Update on Hospitable Housing

Now for the final chapter of our Hospitable Housing program [for the Olympics]. Although we didn't have as many Pi Phi Visitors as originally anticipated (due to news reports of huge traffic jams, scalpers' ticket prices, terrorists, boycotts, earthquakes, airline ticket prices, etc.), Hospitable Housing was able to accomplish its original goal of providing gracious, low-cost Bed and Breakfast accommodations for those Pi Phis who requested them. Southern California Pi Phis have proven that the "ties that bind" do continue after graduation.

On a more personal basis, my family had the pleasure of hosting a most delightful 3-generation family (2 generations of Pi Phis) during the Olympics. That week confirmed my original contention that if Pi Phis could meet and share common experiences during a brief period of time, new lifelong friends could be made; as well as strengthening the part that Pi Beta Phi plays in our lives.

Although there were 6 additional people in our home during that week, it was never anything but a pleasure. We all had so much in common (including husbands and kids) and yet coming from different parts of the country we had so much to share. As far as I was concerned the time went much too quickly.

I noticed in the Spring ARROW the article on the Bed and Breakfast project in Florida. I wish them the best and hope their experiences are as positive as ours were.

Thanks so much for your encouragement and support. It meant a lot!

Carolyn Brown Engel
California Delta (UCLA)
Redondo Beach, Calif.

I am writing . . . to let you know how successful the Hospitable Housing Project for the LA Olympics was.

The six members of my family, including my parents Ray and Janet McNeill Bywater (Iowa Zeta), stayed with the coordinator of the project Carolyn and David Engel. They were very gracious and helpful and eager to make our visit smooth and rewarding. Carolyn prepared breakfasts of fresh fruit and special items like quiche or bran muffins every morning. Dave was always available with answers and directions. . . . A highlight was the appearance . . . of an official at 7 a.m. A neighbor who was in charge of escorting dignitaries for medal presentations stopped by to meet us. We were thrilled. . . .

We recommend that Pi Phi continue this type of offering for members if the opportunity comes up again. Carolyn and I found we had many similar thoughts, ideas, and commitments—things I felt probably related to our Pi Phi connection.

Thank you for publicizing this opportunity through The ARROW.

A Diamond Arrow remembers

In the Summer 1984 ARROW, I have found my name among those alumnae honored for 75 years membership. I have received the beautifully framed plaque and am delighted to have it from the Fraternity which contributed so much ambition and happiness to my college experience. I was pleased to find the names of Margaret French and Mary C. Reynolds Swift—both friends in Vermont Alpha. . . .

The arrival of The ARROW with its record of the many types of activity engaged in by the girls always takes me back to my college days. I must admit that we never approached the accomplishment of the modern Pi Phi girl, but opportunities for distinction were fewer and mostly academic.

As I am almost 94, I have seen the Fraternity work for ever finer projects. I send a greeting to all the devoted women who labor in the many-branched service of Pi Beta Phi.

Margaret H. Croft
Vermont Alpha
Waterbury, Conn.

Happy Anniversary!

Here's something for your ARROW of Pi Beta Phi.

Maxine Cooley Montgomery, Colorado Alpha '31 (Univ. of Colorado) and myself just celebrated our 50th wedding anniversary—6/9/84. We had our 12 grandchildren, 4 kids and their spouses at a local Ramada Inn. We all had a SUPER TIME.

She doesn't know I'm writing you, but I'm sure some of her old Pi Phis would like to know the news.

Royal M. Montgomery, MD
Silver Spring, MD

Is this a record?

When The ARROW, Summer edition, arrived, it was interesting and a pleasure to read, as always. Having been in TV for many years (the past nine as Community Affairs Director at KOTV, Tulsa's CBS affiliate) I was particularly captivated by stories about the many Pi Phis who are involved or seek TV as a career.

At the time, Annette Solomon, Oklahoma Beta, was serving as an intern in creative services and community affairs at KOTV. . . . We wondered whether or not KOTV might not hold a record, if not for the most on staff for its size, at least for the most passing through its portals.

KOTV's News Department benefits from the talents of Pi Phis Jilda Unruh (Vanderbilt) special reporter and weekend anchor; and Jean Tiernan (Oklahoma Alpha), reporter. . . . Two other Oklahoma Betas have been a part of the KOTV staff in recent years—Sheree Maupin Zizzi and Jan Jenkins Nicholl, now of San Diego and Dallas, respectively. (Yes, Jan is my daughter.)

TV certainly recognizes Pi Phi talent, and as encouragement to those who aspire to a career in television, it might be interesting to hear from those who are now in the broadcast medium.

Carolyn Gannon Jenkins
Oklahoma Alpha (U. of Okla.)
Tulsa, Okla.

→ We'll add our name to the list, tho we must admit we were involved BTW (that's Before TV). It was strictly radio in those days, but none the less fascinating. msf

Cover girl responds

Can an Alberta Alpha '48 find happiness as a cover girl? Indeed yes! What a wonderful lot of dear friends have written me since the summer ARROW appeared. While I once made the back cover of a trail riding publication, this was a "first" and I will treasure the copy always. Thank you for such an unexpected honour!

Incidentally, one of the Pi Phis who wrote was Cynthia Lingo Villani whom I met when she was working at the Royal Chitwin Park in Nepal. She said she recognized my hat immediately even though I was on a horse rather than an elephant!

off the Arrow hook

As an editor, we are always delighted when we receive beautiful color photos and slides that are suitable for The ARROW's cover. And when the colors in the pictures match the colors of the season, that's even better. Such was the case with the cover for our last issue—Fall, 1984. That lovely shot of Holt House, with the one tree fully decked out in fall colors, came to us from the Holt House committee. Now we find out that the picture, and the two on the inside, were taken by professional photographer Steven Shoemaker of Monmouth, and we are happy to give him credit for his skill. An added plus is the fact that Steven is the son of Jacqueline McGinnes Shoemaker, Illinois Alpha, whose home is also in Monmouth. So, it was sorta all in the family, and that's even nicer.

While we're on the subject of cover pictures, we hope you're particularly thrilled with the cover of this issue. Sometimes it's very difficult to get pictures you desperately want, and you have to enlist the aid of as many friends as possible. Such was true this time and we are particularly grateful to Ruth Killam, Nancy Kemp, Liz Holman, Jeannie Hillis, and any number of others who helped track down pictures and information for us. Thanks, ladies!

Kathy Ebert, Illinois Epsilon, was certainly in the news a lot last summer. Her photo appeared July 4 on the front page of the New York Times and in countless other papers across the nation. She was on CBS Evening News, and in the July 16 issue of TIME Magazine.

Kathy was one of three women to testify before a state hearing examiner in 1979 when the Minneapolis and St. Paul Jaycees first filed suit against the national organization, claiming that the by-laws which excluded women from joining were discriminatory.

The case worked its way up through the court system until finally, in July, the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that women must be allowed to join.

After the decision, the Minneapolis Jaycees held a press conference at which Kathy spoke, and her comments and photo were picked up by the Associated Press and distributed nationally.

Kathy, her husband Tim Hilger, and their three-year-old daughter Carrie, live in St. Louis Park, Minn. Kathy is a former vice president of the Minneapolis Jaycees.

One of Pi Phi's noted, acclaimed artists is Evalyn Prouty Hickman, Colorado Alpha, of Fort Collins, Colorado. Last summer Evalyn had an exhibition of more than 130 works in the Student Center Gallery at Colorado State, where she is a professor on the art faculty. The huge exhibition, "Southwest Images Revisited," featured the work for which Evalyn has become noted—on handmade paper, etched glass, porcelain and sand painting.

Evalyn said that the show was "a dream come true . . . it's my life to this point."

Not only was the amount of work in the exhibit almost beyond belief, but during last year Evalyn also created 1,000 small images on handmade paper for those attending the national convention of Kappa Kappa Gamma last June.

We are the proud owner of two lovely pieces of Evalyn's work, so we can just imagine the impact of the exhibit, as well as the impact on our Kappa friends.

Special honors should go to Cindy Bannasch, Michigan Gamma, a senior at Michigan State. Cindy spent last summer as a senior counselor in a camp for physically and mentally impaired children and adults. Some of the camp residents and counselors, including Cindy, were leaving the pool area when one noticed a body at the bottom. Cindy pulled the 200 pound youth from the pool, lifted him over her head to safety, and administered cardio-pulmonary resuscitation for ten minutes, saving his life.

The young man had suffered a seizure and fallen, fully clothed, into the water.

Cindy has certainly earned "hero" designation!

By the time you receive this issue of The ARROW, Pi Phi will have added one new chapter to the roll and will be counting down to the installation of another. Welcome, New York Epsilon, at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute in Troy, N.Y., installed the weekend of November 16. Welcome, also, to the recolonized Florida Delta chapter, scheduled to be installed soon after the first of the year.

Congratulations to Julia L. Quackenbush, Ohio Zeta, of Roanoke, Va., who was included in the latest selection of Outstanding Young Women in America for her community accomplishments. Julie serves on the Virginia Zeta Alumnae Advisory Committee.

Interested in some statistics? Grand President Jean Scott notes that, as of June 30, 1984, Pi Beta Phi has recorded 140,084 initiates. Of that number, 86.4% are still living and in good standing. Wouldn't it be marvelous if all alumnae in that 86.4% continued to support the Fraternity through their contributions to the Friendship Fund?

We read this some place: If something goes wrong, it is more important to talk about who is going to fix it than who is to blame.

Happy Holidays.

Kansas City, which has given the world Harry Truman, Jean Harlow, Satchel Paige, Casey Stengel, and Mickey Mouse, is an All-American City. Built on gently rolling forested bluffs above the broad Missouri river, the city surprises visitors with its graceful boulevards, sparkling fountains, world-class museums and theaters, and inviting shops and restaurants.

Kansas City's four major sports teams attract visitors year-round: the Royals (baseball), Chiefs (football), Kings (basketball), and Comets (indoor soccer). Sometimes golfer Tom Watson, a Kansas City native, is termed the city's "fifth sports franchise!" Sports facilities include the $71 million Harry S. Truman twin sports complex, the world's only side-by-side baseball and football stadiums.

Everything's up to date in Kansas City—So . . .

Join us for the 55th National Convention! You'll be staying at the Westin Crown Center, Kansas City's most luxurious hotel.

As part of Crown Center Complex, the 730-room hotel fulfills part of a dream to build "a city within a city"—an area containing buildings for living, working, shopping and cultural activities. Crown Center is located just ten blocks from the heart of downtown Kansas City.

The hotel was built on the longtime landmark "Signboard Hill" which was reshaped into an attractive limestone bluff whose rugged beauty has been incorporated in the hotel's decor—both inside and out. The most striking of the hotel's many features is at the rear of the lobby—an interior tropical garden carved from the original limestone bluff.

The Crown Center Complex, developed entirely by Hallmark Cards, Inc. (located adjacent to Crown Center) includes many shops and boutiques, fine restaurants and lounges, office buildings, condominiums, 2 hotels and more. When finished in the late 80s, Crown Center will have added 50 buildings to the city's skyline.

K.C. Committee urges all to "Follow the Arrow"

When you're "Goin' to Kansas City" next summer for the 55th National Convention, Kansas City Pi Phis will be ready. Over sixty area alumnae have been working since last April to formulate an exciting, fun-filled convention. "Follow the Arrow" to Kansas City June 22-June 27.

Athelia Sweet Clingan

Local Convention chairman Athelia Clingan began laying the groundwork for Convention early this year, working with Mary Schroeder, National Convention Guide. With Athelia's organization and enthusiasm, we're sure to have the best ever Convention! Athelia has been active for over twenty-five years in the Kansas City, Mo./Shawnee Mission, Ks. Alumnae Club and has served in many capacities including a term as president from 1973 to 1975. From 1980 to 1983 she was Xi Province Coordinator. She has attended three previous conventions. She also has served as vice president of the Junior League of Kansas City, Mo., and is a deacon in her church.

Athelia graduated from Kansas State University (Kansas Beta) with a B.S. in Home Economics. As an active, she was pledge trainer.

Athelia's Sigma Nu husband, Mel, a graduate of the University of Kansas, is president of the R. L. Sweet Lumber Company. They have four children—Sandy, 26, a Theta from Duke; Scott, 24, a Sigma Nu from Arizona State; Kim, 21, Theta at the University of Florida; and Marcia, 19, a Kappa at Arizona State.

Linda Hooper Wassberg

Serving as Athelia's assistant is Linda Wassberg. Among her many Pi Phi alumnae offices, Linda has served as the Kansas City, Mo./Shawnee Mission, Ks. Alumnae Club Night Group's president, nominating committee chairman, and treasurer of Cobweb Corner—Kansas City Pi Phis' biggest annual philanthropic project. She is a past president of Greater Kansas City Panhellenic Association. Linda also is involved in the community, having served as county chairman for the Channel 19 Television Auction and as a deacon at her church.

A graduate of Kansas State with a B.A. in English, Linda represented Pi Phi and won the Miss Manhattan/K-State Pageant, a preliminary of the Miss America Pageant, in 1969.

With all of her activities, it's amazing Linda has time for a job and family, too! She works at the Village Church as secretary to the music director. Linda's husband, Jim, is vice president and manager of the real estate division for Ferrell Companies, Inc. in Liberty, Mo. He is also a graduate of K-State, and is a Beta. They have two grade school children—Jamie, 8, and Janna, 6.

Jean Challinor Hall

Jean Hall has taken on the responsibilities of Registration Chairman. Jean said she is really excited about her job, because she is attending computer school so she'll be able to computerize all incoming registration information!

The wine and silver blue have benefited greatly from Jean's volunteer work. She has served as secretary, assistant treasurer, and treasurer of the Kansas City, Mo./Shawnee Mission, Ks.

Planning the 55th National Convention are, back (l-r): Linda Wassberg, Assistant Local Chairman; Jean Hall, Registration; Nancy Sandoval, Assistant Hospitality; Athelia Clingan, Local Convention Chairman. Front: Kim Jackson, Assistant Registration; Linda Cozad, Hospitality; unidentified fluffy dog who may or may not have been of assistance.

Alumnae Club and as secretary and treasurer of the Kansas Alpha House Corporation. Currently, she is treasurer of the Pi Phi Investment Club. Jean has been involved in the Kansas City, Mo., United Way and Junior League.

Kansas City: a world class city

Kansas City is a surprising world-class city. Metropolitan, yet liveable, it sits proudly in the heartland of America. Truly a city offering something for everyone, Kansas City provides sophistication in a hometown atmosphere.

The city was carefully planned with regard for beauty, charming its visitors with more fountains than any city except Rome, and more boulevard miles than Paris. As French writer Andre Maurois wrote, "who in Europe, or in America for that matter, knows that Kansas City is one of the loveliest cities on earth?"

Entertainment opportunities are unlimited. From dining to shopping; museums to amusement parks; art to sports—Kansas City has it all.

Famous for steaks and barbecue, the city lives up to its reputation. But Kansas City is more than just a steak town. Recognized by many as a major culinary center, visitors to the area are delighted by its abundance of excellent restaurants of every ethnic origin. Popular food columnist Calvin Trillin summarized well when he wrote, "not all the best restaurants in the world are in Kansas City, just the top four or five."

