam McDermott.

The Pi Phis were the organizational element for the gala, providing the volunteer leadership for the highly successful event. Serving as chairman and co-chairman were Carla Cocke Francis and Sistie Henderson Stollenwerck, Peggy Sloan Hill, assisted by Jean Gratigny White, was in charge of invitations and reservations (950 people attended). Ann Rife Cox and daughter, Chan Cox Mashek, were chairman and co-chairman of table sponsors. Anne Mewhinney Monning, assisted by the Junior Alumnae Day Group, transformed the ballroom into a Brazilian fairyland, a true work of creativity.

Two years ago current, former, and future officers of the large alumnae club got together to figure out how they could do something more for their community. It wasn't that they underrated past and present philanthropic involvementfinancial aid to the Dallas Heritage Society and the Caruth Rehabilitation Center, support for Pi Phi's national philanthropies, a Southern Methodist University scholarship program, and a scholarship for an active member to Arrowmont. They simply felt both able and obliged to take on a bigger assignment. This officers' meeting, a newspaper story about the city's commitment to an Arboretum, and pleasant dealings with Neiman-Marcus during past Fortnights all led to sessions with the Park Board and NM officials and eventually to the three-way partnership.

Stephanie Speicher, Indiana Epsilon, left, and Kim Wise, Indiana Zeta, right, are two of the thirty-three Princesses selected for the 1979 Indianapolis 500 Festival. Over 250 Indiana college women participated in the all-day competition in February when the finalists were chosen.

Memories Shared By Golden Arrow

by MARTHA MARTEN CEASE

Northern New Jersey Pi Phis have a treasured asset in Phyllis Hoskins Darlington, Maryland Alpha Golden Arrow, who shared her Pi Phi memories from Goucher College on Founders'

Phyllis had the happy privilege of being the delegate from Maryland Alpha to the national Convention in June, 1910. She lived only eighteen miles from the Convention site at Swarthmore, and her expenses were most reasonable by today's standardsthirty-two cents each way on the train and a hotel bill for three days of $64. It was at this Convention that Captain Hobson, who gained fame at Santiago Bay, Cuba, during the Spanish-American War, was the speaker who "set them on fire" about the handcraft potential of the people who lived in the Tennessee mountains. The idea had appealed to Grand Council, and the delegates shared this view by passing the resolution to establish Settlement School. Phyllis had an opportunity to teach academics at the school, but her family opposed the idea of her 'pioneering with those moonshiners.'

It was Maryland Alpha's good fortune to have May Keller (soon to become Grand President) on the Goucher faculty in the English department. The Pi Phis adored her and considered her "one of the girls" except in class where she was dignity itself. Phyllis remembers her as a brilliant woman, and a close friend who would invite the girls to Sunday dinner at her home in Baltimore.

Social life and rushing at Goucher were a bit different then—in some ways more elaborate and in some, quite restrictive. Being a small girl's school of 500 students, the girls did not have dates as we know them today. Young men would occasionally come to call on Friday nights in the large living room of the dormitory where they had sofas to seat two so that the girls and their dates would face one another. Those without dates would make many trips downstairs to see who was dating whom. It was necessary to have a chaperone for Saturday night parties at Annapolis unless one were a senior.

At the Senior Prom all would dress in their very best, the girls would receive corsages from their escorts, the underclassmen would gather on the great balcony to watch the event, and dance cards were given out upon which the young men would sign up for dances. Alas, no dancing was allowed at Goucher in 1911 even though the girls danced at home. When the music started, the couples merely promenaded around the room, never even holding hands!

Lest one thinks life at Goucher was like a nunnery, Phyllis assured us that they had a wonderful time and felt they actually made more life for themselves by putting on impromptu plays, skits, and parties than the students do today.

Rush lasted three weeks and began with teas in "cozy corners" which were areas in the dormitories at the end of the corridors given over to the various sororities. These areas were attractively decorated by the sororities.

Not all of the rushees lived in dorms as Goucher had many local students living at home in Baltimore. To accommodate these girls, members would call on them in the evenings and would meet and talk to the parents also.

Rush continued with a small reception followed by the final party which was a big house party on Chesapeake Bay where the girls took a boat to a lovely old inn for the weekend. The highlight was a formal dinner party, where the girls danced with each other!

After bids were given out and accepted, actives would go to the windows and wave to the girls in the next dorm to tell them how many pledges had been taken. After all this rushing, only six or seven girls were ever pledged at one time. Chapter size was around 25, and there were seven sororities on campus. Chapter rooms were in rented apartments in private houses not far from campus and chapter meetings were held on Saturday night! Initiations, followed by dinners, were held at the lovely homes of patronesses who were prominent Baltimore people and not necessarily Pi Phis.

Goucher had an outstanding student government which Phyllis represented as president her senior year. She was also president of her junior class.

After graduation from Goucher and taking special courses at Columbia, Phyllis taught history in West Chester, Penn. In 1915 she married a young man she had known in high school who had just graduated from Lafayette as a chemist. They moved to Westfield in 1922.

Always active in her church, St. Paul's Episcopal, she became very interested in the Church Mission of Help, formed during World War I to help poor girls who followed the soldiers to army camps and became unmarried mothers. She expanded her interest in this group to the state organization and became the board secretary. After the war she continued serving on the local board and helped guide it into its present roll as a community service organization, the Youth and Family Counselling Agency. She organized an auxiliary for the agency to provide continuing financial help.

Phyllis has been involved in many activities through the years which she modestly says are "routine." She is the mother of a daughter and a son and has six grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

Phyllis Darlington's spirit is best summarized by a quotation from Robert Browning which she shared, "Grow old along with me, the best is yet to be."

Enjoy Transfer's Music

by PAMELA SIRIANNE

Almost every afternoon the California Gammas delight to the music of Diane McElheny, as the downstairs fills with her beautiful melodies.

A junior majoring in music, Diane is extremely talented. Besides having a gorgeous voice, Diane is her own accompanist on the piano, which she has studied for eighteen years. She also plays the guitar and flute.

Diane transferred to USC from Indiana University where she was a member of the Indiana Beta chapter. She is pursuing a career in the performing arts, and so came to USC on the recommendation of her voice teacher in Indiana.

