OF PI BETA PHI

SUMMER, 1981

Dear Editor ...

More ERA

Although you are probably tired of the subject, letters in recent issues of The ARROW have prompted me to express my feelings on the Equal Rights Amendment. Despite statements concerning the aims of our twelve Founders, I applaud Pi Beta Phi's choice of neutrality on this controversial subject.

Being a college student, I have listened to many heated discussions on ERA ratification. My own negative feelings toward this are not so much reaction to the amendment itself, as to the methods used by feminist groups urging its adoption. I am not a student of political science, but I believe that when the writers of our Constitution set forth the state's vote as a means of ratification, they had a very specific purpose in mind, that being the determination of whether or not a significant majority of the states (i.e., three-quarters) wanted the amendment adopted. If too few positive votes were collected, obviously not enough states were in favor and the amendment died. I believe the deadline extension granted to ERA proponents is in direct conflict with this democratic principle, and regret that if the amendment does eventually pass, it will be through somewhat ethically questionable channels. If states which have voted "nay" are to be continuously pressured, those states wishing to rescind their affirmative votes should be allowed to do so.

I am sure that other sororities have also had internal conflicts over support of the ERA. Could you let us know, for curiosity sake, the decisions made by other members of the NPC?

Lori Ellen Rhodes

→ We do not have any definitive information concerning the ERA position of other NPC groups. It is our understanding, however, that at least one NPC group has opposed, officially, the 27th amendment.

Some Questions Asked-and-Answered

Being a "fallen-away" alum, who's recently started receiving The ARROW again, I would like to take this opportunity to compliment you on a varied and skillfully edited publication and to offer several suggestions for editorial change, if I may.

1. Please include the cost of The ARROW subscription on the "blank" on the last page and the amount of national and alum club dues, if applicable.
2. Is it historically necessary to continue to refer to the organization, one solely of women, so far, as a fraternity?
3. Assuming that names other than the woman's current one(s) are necessary for record keeping and reference, can "maiden" be changed to "birth" name. . . ?
4. I applaud the liberal use of Vice President for officers, but would it also be possible to refer to committee heads as "chairs," "chairwomen," or "chairpersons," rather than "chairmen?"
5. As a former scholarship chair, I was particularly interest in the current labels for various collegiate chapter activities. Although I'm sure these, and many of the above issues, have been discussed many times, it might be more appropriate to replace "advancement" with "development". . .

I would be extremely interested in any reactions you may have to these comments.

Prof. Shirley Harkess
Virginia Gamma
Wilmington, N. C.

→ Although this letter arrived several months ago, we haven't had the opportunity to comment until now, and we felt others might be interested in the response.

1. A life subscription to The ARROW is $15, paid at the time of initiation. National dues—$4 annually. Local club dues—determined by individual clubs.
2. Pi Beta Phi was founded as a national fraternity for women. Thus we retain that designation.
3. It is our personal feeling that this is an unnecessary change.
4. The National Association of Parliamentarians adopted a resolution in 1975 which resolves, in part, ". . . the word 'chairman' belongs to the title of the officer the same as the title of president or secretary." The ARROW occasionally uses the term "chair" also.
5. The designation of the chapter vice presidents as vice president of mental advancement, vice president of moral advancement, and vice president of social advancement, was established by vote of Convention, 1971, in San Antonio, Texas.

Correction Noted

With reference to the word atria found two times on page 5 of The ARROW, Winter, 1980, the singular is atrium as you know.

May I suggest that you. . . question all material put out by Anatole, for I am quite confident that the public relations office there, as often elsewhere these days, can't spell well. Although the Anatole names meeting room Atria I and Atria II, The ARROW need not compound the error. The idea of educated women falling in with incorrect usage galls me, and such usage reflects on us and our good journal.

I read each issue of The ARROW from cover to cover and I commend you for your fine work. Being an editor, I know how much hard work and skill and tact goes into The ARROW. Being a loyal alumna, I was pleased to find three alumnae from my chapter in the Winter issue.

Laura Louise Kuhl
Illinois Beta-Delta

→ Your point is well taken re Atria I and Atria II in the winter issue. However, since that blurb was taken directly from the hotel's very fancy, highly expensive P.R. booklet, we decided that those must be proper names and that we shouldn't correct them.

off the Arrow hook

In each issue of The ARROW a considerable amount of space is devoted to service and philanthropic projects in which Pi Beta Phi chapters participate. Sometimes those projects are instigated by the chapters themselves; sometimes it's a case of participating in projects of other sororities or fraternities. The man and woman hours accumulated by Greek groups helping others is astronomical. Alumnae clubs participate in philanthropic activities as well as chapters. Nearly every sorority has a national philanthropy to which it contributes and for which it works.

In Pi Phi, of course, our major national philanthropy, the one to which tax deductible contributions may be made, is Settlement School. We have others—Holt House, Arrow In the Arctic, the Emma Harper Turner Memorial Fund, scholarships for collegians and alumnae—but Arrowmont and Arrowcraft, under the umbrella designation of Settlement School, is the main one. Our major efforts should, and usually do, go to the support of our national philanthropies.

Our Pi Phis are involved also, however, in raising money for Multiple Sclerosis, Cystic Fibrosis, March of Dimes, Muscular Dystrophy, the Heart Fund, Easter Seals, Red Cross, United Way, UNICEF, Cancer—the list is almost endless. In addition, local organizations receive much needed help from Pi Phis everywhere. Nursing homes, children's homes, needy families, shelters for battered women, state hospitals, burn centers—here again the list is limited only so far as the need for help is limited. And what we do as Pi Phis, is multiplied over and over again by members of Greek groups belonging to the National Panhellenic Conference and the National Interfraternity Conference.

Still we find that the major publicity that we receive focuses on negative aspects of fraternal life. The drinking, the carousing, the so-called snobbishness—these faults are publicized almost to the exclusion of the good done by those same groups. While these faults do result in frequent black eyes, they should not be a cause for decapitating the entire system.

What to do? Publicize—make certain the local newspaper is notified when the club or chapter has contributed to a local philanthropy in the name of the Fraternity. Be proud of the fact that you are a Pi Phi—either collegian or alumna—and tell your neighbor about that animal your club adopted at the zoo, or the hours your chapter spent repainting a slum house or helping in Special Olympics.

Be proud you're a Greek and let your friends, neighbors, hallmates, professors, and everyone know that being a Greek is a positive reinforcement, not only in your life, but in the lives of many millions of others who are touched by members of sororities and fraternities.

There are eleven Pi Phis from various chapters who are currently attending law school at the University of Oklahoma.

They include Laurie Williams, North Carolina Beta, Duke; Julie Bates, Texas Delta, TCU; Marykay Martin, New Mexico Beta, New Mexico State; Tami Tibbits Fitzgerald, Pam Kehn, and Mary Johnson, Oklahoma Beta, Oklahoma State; Candy Williams, Kathy Taylor Frame, Becky Sellers, Martha Long, and Jan Hunter, Oklahoma Alpha, University of Oklahoma. That surely must be some kind of record!

Adding to Pi Phi's luster at Vanderbilt University is Ruth Barron, Alabama Gamma, who is a third year medical student there. Ruth has been elected to Alpha Omega Alpha Honorary Medical Society, and she deserves congratulations for continuing the outstanding achievements which began during her undergraduate days at Auburn.

Not only do Pi Phis work hard for others, they often work pretty hard for themselves. The problem of West Virginia Gammas at Bethany was how to get the chapter house really clean for spring. The solution was to get together on a Friday, set up the stereo, get out the rags, mops, brooms, and other essentials, and put some "elbow grease" to work to make the chapter house sparkle. Refreshments were set out for the thirsty and hungry, and barely two hours later the house was clean. Everyone had a great time swapping stories and getting to know each other a little better. Even some fraternity sweethearts dropped in and helped carry out the trash. The house looked better and the girls were all ready to start the weekend, knowing that a major chore was out of the way.

Out in Las Vegas, the local alumnae club had its first Arrowcraft sale since 1961 last fall. It was highly successful with over 200 guests enjoying the tea and the beautifully displayed items from Arrowcraft.

It was our pleasure to attend the installation of Florida Epsilon in January. It was our first installation in many years, and we loved meeting all those new, lovely young Pi Phis as well as the involved alumnae in the Orlando area who worked so hard in getting the chapter established. These new Pi Phis, as well as those in the several other chapters added to our roster in very recent years, will surely add stars in our collective Pi Phi crown!

We copied this from somewhere, but the source is unknown to us—"Sororities do limit you. It's not quite so easy to be unconcerned, unthinking, and unloving anymore!"

Have a happy summer!

Picture eggs are particularly fascinating to children, but it's "hands off!"

Cover Story

Egguers' Elegant Eggs Enchant

Julia Bowman Leedy, Indiana Gamma, of Charlevoix, Mich., and her daughter, Barbara Leedy Cassidy, Ohio Alpha, of San Diego, Calif., have been making designer eggs together since Barb's college days twenty years ago.

It all started with the making of Easter eggs, the old-fashioned picture-through-the-hole variety. The duo started out making the eggs just for fun, but along the way dozens were sold at church bazaars in Chicago, others enhanced trays at a Chicago Medical Center, and still others have been sold in Indianapolis and Cincinnati. Some of the loveliest hold places of honor in homes of the women's friends.

Once the eggs even bailed out the Chicago Business Women's Pi Phi Alumnae Club—the year of the big blizzard. A dinner had been scheduled at an elegant restaurant with the club committed to a set number of reservations. Came the night of the meeting, many members were snowed in—or out—and unable to attend. It was eggs to the rescue, with as many as needed to meet the deficit made and purchased by loyal Pi Phis, thus arresting a club financial crisis!

Last winter Julia and Barb studied with Sylvia Fox of The Treasured Egg in San Diego, one of the most outstanding egguers in the country. Now, after their professional training, they have branched into a partnership under the name of The Aloof Oeuf (French for egg), featuring a much more sophisticated line.

Eggs have expressed an art form through the centuries, with religious and folkloric significance. With the creations of Peter Carl Fabergé, made in gold and precious gems for the Royal Family of the Russian Court and Queen Mary of England, the giving of eggs in all their beauty has become a universal custom to express love and friendship.

The Aloof Oeuf had its premier showing at the Charlevoix Hobbycraft Show last summer, with eggs of every description on display. Only real eggs are used, including quail egg necklaces; duck and hen picture eggs; pullet egg thimble cases; goose egg Christmas decorations; bells with a music box—one doesn't put a clapper in a goose egg. From duck and goose eggs, ginger jars and jewel boxes are popular.

All decals are hand made, and eggs are finished with eight to fifteen coats of porcelain or bisque glaze, with intermittent bakings, as needed. There is a complete line of sports eggs for the fisherman, tennis and golf buffs, and the skier. Among the most enchanting are the two doored, velvet covered, jewel edged, which, when opened, display tiny village scenes with lighted post lamps, or skaters, etc. These are mounted on music boxes.

The entire family is involved and interested in The Aloof Oeuf project. The grandchildren are the best salesmen and adore the hobby fairs. Julia's husband makes many of the needed tools and turns beautiful wooden bases. He also built the display case, and sets it up for those big days when the eggs are shown to the public.

Although mother and daughter are separated by half the country, Barbara sells in San Diego and many varieties are shipped back and forth as needs are relayed by telephone.

Julia's most cherished keepsake egg was made for her last fall, by Barb. It is a tiny quail egg, bisected, painted silver blue with a wine carnation, hinged with a minute hinge, lined with blue silk, topped with a blue bead finial, and mounted on a tiny half-inch gold base. The entire miniature jewel box stands less than two inches high. It houses—what else—Julia's fifty year Golden Carnation.

Installation of Florida Epsilon Adds 59 Pi Phis

by SONDRA BROWN GOFF

"I now declare you a duly initiated member of Pi Beta Phi." This was heard by fifty-nine women at the January 9-11, 1981, installation of the Florida Epsilon chapter of Pi Beta Phi. Our 116 chapter is located at the University of Central Florida in Orlando.

With the addition of the Pi Phis, U. C. F. now has five national sororities including Alpha Chi Omega, Delta Delta Delta, Kappa Delta, and Zeta Tau Alpha. The twenty-one active charter members are girls who previously had been members of Tyes, a local organization. Seventeen Tyes alumnae chose to become charter Florida Epsilon alumnae members. The remaining initiates were girls pledged during fall rush. Sue Chicone, a former Pi Phi pledge at Florida State University, was initiated as an alumnae member also. It was certainly a challenge, even for "angels," to initiate this large group between the hours of 8 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Under the guidance of Adrienne Adams Henzmann, installation chairman, the Orlando/Winter Park Alumnae Club organized the weekend activities. Many other local alumnae assisted with various responsibilities.

To have a winter chapter installation in sunny Florida proved to be an excellent idea. We felt very honored to have a large number of out-of-town guests. Officers and guests included Jean Wirths Scott, Grand President; Jane Houchens Tuten, Grand Vice President of Philanthropies; Doris Brown Fawcett, Grand Secretary; Annette Mitchell Mills, N.P.C. Delegate; Maralou Juday Crane, Director of Extension; Jan Ruffin Hatchett, Zeta Province President; Pat Slabaugh Meyers, Zeta North Alumnae Province President; Kate Gilbert Phifer, Zeta South Alumnae Province President; Linda Laack, Traveling Graduate Counselor; Maria Kain, Resident Graduate Counselor at U.C.F.; Mardi Gaskins, R.G.C. at University of S. Carolina; Janice Rinehart, Amy Voorhis, and Susan Brodie, chapter presidents of Florida Beta and Alpha and Georgia Alpha respectively.

Other visitors included Marianne Reid Wild, Grand President, Emeritus; Lucile Douglas Carson, former Grand Secretary; Helen Boucher Dix, former Grand Council member; Marilyn Simpson Ford, ARROW Editor; Joyce Teir Hosford, Director of Academic Standards; Sarah Ruth Mullis, Epsilon Province President; Carolyn Helman Lichtenberg, Epsilon Alumnae Province President; and Judith Friend Strohm, Beta Province President. Fortunately, the days were bright and warm for our prominent visitors.

The formal pledging of alumnae initiates began Friday evening at the First Presbyterian Church of Orlando. This was followed by the reading of the Constitution and pre-initiation ceremonies. Later that evening a Cooky-Shine was held in the church parlor. The room was full of people, fun, laughter, and emotion—especially emotion. Some of the former Tyes members expressed their sentiments concerning the strength they felt their group was bringing to a national organization, and the strength that Pi Phi would bring to them in the future. Between the glistening tears and positive feelings, two giant cookies were consumed.

