Alum club appreciated!

New Mexico Alpha Pi Phis would like to extend a special thanks to the Albuquerque Alumnae Club for donating $15,000 to the house corporation. This money was used for renovation of the main floor of the chapter house. The living room and dining room were completely redecorated. Because of the wonderful alumnae support, and dedication of the house corporation, the chapter house has become one of the most beautiful houses on campus.

New design is launched!

When I pledged Pi Phi as a freshman at the University of Virginia, I had no idea how tremendous a role it would play—not only in making the most of my college years, but in shaping my chosen career path. I was always proud to be a Pi Phi in college and am now thrilled to be able to extend and incorporate an interest in sororities into my career.

I graduated in 1982 and soon came to New York to work for Lanz Originals as a sales representative. I enjoyed showing the extensive line of dresses and sleepwear . . . especially since I had worn Lanz since high school and it was an integral part of my college years as sorority life. . . . The solid granny gown has always been relatively unimportant, yet from the very first I thought it would look cute with the sorority monogram on it. . . .

I passed the idea on to my boss . . . and was given permission to launch a new project which I named "Sorority Sleepwear." In the spirit of Monmouth Duo, I chose a sample of Pi Phi and Kappa chapters . . . the response was very enthusiastic and the first year was deemed a success.

Sorority life holds such great memories for me and through Sorority Sleepwear I was able to relive a bit of the "good old days."

So I'd like to say "Thanks!" to all at Pi Phi. The spirit and enthusiasm generated in college continues and benefits forever.

➔ As we went to press, a postscript arrived from Libby. "I decided to leave Lanz and continue Sorority Sleepwear on my own with several old friends. Needless to say, I'm both excited and nervous about my upcoming first year in business. Thanks for your support. I really appreciate it!" We wish Libby the best of everything in her new enterprise.

Losing a chapter hurts

Today I received a letter telling me that my chapter's charter will be suspended at the end of this academic year. The feelings that came over me were overwhelming. I feel hurt, as if a part of me has been snatched away. So many memories surface—personalities—sisters—experiences that greatly influenced me as a young adult.

I don't blame anyone. I just feel so sad that the tangible evidence of Pi Beta Phi at Syracuse University will be gone. I will try to share National's optimism that recolonization will one day be feasible. If there is anything I could ever do to help that happen, count on me.

I hope that the hundreds of other New York Alpha alums share some of my feelings. I take pride in belonging to a constantly growing Fraternity. I belong to a terrific alumnae club so I know that the bonds of friendship will not end with the closing of my chapter house.

I urge all Pi Phis to make contact with local alumnae clubs. Participate! Don't let a part of you that was once so important wither away.

Facts are challenged

I am writing in reference to the article "Campus Carni Nets Thousands" (Winter, 1983). [the article stated] that the University of Minnesota holds the largest collegiate fund raiser in the country—over $50,000 is raised. I applaud their efforts but one fact is incorrect.

The Interfraternity and Panhellenic Councils of Penn State have earned [that honor]. These dedicated members of the Greek community . . . raised over $135,000 in 1983 . . . in the 14th 48-hour Dance Marathon . . . to support the Four Diamonds Fund of the Milton S. Hershey Medical Center—a fund which benefits children afflicted with cancer.

The work that the sisters of Pennsylvania Epsilon put into making the marathon a success is highly commendable and instills in us all the spirit of Pi Beta Phi.

➔ An update came from Susan following the 1984 Marathon, held in February, praising the efforts of dancer Margaret Trost and all participants who helped raise a whopping $178,000 this year for the cancer research fund.

Thanks, Miss May . . .

I am a Pi Beta Phi alumna, initiated in 1917. I have moved recently to Texas and lost track of my Winter ARROW. So I wrote to Central Office and asked if I might have one. It came promptly and I do appreciate it.

It is by far my favorite magazine. I read every word in it, sometimes more than once. It is a pleasure for me to keep up with what is going on in other chapters. The magazine is always attractive, well organized, and full of valuable information for me. You are to be congratulated on a superior publication.

You never know when a Pi Phi will turn up. The other day while trying to decide what color mat would best complement a piece of Pi Phi memorabilia, the woman on my left asked if I were a Pi Phi. When I answered yes, she explained that she too was a Pi Phi, from LSU '75. At that, the woman to my right exclaimed, "I'm a Pi Phi, too! Iowa '71." As I am a Pi Phi from Oklahoma Beta '79, we were indeed a chain of sisterhood. After swapping names and phone numbers, we parted ways, a little richer in the new found friends, thanks to Pi Phi.

We're a bit late with this item, but it can't be ignored. Last October, eight Pi Phis, all of whom were graduated from the University of Oklahoma College of Law, were sworn in as attorneys by the Supreme Court of Oklahoma. The new lawyers were Julie Bates, Texas Delta; Marykay Martin, New Mexico Beta; Janet Stapleton Todd, New Mexico Alpha; Mary Johnson, Oklahoma Beta; and Mary Thompson, Susan Bussey, Liz Kemp Brown, and Jan Hunter, all Oklahoma Alphas.

Congratulations to Molly Cressor Ingold, Ohio Beta, who is the new assistant director of the office of Career Planning & Professional School Advising at Denison University. Molly was a Pi Phi Traveling Graduate Counselor in 1973-'74. The Office of Career Planning assists all students in exploration of post-Denison plans, including graduate school placement. Molly will be concentrating on making freshmen and sophomores more aware of career considerations during their undergraduate experience. She expects to utilize many of her previous professional and business contacts in the process.

Perhaps some Pi Phis will be hearing from Molly in the future!

Pamela Grant Korf, Utah Alpha, chairman of Goldwaters department stores in Arizona, has been elected to the board of directors of First Interstate Bank in Phoenix. This is her sixth board membership, as she is also on the boards of the Arizona Public Service Company, COMPAS, Samaritan Health Services, and Charter 100. She was named president of Goldwaters in 1978 and became chairman in 1981.

Pamela was one of the panelists on the "Expanding Your Horizons" career panel during the Phoenix Convention in 1979.

New York City Panhellenic will award two $500 fellowships to fraternity women doing graduate work at a college or university in the New York City Metro area during 1984-'85. Those interested should request an application from Ms. Celeste M. Paprocki, 145 West 58th Street, New York, N.Y. 10019 and should return the completed form by August 1, 1984.

Winners of the College Fraternity Editors Association cartoon contest have been announced and we regret to say that none were Pi Phis. The biggest reason for that, however, is because there were no Pi Phi entries! There'll be a new contest announced soon, and we hope clever Pi Phis will try for some of the monetary prizes.

Three of our more famous Pi Phis have been in the news recently.

Marilyn Horne, California Gamma, the internationally acclaimed mezzo-soprano, was listed in the New York Times (October, 1983) as one of the twelve greatest voices of all time, and was the only one on the list still living. The list was compiled by the Times' cultural correspondent, Harold Schonberg. Marilyn has also been described by Opera News as "probably the greatest singer in the world."

Her autobiography, "Marilyn Horne: My Life," written with Jane Scovell, was released in November.

Nancy Kulp, Florida Beta, who makes her home in Pennsylvania, hopes to be headed for Washington, D.C. soon. She has decided to challenge incumbent Republican Congressman E. G. "Bud" Shuster, who is seeking a seventh term in office from the rural, central Pennsylvania 9th District. Nancy was unopposed on the Democratic ballot in the April primary. Fans will remember Nancy as Miss Jane Hathaway on TV's "The Beverly Hillbillies," a role she played for ten years. She has been active in Democratic politics for thirty years, and has appeared in more than 600 television shows, including "Love Boat" and "Fantasy Island." Before she joined "Hillbillies," she was a regular on "The Bob Cummings Show."

Patricia Neal, Illinois Epsilon, was honored in February at a Centennial Anniversary celebration at Flushing Hospital in Queens, New York. She received a "Flame of Healing Award" for her work with stroke victims. She has made a dramatic recovery from the stroke she suffered in 1965, and, in making the award, Max Kupferberg, chairman of the hospital board, said, "Her courage and fortitude in confronting enormous physical and emotional challenges has inspired us all."

Patricia also helped dedicate the Center for Independent Living at St. Anthony's Hospital in Columbus, Ohio. The Center is designed to assist the elderly and trauma victims in re-establishing an independent lifestyle.

A great deal of Patricia's time is devoted to the Patricia Neal Rehabilitation Center in her hometown, Knoxville, Tenn.

Elaine "Cissy" Musselman, managing director of Harris & Company, Louisville, has been elected vice president of the Committee of 200, an organization of the country's preeminent women business owners and executives.

Cissy was the Convention initiate into Kentucky Alpha at the Louisville Convention last summer.

250 mile trail ride celebrates anniversary

To celebrate the sixtieth anniversary of the Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies, a 250 mile ride was undertaken from Banff to Jasper in September, 1983. Among the fifteen veteran trail riders chosen to represent the past and the present membership were: Lois Badgley Laycraft, Pi Phi's Canadian Philanthropy Chairman from Paddockwood, Saskatchewan; Dorothy Livingstone Lomas, Kappa Alpha Theta from Calgary, Alberta; and Jane Allman Wetzel, Kappa Kappa Gamma from Dallas, Texas. In conversation high on a mountain pass one day the three discovered a bond beyond mountain riding—that of their fraternity memberships. Lois and Dorothy both attended the University of Alberta, then met years later on a trail ride. Jane's mother, Margaret Deavours Allman of Dallas, is a Pi Phi and a close friend is Sally MacKenzie, the 1981 Convention chairman!

In retrospect, the sixteen day journey was wonderful. On a day-to-day basis it was often arduous. Mother Nature provided great variety in weather and the group rode through rain, sleet and heavy snow. Because they were scheduled to meet another group riding from Jasper toward Banff at the Kootenay Plains where two hundred other members and dignitaries would meet for a traditional "Pow-Wow," there could be no delays. The difficult trails were made hazardous by the ice and snow. More than once the horses had to be led down steep, rocky inclines or jumped over deadfall. They forded many creeks and rivers already edged with ice, slogged through boggy alpine meadows, and faced bitter winds. One high desolate pass was so cold and bleak Lois says she would not have been surprised to come upon the Great Wall of China.

Although experienced outfitters and guides accompanied the rides, everyone was expected to help with the horses, set up tents, and assist with meals. It did not take long to become accustomed to such chores and as the group melded into harmonious friendship, even kneeling in the moonlight to wash dishes seemed like fun. Setting up tents in the snow became routine and by ten o'clock at night little could be heard in camp but the forest sounds and contented snores.

Only one accident required the care of three doctors and three nurses in the group. A "MASH" unit was set up in a matter of minutes and even the patient seemed to enjoy being sewn back together.

On the last day, descending from Shovel Pass and riding toward the Jasper Park Lodge stable, winter changed dramatically into autumn. The falling snow gave way to golden aspen leaves drifting to the earth and the usual shouts and laughter quieted as this epic journey concluded and goodbyes were said. But friendships formed under such circumstances are deep and long-lasting. Already plans are underway for a reunion and perhaps another autumn adventure in the high country. And there will surely be another meeting of a Kappa and a Theta and a Pi Phi and their husbands, all of whom love each other's company!

(The Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies is a non-profit organization started in 1923 and with a current membership of over 800 riders from all over the world. Another Pi Phi Lois met trail riding is Dr. Judith Graham of Seattle. She would love to hear if there are others!)

Making the trail ride a Panhellenic gathering were (l-r) Dorothy Lomas, Theta; Lois Laycraft, Pi Phi; and Jane Wetzel, Kappa.

Vermont Beta earns highest campus honors

by LESLIE LUCCHINA

"Everyone here kindly step to the rear and let a Pi Phi lead the way . . ." rang true on March 10, when Vermont Beta won three of the highest honors in the Greek system at the University of Vermont.

Greek Formals, an event which honors the fraternities and sororities, is a night of dining, dancing, and excitement. There was excitement, indeed, for the intelligent angels were presented a trophy for having the highest grade point average among sororities for fall semester, 1983.

Shelley Poulsen was honored as Most Outstanding Greek Woman, with selection based on scholastic achievement, community service, and campus involvement. Shelley was awarded a plaque engraved with her name, which will be displayed in the chapter house until next year's ceremonies.

Finally, Vermont Beta earned the highest honor to be had among the sororities, the Lambda Cup. The Lambda Cup signifies the most outstanding sorority on campus, based on community service, extra-curricular activities, and academic achievement. Vermont Beta was the first sorority to win the Lambda Cup for three consecutive years; winning was an honor in itself.

It is the diversity, loyalty, and quality of the sisters that helps the tightly-knit Vermont Beta chapter win such awards.

Are you familiar with the above logo? Blue lettering is emblazoned across a gold chain, which encircles the white folder containing Pi Beta Phi's Alcohol Awareness Program, "Friend to Friend." Both the linked chain and the title are reminders that we are bound together in friendship, with the purpose of helping each other. Now, friend to friend, we are directing our attention to the special area of alcohol use and abuse.

Because problems associated with alcohol are severe on most college campuses, as well as in society at large, the need for education and guidance has been apparent to Grand Council for some time. Although several men's fraternities and other college-oriented organizations have developed alcohol awareness programs, little material has been directed specifically towards fraternity women. "Friend to Friend" is a complete program created to fill that need. It was developed by Kate Gilbert Phifer, Director of Pledge Development.

"Friend to Friend" is an educational tool designed to help Pi Phis accomplish three goals:

- 1) to increase awareness of the effects of alcohol,
- 2) to promote understanding of the difference between sensible use and abuse of alcohol,
- 3) to cultivate responsible decision-making by Pi Beta Phi members, both individually and collectively, in the areas of alcohol consumption, behavior, and attitude.

The trifold cover opens to reveal three pockets labeled "Background," "Workshops," and "Supplements." The background information includes the Pi Beta Phi Alcohol Policy, legal information on civil liability, criminal liability, and right to privacy, and general instructions on presenting the entire program.

The "Workshops" pocket, meat of the program, contains materials for three workshops. The first, "What Do You Think?", is an alcohol awareness game designed to teach facts about the effects of alcohol. It also includes nutrition tips, facts about drinking and driving, and about alcoholism.

The second workshop, "How Do You Feel?", is a series of role plays designed to encourage discussion on behavior and attitude. The third workshop, "Are You Ready To Party?", is based on practical pointers and includes "tip sheets" covering such subjects as "How to Prevent Alcohol Abuse From Wrecking A Party" and "How To Detect A Drinking Problem and Help A Friend."

The "Supplements" pocket contains charts and flyers color-coordinated to go with the different workshops. For example, there is an "Alcohol and Calories" chart for display with the first workshop. This pocket also has additional suggestions for other programs.

In February, copies of "Friend to Friend" were sent to chapter presidents, and province and national officers. The initial response has been exciting! Within the first week Florida Beta offered it as a resource at FSU's Greek Council Leadership Conference, and "Friend to Friend" was incorporated into the conference program. Maryland Beta invited all Greek presidents to an alcohol awareness seminar based on "Friend to Friend" materials. At several of the Regional Seminars, held shortly after "Friend to Friend" distribution, workshops were quickly inserted into the agenda, and active respondents with great enthusiasm.

Although initial production of "Friend to Friend" has been geared to chapter use, it is hoped that alumnae will find it of value also.

Pi Phis are encouraged to share this program with other groups—chapters with their Panhellenic Councils and alumnae clubs with high school or church groups. A limited supply of the complete portfolios are available from Central Office at $6.00 each, but the pocket inserts can be photocopied for sharing with others.