Kansas City is home to a wide variety of performing arts, offering something for every taste.

The Kansas City Ballet has been delighting audiences with both classical and contemporary productions for nearly three decades. Currently the company performs in the historical Lyric Theater, located downtown.

Also performing in the Lyric Theater is the Lyric Opera, one of the few opera companies in the world to offer performances in English.

The Midland Center for the Performing Arts is within the historic downtown theater district. A former 1928 movie palace, the Midland today is where Kansas Citians enjoy Broadway productions.

A real Kansas City success story is the renovation and re-opening of the Folly Theater. Once a thriving burlesque house, the theater was completely refurbished in 1981 at a cost of $4.4 million. Listed on the National Register of Historical Places, the theater currently offers a year-round variety of intimate theatrical experiences.

And, of course, there is always that famous Kansas City Jazz. The site of the annual Women's Jazz Festival, many of the country's jazz greats have considered Kansas City to be their musical home.

Crown Center, a privately financed development of Hallmark Cards, Inc., is a world-famous city-within-a-city, beautifully landscaped on 85 once-blighted acres that surround the international headquarters of the greeting card company. Still under development, this $500 million complex currently includes three levels of boutiques, specialty shops, and restaurants, two major office complexes, two hotels, luxury apartments and condominiums, and a 10-acre landscaped central square for community activities.

Renovations recently completed in the Crown Center retail complex added the Heartland Market, featuring restaurants and specialty shops, and the Crystal Pavilion, a unique glass enclosed restaurant overlooking the square.

New Fraternity award honors Annette Mills

It was a complete surprise! Actually two surprises. When Annette Mitchell Mills opened the door into the private luncheon room at The Club in Birmingham, AL, she tried to back out inconspicuously—she was sure she was in the wrong room—everyone was standing and clapping. Annette was looking for the room where Zoe Saunders James was giving a luncheon for Mary Reed Wipfler of Pompano Beach, FL.

But Meta Anderson Mitchell wouldn't let Annette back out and Zoe led her to her seat at the head table explaining that the luncheon was really a Birmingham Alumnae Club affair in her honor.

While Annette recovered from this surprise, Zoe recounted for all the many ways Annette had served Pi Phi over the years. Since college days she had been the backbone of the alum club, serving in every office and on every committee—more than once. Alabama Alpha and Alabama Beta had both benefited from her years on their AACs and house corporations. The Birmingham Alumnae Club was proud when she became province president and six years later was named Director of Alumnae Advisory Committees. During her brief tenure in this position she rewrote the AAC Manual, exhibiting to all Pi Phis what the club had known all along—that she was very knowledgeable and well organized. Then came the appointment to fill the unexpired term of Grand Secretary. Annette was subsequently elected to this office twice and then elected to serve as National Panhellenic Conference Delegate.

During her tenure as NPC Delegate, Annette represented Pi Phi well in that august body and also had charge of Pi Phi's extension program, organizing the colonization and installation of eight new Pi Phi chapters.

The Birmingham Alumnae Club, wishing to show its pride in "our lady" and its love, admiration, and appreciation of Annette, presented her with a silver tray engraved "The Annette Mitchell Mills Award for New Chapter Achievement presented by the Birmingham Alabama Alumnae Club 1984." As Zoe announced, the tray could be kept by Annette only until next June when it will be presented at Convention to a chapter less than ten years old that has exemplified outstanding achievement in mental, moral, and social areas.

This second surprise was almost too much for Annette. Tears flowed freely! And the Birmingham Alumnae Club felt they truly had found the ideal way to express their pride in Annette Mills.

Banker earns first achievement award

Leone Hoffman Park, Kansas Alpha, is recipient of the first annual Woman's Career Achievement Award in Kansas City. The award, presented by Luzier Personalized Cosmetics, Inc., honors the business or professional woman whose accomplishments reflect the highest order of leadership, responsibility, and realization of opportunity. It is in the form of a woman mounted on an ebony base, and was designed by the company which produces the Oscar, Emmy, Tony, and Miss America award emblems.

Leone is executive vice president of United Missouri Bank of Kansas City, and was nominated for the award by R. Crosby Kemper, chairman of the board of the bank. She entered the banking industry sixteen years ago after a career of public and civic service. She was active in securing the Republican Convention for

K.C., and has served as president, board member or official of the Chamber of Commerce, Women's Chamber, Arts Council, YWCA, Junior League, University of Kansas City, University Associates, Central Exchange and a score of other civic and cultural organizations which contribute to the community.

She has been a role model for women in the business world and a pioneer in the field of banking. According to Crosby Kemper "her many career-related activities indicate that she is one of the most important women in banking in the United States today."

As part of the honor, a $2,000 college scholarship was presented in Mrs. Park's name to a Kansas City woman who is pursuing a master's degree in business administration.

The award and scholarship are intended to "pay tribute to women at the height of their careers and encourage and assist those just beginning the exciting climb to the levels of excellence and accomplishment reached by those honored."

Leone Park is a member of the Kansas City, MO./Shawnee Mission, KS Alumnae Club.

Fla. Betas help colonizing rush

by LESLIE COSTIN

Pi Phi from Florida State gathered together much earlier than all other sororities on campus to prepare for their big trip to arch rival school, the University of Florida. Why make a special trip there? Because Florida Betas were going to help start a new chapter of the University of Florida. They were overflowing with excitement about having, soon after rush, a whole new set of sisters only a short trip away.

During the few days before the chapter made the road trip, they had many hours of preparation to do. This year a number of new ideas for rush were to be used and the girls had to learn many new and different things. It wasn't all work, however. They had a great time talking about their summer vacations, enjoying delicious snacks prepared for them, and, of course, practicing.

The week of practice and finally rush in Gainesville was yet another special time for the Pi Phis. All the hard work paid off as they greeted pledges at the University of Florida as well as their own at Florida State.

RGCs guide new chapter

With the colonization of two new Pi Phi chapters, came the appointment of two new Resident Graduate Consultants (RGC), to guide and help the colonies.

Christa Landgraf's home away from home this year is with the young women of New York Epsilon at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute in Troy, N.Y. Christa is a graduate of Bradley University, with a Bachelor of Science degree. She majored in speech broadcast production management, creative advertising, and minored in marketing and public relations.

As with all who participate in the Graduate Consultant program, Christa was outstanding on campus and in her Illinois Theta chapter. A Dean's List student, she earned membership in Phi Kappa Phi honorary, and was chosen for Mortar Board. She was on the Senior Development Board, on the Panhellenic Council public relations committee, a member of the Activity Council, and Women in Communications.

In addition to chairing numerous committees in the chapter, Christa was a vice president and president of the chapter, and a delegate to the Louisville Convention.

Patty Kinch will not be far from her home chapter as she assumes RGC duties at recolonized Florida Delta at the University of Florida in Gainesville. Patty holds a B.S. degree in elementary education, with a minor in child development, from Florida State. She too was president of her chapter, Florida Beta. A member of Gold Key, Omicron Delta Kappa, Lady Scalphunters, a booster and honorary club, Kappa Delta Pi, and Mortar Board, Patty represented the College of Education in the University Senate, and was a Homecoming princess.

Both Christa and Patty were named ABO winners in their respective provinces.

With Resident Graduate Consultants such as Patty and Christa, Pi Phi's two newest chapters are off to a good start in learning the ways of the Fraternity.

Slumber party is reunion fun

In April, twenty Oklahoma Alphas from the early '40s gathered in Tulsa, Okla., for a Pi Phi "Slumber party." They came from as far as Houston, Amarillo, and Boulder, Colo. They reminisced, caught up on current news, and shared grandchildren's pictures way into the night.

After lunching the following day at a cute French restaurant, they said goodbye and headed for home with another happy memory of college friends. A gift from the group was sent to Arrowmont in honor of their chapter, Oklahoma Alpha.

Reunion planning committee included Barbara Bass Berry, Sally Berryhill Bingman, Betty Oliver O'Neal, and Beverly Klein Patterson.

Florida Delta recolonized

by LESLIE COSKIN

Pi Phis from Florida State University left Tallahassee early on a Sunday morning in August, 1984, to drive to Gainesville to join the University of Florida Greeks in formal fall rush. The Panhellenic invitation to reestablish Florida Delta chapter of Pi Beta Phi had been accepted by Grand Council following an affirmative vote of province clubs and chapters.

Florida Betas drove to their rival school in a caravan of wine and blue decorated cars. Home for the week was the Rush Lake Motel—what an appropriate name! After being warmly welcomed by University of Florida Greeks, Pi Phis made it known that they were determined to have the best pledge class. With the help of attending Fraternity officers, how could they fail? The national rush team included Grand President Jean Wirths Scott, Grand Secretary Carolyn Helman Lichtenberg, National Panhellenic Conference Delegate Annette Mitchell Mills, and Zeta Province President Jan Ruffin Hatchett. What a fantastic group of Pi Phis! Florida Betas would never have made it without them. They kept everyone fed and continually offered moral support. They even had a special Cooky-Shine for us. At the end of each day special rewards and gifts were given to boost spirits.

The facilities from which they rushed were not much. It was amazing how the room was transformed for each round so that instead of an old dreary classroom it set the theme for each party. It was unbelievable how much work everyone did to prepare for the twelve hundred plus rushees.

After the week of strenuous activities, Florida Betas were very tired, but happy with the quota pledge class of 47 super women. All of the input really paid off. The week was special to all because of the love and concern of Pi Beta Phi's national officers. Florida Betas looked back on the week and realized it was an experience they would certainly never forget. They all felt that the University of Florida would never forget them either.

Florida Betas returned to Tallahassee to conduct their own rush at F.S.U. which resulted in another quota pledge class of outstanding women.

Formal pledging ceremony for Florida Delta charter pledges was conducted by the national rush team, assisted by Florida Alpha chapter members from Stetson, Zeta North Alumnae Province President Betty Butler Holdcroft, and Gainesville alumnae. New pledges were welcomed at a dinner, following the ceremony.

Patty Kinch, former Florida Beta chapter president, is serving as Resident Graduate Consultant for the colony. Welcome new Pi Phis!

Pi Beta Phi at R.P.I.

by CHRISTA LANDGRAF, RGC

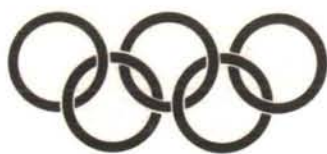

Founded in 1824, Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute is a privately endowed, nonsectarian institution. The oldest engineering and technical institution in the country and the first college to introduce the laboratory method of learning sciences, the institute offers programs in engineering science, architecture, management, humanities, and social sciences. The campus is located on a plateau overlooking the Hudson River in Troy, New York.

Members of the local sorority Kappa Phi at R.P.I. became duly pledged members of Pi Beta Phi on September 4, 1984. This was a special and long awaited day for the charter pledges. Upon Kappa Phi's founding in 1982, eleven members wrote to Pi Phi about national affiliation. The interest emerged from the fact that one member has a Pi Phi sister at the University of Vermont. At that time Pi Phi was fully committed to extension projects and could not consider their request. This did not deter the women from continuing to seek affiliation. They participated as members of the Greek system composed of twenty-eight groups for men, and three groups for women. Kappa Phi established a membership of fifty women in only two years and continued their quest for national affiliation in the spring of 1984. After a series of presentations and considerations on the part of both Kappa Phi and Pi Phi, and with a favorable vote of Alpha Province clubs and chapters, Grand Council accepted the petition of Kappa Phi.

The pledging ceremony took place at the home of Margaret Babcock Davis, D.C. Alpha, in Brunswick Hills, N.Y. The ceremony was conducted by Maralou Juday Crane, Director of Extension, assisted by Annette Mitchell Mills, N.P.C. Delegate, Audrey Ludden Gangloff, Alpha Province President, Christa Landgraf, Illinois Theta and Resident Graduate Consultant for the new colony, and the local alumnae. Following the ceremony a reception was hosted by the Albany Alumnae Club, Janice Ullman Stankus, president, and the Schnectady Alumnae Club, Gayle Omer Caufield, president.

The young women were impressed with the events of the evening and left with an enthusiasm for Pi Phi that was exciting to witness. Installation of the New York Epsilon chapter was scheduled for November 16-18, 1984. Sherilyn Faircloth VanOrden, New York Alpha, is serving as general chairman and both clubs are assisting with plans for the installation weekend.

Nancy Hogshead reaches her golden goals

Duke swimming coach Robert Thompson invited the freshman, Nancy Hogshead, into his office for a preseason summit meeting of sorts.

Here was an 18-year-old who had, essentially, reached the denouement of her career. Her resume was complete. At 12, she appeared in the U.S. Nationals, making her the second youngest ever to do so; at 14, she had an American record in the 100-meter butterfly; at 15 and 16, she was ranked #1 in the world in 200-meter butterfly.

Finally, at 18, Nancy made the 1980 Olympic team in two events. She had to stay home because of the western-bloc boycott, but was close enough to the pinnacle. Too close, anyway, to go through it all again.

The only words Thompson had for her, "You are going to be on the 1984 Olympic Team."

Hogshead laughed. "You've got to be kidding. There's no way."

Still, Nancy worked hard for Thompson. She was an All-American in two events her freshman season, set 11 school records that still stand and two conference records.

Soon after, tired and burned out, Nancy quit swimming, supposedly for good. For close to a year and a half, she didn't swim another race. "I had to get away from swimming to look back on it and see what went wrong. I had good insight. I was so wrapped up in it that I couldn't look at it objectively. It was such an emotional thing."

From swimming often for Duke and occasionally in international meets, Nancy now did not think about swimming—at all.

Somewhere along the line, of course her thoughts changed. The three gold medals and one silver the North Carolina Beta Pi Phi won in Los Angeles fell one short of the Olympic record for most swimming medals by one woman. These rewards have made up for the travail of intervening years, in which Hogshead quit the sport for 16 months, came back to train hard, lived away from home for 18 months, survived a change in coaches, a change in events, and sought help from a sports psychologist.

Begins Olympic training

On New Years Day, 1983, Nancy Hogshead began 18 months of training for the 1984 Olympic Games. Swimming again had become the focal point of her existence in her decision to leave Duke to train with Randy Reese, her former coach, at the University of Florida.

However in September of that year, Nancy decided she wasn't getting the kind of attention she needed with Reese. After some searching, she found Mitch Ivey, coach at the Concord-Pleasant Hills program outside San Francisco. She and a good friend, Duke graduate Mandy Calder, drove to California.

With Ivey, Nancy found just what she wanted. His first idea was to change her events. Looking at the makeup of the probable 1984 U.S. Team, it seemed Nancy would have a better chance in the sprints, namely the 100-meter freestyle.

Hogshead described a typical training day with Ivey:

"Wake up in the morning, eat a lot. Work out for 2½ hours, come home and eat some more. Sleep, get up, light snack. Then there'd be an afternoon workout for 3½-4 hours. Went home, ate, and went to bed."

For ten months!!!

"I was so tired every evening after practice," Nancy said, "I couldn't even go see a movie."

"He was so very intense. Everything we did was all business. He was very positive: 'you're doing good, Nancy, Put your legs into this.' He was tireless. He worked as hard as I did."