Diane has been involved for many years in developing her talents. She worked with Fred Waring and the Pennsylvanians, and as a member of the Indiana Hoosiers she performed in a show with Bob Hope and Della Reese. During the summer she sings in a Florida supper club.

Diane realizes that the pursuit of a career in the performance field is difficult because the competition is stiff, but she says, "If you have the drive and determination, you will do it."

The Cal Gamma Pi Phis are among Diane's most avid supporters.

Pi Beta Phi Heritage Is Proud Legacy

. . . at Missouri Alpha

by LISA CANTWELL

Elaine Reichman, Missouri Alpha, has grown up among angels, arrows, and the wine and blue. Following the arrows of her mother and grandmother, Elaine is the third generation to be initiated at Missouri Alpha.

Elaine's mother, Travis Daniel Reichman, pledged at the University of Missouri in 1956. Her grandmother, Agnes Hildebrand Leonard, was a 1923 pledge at Mizzou.

Before Elaine came to college in the fall of 1978, the family Pi Phis prepared her for rush week by telling her how that eventful week was for them.

Mrs. Reichman told Elaine about the busy week of rush parties, skits, and, of course, smiling faces. It seemed that rush in the 1950s was not much different from today.

That important week was much more casual for Elaine's grandmother. The sorority girls and the rushees did not sit sedately in the living room and chat, as they do now. Instead, they had rush picnics, danced together, and talked. It appears that rush week during the Roaring '20s was much livelier than it is today!

Although rush week customs may have changed, Elaine said she always wanted to be a Pi Phi because there's one thing you can count on staying the same—having lifelong friends among Pi Phis. When she was younger she was "impressed with the closeness of her mother's Pi Phi friends."

Elaine's grandmother has kept close ties with Pi Phi also as a past province president and through the Mothers' Club.

. . . at California Gamma

by SUE GORDON

A-one . . . and a-two . . . and a-three consecutive generations of Pi Phi women from the same family tree have become California Gammas.

Wendi Tilton, initiated in March, was preceded by her mother and her grandmother as members of Pi Beta Phi at the University of Southern California.

Patricia Badham Tilton, Wendi's mother, was an active at USC from 1957 to 1958. When she married, she never dreamed her daughter would become her Pi Phi sister. Mrs. Tilton now serves on the house corporation board for California Epsilon.

From 1927-28, Virginia Dabney Badham, Wendi's grandmother was a California Gamma. Mrs. Badham is now a Golden Arrow and Wendi was initiated with her grandmother's pin.

"I always saw the long years of continued friendships that my mother and grandmother had," Wendi said. "I remember when we went to Hawaii, a Pi Phi pledge sister of my mother's contacted us and invited us to dinner. The love between them was still there after all those years!"

Wendi has three younger sisters and she thinks they're all ''little angels.'' (HMMM . . . is there any meaning behind her statement?!)

... at Michigan Beta

by SUSAN KILGORE

Sara Van Winkle, Michigan Beta, is the seventh Michigan Beta in her family. The legacy began many years ago, in 1906, with Sara's grandmother, Annabel Kellogg Van Winkle. Annabel joined Pi Phi the same year the chapter moved into its present chapter house at 836 Tappan in Ann Arbor. Her two daughters, Annabel Van Winkle Adams and Elisabeth Van Winkle Person, also joined Pi Phi while studying at the university. Later Mrs. Van Winkle's granddaughter, Annabell Adams Muenter, joined Pi Phi, bringing the total to four.

Sara's other two Michigan Beta relatives are her sisters, Mary Van Winkle and Margaret Van Winkle Gajda, who were in the chapter in the 1960s.

Sara is a rising senior at the University of Michigan and plans to go to law school. She is active on campus and within the chapter, and is holding the office of V.P. Mental for a second term.

Sara's response to her Pi Phi roots? "I feel right at home here," she said, laughing.

... at Louisiana Alpha

by CAROL BECKER

The president of the sophomore class at Newcomb College, Mary Aton, tells her Louisiana Alpha chapter that, "My mother, and all my sisters, cousins, and aunts are active

It's quite a legacy. Two of Mary's sisters and her mother were Missouri Gamma initiates, while a third sister is a Missouri Alpha alum. Mary's two aunts are Pi Phis, as are two of her first cousins.

The Atons are a family of Pi Phi leaders. Mary's mother and sisters held a number of offices ranging from pledge class president (Ann Aton Mellers, 1968; Julie Aton Leeth, 1971) to chapter president (Julie, in 1972). Mary continued the tradition of scholarship and leadership, since she is Louisiana Alpha's Vice President of Mental Advancement. Moreover, Mary participates in all aspects of campus life. Besides being sophomore class president, she is a Newcomb Big Sister and a member of the Sophomore Honorary Society. She serves on Tulane University's Lyceum and Recreation committee, and is a staff writer for both the Tulane newspaper and yearbook.

Even Mary's father is caught up in the Pi Phi spirit. Naturally Mr. Aton could not attend Mary's initiation with her mother and three sisters, so he sent her a letter of congratulations on "a job well done."

Surveys Field; Becomes Surveyor

by Judith Perrill Houlgate

The Northern Virginia Alumnae Club and Pennsylvania Epsilon have good reason to be proud of Anne Davenport Geiger. She is the civil engineer for the town of Herndon, a rapidly growing town in Fairfax County, Virginia, outside of Washington, D.C.

A 1976 graduate of Penn State, Anne happened to be visiting a friend one weekend when an ad for the job appeared in the Washington Post. She thought the job sounded interesting, sent in her resume, was interviewed, and close to a week later was hired. An environmental engineering major in college, Anne is well qualified to handle her duties of planning reviews of all new subdivisions and site plans, inspecting these jobs when ready (supervising two technicians on this), doing survey work for the town, and handling design and bidding of town projects.

This is Anne's first job since college and she loves the work and especially the town of Herndon. Coming from New Jersey, she finds the rather rural and quaint atmosphere of Herndon a delight. Anne's office, as are many of the town offices, is presently located in the old train depot, a real "touch of history" dating back to 1857 when Herndon and Alexandria were first linked by train. Since then Herndon has grown from a town of four houses to a population of more than 11,000. The historic depot is soon to become a museum and Anne and her fellow workers will move to a nearby building.