In the future the Fraternity hopes to add more workshops and supplements, including material specifically directed to alumnae. All Pi Phis are encouraged to contribute ideas on how to improve and expand "Friend to Friend." Alumnae should send suggestions to the Grand Vice President of Alumnae, and collegians can send their suggestions to the Director of Pledge Development.

This program belongs to all of us, so . . . friend to friend . . . let's make it worthwhile!

Olympic games involve Pi Phis in many ways

by LAUREL LEE

One cannot help but feel it in Los Angeles. It is all around, displayed on sweatshirts, key chains, and billboards, through city improvement, and special interest groups. The Pi Phi at UCLA and USC are not immune from it either. What is this fever? It is OLYMPIC FEVER III! Everywhere one turns at USC and UCLA, the gala of the Los Angeles Olympiad is felt.

Whether the California Pi Phi will be in Los Angeles or in their respective home towns in the summer, their eyes will be on fellow students who will be on the United States team.

One area of importance will be the women's track team, where Cal Delta Pi Phi Polly Plummer is to put in a grand effort for the U.S.

The campuses of the two Pi Phi chapters will play major roles in the 1984 Summer Olympic Games, to be held from July 28-August 12.

UCLA, home of California Delta, will host the gymnastics competition and the exhibition tennis matches. USC, home of California Gamma, will host the swimming and diving competitions. There will also be two Olympic Villages, one at UCLA and another at USC, which will house all of the athletes in the campus student residences.

Pauley Pavilion at UCLA will host gymnastics competition from July 29-August 5, and August 9-August 11. The building was introduced to the campus at the Commencement Exercises in June, 1965, and has been the center of activity on the UCLA campus ever since. It was named for University of California Regent Edwin W. Pauley. Its seating capacity is 12,713.

The 1983-'84 school year saw three enthusiastic Pi Phis cheering on the University of Oregon Ducks, constituting half the squad. L-r: Anne Drips, Kym Easton, and Kim Coleman are accompanied by the cheery U of O mascot.

Tennis will be featured in the new Los Angeles Tennis Center, built at UCLA for the Olympics.

Swimming and diving competitions will take place at McDonald Swim Stadium, newly built at USC. It will hold 11,000 spectators.

The Los Angeles Olympic Organizing Committee (LAOOC) has been working closely with both campuses to make sure everything will be ready by opening ceremonies on July 28. Various renovation and upgrading projects have been taking place all year long on both campuses. LAOOC and UCLA announced in 1982 that the Olympic Analytical Laboratory will be located at the UCLA Center for the Health Sciences. It will be operated by the UCLA Medical School and Department of Pharmacology. The facility will provide drug testing for athletes.

Olympic Villages at UCLA and USC, along with satellite housing at the University of California, Santa Barbara (UCSB), will accommodate 9,000 athletes and 3,000 National Olympic Committee officials.

Housing facilities at UCLA consist of four residence halls and two residential suites. At USC, Olympic Village will be two residence halls, suites, and apartment complexes. All are currently occupied by UCLA and USC students.

UCLA will also help host the Olympic Arts Festival June 1-August 12. The festival will consist of presentations by many artists in various forms of art: music, dance, theater, film, and visual arts. The Olympic Arts Festival will offer a wide variety of artistic talent, including theatrical performances from more than twelve countries in several languages. Over eighty dance companies from eighteen countries will perform in the Festival. There will be film festivals, more than twenty exhibitions by various artists, and musical performances of opera, jazz, blues, classical, chamber, rock, country, and folk music. UCLA's Royce, Schoenberg, and MacGowan Halls will be the site of several Festival events.

Pi Phi chapter houses at UCLA and USC will also be involved in the Olympics. The Pi Phi house at UCLA will be occupied by Adidas employees, who will live in the house during the Games, and set up computers and telexes in the house. USC's chapter house will be occupied by employees of Puma.

All UCLA and USC students have the chance to participate in the 1984 Olympics by working at the Games or by volunteering their talents in unpaid positions.

New business is exciting venture

"It was a difficult decision for me to leave a large firm where I had a very successful position. However, I have always wanted to work on my own and I am very excited about this new venture."

Dawn Sheeler Ford has taken the big step and is working on her own now—as president of her own firm, Consumer Awareness Management. She has been preparing for the move for about two years. It was the training she received in her former position with the Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA) and the contacts she made across the country that allowed her to make the big move.

Dawn lives in Knoxville, Tenn., and is current Kappa Province President. A graduate of the University of Maryland, where she was president of Maryland Beta, Dawn was a member of Tennessee Gamma's Alumnae Advisory Committee for five years preceding her election as province president.

In forming her own company, Dawn will specialize in working with other companies to improve their consumer programs and train employees who work directly with the public.

With TVA, she was Chief of the Citizen Action Office, the Authority's first consumer affairs office. She was responsible for the Agency's toll-free telephone service, which received an average of 10,000 calls a month; management of the organization's public participation program including over 400 public meetings; development of a continuing outreach program serving consumer organizations; and publishing a consumer newsletter and other publications. She also spent two years as a TVA information officer handling media tours, speeches, news releases, and editing the TVA Annual Report; was the administrative assistant to the Chairman of the Board, and served as Chief Information Officer for Land Between the Lakes, TVA's outdoor recreation and environmental education center.

After receiving her B.S. in journalism, she spent two years in Europe working for Army Special Services.

Dawn is a board member of the Volunteer Chapter of the Public Relations Society of America and was the 1982 recipient of the Practitioner of the Dawn Ford heads new firm.

Year Award. In addition, she has won several awards for annual report writing and has contributed to a book soon to be published by the Edison Electric Institute on public participation in electric utility planning. She is a charter member of the national Issues Management Association, and is listed in Who's Who in the South and Southeast.

Dawn and her husband, Richard, have one child, Christopher.

This little Pi Phi legacy is getting an early start by sporting her angel bib from Ohio Wesleyan. Leslie Allison, age four months, is the daughter of Benjamin and Julie Schudel Houston, Ohio Delta, and lives in Mentor, Ohio. Julie is a member of the Cleveland East Alumnae Club.

Iowa Eta moves into chapter home

by MARCI PHIPPEN

There was a big change for Iowa Eta Pi Phi when they returned to Drake following Christmas break. Thirty members of Pi Phi's newest chapter moved into their chapter house at 1219 34th Street in Des Moines.

The house looked wonderful compared to the way it had looked during work-week prior to their holiday. Wall units and bunk beds looked great and the girls were excitedly putting away their things when they suddenly realized that they had no drawers—for underwear, desk supplies, or makeup. But would a little thing like that get those Pi Phi's down? Certainly not! They improvised by stacking milk crates in their closets or buying cardboard drawers.

By Monday most of the girls who were to live in the house had arrived. House mom Laura Welch and cook Delilia Myers were everything the chapter had hoped they would be. The food was too heavenly to be believed. During the first week, the house increased in size—not by new pledges, but by weight gain. After they became accustomed to the good food, rather than food served at the dining hall, they learned to control their appetites.

Living in the house gives an excellent opportunity to experience the love of Pi Phi. You are never alone. Even when you want to be, you are never alone! There is always someone around if you need to talk.

Living in the house also makes one realize the full meaning of the word "sisters." Before, when all of us lived together, we were close, but not like we are now. We have so much to share, whether it is a sweater, a story about a potential date (PD), or a Big Gulp. We may not have all of our furniture, drawers, shower heads, or ladders to get on the top bunk, but we have a lot of love.

Another thing we have are bats. During Inspiration Week, pledges were staying over and our friend, Barney Bat, arrived. Not to worry—we were rid of him.

We are very careful to observe the rule about no male visitors after midnight!

Past Fellowship winners find success

by ADRIENNE HISCOX MITCHELL
Grand Vice President of Collegians

What do an attorney in Oklahoma City, a third year medical student at the University of Virginia School of Medicine, an associate professor of horticulture at Auburn University, a cost analyst for IBM in Austin, and a director of acquisitions for a Dallas real estate developer have in common? In addition to being professionally successful, all have been recipients of Pi Beta Phi Fellowships. Further, all have continued an active involvement with the Fraternity through service to alumnae clubs or chapters in roles that include advisor, house director, and province coordinator.

A recent survey of Fellowship recipients from the past six years found all locatable recipients pursued their initial educational goals successfully. All expressed appreciation for the Fraternity's financial support and many added that Pi Phi's tacit expression of confidence in their ability to succeed meant as much as the monetary grant.

Two of the more recent Fellowship recipients are currently in medical schools. KITTYE LITTLE, Oklahoma Alpha, is starting her fourth year at the University of Oklahoma Medical School; LAURA JEAN LOOMER, Virginia Epsilon, is in her third year at the University of Virginia School of Medicine. Despite a demanding course schedule Laura finds time to continue serving Pi Phi. She is alumnae advisor to the Vice President of Moral Advancement for Virginia Epsilon and previously served as house director for the chapter.

While working as an engineering geologist for the Tennessee Valley Authority, VYKIE SMOYER WHIPPLE, Colorado Gamma, applied for a Fellowship to attend the Energy Management and Policy program at the University of Pennsylvania. While in the program Vykie worked with the U.S. Congress Office of Technology Assessment on a natural gas supply study. Now she and her husband are undertaking a venture that takes lots of their energy as they manage a family brass and stainless steel business in Bethlehem, Pennsylvania. Vykie would like to become involved with an area alumnae club.

With her goal to work with communicatively disordered children, 1981 Fellowship recipient CAROL CINNICK SELGARD, Illinois Theta, was already in the speech-language pathology program at Northwestern University when she applied for her Fellowship. Pi Phi's national ABO winner in 1980, Carol received her M.A. in June of 1982, graduating magna cum laude, and began working with speech and language handicapped children in a north Chicago school system. Since then she has organized a program for severely impaired pre-school children and was recently named Co-ordinator of the Speech-Language Pathology Program. Carol and her husband live in Deerfield, Ill. She credits her Pi Beta Phi Fellowship for helping make possible the education necessary to have accomplished as much as she has in such a short time period.

Three in 1980

Three Pi Beta Phi Fellowships were awarded in 1980. For SARAH SEVERSON, North Dakota Alpha, obtaining a doctorate in chemistry was her goal at the time of application. She is now doing research on synthesis and reactivity of fluorophosphine nickel complexes at the University of Utah and will begin her dissertation next year. Sarah has attended Founders' Day events in Salt Lake City and hopes to have time for more alumnae activities soon.

TAMI L. FITZGERALD, Oklahoma Beta, received her Fellowship while she was a first year student in law school at the University of Oklahoma. She received the Professional Responsibility Award on graduation in 1982 and has since been practicing with the Oklahoma City firm of Watson & McKenzie. Tami specializes in the area of commercial oil and gas litigation and handles lawsuits in areas of bankruptcy, oil and gas lien foreclosure, banking law and securities fraud and finds her work "very challenging and exciting." She was active with the Norman Alumnae Club and now attends Oklahoma City Alumnae Club meetings when her busy schedule allows.

The third 1980 Fellowship recipient was JULIE WILLIAMS, Oklahoma Beta. Having just graduated with a B.A. in French and a minor in economics, Julie applied her Fellowship toward her goal of obtaining a M.B.A. at the University of Texas while studying Chinese language. She is now employed by IBM in Austin as a cost-analyst. She is involved with the Pi Phi alumnae club and the Texas Alpha chapter as a "Slightly Older Sister."

SUSANNA BAKER McBEE, Louisiana Beta, began her graduate studies as a resident graduate counselor during the installation year for Texas Zeta at Baylor. To finance completion of her M.B.A. program, she applied for and received a Pi Phi Fellowship. Upon completion of the M.B.A. Susanna went to work for one of Southwest's largest banks, then moved to a position with Wynne/Jackson, Inc. as Director of Acquisitions for the real estate development firm. She and her husband live in Dallas where Susanna is an active member of the alumnae club. Susanna has served as Pi South Province Coordinator.

To obtain a position in academia and teach others how to work as family therapists was the goal of LEIGH A. LESLIE, Texas Gamma, when she applied for a Pi Phi Fellowship in 1978. She subsequently obtained her Ph.D. in Human Development and Family Studies at Penn State and is now an assistant professor in the Department of Family and Community Development at the University of Maryland. Previously Leslie had held an assistant professorship at Fordham University and was clinical instructor, Department of Psychiatry, Yale University School of Medicine.

Another Fellowship recipient in 1978 was CANDACE WILLIAMSON-MURDOCK, Alabama Gamma. Candy applied for a Fellowship while she was studying for her doctorate in horticulture. At the time she was trying to make ends meet by holding down two jobs at Mississippi State while pursuing her studies. She was a graduate teaching assistant and also Panhellenic Advisor. "I had little time for dissertation research between teaching landscaping and attending Tri Delt Pansy breakfasts." The Pi Phi Fellowship allowed Candy to devote two semesters entirely to her doctorate which she completed in December, 1978. "Because of that . . . and the fact that I met my husband in the job I was able to get immediately . . . I will be eternally grateful to Pi Phi." Candy is presently Assistant Professor of Horticulture at Auburn University and is expressing her continuing commitment to Pi Beta Phi by serving on the Alabama Gamma Alumnae Advisory Committee.

All meet initial goals

All Pi Beta Phi Fellowship recipients who responded to the survey have met their initial academic goals and all are very actively pursuing a career, though not always the one anticipated at the time of applying for a Fellowship. Without exception they feel the support of the Fraternity, moral as well as financial, through the Fellowship awards, was of great value to their achievements today. And most have continued involvement with the Fraternity at either the collegiate or alumnae level.

Susanna Baker McBee perhaps sums up best the feeling of the others as she writes, "I speak out often for the Greek system in general and Pi Phi in particular, feeling so proud of my affiliation with an organization that cares enough about the development of its members to provide financial programs such as the RGC scholarship and the graduate Fellowship."

A criteria in selecting Fellowship winners is the development of character and a resultant ability to represent the Fraternity in a worthy manner. The Fellowship recipients surveyed appear to have done so superbly.

Banquet at S.M.U., in February, honored Marsha Dea as Most Outstanding Greek Woman. She was treasurer of her chapter, an active member of Song Group for three years; president of Order of Omega, Greek honorary; tapped for Kirkos (outstanding Greek women); SMU Program Council and Student Foundation; and recognized by Who's Who.

JENNIFER HALL—Chapters Jenny visits would do well to sign her for their intramurals program as she has her degree in Physical Education from Washington State. Serving as chapter president and Panhellenic rush chairman at the same time is a large order, but Jenny accomplished it with ease and grace. She is a member of Order of Omega, Mortar Board, and the P.E. Honorary. Jenny would like to teach high school physical education and health education, and coach volleyball and tennis after her year of Pi Phi travel.

Marie Lyons, left, Alabama Beta, and Claire Bailey, Illinois Beta-Delta, have received the 1984-'85 Graduate Fellowships in the amount of $1,500 each. Marie skipped her senior year at Alabama and went directly into the Masters program in Business Administration. Claire majored in chemistry and French at Knox College, and will enter medical school this fall, with a pediatric specialty as her goal.

Secret sisters are entertained

On February 8th, many Michigan Alpha actives gathered with some special alumnae—those "Slightly Older Sis's" with whom they secretly corresponded for several months.

Alumnae Relations Chairman Laura Corson instituted the program last September to get actives and alumnae together. She matched up interested actives with alumnae from the Hillsdale area. Each active began by sending flowers to her alumna and then sent cards, short notes, and small gifts throughout the semester. At times, alumnae responded by sending cards to their secret sisters in care of the Pi Phi house.