Saturday was a busy day of initiation. Emotions were at a high pitch, especially after eating the box lunch that turned into a beautiful buffet. The only lows in evidence were our arches after standing for eight hours.

The formal banquet and installation of the chapter was held that evening. Jean Curtis Yothers, Curator of the Orange County Historical Museum, was toastmistress. Lucile Carson gave the invocation. Kate Goldman Gholston, Orlando/Winter Park Alumnae Club President, welcomed all attending and made the introductions. Gifts were presented by Grand Council, province representatives, and the local alumnae club, and were received by Paula Gunter, President of the new chapter. Jean Scott came all the way from our rival state of California to initiate and install the new chapter. The Candle-lighting ceremony was conducted by Doris Fawcett with Carol Sievers Crockett and Jenna Carlisle Easley assisting.

The following morning the model chapter meeting was held. Sunday afternoon a reception honoring the new chapter took place in the Fellowship Hall. Many family members, community leaders, campus and Greek representatives were in attendance.

Welcome to Pi Phi, Florida Epsilon. The Florida sun will shine brighter with the addition of the new chapter and its fifty-nine arrows.

Former Tyes alumnae who were initiated as Pi Phi alumnae, and national officers, are, front: Helen Tate, Kim Hollis, Sheila Wright, Pat Tobin, Nancy Perkins, Sue Chicone. Middle: Annette Mills, NPC Delegate; Sally Shipp, Susan Forster, Patti Jenkins, Diana Coleman, Janet Wadsworth, Joy McGratty, Vicki Wartski. Back: Jean Scott, GP; Dian Brandstetter, Mary Santry, Joyce Clampitt, Mary Lou Santry, Jan Clark, Jane Tuten, GVP Philanthropies; Doris Fawcett, G.S.

VIPs who helped welcome the new chapter included, front: Carol Sievers Crockett, AAC Chairman; Paula Gunter, Florida Epsilon Chapter President; Jean Wirths Scott, Grand President; Maria Kain, Resident Graduate Counselor; Adrienne Adams Henzmann, Installation Chairman. Back: Jane Houchens Tuten, GVP Philanthropies; Annette Mitchell Mills, NPC Delegate; Doris Brown Fawcett, Grand Secretary; and Maralou Juday Crane, Director of Extension.

Two Women Awarded 1981 Fellowships

Two outstanding young Pi Phi have been chosen to receive Graduate Fellowship awards from the Fraternity. The awards total $1500 each, and the selection was made during the meeting of Grand Council in March.

The Graduate Fellowship was established in 1909, "open to any Pi Beta Phi who has received her bachelor's degree and available for use in any university in this country or in Europe." Two points are considered in awarding the Fellowship: "scholastic standing and all-around development of character with its resultant ability worthy to represent the Fraternity."

This year Carol Cinnick, Illinois Theta, and Katherine (Kitty) Little, Oklahoma Alpha, will continue their education with the help of Pi Beta Phi.

Carol Cinnick

Carol is presently pursuing her Master of Arts degree at Northwestern University in the field of speech/language pathology. She must obtain that degree to be professionally certified by the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association.

Her academic and clinical work thus far has included her major field of speech/language, and minor fields of science medicine, linguistics, acoustics, psychology, and education. She's had clinical experience in language, articulation, and aural rehabilitation while at Bradley's clinic, and student-taught severely orthopedically handicapped children. Last summer she worked as a speech therapist, under supervision, in a residential facility for mentally retarded adults.

Carol was graduated from Bradley University magna cum laude in May, 1980, with a bachelor's degree in speech and hearing. In the area of campus activities, Carol's ranged from Variety Show singer and dancer to TV telethon operator, from Mortar board and numerous other honoraries to continued involvement in her chapter. She is a past president of Illinois Theta and her leadership was a prominent force for change in improving the overall atmosphere and functioning of the chapter. The chapter was "made better for her caring."

Carol Cinnick, Illinois Theta

Kitty Little, Oklahoma Alpha

Marcia Crawford, Mu Province President, wrote, "Carol has known what her goals were from the first time I met her, and she has not deviated or faltered in trying to achieve them, while all the while maintaining a most controlled and congenial temperament." Carol was the Mu Province ABO winner in 1980.

Kitty Little

Kitty was accepted in the University of Oklahoma College of Medicine as a junior and attended there while simultaneously completing her undergraduate degree in chemistry this past year. She was graduated this spring with highest honors, while serving as secretary-treasurer of the class of 1984 in the medical school, vice president of Women in Medicine, and the freshman representative on the Pre-Doctoral Education Committee of the College. In addition she was named outstanding senior woman by the OU Dad's Association last October; received the Outstanding Scholastic Senior Chemistry Major Award; was Big Woman on Campus; Mortar Board; Who's Who, a member of numerous honoraries, and the holder of a number of beauty titles.

Kitty was equally active in her Oklahoma Alpha chapter. She was Model Pledge, received the pledge scholarship award, the outstanding chapter member scholarship award, was chairman of many committees, Panhellenic representative, State Day chairman, and four-time member of the executive council.

During the past three summers, Kitty worked at the Norman Municipal Hospital to gain further insight and knowledge about the field of medicine. One of the doctors with whom she worked wrote, "[Kitty] is not only a bright and dedicated woman, but she possesses an exuberant curiosity and sensitivity for life. I feel that Kitty will be an excellent physician and model for those who are associated with her."

Further, one of Kitty's chemistry professors wrote that "Kitty is an exceptional young woman who will surely develop into an excellent physician. She has already been a credit to the University and to Pi Beta Phi, and I am confident she will be even more so in the future."

Fred Anderson, Oklahoma State, Oklahoma Beta's rush chairman, tries to influence President Reagan to pledge Pi Phi while in a reception line for the President at Tinker Air Force Base. Fred's father was responsible for the privilege given her of meeting the President.

Interns Love N. Y. Semester

Taking a semester off to go on an internship program is a popular experience at New York Delta. One such program is called Urban Organization, is offered through the Human Ecology School at Cornell, and is a full semester in New York City.

Students work 3½ days at a pre-arranged placement in their fields of study. One day a week is spent in a seminar with Dr. Madeline Holtzer, the Field Study professor. Students live in Cornell Medical School dormitories on the upper East Side. In the evenings and on weekends, they are free to experience the excitement and culture of the "Big Apple."

This year three Pi Phis participated in the program. Laura Older, textile science major, worked at the Wool Bureau, a non-profit organization formed to promote the sale of wool and wool products. She worked in the fashion office making presentations to manufacturers, retailers, and designers, participating in fashion shows, and creating fashion bulletins and mailings. While she was there she met and worked with Fran Kozen, a Cornell Pi Phi graduate. Fran is the senior market research analyst at the Wool Bureau.

Laura said of her experience, "It was so exciting to be right there in the garment district, meeting people and seeing how all fit together. It was probably the best semester I've spent during my education."

Donna Regii, a communication arts major was with McCann-Erickson, a major advertising firm. She worked on producing five nationally aired radio commercials, along with several other promotions for name brand products. She said of her experience, "It was really exciting seeing all that goes on—film shooting sessions, dealing with different clients, and analyzing market data. I learned a lot and saw and did things I'd never be exposed to in a classroom situation. Advertising is so dynamic and exciting."

Sarina Monast, a consumer economics major, worked for a small public relations firm. Her main project was making a food related promotion for national barbecue week. She said, when asked about her internship, "New York City is the best. It's hard to describe how much I've grown through my experience. Everyone should do it!"

C.S. Is Coming

C.S. IS COMING was the talk around the Indiana Delta house and the Purdue campus during the first week of school last August. The twenty-seven pledges had posted "C.S. IS COMING" signs all around the house, in classrooms, and on campus. The actives did not know what C.S. meant, and the pledges were not going to tell, even if their darts depended on it.

What was C.S.?

- *an enthusiastic pledge class pulling a surprise wake on the actives.

- *a pledge walk-out on the first Saturday morning of the fall semester.

- *a crowded Winnebago ride to Turkey Run State Park on a gorgeous fall day.

- *fourteen waiting canoes well stocked for an eight mile trip down Sugar Creek.

- *songs, laughter, memories, and a great way to start off the new school year.

What was C.S.?

C.S. was an unforgettable Creek Sneak!

Certificate Awarded

by CAROL MCQUESTEN BAILEY

Jean Landreth Hart, Manitoba Alpha, a member of the Winnipeg Alumnae Club, was presented with a merit certificate for her service as a volunteer for the Meals on Wheels program last November. The presentation was made by Lt. Governor F. L. Jobin. Jean is one of the fourteen regular volunteers who started with the program and is still active.

This fifteen-year-old service delivers hot meals to people who are not able to make their own. During one trip Jean and her partner may deliver between fifteen and twenty-three meals and drive fifty-three kilometres. A program such as this allows people to remain in their own homes with a minimum of outside help and works with other community health services as a preventative measure. It is also a way to do a daily check on those who are alone and provides these shut-ins with a link to the outside world.

Is On National Board of Volunteers

A distinct honor has come to Lynda Brown Fitzsimons, Idaho Alpha, a member of the Nancy Black Wallace Alumnae Club, Salem, Ore. She has been named to the national board of directors for the American Society of Directors of Volunteer Services of the American Hospital Association, to serve a two-year term.

Lynda is director of volunteer services at Salem Hospital and has been on the hospital staff nine years.

The American Society of Directors of Volunteer Services is a 1300 member professional organization made up of directors of volunteers in health care facilities throughout the country. It is one of fifteen affiliated societies of the American Hospital Association.

A member of the Society since 1972, Lynda is a past president of the Oregon Association, and is on the board of the Salem Volunteer Bureau. She has served on the capital fund drive and public relations committees for Willamette Council of Camp Fire.

In 1967 she was named Mrs. Idaho and participated in the Mrs. America Contest. Soon after arriving in Salem she was hostess on a local TV program.

Lynda has two children and her husband, Maurice, is on the faculty at South Salem High School. She has been an active Pi Phi alumna and has served as an advisor to the Oregon Gamma chapter on the Willamette campus for seven years. She is a member of PEO and was listed in Who's Who of American Women.

The volunteer director recently inaugurated Tele-Care at Salem Hospital, a service for people who live alone. Tele-Care has contact with individuals once every 24 hours, every day of the year. The hospital supplies the telephone service and the phone is answered by volunteers every morning. There is never any charge for this service.

Carol McQuesten Bailey, president of the Winnipeg Alumnae Club, presents a wheelchair to Carolaine Edmonds, head nurse at the Children's Hospital in Winnipeg. It is a fully reclining chair for children in hip casts and was given in joint celebration of the Year of the Child and the club's fiftieth anniversary.

Explosion Disrupts Campus Activities

"Where were you when the sewers blew?"

For many University of Louisville students, that's been the $64,000 question since February 13 of this year. At around 5 o'clock that morning, the sewers exploded, causing massive damage to many of the main roads and causing the University to close for the day and to run on late schedule for the first three days of the following week. Still there are detours around campus to avoid the damaged roads. Many Kentucky Alphas were shaken up as they awoke to the loud explosion near the campus. Water supply was limited for about ten days, with threats of evacuations possible. It is alleged that a toxic chemical was released that day into the Louisville sewer system through an industrial plant near the campus.

Many local Pi Phis opened their homes to their Pi Phi sisters who were in need, displaying the true bond of sisterhood among everyone at Kentucky Alpha.

Indiana Gamma's chapter house was full one night in December as the Pi Phis hosted a reception for Butler University's student assembly speaker, Jean-Michel Cousteau, pictured in the back row. After the lecture on "The Living Sea," faculty, students, and area residents joined Pi Phis for an opportunity to talk to Mr. Cousteau.

Oldest Iowa Alum Is Still Active In Community

by ELIZABETH THOMSEN
ALDRIDGE

"To what do you attribute your long life?"

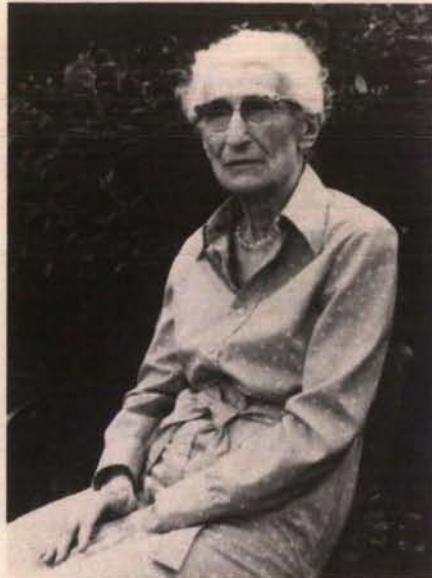

That was the stock question asked of Alice Dunning Flick, Maryland Alpha, Des Moines, Iowa's, oldest living Pi Phi alumna. She may well be Pi Phi's oldest living alumna also, since she is now 100, and will be 101 in August of this year.

Alice couldn't answer that stock question. She just laughed and noted that all her family were long lived and that she's always been healthy. She walks an equivalent of four or five blocks each day and is vitally interested in daily events. She also has a spectacular "green thumb," and keeps dozens of plants and flowers on her wide window sills. She lives in the family home with her son Robert.

Last summer the Grace Methodist Church hosted a reception in her honor. She remains active by attending her monthly women's group meeting. Later, in August, her PEO chapter and her son gave a reception for her 100 birthday, at which time she received a beautiful memory book from her study club.

Alice was the first child of Frank and Rebecca Dunning, born August 25, 1880, in Bedford, Iowa. Her forebearers were of Scottish and English descent, first settling in the east, then gradually moving west and coming to Iowa in 1856, ten years after it gained statehood. Her father was a banker and provided a good home for his family. Alice remembers a happy childhood and had a love for outdoor activities. At the age of 13, in 1893, she and her sister attended the famous Columbia Exposition in Chicago.

Alice was an excellent student. Her favorite subjects were Latin, chemistry, and English literature. She was also a member of the first Bedford High School girls' basketball team. She was graduated from high school in 1898 and went to Baltimore, Md., to attend Goucher College. She was initiated into

Alice Dunning Flick

Maryland Alpha in 1901. Included in her many college activities and honors were May Queen, girls' basketball team and other sports, and president of the senior class. She attended her sixtieth class reunion in 1963, "a joyous and noisy affair." May Lansfield Keller, Pi Phi's Grand President from 1908-1918, also attended that reunion and was one of Alice's good friends.