The stress became great about three months before the Olympics were to begin, with trials looming in June. To cope with the strain, and to help with relaxation and concentration, Nancy solicited the services of Dr. Thomas Tutko, sports psychologist, just following the Nationals.

"I knew I had to do something," she said, "because I was getting real nervous before meets. I knew I was swimming fast but I could have gone faster if I hadn't been so nervous."

Nancy's work with Dr. Tutko and Reese paid off when she successfully qualified for four events on the 1984 U.S. Olympic swim team.

But imagine the feelings Nancy had on July 29, 1984, standing over her lane before the 100-meter freestyle of the Olympic Games. Twenty-two years, about to be compressed into one minute.

Emotional Moment

Nancy didn't know that she would be on her way to Olympic stardom by capturing not only this medal, but four—three gold and one silver.

"Receiving my gold medal on the victory stand was the most exciting moment of my life. It meant so much just to be there. It was a day and a moment I had thought about every day for years. All the work since coming back from retirement was worthwhile. The crowd was so supportive and I was proud to be a part of the U.S. Team. Then I really choked up when the band played The Star Spangled Banner and they raised the American flag. It sounds trite but it was very real.

"The medal itself is about three inches in diameter and very heavy. I think it is silver with a gold covering. The ribbon colors are the same used around all the Olympic themes . . . shades of green, gold, orange, pink, and blue. The engraving on the medal is very heavy.

"I have had lots of questions about my plans for the future. Let me say that there are so many things I have missed—parties, football games, friends, but especially my Pi Phi sisters who have supported me through the past 18 months with their cards, letters, flowers, and prayers," said Nancy. "Honestly I am looking forward to my retirement now that I have fulfilled my swimming goals. I will be able to spend my last semesters at Duke enjoying a normal college life."

Nancy thrilled the entire Duke University campus with her incredible feats. The Olympic spirit followed her back to Duke this fall. Upon her return, she was greeted by a congratulatory banner made by the 1984 Pi Beta Phi pledge class. Nancy, in return, thrilled the entire chapter by bringing one of her three gold medals to the first chapter meeting. The North Carolina Beta Pi Phis are certainly proud of their golden Olympic sister!

Carole Morgan, Missouri Alpha

Morgan wins spot in Olympic Band

by MICHELLE LANKHEIT

Senior Carole Morgan, Missouri Alpha, was selected as a member of the All-American Olympic Band. The organization performed at the 1984 Summer Olympic Games in Los Angeles. Carole was the only Pi Phi selected for the honor.

Selection was based on playing ability, musical accomplishments, leadership qualities, and contribution to the university. Carole holds the first chair positions in both Marching Mizzou and the Tiger Band. She is also a member of the Mini-Mizzou basketball band, the symphony band, French horn ensemble, and the Brass Quintet, at the University of Missouri.

The Olympic Band was the largest marching band ever assembled and represented all 50 states. Out of 736 members, only 230 were not from California.

In preparation for the ceremonies, band members rehearsed 14 hours a day. They spent their first two weeks at Pepperdine University in Malibu and the final two weeks at Loyola University in Los Angeles. The band performed at opening and closing ceremonies and at Olympic baseball games. Out-of-state members performed at Disneyland, Magic Mountain, and Sea World in San Diego.

Tracie's routines earn raves, medals

When her idol has been Esther Williams, star of those earlier water ballet movies, it's easy to see where Tracie Ruiz, Arizona Alpha, has received her inspiration. It's called synchronized swimming now, and it made its debut in the 1984 Los Angeles Games. It has been a part of the world championships since 1973. However, the International Olympic Committee didn't decide to sanction it as an Olympic event till 1980. Tracie is the reigning world champ, unbeaten in solo competition in the last five years.

Tracie has been called "the most complete synchronized swimmer in the world." Other raves included "no one can dispute, she's the finest synchronized swimmer in the world today." She proved her advance notices by winning two gold medals—one in solo, and, with her partner Candy Costie, one in duet.

In the solo competition, a performer displays synchronization with music. Emphasis is on difficulty of moves, creativity, originality, and interpretation of the music. Tracie's routine earned 198.467 points, almost three points higher than the silver medalist. Scoring is done by a panel of judges who judge compulsory figures, accounting for 50% of the total score, and routines performed to music.

In the duet, two swimmers perform mirror-like images in the water, staying synchronized with each other as well as with the music. Tracie and Candy were the unquestionable favorites in this competition. They lived up to their reputation by winning the first Olympic medal awarded in the category.

The capacity crowd at the Olympic swim stadium responded to the intricate routines with noisy enthusiasm. The duo were unquestionable favorites—Tracie's fluidity complemented by Candy's flamboyance. Almost as soon as they submerged in the pool the crowd responded.

With a dash of patriotic music, the young women earned a 99.0 score from the ten judges in the routine competition. In compulsory competition, they received 96.584, for a combined score of 195.584.

Tracie and Candy are both former performers at the University of Arizona in Tucson. The girls have been performing as partners for the past ten years. They left the University after completing one year to train for the 1984 Olympics. Their workouts consisted of six to eight long, hard hours of swimming, running, weight-lifting, and practice every day.

Tracie pledged Pi Phi in the fall of 1981, and was initiated in February, 1982. Her home is in Bothell, Washington.

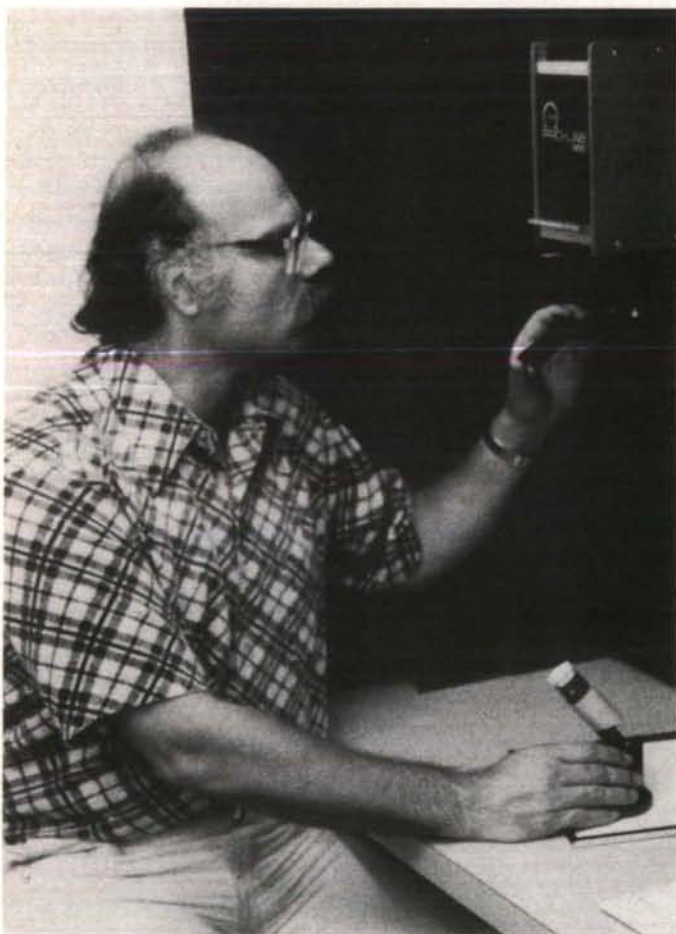

Ohio Epsilons took a break from planning fall rush at the University of Toledo in order to let some new ideas flow to their heads. Hanging upside down from the monkey bars seemed the only solution!

Thoughts of Arrowmont

John Robinson, Baton Rouge, La., attended Arrowmont as a Pi Phi scholarship recipient. After returning home, John wrote these thoughts of what his three weeks of study and the "Arrowmont experience" meant to him.

"Arrowmont consists of an unique environment which is conducive to creativity in the arts and crafts. Interdisciplinary input appears to be the key. Arrowmont is:

- Revitalizing—A fresh approach resulting in new outlooks, new creative solutions
- Thought provoking—Interdisciplinary exchange of ideas in different fields of art resulting in cross pollenization of endeavors
- Redirecting—Channeling of creative processes in directions not thought of before
- Focusing—Concentration of efforts into specific projects and goals
- Relaxing—Ample studio space and equipment; an oasis
- Learning—New techniques and refinement of old techniques
- Rewarding—Feeling of achievement in such a short time span
- Friendships—Staff, faculty and fellow students
- Nourishing—Mentally, spiritually and physically (food excellent but ate too much!)
- Lasting—Useful experiences in creative problem solving in the arts and crafts
- Reinforcing—People helping people"

Arrowcraft catalog is answer to gift dilemma

The telephone company yellow page ads urge you to "Let your fingers do the walking." This also describes the convenience of shopping with catalogs. Arrowcraft was in the catalog/mail order business long before it became popular and accepted way to buy merchandise. Today, many retailers offer telephone and mail order service as a convenience to their customers or sell their merchandise primarily through catalog selection.

A catalog's advantage is being able to sit at home and browse through an amazing variety of merchandise—literally from nuts and bolts to diamond tiaras. If you don't want any more nuts and bolts, and your need for tiaras is minimal, then you might be tempted by something in between—Arrowcraft!

We have a full line of woven articles for home and personal use which are pictured in our annual catalog. We also offer handcrafted items in clay, fiber, wood, paper, and metal. The weaving is produced by men and women who live in Sevier County. Many weavers have woven for the shop for over 25 years, and several families have four generations working as active weavers in the program. The crafts are purchased from local and regional craftsmen, many of whom got their start selling through Arrowcraft. We have a few craftsmen from outside the region whose work is unique and chosen for that reason. Arrowcraft offers work that is unusual and trendsetting in addition to the traditional.

The purpose of Arrowcraft remains the same today as it was in the beginning: to promote craftsmanship and weaving and to provide a market place for local and regionally produced work. As a Pi Phi, you own the Arrowcraft Shop. It is because you support this program that weavers and craftsmen can continue to create and sell beautiful work. Your purchases enable us to buy thread, pay our weavers, and buy crafts.

Omah Kear, who makes brooms, said recently, "In 1928 Arrowcraft asked my father to make 24 brooms for the shop. He delivered them by mule. Then he was asked to make 24 more. As the orders grew, he made tools to produce them more quickly. Today, my son and I sell brooms all over the United States. The Pi Phi started us in business and have bought our brooms for 56 years."

We invite you to be a part of and a partner in this exciting enterprise. Our club/chapter sales now are held in over 200 communities in the United States. Our individual mail order customers live in all 50 states, Canada, and several other foreign countries.

We will Shop for You by doing everything—select a gift in the price range you want to spend and the color or media you prefer, gift wrap, enclose a card with your name and information about the craftsman or weaver, and ship anywhere in the world. You can be billed or charge to VISA or MasterCard. This service is an easy way to send gifts for any occasion.

Two return to Arrowmont

Betty Reed House, Indiana Alpha class of 1939 at Franklin College, attended Arrowmont for the first time as a student. Twenty-five years ago, on family vacation, Betty made a point to swing through Gatlinburg for a first glimpse of the school. Now that her three children are grown Betty is finding time to take classes for personal growth and enrichment, including art classes through a local junior college, two Elderhostel programs, a music camp, and, of course, a class in enameling at Arrowmont.

Betty was impressed with the diverse interests and experience levels of her fellow students at Arrowmont. She found that each brought something different to Arrowmont and that sharing ideas and working together made a fulfilling experience. She says she's sure to come back.

Lucinda Trabue of Nashville, TN, a Tennessee Beta from Vanderbilt, attended Arrowmont for the third time as a recipient of a scholarship from the Nashville Alumnae Club. Lucinda spoke highly of the Nashville alums' generosity to Arrowmont. This year they gave the largest contribution to Arrowmont ($18,000) of any alumnae club. They usually award three scholarships a year for studies at Arrowmont.

A few years ago, Lucinda took an evening course in stained glass which precipitated her coming to Arrowmont. She has studied stained glass, Japanese papermaking, and watercolor painting through her summer classes. She found teachers at Arrowmont influential; "... they held nothing back. It was a time of teaching, sharing, a week of exploring myself."

Lucinda said she would like to stress the idea that a Pi Phi needn't be an artist or even have an artistic background to enjoy a summer class at Arrowmont. As a newly elected member to the Board of Governors, Lucinda would like to come up with publicity/action plans to communicate with Pi Phi about what Arrowmont is in 1984.

Craftsman is grateful

by JAN SKIDMORE SKINNER

An experience last fall illustrates the need Pi Phi still meets in the Gatlinburg community. A local craftsman, who sells a lot of his work to the Arrowcraft Shop, talked to us in November about buying things from him through the winter instead of waiting until the spring. He had produced a large order which was cancelled just before delivery. He had a finished inventory of goods, raw materials to pay for, and wages for himself and two helpers—all dependent on this one order.

We went to his studio and looked at the items he had and also new styles we could buy, since we couldn't use all the things from the cancelled order. We agreed to purchase some of the finished goods and contracted to have him make us new things and to pay for them monthly during the winter. This arrangement gave him money to pay his bills, take care of his family, and keep his two helpers employed.

He expressed his gratitude to Arrowcraft and the Fraternity when he said, "If it weren't for the Pi Phis, I couldn't have made it through the winter."

Spring classes offered

Prior to 1980 classes at Arrowmont were held mainly during the summer. Many inquiries were received expressing an interest in having classes scheduled at other times of the year.

Arrowmont now offers classes during March. These one week classes are similar to those offered during the summer with fiber, fabric, metal, clay, wood, and stained glass being taught. Students with little or no background as well as those who have developed to a professional level are welcomed. For university enrolled students, the one week sessions usually fall within spring break, thus allowing the opportunity for additional credit, an experience in a new medium, or a change from a routine academic involvement.

Could your chapter or alum club give a scholarship to someone interested in attending? In many cases scholarships need only be partial . . . an amount to cover tuition or part room/board. Contact Arrowmont for further information.

Laurelle Larson, first recipient of the Canadian Scholarship to Arrowmont, prepares for the next pass of the boat shuttle in the weaving class.

Painting student Robert Carroll experiments with the techniques of watercolor. Carroll received his scholarship through the Wichita Alumnae Club.

Scholarship students are impressed

Artists at all levels of development and from different parts of the United States and Canada are able to attend classes at Arrowmont due to scholarships offered by alumnae clubs and other interested parties. One such person was Robert Carroll of Wichita, Kansas. He was granted a scholarship through the Wichita Alumnae Club.

As an employee of the Wichita city school system where he trains elementary school teachers in art instruction, his continued contact with the visual arts and growth in various fields is most beneficial to his work. During the summer he took a watercolor painting class taught by Marcia Goldenstein.

Robert found facilities at Arrowmont to be exceptional and the natural beauty of its scenic location in the Smoky Mountains to be inspirational. He stated that intangible elements, such as the fellowship and camaraderie that develop, made the experience of taking a class at Arrowmont a unique and rewarding one.

The first recipient of a one week Arrowmont scholarship, offered by the Canadian Philanthropic Committee-Alberta Club, was Laurelle Lawson, a Pi Phi in her third year at the University of Alberta. The scholarship covered travel expenses, tuition, and room and board for one week and enabled Laurelle to participate in a two week woven wearables workshop taught by Sharon Lumsden.