A tea was the culmination of the program. Invitations were sent to all alumnae and response was excellent. Over dessert and tea, each alumna met her secret sis. Actives without a secret sis also attended, since it offered a great chance to meet alumnae and hear about Pi Phi life at Hillsdale College several years ago.

Mrs. Joe Spiteri, an active alumna, responded to the program with great enthusiasm. "It was a delightful experience. I was very pleased that it brought back many alumnae who are not normally active. I was excited to get a lovely rose from my new secret sis as well."

Raglin is emcee of Greek show

by CHERYL CRISPIN

Greek week was exciting and eventful for the Pi Phis at the University of Nebraska this year. Jane Raglin, a Nebraska Beta senior, was chosen to be M.C. at the annual Greek Week Talent Show. Jane performed in the show as a freshman and, as a senior, returned to host the event that highlights the week of activities intended to strengthen the greek system.

The Talent Show is a major production—usually 800-900 people attend. The show consists of musical performances, juggling, and comedy acts, judged by a panel that may include a state Senator, Regents, and talent scouts.

Fourteen people tried out for the position of M.C. For tryouts, students were required to improvise and respond to different situations and were judged on their performances. Jane, a broadcasting major, says the main reason she tried out for the position was to get the house involved in the Greek Week activities.

"As a senior," said Jane, "this was my way of doing something for the house. The show involves all of the houses and it is a good way for our name to be recognized."

Craft business interests shared thru alumnae club

Once again, the Pi Phi alumnae "network" has brought two women together who share more than the bond of sisterhood: Frances DeSimone Becque, New York Alpha, and Eileen Bowman Stoffan, Michigan Gamma, each own a craft business in Ann Arbor, Michigan.

Both women moved to Ann Arbor because of their husbands' careers. Individually, they looked to the local alum club, and within a month of each other, were asked to join the Alumnae Advisory Committee for Michigan Beta.

"After a couple months, I mentioned to Fran that I, with partner, had a mail order needlepoint business," says Eileen. "When Fran told me she had a craft business too, we decided to put our heads together and discuss successes and problems, and share ideas."

Fran's business, Sea Breeze Studio, was incorporated in August, 1983, though she started making and selling items immediately after she graduated from Syracuse University in 1979.

"My best sellers are floppy bow ties in school colors, but I also make them in paisleys, plaids and even Pi Phi wine and silver blue!" Fran smiles. Additionally, she makes hobby horse-type stick unicorns, zebras, and, of course, horses; childrens' pinafore aprons; quilted tote bags and other items.

After the move to Ann Arbor, Fran took advantage of the new market. She began participating in local and regional craft shows, and sells to local gift and toy stores.

The name "Sea Breeze Studio" reflects Fran's love of the East Coast. She was raised on Long Island, and she and her husband Dan lived on the Connecticut coast before moving west.

Eileen has been needlepointing pillows and gifts for over 15 years. Michigan Gamma Pi Phis will remember her projects when she was attending Michigan State. Her business partner is her mother, Sally Bowman.

Sally, an Alpha Phi from Indiana University, and Eileen formally filed as a legal partnership in April, 1983, becoming Ann Marie's Gingham County. The majority of their hand-painted designs are adaptations of old quilt patterns for needlepointers. Naturally, they've created a Pi Phi design and an Alpha Phi design, too.

Eileen and her mother sell primarily through mail-order ads in Country Living and Yankee magazines. But, with Fran's help, they are beginning to sell at craft shows and expand into the wholesale market. Likewise, Eileen has given Fran mail-order tips at their many brainstorming get-togethers.

"Though I grew up in Michigan, I didn't know the city of Ann Arbor at all," Eileen explains. "The first thing I did when we moved here in April, 1983, was look up the Pi Phi alum club. I feel I've had a unique kind of instant friendship and camaraderie!"

Pi Phis who would like more information about either Eileen's or Fran's businesses can write to them at:

The celebration itself was orchestrated by Lynn Rousch.

The Founders were portrayed by Sheila Bothum, Betsy Fuller, Kim Lowell, Lane Oliver, Sheila Romania, Lynn Rousch, and Kate Williams.

The chapter received cards and flowers from many friends and lovers of Pi Phi,

Four are honored during Mardi Gras

by GINGER DURHAM

Mardi Gras is always a festive and glamorous part of New Orleans. The week is filled with excitement, parties, parades, and balls. On Fat Tuesday, Mardi Gras day, the cry of "Throw me something, mister!" is heard as riders on various floats throw beads, trinkets, and doubloons, a coin with the krewe's name printed on it.

Four Newcomb College Pi Phis played parts in the festivities this year. They served as court maids or queens, or both, with courts chosen by one or more of the carnival krewes. Balls culminate the New Orleans debutante season.

Louisiana Alphas honored during the 1984 Mardi Gras season were: Cathrine Boyer, Queen of Contraband; Kathrine Gilly, Debutante Club, Pickwick Club, Twelfth Night Revelers, Court of Oberon, Court of Comus, and Queen of Momus; Marianne Rapiere, Court of Proteus, and Court of Oberon; and Margret Winston, Debutante Club, Pickwick Club, Twelfth Night Revelers, Court of Momus, and Queen of Comus.

Jane Gayle, Texas Zeta, takes her music seriously. A music theory major at Baylor, she is a talented viola player, is first chair in the Baylor Symphony, and plays in the Waco and Abilene Symphonies. She is a member of Phi Mu Alpha, professional music fraternity, and is their sweetheart. She also teaches the Suzuki violin method at Baylor, with 21 private students starting at the age of three.

Colorado Alpha to hold centennial birthday fest

Colorado Alpha at the University of Colorado will be 100 years old in October, 1984. A centennial committee has been working for months planning a big birthday celebration for the University's Homecoming weekend, October 12-14, and it will be a very special event!

In the west, 100 years covers a lot of territory. When the C.U. chapter was chartered in 1884, the University consisted of one building, Old Main, built in 1876, the year Colorado became a state. University Hill was bare of trees and buildings, a stark contrast to the beautiful campus of today.

The new Pi Beta Phi chapter met in a third floor room of Old Main, the only sorority to do so. Delta Tau Delta fraternity met in the basement.

In 1907 the girls planned and had built a three-story brick house on a hill. The house was grand and stood all alone.

Not satisfied with being the first national Fraternity for women and the first one at Colorado University, pioneering Pi Phis, with the help of some unaffiliates, originated the idea of Mortar Board on campus in 1908 and Hesperia in 1912, both of which spread nationwide. C.U. Pi Phis were the first local presidents of these honoraries for senior and junior women.

As Boulder grew, and the Pi Phi house became hemmed in by buildings, the girls looked for a new location. In 1927 the magnificent structure at 890 11th Street was built on a site up the hill. The new house may not have been as convenient to the campus, but it is said that Pi Phis owe their shapely legs to that long climb! When the move was made in 1927, initiates from that year recall that they did most of the clean-up and moving work. But they were very proud of the beautiful English Tudor (now doubled in size due to an addition built in 1955) which has now been home to C.U. Pi Phis for 57 years. Although the original oriental rugs are no longer there, the fine Baldwin grand piano, which was often lent to the University for concerts, still graces the music room.

The Colorado Alpha chapter has over 1,600 living alumnae in good standing. An effort is being made to contact all of them about the centennial reunion. So far, nearly 300 have expressed an interest in returning to Boulder for the celebration. Plans call for house and campus tours, lunch before and open house after the Homecoming game, and a banquet at the University Memorial Center to close the festivities on Sunday, October 14.

Many accomplished women are alumnae of the chapter, including former Miss America Marilyn VanDerbur Adler, who was gently pushed into the contest by her sorority sisters. Thumbnail sketches of alums who plan to return run the gamut from former Quiz Kids and TV personalities to university administrators, artists, physicians, corporation board members, appointed and elected civil servants, community volunteers, and the wives of a governor (Wyoming), a French diplomat in the Caribbean, and professional golfer Hale Irwin. They also include the two female directors of the Boulder Chamber of Commerce. Apparently Pi Phis haven't lost their touch! Many wrote to say they are happy housewives and proud mothers and grandmothers.

Whatever their status, all Colorado Alphas are urged to attend and renew old friendships. Any who have not received notice or have failed to return it are encouraged to write immediately to P.O. Box 12042, Boulder, CO 80303, so that they may be included. Any correspondence should show full maiden name and initiation year as well as current name, address, and zip code.

Those who have not seen the house, the campus, or the city of Boulder recently will be amazed at the changes. Only the beautiful Flatirons and Flagstaff mountain remain unchanged. The large and excellent active chapter is eager to welcome and entertain the returning alumnae, and the centennial committee, composed of members spanning the decades, is compiling a complete history of the chapter, expanding on that written by Halle Collins forty years ago. Special C.U. Pi Phis who will attend include the three granddaughters and great-granddaughter of Evalyn Barney Snell, first initiate of the chapter in 1884, representing four generations of Colorado Alphas, including the late Lolita Snell Prouty, Grand Treasurer for 25 years. The 1912 initiate who accompanied former Grand President Amy B. Onken on her travels will attend as will the daughter of architect Glen H. Huntington who planned the present house and its addition. Two granddaughters of Fraternity Founders live in the area and will be invited to attend.

The banquet on Sunday will be open to all Pi Phis, and Grand President Jean Scott and area Pi Phis from other chapters will be present. So, for a wonderful weekend of nostalgia and fun, all C.U. Pi Phis are urged to Remember Old Main and Rush to the Rockies, Fly to the Foothills, Flee to the Flatirons, Float up to Flagstaff, and Rise to the Occasion. It won't be complete without you! The committee sums it up with a closing verse:

RISE TO THE OCCASION

Fill up your flivver or rev up your plane;
Jump on your skateboard or flag down a train;
Hop on your bike or your hot air balloon;
Just make sure you're coming and let us know soon!

Alumnae to be honored for 75 Fraternity years

It has been brought to the attention of Pi Beta Phi's Grand Council that many Pi Phis have reached their diamond anniversary in the Fraternity. A framed certificate honoring those seventy-five years of memories, inspiration, and friends will now be sent to those who respond to a special mailing from Central Office.

The following Pi Phis have or are celebrating their 75th Anniversary this year as members of the Fraternity. They are to be congratulated!

Hilda Stern Perkins, Iowa Gamma '13, left, asks for a bit of advice from her friend Nellie Heyd, Minnesota Alpha '06.

Century of living has "Ring Ching" memories

One hundred years she takes in stride . . .
Warmth and love in her abide.

Nellie Heyd, Minnesota Alpha '06, celebrated her one hundredth birthday December 11, 1983, at the Wilder Residence in St. Paul where she lives. After being honored by her living community, Nellie was at home for her sisters in the wine and blue who came to celebrate and sing Pi Phi songs.

"Ring Ching Ching was as popular seventy years ago as now," says Nellie.

A freshman at the University of Minnesota in 1902, Nellie commuted to campus by street car. In 1904 she joined a local sorority which became Pi Beta Phi her senior year. Meetings were held in members' homes.

Her studies included math, French, Spanish, and Latin. Upon graduating she was hired to teach math and French in St. Paul's Central High School. As a young teacher she spent two summers traveling through France to improve her vocabulary. She taught for 42 years.

One of Nellie's prize possessions is a letter written by Horace Greeley, the man who coined the battle cry of the westward movement: "Go West, young man!" This letter came to her via her father, Leonard J. Heyd, who worked two years for Greeley on his New York Tribune. Leonard Heyd came to St. Paul with his bride by steamboat from St. Louis in 1883, when Nellie was about to be born.

A younger friend of Nellie's, Pi Phi Hilda Stern Perkins, Iowa Gamma '13, also resides at Wilder. Hilda says if she has difficulty figuring her accounts or tax statement, she goes to Nellie for help.

Is it any wonder—

Winter term provides unique mission programs

by MICHEL WILLIAMS & SARAH O'LEARY

In January, Indiana Epsilon Pi Phis had a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to help others in a special way. During DePauw University's Winter Term session, seven actives participated in mission programs in Costa Rica, Peru, Columbia, and Georgia.

Along with twenty-three classmates, Barb Cote, Sharon Sandbo, Sarah O'Leary, and Kim Whetzel were construction and medical team volunteers in Costa Rica. While Kim, Sharon, and Sarah were in Puerto Limon reconstructing the Inglesa Metodista church, Barb was in Bri Bri administering medical aid to the native Indian tribe. The trip was an eye-opening experience. They learned everything from repairing roof structures and giving injections to keeping their balance in a dugout canoe!

The most memorable parts of the trip centered around new-found friends. The local population was wary of the norte-americanos at first, but were very hospitable in no time. People treated the team with respect, and were always excited about practicing their English.

In Azpitia, Peru (6 miles south of Lima), Linda Lukens was foreman of a construction team. She helped construct a cement block building which was to become the site of a health training school for local people. Her accommodations were far from first class—sleeping with mats on a concrete floor and bathing in a river—but her special experience there made it all worthwhile.

Sophomore Jennifer Vaughn served within the U.S. Jennifer volunteered for Habitat for Humanity in Americus, Ga., by constructing housing for the poor. Mixing mortar, laying foundations, hanging doors, and laying linoleum were some of her projects during the eight hour work day. However, her construction team did receive a well-deserved break, for they had an opportunity to spend two days skiing in North Carolina at the end of their trip.

The heat of Bogota, Columbia, did not stop Debbie Durgan from working hard on a construction team there. Her forty-member group reconstructed housing for the poor elderly.

During Pi Phi participation in these mission projects, many new friends were made, and many morals and beliefs were strengthened.

Interior designers represented

Susan Huey, a senior at Florida State, was elected National Student Council Southeast Regional Vice President at the American Society of Interior Designers (ASID) in Boston, Mass. The position carries a large responsibility, but is an honor for Susan, who represents Alabama, Florida, Georgia, North and South Carolina, and Tennessee.

Conference representatives voice views of interior design students at the national convention and throughout the year. They also make sure that interior design students get the most benefits from ASID.

Winning design commissioned by Fairfield.

Sapphire Valley development commissions Wilson hanging

Last fall Arrowcraft Shop was approached by a representative from Fairfield Communities, who asked us to submit a design for a dyptych—two complementary wall hangings—to be used in their time-share units in Sapphire Valley, North Carolina. Two hangings were developed by Frances Wilson, based on her own design and in accordance with the size/color requirements specified by Fairfield. The two pieces were reviewed by the company and accepted.

Arrowcraft has never done commercial commissions before, so the entire process of submitting the original design, competing with other craftsmen, and setting up the project once accepted has been an exciting experience for all concerned. Blanche Huskey, a forty year weaver for Arrowcraft, is doing the woven sections. Frances Wilson is doing the assembling, quilting, and finishing work. One of the maintenance men prepared the strips of wood to which the hangings are attached.

A brooch of gold and black jade is the work of Gene and Hiroko Sato Pijanowski, Ypsilanti, Michigan, and was on display during the Surface exhibit.

Mixed media exhibition features eighteen artists

"Surface Enrichment: Color and Pattern," an invitational mixed media exhibition, was sponsored by Arrowmont School of Arts and Crafts March 2-April 21. This exhibition focused on works of eighteen artists exemplifying current trends in the use of color and pattern in clay, fabric, fiber, leather, metal, paper and wood.

The translation of color and pattern varied from structured rows of layered handmade paper by Joan Sterrenburg to depth-filled screen printed fabric by Nancy Swickard. Swickard used illusion of winding ribbons that seemed to float and penetrate open window space.