On June 5, 1907, Alice married Bruce Flick, a lawyer who was a member of her high school graduating class. During the following nine years they had three children. Alice was active in the women's suffrage movement, helped establish a Carnegie Library in Bedford, and belonged to the Women's Civic League, an early form of women's lib.

In 1921, the family moved to Des Moines, where Alice joined the study group, Brevity Club, and was active in her church, is a member of PEO, was in the Des Moines Women's Club, and helped establish the Association of Attorneys' Wives. She was branch president of AAUW and has had an association fellowship established in her name.

The Des Moines Alumnae Club is very proud of their outstanding community leader. She is a true inspiration to all.

Poli Sci Majors Learn By Doing

by RACHEL ROBINSON

Located directly across the street from the state capitol in Salem, Oregon, Willamette University offers its political science majors, as well as those from other majors, a rare opportunity to work with legislators at the capitol building to learn how government is actually run. Six Oregon Gamma Pi Phis were involved in programs during the spring semester—five as legislative interns, and one as a legislative aide.

Working as legislative interns, Anne Flynn, Carol Lee, Debbie Perdue, Karen Schweppe, and Colleen Spelman spent a good part of their weeks monitoring committees, tracking down legislation, preparing research reports, and responding to constituent inquiries. All five are political science majors and as a part of their major they were assigned to particular representatives for their "on hands" training.

Becky Banks, a senior speech and social science major, kept busy her final semester at Willamette by working as a legislative aid. Oregon Gamma is especially proud of Becky, as she is one of only two Willamette students working as legislative aides, a job usually reserved for college graduates with prior political experience. An aide is responsible for the running of an office, and Becky efficiently functions as a right hand for her legislator, George Trahern.

All six Pi Phis had invaluable experiences during their semester at the capitol, and each claims that the opportunity was one that will never be matched.

Chapters Share

Fun and food were shared by California Gamma and California Epsilon on a Monday night in March.

The San Diego State Pi Phis went to USC to serenade fraternity row. Of course, they couldn't leave without having a Cooky-Shine with the USC Pi Phis! Along with eating all kinds of goodies, they shared many Pi Phi songs. Such a great time was had that the two chapters look forward to meeting again soon.

short stories of sagacious sisters

Illinois Zeta, University of Illinois
Maureen Cronin was named the most outstanding chapter president on the university campus by the Panhellenic Association. This annual achievement award was given to Maureen for participation and excellence in sorority and campus affairs. Beth Stier was editor of the Illinois Greek newspaper which was selected as the finest Greek newspaper in the country. She was awarded also the Beth Dohme Wallin Award recognizing high achievement within the Panhellenic system.

Maryland Beta, University of Maryland
Judy Johnston is secretary of the Panhellenic Association and two of the new cabinet chairmen are Pi Phis. Valerie McKinley is the public relations chairman, and Laura Ashland, chapter Panhellenic delegate, is the scholarship cabinet chairman.

Colorado Gamma, Colorado State
The chapter earned its way to the top of the Panhellenic grade list with the best sorority grades on campus for fall semester. Shari Frazier received a Performing and Creative Arts Scholarship for her expertise on the euphonium. Nancy Knode received an Honors Scholarship from the honors department, and Julie Ahrens and Shari Frazier are members of the music honorary, Delta Omicron.

South Carolina Beta, Clemson
Debbie Hutto graduated with honors in December. At the end of her four years, she had earned the second highest grade point average of all the sorority women.

Mississippi Alpha, University of Southern Mississippi
The chapter and Mississippi Beta met in Jackson for Pi Phi State Day, sponsored by the Jackson Alumnae Club. The day was filled with skits, exhibits, a slide show, and a fashion show.

North Carolina Beta, Duke
Monmouth Duo Day was celebrated in a different way by Duke Pi Phis and Kappas. They traveled (all of twenty minutes!) to Chapel Hill to join with the Pi Phis and Kappas from the University of North Carolina. The girls had an afternoon wine and cheese party and enjoyed recognizing the occasion in a new way. Next year . . . to Clemson?

Ohio Epsilon, University of Toledo
Pi Phis will be well represented as campus leaders in the 1981-82 school year. Marcia White has been chosen assistant Freshmen Camp director, and Karen Gunther was selected assistant Panhellenic rush chairman.

Alberta Alpha, University of Alberta
Sports chairman Terry Karp has led Pi Phis to the leading spot among women's intramurals. Cheryl Koshka and Peggie Williams received Vogue awards, and Dee Ann de Rappard took the title of Ivory Snow Girl. Shelley Gallagher and Trigger Williamson are defending champions of the annual boat races.

Indiana Gamma, Butler
Anne Huffman stole the show as Cinderella in the University's Christmas Ballet, performed each year with the Indianapolis Symphony. Annie Klausung was one of the wicked step-sisters and Lisa Colvin performed in three separate dances. The Indianapolis Star called the production "spectacular."

Illinois Zeta, University of Illinois
The chapter was awarded a trophy for the sorority with the most improved grade point average, given by the Panhellenic Association. Roz Baudendistal was named one of seven outstanding Greek women on campus. She was also a member of the Illini Homecoming court this year.

Kansas Alpha, Kansas University
New pledge Bess Kerr is a member of the Kansas University Dance Company. One of only a chosen few, Bess' first performance will include modern dance, jazz, and ballet number. Auditions were open to all undergraduates, graduates, and faculty.

Tennessee Beta, Vanderbilt
Seniors Karen Stadler and Shawn Doolan have been selected to work at Lloyds of London for ten months. The job, with partial scholarship, is a highly coveted honor among senior girls at Vandy and two of the three recipients are Pi Phis. Karen is a business/economics major and Shawn is a nursing student.

West Virginia Gamma, Bethany College
Becky Yurek has been initiated into Beta Beta Beta, the biology honor society at Bethany. Becky is a sophomore pre-med/biology major.

Ohio Zeta, Miami University
Mary Nally has been elected treasurer of Panhellenic for the 1981 term. Mary is qualified for the position since she is a finance major in the school of business administration.

Tennessee Gamma, University of Tennessee
The 1980 fall pledge class had the highest GPA of all Panhellenic pledge classes. And then the chapter placed second in the Sixth Man Contest, a spirit competition for the UT basketball team!

Texas Zeta, Baylor
Melissa Jones was president of the Baylor Panhellenic this year. She headed the large group of rush counselors and played mother to over 900 rushees during spring rush. Other rush counselors were Jenny Beard, Ellen Dilday, Holly Jameson, and Lisa Solberg.

Indiana Epsilon, DePauw
Sheila Horn played the lead female role of Sarah in Archibald MacLeish's J.B. this spring. She also was one of three masters of ceremonies for DePauw's "Cyclorama Sing," an all-campus variety show held as part of the festivities for the yearly Little 500 race. Tracy Cochran was assistant director of the melodrama/comedy For Services Rendered, presented by the drama department this spring.

Pennsylvania Eta, Lafayette

Barb Shull was one of four juniors accepted into the Tau Beta Pi engineering honor society this year and has been awarded the Russel C. Brinker prize for Civil Engineering as the outstanding junior civil engineering student. She is currently wearing the chapter scholarship ring for the highest cumulative in the junior class.

Mississippi Beta, Ole Miss

Kathleen McCarthy, Terri Fortenberry, and Melissa Walker are members of Rho Lambda, the national Panhellenic recognition society. Angela Dickson, a pre-med student, has been chosen for Phi Kappa Phi, the highest scholastic honor that may be attained at Ole Miss.

New York Delta, Cornell

Six sisters are students and teachers at the same time. Karen Osofsky, Judy Lautensack, Sarah Murray, Gretchen Pankow, Audrey Long, and Suellen Hamkins are teaching assistants for such courses as sociology, biochemistry, biology, and public speaking. They conduct classroom sections and correct exams.

California Gamma, U.S.C.

The stage was set '50s style when USC presented Grease for five nights in March. Charlotte Dietz played the lead role of Sandy. Charlotte appeared in last year's production of Cabaret, as a freshman, and has starred also in Carousel.

North Dakota Alpha, University of North Dakota

LuAnn Diehl was named an Outstanding Greek at the annual Greek banquet in February. LuAnn is chapter president. Renee Lean was one of five Pi Phis in the UND Marketing Club this year and was responsible for organizing the club's trip to Dallas for spring break. Renee was also captain of the Sioux Wrestling cheerleading squad this season, her third year on the squad.

Alberta Alpha, University of Alberta

At the Panhellenic Awards of 1980-81, Lise Houle earned top honors for having the highest grade point average among pledges; Carol Kunicki had the most improved average, and the chapter tied for the highest chapter average among the women's fraternities.

Indiana Beta, Indiana University

Gail French is an Indianapolis 500 princess for 1981, one of 33 chosen from over 300 contestants in early March.

Missouri Beta, Washington University

The fall pledge class held two very successful flower sales as fund-raisers for their walkout. Not only did the fresh flowers raise everyone's spirits, but the pledges raised enough money for a fabulous walkout and for a new television, which they presented to the chapter at the end of their pledgship.

Iowa Zeta, University of Iowa

Julie Biberdorf has been elected All-American Collegiate Cheerleader by the NCAA. She was chosen along with approximately fifteen other girls from around the U.S. Julie has been cheering for eleven years and was captain of the university squad for the 1980-81 season.

Ohio Beta, Ohio State

Karen Guss is finishing up her sophomore year at Oxford in England. Through the university's Department of International Studies, Karen is taking liberal arts classes at the English school. Her studies end in August.

Iowa Gamma, Iowa State

Allison Smith is the current vice president of Panhellenic Council and will be coordinating activities for the oncoming fall rush.

Kentucky Alpha, University of Louisville

Linda Eubanks was a cheerleader for the last four years and her hard work and dedication has taken her around the United States and to a NCAA championship, where the Louisville Cardinals won the title during her junior year.

Texas Epsilon, North Texas State

Seven Pi Phis will be rush counselors for the coming fall rush. Beth Hook, Beth Soboscinski, Stephanie Schlect, Lolly Evans, Eileen Zirpolo, Sue Frieden, and Cindy Barber, of fifteen girls chosen, went through a series of interviews with the Panhellenic executive board prior to their selection.

New Mexico Alpha, University of New Mexico

The award for best pledge, chosen by the active chapter has stayed "in the family" for the last three generations. Beth Day won the award in spring of 1979; her pledge daughter, Renee Lazzell, won in the fall of 1980; and Alice Moore, Renee's pledge daughter, just received the award in the spring of 1981.

Texas Gamma, Texas Tech

Kathy Rix is the nominee for outstanding senior woman from the College of Home Economics. Heather Hawthorne and Susan Gaffney have been elected senators for the College of A&S, in a campus-wide election. Also elected to a leadership position has been Kathleen Crowl, the new Student Foundation Director at Tech.

Wisconsin Gamma, Lawrence University

Kim Peterson was program director of the campus radio station, WLFM, during the past year. She was responsible for the format of radio shows and for the recruiting and training of student disc jockeys, and she helped make WLFM a genuine public service to both the university and the community at large.

Nebraska Beta, University of Nebraska
Margo Houseworth and Cherri Phillips spent their extra time this year serving as pages for the legislature at the state capitol. They sat in on the legislature when it was in session and ran errands for the senators. They worked from 8 a.m. to noon five days a week and learned a great deal about the workings of the state government.

Arizona Alpha, University of Arizona
Becky Delaney, Lisa Miller, and Janie Tuchschildt will be rush counselors for Panhellenic this fall. Among other duties, they will offer counseling and run computers to assist rushees in their sorority selections.

Oklahoma Alpha, University of Oklahoma
Six Pi Phis are serving on Panhellenic exec for 1981. Tami Randolph is Court Judge; Kathy Machal, Assistant Social; Sarah Lee Gossett, Special Events; Amy Brundrett, Assistant Elector; Lisa Carney, Constitution and By-Laws; and Melany Garner, Pledge Trainer.

Illinois Epsilon, Northwestern
Beth Gelman, Tammi Gutner, Lisa Huston, and Carole Schwartz performed precision dancing at sports events this year. They belonged to the Cat's Meow Dance Squad for the 1980-81 season. Former Cat's Meow dancer, Susan Siegal, went "pro" this year as a Chicago Bears Honeybear. A different type of dancing was done by Mary Videka and Lori Turk as part of Northwestern's Polka Club.

Mississippi Beta, Ole Miss
Lucy Jenkins and Renee Dodd are two of the three women who perform with The Group, a song and dance team which is a vital part of university recruiting. They make appearances throughout the state.

Illinois Zeta, University of Illinois
The team of Pi Phis, Kappas, Sigs, and Phi Psis built the first prize winning float for the U. of I.'s 70th annual Homecoming and float competition. Adding to the Illini spirit are Amy Couture, Karen Brandon, and Lisa Fisher as members of the Illinette pom-pon squad. Amy is current squad co-captain.

Washington Gamma, University of Puget Sound
Leigh Thurber was named Pledge of the Year at the initiation banquet. The Inspiration Pledge award went to Cindy Niichel, and Cathy Leaverton was named Active of the Year. The 1981 pledge class gave the house a clock for the chapter room and a perpetual plaque for each year's active of the year.

Missouri Alpha, University of Missouri
Karen Sletten worked with the Department of Commerce in Washington, D.C. last semester. The opportunity came through "Women in Business," an internship program offered through Mt. Vernon College.

Nebraska Beta, University of Nebraska
Carol Dawson, Kim Berguin, Pam Bloch, Wendy Miller, Larkia Lamb, and Vicki Saffer are participating in the Nebraska Human Research Resource Foundation program. This is the only state in the U.S. where this type of program is going on. The students volunteer to help children who are gifted or who may be physically handicapped. It is a counselor-counselee program.

New Mexico Alpha, University of New Mexico
Sonja Taylor was Homecoming chairman for the entire student body last fall. The theme, "The Golden Haze of College Days," was carried throughout Homecoming week. Cheryl Paterson was one of two women chosen as rush advisors for the 1980 fall rush, selected by Panhellenic Council.

Colorado Gamma, Colorado State
Christine Jacoby and Kelley MacKay are both Golden Rams, the organization serving the athletic department as hostesses in the press box and guides for recruits on campus.