Anne hopes eventually to get into "hands on" engineering work where she can do more actual field work boots, hard hat, and right there on the job. Anne has found a surprising lack of any discrimination to her being a "lady engineer"—all seem to find her position most credible.

In addition to her busy job, a new home and husband (Anne was married in June 1978 to her college sweetheart, Roy Geiger), Anne is one of the founding members of the Junior Alum group in the area and serves both the Junior and the Senior clubs as Panhellenic delegate and a member of the ACRIC committee.

Is Crowned Queen Of Fishing Rodeo

by LYNN BEALMEAR

Cindy Gedling, 1977 Indiana Zeta graduate, was recently crowned Alabama's Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo Queen. During her reign as queen, she traveled throughout Florida, Mississippi, and Alabama, with highlights of her travels including an audience with Alabama Governor George Wallace and speaking to both the Alabama House of Representatives and the Senate.

Cindy also appeared on several television shows, spoke on radio talk shows, and made several commercials for the special event.

The Rodeo attracts approximately 22,000 people for the weekend event, coming from all over the United States and Canada. Cindy reigned over the three day event at Dauphin Island, Ala., and was the official hostess for those VIPs in attendance.

The city of Mobile had a very special way of thanking Cindy for the outstanding job she did. They presented her with the city's highest award of merit and citizenship—the M.O. Beale

Horsewoman Is World Champion

by KIM SCHIESSER

It is hard enough for anyone to become a World Champion once, but when a person does it twice in one year, it is amazing. North Carolina Beta's Kate Williams did not accomplish this feat by herself, however; she had help from her two horses, Barbados Exit and Big Country.

Kate has been riding and showing for eleven years, and she has won numerous awards including National Champion. This past year she won the Amateur World Championships for both 3-gaited and 5-gaited Saddle Horses. Kate has owned and trained Barbados Exit, her 3-gaited horse, for three years, while she has had Big

Chapter Has Special Angel

by KAREN PIERCE

During the past year Connecticut Alpha was blessed with the presence of a very special Pi Phi angel. Norma Paul McCormick has the qualities that embody the meaning of

In the spring of 1978, Mrs. McCormick made her presence known to Connecticut Alpha. She had learned about the chapter through her affiliation with the Manchester Alumnae Club. Mrs. McCormick is an Iowa Gamma Pi Phi and has been in the area only in recent years. But she felt the bond of sisterhood reach out, and she responded.

Mrs. McCormick donated two large sums of money to the chapter. Of course everyone was thrilled and, after some discussion, the chapter decided to spend the money on needed improvements in the chapter house.

The girls first decided to have the house exterior painted and the kitchen re-carpeted. Soon the Pi Phi kitchen had beautiful, functional carpeting on its floor. Everyone was impressed!

Then the chapter realized that the drapes in the living room needed replacing, so alums used their good judgement and chose lovely cream-colored drapes. The chapter and all who visited were overjoyed!

A new shower curtain and drapes were needed for the bathroom, so a creative alum made that her responsibility. Matching towels were found by another clever alum and it was like a new bathroom. Along with the washer and dryer donated by the Southern Fairfield Club, the whole house was like new.

The sisters are so grateful for Mrs. McCormick's gift and kind concern for the chapter. Her generosity is demonstrated to the sisters and those who visit each time the improvements are seen. Her Pi Phi love will live on in the Connecticut Alpha house and in the hearts of all those who know her.

New York Alpha Comes Thru

by FRAN DESIMONE

New York Alpha's chapter house, at 210 Walnut Place in Syracuse, has seen a complete change in Pi Phi sisterhood over the past year. At the beginning of September, eight sisters, including two December graduates and four seniors, comprised the entire chapter. Even with TGC Barb Lacke's help and open house party aid from the Beta Province chapters, there seemed to be little hope for the chapter's survival.

But the tide changed. An intensive open bidding effort by the sisters, the two formal pledges, and the Resident Advisor, Anne Vitullo, a New York Delta from Cornell, gave the chapter a strong core for rebuilding. A January initiation paved the way to the installation of a young but enthusiastic executive council. Spring open bidding brought seven more

The crabapple in front of the house emerged from the snow covered lawn and showed promise of gorgeous bloom in the spring. Like the sisterhood of 210 Walnut Place, its leaves

Alumnae Initiate Is Author, Cook, Granny

by CONNIE CLEM

Becoming a Pi Phi is a special time for anyone, and an initiation can be even more special when one of the initiates is a grandmother! Among those initiated at South Dakota Alpha last February was Lady Rae Eastland, a grandmother from Martin, S.D., and a woman with a wide range of interests through which she exemplifies Pi Phis all over.

Originally from a small town in Texas, Lady Rae was a student at Baylor University, and a member of Alpha Omega, a campus sorority. Since graduating in 1926, she has lived in many places, settling in Martin recently to be nearer her grandchildren. The Alpha Omegas, in the meantime, applied for admission to Pi Beta Phi, and received full status in 1977, as Texas Zeta. Deciding she would join the other AO alums as a Pi Phi, Lady Rae was directed to South Dakota Alpha, where the idea was enthusiastically received. She and the chapter discussed the details in the correspondence that followed.

Upon her arrival February second, Mrs. Eastland became acquainted with the girls before the scheduled events began. Her formal pledging took place just before dinner, after which followed the depinning ceremony, conducted by chapter president Linda Darr. Lady Rae then joined the other "neophytes" for the evening's subsequent events. In honor of her initiation, Lady Rae received many congratulatory messages from her new sisters, or "granddaughters," as she refers to them. After her recognition at the chapter's initiation breakfast, she surprised the girls in turn by presenting the house with a thick, crocheted afghan which she made herself. It has been a welcome addition to the basement study!

Lady Rae has been a Pi Phi in all but name for years, being involved in community groups and working for personal satisfaction in many areas. While working as a legal secretary for a state's attorney, she has compiled two pioneer-day cookbooks. The Cornbread Trail and Once on a Time are both parts of a series entitled Little Skillet on the Big Skillet's Nail. Lady Rae is also active in DAR and recently took part in a production honoring Martha Washington. She has been teaching, too, at the area's Community Learning Center, primarily a college for Indians. Pi Phis everywhere may be proud of such an accomplished new member!