The workshop was a productive one for Laurelle. As a beginning student in weaving she learned the basic techniques and constructed four different articles of clothing, as well as additional cloth which she swapped for a ceramics piece made by a pottery student. Laurelle also took home knowledge in many different media, acquired as she observed other classes in progress. She was impressed by the varied backgrounds of students and that people came from all over the country to attend classes at Arrowmont.

Laurelle made many new friendships at Arrowmont and she plans to keep in touch with several of her fellow students to exchange ideas and report on progress. She considered her scholarship to be an awareness experience, expressing a desire to share her feelings about Arrowmont with other Alberta Pi Phis. She hopes to encourage others to see this philanthropic project in person to help realize the benefit provided to many through Arrowmont School.

Laurelle plans to continue with her newly acquired weaving skills by obtaining her own loom and to continue her pursuit of a career in clothing and textile merchandising.

Ann Norris dries a portion of her fabric in the painting on silk class.

Sgraffito techniques of carving through the layer of colored slips are shown in the work of Karen Lewis during summer clay workshops.

Pi Phi alums attend summer classes

During the eleven weeks of mixed media classes offered at Arrowmont last summer, several Pi Phi alumnae were among the students participating in classes.

Michelle Feulner, Tennessee Gamma alumna, was at Arrowmont for six weeks on an assistantship. As an assistant Michelle had various duties, from making signs, installing exhibitions, studio assistance, and locking up buildings at night, to helping with transportation of students to/from the airport. She was involved in four weeks of classes in graphic arts, figure drawing, and mixed media on cloth. The opportunity to take classes at Arrowmont allowed Michelle to explore ideas and expand technical knowledge with her art work and to move into different media and directions with new art pieces.

Michelle lives in Lafayette, Ind., where she is an artist in printmaking, drawing, and painting. She describes her art work as dealing with "entrapment by political and social devices." Figures are used to evoke a reaction from the viewer by drawing them into the perspective of the figures in each piece.

Another Pi Phi alumna at Arrowmont was Ann Struble Norris, a member of the Charlotte (NC) Alumnae Club and an Iowa State Pi Phi. Ann participated in a two week class in wax resist dyeing taught by Ed Lambert. Ann has been to Arrowmont during five previous years for classes and attributes her present success and direction in art to these classes.

Her current work involves designing and producing jackets using silk dyeing, quilting, and applique techniques with emphasis on three dimensional aspects. This is accomplished through embellishment by crocheting, macrame, and manipulation of the cloth.

Ann feels that Arrowmont is on the "leading edge of the arts and crafts movement" and that she receives inspiration and motivation each time she comes. The atmosphere and interaction with other people in the visual arts are positive elements that draw people like Ann back to Arrowmont.

Karen Lewis, a Pi Phi at U.C.L.A. and now a member of the Westchester County (N.Y.) Alumnae Club, was at Arrowmont during the summer sessions for a sgraffito ceramic course. This was Karen's first time at Arrowmont and she found it to be a "wonderful experience." A painter and printmaker, Karen has taught high school art for eleven years. Technical knowledge acquired at Arrowmont will be used to assist her in teaching.

Part of Karen's tuition and costs were paid through a scholarship offered by her alumnae club. Most recipients are local

New York artists who are granted the scholarships with the intention that they will return to the community to use and share knowledge gained through Arrowmont. Karen feels it is very important that more Pi Phis apply for scholarships or attend classes at their own expense in order to experience actual daily activities at Arrowmont and to appreciate the value and wide-reaching effects of this philanthropy.

Six alumnae earn C.E. awards

by JANE PURLEE SHIRLEY

The Alumnae Committee for Continuing Education is pleased to announce the six recipients of this year's awards.

Virginia Stewart Wall, Ohio Epsilon, is a second year law student at the University of Toledo. In 1983 she earned Dean's List honors, received the Dean's List Scholarship and the Pi Phi ACCE award. Virginia is married, has three small children, is active in Pi Phi, church, her children's school activities, and campus activities at the University. Her husband was laid off in 1982 and is now working, but at a greatly reduced income.

Joyce Wherritt Bowers, Utah Alpha, a 1983 ACCE award recipient, is a full-time student working on a Master of Arts degree at San Francisco State with a special major in art and classical archeology. Joyce commutes sixty miles to her classes and maintains a 4.0 grade point average. She is married and has three small boys. She has been ACRIC for her Pi Phi alum club and last year was recording secretary and Convention delegate.

Mary Ann Bagley McCollum, 1983 Nashville Alumnae Club scholarship winner, Alabama Alpha, teaches math to gifted children full time and is working full time on a Ph.D. in instructional leadership at the University of Alabama. A Phi Beta Kappa, Mary Ann maintains a 4.0 G.P.A. and commutes 120 miles per day to college. Her husband is a professor and they have three children, two of whom are attending private colleges. Mary Ann has been very active over the years in Pi Phi and community activities.

Marsha Foote Goates, Texas Zeta, is a first year, full time law student at Baylor. She is divorced and has a three year old son, so she does not feel she will be able to work while attending school. Marsha taught high school English for seven years. She served the Odessa Pi Phi Alum Club as president, ACRIC, and Convention delegate.

Kris Woodard, Iowa Gamma, is a junior high physical education teacher. Since receiving a Masters Degree in Counseling and Guidance in 1981, she has volunteered her services as a school counselor. Her goal is to become a full time school counselor or work in a private therapy clinic. She needed tuition money to attend the International Gestalt Institute and complete a three year training program. Kris has tremendous medical expenses from cancer surgery which she had to have last year.

Lissa Young, Arkansas Beta, is Management Support Technician for the Arkansas Territorial Restoration. Prior to this position, she was assistant press secretary for the Governor of Arkansas. She has held many Pi Phi offices in her active chapter and alum club. Lissa is a part-time student in the Masters in Public Administration program at the University of Arkansas at Little Rock. Her goal is to work for a private sector corporation which has a need for a specialist in government operations. Lissa is 1984 recipient of the Nashville Alum Club scholarship.

Continuing Education Scholarships are available in two categories: to those Pi Phi alumnae who have been out of school at least five years and who will be full time students, and to those who have been out of school at least two years and will be pursuing career qualifying goals. Scholarships are granted for one year and recipients may reapply. The committee considers service to Pi Phi through alum club activities, as well as career goals and accomplishments, and financial need.

Interested alumnae are encouraged to write Janie Shirley, 9444 Highedge, Dallas, Texas 75238, for further details. Applications for the 1985 awards must be returned by January 15, 1985.

Friendships renewed

After being separated for almost a year, two Pi Phi sisters were reunited, in August, at the Republican National Convention in Dallas. Nevada Alpha Pi Phi Denise Oxenreiter had transferred to Louisiana State, but made a special trip to Dallas to see her pledge sister Shelly Allison. Together they attended many exciting sessions of the Convention and also had time for shopping and sightseeing.

"It was a terrific couple of days," said Shelly.

Maureen Halikis spent a busy year organizing young people in California for the Reagan-Bush ticket.

Halikis heads youth campaign

Maureen Halikis, California Gamma and recent graduate of the University of Southern California, was California Youth Director for the Reagan-Bush campaign. Her responsibilities involved the organization of youth in California between the ages of 18 and 25, focusing mainly on the College and high school campuses throughout the state.

Maureen was graduated with honors from the University of Southern California in the spring of 1984, receiving a dual Bachelor of Arts degree in international relations and political science. While at the University, she was elected to Mortar Board, Golden Key, and Pi Sigma Alpha national honor societies, and the Blackstonian Pre-Law Honor Society.

Spending a semester in Washington D.C., Maureen served as a press aide in the White House at the press office of Vice President Bush, and was selected as a student panelist on the TV talk show, "Youth and the Issues."

As a member of Pi Beta Phi, she served as assistant pledge trainer and was elected Most Outstanding and Inspirational Pledge in 1981.

After the campaign, Maureen plans to study in Europe and then attend law school in the Fall of 1985.

Jane Bryant Quinn earns respect as noted financial commentator

The letterhead is from Newsweek magazine, but it would be a fallacy to think that her contributing editorship of that magazine were her only activity. For Jane Bryant Quinn, Vermont Alpha, her Newsweek activities are only the beginning of a long list of positions and achievements.

The name is familiar to thousands of readers of Woman's Day because of Jane's informative "Money Facts" page in each issue. For four years, until July of this year, she contributed at least two spots per week to CBS Morning News, and in July, moved from the morning news to CBS Evening News. She's the author of Everyone's Money Book, published in 1979, with a second edition in 1980.

Jane Bryant Quinn is a journalist in the best sense of the word. And she is busy—probably the country's busiest freelance financial commentator. She is constantly on the go, moving from her various offices and studios in New York, to making frequent trips to Washington, D.C., to fulfilling speaking engagements around the country. Add the responsibilities of a family, and you have a woman with very little time for socializing, a fact that only slightly disgruntles her attorney husband, David.

Middlebury Graduate

Jane was graduated from Middlebury College in Vermont, Magna Cum Laude, in 1960, and has been in journalism ever since. She started out in Newsweek's mail department, switched to Look magazine after six months, where she eventually became co-editor of "The Insider's Newsletter." It was during that time that Jane gravitated toward consumer finance pieces.

"There were opportunities for women," notes Jane. "They were just in an area that no one else wanted."

McGraw-Hill was the next rung up the ladder, in 1968. There she founded the "Business Week Letter," but the company's wariness about female editors made them list Jane as J. B. Quinn. She went along with this on the condition that all other newsletter staffers sign off with their initials.

In 1974 Jane struck out on her own as a freelance writer. Her first client was the

Jane Bryant Quinn, Vermont Alpha

Washington Post, followed quickly by Woman's Day, Newsweek, and her television career as a finance reporter.

When her busy professional day is over, Jane returns to the home she and David built in the woods in New York's Westchester County. Most evenings they eat an early dinner before they get into pajamas and robes and head for the master bedroom to read—Jane's preferred form of relaxation. Still at home is son Justin. Another son, Matthew, was graduated from Oberlin College last year. Matthew is the product of Jane's first marriage.

David also has children by a previous marriage: Martha, a disc jockey on MTV; Christopher, a pilot; and David, a lawyer.

Jane's life is exciting, stimulating, and happy. Her sixteen year marriage to David is fulfilling. He, in turn, enthusiastically supports Jane in her many activities and performs half the parental chores for Justin. On weekends Jane cooks and David does the dishes.

It's a time of great personal high for Jane Bryant Quinn, notable Pi Phi.

Julie Sanders, spring Baylor graduate, was one of twenty national college graduates to receive the 11th annual Pulliam Fellowship. She was a journalism intern at the Indianapolis Star during the summer.

New boutique idea draws customers

by JOANNA GALE

Kelly Evenson, North Dakota Alpha, is the successful owner of one of the newest and most talked about shops in Grand Forks, ND. Her shop, called the Funk Chic Boutique, is a fresh new idea for the Grand Forks community. Featuring vintage clothing, furs, jewelry, linens, glassware, and accessories, Evenson's shop primarily draws college students. Evenson says that vintage clothing gives a new-wave effect and that's what college students are wearing. Mixing old and new styles of clothing produces a unique and eye-catching combination that is rapidly gaining popularity.

Last September Kelly took her clothes to the public with a fashion show entitled "Passing Fashions," sponsored by a local radio station. She, along with Pi Phi's Kim Boushey and Joanna Gale, modeled the latest in classic designs. Outfits ranged from a beaded flapper dress to a raccoon fur for women and wool coats and double-breasted suits for men.

The beginning of the show was greeted by a mixture of hesitancy and curiosity from onlookers but as the show progressed, the audience gained much enthusiasm. It was a fun, successful evening.

Anorexia nervosa and bulimia—dangerous eating disorders

by HEATHER L. HOWARD

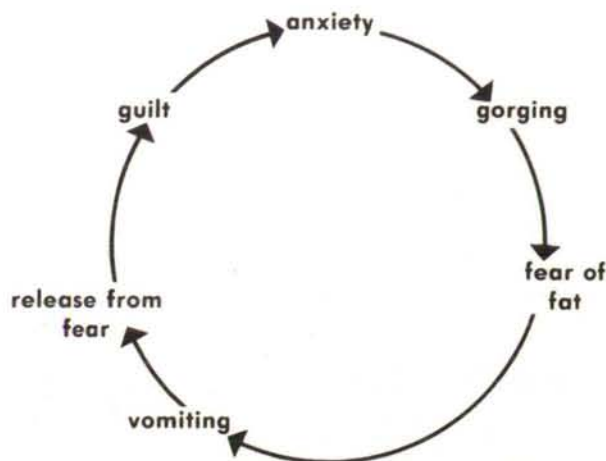

Karen Carpenter was on the road to recovery when she suffered a fatal heart attack at age 32. The untimely death of this beloved singer brought to national attention the fact that anorexia nervosa and bulimia are indeed life-threatening illnesses which have reached epidemic proportions and affect every facet of our society. Eating disorders can cause serious life long physical and psychological problems in the self starver and in those of normal weight who compulsively binge and purge. An estimated six percent die.

Growing up in a society where "thin is in" and success is measured by the size of one's jeans is a struggle for teenagers and young women today. The college woman is faced with added pressures as she confronts the new challenges of living away from home for the first time, being responsible for setting her own limits, striving to excel both socially and academically, planning her career, dealing with her sexuality, and facing periods of fear, isolation, and loneliness.

Family, school, and peer pressures coupled with the mass media's portrayal of the desirable, happy, successful woman as thin often leads a young woman to the conclusion that if she loses "just a few pounds" she, too, will be desirable, happy, and successful. Sometimes, when losing a few pounds does not lead to instant contentment, she tries losing a few more, and a few more. The diet is out of control and the dieter becomes anorexic. The anorexic typically develops an exaggerated interest in food, yet at the same time, denies hunger and refuses to eat. She develops a distorted body image and perceives herself as fat even as the weight loss continues to life-threatening levels. Sleep problems may develop, and frequently anorexics undertake an unrelenting, strenuous exercise program. She may show unusual devotion to school work. Menstrual periods may cease due to insufficient hormone production brought on by reduced body fat.

Bulimia is characterized by binge eating followed by self-induced vomiting or laxative abuse. It is estimated that 25 to 30 percent of all college age women have experienced this dangerous binge/purge syndrome. Many bulimics feel controlled by this compulsive cycle which begins with anxiety:

On the surface, the desire to be thin may appear to be the cause of eating disorders. But FOOD IS NOT THE ISSUE! At issue are underlying fears, doubts and insecurities which the anorexic/bulimic must face if she is to overcome these devastating illnesses. Eating disorders tend to strike women who are perfectionists, high achievers, sensitive and self-conscious, and may have low self-esteem. Often they feel they have no control over their lives, so they attempt to gain power by controlling their bodies and eating habits. Because the true underlying feelings are not being confronted, eating disorders lead to depression, withdrawal, feelings of guilt, and a sense of hopelessness. Most anorexics/bulimics are young women between the ages of 12 and 25, but a distressing increase is evident in children between the ages of eight and eleven as well as older women. Male cases are being reported with increasing frequency.