Three Pi Phis Intern With Indiana Senator

by LESLIE ADAMS

Who would expect that three Pi Phis would meet while interning on Capital Hill for Senator Dick Lugar of Indiana? Not Leslie Adams, a Pennsylvania Beta from Bucknell, Noel Rippel, an Ohio Eta from Denison, or Nancy Lutz, an Indiana Epsilon from DePauw! Dick Lugar himself is a Beta Theta Pi from Denison.

January '81 was an exciting month for the Pi Phis on Capital Hill. The Senate changed to a Republican majority, President Reagan was inaugurated, and the hostages came home. The women attended many of the festivities, including the inaugural ceremony, a hospitality luncheon for 800 Hoosiers, and the welcome home parade for the hostages.

The Pi Phis also received "America" T-shirts, identical to the ones worn by the hostages. The shirts were originally designed and donated by an Indiana dentist, Dr. Robert Angerman.

The Pi Phis kept busy in the Senator's office helping Lugar's staff do clerical, legislative, press, and correspondence work. The women were given opportunities to tour the White House, the State Department, and other government buildings. They also attended Senate hearings and House committee meetings.

Leslie, Noel, and Nancy were kept busy during their month on the Hill. But the even busier Senator Lugar always seemed to find time to talk with them in his office and answer any questions they might have. All three returned to their respective universities at the end of the month having learned much and carrying wonderful memories.

NEWS OF

ARROWCRAFT

Board of Governors

In case the summer heat is already too much, memories of the beauty of winter at Arrowmont, after a fresh blanket of snow covered the Red

Skidders Settle In With Full Schedule

Jan Skidmore Skinner, Minnesota Alpha, the new Arrowcraft Coordinator, recently described herself to a newspaper as flexible. Most of her friends would add indefatigable. Both words could apply to Bob Skinner, Arrowmont's administrator and Jan's husband.

The Skidders arrived in Gatlinburg last September from Cleveland. Their home there was a lovely, quiet tenth floor condominium with a breath-taking view of Lake Erie. Home in Gatlinburg is the Pi Beta Phi Staff House overlooking the Great Smoky Mountains. Though quiet at times, living there while school is in session is a bit like life in a college dormitory, with people coming and going at all hours.

They will have a bit more privacy now with the completion of a small apartment built onto one end of Staff House. This was approved by the Board of Governors at their annual October meeting and was finished in March. Jan's pride and is the kitchen, where she can cook for Bob when they are alone in the house. During their first week in Gatlinburg, Bob asked for a tuna sandwich for lunch. Jan thought that would be easy enough until she discovered that the smallest can of tuna in the Staff House pantry weighed four pounds!

A typical day at Arrowmont—although Jan and Bob insist there are no typical days—finds them dressed and at breakfast at 7 a.m. Promptly at 7:30 Neal Watson, head of maintenance, arrives to check the day's schedule with Bob. Neal, a graduate of the Pi Beta Phi schools, is the son of Josie and Orlie Watson. Josie was a weaver for Arrowcraft and Orlie preceded Neal in his present job. Collectively father and son have given over seventy years of service to Pi Beta Phi. Neal is assisted by a three man crew who does everything from removing dead trees and repairing leaky faucets to mowing the lawn and building a new set of shelves at Arrowcraft. After Neal leaves, Bob goes over the day's scheduled work with Helen Vance and Shirley Sawyer, the two housekeepers. They take great pride in keeping Staff House and the dorms sparkling.

Just before eight o'clock, Jan leaves for the Arrowcraft Shop, a short walk down the Pi Phi road from Staff House. Her desk is at the back of the shop in front of a huge picture window. She confers with Nella Hill, long-time Arrowcraft employee and the present Arrowcraft designer. Nella often works at her loom on new designs, ideas, and color schemes. Two of Nella's sisters, Faye Cook and Veryl Monhollen, are also Arrowcraft employees. Faye, head of shipping and crafts buyer, asks Jan to check a new craftsman's work with her. Ruby Watson, shipping clerk, is wrapping an order for one of the alumnae clubs. Margie McCarter, head of Arrowcraft sales, pops in to tell Jan that a visiting alumna is in the shop and wants to say hello.

Jan and Bob go back to Staff House for lunch, prepared by Marie Ryder, Arrowmont food manager. Sandra Blain, Director of Arrowmont and the special initiate at the Phoenix Convention, and Clare Verstegen, Program Coordinator for Arrowmont, join them. Bob, who is responsible for the business affairs of Settlement School, has spent the morning working with Nadine Whitted, his administrative assistant and a Pi Beta Phi School graduate, on purchases for Arrowmont. He has also contacted suppliers for bids on building materials. He leaves to inspect the remodeling of the wood-working studio and the metalsmith shop, which is being converted from an old chicken coop.

By one o'clock both Skidders are back at work and probably won't see each other until dinner. After dinner, sometimes in front of a roaring fire in the Staff House living room, they may be able to relax and talk quietly together. More often than not, they are busy planning and working and preparing for the next day.

The Skidders, who have been married for twenty-seven years, are both originally from Chicago. Jan went to the University of Minnesota, where she majored in humanities. Bob attended the University of Tennessee where he majored in marketing. After graduation he worked for twenty years for a department store in Knoxville. Jan had moved to Knoxville in 1953 when her father became an executive with a flour company there. She was the local chairman for the 1966 Convention in Gatlinburg and served several years as province president. All this with three small girls!

The girls are grown now and all three are wearers of the arrow! Ginny, the eldest, is a Tennessee Gamma, who works in Guntersville, Ala. Terri and Elizabeth are both still in school at the University of Alabama, where they are active members of Alabama Beta. Lizzie, the youngest, was magazine chairman last year when Alabama Beta won the award for being first in magazine sales. She will graduate this year with a major in marketing. Her sister Terri hopes to work at Arrowmont this summer. She will graduate with a degree in human resource management. All three girls were with their mother at the Phoenix Convention.

Arrowcraft Coordinator is Jan's first "paying" job. In Knoxville she served on the boards of the Knox Children's Foundation and the Helen Ross McNabb Center and was president of the Knoxville Junior League. She and Bob moved from Knoxville to Birmingham, Ala. and while there she was appointed to the Board of Governors as secretary. It was Bob who thought he and Jan would be good candidates for the two jobs at Settlement School, so they decided to apply. With his two daughters almost through school, he was ready for a change.

Bob is the first man and the first non-Pi Phi to hold the position of Administrator at Arrowmont. His job entails responsibility for property maintenance and development. He works with Sandy and Clare in developing and carrying out the school's programs. This includes provision of food and housing for faculty and students. He is responsible for collecting fees, tuition, and board charges. He also oversees the employment and supervision of personnel in maintenance, housing, and food service. His office is up the Parkway (Gatlinburg's main street) from the Arrowcraft Shop in what used to be the Pi Beta Phi Health Center. He can step out of his front door and see the ever present tourist traffic or step out the back door and look out over Pi Phi's seventy-three serene acres.

Much of the Skinners' jobs involves public relations work and they are both good at it. Whether they are greeting a visiting chapter, touring with a Pi Phi and her husband who have come for a first look at the school, or meeting with faculty and students, they are always gracious, smiling and unfailingly patient.

Jan has already joined the Little Pigeon Alumnae Club and Bob is a new member of the Rotary Club of Gatlinburg. They have settled into the life of a small town and seemingly thrive on it. They feel that this is a kind of coming home for them since they both love the East Tennessee area. Pi Beta Phi hopes that they will be at home there for a long, long time.

Arrowmont Has Concerts

Concerts at Arrowmont during the winter and spring of 1981 provided students and community residents the opportunity to relax, socialize with friends and enjoy the music. The pleasant atmosphere in the Marian G. Heard Resource Center was set with hot apple cider, fresh baked cookies, and a warm fire.

During the Continuum '81 series the Smoky Mountain Dixieland Band entertained guests with a variety of jazz and dixieland music. Folk duo, Paula and Keith Medlin, played the dulcimer and guitar, handmade by Medlin, in a presentation of mountain songs.

The Brasswind Quintet arrived at Arrowmont for a concert during the Elderhostel workshop April 5-11. Elderhostelers enjoyed the change of pace and appreciated the opportunity to attend a fine concert.

These concerts were made possible with the joint support of the Tennessee Arts Commission, the National Endowment for the Arts, and Arrowmont.

An intriguing display in the Arrowcraft Shop.

Convention Shop To Have Catalog Items Sampled

The Arrowcraft Shop at Convention will be a learning experience as well as a shopper's delight this year. We are going to have samples of all the articles which will be in the new catalog. We are really excited about the catalog which will have a totally new "look." We invite you come in and see what will be available—both traditional favorites and lovely new items which have been added. In addition, we are going to have many things from the shop which will show you the variety and workmanship of articles made in clay, wood, and fiber. We plan some surprises, too! We will be happy to gift wrap any items you purchase for giving to friends at Convention or for family and friends at home.

Catalogs will be available in the Convention shop or may be ordered by sending $1.00 to:

Arrowcraft Shop
P. O. Box 567
Gatlinburg, TN 37738

With June being a big month for weddings, why not let Arrowcraft do your shopping for you. We have a wide selection of marvelous articles to delight the heart of any bride. You tell us your price range and the type of thing you prefer—weaving or crafts, and we will choose something, gift wrap, ship direct, and bill you later. From the comments we hear, our merchandise elicits great enthusiasm from the recipients. They all say, "It is so different from anything else we received." In this day of high prices, a selection from Arrowcraft really is a bargain! For example, you could give four Miss Olivia placemats and napkins ($55.00) for less than one dinner plate in a bone china pattern. We have beautiful baking and tableware starting at $15 and up. Our shopping for you will save you gasoline and time, AND guarantee satisfaction!

Scholarship Honors Helen Lewis' Service

An endowed fund has been established in honor of and to be known as the Helen Anderson Lewis Scholarship. It will provide room, board, and tuition for one or more students at Arrowmont School for a one week class session. The recipient must be an initiated member of Pi Beta Phi.

Helen Lewis is a charter member of Kentucky Alpha. From initiation on, she demonstrated her interest in and love for Pi Phi through active chapter service and years of alumnae club participation in many offices and committees. She served thirteen years at the province level as vice president (APP) and president. In 1950 she was elected to Grand Council and served ten years. As national Convention Guide, she planned five conventions and two national chapter presidents workshops between 1960 and 1969.

At a time when most people would welcome retirement, Helen accepted the position of Interim Administrator for Settlement School, a position she held from 1971-73. Since then she has served as a valued member of the Arrowmont Board of Governors. Helen's dedication to Pi Phi has been lifelong, generous, and productive. Her Fraternity experience alone qualifies her to be considered a national treasure.

In Gatlinburg, she has made outstanding contributions to the community in addition to her work in Little Pigeon Alumnae Club and for Arrowmont/Arrowcraft. She is actively involved in the Garden Club, Retired Citizens of Gatlinburg, the Library Board, Gatlinburg Arts Council, and at her church. Just to keep herself fully occupied, this Golden Arrow works parttime as church secretary, and in a new "vocation," as a sales clerk at Arrowcraft Shop.

This scholarship fund was established to honor Helen Lewis. It is also an expression of gratitude for her unique personal qualities which have enriched so many lives and given so much to Pi Beta Phi.

CONTINUUM '81

The atmosphere of creativity and visual stimulation provided an unending source of energy for those who attended Arrowmont's Continuum '81.

As part of the year-round program development at Arrowmont, Continuum '81 was introduced for the first time. Enthusiasm was strong for the series of one and two week sessions held in January and February with course offerings in metal, clay, papermaking, bookbinding, stained glass, fiber, and fabric.

An emphasis on fiber/fabric techniques and idea development was featured during two of the one week sessions. Work in batik, woven wearables, spinning, stitchery, and direct dyeing of fabric brought about an exchange of ideas and sharing of knowledge among students and faculty. Excitement and intensity filled the studios as each session drew to a close and students completed the details of their projects. Spontaneous fashion shows and displays of completed work established a true sense of accomplishment.

Musical performances, slide presentations, movies and exhibitions provided faculty, students and staff an experience that will be long remembered.

Favorite Hats Form Interesting Display

"Hats: Personal Favorites" was on exhibition in the Arrowmont Gallery December 5, 1980—February 28, 1981. The display was on loan from private collections and recognized the hat as an art object emphasizing form and technique.

A large number of the hats on exhibit were on loan from Enid Shelby of Gatlinburg. Her combined interest in hats and traveling has produced a beautiful collection from countries all over the world including China, Malaysia, Lapland, Greece, Italy, Spain, Mexico, Panama, Brazil, and many more. Also added to the display were Victorian hats, work hats, band hats, war helmets, derbys, straw hats, and an array of women's hats from 1920-50. Many Arrowmont/Arrowcraft employees loaned their personal favorites to bring the total of hats on exhibition to over 225. The response from visitors, faculty, and students was overwhelming. Classes in the Continuum Series were inspired to create handmade paper hats, quilted fabric hats, and organize a hat party.

Due to the involvement of community residents and our own employees, the Hat Exhibit proved to be an exciting adventure for people of all ages.

Woven Piece Is In Permanent Art Collection

A beautiful addition to Arrowmont's permanent art collection was the direct result of hard work by students in a commissioned weaving class. Ken Weaver, a fiber artist specializing in architectural commissions, worked with advanced weavers to design and execute a hanging for Arrowmont. Students examined all aspects of commissioned hangings including the available space, and interior design of Arrowmont, the idea development, the construction, and the final installation of the piece in Arrowmont's main building.

Students worked long hours to complete the woven piece during the five day class. Faculty, students, and staff watched as the weavers secured the barnacle-like sections in place, with the entire piece measuring 18' in width and 9' in length. The staff at Arrowmont was truly appreciative of the dedication of all involved in the project and proud to have such a fine piece on display.

Above: Hats, hats everywhere in Arrowmont's Gallery. Below: Students Winkl Allen and Judy Rayner work to complete the commissioned weaving for Arrowmont's permanent collection.

Four Pi Phi alumnae are involved with the Iowa State Arts Council, a fifteen-member council appointed by the Governor of Iowa for three-year terms. The group is responsible for all state arts programming and cultural budgeting. L-r: Helen Lloyd-Jones Jeffrey, Iowa Gamma, whose husband Frank is a Council member; Mary Beth James Schnechtman, Iowa Zeta, Council member; Mary Hutchison Tone, Florida Beta, Vice-chairman of the Council; and Joan Wengert Clark, Iowa Zeta, Council member and president of the Foundation for the Arts in Iowa.