Lady Rae kept busy during her stay at South Dakota Alpha, and augmented her stay by visiting with her grandson, Pat, a USD student. The girls in the house, she says, are the only people she knows that never asked if "Lady Rae" were her real name (it is!), and adds that she will always cherish the memories of her days with them. So, too, will her adoptive granddaughters, who were glad to have played their part in the addition of such a special woman to Pi Phi's bonds of friendship.

awakened from the dead of winter and it stands as a monument to the faith which took the chapter through that long winter and onto the promise of a beautiful spring.

Eight North Dakota Alphas boogled to "Grease Lightning" and took third place in a university talent show. Dancing their way into the judges' hearts were Jan Cecil, DeAnna Olsen, Jody Krause, Gretchen Flackoy, Cindy Nordquist, Merry Johnson, Vicki Klipfel, and Jaci Buran.

Arrowmont Shares In Marathon Proceeds

by MARY ANN MCCLURE

Alabama Gamma and Sigma Chi held their fourth annual dance marathon in January, under the leadership of Suzanne Williams. Auburn University students were invited to dance at the successful event which raised $1,000, shared by Arrowmont and the Easter Seal Society.

Members worked hard to publicize the marathon with T-shirts, posters, an I signs.

The 28-hour marathon featured a laser light show, special dance contests, and professional dance shows during the ten minute breaks. Seven couples danced the entire period. Prizes donated included TV sets, blenders, luggage, and clock radios.

Easter Seal poster child, Tony Morgan, was a special visitor.

Attend Communications Meet

Two Ohio Alpha actives, Laura Balishin and Mary DeNiro, both journalism majors, spent four days in Chicago attending the National Women in Communications convention which took place in February.

The Pi Phis met with at least fifty professional women journalists to learn about careers, resumés, and professional internships in the field of journalism.

Highlight of the trip was the "Monday Morning on the Job"—a morning spent at the medium of choice. Laura experienced a morning at the Chicago Magazine, with the advertising production assistant and staff, while Mary spent a worthwhile morning at Standard Oil, learning about their public relations department.

The girls learned much about their fields and they met many other college women who share the same interests.

Trip Instills Pride

by Julie Herron

Georgia Alpha Pi Phis returned to Athens in full force after Christmas break, but not for long. On January 12, just one week after winter quarter classes had begun, pledges and sisters boarded a bus bound for Gatlinburg, Tenn. The pledges were naturally excited at the prospect of seeing Arrowmont for the first time, but it was also a first for many of the sisters. The bus ride was long, but it gave them a chance to get to know each other a little better and the time passed quickly. They rolled into town around 9:30 Friday night, and all thirty-six stormed the Red Barn where they were to stay.

Gatlinburg was all they had hoped for, with a few special surprises thrown into the bargain. The first of these was "Sis" Mullis, chairman of the Board of Governors, and a very special friend of Georgia Alpha. She had driven to Arrowmont for a meeting with the school's officials. The second surprise came at 6:30 Saturday morning when word filtered down the mountain that the ski slopes had snow! About half the group piled back on the bus and were off to Ober Gatlinburg ski resort. Those who stayed behind spent the day in town shopping and exploring and even venturing up the mountain to cheer on the skiers.

Later that afternoon, Mrs. Riddle, Administrator of Arrowmont and Arrowcraft, took the chapter on a tour of the school. Although they had learned the history of Arrowmont as pledges, nothing could beat actually being there. All the left-over excitement from skiing died down and was replaced by a sense of awe—awe at the beauty of the school itself, and awe at what it represents. Mrs. Riddle helped the young women realize that Arrowmont is the realization of a dream for all Pi Phis everywhere.

It was a somewhat subdued group of girls who left Gatlinburg the next morning and headed for home. They took with them memories of skiing, souvenirs from Arrowmont, new friendships, and a sense of pride in their organization—pride that only Pi Phis can share.

Cindy Penniman, left, was captain of SMU's womens' swim team that placed third in the Southwest Conference and fourteenth nationally. Fellow Texas Beta swimmer Jenny Campbell, right, qualified for the National AIAW swim meet in March. She swam in the 800 free relay which placed tenth, qualifying the team for the Coaches' Association All-America.

Earns Award As Volunteer

by SUE GIBSON

California Delta Shari Munson recently won the Youth Hourglass award given by the Hilltoppers Auxiliary, Assistance League of Southern California. The league is supportive of the Volunteer Bureau of the San Fernando Valley, an agency maintaining files of volunteer needs throughout the valley area.

Shari, a rising sophomore at UCLA, is the twenty-third recipient of the award. Pi Phi mom, Anne Munson, is a former Hourglass awardee. Shari's continual service to her community includes five years as senior chairman of the Valley Deb Assesteens, Candy Striper representative at the Tarzana Medical Center, volunteering at the Hollywood Bowl, musical entertainment for the Woodland Park Retirement Center, providing music therapy for disturbed girls at Camarillo State Mental Hospital, and more!

Shari was one of twenty-five freshman women serving as Bruin Belles, the official hostesses for UCLA, selected from 175 applicants. In May, 1978, she was awarded the Outstanding Service Award from the Valley Deb Assisteens for her continual service to her community.

Shari is serving as ARROW Correspondent for her chapter.

Charissa Berkshire, Nevada Alpha, is the only woman trainer at the University of Nevada, Reno. Trainers tape athletes to provice additional support to parts of the body under stress, and help treat injuries occurring on the playing field. Charissa worked mainly with the football team, but she also teaches acrobatics

N.Y.C. Panhel To Award Two Scholarships

New York City Panhellenic announces the continuation of scholarship program which it has sponsored for many years. There will be two awards of $400 each available for the school year 1979-80.

These cash awards will be given to fraternity women who wish to pursue graduate studies in the New York City Metropolitan area. Recipients must attend a school located within a 50mile radius of New York City which offers an accredited graduate program in the student's selected field.