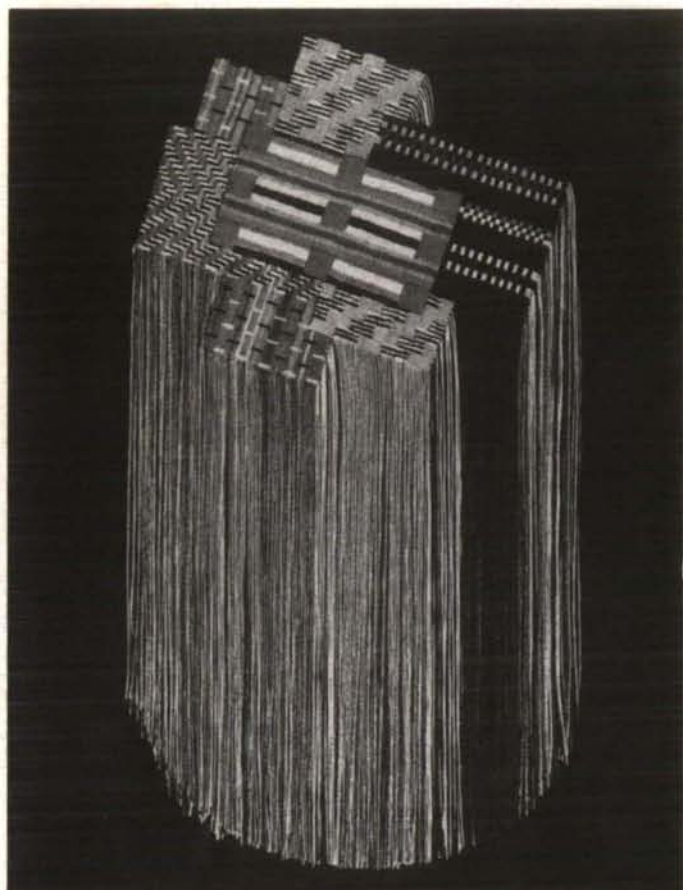

Curtis and Suzan Benzle created porcelain vessels by using inlaid colored clays that simulated a patchwork quilt-like pattern of translucency. This simulation of patchwork pattern was also evident in the work of Hiroko and Gene Pijanowski, Lisa D'Agostino, Jan Brooks Loyd, and Nancy Albertson. The Pijanowski's used mokume-gane techniques in their brooches and pendants made of gold, ivory and plexiglass. D'Agostino's metal pins utilized marriage of metal techniques incorporating sterling, brass, copper and nickel. The fabricated steel work of Loyd displayed the patchwork quality through forged and etching processes and selective bluing and browning. Albertson's creations were collaged pattern using dyed handmade paper.

The other three clay artists invited showed distinct variations in style. Susan Icove's shiny earthenware vessels were dramatically contrasted with the velvety surface of Rick Foris' raku vessels. Karen Koblitiz' brightly colored low-fire wall reliefs utilized slip-cast fish and cup saucer and spoon in her still-life settings.

Varied fiber techniques were evident in the work of Diane Itter, Patti Lechman and Nancy Shaw Cramer. Itter used knotted, colorful linen in her cross-like series of fiber works. Knotting techniques were also used in Lechman's baskets. Her three dimensional creations incorporated crocheted interiors. Cramer's patterned wool and linen rugs were so well-crafted that both sides deserved viewing.

The remaining artists in this fascinating exhibit included Terrie Hancock Mangat, Gaza Bowen, and William Patrick. Fabric artist Mangat created huge pieced quilts utilizing applique, embroidery, and beading. Gaza Bowen's leather pieces incorporated inlay and overlay techniques in her brightly colored shoe and belt series. By using laminated and band-sawed wood, William Patrick was able to turn his wooden plates on the lathe and transform them into landscapes through use of light and dark coloration of wood.

This Arrowmont exhibition truly reflected the current color and pattern concepts being developed by artists across the country.

Clare Verstegen silkscreens T-shirts and sweatshirts in her studio for students and staff during the spring and summer class sessions.

Remodeled store room gives Clare her space

When the students have left campus, the final exhibition pieces are installed in the gallery, the paperwork has diminished to a temporary "small stack" and the cool winter days have arrived in East Tennessee . . . chances are Arrowmont Program Coordinator Clare Verstegen will be hard at work in a newly remodeled studio space in the Arrowmont main classroom building. With the approval of the Board of Governors in the fall of 1983, a storage area in the building has been transformed into a year round studio space for Clare's creative work in the designing and screen-printing of fabric. The addition of an exhaust fan, screen/fabric racks and a large sink to the space allows Clare to do all of her artwork in a private area as she prepares for exhibitions.

Fascination with airborne objects directed Clare to the design and construction of decorative "skyrunners" . . . a name she uses to distinguish her kite forms from those commercially made. She has been exploring and making "skyrunners" for about five years, using screen-printed cotton fabric, pieced and stitched together, and combined with rivets, wood dowels, metallic tape and vinyl tubing. Color and pattern are Clare's primary concerns in creating her pieces.

Clare's "skyrunners" were included in exhibitions in 1984 at Maryville College, Maryville, TN (February); Georgia State University, Atlanta, GA (March-April); and in New Morning Gallery, Asheville, NC (May-July); and the G. Corcoran Gallery, Muskegon, MI (September-October).

New works are added to school's permanent collection

During the past year several new works were added to the Arrowmont permanent collection. Two and three dimensional objects, donated by or purchased from faculty and/or staff assistants, were displayed in the main gallery January and February. New acquisitions were featured in the lower level gallery during the March and April workshop sessions.

New acquisitions include color and black and white photographs from summer school photography teachers James Sahlstrand, Roslyn, WA, and Earl Iverson, Lawrence, KS; an enamel wall relief from summer school enameling teacher Jamie Bennett, Boston, MA; handmade paper reliefs from spring and summer faculty members Jean Thickers Francis, Tupelo, MS and Margaret Sahlstrand, Roslyn, WA; and a clay sculptural form from spring faculty member Yosuke Haruta, Hanover, MI.

An Arrowmont purchase award was given to Joe Johnson, Fort Worth, TX, for his painting, "Fear of Being the Same", from the exhibition, "The Figure: New Form, New Function".

Pieces for the permanent collection are purchased through special fund raising activities at the school. With increased awareness of this collection and the quality of its pieces, it is hoped that a touring exhibition to museums in the United States might be planned.

The new woodworking studio as it was in progress during the winter.

Woodworking facilities grow

Expansion of the woodworking studio took place during the winter with approval of the Board of Governors. It was completed in time to welcome Canadian wood sculptor Stephen Hogbin and his large woodturning class during the 1984 spring workshops. This new 560 square foot addition to the woodshop becomes the lathe studio which houses the six lathes which were purchased through generous donations over the past several years. Arrowmont's goal is to have ten lathes in its permanent facility.

Woodturning has increased in popularity at Arrowmont in recent years. This was the first time woodturning was offered during spring because facilities were not large enough to accommodate the woodworkers inside during the often cold March weather.

The studio addition was erected by a local construction company and completed by Arrowmont maintenance men Zanley Watson, Jeff Monhollen, Ernie Shultz and Neal Watson.

Student journalist earns editing job & scholarship

Heather McKernan, New York Gamma, has been named one of 46 national recipients of the Dow-Jones Newspaper Editing Internships. A junior English writing major at St. Lawrence University, Heather will be spending the summer as a salaried intern with the Times Herald Record in Middletown, N.Y., after which she will receive a scholarship from the Dow-Jones Newspaper Fund.

Heather has taken all the journalism courses available to her at St. Lawrence, as well as a broad selection of courses in many disciplines. She feels that this balance and the preparation she has had from her liberal arts experience helped in the selection of her application for the internship.

On campus, Heather has been involved with Literary Volunteers and is a resident assistant, a role that enables her to help others make the adjustment to college life.

She entered SLU as a President's Scholar and a North Country Scholar and earned the award as sophomore woman with the highest scholastic average in her freshman year.

During the second half of her freshman year she began working on The Hill News, St. Lawrence's student newspaper. The following semester she was named production manager and she became editor of the paper in the spring term of her sophomore year.

In May, Heather attended a two-week regional training session at Temple University in Philadelphia.

Albuquerque club has successful fund raiser

by CATHERINE MCHUGH METZLER

With INTERIOR DESIGN '83, the Albuquerque Alumnae Club completed another outstanding fund raiser. Nearly 3,000 people attended this design show held at a luxury townhome development of the Maxie Anderson family. The Albuquerque balloonist, Maxie Anderson, who was killed in a balloon crash in West Germany, gained international fame as the pilot of Double Eagle II.

Members of the American Society of Interior Designers decorated the townhomes located in the rural environment of Albuquerque's north valley. Pi Phis planned, promoted, and staffed the six day exhibit and displayed Arrowmont handbags in the tearoom which they operated. Chairman Sue Trammell Whitfield and Connie McLain Johnson report that with Interior Design '83, the Alumnae Club raised $16,000 which will benefit the Natural History Museum and the Shelter for Victims of Domestic Violence plus gifts to New Mexico Alpha House Corporation, New Mexico Beta, and our national philanthropies.

Pi Phis, through their Interior Design Shows held every two years since 1967, have returned $30,000 to the community through gifts to local institutions, museums, and scholarships. The house corp received $20,000 in recent years to redecorate the Pi Phi house on the University of New Mexico campus.

Pleased with their new local philanthropy are Houston Pi Phi Ann Crigger Shaw, president of the Junior Day Group; Virginia Holt McFarland, philanthropy committee; Julia Dudley Allison, volunteer coordinator; Zelle Whitmarsh Letts, volunteer; Donna Coffman Dawson, president Senior Day Group; and Karen Kimball Edwards, philanthropy chairman.

Houston alums establish children's hospital library

by PAT DILLON SOBOCINSKI

Do angels and unicorns co-exist peacefully? Absolutely! On February 17, Houston Pi Beta Phi angels officially opened the new library at the 328 bed Texas Children's Hospital, located in the Texas Medical Center. Unicorns, the snappy logo chosen for the library, abound everywhere.

Following the ribbon cutting ceremony, attended by both hospital officials and Pi Phis, poet Kirk Belt recited Shel Silverstein's poems for the children who were gathered in the Teen Room. Later in the day, open house was held in the attractively decorated library for patients, their families, and friends.

After the year long search for a single local philanthropy, the club voted to establish the library at the hospital. The need had been called to our attention by several Pi Phis who have been involved at the hospital in various capacities.

Toddlers through teens will be able to select books dealing with sensitive issues as well as how-to books and those that are solely for enjoyment. Adult books on parenting skills and child development are available also.

Approximately 70% of the patients at Texas Children's Hospital are from Houston or Texas and 30% come from other states and countries. The Houston Alumnae Club is proud of its new local philanthropy and they hope that any Pi Phi visiting the area will stop by and say hello.

Auctioneering talents aid in children's home benefit

If "Cabbage Patch" doesn't ring a bell of recognition, the reader must have slept through the Christmas rush and all the hype about those adoptive dolls.

In the San Francisco area, however, Cabbage Patch has a bit different meaning, especially after Debbie Doolittle Busalacchi and Pat Anderson Welsh finished with their Cabbage Patch Benefit Auction in December.

The Cabbage Patch in Mill Valley, Calif., is a private, non-profit home for developmentally disabled children, directed by Debbie's sister, Elise McBride. Debbie and Pat, the voice of E.T. (see THE ARROW, Winter, 1982), were auctioneers for the event, and raised $3,500 for the home.

The two women are California Betas and Debbie is the immediate past president of the Marin County Alumnae Club.

"Pat became involved because she is a good sport and brought celebrity status to the second annual event," wrote Debbie.

Items auctioned ranged from dinners, record albums, nights on the town, theatre tickets, helicopter rides, a day of salmon fishing, Grateful Dead tickets, gift certificates, and horse riding lessons to—what else?—an original Cabbage Patch doll from Xavier Roberts at Babyland General, and one from Coleco.

The Roberts doll, Carolina Rowena, brought $300, purchased by Debbie's husband, Salvatore.

"My two little boys, seven and nine, would have preferred just about anything to the doll!" says their mother.

Pat, when she isn't being an auctioneer, works on a one-to-one basis with abused children who have been removed from their families and placed in foster homes. She acts as liaison between the child and the parents, with the hopes of reuniting the family. She also goes to all court proceedings. In addition, the voice of E.T. is being released on a TV commercial.

Debbie's life centers around her family right now. She's a Cub Scout leader, is a past president of the parents' group at the children's school, arranges all the assemblies, and has chaired the local Bike-a-Thon.

"All the groups I belong to I become involved in fund raising. I have taken jobs from modeling to selling hand-crafted goods to just plain soliciting money, to raise funds," she says.

As for Pi Phi, serving as president of her alum club speaks for itself. She credits her aunt, Ella Mary Dudley Lewis, an Evelyn Peters Kyle award winner, for keeping her interest in Pi Phi growing.

What is Debbie's next project? She wants to teach aerobics or water (pool) exercises at the next Pi Phi Convention!

Do you suppose she could work that in in one of those 15-minute breaks?

Greek Ball revived

In February, the Boston University Inter-Fraternity and Sorority Council held the first Greek Ball at B.U. in over twenty years.

The ball, formerly an annual event, was phased out when sororities and fraternities were forced off campus in the '60s. With greek life becoming popular again, and growing ever stronger at B.U., the Council decided that 1984 would be a good year to re-ignite an old tradition.

The ball was held in the student union ballroom and was attended by every greek organization on campus and several local groups. Pi Phis were out in full force, dressed to the hilt for an evening of dancing, socializing, and just having a good time.

The event was a huge success and everyone is looking forward to next year's Greek Ball at Boston University.

Bed/breakfast to raise funds for chapter house

Want to stay with Pi Phi sisters when you visit Walt Disney World, EPCOT, Kennedy Space Center, or other Central Florida attractions? Pi Phi Bed & Breakfast "Magic" is available for you.

A new project of the Orlando-Winter Park Alumnae Club, Bed & Breakfast is underway to raise funds for construction of a chapter house for Florida Epsilon at the University of Central Florida. Only four years old, Florida Epsilon is thriving, but, because of its recent arrival on campus, funds are sorely needed. Plans are to build a $450,000 house comparable in cost to houses of other sororities and fraternities which are designed for Greek Park.

To date only one group, Zeta Tau Alpha, has broken ground. Greek Park has been set aside by the university for fraternity and sorority housing.

Reservations for Bed & Breakfast require a $10.00 deposit and may be made to Mrs. James C. (Betty) Robinson, PO Box 2631, Orlando, Fla. 32802. Prices for accommodations range from $25 to $40 with beach houses or condos a bit more. Brochures and information may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Robinson.

Edith Reed shares 80th

by PAMELA GIESON

The Pi Phi women of Ohio Alpha at Ohio University were pleased to share her 80th birthday with alumna Edith Humphrey Reed. Invited to speak to the chapter, Mrs. Reed chose thoughtfulness as her topic. She also reminisced of the days when she was an Ohio Alpha Pi Phi many years ago.

Mrs. Reed was given a warm welcome by all. The evening ended with a Happy Birthday song and a cake in honor of her special day.

Two weeks later a letter of thanks was received from Mrs. Reed in which the following short poem was enclosed.