Along with the serious psychological scars which can be brought on by eating disorders, a number of physical problems may also appear. These problems include skin dryness, edema, bloating and abdominal pain from laxative abuse, problems with teeth and cavities, salivary gland infection, and amenorrhea (loss of menstrual period).

There is hope! With proper medical and psychological care, the anorexic/bulimic can overcome her eating disorder and become a healthy, productive member of her community. And there is ANAD—The National Association of Anorexia Nervosa and Associated Disorders.

Personal Experience

I came to ANAD with the hope of making a difference in the lives of people with eating disorders. I truly do understand these illnesses as I began recovering from bulimia three years ago. Being a perfectionist who is very sensitive and bright, I needed a way to control my life even more. I was not overweight and not thin, but an average weight. This was not good enough. I began dieting at age 13 with my sister. I thought I had found a way to have my cake and eat it too. I thought I was in "control," but the bulimia began controlling me. I was trapped in the vicious cycle of bingeing/purging/feeling guilty/and dieting only to escape my fears through bingeing again. I knew I needed help, but I had no idea that other people had the problem. I became more tired, regimented, and guilty. My complexion was no longer good, my hair lost its luster, and I never had a normal menstrual cycle. It became harder and harder to hide my binges as they became larger and longer.

My recovery began when I told my parents that I needed help. Since my father is a recovering alcoholic, I knew they would have to understand this illness too. I began to see a therapist in conjunction with a support group. My family went to therapy too at times. I wanted to recover. I had too much to give this life, and I could not do it with a cloud of an eating disorder over my head.

Help is available

ANAD is the first national non-profit educational and self-help organization in North America dedicated to alleviating the problems of anorexia nervosa and bulimia. Through ANAD's efforts, millions of people have been made aware of the dangers and warning signs of anorexia nervosa and bulimia. Each year thousands of anorexics, bulimics and family members turn to ANAD for counsel, assistance, and information. ANAD maintains a referral list of therapists and medical professionals nationwide experienced in treating eating disorders. Self-help support groups have been established in over 40 states and Canada where anorexics, bulimics and their families can meet and share with others suffering from these devastating syndromes. ANAD provides information, early detection, and educational programs to schools, universities, health and civic organizations from coast to coast. All ANAD services are free of charge.

ANAD was founded in 1976 by Vivian Meehan, President, with the dream of assisting sufferers and preventing eating disorders. I had the rewarding experience of being an intern at ANAD the summer of 1982 when I was a junior at Albion College, a Michigan Delta sister. I learned a great deal about the destructive effects of anorexia/bulimia and decided to begin my own support group for the campus community. My Pi Phi sisters at Michigan Delta were very supportive as I made presentations to many sororities and organizations on Albion's campus. Two years later, I came to work for ANAD to be their administrator. It is a challenging, rewarding, and exciting position.

Each day, I answer hot line calls from victims and families across the United States and Canada. Working with recovering anorexics and bulimics in a support group is very fulfilling as well. I am always learning more about these problems and those who are affected by them.

Accepts self

My experience as an ANAD intern really made me realize that I needed to confront and understand some of my underlying feelings of fear, anxiety, anger, and self-esteem. I began to accept myself for who I am instead of trying to please everyone else in my life. I am letting go of the problems in my life over which I have no control. I am much healthier now, both physically and psychologically. Life is so much more meaningful without the obsessions of food, dieting, and control.

"Ocean to ocean there's lasting devotion in the hearts that are bound by the wine and silver blue. Whatever may bind you there's Pi Beta Phi beside you, holding their hands to you." ANAD holds its hands to you and your sisters. ANAD is building a preventative program for young people in their teens. Funding is necessary, so think of ideas that could help your future sisters, our young teens of today. If your sisters need help, hold out your hand with love and concern. If you would like free information for your chapter, please write us: ANAD, Box 271, Highland Park, IL 60035. Phone 312-831-3438. Please enclose $1.00 to cover postage and handling.

Together we can do so much.

Liz Parro, Louisiana Beta, reigned as Queen Christopher XXXII in the Mardi Gras Ball in Thibodeaux, LA. Liz is also winner of the Tom W. Dutton Scholarship, awarded annually for outstanding community service.

Barbara Harding as she appeared in the mini-series "George Washington," thanks to the wardrobe mistress, hairdresser, and make-up expert from M.G.M.

Country dance expert teaches mini-series stars

When Martha and George Washington and Sally and George Fairfax whirled through the dance called "Hunt the Squirrel," they did so under the watchful eye of Barbara Hicks Harding, Ohio Delta.

Last April CBS presented an eight-hour mini-series, "George Washington," and Barbara was asked to teach Barry Bostwick, Jaclyn Smith, Patty Duke Astin and David Dukes the intricacies of 1776 country dances. The series was filmed in Alexandria, Va. and the Smithsonian Institution recommended that Barbara be contacted to provide dancers for the series.

Barbara lives in Herndon, Va., and she has been dancing, performing, studying, and teaching country dancing, especially English country dancing, since 1950. In 1975 she began studying researched dances that had been collected as having been performed in 1776.

"I formed a class of dancers interested in exploring these dances," she writes. "We performed at Herndon's Bicentennial Ball, and kept right on performing, as we found this a delight.

"We became the Old Dominion Dancers, and have been invited to perform at historic sites in the D.C. and northern Virginia area, including Woodlawn Plantation, Renwick Gallery, Lee Mansion, Gadsby's Tavern in Old Town Alexandria, and others."

Barbara earned a Bachelor's degree in elementary education at American University, after transferring from Ohio Wesleyan during her sophomore year. She is a kindergarten teacher and president of Harding Hall Day Care Center in Herndon. Her special interest, in addition to English country dancing, is English ritual dancing, and she teaches and directs a group of 5th and 6th grade boys who perform ancient ritual sword dances.

Girl Scouts, churches, and other community organizations benefit from Barbara's talent as she donates her dance teaching services for such special activities. In November and early December, she invites children from all churches to assemble for rehearsal in her home, and they prepare and present a program of Christmas folk music and carols. Children from kindergarten through 6th grade participate, and the chorus numbers from 40 to 70 voices. This has been an annual event for nearly twenty years.

Barbara is a regular member of the faculty of Christmas Country Dance School at Berea College in Kentucky, and is there every Christmas season. Early last January she taught a course in country dancing to a double Elderhostel at Berea. During the 1981-82 school year at Berea, she directed the Country Dancers, a team of 60 selected dancers who performed throughout the state of Kentucky, and neighboring states, as a means of introducing the public to Berea College.

Barbara has always had a deep interest in children. "I have a firm feeling about the rights of children and work to see that they have proper opportunities for education.

"Keeping ritual dancing alive is my approach to history and I find it fascinating. Country dancing is one of my favorite activities," she says.

Would Barbara encourage others to go into the teaching field?

"Immerse yourself in activities involving children in a learning situation," she advises. "If this has any meaning for you, go into education. DO NOT expect to make a 'cool million'."

But do expect great satisfaction. Barbara Harding has found that satisfaction in her teaching.

Riverboat is scene of spring formal

by SUE MANDERS

Have you ever dreamed of a cruise on the Loveboat? Well for Ohio Epsilon Pi Phis, the dream seemed to come true. In May, eighty University of Toledo Pi Phis and area alums, along with their dates, boarded the all new paddlewheel riverboat, The Arawanna Princess. Departing from the docks of Maumee Bay, the boat moved along the shoreline for two hours, while couples dined and danced to the music beat. The exciting and romantic evening did not end there, however. After docking, everyone headed for the Toledo Yacht Club to dance the rest of the evening away.

This formal was a night to be remembered, but the opening of a new development for Toledo made it even more exciting and memorable. Portside, a Festival Market Place, held its grand opening that day. Thousands of people from near and far were on shore celebrating the occasion as the Pi Phis cruised down the river, waving to the crowds as if they were sailing on the Loveboat. For Ohio Epsilon, this formal was the greatest ever.

Debbie Berman, Missouri Beta, is 1984-85 Miss St. Louis, crowned last March. In July, she was chosen second runner-up and won first place in the bathing suit competition in the Miss Missouri Pageant.

Dr. King speaks at St. Lawrence

by JILL CASE

New York Gamma hosted past Convention speaker, Dr. Edward King, in April. He arrived just in time to wrap up St. Lawrence's Greek Week festivities with a timely and appropriate talk.

Dr. King's visit was the result of a suggestion by T.G.C. Martha Hughey and much hard work by President Mary Read to acquire funding for the event.

The entire chapter worked on publicity and the result was an impressive audience consisting of Greeks, non-Greeks, faculty, and administration.

The ideals which Dr. King enumerated were especially timely as the Greek system is currently under scrutiny at St. Lawrence. Greeks looked to Dr. King for guidance during a special workshop held at the Pi Phi house, to which all fraternity presidents were invited.

The Pi Phis at St. Lawrence are aware of the importance of their contributions to a positive Greek image on campus. Dr. King's visit was a way to reinforce that image and a positive Pi Phi image.

The Montana State University Cheersquad has two Pi Phis as part of the squad. Lisa Bender, left, is a cheerleader and Simonne Corne is a dancer for the year.

Burgeson receives political science award

Robyn Burgeson was a very active Pi Phi in the political scene at Simpson College. She studied international business for one semester at Drew University during her junior year, and upon her return to Simpson, interned at the Des Moines state capital for interim.

Interim of her senior year saw her interning for Iowa Congressman Tom Harkin. That experience led to a job with the current Harkin campaign. Last year she was vice president of the student body as well as a chapter officer.

At the spring Honors Convocation, Robyn received the Outstanding Political Science Student Award and was inducted into Who's Who Among Colleges and Universities.

Texas Beta is proud of its victorious softball team. Front, l-r: Cha Cha Symonds, Julie Brown, Kim Gray, Lori Grizaffi. Back: Kissy Butler, Elizabeth Eckel, Elizabeth Lawson, Barb Sukinek, Galen Beveridge, Ashley Keller, and unidentified Pike.

Kentucky Betas Cindy Arnold, Betty Talbott, and Amy Hurd were members of the Pi Phi group who captured second place in the sorority division of Chi Omega Greek Sing.

Chapter visits Zozobra Festival

by MELISSA JACKSON

A New Mexico Alpha tradition was carried on once again this fall. Fifty UNM Pi Phis and T.G.C. Lisa Gammel went to Santa Fe, N.M. to see the Zozobra Festival. Burning Zozobra is a Spanish tradition where a twenty-five foot puppet is constructed by the people and painted and decorated to look like an old man. He goes by the name of "Old Man Gloom."

As the ceremony begins, Zozobra is posted in a field where 40,000 people gather to watch. Fiesta officials then set the giant puppet on fire, symbolizing all the gloom of the year being burnt away. As Zozobra burns, the crowd gets happier as their gloom also burns away. The Zozobra is also filled with fireworks that add to the excitement. Following the burning, there is a celebration party in the plaza in Santa Fe. All the people gather to listen to Spanish music, dance, and to celebrate with friends the beginning of a happy and prosperous year. The week long Fiesta ended September 9.

Rush—As seen from a rushee's point of view

by LISA GROVE

Fees, invitations, bids, teas, desserts, dinners, lunches, introductions, songs, skits, themes, ceremonies and even suicides. Suicides? What? What's going on?

Almost any college female will be happy to tell you, it's only rush. It's only rush? No way, it's more than that, much more.

Rush was one week of non-stop activities, new friendships, and bottled emotions that slowly and unknowingly build inside until they are released once and for all (usually through a phone call to mom and lots of tears).

Just having gone through rush a little over a week ago, I think I experienced every emotion imaginable. The beginning of the week was curiosity, anxiety, apprehension, and an abundance of nerves. By the middle of the week, restlessness entered the picture—almost a feeling that I wouldn't ever be able to come to a decision in just a few days. The nervousness had calmed a bit and conversation became more tangible. Near the end of the week, the picture had narrowed (thank God).

Emotions, on the other hand had not. They stirred inside and came out unpredictably, and the tears flowed like water. Amongst all that emotion, however, was a cutting feeling telling me what to do. It just took many phone calls and late night talks to bring it out.

I'm proud to say I've made one of the best decisions ever in my life. I chose Pi Beta Phi as my home. I was not alone, however. Thirty other girls made the same lifelong choice. I'm also very proud to add that the Pi Beta Phi chapter on the campus of Bradley University was the only house to make quota this fall. That, in itself, tells of the quality found in the girls of Illinois Theta.

I wanted a house with sisters who are honest, hard-working, caring, and, above all, special to me. I've found exactly what I need—a family that is all mine.

My future as a Pi Phi looks to be all that I want it to be—an inner strength that binds everyone together and makes us one. I'm lucky to have uncovered such a strength on the campus of Bradley University.

Mom's weekend is special time

Even though the day proved cold and wet, happy hearts warmed all Pi Phis when their mothers came for a visit. April 7th and 8th was Mom's Weekend for Oklahoma Betas.

The fun began Saturday morning with party pics and a Mom's Club meeting. Then everyone enjoyed an Easter basket lunch before spending the afternoon shopping, talking, or attending a campus fashion show. Some visited a local woman who raises sheep and then spins and dyes her own yarn. The beautiful, handmade sweaters she creates amazed everyone.

The day's finale was watching the Pi Phi—Farmhouse act in the annual Spring Sing competition. Not only mothers were proud of the Oklahoma Beta effort as they proved they were "Ape Over Moms" when they performed in their homemade costumes. The evening ended with a real treat—a Pi Phi Cooky-Shine!

At 104, Alice Flick is still interested in Pi Phi

Perhaps the oldest living member of Pi Beta Phi is Alice Dunning Flick, Maryland Alpha. Alice lives in Des Moines, IA, and she celebrated her 104th birthday last August 25th, with neighbors and local Pi Phis stopping in to congratulate her.

Alice was born and raised in Bedford, IA. She was graduated from high school in 1898 and went to Baltimore, MD to attend Goucher College. She was initiated into Maryland Alpha in 1901. In college she was May Queen and president of the senior class as well as being active on the girls' basketball team and in other sports. May Lansfield Keller, Pi Phi's Grand President from 1908-1918, was one of Alice's good friends.

In 1907 Alice married Bruce Flick, a lawyer who was a member of her high school graduating class and they had three children. The move to Des Moines came in 1921, where Alice became active in many civic activities, as well as a member of the Pi Beta Phi Alumnae Club.

Alice now lives with her retired son, and comes downstairs all dressed for the day for lunch and dinner. She always checks the morning paper, and tries to take a daily walk, using her walker for assistance. She likes to end her day watching the nightly news, but she admits she doesn't always agree with it.

Her son, Robert, likes to tell an amusing story about early days. As a young boy, he often went with his mother to meetings, since babysitters weren't available. When asked, "What do you want to be when you grow up?" he would answer, "I'm going to Goucher College and be a Pi Phi!"

Alice, to this day, is still interested in Pi Phi. The daughter of her cleaning lady is cook at the new Iowa Eta chapter at Drake University, so Alice hears a lot about what is going on.