In the past, these scholarships have assisted many fine women working for advanced degrees. In some instances the awards have been the deciding factor in enabling the student to proceed with her graduate work. It is this sort of experience that inspires New York City Panhellenic to strive for the continuation of this program.

Applications are available to all interested fraternity women and the completed applications must be received by August 1, 1979. Inquiries should be made to the Scholarship Chairman, Miss Marjorie W. Schleher, 57 Adams Street, Garden City, N.Y., 11530.

Round Robin Is 33, Still Flying

by ANNE TILTON STEVENS

Graduation, for the Massachusetts Betas of the class of '46, was the start of something special-a round robin letter which has held us together as nothing else could after we dispersed to the four winds that June.

It was conceived in high enthusiasm and hatched in great expectationsand perhaps a slight overdose of regimentation. The fledgling had to learn for himself what was best for him, and sadly, a couple of his mommas were lost in the process. But the chick thrived despite the unlucky number of thirteen surviving mommas. Because of him, we have kept up with one another for nearly thirty-three years, and have met at regular class reunions and at our own special ones from time to time. We have shared careers, growing families, travel experiences, and one another's losses and tribulations, successes and honors. Growing older, we now share our arthritic twinges and exciting retirement plans. The warmth of our Pi Phi college years endures in Our Robin.

He has survived more than a quarter million miles of travel and also a twoyear layover in someone's desk! He travels regularly (most of the time) from northern Vermont to Georgia, and from Boston to San Francisco, and once flew an extra 20,000-mile loop to Taipei! His latest round crossed a time barrier as well. It contained a bonus letter from a Pi Phi '45, updating us on all our sisters graduating the year before us-a real joy, since the college reunions are scheduled strictly by class year, and thus we don't get to see those who were sophomores or seniors when we were juniors.

I suppose we were getting a little smug. But then we heard of another such Robin enduring from 1911! A sixty-eight-year-old. No fledgling he. And not even a Pi Phi. Well! Then we smoothed our ruffled feathers and reflected: think of all the fun we still have ahead of us. Why, we're just getting started on this winter migration thing!

Model Has Interesting Career

by Susie Hutcheson

Texas Alpha had a wonderful pledge class this year, full of surprises. One of the most interesting surprises was 18year-old Kim Hanson.

Kim is from San Antonio and has been modeling since she was three. She made many commercials and advertisements as a child and throughout her high school years. During high school she also served on a department store's Teen Board which gave her experience in informal modeling in tea rooms, fashion shows, and club meetings.

Since reaching Austin she has not slowed down. She has done several commercials for local merchants and restaurants. Last summer she was a contestant in the Miss Texas Universe Pageant, an exciting experience for her. Following the pageant, she and her mother, a fashion coordinator, went to the New York market where she was able to view the workings of the clothing industry. From New York she flew to Florida where she posed for a boat company's advertising layout.

That company was so impressed with her work that they asked her to go to the Chicago Boat Show as one of their representatives.

Kim is a communications major interested in advertising agency work. She also plans to continue with her dancing, as she danced with the San Antonio Ballet Company for six years.

Blizzard Cools Monmouth Trip

by KAREN FISCHER

Iowa Alpha's plans went awry last January when they had planned a trip to Monmouth to visit Holt House and give their pledges a historical and memorable trip. Their first stop after leaving Iowa Wesleyan was at treasurer Susan Stuelke's house for an old fashioned Cooky-Shine and a good night's rest.

One night turned into three, however, because of a blizzard that hit Iowa. Fortunately the Stuelke's freezer was well stocked and they were able to provide nineteen girls and one mother with enough to eat.

The girls were disappointed that they couldn't continue on to Monmouth, but they spent their time playing pool, learning new disco dancing, and watching TV. As close as they were, the sisters learned more about each other, strengthening their bonds of friendship.

Pi Phis Compete On Basketball Court

by CINDY GILLEN

When Pi Phis compete against each other, it is always a battle to finish first. This was shown when Monmouth College and Knox College got together for women's basketball. In the two regular season games between the schools, five Pi Phis contributed a total of 91 out of 235 points scored. In the first game, four Pi Phis played: three for Illinois Alpha and one for Beta Delta. All four scored in double figures and averaged 11.7 rebounds in the contest. The Beta Deltas helped their team win both games by a total of nine points.

The best game for the Alpha Angels showed freshman Cindy Gillen with 21 points, while sophomores Conny Davinroy and Kim Kelly followed closely behind with 16 and 13 respectively, a total of 50 out of 76 points scored. The three also combined for 15 assists, 38 rebounds, 12 steals, and 8 fouls.

Annual Carnival Staged For Kids

Each year on the campus at Indiana-Purdue Universities at Fort Wayne, the Student Government stages a carnival for the children of the West Central Neighborhood in Fort Wayne. Each organization on campus sponsors a booth for the children. The children pay a penny to play the games and they receive candy and small tokens or toys at the booths.

This year Indiana Eta used the theme "The Land of Oz" for their booth. With donations of small items from local businesses, they were able to provide nice little toys and candy for the children that day. A cake walk, ring toss, and fish pond added to activities for the children. Chapter members dressed as Munchkins and Vicki Azar was Dorothy. The outfits were wild and the children loved them. A vellow brick road was made by dying sheets yellow and drawing black lines on them. The road led to the backdrop of a large castle with Pi Beta Phi written across the entranceway.

After the children had gone, awards were given to the most outstanding booths and Pi Phi was judged the Most Creative.

Sue Ann Burchette, Kentucky Beta, was a finalist in the Miss Kentucky Universe Pageant for 1978-79. She had been named Miss Congeniality in the 1977-78 pageant.

Alumnae Set Example Of Good Sisterhood

Connecticut Alpha has been pleased and proud to have the support of alumnae clubs in their area, especially in the last year. Everyone has worked hard and shown the actives what sisterhood really is.

In September, members of the Hartford A.C. gathered with the actives for the annual rush workshop. Enthusiasm and sharing ideas made the weekend very special. With the creative touches, promises of delicious specialties for rush refreshments, and a great amount of brain power, the girls

Many new projects were created, as well as rejuvenating older, successful ones. One of the latter was the making of IP IPHs—angel pin-ups which were placed on the walls of the house and later dorm room doors. (IP IPH is PI PHI spelled backwards—almost!) Each IP IPH had a sister's name on it and they were so successful that the chapter used them again in spring rush.