How do you thank such darlings as you?
Who made of my 80th a dream come true?
How do you tell them you think they are great?
How do you inspire them to perpetuate?
When their own daughters come to O.U.
An Ohio Alpha strong and true?
Thanks to you each. For the time that night,
Thanks for your notes that you sent by flight,
Proving you're thoughtful.
We did have fun—

Johnnie holds special place in Pi Phis' hearts

by KELLY SMITH

One of the friendliest faces at the Kansas Alpha house is that of Johnnie Sheers. Johnnie has been head cook and best buddy of the Pi Phi since 1977. She previously cooked for Delta Upsilon and Sigma Nu fraternities.

Johnnie spends nine hours a day in the kitchen preparing Pi Phi favorites such as the potato bar, tossed salad, fruit salad, and her special "Air and Dirt" (crushed Oreo cookies, whipped cream, and bananas).

"Their favorite meal is brunch, with scrambled eggs and my coffee cakes," says Johnnie. "I enjoy fixing what they like."

When asked what she likes best about cooking for the Pi Phi, Johnnie answered, "I love it all. It's my favorite thing to do. These girls are my loved ones. I'm real happy with them."

That love is reciprocated by the Pi Phi, and they hope Johnny stays with them for many more happy years.

Pi Phi, Delt team takes Varsity Review honors

by HEIDI BROWNING

Oklahoma Beta has proven once again that hard work and dedication pay off. For the third straight year they have won Varsity Review at Oklahoma State. Varsity Review is an annual song and dance production where groups perform, for three consecutive nights, routines relating to an overall theme. This year's theme was "Take Another Look. . . ."

Pi Phi teamed with Delta Tau Delta and took Best Music and Choreography honors along with Best Overall.

Directors Kathy Rogers and Rick Wilson decided a monster theme would have interesting possibilities and came up with "Take Another Look at the Monster in Us All."

Twelve couples performed in ghoulish make-up and hair styles in front of a haunted house backdrop. Long black capes worn by Deltas caused some tricky maneuvering, but the effect was spell-binding.

Groups were judged nightly on theme, originality, costumes and back drop, music and choreography, stage presence, and enthusiasm.

Once again Pi Phis showed their enthusiasm in winning form. But one person had to hide some of her excitement when the winner was announced. Annette Solomon, Oklahoma Beta senior, was emcee for the event. She was as big a hit with the audience as the rest of her Pi Phi sisters on stage.

Mary Weaver, Missouri Alpha, is winner of the 1984 St. Louis Sophomore Award. Mary exemplifies the high ideals of Pi Beta Phi and is a strong, all-around sophomore who serves Pi Phi and the Missouri University campus. The award is given on the basis of achievement in five categories: scholarship, Pi Phi activities, campus activities, civic involvement, and special talents. Mary fills the bill in all five categories.

Cosmo has new staffer during university interim

by ANN SCHLOTT

Last fall what were most collegians doing? Studying? Going to parties? Planning spring rush? While they were heading off to a 9:00 o'clock class, I was slipping a token in the turnstile at the 28th Street station in New York City, waiting for the Double R subway to take me uptown. By 9:30 I was seated at my desk in the fiction department of COSMOPOLITAN Magazine.

From the beginning of September until Christmas I lived in New York with ten other Duke University students, participating in the school's new program, "New York and the Arts." The program requires each student to plan an independent study, enroll in one course at New York University, participate in an art seminar, and most importantly, work as an intern in a professional office.

As large a magazine as COSMOPOLITAN is, their fiction department has a staff of only three. Therefore, I was, in no time at all, assuming the responsibilities of a regular staff member. Along with completing fiction research projects for Helen Gurley Brown, I corresponded with publishers concerning book rights and spring catalogs, read unsolicited manuscripts and priority stories sent by agents, and aided with the publication of articles for upcoming issues.

As well as learning about the operation of a large, commercial magazine, I also found that there is very little glamour involved in this type of work, contrary to popular belief. (I was often asked the question, "Do people who work there look like the girls on the covers?") Fiction assistants read up to forty books a week, searching for suitable novels for condensation and trying to stay one step ahead of competition. Long hours are spent reading, writing, and editing material, all at a pace which never lets up, as there is always another issue looming in the future.

Away from the job, I never lacked things to do. New York City is the center of intellectual, social, and cultural life, and it caters to its residents like no other place in the world. Going to Broadway shows, art galleries, night clubs, and street festivals were all fascinating ways to spend my free time. Living on Madison Avenue in a residential hotel, I was within walking distance of innumerable distractions. Delis and grocery stores are on every block; shopping along famous Fifth Avenue was merely a stroll away. To be in New York is to be surrounded by the best of everything.

When I graduate from Duke, I hope to return to New York, M.A. in English in hand, and try to get my big break as a writer, advertiser, or publisher. The city is a sea of opportunity; some make it, others are lost to the cold, impersonal rat race for which the place has become famous. Even if my suburban self can't be transplanted in this teeming, churning, urban body of New York, I'll be satisfied knowing that I was there once, living with the big shots and the low lifes, the good and the bad.

Being in New York is like eating raw oysters—every one has to try it at least once. If you don't, you've missed an ephemeral part of living.

Judge Hallanan is federal appointee

One of the newest federal district judges is Elizabeth V. Hallanan, West Virginia Alpha. Appointed by President Ronald Reagan as United States District Judge for the Southern District of West Virginia, Elizabeth was unanimously confirmed by the U.S. Senate on November 11, 1983, and assumed the office last November 30. She is the first woman to be on the federal bench in the fourth circuit, including North and South Carolina, Virginia, Maryland, and West Virginia.

Elizabeth received an A.B. degree from Morris Harvey College, now the University of Charleston, and a Doctor of Jurisprudence from West Virginia University College of Law. She pledged Pi Phi during her first year in law school.

In 1959 Elizabeth was the first woman judge of a court of record in West Virginia when she became judge of the first full-time Juvenile Court in the state. For many years throughout her career, she was active in private law practice. She has served on the West Virginia Board of Education, was a member of the House of Delegates, and has been assistant Commissioner of Public Institutions. In 1969 she was appointed a member of the

Judge Elizabeth Hallanan

W. Virginia Public Service Commission and was named chairman by Gov. Arch A. Moore, Jr. She served on the commission until 1975.

In an article appearing in the Charleston, W. Va. Gazette, written by E. J. Reich, Elizabeth noted that a good federal court judge must be "a ringmaster, a traffic cop and a baseball umpire, with stamina, kindness, and humor." She sees that as both a challenge and a mandate. She doesn't expect to be an activist judge and describes herself as a conservative.

Georgia Alphas currently have three pairs of blood sisters in their chapter at UGA. L-r: Martha Jane and Libby Yates, Cathy and Erica Dwinell, and Mary and Cathy Jones.

Campus fights world hunger

by KIMBERLY VAN DE NOORD

The Pi Phis of Washington Gamma are participating in a unique program which will fight against hunger in the world. The Simple Meal Plan is a new program which allows organizations and members of the University of Puget Sound community to fight against hunger and become more aware of this massive world problem.

Pi Phi, along with other volunteers, have agreed to give up one pre-paid meal a week, lunch on Thursdays, to share in a simple meal of rice and water. Participants meet during their regularly scheduled noon hour and eat this simple meal sitting on the floor in a communal atmosphere. The money saved by University of Puget Sound food services is returned to the Simple Meal Committee and is donated to hunger relief organizations.

The all house effort exhibited by the Pi Phi spurred other fraternities and sororities to participate in the program as organized group efforts.

Florida Alphas Tamara Prescott and Susan Simcox (l-r) are bat-girls for the Stetson Hatter baseball team. The two Pi Phis attend games at home and away, helping the team in whatever way they can.

Harriet Gilbert, South Carolina Beta, was presented to society at the 1983 Christmas Cotillion in Savannah, Ga. Helping celebrate the occasion was her godmother, Sarah Fohl Tgoflat, North Carolina Beta.

Alcohol awareness is chapter project

by MARTHA COBB

The second annual Alcohol Awareness Week was successful once again for Texas Gamma. It took place two weeks before spring break so that students would be aware of the effects of alcohol before they left for the week. It was a busy time, full of events.

Once again a car which had been involved in an alcohol related accident was placed in front of the University Center at Texas Tech. It emphasized the result of drinking and driving.

A table, in the Center lobby, was manned by Pi Phis who passed out bumper stickers and pamphlets. Students were encouraged to sign a pledge that they wouldn't drink more than two drinks in one sitting during March.

Many students participated. Drew Pearson, Dallas Cowboy receiver, started the week with a bang by speaking on alcoholism. He is national spokesman for the Distilled Spirits Council and Students Against Drunk Driving.

During the week, activities included a debate on the issue of the legal drinking age in Texas; lectures on "Women and Alcohol," and "Recovering from Alcoholism;" a workshop dealing with anxiety, often the cause of abusive drinking; and a "Cold Turkey" mixer.

Two mark special Pi Phi dates

When Elizabeth Dickinson Warner, Missouri Alpha (University of Missouri), received her Gold Carnation for 50 years as a Pi Phi, the occasion was made doubly special by the presence of her mother, Shirley Storm Dickinson, Iowa Gamma (Iowa State), marking her 75 years in Pi Phi. Doing the honors last spring was the Ventura County Alumnae Club in California, of which Elizabeth is a charter member.

Shirley, who appears and acts much younger than her 93 years, was initiated into Iowa Gamma in 1908, and graduated from Iowa State in 1911. She was a long time member of the Columbia (Mo.) Alumnae Club and served on the advisory board for Missouri Alpha for many years prior to Elizabeth's initiation in 1933.

In 1950 Shirley founded the Valley of the Moon Alumnae Club in Santa Rosa, Calif. She currently lives in Port Hueneme, Calif., with her husband of almost 70 years, Dr. Sherman Dickinson.

Elizabeth Dickinson Warner, left, was honored for 50 years in Pi Phi as her mother, Shirley Storm Dickinson, marked 75 years.

Elizabeth, a resident of Oxnard, Calif., has remained active in Pi Phi also, an involvement that has included the presidency of both the San Fernando Valley Alumnae Club and the Los Angeles Area Council.

A second daughter, Lena Dickinson Loffer, initiated into Missouri Alpha in 1940, adds yet another 44 years to the family's Pi Phi heritage.

Contestants win game show spots

Have you ever watched a game show and wished you could be a contestant? For Arizona Alphas Carole Bannen and Jessica Hoppe, the dream is reality. The two enthusiastic Pi Phis tried out for the "Wheel of Fortune" game show in February.

The girls were two of 200 to be chosen for twenty spots on the show. In the selection process, they played mock games in order to narrow down contestants. Judges looked for enthusiasm, spontaneity, and ability to play the game well.

After two days of tryouts, the girls made the top ten. Taping for the game show was in April and the program aired in May.

Bradley men featured in pledge project calendar

by MARY HUNSICKER

Illinois Theta has completed a new project, a 1984 "Men of Bradley" calendar. The idea started with the 1983 spring pledge class. They chose the calendar as their pledge class project with a goal of demonstrating to the chapter their responsibility and initiative. The Pi Phis also felt there was a demand on campus for a calendar featuring men, as previously there had been nothing like it at Bradley.

The pledges began their project in April, 1983, by asking girls on campus to call in nominations. These were narrowed to 25 semifinalists. The semifinalists had test shots taken, and in a long four-hour selection process, twelve "Men of Bradley" were chosen. Selection was based on looks and campus involvement, featuring various types of guys who would be representative of Bradley's male population. The Pi Phi calendar was produced in conjunction with Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity, who produces an annual "Dreamgirls" calendar of Bradley women.

Chairing the committee was Linda Livengood and modeling coordinator was Shari Blanck. Shari, a senior photo-journalism major, also did all the photography. Ad sales and distribution were handled by Mary Jo Ferlmann, and in charge of finances was Diane Ivezich. Funding for the calendar came from advertising and donations from parents and alumnae of Illinois Theta.

Patti Warr is special to Pi Phi and university

by CAROL BIGLOW

When Oregon Alpha pledged Patti Perlich in 1961, they had no idea what a great impact she'd have on both Pi Beta Phi and the University of Oregon 20 years later. Patti was born and reared in Eugene, Ore., where the University is located. As an undergraduate, she served Oregon Alpha as chapter treasurer.

After spending a few years in northern California, Patti Perlich Warr and her Sigma Chi husband and two Pi Phi legacies returned home to Eugene. It wasn't long before the Eugene Alumnae Club called on Patti's talents and appointed her the Eugene ACRIC. Several years later Oregon Alpha added Patti to a long list of outstanding AAC chairmen when she accepted the position in 1981. Throughout her three years as chairman and financial advisor, Patti shared her inspiration, guidance, experience, and, most of all, her friendship, with Oregon Alpha.

Said one member, "... never have I met a more giving person than Patti Warr. She is an asset to our chapter and truly an outstanding lady."

Not only have the Pi Phis benefited from Patti's dedication. The University of Oregon is also fortunate to have Patti serve as secretary of the University of Oregon Alumni Club, secretary of the Panhellenic Advisory Committee, and on various other campus and community projects. Most recently she was appointed interim Greek Advisor for the U. of O., a position which allows her to work with alumni, administrators, and members of the 25 IFC and Panhellenic organizations.

Oregon Alpha is proud to have this special Pi Phi as their own.

Cindy Gladkowski, left, and Sarah Head, Illinois Alphas, both held the offices of president and treasurer at the same time. Sarah was chapter president, ran for the position of secretary of the Monmouth senior class, and won. Cindy was chapter treasurer, and was elected class president.

All work, No play? Not quite—in Tunisia

Diane Banks takes some time out from her Tunis digging.

Diane Banks, a senior classical archaeology major at the University of Georgia, recently returned from an archeological dig in Tunisia, where she was able to "play in the dirt" for a month.

Tunis is the capital of Tunisia, located in the northeast corner of Africa. It is a paradise and a wonderful place to spend a summer vacation. Ancient remains are scattered throughout the entire city and provide archaeologists with intriguing opportunities to recreate history.

Diane's one month trip allowed her to gain experience in her field of study and also earned her ten credit hours towards graduation. What more could anyone ask for in a summer vacation than to live in a "maison," two blocks from the beach, surrounded by ancient ruins in a modern city? But, Diane says that there were some drawbacks.

She lived in the maison with fifty other people from all over the world including Rome, London, and California. These fifty people shared everything throughout the course of the dig. There were only two working restrooms and only three showers, one being outside!

Her day began at 4:30 a.m. as she walked one mile to the excavation site in order to start work at 5:00. At 9:30 a.m. lunch was served consisting of bread, cheese, yogurt, and Coke. By this time, it was 102° and Diane was covered from head to toe with dust and dirt. Work was over at 12:30 when she walked back to the house, put on her swim suit, rinsed the dirt off, and headed to the beach for the afternoon. Night life consisted of touring the city and ruins, going to the Reine Didon or Amilcar Hotel, or getting European ice cream from the cafe down the street.

The experience of digging at the site of the Roman Circus, the location of chariot races and the like, was the most thrilling of Diane's trip. She worked in a trench which was excavating under the seating section of the Circus. The most exciting thing that she uncovered was a Roman lamp made of terra cotta which had a relief of Achilles, the famous Greek warrior, dragging Hector around the Trojan wall.

Diane brought back many pictures and stories for her Georgia Alpha sisters and loves talking about her many experiences in beautiful Tunis. But the best aspect of her trip was that she had experience in her field of study along with a great tan.

Sultan entertains 500 for unusual two week holiday

by KRISTIN ESKILSEN

Students reminiscing about spring break '84 usually remember sun, sand, and surf in Ft. Lauderdale, the Bahamas, or Virgin Islands. Recently, I spent some time in a hot spot not commonly considered a vacation retreat: the Middle East. My experience was exciting, educational, and a whole lot of fun.