Three Participate In Unusual Study Grant

Can you imagine eating the same three meals every day for twelve weeks, measuring the ounces of water you drink, and running three to five miles a day? As participants in a human metabolic study, Kathleen Flynn, Janet Tarr, and Karen Parfitt, New York Deltas, found this an interesting experience.

Dr. Daphne A. Roe, Professor of Nutritional Science at Cornell, received a grant from the USDA and the American Dairy Association to conduct the study. The purpose was to determine the impact that exercising has on certain B vitamins required by women. Women, ages 20-35 years, were screened for health habits, history and present status, dietary intake, and exercise patterns, before becoming participants.

Twelve women began the study on January 19, 1981. Each morning the women weighed in, ate breakfast, and turned in a daily diary of physical condition, activities, body temperature, hours of sleep, ounces of water consumed, and minutes of running. Blood samples were taken twice a week. Every gram or milliliter of food had to be eaten, but no more. No late night pizza or popcorn! Six days a week the women faithfully ran 3-5 miles on the indoor track. All meals were eaten at the special metabolic unit. Each individual's diet was carefully planned so that she did not gain or lose weight in the twelve week period.

Being a subject involved many clinical and biochemical measurements, exercise, resting tests for oxygen consumption, and underwater weighing for body fat ratio. Results of the research should contribute to knowledge of what is adequate nutrition for exercising women.

Of course Kathleen, Janet, and Karen awaited the final day, April 10, with great anticipation. "Don't send money, Mom, just cookies, ice cream, pizza, bagels with cream cheese. . ."

Rub, Sweat, & Tape Is Trainer's Pastime

by KAREN EARHART

As she walks in wearing designer jeans and a button-down shirt, it is hard to believe that Cynthia Hamm, Texas Epsilon, spends up to forty hours a week working in a sweaty situation.

Cynthia is currently serving an apprenticeship as an athletic trainer for the Mean Green of North Texas State University. Working with athletes in all sports, she tapes weak ankles, treats injuries, and oversees conditioning programs. Whenever NTSU holds a tournament or some other type of athletic activity, the trainers act as hosts and serve a public relations function for the university. But in Cynthia's own words, they just "sort of do all they can to keep things running smoothly."

Cynthia works with both male and female athletes. "I enjoy working with the guys more than the girls," she said, adding quickly, "they are less temperamental and take treatment with less objection."

Cynthia participated in varsity basketball and track in high school, so she always has centered everything around sports. "When I first came to college I wanted to major in fashion merchandising or something like that, but sports was really where my heart was, so that's what I decided to do."

As a physical education major, she already met the basic requirement for the trainer's program. But the hard part of getting the apprenticeship remained to be conquered. Cynthia had to convince John Porche, head athletic trainer at NTSU, that she was the best one for the job.

"He (Porche) tried to make it sound really difficult," Cynthia said with a gleam in her eye. "But I'm pretty aggressive and I was determined to let him know that I was sincere."

She must have been convincing or her determination paid off because Cynthia got the position and works constantly trying to keep those athletes in line.

"Cynthia is very ambitious and has a true desire to learn about professional athletic training," Porche said. "In fact, she's such a ball of fire that sometimes we have to slow her down."

Very few problems seem to arise out of the job, according to Cynthia. She said that NTSU is one of the few schools with a coeducational training program. "It cuts down on the vulgarity in the training room," she said. "You know—kind of puts a lid on the situation."

Spare time may be in shortage, but Cynthia said that sorority life has taught her how to schedule her time. "With few idle moments between training and Pi Phi functions, I really had to learn to discipline myself."

Cynthia hopes to work for a relatively large high school following graduation, knowing that small schools don't usually have trainers.

"I plan to be a friend as well as a teacher to my students," Cynthia said thoughtfully. "I want to put some of the old-fashioned fun back in school. Those kids are gonna look forward to my class!"

Her ultimate goal is to be the first woman trainer in professional football. But at the present time women aren't even allowed in the locker room. So it looks like that dream may have to wait outside the door a little longer.

The trainer feels as though all young people should have the chance to try things on their own, and she thinks being in a sorority can be one of the greatest opportunities to do this.

"Pi Phi has helped me in so many ways," Cynthia said. "Being in a sorority not only has advantages in college, but it can really be a help later in one's career. People always appreciate the fact that you've been a part of a prominent group like Pi Phi."

Among Tennessee Beta's spring pledges are sisters of five who are or were in the chapter. From the left, with active sister at top and listed first, are Shawn and Meg Doolan, Jo Beth and Lora Ladd Folger, Jennifer and Rebecca Dalton, Martha and Gay Morris, Karan McLellan Stockett and Jean McLellan. Karan was chapter president in 1978.

Is Homecoming Queen

The Homecoming Queen at the University of Louisville this year was Karen Kirkhuff, a Kentucky Alpha pledge from Los Angeles. Not only was this the second year in a row that a Pi Phi has reigned over Homecoming, a second Pi Phi, Trish Osborn, was a member of the Court.

Karen was nominated by Phi Kappa Tau fraternity and Trish represented the Dental Hygiene department. In addition, four other Pi Phis were Homecoming candidates—Mary Ann Mullins representing University College Student Council, Maria Velasco representing the Fine Arts department, Jude Muller representing College Republicans, and Linda Eubanks representing Pi Beta Phi.

Athletic Angels

Intramurals

Illinois Zeta was unbeatable on the football field and basketball court this year. Coached by Arrowman Mike Lynch, the University of Illinois Pi Phis were 5-0 in football and 4-0 in basketball. They earned division titles in both sports.

Alabama Alpha won second place in the Birmingham-Southern volleyball program. All-stars Rita Westbrook and Helen Hershfeldt were chosen from the Pi Phi team.

Kentucky Alpha placed first in soccer, racquetball, and free throws, and All-Campus in volleyball and basketball. They were third in swimming and second in the canoe regatta and softball at the University of Louisville. For the third consecutive year, Laurie Mazzoni and Susan Schaefer were first in doubles table tennis.

New Mexico Beta took second in the Greek League in football and third in overall campus competition. The basketball and volleyball teams were fourth in overall competition.

At the University of Oregon, the Pi Phi-Beta flag football team placed second, and Oregon Alpha took the championship in soccer.

Texas Alphas made it to the semi-finals in football and volleyball. Linda McCalla is the punt, pass, and kick champion and the ping pong doubles champ.

Mississippi Alpha had two Co-Rec bowling teams make it to the play-offs. One team paired with Phi Kappa Tau, and the second paired with Pi Kappa Alpha.

New York Delta won the sorority division in the ice hockey tournament.

Tennessee Gamma placed second all-university in water polo and second all-sorority in basketball at the University of Tennessee.

Lacrosse

Kate Sims, North Carolina Alpha, started a new team at Chapel Hill last winter. Five other Pi Phis, Sue Oakes, Susan Tunncliff, Ann Prosser, Marsha Carty, and Kelly Haines joined Kate in this pioneer team which had seven games scheduled against North Carolina and Virginia teams.

Softball

This is the second year in a row that Becky Yurek, West Virginia Gamma, played for the Bethany varsity women's fastpitch softball team. The team was conference champs last year as Becky pitched the second game of what was a season full of double headers.

Laurie Godshall, Colorado Gamma, made the women's varsity softball team at Colorado State. She played outfield during the spring season.

Crew

California Epsilon's Doone Lewis has participated on the San Diego State University crew team for two racing seasons. She attends three-hour practices every day starting at 4:30 a.m.!

Swimming

Anne Hain, Nebraska Beta, joined the Nebraska Women's swim team in December. She competes in freestyle and backstroke.

Ten Pennsylvania Etas are on the Lafayette swim team. Cathy Fedako has broken all of the college freestyle records and was awarded the Lafayette Leopard Athlete of the Week. Diane Goldsmith and Linda Penta are consistent high point divers.

Track

Sophomore Pam Schubarth, Nebraska Beta, is a member of the University of Nebraska women's track team. She is a consistent performer and qualified for the national track meet in Pocatello, Idaho, in March, in the open 1,000 yard run, and on the 2-mile relay team. The relay team placed second in the nationals and is the second fastest 2-mile relay team in the world!

Skiing

Rosemary Schrauth, New York Delta, is a ski instructor at Greek Peak International Ski School. She teaches Cornell University ski classes, private lessons, and group lessons of up to nine people of all ages. She once gave a lesson to a young deaf woman who had to lip read to learn her lesson. Rosemary's responsibilities also include patrolling the slopes in order to aid persons who need help, and giving directions. After a vigorous nine hour application and tryout period, Rosemary qualified for the squad, and to keep up her skills, she attends ski clinics each week.

Cheri Sayers, Michigan Gamma, represented Michigan State in the 1981 AIAW national ski championships, held in Bozeman, Mont., in March. She competed against 80 other skiers from 13 different schools and led the midwest region by placing 38th overall.

Tennis

Nancy Smith, Iowa Zeta, has earned a top spot on the women's varsity tennis team at the University of Iowa. She has a 12-2 record thus far.

Peter Curtis, Newcomb tennis coach, has named Meg Meurer, Louisiana Alpha, the number one seeded player on the team. Meg has been playing since she was seven, and has played Andrea Jaegar three times and Tracy Austin twice. Kathleen Jordan, a transfer from Auburn, is also on the team and has consistently won both singles and doubles matches.

Power Lifting

Mary Ven Gratis, Pennsylvania Eta, has proven her talent in power lifting, an activity she just started in December. From a state meet, she qualified for the first women's national competition which was held over spring break. Already she has unofficially broken the men's squat record for her weight group.

Number 2 tennis player for Millikin is Julie Gray, Illinois Eta, above, and Mary Brennan, Oklahoma Alpha, is a member of the O.U. women's tennis team.

Colorado Gammas had an undefeated basketball season in Colorado State's recreational sports league. Earning honors were, front, l-r: Cindi Schwab, Kris Vanderlip, Debbie Phelps, Holly Chism. Back: Carol Kosman, Lisa Bender, Laura Murray, Susie Hutchison.

Christy Thomsen and Dianne Slater stretch out before their daily workout.

Follow Training Schedule For Summer Marathon

by DIANE RAY

Oregon Gamma's Dianne Slater and Christy Thomsen are off and running. Both have been running casually for the past three years, but in March, 1980, they began to take their running a bit more seriously.

Their first goal was a 9.3 mile race, but they have both worked up to running a half marathon (13.2 miles) once a month.

Dianne and Christy are now following a hectic marathon training schedule to prepare for a marathon (26.4 miles) to be run sometime this summer. Their training consists of running 30 to 40 miles a week, while maintaining a strict diet, keeping on a carefully balanced vitamin schedule, and lifting weights at least three times a week.

Dianne said, "I first started running to get in shape but I've kept at it because it makes me feel good about myself."

Both insist that they could not train without the support of the other, a clear statement of the deep sisterhood so prevalent throughout Oregon Gamma. Dianne and Christy have become close friends as a result of their common interest, and as Christy quickly attests, "Running has provided me with a wonderful opportunity to share myself, not only with Dianne, but with a lot of other really neat people who enjoy running also."

Doubles Team Is #1 In Women's Tennis

Tennis is not an easy sport in which to make one's mark, but Texas Alpha sophomore, Jane Johansen, is certainly making hers. Although she began playing at the late age of 14, this did not hamper her eagerness or success in the game. Her high school days were spent on the tennis courts in Dallas' Highland Park. While her classmates were enjoying the exciting time of teenagers, Jane was patiently and determinedly hitting a little round ball across a net. All of this did not come without its rewards however, as Jane was named state doubles champ her sophomore year and state singles finalist her senior year of high school.

Then came college, and tennis was on a much larger scale. Jane attended the University of California at Santa Barbara her freshman year before transferring to the University of Texas last fall. She is ranked fourth on the Longhorn women's team in singles and first in doubles. This all comes with four hours of workouts per day, and a rigid diet.

Currently Jane and her doubles partner are ranked number one in Texas in the women's division.

Jane feels the strongest aspect of her game is her solid serve and good stable strokes. She says the key to the game is to concentrate on the ball at all times and exclude from the mind all events in the immediate environment.

Jane believes in setting her goals and attaining them, whether they be weekly or long term ones. Her current plans include playing on the European circuit and finishing out her days at the University of Texas. In terms of long range intentions, Jane hopes to play tennis professionally some day.

All In Shape and Involved

Muddy cleats and sweat pants hanging out to dry is not an uncommon sight at Oregon Gamma. This year many members and pledges were involved in Willamette varsity athletics, and each offered sincere dedication to her respective sport.

Fall brought excellent performances by Susie Weber, Theresa Church, Sara Hannon, Liz Williams, and Denice Gray, on the field hockey team. Susie, team captain and four year letter winner, finished her last year with Regional All-Star honors.

Junior Christi Colburn lead the girls cross country squad with yet another All-Star award. Running with her on the team were fellow Pi Phi Kenlynn Snowden and Judie Miller.

During the winter sports season, Theresa Church was again busy, but this time on the small, but hard working diving team. Accompanying Theresa to the pool each day was All-American Susan Thompson.

Spring found the Pi Phi just as active with Susie Weber appearing on the softball field, while Christi, Kenlynn, and Judie all busied themselves running track.

The rest of the house use their athletic prowess in intramural sports. All in all Oregon Gammas are in shape, involved, and in the winner's circle!

Province Officer Is Honored For Volunteer Work

Mary Jane Wick Bender, Kansas Beta, of Lenox, Mass., earned the 1980 Gladys Allan Brigham Award at the Berkshire Medical Center's annual meeting in December. Mary Jane, Alumnae Province President of Alpha Province, is known as a "professional volunteer" and the Brigham Award pays tribute to an individual who had provided "distinguished volunteer service" to BMC and the community. A reception preceding the annual meeting honored Mary Jane.

More than thirty years of volunteer service to more than a dozen local, regional, and state service organizations has been provided by Mary Jane, which has resulted in a "distinguished career as a professional volunteer", according to the BMC president, Henry Moran. She is president of the Berkshire Garden Center, a member of the board of directors of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children and the Berkshire Rehabilitation Center. She serves as a corporator to BMC and the Berkshire County Savings Bank and is a charter member of the Development Council at BMC.

Mary Jane is the 1978 recipient of the Dr. David B. Kagan Award presented by the Pittsfield Rotary Club. Her community service includes more than 25 years of service to the Girl Scouts, as well as many positions of leadership in her church and civic organizations.