The Southern Fairfield A.C. has become more active lately, much to Connecticut Alpha's delight. They too have great ideas and a willingness to help and work. Last spring they donated money for a much-needed washer and dryer, and visited the house several times to learn about the chapter and its needs. Sisters were pleased to see several of the club mem-

The Manchester A.C. has been busy for the chapter also. They made most of the decorations and some of the refreshments for rush. Adorable snowman nametags, with wine and silver blue hats and scarves, and lovely candle favors were among their many contributions. Their work certainly eased

a heavy burden from chapter shoulders!

bers at an initiation banquet in January.

It has been a great year for Connecticut Alpha and their alums. All have gained friendships, insights into other aspects of Pi Phi life, and a deeper meaning of sisterhood that will never be forgotten. The links of the chain have been strengthened in Connecticut.

"Singing Valentines" Is Project For Arrowmont

Manhattan, Kan., was invaded by some strange looking creatures on the nights of February 12, 13, and 14. Dressed in red and white with hearts on their faces, the creatures sang and danced for people in homes, dorms, fraternities, and sororities.

They were the 1979 version of Kansas Beta's "Singing Valentines."

This is an annual project to raise money for Arrowmont. The girls set up a booth in the Union to sell the valentines. Customers had a choice of five songs, each accompanied by a dance, that could be ordered to be performed for their special valentines. On the evenings of the 12, 13, and 14, the girls were divided into groups and, dressed in crazy red and white costumes, danced their way into the hearts of many to wish them a "Happy Valentine Day."

Tale Of A Transfer

by JEANNE GODE

Missouri Beta—located at Washington University in St. Louis, a small, private institution plagued with a predominantly anti-Greek attitude on the part of the students. Missouri Beta—a dynamic chapter that is helping the Panhellenic Council overcome this negative attitude and to dispel the stereotype of "Suzy Sorority." Missouri Beta—the chapter of my pledging and initiation, where my affection for Pi Phi began. In that dark room lit by candles, I knew as I pledged that Pi Phi was something special, but in what ways and to what extent I had no idea. Through my pledgeship and initiation, I soon became acquainted with many beneficial aspects of Pi Phi, but little did I know that there was more to come.

Transferring to another university can be traumatic, especially after developing the close friendships that result from membership in a Pi Phi chapter. Yet, for academic purposes, I was obliged to leave Missouri Beta, and as I left I was sure that I would never again find anything exactly like it.

Well, I did find something, very different, but just as good as Missouri Beta—Iowa Zeta at the University of Iowa. I dreaded becoming a number in a computer at a big state school. I feared getting lost in the crowd. But once again I witnessed Pi Phi sisterhood as the girls of Iowa Zeta opened their home and hearts to me. Instead of feeling like a lonely fish out of water, I was suddenly surrounded by another group of sisters, just as willing to share their experiences and themselves as Missouri Beta.

Now, after only four months, I feel a part of Iowa Zeta, and because they have entrusted me with leadership responsibilities, I hope that I can give back to Iowa Zeta at least a part of the "special something" that they offered to me.

Five of the eight basketball cheerleading squad members at Simpson College are Iowa Beta Pi Phis. Front: Tami Miller and Ret Ohnemus. Back: Julie Miller, Martha Houser and Rondelle Klimowski. The latter three were also cheerleaders for the football team last fall and Julie was captain of both squads.

Intern Programs Aid Career Plans

The University of Michigan sponsors two unique programs to help liberal arts undergraduates find jobs after graduation. Known as the Public Service Intern Program and the Summer Business Intern Program, the two groups seek to place liberal arts majors in the business world for ten week periods during the summer. Working with the Career Planning and Placement Office of the university, the programs scout out possible internships with companies in Detroit, New York, Chicago, and Washington. This year the program expanded to include some overseas internships. The program is run by students who participated in the program the previous year, with the help of Career Planning and Placement.

Several hundred students apply initially to the programs each year. Out of these, about one hundred are selected for personal interviews and a final forty are selected. This year Michigan Beta has three participants, Anne Dohrs, Mary Fitzgerald, and Wanda Vorters.

In the past, several Michigan Betas have participated in the program and their summer internships led to a full-time job after graduation, often a tough search for liberal arts undergraduates. The programs are unique because they not only help interns decide if they like a certain job, but they teach the student how to look for a job.

Illinois Epsilons hold two out of seven Panhellenic Association offices at Northwestern. Christine Feldt, left, heads Public Affairs, and Becky Jo Galovich, right, charges Research and Evaluation. Also involved in Panhel is Lisa Dietrich, president of Junior Panhellenic.

Laurie Engle, left, hugs her new little sister, Katie Miller, after a fun-filled, hilarious hunt through the Texas Beta house. The cute matching tee-shirts and visors were made by Big Sis Laurie—watch out Calvin Klein!!

Social Week Warms Spirits

by JULIE ROSNER

Being buried under eighty inches of snow last winter was enough to dampen the spirits of many Illinois Epsilon Pi Phis at Northwestern. Although the eighty inches wasn't all dumped at once, it seemed that way at times. It's easy for spirits to become low when temperatures outside become even lower, So, to perk up spirits, social chairman Mindy Post set forth a plan of operation dubbed "social week."

Social week officially began January 16 with room inspection. Mindy, Leslie Bender, and Pam Fall searched rooms for such items as caviar and designer clothes. Points were given for each item found and signs, such as "social climber," were posted on each door according to the number of points accumulated.

An exchange with Fiji was set for Wednesday night, and a mysterious "Debutante Dinner" was scheduled for Thursday night. All were instructed that white gloves were required for the latter. As each girl entered the room, she was given a corsage made of tissue. As the meal ended, paper and pencils were distributed so that they could take an Emily Post test of etiquette.

Social week ended with Friday night's candlelight dinner to which guests were invited. Awards were given for the following categories: Miss Popularity Award to Sheryl Hodges for receiving the most male callers and telephone calls; Miss Fashion Plate Award to Joan Etten for having the most designer clothes; Miss Etiquette Award to Lori Rhodes for scoring highest on the Emily Post test; and the Love Is A Many Splendored Thing Award to Sue Graese for getting the latest candle.