OKT honors Mom Evans

by VIRGINIA HOOVER FRANKLIN

Mary Morgan Evans, Ohio Alpha Golden Arrow, retired this spring after fifteen years as housemother of the Ohio University chapter of Phi Kappa Tau. For most of those years she was the only fraternity housemother on campus.

A retirement dinner party given by the men of Phi Kappa Tau was the biggest "happening" at Ohio University in many years. One hundred fifty guests joined the many Phi Kappa Tau alumni who returned from over the United States to honor and pay tribute to Mom Evans, and to join in the cheers and tears as memories were shared. Among the guests was the national president of Phi Kappa Tau who expressed, on behalf of the national fraternity, his appreciation of Mom Evans' contributions and dedicated service to Phi Kappa Tau, the Greek system, Ohio University, and the Athens community.

Ohio Alpha of Pi Beta Phi serenaded and sent flowers. Tributes were received from fraternities, Ohio University administrators, political leaders, and community friends. A personal message paying tribute to Mom Evans' achievements was received from President Ronald Reagan.

Rider awaits rodeo finals

by KADY MCMASTER

Talent, poise, and appearance are important aspects of every pageant. But this December, Kansas Alpha Teddi Bankes also will have to ride a horse to win her crown.

Bankes, Miss Rodeo Kansas, will compete for the title on Miss Rodeo America, representing the Professional Rodeo Association nationwide.

To win the title of Miss Rodeo Kansas, Teddi was judged on poise and appearance, talent, performance in a personal interview, and extemporaneous speaking. The talent portion of the contest is based on horsemanship and the contestant's knowledge of rodeo.

The national pageant will be held during National Finals Rodeo in Oklahoma City. Teddi will be judged on many of the same aspects as in the state pageant, with one exception. The horsemanship section of the national contest will differ from the state pageants in that the contestants will not ride their own horses.

Questions in the personal interview are similar to those other pageant contestants face, except they have a rodeo twist, Bankes said. The poise and appearance section of the pageant includes a modeling competition.

"Instead of swimsuits, we model traditional western wear," she said.

As a public relations and communications major, Teddi finds her position helpful and rewarding. She travels to rodeos and makes public appearances throughout the state.

"I have to do most of the PR work myself," she said. "I couldn't have asked for a better internship this summer."

House party stirs memories

by CYNTHIA SEIFERT TOUSLEY

Thirty-one years ago in August, 1953, twenty-one nervous, recently graduated high schoolers pledged Pi Beta Phi at Illinois Theta at Bradley University in Peoria, Ill. "Dressed to the nines" in fancy dresses, hats, white gloves, and matching shoes and purses, the twenty-one decided that Pi Phi was the fraternity for them and took the chapter by storm! The bonds of sisterhood were stressed over and over again in the wine and the blue—and the twenty-one believed.

Thirty-one years later, in June, ten of those same sisters returned to the Illinois Theta chapter house to renew old friendships and to discover that the bonds of sisterhood, touted so highly years ago, were still strong and enduring—what they had believed so long ago was really true!

Four of the Peoria Pi Phis, over lunch one day, had the brainstorm for the reunion and decided to have it even if they were the only ones to attend. The idea took hold and ten who returned had lunch at the chapter house, a tour of the Bradley campus by an active Pi Phi, dinner at the newly remodeled Pere Hotel (scene of many formals in the 50's), then back to the chapter house for a "slumber party" and all those "do you remembers." Chapter histories for 1953-57 helped jog memories. Brunch the next morning concluded the festivities and amid hugs, smiles, and fond farewells, there was a sense of love and sisterhood that had remained strong and true. That sisterhood bridged the gap of thirty-one years.

The weekend was not without its hysterical moments—when we discovered there was no hot water, when an electrical short in a fan caused sparks to fly, and hot humid weather with no air. . . .

The fee charged by house corporation for using the chapter house was paid to Illinois Theta Lois Stein Lewis who will do a large pen and ink drawing of the Bradley chapter house to hang in the living room. It will be a lasting remembrance of a grand reunion.

Daryll Gagliano, Carmen Zambrano, Kim Vernon, and Marie Piro are Pennsylvania Beta's own unique singing group, the "Angelettes." (Not shown, Linda Halsey)

Calligraphy expert is internationally known

How does one segue from being a scuba diving instructor to being nationally recognized in the fields of calligraphy and italic handwriting? Well, if you are Denys Richardson Taipale, Washington Alpha, of Great Falls, Mont., you have an interesting story to tell.

Denys has always loved the water, and several years ago, she was a scuba instructor for the military in Okinawa. She had 650 open ocean dives teaching and working with dangerous marine life under a government grant. One day a new student signed up using a beautiful style of writing on his application. When Denys asked about it, she became interested and from that beginning grew the hobby that has become her career.

Denys has an international reputation as a calligrapher, instructor of calligraphy and its related areas, is a consultant on italic handwriting, and is the author of a series of books.

After her introduction to calligraphy, she worked on her own for three years, then spent the next eleven traveling around the world to study the art with masters here and abroad. She doesn't recommend self-study as a way to begin, however.

"I had to unlearn a lot of bad habits. Find a qualified teacher," she urges. "There are calligraphy societies everywhere, and they list teachers."

As a calligraphy instructor, Denys works with approximately twenty groups a year, running three day to ten day workshops for the beginner through the more experienced. These workshops cover letterforms, layout, design, color, and reproduction. She recently finished a six day workshop with two other calligraphers at Northern Arizona University in Flagstaff, and that workshop will be repeated in Montana in 1986.

Denys says she is a "tough teacher," demanding two hours of homework a night from students during workshops. She uses humor and enthusiasm and usually leaves her students with a year's worth of material to work on. In her own work she is especially lauded for her swash capitals, the fancy capital letters that go with italic calligraphy. She has been featured at many calligraphy gatherings nationally, and has been guest speaker for the Society for Italic Handwriting in London.

Not only is Denys a former scuba diving instructor, but she is a veteran ski patrol member, a sailor, antique collector, mother of two sons, both in early 20s, and world traveler. As the latter, she averages 100,000 miles per year to teach and run seminars.

That's another side to her personality—flying frightens her, so she sleeps and avoids any conversations on a plane. She has a way of handling garrulous seatmates.

"When they ask what I do for a living," she laughs, "I tell them I'm a nuclear physicist. That shuts them up."

So Denys Taipale continues her travels. She is always booked far in advance. In her hometown of Great Falls, there has been so much exposure to the art form that the school system has formally adopted the teaching of italic handwriting into its curriculum. Denys wrote the materials and teaches teachers how to present it.

Sorority Sisterhood

by KIM BATES

Four workers huddle around an old, rickety table in the back of a clothing store. We have been given our fifteen minute break and the time is spent gulping Tab and talking. Today conversation turns to the colleges we attend. Mary lights up as she describes her plans for the coming year; she plans to live in her sorority house.

"Oh," I ask, swallowing from my pop bottle while eyeing the time clock. "What sorority are you in?"

"Kappa Kappa Gamma," she replied.

Mary—a Kappa! Somehow, away from school, I expect sororities to be a well-kept secret from the world. When I proudly announce that I am a Pi Phi, we begin exchanging stories of sorority life. We soon discover a new link between us. I write for The ARROW; she writes for Kappa's The KEY.

Too soon our break is over and we return to the floor. Yet I have come to recognize the pride which exists in all sorority women. For sororities are not cliquish groups of insecure girls, but women who wish to learn and experience together. Of course, Pi Phi is not just a sorority, but a band of angels with a rich heritage and promising future because they reach out to their campuses and communities.

How ironic that hearing happy tales from a Kappa friend made me realize even more how proud I am to be a Greek—a Pi Phi!

Pi Phis aid brother fraternity

Colorado Gammas hosted a Mexican dinner to help with the colonization of Beta Theta Pi on Colorado State's campus in the fall. Betas from Colorado School of Mines and the University of Colorado also helped with the dinner and rush.

Betas did well in their fall 1984 rush and will soon be a strong force on campus. Colorado State Pi Phis were glad they could help their national brother fraternity in its beginning as a chapter in Fort Collins.

Julie Gray, Florida Beta, speaks to Texas Delta Pi Phis at SMU on working together as a team.

Many schools hear Julie

Speaking in the Greek system, teaching Bible studies and seminars, and counseling with students concerning Christianity are all part of Florida Beta Julie Stein Gray's job with Campus Crusade for Christ at Texas Christian University.

Julie and her husband, Scott, were featured in a recent issue of Worldwide Challenge Magazine. The article also gave Texas Delta some national exposure with a picture of their chapter room as well as excerpts of a talk Julie gave in their chapter meeting.

Julie speaks throughout the Greek system—to pledge classes as well as actives, on campuses as far away from Texas as Miami of Ohio. She gives suggestions on how to work well together as a team, tips on time management, how to deal with anxiety, and conducts diagnostic seminars with executive councils on styles of decision making and interpersonal needs. She admits that her favorite audiences, however, are Pi Phi chapters!

Julie is several years older than the students she work with, but her relational skills seem to minimize any differences. She's a good observer and a good listener. She values honesty in relationships.

"I don't like to play games," she says. "I don't have a thick facade to make people guess about what's underneath."

The Grays have counseled students with anorexia nervosa, alcoholism, and other problems. They attempt to create an environment of love, caring, and acceptance within the Campus Crusade movement. They see themselves as resource people for students interested in understanding more about Christ.

When speaking on working together as a team, Julie offers four points. "Be aware of how what you do affects others," "Be yourself," "Be involved," and "Take time to think."

150 attend conference

Oklahoma Beta Dianne Dickworth attended the 10th annual conference of "Business Today: A Review of Capitalism." The conference was sponsored by Princeton University Undergraduate Foundation, publishers of Business Today, the most widely circulated undergraduate magazine in the country. One hundred fifty students from across the nation, top executives from various American companies, and guest speakers, including Ralph Nader, attended. The conference was held last month in Pittsburgh, PA.

A note from camp

Dear Mom and Dad,

As usual, I've had a wonderful summer here at Camp Pinecliffe, but this summer four of our counselors added a special dimension to our family unit.

Cathy Cullen, Katie Holmes, Roberta Jones, and Sue Matthews are all sisters of New York Gamma of Pi Beta Phi. It's been neat to see the friendships that can develop in a sorority, just like camp.

Cathy taught me everything I know about sailing, and Bert was a leader on some of the hikes. Katie explained about the natural world of Harrison, Maine in her Explorer's hut, while Sue and the land sports department kept us active throughout the days. Cathy and Sue have shared even more of the summer as they have been co-bunk counselors.

So I've noticed that beyond having a special binding relationship, these Pi Phis are unique individuals. This will continue after they separate at the end of camp and move on to their fall commitments. Katie goes back to St. Lawrence University for her final year, Cathy will study in France, Bert will have an internship at home for the semester, and Sue will enter the real working world.

I think they're lucky to have such a special source of support, concern, and happiness as they find among each other. It makes me think of home. . . See ya soon.

Your loving daughter

During rush, Texas Betas meet their rushees on the wall in front of the chapter house, singing welcoming songs. Early morning practice is a good way to get a rush workshop started.

short stories of sagacious sisters

Barbara Forker is one of many Iowa Staters who were involved in the 1984 Summer Olympic Games. . . .

Forker, Distinguished Professor of Education and head of the department of physical education, is a member of the executive committee of the United States Olympic Committee (USOC).

A sports enthusiast, Forker has taken a keen interest in U.S. participation in the Olympics since 1975 when she served on the President's Commission on Olympic Sports. She is proud of the part she and that commission played in the reorganization of amateur athletics in this country.

"The primary reason for the appointment of the commission by President Ford was to determine what factors impede or tend to impede the United States from fielding its best teams in international competition. Organizational conflicts created a fragmentation among amateur athletic organizations which in turn imposed undue pressure on the individual athlete," Forker explained. Following a year-and-a-half study, the commission's recommendations were used by Congress to form the Amateur Sports Act of 1978.

"As a result of my work on the commission I was asked to serve as a representative to the delegate assembly of the USOC," she said. The group meets annually to elect USOC officers and to enact, amend or repeal provisions of the USOC Constitution.

Currently Forker serves on the executive board. "We handle the main business affairs of the USOC, carry out the purposes and goals, and determine policy," Forker explained. The board meets five or six times during the year at different locations about the country.

"I do enjoy my work with the USOC," Barbara said. "The concepts I deal with and believe in so strongly are also a part of my work in physical education and leisure studies," she said.

In addition to her many other honors, Barbara received the Virgil S. Lagomarcino Laureate Award, in June, presented by the Iowa State College of Education for prestigious service, educational leadership, and personal commitment to education and to the profession of teaching.

The Buffalo, NY Alumnae Panhellenic Association annually offers a number of scholarships to Panhellenic sorority women from Erie County, NY, who have completed at least one year of college. Scholarships range from $300-$400.

Qualified sorority members should request an application blank between March 1 and May 10 of each year from: The Buffalo Foundation, Room 1601—Main-Seneca Building, 237 Main Street, Buffalo, NY 14203. Applications must then be submitted to the Foundation by May 25, 1985.

Twenty-one charter members of California Epsilon gathered for their 35th reunion at Phi East Founders' Day last April.

Chapter charter members honored at Founders' Day

by SHEREE MAUPIN ZIZZI

At their annual Founders' Day celebration last spring, Phi East Province paid special tribute to charter members of California Epsilon (San Diego State), initiated thirty-five years ago.

Twenty-one of the 116 women initiated in September, 1949, were reunited at the luncheon and awards ceremony on April 28, 1984.

Marian Knight Turner began contacting charter members by mail last winter regarding the reunion.

"The response to our plans was really terrific," said Marian. "These ladies were so excited about getting together after so many years."

A huge enlargement of a group photo, taken approximately one week after the 1949 installation, was displayed at the luncheon along with Pi Phi memorabilia belonging to different charter members. During the luncheon, Marian introduced each charter member in attendance and gave a brief history of the founding of California Epsilon.

Pi Sigma Nu, then the largest local social sorority at San Diego State, petitioned and was granted a charter by Pi Beta Phi. Pledge training was carried out through the summer of 1949 under the direction of ARROW editor, Adele Taylor Alford, special advisor to the chapter.

Amy Burnham Onken, Grand President, was the installing officer, assisted by Adele Alford, Olga Charles Siburg, Mu Province President, and Marcella McCormick Rhodes.

Greek spirit earns Panhel award

The Panhellenic Association at Duke University gave its first Sorority-of-the-Week award to North Carolina Betas for their spirit of Greek unity—not only among themselves, but also with the other twelve sororities on campus.

This all came about when two sororities desperately needed their materials for initiation but found that they were packed somewhere in the back of an eighteen wheel truck. Six Pi Phis went to the rescue and helped unload the truck until everything was found.

Happily, initiation went on as scheduled and seventy girls have entered the bond of sisterhood!

My "Capital" experience

by ELIZABETH LEEP

Like many Duke students approaching their senior year, I chose to spend my last college summer as an intern in Washington, D.C. This decision is a popular one for students around the country, and rightly so, since the work experience gained is practical, useful, and valuable for a student's career. Spending the summer at a trial job gives many undergraduates the chance to test the job market, see what opportunities exist, establish a network of contacts, and narrow their professional interests. But, in addition, there is lots of fun to be had in the nation's Capital while one is testing out one's independence in the world beyond college.