At the invitation of Sultan Qaboos bin Said, nearly 500 young people gathered in his homeland of Oman, a tiny country on the southeastern coast of the Arabian peninsula. Despite the turmoil raging in Lebanon and nearby Iran-Iraq borders, the group met to celebrate a holiday and to learn about the improvements being made in Oman.

The holiday called National Day commemorates a coup for independence and the beginning of advancement in human rights and development in Oman. In keeping with this year's theme of Youth Year, young people from every country in the free world were selected to join in Oman's celebration and pledge of hope for the future, soon to be inherited by young leaders of tomorrow. Among the American delegation were students from Utah, Wyoming, North Carolina, Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Connecticut and a Vermont Beta Pi Phi from the University of Vermont.

Omanis have great admiration and interest in the American way of life and often questioned us about politics, music, and television stars. Most Omanis speak English as a second language and were able to speak with us much more easily than we could have spoken Arabic. Hearing the image they have of America and its leaders filled us with pride and greater respect for our country's position in the world.

While the trip was planned and paid for by the Sultan of Oman, activities included an exciting mixture of sight-seeing, official ceremonies, and time to soak up the sun and make friends with people from all over the world.

The country, with a history stretching back to the days of explorer Sinbad the Sailor, is quickly developing to match the strides of world leaders. Contrasts of historical culture and new technology abounded. Wild goats graze the medians of busy highways and businessmen dress in turbans and wraps as they invest in petroleum development and computer technology.

Over the course of two busy weeks we spent in Oman, the group of international visitors grew quite friendly and hopeful. Language barriers disappeared as we broadened understanding and appreciation of each other's culture. At the same time, deep and lasting friendship bound us together in our hope for world peace in our time. Although the 1980's will be noted as a chaotic time in the Middle East, we will remember it as a paradise where we initiated a future of world peace and mutual understanding.

Joni Smith finds being busy is best

It often has been noted that if a busy woman is given a job to do, she will do it well. And that is certainly the case with Joni Jensen Smith of Los Angeles.

Joni, a business-finance major at USC where she was a California Gamma, is the mother of three, the corporate secretary-treasurer for the family Beverly Financial Corporation, and was co-chairman this year for the Mercado, the major fundraiser for the Performing Arts Council, umbrella organization for Music Center groups. The giant event was held in April on the Music Center Plaza and was preceded with an auction gala at $250 per person.

Three children, now 19, 17, and 14, kept Joni occupied at home for a while, but she didn't feel she was producing as a member of the community. That was the beginning. She joined a number of organizations and became president of each one consecutively. She is currently in her second year as chairman of the Costume Council at the L.A. County Museum of Art.

Eight years ago she decided to learn the business her husband Clark heads. She started at the switchboard, worked on collections and bookkeeping, bought contracts, and handled financing. She's worked since.

"She's very efficient," comments Clark.

The two get up at 6:15 every day. She does Jane Fonda floor exercises for 20 minutes, then dresses and is off to the office. One day a week, at 7 a.m., she markets. An average of four nights a week, she and Clark have social or school engagements. Weekends are reserved for family, household chores, and making the next week's agenda.

Joni's involvement in the Music Center and the museum are her loves. "I love the arts, probably because I am not artistic. I'm an idea person."

She accomplishes a lot, she believes, because she maps out her life. She also takes shortcuts, shopping by telephone, for example, when sales come up or when she sees things in magazines or newspapers.

In an article in the Los Angeles Times, Joni noted, "I think you get out of life what you put into it. Everybody has good times and bad times. If people are happy with themselves, that is all they need."

It's obvious that Joni is happy with herself, her family, and her busy, productive life.

Jean Shepherd Bork

Lawyer assumes district judgeship

Jean Shepherd Bork, Kansas Alpha, assumed the post of associate district judge of the 7th Judicial District in Kansas on June 1. She was appointed to the post by Gov. John Carlin, and, of the state's 140 district and associate judges, she is one of only three women. She was appointed from a field of eight applicants.

Jean has been a member of the Lawrence law firm of Barber, Emerson, Six, Springer and Zinn since Jan. 1, 1981. Before that she was an assistant district attorney, after receiving her law degree from Kansas University in 1977.

She received a bachelor's degree in English education from KU and taught in Kansas City for five years. She is married to John Bork, county attorney for Jefferson County.

Chain has new link

The chain of Pi Phi began over fifty years ago in Deborah Hesse's family. Deborah, a computer science major at Butler University, is a new initiate of the Indiana Gamma chapter.

The chain began with Deborah's grandmother, Edith Wilson Stone, who was initiated into Missouri Beta at Washington University in February, 1934.

Deborah's mother, Georgene Stone Hesse, and her great aunt, Inez Wilson Deming, were also Missouri Beta initiates. The fourth Pi Phi in the family is her aunt, Joan Oseik Stone, a Missouri Alpha initiate.

Gymnast appears in movies, clubs

Sharon Shapiro, two time NCAA gymnastics champion and California Delta's very own, is still active in the gymnastics world, though retired from collegiate competition. A four year member of the UCLA team and holding numerous titles, honors, and unbroken records, Sharon's name has become a legend in the realm of gymnastics.

Having been a member of the United States National Team and numerous professional touring teams, Sharon remains active in her sport. Not only is she a commentator at various gymnastics meets such as the UCLA Invitationals and the National Collegiate Championships, but Sharon has been active in the motion picture industry as well. Her latest movie appearance was in "Flashdance" as the acrobat in the film and as gymnastics consultant.

Sharon is consultant for the Tomboy Clothing Company and is a representative for the company on all National Team tours. She also appears as a professional performer at Beverly Hills' exclusive Playboy Club, highlighting a show hyping the 1984 Olympics.

Five attend political seminar

Five Washington Gamma Pi Phi, Holly Sabelhaus, Marcie Root, Cindy Niichel, Leslie Schriver, and Teresa Wember attended Washington Center's three week seminar on "The Making of a President" last January. They were among thirty University of Puget Sound students who attended the seminar that focused study on the Presidential campaign, American foreign and domestic policy, and the Presidency itself.

The five found Washington, D.C., fascinating and enjoyed meeting students from all over the country who were also attending the seminar.

Athletic Angels

Intramurals

Texas Beta is the new volleyball champion at SMU, finishing the season undefeated and winning the championship by taking two out of three games.

California Gammas at U.S.C. won the Inter-sorority Volleyball Championship with smashing success. Defeating ADPi in the finals gave Pi Phi the third consecutive volleyball title.

At Arizona State, Arizona Beta Cross Country Angels, Cynthia Roney, Kristan Johnson, and Eden Hasset, finished first place overall in cross country intramurals.

Tina Strickland, quarterback for the Tennessee Alpha football team, was named intramural Athlete of the Month in November. The team won first place in regular season sorority division.

Iowa Zetas won two events in the University of Iowa track meet. Amy Berger, Mari Sather, Laura Zerán, and Nancy DeHaan won the 880 relay, and Nancy won the 440 dash.

New York Delta finished second in soccer and hockey, with both teams making it to the division championships at Cornell. They took third in relay and second in sprint in indoor track.

Pi Phi's newest chapter captured the Sorority Intramural basketball championship at Drake. With the help of Sharlene Schultz, Iowa Eta finished the season with only one defeat.

In the University of Connecticut winter weekend obstacle course, Connecticut Alpha Cheryl Parker claimed the prize for top points overall.

Clara Ellis won the women's free throw contest at the University of Alabama. The Alabama Beta beat out fifteen girls, winning in the fourth round with eight of ten good shots. Her average at the end of the tournament was 78 out of 100.

Kelly Soergel and Kelly Nash made quite a team as they won the All-Greek Racquetball Doubles Championship for Oklahoma Beta.

Texas Beta's new transfer, Deb Dickenson, won the lap swim competition. She swam over 750 laps in a one month period.

California Alphas at Stanford were second place winners in last fall's intramural football league. It's obvious, however, that although these Pi Phis got tough on the field, they haven't lost their angelic looks!

Varsity

Amy Pless, North Carolina Alpha, is co-captain of the University of North Carolina swim team—recent ACC champions. Amy is one of five from the team selected to compete in summer Olympic trials in June. A swimmer since the age of six, Amy has earned such titles as All-American Woman's Swimmer. Her strength is the 100 meter breast stroke.

Colorado Alpha Eileen Magee is a member of the University of Colorado's women's ice hockey team. She learned to skate just three weeks before joining the team, but learned many of her skills from playing field hockey in high school.

Cindy Zikes, Oregon Beta, is a member of the OSU varsity ski team which went to regionals as #1 team in its league this year. Linda Valera rode with the OSU mounted drill team which participated in several local parades as well as Portland's famous Rose Festival Parade. Linda is also an alternate for the Oregon State equestrian team. Marie Colmey is a hot pool player. She won the ACUI billiards tourney and earned the right to go to regionals in Bozeman, Mont. She and her father played in a tournament during Dad's Weekend and won first place. In both events, Marie was the only woman playing!

Lisa Jenkins, Maine Alpha, a swimmer on the UMO team, led the Black Bears to the National Meet by placing in several events in the New England Competition.

Oregon Alpha Renee James is an active participant on the U of O track team, running the 400 meter.

St. Lawrence University's riding program is thriving. New York Gamma Jill Pflugheber is a member of the nationally competitive intercollegiate riding team.

Three Indiana Epsilons were in Atlanta, Ga., in March for the Division III National Swim meet. Kathy Evans, an All-American, competed in three events, coming in 5th in individual 200 yd butterfly. Along with Patty Montgomery, Kathy also qualified for All-American status in the 400 yd free-style relay. Instrumental to the thirteenth place finish of the 200 yd free-style relay team were Patty and Terri McCann. Patty and DePauw Pi Phi chapter president, Linda Lukens, were captains for the 1983-'84 season.

Iowa Zetas Lori Pozzi and Kristin Peterson helped lead the Iowa Women's Swimming Team to a third place finish in the 1984 Big Ten Championships in February. Kristin was team co-captain for the Hawkeyes who finished the year with an 11-0 dual meet record and had the first undefeated season in the school's history.

Indoor track boasted three Illinois Alpha Pi Phis, Sue Kvasnicka, Diane Buehrig, and Joan Chatfield. Sue was co-captain of the seven member squad and set Monmouth College records in the 400 meter run, triple jump, and long jump. Four Pi Phis were members of the women's basketball team—Ann Jamieson, Kim Hott, Renee Russell, and Becky Novak. Ann was captain of the squad and received all-state honors. She also ranked fourth in the Division III Midwest Conference in field goals.

Sandra Jones, Maryland Beta, is manager of the men's baseball team at the University of Maryland.

New York Gammas star on #1 ice hockey team

New York Gamma Pi Phis at St. Lawrence University make up almost half of the #1 New York state women's ice hockey team.

Mary Beth Riley and Val VanHorn, two of three captains, led the team to the finest season ever for a women's team at the school, with a 15-6 record. The two juniors were not alone, as Kate Trembley also helped with her scoring ability on the forward line. Mary Beth led the team with 52 points, 22 of which were actual goals with the remainder being assists. Second in scoring was a spring pledge, Chris Cawley, with 20 goals and 20 assists, and another pledge, Kathy Duncan, was not far behind with 15 goals and 18 assists.

Another Pi Phi standout was freshman Lauren Matura. As a defensive player she was highly successful in preventing opponents from scoring. Also among the ranks were sophomore forwards Jen Nolan, Robin Collins, Lauren Rapell, and Emily Dawkins. Three of these four Pi Phis had never played hockey before their freshman year at St. Lawrence, yet this year scored several goals, assisted even more, and most of all supported the team with their spirit, enthusiasm, and dedication.

Not satisfied with merely achieving the number one position in New York state, the SLU hockey team was invited to the ECAC Invitational at Brown University to participate as the seventh ranked team in the United States. The Pi Phis led St. Lawrence to victories over tough teams from Brown, Cornell, McGill, Colgate, Middlebury, UVM, and others.

Player has winning record

Illinois Theta Shelly Conover, being the first softball player at Bradley University to actively participate in the Greek system, is considered a pioneer in her field.

Before college, Shelly played in a girls' summer league in Kankakee, Ill., for seven years, and was an All-Star player each year. Last year she received the top votes for all-summer league play. In the final year of her high school career, she led all pitchers in balloting for the All-Conference team and was included on the Kankakee Journal All-Area softball team.

Synchronized swimmers hope for Olympic gold

by LADONNA HOPPER

Tracie Ruiz, Arizona Alpha, and her partner, Candy Costie, are making headlines in the elaborate and exciting sport of synchronized swimming. They are hopefuls for a gold medal in the Summer Olympics.

Tracie works six to eight hours a day in the pool with her partner. But the hard work pays off. The girls have won many meets as well as recognition in the upcoming sport.

Synchronized swimming mixes ballet, dance, and swimming with music to produce a tantalizing effect. The pair glides through the water without creating a ripple on the surface. The hardest thing for duets in this event is timing and imitation of movements. Every single move must coincide with the partner's, to produce a mirror image.

The girls design their costumes with rhinestones and sequins and wear hats of the same. To keep their hair back and out of the way, they use a mixture of gelatin and water. This keeps it on top of their heads while twisting underwater.

Tracie became a member of Arizona Alpha in 1981. She left after her first year at the University to pursue her goal, the Olympics, after which she plans to return to Arizona to finish college.

Late word has been received that Tracie Ruiz, who swims with the Seattle Aqua Club, finished first in the Solo Finals of the U.S. Synchronized Swimming Invitational National Championships and Olympic Trials Sunday, April 30. Her partner, Candy Costie, finished second.

Dean is All-American

by DIANE KENNEDY

Molly Dean, Pennsylvania Gamma, is the first female All-American athlete in the history of Dickinson College. She competed in the NCAA Division III Women's National Swimming Competition at Emory University in Atlanta in March and qualified to swim in the maximum number of events, four individual and three relays. She earned All-American status in four of the seven events by placing in the top twelve in those four. She was seventh in the 200 yard freestyle, ninth in the 400 freestyle relay, ninth in the 200 butterfly, and seventh in the 800 freestyle relay. Her team finished sixteenth of seventy-two schools competing. Last year Dickinson swimmers weren't even listed on the scoreboard!

Molly achieved many other swimming honors throughout her freshman year, just completed. She broke ten varsity records and broke a seven-year Mid-Atlantic Conference record in the 200 butterfly. At that meet, she led Dickinson to a conference championship for the first time, winning five gold medals.

Molly is an inspiration to many of her teammates, but her personal inspiration is quite special. She finds her drive in her older brother, Jeffrey.

"He was born with Down's Syndrome, yet he has overcome so much," explains Molly. "He has been a world champion swimmer in the international Special Olympics. He's probably the only person more upset than I am when I don't swim well. He helps me stay up. Because of him, I realize we can do anything we set our minds to, even if we have a handicap."

Molly's coach, Joe McEvoy, claims that Molly's strength lies in her positive attitude. "She's an extremely hard worker," he stated. "She works on every aspect of every event she competes in."

Athletics and academics aren't all Molly has found at Dickinson. She is "extremely happy" to have pledged Pi Phi and her enthusiasm resulted in her election as pledge class historian. She is even more excited about Pi Phi now that swimming is over.

"When I was in Georgia," she said, "I had to miss out on a lot of pledge class activities. But now I can devote myself fully to Pi Phi so that I can give the most I can and get the most out of Pi Phi. Pi Phi sure has a lot to offer!"