Mary Jane was graduated from Kansas State with a degree in business administration. She is a past president of alumnae clubs in Topeka, Kan., and Berkshire County, Mass. According to Helen Boyd Green, current president of the latter club, "Mary Jane is a marvelous administrator and never shies from the responsibilities that the office of president requires. With a smile on her face and a warm greeting for everyone, she is a VIP in our community."

Darlene Yaplee Is Panhellenic Woman of Year

by SHARON VAN MAREN

The University of California-Davis Panhellenic named California Theta chapter president Darlene Yaplee as Greek Woman of the Year for 1981, and honored her at a February scholarship dessert with a plaque and a $200 scholarship.

Each of the thirteen sororities on campus nominated its most qualified member to compete for the award. The Panhellenic Scholarship Committee then interviewed and judged these women on scholarship, sorority involvement, campus activities, career goals, and work experience—all areas in which Darlene has excelled.

Darlene believes in participating "in a healthy balance of activities" and has involved herself in numerous organizations on campus. She was a participant in the Chancellor's Ambassador Program, an appointed student representative on the Academic Senate Committee on Distinguished Teaching Awards, and is a member of Prytanean Honor Society.

As a member of Pi Beta Phi, Darlene first served as vice president of mental advancement and wrote "A Pi Phi Survival Guide to U.C. Davis," a resource guide of the activities and services available on campus to complement student education.

An economics major, Darlene is focusing on a career in business and is busy preparing herself in several ways for her future. During her junior year she worked as a business finance staff assistant for the career planning and placement center on campus. In this position, Darlene gave workshops on resumé writing and interviewing skills, conducted career exploration for students, interviewed applicants for internships, and established new internships with employers.

Darlene also has held three internships. She worked as a junior cost accountant for Verbatim Corporation, as a stock-brokerage intern for Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner, and Smith, and as a marketing analysis and development intern for Dow Chemical.

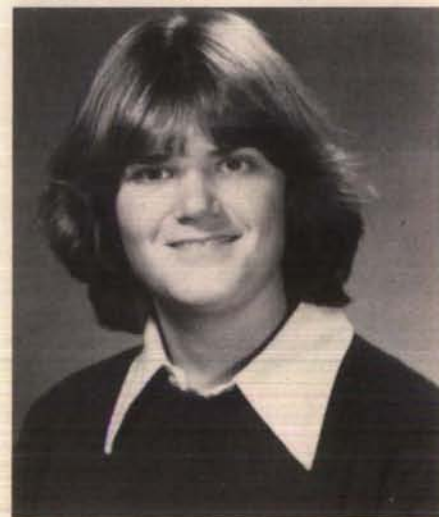

"We Mean Business," is the T-shirt logo worn by members of the business club Darlene organized on campus last year. She currently serves as president of the club which is for students who are interested in business related careers and wish to gain experience beyond the classroom.

Through her work experience,

Darlene has learned "that the hard work necessary to be successful provides challenge, excitement, fascination, and endless frontiers."

Upon completion of her undergraduate degree, Darlene plans to earn a Master of Business Administration, and one day own her own business. "In the future," says Darlene, "I will demonstrate that women are a vital and integral part of the business world."

Laura Hirsch, Wisconsin Gamma, during her four years at Lawrence was on the basketball team 3 years; volleyball team 1 year; softball team 4 years; and the tennis team for 2 years. Laura was a psychology major and a chapter officer her senior year.

Through Chapter Service Projects

Every year the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity at Ohio State holds a beauty pageant with the proceeds going to the Heart Fund. Sue Squire, OHIO BETA president, placed second runner-up in the Queen of Hearts Pageant in February, after participating in interviews, evening gown and talent competitions.

The Heart Association chapter in San Diego received $500 as a result of efforts of Sigma Nu and CALIFORNIA EPSILON. A softball tournament took place over one weekend in November, with two Sigma Nu coaches appointed to help each sorority that participated. Mark Borson and Kurt Richardson were Pi Phi coaches and even found a sponsor to buy the uniforms—a local florist. The tourney benefitted Greek relations at San Diego State as well as being a fun philanthropic project.

ALABAMA ALPHA participated in a jump rope-a-thon at Birmingham-Southern, with proceeds going to the Heart Foundation. The chapter raised more money than any other group participating and had a great time doing it.

The Cancer Society received the proceeds from a number of Greek philanthropic activities throughout the country. At Cornell, NEW YORK DELTA and Alpha Tau Omega celebrated a spring weekend by selling daffodils at various campus locations. Last year over $4,500 was raised for the American Cancer Society and more than 8,000 daffodils were sold.

In March, GEORGIA ALPHA participated in the third annual Panhellenic Fashion Show with the profits going to the American Cancer Society. Eight Pi Phis worked with the show and, to top off the night, Georgia Alpha received a trophy for the most contributions made to the Society through ticket sales and patron donations.

Each year INDIANA GAMMA raises money for the Cancer Society in memory of Marvella Bayh. Last year they collected $2,250, and with this year's total, the Butler Pi Phis have collected $5,750 in three years.

ILLINOIS ZETAS "kidnapped" the Illini basketball coach, Lou Henson, and held him for "ransom," with the money to go to the Cancer Society. A condition for release of the coach was that area businesses make contributions to the Cancer Society. The caper was publicized in the school newspaper and through letters sent to business owners. The scheme paid off, as store owners gladly met the girls' demands in the form of generous contributions to the Society.

The second annual Pi Beta Phi Valentine's Day Flower Sale at the University of Michigan was a big success. Proceeds from selling 650 white, red, and pink carnations went to Arrowmont, Arrow in the Arctic, and the local Cystic Fibrosis Foundation. This was an excellent opportunity for MICHIGAN BETA actives to work together with new initiates while helping the community and Pi Phi philanthropies.

Recently several KENTUCKY ALPHAS served as hostesses at an auction for Cystic Fibrosis at the Louisville Galt House. Also, they formed a CF road block and collected money to aid the national campaign, and worked during the CF radiothon at a local Louisville station. During Louisville's Run for the Dimes, sponsored by the March of Dimes, Pi Phis helped out by recording times and directing runners.

Muscular Dystrophy benefitted when the University of North Dakota held a 24-hour dance-a-thon in February. Twenty NORTH DAKOTA ALPHAS either danced or helped in other ways. 100 couples danced and $11,000 was raised for MD.

Panhellenic and IFC at Cornell worked together on a campus-wide Dance-a-Thon for M.D. in April. Total dancing time was 30 hours. Laurel Donnellan, NEW YORK DELTA, and her partner, danced every weekend prior to the event, building up their endurance. It was hoped that at least $15,000 would be raised.

One of MARYLAND BETA'S philanthropy and community involvement interest group's activities was helping out the Kidney Foundation with its Country Music Radiothon. On March 6, many Pi Phis went to a local country music radio station and answered phones for call-in pledges and donations from 8 p.m. to 2 a.m.

NORTH DAKOTA ALPHAS are collecting pop tabs to help a fellow student get some free time on a kidney dialysis machine. Another service project of this chapter was participating in the March of Dimes Mothers' Walk.

NEW YORK DELTA has held a dessert party for senior citizens and a birthday party for children in the Big Brother-Big Sister program.

ILLINOIS EPSILONS Robin Daughtridge and Carola Del Rio teamed up with an ATO and an ADT to raise money for the Arthritis Foundation in Northwestern's seventh annual Dance Marathon. The Pi Phis and their partners kept moving for 30 hours one weekend in early February.

Each year the Alpha Tau Omegas at Washington State sponsor a 52-hour dance marathon to benefit epilepsy. This year's goal was set at $14,000 to be used for the treatment of the disease and to increase the public awareness of epilepsy. In the past four years, WASHINGTON BETAS have won two first place awards, one second place, and one third place award. Lori Borth was the chapter representative this year.

NORTH CAROLINA ALPHA sponsored a Bloodmobile Drive in March. They worked with the Chi Psis as UNC on this project.

Three NORTH CAROLINA BETAS found a way to combine their skills as nursing students with their Pi Phi spirit for philanthropy. A free clinic in the inner city of Durham, staffed by volunteers, has been a focus of the off-campus efforts at serving the community of Carol Tull, Kelli Jo Massey and Laurie Sayers. The clinic is open two nights a week and sees patients both on an appointment and walk-in basis.

GEORGIA ALPHA held its annual Kidnap Social in March. Sorority and fraternity presidents, or a representative, were kidnapped and taken to a local gathering place while awaiting the ransoms. The social was open for anyone to participate. In addition to the $10 ransom, a 50¢ donation was collected from individuals. $347 was collected and donated to Arrowmont.

CALIFORNIA EPSILON is sponsoring a child through the Christian Children's Fund program. The $15 a month sponsorship payments help furnish tuition and assistance for food, clothing, shelter, and books, as well as vocational guidance and training when applicable. Youngsters are selected on the basis of personal and financial need, and the child continues to receive help from CCF until he or she is 18 years old.

Sue Palumbo, PENNSYLVANIA EPSILON, while helping Delta Gamma raise money for the partially blind at the annual Anchor Splash, decided to enter the bathing suit contest and placed second overall. Other Penn State Pi Phis who helped in the event were Tracy Rock, Trish Hayward, Karen Cubbison, Marijo Cavallaro, Anne Depsky, and Sherry Walsh. Then the chapter won the overall spirit competition.

The first Sunday in March, OHIO DELTA spent the afternoon playing bingo with twenty women in a local nursing home. The girls concluded the afternoon by singing some Pi Phi songs for the residents.

NEW MEXICO ALPHA participated in several projects during the year. They held an Easter egg hunt for underprivileged children; a Halloween party, in conjunction with Sigma Chi at the University, for a local foster home; and served as "huggers" during the New Mexico Special Olympics for Retarded Citizens.

OREGON ALPHA'S annual Christmas philanthropy was a big success again this year. As in past years, they joined with Theta Chi and had a party for the underprivileged children in the Eugene area.

NEW MEXICO BETA earned $118 for their philanthropy fund by holding a box lunch with Sigma Pi. In November the chapter kidnapped Greek presidents and held them for a ransom of food items. The food was donated to the chapter local philanthropy, the Garcia Foster Home. A house cleaning for the home took place in November and December, and at the latter time, posters and stockings stuffed with goodies were taken for the children to enjoy.

SOUTH CAROLINA BETA also used a kidnap as a method of raising money. One member of each of the fifteen fraternities and seven sororities on the Clemson campus was kidnapped for a ransom of $15. The total was donated to Meals on Wheels, an organization for older people.

Each year a national phone-a-thon is conducted by the students at Texas Christian to raise funds for the school. TEXAS DELTA participated as a group this year and ranked fourth out of 22 groups for raising the largest amount of money—about $8,000. Also, prizes were given to the top twenty callers. Celia Smith was the fifth highest caller, raising $2,500 in seven hours, so she was one of the hot-doggers who won a ski trip to Winter Park, Colo., over spring break.

Last fall PENNSYLVANIA ETA sponsored a volleyball marathon with Phi Delta Theta on the Lafayette campus. They raised $355 and donated it to the Youth Enabling Services of Easton.

Pam Toliver, Arizona Beta, crowns John Bullington King Crush at the second annual Pi Beta Phi Crush Party at Arizona State. Each Pi Phi secretly invites two of her "crushes" and the man who receives the most invitations is crowned King Crush.

Named To Lehigh Post

Christine Donohue Smith, Louisiana Alpha, has been appointed assistant director of development at Lehigh University.

Her appointment, effective last October, was announced by Michael G. Bolton, Lehigh director of development. Her responsibilities include working with alumni, foundations, and corporations in development activities and assisting with the second phase of Lehigh's New Century Fund development program.

Christine, who was previously assistant dean of students at Moravian College, earned her B.A. degree in sociology from Tulane University and the M.S. degree in education from Purdue University.

She was the coordinator of special programs for women in engineering at Purdue from 1974 to 1978, where she was involved in development work for that university's schools of engineering. Prior to that position, she served as an administrative assistant in the development office at Stanford University and, while a student at Purdue, as a research assistant in the provost's office there.

Listed in Outstanding Young Women in America in 1977, Dr. Smith has served as consultant to the Polytechnic Institute of New York and to the University of Notre Dame and co-authored an article on cooperative engineering programs for Engineering Education journal.

She lives with her husband, Dr. Charles R. Smith, Jr., and their two children in Bethlehem, Pa. He is an associate professor in the department of mechanical engineering and mechanics at Lehigh.

A STRANGER AT MY DOOR

by Mary Kistler, California Delta
Doubleday & Co., Garden City, N.Y., 1979, 184 pp.

Author of numerous published short stories, Mary Kistler's recently published second novel is a modern romance filled with colorful scenes, lively characters, and a suspenseful plot. It completely captured my attention from beginning to end.

The book contains all the ingredients of the classic Gothic novel, which I particularly love to read. There is the mysterious setting, this time in a remote part of Spain, complete with a huge, old house "Made of stone. Beautiful and old. It has stood for a century, alone on a high cliff by the sea." There is the pretty young heroine, Lisa Stephens, victimized by an automobile accident, amnesia, and probably a plot to conceal her identity. There are two possibilities for leading man: Enrique Fuente, Lisa's supposed husband, arrestingly handsome with black hair, pale skin, and dark blue eyes, who needs her signature to save his family's palatial ancestral home, and Edward Meredith, a "pleasant-looking" young American who offers to help Lisa escape the trap she feels has been set for her by Enrique. There is a supporting cast of possibly sinister characters: Enrique's grandmother, a dowager with "hooded eyes" and a cold manner; Antonia, Enrique's beautiful cousin and suspected mistress; Alfredo Garcia, Enrique's tough companion whom Lisa thinks is spying on her; priests loyal to the Fuentes; and hostile villagers.

The plot contains danger, real clues and false clues, missed opportunities of escape, mysterious gunshots, heartstopping chases, and a surprise ending with love conquering all. What more could a modern day Gothic novel fan want in a book?

LIFE CAN BE BEAUTIFUL

by Irene Lentz Campbell, Indiana Delta
Privately published, 1979, 83 pp.

Dedicated to her late husband of 50 years, Irene Campbell has published this collection of poems out of a lifetime of experiences. Her poems are grouped in categories of love and friendship, holidays, childhood and family, nature, memory and grief. Celebrating high and low points of her life they are a testament to her faith in God and concern for others.