My internship was conducted in conjunction with American University's Washington Semester Program. In addition to my full time job I went to class every Thursday evening with eleven other students to discuss our job experiences. Each student contributed different opinions on the topics we discussed, such as power within the organization, the organization's method of dealing with outside agencies, and our unique frustrations with the job.

After four interviews I chose the Public Affairs office at the National Museum of American History, one of the Smithsonian Museums. This position combined my dual interests in museum administration, specifically public relations, and American history and political science, my majors at Duke.

My personal project was handling most of the film crews that came into the Museum. My first day on the job proved to be one of the most exciting. Ginger Rogers was to appear for a press conference to donate the dress she wore in Top Hat to the Museum. The event was a prime example of a publicity stunt, an essential ingredient to keep the Museum in the public eye. All major Washington newspapers, TV programs, and interested magazines were present, creating an atmosphere of a small scale Presidential press conference! Other interns and I were right in the middle of the action, directing the press, helping them set up their equipment, and making sure the schedule of events ran smoothly. Our efforts were rewarded both with a close-up glimpse of Miss Rogers and a repeat of the day's performance on evening news and in papers.

Washington is a city so full of history, culture, beauty, and action that one cannot appreciate it all in just a short two months. But in that time I became well acquainted with the area; it had become a second home. My internship proved to be a catalyst for my career: the field of museum administration sparked my interest and I have investigated the opportunities for graduate work. Museums house our nation's most treasured history and art collections. What better location than our nation's Capital to spend a summer, and what better organization than the American History branch of the highly regarded Smithsonian Institution.

Touring company hits the road

Kathryn Schledwitz Lewis, Mississippi Alpha, Director of Drama at Mississippi Gulf Coast Junior College, is on the road again with her touring company. The 1984-85 school year marks the fifteenth year Kathryn had been touring with shows for elementary schools, junior high and high schools, and community organizations. The company, The Perk Players, perform about fifty shows during the six week touring season and perform to combined audiences of more than 12,000.

Kathryn Lewis

This is a special year for Kathryn and the Perk Players since they were selected to perform at the World's Fair in New Orleans. The Players performed Mississippi Magic, an entertaining look at the state of Mississippi, in the Great Hall on the fairgrounds in October. Mrs. Lewis wrote the show celebrating the state where she has taught for the last fifteen years. In addition to World's Fair performances, Perk Players will perform Mississippi Magic at the Mississippi Theatre Association meeting in Jackson, MS and for several community groups.

Kathryn was recently named Children's Theatre Division chairman for the Mississippi Theatre Association. She is a past president of the organization, past member of the Board of Directors of the Southeastern Theatre Conference. Mrs. Lewis is listed in America's Outstanding Young Women, Outstanding Educator of America, Who's Who of American Women, World's Who's Who of Women in Education.

Kathryn is a past alumnae province president, province president, vice-president of the Hattisburg Alum Club, and is the current chairman of AAC for Mississippi Alpha at the University of Southern Mississippi.

Graduate consultants learn at G'burg

Each summer for the past five years newly selected traveling and resident graduate consultants (TGCs and RGCs) have spent a week at Arrowmont for training. Pi Phi's major philanthropy, at its busiest during summer school sessions, has proven ideal for the completion of a full training agenda. Adrienne Hiscox Mitchell, Grand Vice President of Collegians, along with experienced past graduate consultants, conducts the sessions.

Last summer the week of training was enhanced by the participation of Grand President Jean Wirths Scott. Also attending for special topics were Dawn Sheeler Ford, Kappa Province President, who discussed leadership techniques, and the Fraternity's attorney, Tim Burke, who instructed the consultants on legal aspects of fraternity.

Tours of Arrowmont facilities and Arrowcraft Shop, as well as intermingling with the summer craft students provided knowledge and appreciation of our philanthropies that are difficult to convey in words alone. The eight new consultants are now sharing their knowledge and impressions among many of our 116 chapters and colonies.

Alums have surprise reunion

Quilt Festival '83, held in Houston, Texas, was not only the site of a magnificent national quilt show/conference, but the occasion for the surprise reunion of two Indiana Beta pledge sisters from Indiana University class of 1972.

Jan Woodward Williamson owns The Quilter's Patch in Bloomington, Ind., and attended the festival for innovative teaching ideas and for buying quilting supplies for her shop. Connie Turner Hester, Bryan, Texas, is an artist and designer of quilts and stained glass. She had entered her "Canadian Geese in Straw Wreath" quilt in the show and won a second place ribbon. Imagine their shock to discover each other after eleven years, while viewing one of the many exhibits!

Jan and Connie enjoyed hours of catching-up and sharing their love of quilts, with the promise of more frequent reunions in the future—at quilt shows around the country, of course.

Franklin College has sesquicentennial

by MICHELE FIKAC

Franklin College is celebrating its Sesquicentennial birthday in 1984. The 150 year birthday is expected with high hopes, anticipations, and numerous activities from the members of Pi Beta Phi.

Mindi Woolman was elected chairman of the Sesquicentennial committee. She has been making plans and arranging for Founders' Day celebrations and ideas for the homecoming of Franklin's alumnae.

Pi Phis from all over and from many graduating classes will be at the celebration.

The capital campaign by the development office has been set at $10 million, achieved through bequests of alums and endowments of former Franklin students.

Becky Smith has three roles in the historical play, Jubilee III. She is very excited about starring in a history that she is living right now.

Tina Graber stars in the Cantata, a musical piece composed by a FC professor of music. Tina has a solo part in the Cantata. It is a vocal/oral history of the college and its founders.

The college sponsored a Kite Karnival with the theme centering on Ben Franklin and his kite and key. Pi Beta Phi entered the contest and received an honorable mention.

Class of '44 gathers for reunion

by JEAN ANN PASLEY NYDEN

The 40th reunion of Oregon Beta class of 1944, was held in June at the Greenwood Inn in Beaverton, Oregon.

Each person was asked to write and tell what she had been doing for the last forty years, and to recall a special memory of college days. This was compiled in a booklet distributed at registration. Other classes living in the house at the time were also invited and 130 people attended, including husbands.

Chairmen for the event were Helen Hoke Levy, Larrie Wright Cipra, and Jean Ann Pasley Nyden.

Activities for the weekend included watching the Rose Festival Parade in Portland, a hospitality room at the Greenwood Inn, luncheon, cocktails, dinner, and breakfast.

Participating in the program was Chuck Sherwood, a former houseboy who was M.C. for the banquet and wanted to have us sing all the old songs for him. He also brought along his own four-toned dinner gong like he used to use to call the chapter to dinner.

Helen Harstad Strickler was luncheon M.C. and she came up with her own set of trivia questions, such as: Who was Junior Prom Queen in 1945? Who was Homecoming chairman in 1943? What were the old telephone numbers at the house? Others taking part in the program were: Vivian Aspinwall Chambers, Alice Doherty Otten, Eleanor Eakin Chown, and Jan Bennett Dysart.

Awards were given to Phyllis Pendall Parker for coming the longest distance (Hawaii); Jean Harris Coon, for the most children (6); and Marian Murray Foster for being the youngest looking.

Bonnie Stark, Illinois Theta senior nursing and psychology major, is recipient of the 1984-85 Health Professionals' Scholarship from Veterans Administration Medical Centers. The scholarship provides full payment of college costs, plus a monthly stipend.

Bailey is honored for achievements

by RITA N. GOOD

The Michiana (IN) Alumnae Club is proud of member Bonnie Hewitt Bailey who has been recognized as one of six "1984 Women of Achievement in Communications" from the Michiana area.

Bonnie was selected because of achievements in her job as Director of Developmental Service at the Family and Children's Center in Mishawaka, Ind. The category of her award was for institutional promotion.

Bonnie received her B.S. from Ball State University where she was an Indiana Zeta initiate. She has four children and has earned a M.S. in counseling and guidance. She has served as president of the alumnae club and is the current corresponding secretary. She is a member of the Chamber of Commerce Leadership Program, and the Panhellenic Association.

Bonnie has served as a teacher, probation officer, residential therapist, and supervisor of the local emergency shelter facility for abused and neglected children. She spends her leisure time baking, being an avid high school sports fan, sewing, doing needlepoint, and getting involved in antiques and collectibles.

Two alumnae honored at Colorado commencement

Two Colorado Alpha alumnae members of Pi Beta Phi were honored by the University of Colorado during Commencement last May.

Margaret Tasher Smith earned the Distinguished Service Award in appreciation of the services to others that she had rendered and the recognition she has gained for her alma mater. A resident of Portsmouth, N.H., she was one of the co-founders of the Guild of Strawberry Banke that has given literally thousands of dollars to the Strawberry Banke restoration project. In her community, Margaret is co-chairman of the "Y" capital fund drive which is raising half a million dollars for a new facility; served three 3-year terms as coordinator for the local hospital; has been on the board of directors of the Community Concert Association for more than 20 years, and has led in sales of memberships each year. In 1979 she was Seacoast Citizen of the year, and in 1980, was Portsmouth Citizen of the Year.

Hotel restoration projects Margaret and her husband have undertaken in various areas of the country were capped by their work in restoring the venerable Wentworth by The Sea Hotel so that it is once again a congregating place for the great and near-great from throughout the United States and Europe.

Gracious and warm-hearted, her compassion and concern for people has earned her the respect and esteem of literally thousands who have benefited from her involvement in civic, cultural, and community affairs.

The second Pi Phi honored during the University's commencement was Isabelle Keating Savell, Nyack, NY, who received an honorary degree. A journalism graduate in 1926, Isabelle has been active in conservation, health, public affairs, and politics, and has been in the forefront of local activities of the utmost importance.

A consistent worker for the rights of women and minorities, Isabelle has devoted her efforts to an unusual organization. She is vice president of the Fund for Corporate Interns, a privately funded program to encourage young minority and women students to enter business careers. She is also senior historian of the Rockland County, NY Historical Society, and continues writing about the heritage and traditions of New York State, in which her profound respect for scholarship, learning, and the art of communication is evident.

Isabelle was honored as "one of those very rare human beings who combines the skills of an administrator with the tempering wisdom of a humanist."

Initiate treasures pin handcrafted in 1890

by LAURIE WINTERS

Pi Beta Phi creates bonds of friendship and love that form a very special family. When a Pi Phi legacy decided to make her mother's sorority her own, a new generation of the Pi Phi family is born.

Kentucky Beta Mary Slaman shares her Pi Phi family bonds with her mother, Alice Slaman, her grandmother, Mary Frances Lord, both Ohio Alphas, Aunts Myra Jane Drew of Ohio Alpha, Pat Slaman of Ohio Beta, and cousins Wendy Slaman, Anne Slaman, and Linda Blair, all of Ohio Beta.

When Mary entered the University of Kentucky she decided to wait a year before she chose a sorority. "Being independent my freshman year gave me the opportunity to reach my academic goals, meet many different kinds of people and get to know myself," she said. "I wanted to see what it was like on the other side of college life." During fall rush, at the Kentucky Beta house Mary found "the special friendships I had been searching for."

Mary's mother was secretly brought to Lexington for her February initiation ceremony to present her daughter with a Pi Phi family heirloom, an antique arrow badge inlaid with eight emeralds, handcrafted in 1890. The badge was willed to Mary's grandmother by sorority sister, Bertha Brown, to be presented to her first daughter should she decide to become a Pi Phi. When Mary's mother pledged in 1951 at Ohio University she became the proud owner of the pin which Mary now treasures.

Indiana Alpha friends attend high school reunion

The saying that old friends are the best is especially true when the friends happen to be Pi Phis! A very special group was together in July when they attended their high school reunion in Franklin, Ind. As teenagers they were a close-knit group and went on to Franklin College together where they became members of Indiana Alpha. They have continued to keep in touch for the almost fifty intervening years, and claim that that may be a Pi Phi record of some kind.

Attending the reunion were Kathryn Murphy Wolff, Helen Means Threlkeld, Martha Drybread Deppe, Betty Butler Holdcroft, now Zeta North Alumnae Province President, Mary Boegaholtz Patterson, Jean Shafer Whitaker, Elizabeth Hougland Ferrara, Pauline Devore Crump, and Alice Hougham Fewell.

H. Dampier appointed to Western Ontario Council

(The major portion of the following article appeared in the Alumni Gazette of the University of Western Ontario.)

Concerned, active, and involved are key words to describe Hilda Ingram Dampier, Ontario Beta, who has just been appointed a member of the National Alumni Advisory Council of the University of Western Ontario.

During her student days at Western, Hilda was very involved in student affairs, serving as a member of the University Students' Council for three years and as a founding member of Ontario Beta. When she graduated in 1936, with a B.A. in secretarial science, she was elected to the U.W.O. Honour Society.

In 1939 Hilda married Lawrence Dampier, and following his return from overseas during World War II, they made a number of moves throughout Canada, finally settling, in 1957, in Vancouver.

Among her many activities, she is an active member of the Women's Auxiliary to Pearson Hospital and Rehabilitation Center; a qualified volunteer member at the Museum of Anthropology at the University of British Columbia; and an active member and past officer of the Georgian Club of Vancouver.

Although she enjoys spending time with her four children, their spouses, and fifteen grandchildren, Hilda is still anxious to make a contribution to society, so she rose to the challenge when asked to serve on the Advisory Council. This dedicated and talented woman is a welcome addition to the Council where she will prove to be a definite asset as a result of her past experience, record of service, and loyalty to her alma mater.

A scholarship, established for Fairfield County, CT residents, will make available a $600 grant in 1985. The Fairfield County Panhellenic Association annually offers the scholarship to applicants in their sophomore or junior year who are active members of a NPC sorority.

For applications forms, to be returned by March 15, 1985, write to: Mrs. Mary Jo Lorimier, 40 Charter Oak Lane, New Canaan, CT 06840.

Pi Phi's Greek letters sometimes appear in strange places! Renee Wood, Texas Beta, discovered them on this red box aboard a cruiser to Mykonas when she joined her parents following a semester in Spain. Of course, it was a Greek ship—but on a fire box?!

Mom Priest's special gift.

Quilt is gift of love

by JULIE JONES

When it came time for Mom's Day at the University of Oklahoma, Oklahoma Alpha Pi Phis wanted to give their housemother, Rebecca Priest, a gift that would be from every girl in the house. Instead of buying something, creative Pi Phis decided to make Mom Priest a present that she could use and one that would have a special message from each girl.

After settling on the idea of making a patchwork quilt, each Pi Phi made her patch represent a little bit about herself and what Mom Priest means to her. No two patches are alike. Some have cross-stitched sayings, while others have puff-painted flowers and hearts. One square even has stuffed balloons attached to it.

There are over a hundred different squares on the quilt, each made with love for a truly special lady who is a home-away-from-home mom for the Pi Phis at the University of Oklahoma.

Chapter receives special photo

Last April at the annual Founders' Day program, members of West Virginia Alpha received a special gift from the Charleston Alumnae Club. A photograph from the 1924 Pi Beta Phi Eastern Conference was presented to the chapter. The Conference was held in Washington, D.C., while Grace Coolidge was First Lady.