Sheila Barber, Mississippi Alpha, was chosen fourth runner-up out of thirty-six contestants in the Miss Southern Pageant in January. Sheila performed a ballet dance from the classic "Swan Lake." The Miss Southern Pageant is a preliminary to the Miss Mississippi Pageant.

Electricity Gone, They Carry On!

by LAUREL SHULTZ

"It was the dead of winter—in the middle of rush and Pi Beta Phi seemed left in the dark. No lights would turn on, the heat was off, no electricity to be found—not even a spark."

The night before the third round of parties during Virginia's January rush, a great ice storm hit Charlottes-ville, coating trees and electric lines with sparkling ice, and leaving Virginia Epsilon Pi Phis without electric power—no hot baths, no lights, no heat! The lights went out at 11 o'clock Saturday night and didn't come back on until 3 o'clock Monday morning. But, of course, rush had to go on!

The girls rushed by candlelight, and a fire in the fireplace (which smoked terribly throughout one skit and party creating 'atmosphere') kept everyone from freezing. The Pi Phis' togetherness and inner warmth must have shown through brightly, keeping both actives' and rushees' teeth from chattering.

However, the best was yet to come: membership selection by candlelight! Every candle and match in the house was in full flame as the fireplace began smoking so badly that actives had to leave the living room and squeeze into the much smaller dining room—all in the dark. The session finished just as the last three candles burned out. Pi Phi had succeeded again, despite all obstacles, and grew even closer from the experience.

The 400 rushees at this round were impressed also, and provided Virginia Epsilon with a pledge class of thirty of the best girls ever.

Have Tenth Reunion

by GAYLE MCCULLOUGH MEEK

Homecoming in November, 1978, brought thirteen Illinois Zeta Pi Phis back to the Champaign-Urbana campus for a fun-filled reunion weekend. For many of the Pi Phis, it not only was their first visit back to 1005 So. Wright Street since leaving the campus in 1968, but also their first reunion with the sisters of the wine and silver blue in ten years.

In 74 degree weather, the women and their husbands watched the Fighting Illini get trounced by Big Ten rival, Michigan State. After the game, a journey to 1005 So. Wright was in store. The house looked grand—Pi Phi and Pi Kappa Alpha had won the Presidential Award for the best theme in house decorations. Two Pi Phis were in the Homecoming Court.

Inside the alumnae found a friendly group of actives who welcomed them back. What fun they had reminiscing as they walked through the "dormer," the upstairs halls, and the study nook. It seemed impossible ten years had gone by!

That evening the group socialized at the Urbana Country Club with dinner and dancing. It was refreshing to see how super everyone looked and to realize that the bonds of sisterhood remained ever true.

Initiate Special Alum

Oklahoma Beta was part of a very special initiation in the spring. The chapter received a letter from Ernestine Ryan Henry requesting that she be initiated. She had been a member of the local sorority, Alpha Omega, at Baylor, before it became Texas Zeta. In order to be an active alumna, Ernestine had to be initiated into Pi Beta Phi.

On February 24, Oklahoma Beta initiated Ernestine Henry with their pledge class. Experiencing her initiation was very special and meaningful to the girls of Oklahoma Beta.

Greek Feast Is Panhellenic Fun

by ELLEN ENGLEBRECHT

Early in March the Panhellenic committee at Hillsdale College added a new activity to its agenda. An allsorority dinner included all members of the three groups on campus. Kappa Kappa Gamma and Chi Omega, together with Michigan Alpha Pi Phis, joined in the fun at a local pizza restaurant. For entertainment the restaurant provided backgammon sets and a dart board.

This feast came at an especially opportune time, with Greek Week just weeks away. The girls enjoyed singing and cheering, and although the Pi Phis weren't the biggest group, they made a strong effort at being the most enthusiastic.

This get-together served to pull the Greek houses together. Because of the overwhelming success of the event, Panhel plans to sponsor more of these gatherings.

Four Gymnasts On Varsity "A" Team

Four New York Delta Pi Phis are on the Cornell Women's Varsity "A" Gymnastics team.

Kathleen Cote was an All-Ivy gymnast again this year. In 1978 she was the All-Around Ivy League Champion, while in 1979 she placed fourth in the All-Around Competition. Kathleen was voted the woman Athlete of the Month at Cornell in February.

Marcia Geller also competed for the team. Barb O'Mara was vaulting specialist and runs cross-country at Cornell. Rounding out the Varsity team was Ann Farnsworth as a beam specialist and a national competitor in modern rhythmics.

Pi Phi boasts Laura Dake on the Varsity "B" team which includes three of New York Delta's pledges—Donna Regii, Glynnis Stone, and Amy Murphy. A former sister, Renee Hack, competed nationally in 1977 and is now competing for Brigham Young University.

Hosts N.E. Regional Panhel Conclave

by KIM NAVIAUX

On March 9, 10, and 11, the University of Maine at Orono hosted this year's Northeastern Regional Panhellenic Conference. Invitations were extended to all Panhellenic Councils in New England and New York to send any interested members from their sororities to the Conference. The theme focused on Panhellenic as a separate yet unified sisterhood.

At U.M.O., we feel that the "sisterhood" theme is of particular importance due to the fact that a strong Panhellenic is only as strong as its members. Our experiences are different from most in that our members live in dormitories and off-campus. Because we have no houses, many Panhel members, representing different sororities, live together. The U.M.O. Panhellenic Association was eager to share with others our lifestyles and learn more about theirs. For these reasons, arrangements were made to accommodate the women attending the Conference in the dormitory rooms of the fraternity women at the University.

Designed to meet the needs of the schools responding to the initial letters of inquiry, the Conference gave participants the opportunity to attend five workshops held in the sorority rooms during the one and a half day working session. The workshops covered a range of Greek-related topics, including Effective Leadership and Skill Identification; Sorority Scholarship; Time Management; Alumnae and Sorority; Public Relations; Committee Works, Peaks and Pits; Pledge Programs; Motivation; Greeks and Non-Greeks; Panhellenic and Sisterhood.