Some of these poems were previously published in newspapers in her hometowns of Altoona, Pennsylvania, and Sun City, Arizona, and were collected and printed at the urging of her friends and family. A poem I particularly enjoyed began with these lines:

My love is like a silver stream
So quietly it flows,
But always there's the golden gleam,
No matter where it goes.

In her introductory poem entitled "Collecting", the author tells us that her collection is "dear friends and memories, too, and thoughts of loved ones." Her poetry grows out of her collection.

NELLIE'S BOARDING HOUSE: A dual biography of Nellie Coffman and Palm Springs
by Marjorie Bell Bright, Texas Alpha ETC Publications, Palm Springs, Calif., 1981, 229 pp.

The author describes this biography of a woman, a resort hotel, a town and a desert as a four-and-a-half year labor of love. Pi Phi Marjorie Bright tells the remarkable story of the "Mother of Palm Springs," Nellie Coffman, and her impact on the now world-renowned resort city in California.

Nellie came to the desert for her health and discovered its beauty. In 1909 at 42 she moved there with her husband, a doctor, to start a sanitarium/hotel. According to the author, she found in the desert the four S's—space, stillness, solitude and simplicity—and reveled in "the warmth of the golden days, the blue of the skies, the gorgeous moon and stars, the lure of the desert nights, and above all, the peace and quiet and sense of security that she found there."

When Nellie opened her 6-room boardinghouse there were no roads and only a handful of people. She had little money, no business experience, and within a short period of time no husband, as they parted in 1914; her assets, however, included a love of the desert, a compelling personality, two sons who later went into business with her, and a conviction that she would succeed if she provided the three C's—comfort, cuisine, and, of course, climate. She ran Nellie's Boardinghouse for 33 years during which time it grew into the sophisticated resort complex of The Desert Inn. More than any one person, Nellie is credited with creating the city of Palm Springs.

Marjorie Bright has sprinkled through the biography of a remarkable woman, her personal friend, many of Nellie Coffman's poems. She also draws on Nellie's other writings; recollections of her family, friends, and Palm Springs pioneers and newcomers; and newspaper accounts. Her book contains vivid descriptive and factual passages about the desert; the history of the Desert Inn, now the site of a luxurious shopping center; the story of Palm Springs and the fabulous people who go there; and the characterization of a colorful, forceful personality, Nellie Coffman. At her death in 1950 the Palm Springs newspaper called her "one of the grand personalities of the desert."

NOW I CAN SMILE

by Karen Miltenberger Walden, Indiana Zeta
Vantage Press, New York, 1980, 25 pp.

Another collection of poems by a Pi Phi has been published recently. These innovative poems speak openly of life's complexities as the author explores her identity, relationships, and values in verse.

Alum Cites Real Estate Opportunities

(The following article appeared in The Owen Manager, publication of the Owen School of Business at Vanderbilt University.)

Gayley Atkinson Broadhurst, president of the Owen School Alumni Association, is a walking example of what an M.B.A. degree can do for a young person.

"I always knew I wanted a career in business," she said recently. "I come from a business oriented family. My father has always worked for a Fortune 500 company; my sister went to Wharton." However, for personal pleasure she elected to specialize in drama and music during her undergraduate Tennessee Beta days at Vanderbilt where she got her B.A. cum laude in 1974. Her plan was to work for a couple of years, then go back to graduate school for her M.B.A.

After two years at Commerce Union Bank in Nashville, she was working as a credit analyst, but she decided it was time for more school.

She received her advanced degree from the Owen School in 1978 (along with the Faculty Award for Distinguished Achievement) and found that "in two years I had doubled my salary." After spending a few months as a real estate appraiser in Dallas, she returned to Nashville to marry Edgar Broadhurst III and to become a banking officer at First American National Bank where she handles commercial and industrial real estate lending, construction loans, government guaranteed loans, and mortgage banker lending.

She finds her job exciting. "I handle loans anywhere from $50,000 to $6,000,000," she said. She speaks of "building up a shopping center" in suburban Nashville, finding solutions for a troubled business, traveling across the state to work out details of loans. Gayley and her husband share their interest in real estate matters. He is associated with a real estate development firm and is a commercial broker. Both have taken courses offered by the National Realtors Marketing Institute, leading toward the designation of Certified Commercial Investment Manager.

She is to be a guest speaker for the National Association of Industrial and Office Parks, to address the subject of "Opportunities for Women in Commercial Real Estate." She thinks the opportunities are great.

Gayley manages to do a lot more than her job. She is an early riser who gets to the swimming pool at the "Y" before 6:15 and swims a mile before she goes to her office at 8 a.m. "I'm still a sixth-grader in that I always lay out my clothes the night before. My husband teases me about it," she laughs.

She is active in the Junior League and currently is on its placement committee which assigns volunteers to various community services. She and her husband were youth leaders for special projects in their Nashville church last year and teach a high-school-age Sunday School class this year. She has been active in volunteer work for the YMCA, Vanderbilt Children's Hospital, the Nashville Symphony, and Planned Parenthood. She is a member of the Mayor's Overall Economic Development Program Committee.

Four Work In Central America During Interim

by CATHY JONES

The desire to help others led four Indiana Epsilon Pi Phi to travel to Central America in January during their Winter Term from DePauw University. Each year DePauw's Chaplain's Living Unit Council sponsors trips for construction and medical teams to work in various countries in Central America.

Anne Guild, chapter president, and freshman Erin Buck, who served as an interpreter, worked eight hour days building a church for a tiny, poor village in Panama. Mary Beth Flurry, a junior nursing student, was also in Panama, administering sorely needed health care as part of the medical team. Sophomore Sydney Mitchell worked on construction in a small village in Honduras.

Sydney said it was easy to adjust to the primitive living conditions, adding, "I grew a lot after seeing how they live."

According to Anne, "The natives were friendly and thankful. The kids were always bringing us coconuts and bananas and used to fight over who would get to help us."

The language barriers did not keep the students from communicating with people in the villages, for, as Sydney said, "Teaching each other words created a real bond."

The month of hard work taught the girls as much about American culture as life in Central American villages. Working with a small group of people "brought us very close very quickly, as we were able to see each other in a very different light than is possible on DePauw's campus," Sydney noted.

The girls left Central America having learned a great deal about themselves. Anne, an education major, said, "I've gained so much that I'd like to reinforce my experience by doing some missionary work for a year or two after graduation."

Pi Phi Did It

Sorority of Year

University of New Mexico Pi Phis were well represented during Greek Week 1981, held each spring to promote the Greeks on campus. Margaret Warren served as co-chairman of the week-long event which began with an exchange dinner among all sororities and fraternities. Other activities included a blood drive, casino night with proceeds going to a local charity, a Greek party, and a community service project.

Concluding the activities were a Greek banquet and dance at a local hotel at which time several Pi Phis received awards.

Sonja Taylor was recognized for her nomination as Outstanding Greek Woman; Margaret Warren, Shannon Kimbrough, Cheryl Paterson, and Kelly Morse received the Dean of Students' Service Awards; Silvia McCarthy received the Dean of Students' Academic Award for maintaining a 4.0 grade point average.

But perhaps the most exciting moment was when the New Mexico Alpha Pi Phis were named Outstanding Sorority of the Year.

Trophy Now Permanent

Oklahoma Alpha at Oklahoma University had a lot to celebrate after the recent Panhellenic Scholarship dinner. For the fourth consecutive semester, Pi Phi achieved the top ranking in overall grade point of all the sororities at the university. They received the traveling trophy which will now remain in their house for winning more than three semesters in a row.

Individually, there were eleven Pi Phis who made straight "A" average—Kathy Malone, Jamie Baxter, Dawn Adamson, Patty Wagstaff, Lisa Blankenship, Elisa Sandlin, Melanie Garner, Susan Lane, Lisa Hughes, Jennifer Eve, and Laura Dowling.

Has Winning Streak

Campus involvement is another big part of college life, and Indiana Gamma is certainly in the middle of every activity. From swing choir, to intramurals, to ballet, to yearbook, *Butler Pi Phis are involved.

Indiana Gamma came on strong in the fraternity weekends by capturing the all-around trophy at Lambda Chi Alpha's Watermelon Bust. Pledge Ann Morgan led the house by becoming the third consecutive Pi Phi to win the watermelon eating contest.

The Gammas continued their winning streak with a first place in the pyramid building contest at Sigma Chi Derby Day. This was also the third year in a row for a win in this event. Senior Cheryl Geer represented the chapter well by finishing second runner-up in the queen contest.

Second In Review

This year the Oklahoma Betas at O.S.U. participated in Varsity Review with the Delta Chi fraternity. V.R. is a song and dance type production which includes five large group acts and five small group acts, chosen during tryouts earlier in the year.

Major theme of the production was "Times Like These," and the theme of the Pi Phi-Delta Chi act was the New York City Blackout. Shawna Spradling was director of the group and Mary Wright was choreographer. Thirteen couples participated in a routine resembling that of a jazzy Broadway musical. The long, hard practices that began in October and extended until February proved to be most worthwhile, bringing a second place win during the last of the three night production.

Roxanna Rist

Sweeps Greek Week

Careful planning and Pi Phi enthusiasm were the major contributing components for the Indiana Zetas' triumph during Greek Week at Ball State University. Not only did Pi Phi capture the first place trophy, senior Carrie Peterson, chapter president, was crowned Queen of Greek Week.

Activities included the annual basketball game with Western Michigan; the Greek fair exhibit; an all-campus fund raiser in which the chapter sold bedtime stories and placed first in the money-raising division; exchange dinners with different Greek organizations; a roller skating marathon; and an adventurous evening at the casino tables. The week came to an exciting conclusion at the grand chapter meeting for all Greeks where Pi Phis were proclaimed the winner of Greek Week and Carrie was crowned.

Through chapter unity, Indiana Zetas dominated throughout the week, and as a Pi Phi representative, Carrie was a royal success. She was judged on the basis of four categories—Greek leadership, personality, scholastic ability, and overall campus activities.

Lori Bailey

Enrichment Day

In March, Pi Phi sponsored its first Educational Enrichment Day. The purpose was to allow Baylor students the opportunity to bring together the world of academics and the world of application.

Fred Roach, president of Centennial Homes in Dallas, was the guest speaker. In his topic, "Christian Ethics in the Business World," he explained how to apply Biblical principals to a business code of ethics.

Educational Enrichment Day was a success and the beginning of a tradition that will broaden the horizons of Baylor students.

Liz Rice

Sell Hoagies

The Pi Phis of West Virginia Gamma have hoagies coming out of their ears! In order to raise money to cut the cost of their spring weekend, the girls sold hoagies on the Bethany College campus once a week for four weeks. The girls divided into two groups—one half made the hoagies from scratch and wrapped them, the other half went out on the campus to sell. Most of the sandwiches were bought by freshman guys, with fraternity men coming in a close second.

It was a good way to get to know people on campus and easier than having car washes in freezing temperatures!

Best Script Award

Excitement and enthusiasm were high as the Kansas Alpha Pi Phis and the Sigma Chis were presented the award for the Best Script for their show in the 1981 production of Rock Chalk Revue.

Under the direction of Kathleen Jones, John Campbell, and Dean Hiller, the cast spent many months preparing the musical production entitled, "The Will to Laff."

Rock Chalk Revue is held each year at Kansas University. Sororities and fraternities are paired, and they spend months creating a musical production—writing scripts and songs, and designing sets and costumes. All efforts are submitted and four shows are selected to participate in the over-all production. The theme of this year's revue was "The Last Laugh."

Arlene Chanco, Kansas Alpha sophomore, was selected to perform with the "In Between Act Players," a singing and dancing group. The performance included a solo by Arlene which contributed to the success of the evening.

Tina Iwerson

G.P.A. Leaders

Virginia Epsilon Pi Phis seem to excel at all they do, be it academic, athletic, or social. At the University of Virginia, they lead the eleven other sororities in cumulative grade point average with an impressive 3.2 GPA. They are every bit as enthusiastic on the athletic field and hold the first place position in sorority intramurals. All this activity has not interfered with Pi Phi's busy social calendar, as high-points of the year were mixers with fraternities at two nearby all-male colleges, as well as a very successful mixer with the first year medical school class at the university. Many other mixers and other get-togethers have kept them moving—and fast!

Lucy Duke

Many Pledges

Pennsylvania Eta completed its first and very successful rush as Pi Beta Phi with forty new pledges, one of the largest pledge classes on the Lafayette campus. They are currently the largest group of the seventeen fraternities and five sororities.

Their GPA from their first semester with Pi Phi shows that they reached "pi" (3.14). They had the highest GPA of all female living groups and the second highest for the whole campus. In addition, they were recognized as having the most improved GPA for the entire campus.

Nancy Elzey

Greeks Share

Greek relations are good at the University of Louisville, as seen by the type of social activities.

In November the Kentucky Alphas held a Thanksgiving party with the Chi Omegas. With the installation of a Delta Chi fraternity chapter at U. of L., many Pi Phis extended their help to make the start on campus a successful one, and the entire chapter made Delta Chi feel welcome by having a social for them at the Pi Phi house.

With the beginning of nice weather, IFC began a T.G.I.F. in the fraternity quadrangle for all Greeks every Friday at noon. With a lot of music, hot dogs, and volleyball, the Greeks were able to mix and mingle in an enjoyable atmosphere to promote better Greek relations.

This year's Super Bowl was extra special for Penn State Pi Phi Nancy Vermeil. Her father, Dick, is head coach of the Philadelphia Eagles. Nancy's optimism about the team's chances next year extends to her Pennsylvania Epsilon sisters.

Della Schuler, a senior at West Virginia Alpha, has been training and performing with the Cedar Point dolphins and sea lions for two years. She lives and works there from May to September. She will graduate with a degree in Animal Science.

Sponsor Career Panel

by SUSAN MESSNER

The New York Gamma chapter at St. Lawrence University sponsored a career oriented discussion program in February. Five outstanding Pi Phi alumnae who were graduated from St. Lawrence within the past decade returned to contribute as guest speakers. Each of the Pi Phi speakers has pursued a diverse and challenging career. In a relatively short period of time, the accomplishments of these women have been nothing less than spectacular.

Among the speakers were Janet Langlois, Vice President Corporate Banking Group of Manufacturers Hanover Trust Company; Susan Lane, a programmer and analyst in the Data Systems Department of the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta; Susan Olszewski, a district Data Systems manager in the accounts and finances department of AT&T; Jean Tuttle, owner and manager of a court reporting firm now working with Bankers Trust; and Katie McKay, an Executive Assistant to the director of Port Authority of New York and New Jersey.