The picture, taken on the White House front lawn, shows all the women present at the Conference, including Mrs. Coolidge, Founders Inez Smith Soule and Jennie Horne Turnbull, and then Grand President, Amy Burnham Onken.

The chapter treasures the photo and it is a gift that West Virginia Alphas may appreciate for many years.

Beach campfire brings new Pi Phi friendship

by LAURIE TYLER

Anne Herndon, Monica Shaw, and Laurie Tyler, all Oklahoma Alphas, spent a week at Litchfield Beach in South Carolina last summer. One night, while strolling down the beach, the three were invited to join a group of people at a campfire. When they sat down, a voice from the other side of the campfire asked if they were Pi Phis. The voice came from Amy Lytle, Pennsylvania Gamma, who noticed that Anne had on a Pi Beta Phi party shirt. They were so excited to meet another Pi Phi from someplace besides Oklahoma that they spent all night talking to her.

Each day they spent time with Amy on the beach and came to know all about her and Pennsylvania Gamma. They taught each other their chapter songs, and a lot of time was spent giving each other ideas for our chapters.

Amy is going to try to get party shirts for her chapter which they didn't have before. Amy received a T-shirt from Oklahoma Alpha's last party because they wanted to give her something special to remember them by. The Oklahoma Alphas are hoping to visit Amy and meet the Pennsylvania Gammas, and they want Amy and her friends to come visit them. Meeting Amy and hearing about sisters they didn't know was one of the highlights of the summer.

The week ended all too soon. The last night they all went to Myrtle Beach, and Amy presented a gift to give to Oklahoma Alpha. It was the book "The Giving Tree" which Amy noted was very special to her and her Pennsylvania Gamma family. She hoped it might bring our worlds in Pi Beta Phi a little bit closer.

Oklahoma Alphas send their love and thanks to Amy Lytle and Pennsylvania Gamma. Pi Beta Phi is truly Ocean to Ocean.

Job as nanny is exciting

Caren Casey, Florida Alpha, had an opportunity to be a real nanny for a family in historic England last summer. Many would consider this an opportunity of a lifetime! And indeed, Caren said it was the best summer of her life.

Caren knew about her summer for over a year and a half. Therefore, anticipation had built up for quite some time. Her position was known as an aupere, a term given to foreign students who go to England to learn the English language while tending children of an English household. Although Caren knew the language, the family accepted her for the summer.

Opportunities were endless. Caren lived a half hour from London and taking the children to the theatre and on picnics in scenic London was easy. Of course, breakfast had to be prepared, the children had to be sent off to school on time, and the four o'clock tea had to be set up each afternoon, but it was well worth it all. Caren was particularly excited when she found herself rubbing elbows with royalty at the Royal Ascot horse race!

Sarah Shuster, left, and Liz Ruffalo are two of Pennsylvania Beta's students of Japanese. Sarah is now on Bucknell's program to Japan for the entire year.

Tour of annexes is party

On the evening of Wednesday, September 5th, New York Delta had their first Rotational Party. Although the chapter is fortunate to have its own house, only about forty of the sisters are able to be accommodated each year. The "in-house" sisters are predominately the new pledge class, in addition to the officers. The rest of the sisters are considered "out-house" sisters. The party was an attempt to bring the two together.

Most of the out-house sisters live in apartments, referred to as Pi Phi annexes, in different areas of the university. Since chapter meetings, and other functions throughout the week usually take place at the house, many of the in-house sisters don't have a chance to see where and with whom their other sisters live.

The party was organized so that each annex had a different type of refreshment and food. In-house sisters went from apartment to apartment, spending about twenty minutes in each place. Sisters had a chance to get to know each other better while getting a complete tour of each annex as well.

Historical house is wine & blue

Just a few blocks from the Nevada Alpha chapter house is another special house called Norfolk. It is the former home of a Nevada millionaire, and has been designated an historical monument in Reno.

Recently it became extra special to Nevada Alphas because of a lady named Carol Pallesen Hicks. Carol worked as a calligrapher for Norfolk, and is a Nevada Alpha alumna. She is so proud of her Pi Phi membership that, when it came time to re-paint the store, Carol asked that the colors be wine and silver blue. Her request was granted, and the house is now silver blue with wine trim.

Needless to say, Pi Phis rarely pass up an opportunity to stop and shop in Norfolk.

Vocalist sings praises of DePauw education

by MARY LEE GEOGHEGAN

"DePauw taught me how to explore," says Nancy Hasler, Indiana Epsilon. "And even though it sounds like a cliché, the truth is that if it hadn't been for DePauw, I'd never be where I am now."

And just where is Nancy now? That question might take some time to answer because, throughout the course of this year, she and 120 other students from all over the world will be traveling to different states and different countries. Although this group, which represents over fourteen countries, may seem incredibly diverse, they all have at least one thing in common: they are members of Up With People.

No, Nancy is not in the School of Music. "I'm a communications major," she says. Because Nancy's two older brothers attended DePauw, she was first attracted through family tradition. But like most freshmen, Nancy was unsure about which area of interest to pursue.

"I knew I wanted a small, personal college and a strong liberal-arts education. And that's about all I knew."

Since then, Nancy has taken advantage of the opportunities DePauw has presented. "I've tried just about everything," she says. "But I think it's necessary in order for you to find out exactly what you want . . . what will make you happy in life. I've always been interested in people," Nancy comments.

DePauw has allowed her to cultivate this interest in many ways, especially through Winter Term. She has a course concentration in Sociology which led her to participate in a winter term mission project to Peru. She was scheduled for the winter term to Africa this January but had to cancel when she joined Up With People.

Another winter term experience took her to Washington, D.C. where she worked on Senator Percy's campaign and explored her political interests. Nancy's people-oriented personality worked in her favor again when winter term at L.S. Ayres in Indianapolis won a summer job for her as a fashion buyer.

"But all along I've always had music," Nancy says. "It's just that up until now, music has only been a hobby for me." Nancy sang with bands in her hometown of Paris, Ill., throughout high school. She has been the lead singer in DePauw's band, Vengeance, for two years.

When she returns to DePauw for her final year, Nancy will only spend the second half on campus with her Pi Phi sisters. She had been approved to do an internship at NBC in New York this fall and since she decided to work with Up With People, DePauw allowed this internship to be deferred to next fall.

"I might not have joined if they hadn't let me go to New York when I got back," Nancy reflects, "because this was the chance to explore communications in the outside world. But I think DePauw realized, along with me, that both opportunities were too good to pass up."

Nancy raves about her experience with Up With People so far. "My voice quality has improved so much and my range has increased an octave." She has been given three solos and is dancing too.

"Music is in my blood now," Nancy laughs, "and I'm more confused now than when I was a freshman. But at least I know what I don't like. And I've had the chance, which most people don't, to find out what I intensely like."

In a few months, Nancy Hasler will be performing in Paris again. But this time it's Paris, France, instead of Paris, Ill.

"I'm actually going to see the Eiffel Tower," Nancy says excitedly. "The only one I've ever seen is a miniature replica in a park in Paris, Illinois—and it's painted pink!"

Seven earn scholarships

by KIM DRANE

It is evident that Alabama Beta Pi Phis are improving scholastically every year by the number of scholarships awarded to their members this year.

Scholarship holders are Carol Martin, Leslie Boles, Monica Leopard, Sharon Stewart, Alicia Beams, Tracy Russell, and Jill Verdeyen.

Carol Martin was awarded the Alumni Scholastic Association Scholarship for her freshman year at the University of Alabama. Carol's scholarship was based on academics and leadership.

Leslie Boles was awarded the Presidential Scholarship for her four years at Alabama. Her scholarship was awarded for academics and school and community involvement.

Monica Leopard earned the Frank M. and Sarah McCorkle Moody Scholarship. It is a $1,000 scholarship for the 1984-85 school year, given by the College of Commerce and Business Administration.

Sharon Stewart and Alicia Beams were awarded scholarships from the Independent Insurance Agents of Tuscaloosa. They are $500 a year scholarships for four years. Two seniors from Tuscaloosa are selected for these scholarships each year.

Tracy Russell was given $500 each semester for her freshman year at Alabama. Her scholarship was given by the East Tennessee Chapter of Alabama Alumni.

Jill Verdeyen was awarded three scholarships. Jill earned Pi Phi's $500 Ruth Barrett Smith Scholarship, the College of Commerce and Business Association Entrepreneurial Scholarship for $750, and the Arthur Young & Co. Scholarship, a "Big 8" Accounting Firm, for $1,000.

Alabama Beta is proud of its brainy Betas.

Concert artist stars in opera

by SALLY MANNING

One of opera's most exciting new stars, Mary Jane Johnson, Texas Gamma, has experienced a career highlighted by sensational debuts and subsequent reengagements wherever she performs. As winner of the first Luciano Pavarotti International Voice Competition, she made her operatic debut with the Opera Company of Philadelphia. Performing opposite Mr. Pavarotti, she was a tremendous success as Musetta in La Boheme, directed by Gian Carlo Menotti and telecast nationwide by PBS in 1982, and as Adina in L'Elisir de Amore.

From this auspicious beginning, Mary Jane has spent the past two years singing with the Chicago Symphony, San Francisco Opera, New York Lyric Opera, Santa Fe Opera, and numerous concert performances and recitals throughout the United States. A recent issue of Opera News featured M.J. in an article entitled "Keep Your Eye On . . . Young American Artists on the Rise."

But if opera is a lifetime love for Mary Jane Johnson, Pi Beta Phi wins equal honors. During her undergraduate years at Texas Tech University, Mary Jane served as song leader for two years and directed the Pi Phi-SAE entry in University Sing. After graduation, Mary Jane became national song leader for the Fraternity and served a term as alumnae province president for Pi North. The Amarillo (Texas) Alumnae Club now lists her Pi Phi membership and is the frequent beneficiary of her operatic talents.

This season opera has again reclaimed Mary Jane Johnson, with performances in November at Kennedy Center, Washington, D.C., in the title role of The Merry Widow, and future engagements with the Fort Worth Opera and the Houston Grand Opera.

Pi Phi is proud to name this budding star to its long list of accomplished sisters!

Model's career heads for top

Mary Stephenson, Mississippi Alpha, has landed a good modeling career. Mary started by doing some childhood modeling. Faye Gilbert, who worked with Norma Kamali in New York, suggested that Mary consider modeling as a serious career. Her modeling ranges from television commercials to mannequin modeling. She was a top ten finalist in the Little Miss Georgia Pageant and was also Miss Sun and Tan of Mississippi.

Mary has done newspaper ads for department stores and entire shopping malls. She has appeared in magazine ads for Sassoon and Espirit, and has done numerous television commercials for department stores as well as for Calvin Klein jeans. She is currently being interviewed, along with having photography sessions, with top agencies in New Orleans, New York, Los Angeles, Texas, and Georgia, for a possible contract.

Choir tours Europe

Penny Narlock and Pam Midboe, talented North Dakota Alphas, were members of a special choir that toured Europe in the summer. The forty-three voice chorus was chosen from two concert choirs from opposite ends of the country, the University of North Dakota and Sam Houston State in Texas.

A summer job at Kamp Kanakomo in Missouri gave several Pi Phis a chance to meet and become good friends. Back 1-r: Suzanne Griffith, Texas Tech; Peggy Keil, University of Arkansas; Kerrie Hampton, Baylor; Tracey Clark, Arkansas. Front: Cari Powell, Baylor; Laurie Rains, Oklahoma State.

Indiana graduate earns Master's degree honors

Nancy Russell Mills, Indiana Zeta, graduated Magna Cum Laude as she received a Master's degree in counseling psychology from Ball State University.

While working on her degree, she served as president of the Graduate Student Body where she was also director of activities, and as student representative to the faculty. In addition, she was elected to sit on the Graduate Studies Committee where she participated in the selection of next year's psychology doctoral candidates.

In conjunction with her studies, she is the author of a research project concerning stress in professional groups which will be published in a national journal. She has achieved recognition to practice counseling from the National Board of Certified Counselors and is a clinical intern at the Ball State Counseling Clinic. Future plans include obtaining a Ph.D. in psychology and establishing her own private practice.

Nancy is married to Sigma Chi Bryan A. Mills. Both are 1982 graduates of Ball State.

Three on steering Committee

Greek Week '84 at the University of Michigan was a successful one which featured many spirited Pi Phis. Corinne Basler, Cindy Enzer and Starr Cornell all served on the Steering Committee, while house representatives were Maura McLaughlin and Lorraine Gicei.

Theme of the week-long event was "Go For The Gold" and Pi Phis did just that. Paired with Sigma Alpha Mu and Kappa Sigma, they took first place in Greek Sing with their rendition of Froggy Went A Courtin'. In the variety competition the Pi Phis did an energetic routine to "Tears of a Clown."

Runners Shelia Patrick, Laura Totte, and Liz Shaw had a dramatic second place finish in a race which required them to be tied together at the wrist and stop at all eighteen sororities on campus. The week proved fun filled for all.

Pres. Reagan honored by NIC and TKE

At a March 23 White House luncheon, President Ronald Reagan of Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity was presented the National Interfraternity Conference (NIC) Gold Medal, the highest award of the federation of 57 men's general college fraternities.

Reagan was honored also, at the luncheon, with the highest honor of his fraternity, the Order of the Golden Eagle of Tau Kappa Epsilon. From his days as president of his TKE chapter at Eureka College, Reagan has been a loyal member of his fraternity and a lifelong supporter of the fraternity movement.

In presenting the award to President Reagan, NIC Vice President Rodney Williams, Jr., said, "We feel very privileged to have this special opportunity to recognize your achievements as an outstanding fraternity member."

Previous winners of the NIC Gold Medal have been from the fields of government service, business, education, and fraternity management. The last recipient of this honor was Dr. Norman Vincent Peale of Phi Gamma Delta.

Sorority Sampler benefits individual philanthropies

by NANCY GEORGE DOSS

The Midland (Tex.) Alumnae Club received the Marianne Reed Wild award for 1983-84 for having the greatest increase in total number of new members. Midland is boasting the largest percentage of paid members from the possible alumnae in their area. Their category is "Over 150 members." It seems that Pi Phis are flocking to West Texas.

Fall was a busy one for the Midland group. Pi Phi was overall chairman for the second annual Sorority Sampler, held November 15. Sixteen sorority alumnae groups had booths and raised money for their individual philanthropies.

In the Pi Phi booth, Arrowcraft, home-baked goods, and Greek notecards were sold. Hot new item this year was a recipe collection from the Pi Phi alums. Alumnae donated favorite recipes which were printed, tied with a wine colored ribbon, and sold in small bundles. The event was a huge success and a lot of fun for all involved.

Alumnae wins Greek honor

True dedication to and concern for the Greek system are qualities which describe the winner of the Outstanding Alumna Award presented at the University of North Dakota's annual All-Greek banquet. North Dakota Alpha's own Mae Marie Malm Blackmore was this year's deserving recipient.

Mae Marie has devoted countless hours to her Pi Phi sisters as a member of the alumnae advisory committee, and has done much work to benefit the entire Greek system.

North Dakota Alphas are proud of Mae Marie and appreciate all she has done for their chapter.