Molly Dean has a lot to offer Pennsylvania Gamma and the chapter is proud to have her as one of their number.

University honors alumna

The Ann Jordan Award is presented by the University of New Mexico each year to an alumnus who does an outstanding job in the recruitment of new students to UNM. The recruitment process usually consists of home visits, telephone contacts, and also volunteer recruitment.

Pi Phi alumnae have received this award for two of the four years it has been presented. Recipient of the award in 1982 was Paula Holland Grief and, in 1983, Stephanie Stinnett earned the honor for her outstanding job.

Center: Heather Brown, Virginia Gamma, spent spring break from William and Mary, competing in a Triathlon in Atlanta. She swam two miles, biked twenty miles, then ran six miles. Right: Amy Smith, Arkansas Alpha, just completed her freshman year on the women's tennis team. For the past three years she has been ranked #1 in the state. (Dyer photo by David Knachel)

Fifth sister continues legacy line

Sisterhood has taken on two meanings at Alabama Beta. There are girls who are sisters as well as sisters in Pi Phi.

Nearly every chapter has its share of sisters who are loyal to the wine and blue. Alabama Beta is no different with Kathy and Tricia Parish, Gretchen and Renee Karst, Leslie and Debbie Sockwell, Charlene and Laura Gudger, and Susan and Marie Lyons.

But the chapter at the University of Alabama also boasts a set of five sisters. They are Liz, Suzanne, Jackie, Charlotte, and Jennifer Stokes from Mobile.

The legacy started with Liz Stokes Terry, initiated in 1976. She was an outstanding pledge, assistant pledge trainer, and received the Elsie B. Gribbon Award as outstanding junior.

Then Suzanne was initiated in 1978. She held the office of V.P. Social and received the Amy B. Onken Award.

Jackie was initiated in 1980 and became V.P. Social and won the Millicent T. Lawrance Award. She was president in 1981-82 and also received the Elsie B. Gribbon Award.

In 1981, Charlotte was initiated. She was house manager and historian. While historian she won the Stark Vase for best chapter history.

The last of the Stokes sisters, Jennifer, was initiated in February. She does not have to worry about following in the footsteps of her sisters because Jennifer has already made a path of her own at Alabama Beta. She was pledge class president and outstanding pledge.

Nebraska Beta's Kathy Hanson was featured on the Phi Gamma Delta calendar at the University. She appeared for the month of October and won the overall scholarship awarded to the girl voted "Best Calendar Girl of the Year."

Kyhos takes top honor at Davis

by SUZANNE SHERINIAN

On March 12, 1984, U.C. Davis Panhellenic announced the 1984 Greek Woman of the Year and it was none other than California Theta's own Alice Kyhos! In its fourth year of existence, the award has been won three times by Cal Theta Pi Phis.

The Greek Woman of the Year award is based on scholastic achievement, community and sorority involvement, career aspirations, and personal character. Alice, a senior majoring in psychology, is on the Dean's List and is a member of Psi Chi, psychology honor society. She has been a recipient of a number of awards including the Harriet Rutherford Johnstone Scholarship, has been active within the chapter, and works as a peer counselor on campus. Her future plans include graduate school at Stanford.

Alice's award was a perpetual plaque with the name of each year's winner engraved on it, a dozen roses, and a check for $200.00.

That same evening, Cal Theta was honored for receiving the highest chapter G.P.A., with a 3.03, of all nine sororities on campus.

G'burg workshop is inspirational

by CATHERINE WERNER

When a four hour drive from North Carolina to Tennessee turned into seven frustrating hours, we began to think that the weekend was off to a rough start! After twisting through the Smoky Mountains, we thought we had finally found the turn-off . . . only to be met a mile later by a ROAD CLOSED barricade. We were tired and upset, but all we could do was laugh! From that point on, the weekend was full of fun and excitement.

Delta, Epsilon, and Kappa provinces met at Arrowmont in Gatlinburg, Tenn., for their regional workshop in February. There was a wealth of new ideas and information resulting from the workshops and meetings, but there was a lot more than that. Here was a group of extremely diverse girls who had never met each other before. We were all strangers, but the only thing that seemed strange to me was the fact that while no one really knew anybody, everybody was immediately open and friendly, hoping to provide some ideas or encouragement for the rest. People were overwhelmingly honest and informative, especially with regards to their own chapter problems and successes.

This all seemed well and good to me, until I stopped to think why there was such a warm and wonderful spirit pervading the wooded Settlement School grounds. Suddenly it occurred to me that it was the bond of Pi Beta Phi. I was inspired to write a note to my new Pi Phi little sister:

"The stars outside seem so much clearer, so bright and near from out here, but it's the people around me who really make this place glow. Around me in all directions are Pi Phis from all over the United States, staying together for a weekend. Although most do not know each other, they share a common bond. For a year now I have been told how all Pi Phis have something special between them, but honestly, it sounded a bit exaggerated! This, however, has been my first real opportunity to feel the strength of the Pi Phi golden chain—its links are strong and true. I never thought I could ever feel any more happy or satisfied than I have this past year with Pi Beta Phi. Somehow, though, now I see even more that I am part of a truly wonderful group, with a bond that holds a meaning beyond the description of mere words. It's a feeling. A feeling of an unique and special friendship, of caring and sisterhood, and of love. This is the feeling of Pi Beta Phi."

That weekend will serve as a wonderful inspiration for me well beyond my years as an active college Pi Phi.

Queen is crowned

Kaye Yearous, Colorado Gamma, is 1983-'84 National Chianina Queen, crowned at ceremonies held in Kansas City.

Kaye has represented the Chianina cattle breed at many shows, including the A.C.A. National Show in Louisville, Ky.; National Western Stock Show in Denver, Colo.; Sioux Empire Farm Show, Sioux Falls, S.D.; and Iowa Beef Expo, Des Moines, Iowa.

A junior at Colorado State, Kaye has been active in raising and showing Chianina cattle for the past five years. Her reign as queen will end in November, during the 1984 National Junior Chianina Show activities in Louisville.

Anita DeMarsh, Florida Alpha

Prexy excels in dance competition

Florida Alpha's energetic chapter president, Anita DeMarsh, is a Scottish Highland Dancer. Although not of Scottish heritage, she dances as though she were.

Since she was sixteen, Anita has spent many hours practicing for competition around the southeastern United States. Competition includes games at Grandfather Mountain in North Carolina, and Stone Mountain in Atlanta, Ga. She has accumulated many awards and trophies, has been named Best Southeastern Dancer and Best Florida Dancer, as well as earning cash prizes. In the summer of 1981, she traveled to England and Scotland for the World Championships and she hopes to return to that competition in 1985.

Along with her competitive efforts, Anita has entertained many audiences, including those at Rosie O'Grady's and Epcot Center in Orlando, Fla. Many times the chapter has goaded her into performing for them as well.

Dancing, however, is only one aspect of Anita's many attributes. She is also a very active member of Pi Phi at Stetson. She has been philanthropy chairman and rush chairman, as well as president of the chapter. Because of her strength and ability to cope with so many things at one time, she has persevered in keeping the bond of sisterhood at its strongest within Florida Alpha.

Conference sharing stimulates ideas

by AMY NOSTRAND

The third Northeastern Panhellenic Council and Interfraternity Council Conference was held in March in Philadelphia, Pa. Approximately 45 schools attended. Much was learned, ideas were shared, and many friendships were made.

Theme for the conference was "In Search of Excellence" which was expressed through leadership workshops, general lectures, and business meetings. Students and advisors were kept very busy with well structured workshops and seminars. Topics discussed in leadership sessions included philanthropic and fund raising programs, values in the fraternity, rush and rush counseling, Panhellenic standards, programming, public relations, and discussions on the hazards of hazing. Seminars were run by Greek, Panhellenic, and IFC advisors, as well as Greek alumnae, national directors and advisors.

All of the guest lecturers were excellent, speaking on topics such as "Secret Thoughts on the Ritual," "Motivating Your Members," and "Greek Alcohol Concerns." The most captivating presentation was given by Eileen Stevens of C.H.U.C.K.—Committee to Halt Useless College Killings. Much was learned by all and delegates returned to their schools with many new ideas for their PH and IFC Councils.

A banquet and awards ceremony Friday night recognized many schools for their Panhellenic and Interfraternity achievements. Among PH award recipients were the University of Vermont and Bucknell University for outstanding Panhellenic Councils. UVM was honored for schools with one to six sororities, and Bucknell for seven or more sororities on campus.

Attending Pi Phis met together to chat, learn, and share new ideas about the other northeastern chapters. Pi Phis there included Mary McDonough, Maryland Beta; Laura Dant, Massachusetts Alpha; Kim Greenfield, Pennsylvania Zeta; Stacey Sine Abernethy (alumna) and Ann Sheridan, Pennsylvania Betas; Vicky Horne and Jenny Sidell, New York Deltas; and Elizabeth Dobert and Amy Nostrand, Vermont Betas. It was fun to meet other Pi Phis and refreshing to remember that we have sisters all over the country.

The conference was a great success and an experience not easily forgotten. It was a week-end of learning, sharing, meeting new friends, and fun.

Ethel McKenna Hart, a 1924 Washington Beta initiate, has just celebrated her tenth anniversary as housemother of the Washington Alpha chapter at the University of Washington.

Dad's weekend is big success

Colorado Alphas at the University of Colorado in Boulder spent an October weekend with their favorite men, their dads.

Dad's Weekend is a special occasion for everyone. Pledge Debbie Lui's father flew all the way from Hawaii, and senior Jean Papuga's dad was honored for attending Dad's Weekend for the eighth year. (Jean's older sister is also a Colorado Alpha.)

After coffee and doughnuts at the house, the weekend officially began with a father/daughter softball game. The most valuable player was undoubtedly Lisa Yates' father who injured his ankle in a last minute attempt to save his losing team.

Afterwards, lunch was served at the house before the CU/Missouri football game.

Phi Delta Theta hosted a Casino Party for their parents and Pi Phi dads that evening. Everyone enjoyed the party, especially Robin Briscuso's dad who cleaned up at the Black Jack table.

Sunday morning a delicious brunch marked the end of Dad's Weekend. Before saying goodbye, the CU Buffoon's, a men's singing group, gave a great performance.

Congratulations for a completely successful weekend go to social chairman Leslie Boylan. More than one dad was heard to say he wanted to return the next week.

Last summer Susan Flaxbart, Texas Delta, spent six weeks studying at University East Anglia in Norwich, England. During her stay she traveled to the original Monmouth in Wales.

Doing Unto Others . . .

Through Chapter Service Projects

In the many thousands of hours of time and effort expended by Greeks in service and philanthropic activities, Pi Phi is not lacking in those efforts. Of particular interest, of course, is Settlement School, Pi Phi's own national philanthropy.

At the annual Alumnae Fashion Show in Scottsdale, Ariz., last fall, ARIZONA BETA pledges sold raffle tickets and Arrowcraft items, with money collected throughout the afternoon going to Arrowmont.

Auburn Pi Phis held a series of fund raisers including a party given with the Sigma Chis. From this and other smaller activities, ALABAMA GAMMA contributed $800 to Arrowmont.

WEST VIRGINIA ALPHA held a Pi Phi Caper, complete with disc jockey, contests, and a scavenger hunt, and cleared over $700 for Arrowmont.

Pi Phi and Sigma Chi philanthropies benefited from Derby Day at the University of Maryland. MARYLAND BETA won second place in the T-shirt design contest, and held a successful bake sale.

TEXAS BETA sponsored Donate a Dollar Dinner Night in March. Dallas alums were invited to the Mexican Fiesta where it took a dollar or more to purchase a plate. All proceeds were donated to Arrowmont, with awards given to the largest contributors.

IOWA ZETAS won first place in the "Fraternity Feud" sponsored by Sigma Delta Tau sorority at the University of Iowa to help raise money for abused children. Pi Phis defeated Alpha Phi and Kappa in the contest modeled after TV's "Family Feud."

NEW YORK DELTA entertained eight elderly women in the chapter house at Cornell, celebrating Valentine's Day. The women were residents of Oak Hill Manor, a home for the aged near the campus, and they were served a lovely dinner, complete with arrangements of red and white carnations at each table, which became favors for the women.

Panhellenic Council at Monmouth sponsored a clothing and canned goods drive for the YWCA Shelter for Battered Women and Children in Burlington, Ia. One night it was a requirement to take a donation to the Student Center in order to get into dinner.

TENNESSEE GAMMA Pi Phis were top contributors through the University of Tennessee Panhellenic for sponsors in the Jazzercise Marathon for Leukemia. A total of $108 was donated by individual Pi Phis.

In February, TEXAS DELTAs participated in TCU's national phonathon. Forty Pi Phis called TCU alumni and raised over $5,000 for the university.

Oklahoma Alpha and Sigma Phi Epsilon at the University of Oklahoma raised approximately $8,000 for Muscular Dystrophy during a fifty hour dance marathon. Standing, l-r: Aimee Robb, chairman of the event, and Kelly Emery. Front: Nicole Tosacco and May Chang.

Sarah Shaw, Connecticut Alpha, and her Delta Chi partner, Frank Tavera, raised $100 of the total $10,000 during the 24-hour dance marathon for Multiple Sclerosis at UConn. The event was sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega, coed service fraternity.

INDIANA ALPHA helped the Franklin community at a Handicap Fair at Earlywood Special Services.

SOUTH CAROLINA BETA and Clemson Sig Eps organized a party for children at the DAR School near Seneca to celebrate Halloween. The chapter also participated in a joint fund raiser with Theta Chi and collected nearly $400 for the American Heart Association.

One of Pi Phi's new TGCs, Michelle Murrell, CALIFORNIA ETA, won the "Most Beautiful Eyes" contest for the third year in a row. The contest, sponsored by Delta Gamma at U.C.-Irvine raised money for the LA Blind Children's Organization.

The new Regional Traveling Counselor, Lisa Gamel, COLORADO ALPHA, and a good friend, Mitch Oblender, won the SAE sponsored Close-Up Smooch-A-Thon benefiting Easter Seals. Lisa and Mitch raised the most money as well as placing first in the kissing events!

Individually, WEST VIRGINIA ALPHAS help with a skating program for underprivileged children at Scott's Run Settlement School. Each Wednesday night, girls help with skate rental, refreshments, and disc jockeying.

VERMONT BETAs won a $50 prize for the highest number of dollars pledged in one night during the University of Vermont's annual Alumni Giving Phone-a-thon.

With participation from campus Greeks and other student organizations, Bradley University's 1984 Campus Carnival proved to be a success. Sponsored by the Activities Council, with help from a local radio station and Pepsi, all funds raised were given to local charities as a service to the community of Peoria. ILLINOIS THETA and Pi Kappa Phi ran a Wheel of Fortune game booth.

IOWA BETAs at Simpson College contributed six hours of receipt tabulating to help raise money for the Iowa Public Broadcasting Network.

Ten ILLINOIS ETAs cheered on competitors in the indoor Special Olympics at Millikin University. Pi Phi was the only sorority to participate in the event.

PENNSYLVANIA ETA and Kappa Delta Rho at Lafayette sponsored, for the third year, a dance marathon with proceeds going to the Big Brother/Big Sister program in Easton. In the past two years, the marathon has resulted in contributions of almost $10,000 to the program.

The Big Brother/Big Sister program of Fort Wayne, Ind., also benefited from Pi Phi efforts. INDIANA ETAs participated and raised over $200 for the program, with Becky Gabbard the individual raising the most money. Becky was also high scorer.