Four Maine Alphas were members of the seven member conference committee. Kris Schott, a sophomore new initiate, was treasurer; her roommate, Martha McWilliams, was the committee's corresponding secretary; Jo-Anna Totman was co-chairman of public relations; and Kim Naviaux was program co-chairman. Due in great part to the devotion and energy of these four women, a successful and enlightening weekend was experienced. Conference participants were able to develop a deeper understanding and appreciation for national Panhellenic and the problems and assets of their own chapters, as well as those of others.

The University of Maine is composing a pamphlet of helpful hints for organizing a conference. This information will be available to all future NRPC hosts.

Janice Worthington, left, and Tracy Weder, right, Oklahoma Betas, are two of the Top Ten Seniors of the College of Business Administration of Oklahoma State University.

Ski Team Ranks

Lynette Andrews, Colorado Alpha, is a member of the University of Colorado cross country ski team which took second place in the nation last winter.

Regionals were held in Salt Lake City where Lynette qualified for nationals, coming in eighth out of thirty participants who competed on a seven-and-ahalf kilometer course. Lynette's relay team overwhelmed its competitors by five minutes, sweeping first place.

Nationals were held in Marquette, Mich. There Lynette was thirtieth out of seventy women, coming in only two minutes behind the first place winner.

VIRGINIA AYERS WOODY (Mrs. G. R.) initiated into Virginia Gamma September, 1925; died December, 1978.

Alabama Beta's Parents' Day was especially fun for Peg Ward Daniel, Indiana Epsilon. Her daughter, Elizabeth, left, is an Alabama Beta affiliate after being initiated into Mississippi Beta. Her second daughter, Eleanor, right, is an Alabama Beta initiate. Peg herself was a graduate counselor at the new Tennessee Gamma chapter in 1948-49.

Oregon Gamma is never lacking in spirit and part of it has spread out into the Willamette University community. Leslie Church is the school mascot "Barnie Bearcat" and Marcie Prout is a member of the fall rally squad.

California Zeta, U.C. Santa Barbara Cara Sale was announced as the 1979-80 Sweetheart of Sigma Chi at the Sweetheart Ball in March. This is the third year in a row that a California Zeta has been chosen for this honor. Ricki Vinyard was the 1978-79 Sweetheart and Susan Parkhurst held the title during 1977-78.

These ten lowa Beta women pulled together to win the intramural women's basketball championship at Simpson College. Girls with no basketball experience joined girls with high school basketball experience to play many tough games in the eight team tournament.

Ann McGee, Virginia Epsilon, is a varsity cheerleader at the University of Virginia. Her pep and personality do much to cheer on the university teams.

Indiana Epsilons Cathy Lyall, left, and Nancy Bickell spent first semester last year in the working world of Philadelphia. Through an Urban Studies program at DePauw, Cathy worked with the Hall-Mercer Community Mental Health and Mental Retardation Center of Pennsylvania Hospital. Nancy was production assistant for an interview show at KOIW-TV.

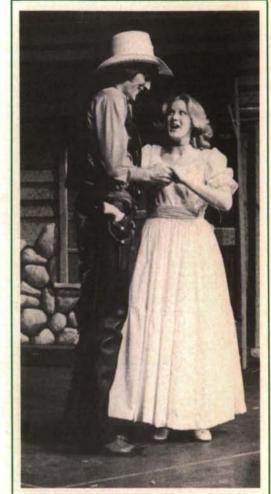

Kathy Bruce, Indiana Zeta, poses as Miss April for the 1978-79 Phi Sigma Epsilon Calendar at Ball State. This was a repeat appearance for Kathy, since she was Miss May in last year's calendar.

Kristen Lombard, a New York Alpha initiate, was surprised by her mom, Sally Cronk Lombard, Virginia Gamma, who had flown to Syracuse for her daughter's initiation. Sally, along with the eight initiates, joined sisters and alumnae for a post-initiation banquet.

In a recent stage production of the musical "Oklahoma," performed at Drury College, Missouri Gamma Janet Harvey starred in the lead role of Laurie. Two other Pi Phis, Renee Baum and Julie Marrs, were dancers in the production, and three Pi Phis, Tina Carter, Teresa Moore, and Tijuana Julian, played in the orchestra.

Tennessee Deltas worked with Phi Gamma Delta to build the second place winner in Memphis State University's Homecoming yard display contest in November.

Illinois Theta's Pi Phi Raiders serenade fraternity houses at 3 a.m. every week, donning their pajamas and taking doughnuts to their sleepy friends.

Iowa Beta, Simpson College Pi Phis have been heavily involved in Student Government this year. Kim Johnson was president of the Student Senate, Janet Shandley was chairman of the College Activities Board, and Daphne Henderson was elected the Senior Class Representative by her classmates.

Ohio Zetas are still congratulating Karen Peterson, Miss Miami 1979. Karen performed a classic ballet number in a white costume which she made herself. She competed against nine other semi-finalists.

Jody Thornhill, left, and Barbara Hunt, Texas Alphas, can smile even at 6 a.m.! Big sisters kidnapped the pledges on a rainy morning and took them to breakfast at a local restaurant. Even the weather failed to put a damper on the fun.

PI PHI FRIENDS

You to your way, and I to mine. Though we share those moments, when our ways intertwine. if should they not, there is nothing to fear. There is no anger or envy. in relating open and clear. As our direction is equal, our paths are alike. But it's the differences in us, that make us unite. I want you to know, why I chose your support, why I trust in your guidance, as the future transports. You take while you give, in a balance of need. And supply the right giving, I need to receive. If I falter in step, should I stumble or fall, you open the doors in life, and straighten my walls. You give of yourself. Of yourself you will lendwhich is rare to exist. In short, you're a friend.

> Mary Elizabeth Meston Nebraska Beta

To Pi Phi Parents:

Your daughter's magazine is sent to her home address while she is in college and we hope that you enjoy reading it. If she is no longer in college, however, and is not living at home, please send her new permanent address to Pi Beta Phi Central Office,7730 Carondelet, Suite 333, St. Louis, Missouri 63105.