Muscular Dystrophy benefited from the activities of two chapters. INDIANA DELTA and FLORIDA BETA raised several thousand dollars for MD.

Five take part in research study

Five Pi Phis from Michigan Alpha voluntarily agreed to be subjects in a research study on women's strength development. Before the girls were accepted as subjects, they completed physical and psychological tests, including an extensive personality index and skin-fold tests.

The study was conducted by Miss Becky Brown, an instructor at Hillsdale College. The five participating Pi Phis were Chris Cambridge, Judy Kleinschmidt, Maureen Kennedy, Celestine McClaine, and Kimberly Snarey. The study lasted fifteen weeks and required the girls to work out at least three hours a week.

The weight program included use of the bench press, leg press, military press, and free weights. Miss Brown required the subjects to evaluate their mental state on the day of each work out as well.

Judy Kleinschmidt commented about her participation in the program, "At first I wanted to participate in the program for the sole purpose of getting in shape. Now, however, I have come to enjoy knowing that, if necessary, I am able to move heavy objects and defend myself."

Diver adds to list of Achievements

by MEGAN DELAMAR

Jean Meyer, 21, California Alpha, added the title of Western Regional and Zone Champion for 1984 to her growing list of diving achievements.

Jean began her diving career at the age of seven, and continued through AAU and high school at San Marino and Mission Viejo. She was named eight times national age group winner, a repeated semi-finalist in the U.S. Senior National Championships, two time Collegiate All-American and the first woman diver at Stanford to earn this title, two time fourth place winner at the NCAA meets in 1982 and 1983, and two time PAC-Ten Champion.

A junior in American Studies, Jean was chapter secretary last year. Besides painting, running, making things for her friends, and diving, Jean loves teaching diving to children.

"I do" in offing for ransomed officer

Each spring quarter Pi Phis at the University of Georgia hold their annual Kidnap Social to raise money for Arrowmont. Groups of two or three sisters "kidnap" presidents of sororities and fraternities on campus, take them to "jail" and hold them for "ransom," to be paid by the respective sorority or fraternity.

Last year Missy Cooper and Tammy Neu kidnapped the president of Kappa Alpha Theta and the vice president of Alpha Tau Omega. Missy and Tammy took the two to jail and waited for someone to come bail them out. While waiting, Missy and the ATO became acquainted and started dating soon after.

Eight months later, Missy surprised the chapter by having a candlelight announcing her engagement to the ATO "kidnapee." The wedding is in October in Athens, and the reception will be held at the Pi Phi house.

This year everyone anticipated the kidnap social. After all, there was a possibility that crime would pay again!

Some Pi Phis take every opportunity to show off their Greek affiliation. Annette Solomon's Oklahoma Beta license plate proclaims her Pi Phi pride.

Odom stars in hit show

by SARA MARIE ZEMER

Pi Phis at Colorado Gamma gathered during February to support one of their sisters in the campus production of "Charley's Aunt." Pi Phis filled three rows of seats to see sophomore Miranda Odom play the role of Charley's girlfriend, Amy Spettigue. The play turned out to be one of the biggest shows produced at Colorado State University in six years.

Being a theatre education major, Miranda's dedication is shown through endless hours of work at the theatre.

"My favorite part of working is that I never do the same thing. On different days we may work on lights, sets, costumes, or props," she said.

Receiving the Creative and Performing Arts Scholarship meant that her education was paid for and her responsibilities at the theatre increased. Such responsibilities consisted of working as props master (for Charley's Aunt!), master electrician, assistant director, and on many crews. Claiming that she still has a lot to learn about the theatre, Miranda will be working at a repertoire theatre in Tennessee this summer.

Just as her daily rehearsals for "Charley's Aunt" began in November, Miranda was elected chapter rush chairman. To make her life more hectic, dress rehearsals began the same week as spring rush. However, the production of "Charley's Aunt" received fantastic reviews and we completed our quota in spring rush!

Two pedal through Europe

by SANDRA FOSTER

Jill Parker, Texas Delta, toured Europe during the summer of 1983 on a bicycle. She and her roommate at T.C.U., Becky Wilson, decided to go to Europe for the summer for the first time, but wanted to tour it on their own in the most economical way. It required lots of pre-planning, finding bicycle routes, campgrounds, and places to stay. The trip lasted 85 days, with thirty days of the trip on a train and the rest with a seventy pound bicycle. They toured Austria, Germany, England, France, Belgium, Italy, and Switzerland. When they arrived in each country they went to information centers to find the best sightseeing places. Most nights they stayed in inexpensive youth hostels, or in campgrounds.

The only problem they had was communication, but got by with basic translations. They met lots of people and found it rewarding learning about other foreign cultures. Their experiences showed them a new meaning to the word independence.

Greek week efforts bring wins

Michigan Gamma started Greek week at Michigan State with a bang this year. They took first place, for the second year in a row, in the MTV competition in which each sorority performed its own rendition of an MTV video. Michigan Gamma did their version of the video "Eat It." Life size forks, knives, spoons, and even cans of Spam, danced around the stage while Vicki Bergin, alias Michael Jackson, serenaded them.

Along with that win, they also took first place in the Greek Week can drive, donating 978 cans. The proceeds from the can drive went to the Special Olympics fund.

Winning horsewoman qualifies in top shows

by SUSAN LUBUSKY

Bari-Sue goes up and over in classical form.

High class and high riding, diligent and daring, poised and Pi Phi describe Connecticut Alpha's prize winning equestrian, Bari-Sue Glaser. Bari-Sue has joined the ranks of competitive, athletic, and winning Pi Phis across the nation.

A native of Long Island, Bari-Sue began riding at the age of three and was competing in horse shows by six. Proving her abilities early, she moved from the first level of Equitation, Maiden, through the highest level, Open Equitation, in just five years.

Practice in Dressage and Combined Training led to her first major accomplishment. Only twelve years old, Bari-Sue carried home her prize, Beginner Pre-Training Champion at the LIDCTA Combined Training Event on Long Island. In high school she competed all over the northeast United States in A-rated horse shows. In 1981-'82 she qualified for the Long Island Equitation Finals and, in 1981, for the Zone II AHSA Hunter Seat Medal Finals.

Today Bari-Sue juggles books, Greek letters, and saddles with zeal and responsibility. She is a member of the UConn Equestrian Team and has qualified for the New England Regional Intercollegiate Equitation Finals for Open Equitation over Fences. She needs only six more points to qualify for Open Equitation on the Flat. Before fall season ended, she was High Point Rider at the UConn Intercollegiate Horse Show, winning first places in the Open Equitation Over Fences and Open Equitation on the Flat. As she is only a sophomore, Bari-Sue Glaser's competitive drive no doubt will bring many more prizes in her years as an active Pi Phi and UConn student.

Majoring in animal science, Bari-Sue plans to continue her education in veterinary school, specializing in equine sports medicine. Connecticut Alpha sisters know that Bari-Sue has what it takes to make her dreams come true.

Missy Oatman, Kansas University

TV career is in future for campus broadcaster

by ANN LOWRY

While many graduating seniors remained undecided about plans for their futures, one Kansas Alpha had made her decision long ago.

Melissa Oatman and her big smile are headed for a career before television lights.

The broadcast news major began her public experience at about age 13 when she developed a talent for "mannequin modeling," or freezing in a set position, in bridal shows and commercials in her home town, Wichita, Kan.

"I could act like a dummy—that's what I was best at," she laughs. "But," she added, "I knew I didn't want to make a career out of that. I knew I wanted to go into TV."

Broadcast seems to be in the blood of the Oatman family. Her father, Mike Oatman, owns AM-FM stations in Wichita, Denver, Omaha, Springfield, and Shreveport, and he won the 1983 Grover Cobb Award for Outstanding Broadcasting, awarded annually by the University of Kansas William Allen White School of Journalism.

The younger Oatman has already excelled in broadcast in her own right. During the summer of 1983 she worked as an "entertainment tipster" for PM Magazine on Wichita's Channel 10, where she produced, wrote, directed, and starred in a short segment each week, and assisted the director.

Then last fall at KU she was chosen to anchor a campus news broadcast called "15 Minutes." Originally an advertising sales major, she found herself in competition with about 40 broadcast news majors auditioning for the show.

"When I auditioned I had not been a broadcast news major," she said. "I just auditioned for the heck of it."

Oatman's latest accomplishment was securing a spot as one of two narrators for a new production called "KU Magazine," an informative film produced by KU's University Relations.

"It's a pilot for future shows," she said. "They're trying to release it to stations in Kansas."

To further her knowledge, she has taken courses in production because she feels that by understanding everyone's job on the crew she performs her own duties more competently.

Oatman hopes to find her first job in Wichita, and her Kansas Alpha sisters, who also know and respect her as former vice president of social advancement, are certain she'll have no problem shooting for a star position.

Anne Bowen was featured on the cover of the 1984 Gopher Men & Gopher Women University calendar. Vicki Levander, far left, is also a Minnesota Alpha.

Six Pi Phis featured in Minnesota calendar

During the fall of 1983, Minnesota's sorority women were polled as to whom they thought were the most attractive fraternity men. Likewise, fraternity men were polled as to whom they believed were the best looking sorority women. Then, with results in mind, campus men and women were selected and photographed for the 1984 Gopher Men and Gopher Women campus calendar.

Many Minnesota Alphas were featured throughout. Two Pi Phi were pictured on the cover page—cheerleaders Anne Bowen and Vicki Levander. On the back page, Holly Pike, Minnesota's Homecoming queen, was shown. Throughout the twelve months of 1984, other women from the chapter stood out also, including Aaron Clancy, Stephanie Johnson, and Martha Mork.

Ducks are saved thru assistance from Greeks

by ANNA DUNDER

Oregon Alpha has two members on the University of Oregon Panhellenic Council and last winter both were elected to offices. Lynda Grillo is public relations chairman and JoAnne Johnson is rush chairman. Both were excited about their new offices and began working enthusiastically.

Lynda helped plan a program that gained the Greek system community publicity. The program was known as "Save the Ducks." Near the campus there is an old mill stream which is home to many ducks, the U of O mascot. During winter months these ducks are often hard pressed for food. At the suggestion of several concerned and loyal alumni, and with Lynda's help, every fraternity and sorority on campus donated a certain amount of money delegated for food for the ducks each month, with local Boy Scouts donating feeders. On the day of placing the feeders, many Greeks turned out for support, getting coverage from both Eugene and Portland newspapers and TV stations. The Greeks' involvement was very well received and Lynda was commended for a job well done.

JoAnne, meanwhile, was working hard with the spring informal rush program and making plans for fall formal rush. She made many trips to high schools around the state promoting the University sorority system and contacting prospective rushees. She is also responsible for training rush counselors for formal rush and making sure that week runs smoothly. This requires working closely with individual houses, rushees, and campus administrators.

In April, JoAnne and Lynda traveled to Lake Tahoe for a leadership conference where they attended seminars on dealing with the public, planning a successful rush, and working within the Panhellenic group.

Both young women are working hard for the betterment of Pi Phi and the Greek system at the University of Oregon.

News makers are popular at noon

Four Oklahoma Alphas are making news. They aren't just making the news, however, they are the news. Norman Cable News has four Pi Phi on its crew. With five shows a week, the crew is split into different days. On Mondays, Linda Maxwell anchors while Aimee Robb is a field reporter. On Thursday, Dani Sexton reports the news and is an alternate anchor. Helen Bond wraps up the week anchoring the Friday edition.

Up at 5:00 a.m., the girls report to the studio at 6:00 to get ready for the 7:00 o'clock live show. That show is taped and aired three other times that day on Channel 20.

Oklahoma Alphas enjoy the noon air time the best. As soon as "All My Children" ends, the channel flips and Norman Cable News begins with new and upcoming Pi Phi.

They may never be as famous as Erica Caine, but Jane Pauley and Barbara Walters—watch out!

New office formed in Panhel Council

Karen Culbreth, an outstanding member of North Carolina Alpha, is vice president of University relations of the Panhellenic Council at the University of North Carolina. The office was created to enhance administration and faculty knowledge about the many contributions of the Greek system in service and academics.

Karen is also in charge of programming and publicity for Panhellenic, and is liaison to the University for all sorority officers. She already has made great strides in promoting scholarship as well as making numerous improvements in next fall's rush.

As chapter rush chairman last fall, Karen added an extra special touch to the activities. Panhellenic can be assured that she will excel in her new position.

Jimmie Hartson McRaith, Evanston, Ill., is proud of having four Pi Phis in one family. L-r: Ellen, Illinois Zeta (U. of Ill.) is the newest Pi Phi, joining sisters Caroline and Shannon, Illinois Iota (Ill. State), and their mother Jimmie, Louisiana Beta (La. State).

Monmouth Duo is first as USC

Pi Phis and Kappas at the University of Southern California celebrated their first annual Monmouth Duo in March. On Monday night, March 5, they initiated the festivities with a Duo Dinner in which half of the Pi Phis ate at the Kappa chapter house, and half of the Kappas ate dinner at the Cal Gamma house.

March 8 was the big night. On that Thursday night, the two sororities held a Mod Monmouth Duo exchange with Sigma Chi and Beta Theta Pi, with the women as hostesses. They rented a roller skating rink, hired three photographers, and arranged for free skating and pizza during the evening. Later in the party, the rink became a dance floor, and everyone danced until they could barely walk!

Pi Phis and Kappas had a great time getting to know each other and celebrating their mutual heritage. And because this first Duo was such a rolling success, the tradition is sure to be continued.

Interns enjoy semester work

Debbie Schwarz and Linda Curdi, Michigan Alphas, have learned about our justice and social systems through interesting internships. They are both sociology/social work majors and earned six semester hours for their work.

Debbie worked at the Hillsdale County Circuit Court. She was assigned under parole and probation agents to write pre-sentence reports which provided background and offered recommendations to the judge before sentencing. In compiling the reports, Debbie talked with clients, made home visits, used police reports, and checked for past records. Following sentencing, Debbie helped determine criteria for parole. She described her work with the courts as "exciting every day."

Linda completed an internship at the Starr Commonwealth School for Boys in Albion. The school is a home for troubled boys between the ages of ten and seventeen. Linda observed and worked with the boys, and attended team meetings with the heads of cottages in which the boys lived.

As part of her assignment, Linda coordinated a dance with the Pi Phis in March. She summed up her experience as "fun—it is so easy to get attached to the boys."

Simonne Corne, Montana Alpha, sings at men's basketball games at Montana State. She and her partner, James Cowan, accompanied by the MSU jazz band, perform during intermissions and at half time.

Two South Carolina Beta sisters have served as presidents of their chapter. Carol Ratchford, left, is the current prexy. Dana Ratchford was president in 1981 when Carol went through rush. That's Santa in the middle!

Pi Phi Memories

Memories run through all of our minds
Of times when we needed a friend
It was easy to turn to a sister we loved,
We knew on whom to depend.
Days when feelings burst up from our hearts
And we wanted someone to share—
Whether laughter or love, or anger or pain—
We could count on someone to care.
Sitting in peace,
Laughing in fun,
There was time for each of us—
Every one.
Yet, time, making memories,
Passes us by
And all of our yesterdays
Are fragile as sighs.
Today we're remembering
What tomorrow will keep
As memories of Pi Phi
Whose love runs so deep.
It isn't easy to let you go—
To know that goodbyes must be said—
But our hearts will be with you through all of the joy
And all of the tears that you shed.
Remember, with fondness, the days you spent here,
Remember the things that you've shared.
Remember your smile's in each of our hearts
For you are a Pi Phi who cared.

South Dakota Alpha (USD)