These Pi Phi successes held three discussion panels on different aspects of career advancement. The first discussion was geared towards freshmen. Topics centered around making a college career benefit the working career. The women talked about which courses to take, activities that helped them after college, and even how much being a member of Pi Beta Phi helped them after college.

Other discussion panels were aimed at the campus community. One was entitled "Strategies for Success." It covered the selection of personal and alternative goals and their relationship to the goals of a business institution. In addition, the speakers expounded upon professional style, organizational realities, the influences of power and politics, business supports and alliances, and industrial awareness. Another discussion topic was "Combining a Career Life with a Personal Life." This informative talk covered problems such as balancing a career and marriage, flexibility in scheduling, and setting goals in career planning.

Between discussions, the Pi Phi alums were welcomed with an old fashioned cookie-shine. They sang some new songs along with the New York Gammas and taught some of the older songs.

The guests also attended classes and celebrated at a cocktail party and formal dinner with the university's administration. All of the discussions were well attended and a tremendous success.

Actress Wins Raves For Various Roles

by SUSAN STOVER

Kim Sleight means involvement. Actress, worker, leader—she does it all! Kim, a sophomore at Duke University, is quite a talented Pi Phi pledge and North Carolina Beta is proud to have her on their roster.

Kim's acting career began four years ago when she decided, for the fun of it, to try out for her high school musical, Hello Dolly! No sooner had she tried out than the young sophomore had the lead part of Dolly. From there it was nonstop for Kim as she played the part of Lucille Early in No No Nanette her junior year, and Fanny Brice in Funny Girl her senior year.

"Theater is definitely addictive," commented Kim on her early success and the desire to continue with drama. "Once you start, it's impossible to stop!"

She did continue on to play the part of Hodel, one of Teyve's three daughters in Fiddler On The Roof last spring. Duke University's Hoof 'n' Horn theater company, the second oldest theater company in the country, staged the production. The Duke paper reviewed the show and the critic wrote, "... my favorite, however, was Kimberly Sleight as Hodel, whose touching number 'Far From the Land I Love' stole my heart immediately."

To round out Kim's theatrical career at Duke thus far, one must include her fine performances as Mrs. Swettenhan in A Murder Is Announced, and as Kelly in an original production American Dreams, the latter being a musical play in which she was reviewed as possessing a "beautiful voice." Kim also had the lead role as Sandy in Grease, presented this spring.

When asked what she finds enticing about the theater, Kim replied, "You can let everything be exposed in a character without revealing your true self. In real life, you tend to hide parts of yourself but on stage you can portray the entire character for the audience."

Kim is presently a public policy major in the area of communications. She is unsure of her plans after college, but definitely is keeping acting in mind. "After school, I'd like to give it [acting] a try," stated Kim. "I'm playing with it now and don't really know how good I am, but I'd like to find out!"

Not only does Kim Sleight act, but she is and has been involved in numerous other activities. She has been a freshman dorm representative and a member of the East Campus Council of dorm representatives. She is presently a member of the Hoof 'n' Horn executive council. To top it all off, she also holds a part-time job on campus and is a leader in the Freshman Advisory Committee.

Kim Sleight is certainly talented in many respects. Above all else, however, Kim is an enthusiastic Pi Phi.

The Greek Image

by SUSAN REXRODE, BRIAN HALLAGAN

How does an afternoon of door to door collections for cancer strike you? Or how about reading fairy tales to orphans who have never had the opportunity to fantasize?

These things and more are the ways in which many Greeks spend and share their "happy hours" in service to their communities; an aspect of Greek life that rarely gets the attention it deserves.

Sororities and fraternities devote many hours to their philanthropic projects with no monetary reward or publicity expected.

Too often Greeks have been characterized or stereotyped as a bunch of spoiled, rich, beer-drinking socialites who don't care about anyone outside of their chapter houses. This simply is not true. Sure, there are a few "bad apples" in the bunch, but most Greeks are responsible, civic-minded adults who are very concerned about scholarship and community service.

For a change, let's not be so humble about the good we do. Let's show those people who are uninformed about our activities that we really do care!

Panhellenic Chair To Upgrade Rush Quality

by MARDI GASKINS

A major in Pi Phi, and a minor in Panhellenic, perhaps best describes the curriculum designed by Lori Klein, South Carolina Alpha. Lori, an affiliate from West Virginia Alpha, has asserted herself into major offices within the chapter as well as Panhellenic. She has served as Pi Phi rush chairman and is the current vice president of social advancement.

After doing a great job as chapter rush chairman, Panhellenic elected Lori to its executive council as Panhellenic rush chairman. She will be organizing and implementing new ideas and programs at the University of South Carolina to upgrade the quality of rush for the rushee and the ten sororities on campus. Last year Lori was a cabinet member of Panhellenic, serving as the advisor to Junior Panhellenic.

Lori's involvement and enthusiasm has increased chapter participation in Panhellenic as well, as Lisa Elliot is the 1981 intramurals chairman and Suzi Hathaway is scholarship chairman, both cabinet positions. Several Greek Week committees are being chaired by members of the chapter also.

Lori was named Panhellenic Woman of the Month by Rho Lambda in October. She is active also in the College Republicans at USC and attended a regional convention in Charleston as a delegate for USC in April. On the side, Lori majors in health with the intent of continuing her education in the field of speech and audiology.

Easter Seal Executive Receives High Honor

Adele Ritchie Foschia, Maryland Beta, executive director of the Washington, D.C. Society for Crippled Children, was presented the Medders Award at the annual meeting of the National Easter Seal Society in Chicago in January.

Given to an Easter Seal executive who has been nominated by the local board of directors, the Medders Award is the highest honor that can be bestowed on an Easter Seal employee.

Adele started in 1962 with the society as a teacher of multiply-handicapped pre-school children. At the same time, she was a graduate instructor in special education at George Washington University. In 1975, with a seedgrant, she inaugurated the first comprehensive program for handicapped infants in D.C. and has continued it for the past four years. Since 1971, she has served on the Developmental Disabilities State Planning Council of the District. She is the only person to be reappointed continuously by the Mayor since the Council's inception. Within the Council itself, she has served as chairman of the protection and advocacy committee, the legislation committee, and the human rights committee, and has served on the executive committee.

Over the years, Mrs. Foschia has been a major force in Washington, advocating proper public school placement of multiply handicapped children.

Last fall saw the opening of an additional center serving 34 more handicapped children in southeast Washington and the purchase of the Kilby Treatment Center in Prince George's County, Md.

Her associates say, "Those of us who work with her on the board, the staff, and in the community all feel that the situation of the handicapped in Washington, D.C., is immeasurably better because of Adele Foschia."

Two Pi Phis were selected for the 1981 Sun Goddess Court as part of the St. Petersburg Festival of States celebration in Florida. Rosslyn Stanton left, is a Tennessee Beta at Vanderbilt. Karen Bolger, right, is a Mississippi Beta, although she now attends the University of South Florida. The Festival of States was held March 23-April 4, celebrating the end of St. Petersburg's winter and thanking her many visitors.

Holds Presidency of City Council

A Drury College Pi Phi alumna has made a major contribution to the city of Lake Charles, La., during the past four years.

Nancy Rose Freeman is her name, and she was elected as the first woman on the Lake Charles City Council four years ago. Adding to her distinction, last year the Council unanimously elected her president, the first women to hold such a position in that city.

Nancy is highly respected by the Council members as well as by the community. When she became interested in running for office, the tall, slim, attractive blonde said, "I have been interested in city government for some time, and I want to make a contribution to Lake Charles. I'd like to give something back to this community that has offered a comfortable, happy life to me and my family."

Nancy is married to Joe Freeman, a geologist, and they are the parents of two daughters, Julie and Sally.

Friends encouraged her to run for office and helped her during the campaign. It was when she actually became involved in campaigning that Nancy found out how much was demanded of a candidate. But she took this in her stride and planned a successful election through detailed organization as well as constant door-to-door campaigning.

During her tenure in office, she has served as vice president of the Council also, and has been a strong leader throughout the four years.

In addition to her accomplishments in office, she recently was selected Woman of the Year by the Lake Charles Jaycees. She has served on the Governor's Task Force for Louisiana Priorities for the Future, the board of directors of Family and Youth Counseling, the board of the area Agency on Aging, and the Parish Animal Control Advisory Board.

Nancy pledged Pi Phi at Drury where she was initiated into Missouri Gamma. Later she attended the University of Oklahoma where she received a bachelor's degree in education. She is a former teacher, has done graduate work at McNeese State University in Lake Charles, and has taught in several Louisiana school systems.

In her professional work, she was assistant editor of the Springfield News and Leader in Missouri and as assistant program director for KTTS-TV in Springfield.

Funds Raised For Memorial

by ROXANNA RIST

Oklahoma Betas co-sponsored a fund-raiser dance in memory of Tracey Waterfield Neilson last February, along with the Oklahoma State Sigma Nu chapter. The fund-raiser was open to the campus, with refreshments provided by local merchants and a charge to get in the door.

Tracey, from Canadian, Tex., was an active member of Oklahoma Beta for her first two years of college. In July, 1980, she married Jeff Neilson, a Sigma Nu, and they made their home in Moore, Okla. Last fall Jeff began medical school at Oklahoma University while Tracey continued her education as a physical therapy major at O.U. On Tracey's twenty-first birthday, January 5, she was killed in her home, while Jeff was in class. The case has not been solved.

Members of Oklahoma Beta want to express their love for Tracey and Jeff with a memorial. A trust fund has been Joyously receiving the first place trophy for Illinois Eta's Homecoming float at Millikin is Lynn Cocagne, who also was a member of the Homecoming court.

Liz Motter, New Mexico Alpha, has had an unusual summer job for the past two years in her home state of Texas. Liz is the first female roustabout for a major oil company in the West Texas area, and she claims it's a great way to get a tan!

established in Tracey's honor and the money will help finance Jeff through medical school. Contingent upon the final amount raised, future plans may include an on-going scholarship for a medical student.

Over $750 was collected at the door of the fund-raiser, and $300 was earned from the raffling of four dinners at local restaurants. Other donations are being sent in by Pi Phi and Sigma Nu alums, and friends of the families.

Amy Hollowell, Kansas Alpha, has been selected as one of three Fulbright Scholars at K.U. She will spend one year completing her graduate studies in Clermont-Ferr, France, as part of K.U.'s Direct Exchange Program.

Three Oklahoma Beta women were named among the Top Ten Seniors at Oklahoma State University. Megan Black and Barbara McFadden, above, and Kelly Hefner Shinn, right, leave the University with the highest of honors, thanks to their outstanding achievements during their college careers.

Fliers Aim High

by SUSAN HICKEY

Even the sky isn't the limit for two sophomores at Indiana Epsilon at DePauw University.

Susie Davidson first became interested in flying at age twelve. As a freshman, she took a month-long Pilot Ground School course and went on to pass the FAA examination. She flew her first solo flight last May, and continues to support this expensive hobby by typing papers for friends on campus. Susie, one of the few women pilots in the area, is also vice president of the flying club at DePauw. She is considering some field in aviation as a possible career, but, for now, considers flying a hobby.

Susie flies a low-winged Piper Warrior plane which she navigates by dead reckoning. This involves mapping out major cities and railroad tracks and estimating the time it will take to reach her destination. "It's not easy to get lost, although night flying is more difficult," she says. Susie adds that she hopes to fly a glider some day.

Kim Holycross, recently completed the Pilot Ground School and passed her FAA examination. She hopes to pursue her new hobby by logging the needed hours of flight time.

Stars On Campus Television

by MARILYN SELMAN

Bragging on sorority sisters is an every day activity on most campuses, and without a doubt, my roommate, sorority "Big Sis," and best friend, Debbie Ryan, Mississippi Beta, is an exceptionally easy one to inspire bragging.

In her senior year at Ole Miss, Debbie runs on a tight schedule of producing, directing, hosting, and acting on several shows for Channel 12, the campus television station.

Her favorite show, a budding new campus soap opera called "Cold Life," portrays a typical Ole Miss coed in every day situations, such as dating, roommates, and dieting, to which students can easily relate.

"Spotlight" and "Channel 12 News" are other broadcasts involving Debbie. She conducts a five minute feature interview on topics extending from Mardi Gras to campus politics. As both producer and hostess, Debbie does an excellent job.

Aimed at strictly female interests, Debbie developed her own show, "Woman Aware," which was selected by the faculty as the most outstanding program on Channel 12. Topics ranging from cooking to rape prevention interest and inform the Ole Miss coeds. As producer, director, and hostess, Debbie shows great potential to become a new face in the media.

VP Stimulates Scholastic Improvement

Ever since Linda Hagen took office as Vice President of Mental Advancement, Idaho Alpha has done nothing but improve. Just a few years ago the chapter was rated eighth out of nine sororities at the University of Idaho. Last semester they were second over-all among the twenty-six Greek groups on campus.

The pledge class has reason to be proud also. They were rated number one of all pledge classes on campus. Alpha Phi was second.

The chapter's seniors hold a cumulative G.P.A. of 3.227, the juniors a 3.003, the sophomores a 2.865, and the pledges had a cumulative of 2.944. The house average now sits at 3.02, only a few tenths of a point behind the leader.

Individual achievement in the house has shot skyward also. Of 73 women in the chapter, 21 are on the Dean's List.

Much credit is due Linda Hagen for her enthusiastic scholastic leadership.

Janie Holstien goes up and over on Up Front.

Wins Over 200 Awards On Horse Show Circuit

by JAN SCHWETHELM

Janie Holstien, Texas Alpha, a petite, soft-spoken junior at the University of Texas, actually has two places of abode—the Pi Phi house and the Switch Willow Stables.

Janie's love of horses began at an early age, but she didn't begin riding until she was about ten years old.

At first, she was afraid even to canter, but she quickly became active in the Cen-Tex Horse Show circuit. When she was twelve, she competed in her first one day show, and when she was fourteen, she received her first first-place ribbon. "I wanted to go out and celebrate, but you can't really do that when you're only fourteen," Janie remembers.

Janie competes in the hunter division of Cen-Tex which consists of a course of jumps. Unlike the jumper division, which is a high fence course run for time, Hunter is judged for its controlled pace, form, and manner of both horse and rider.

Up until last year, Janie showed horses that belonged to the stables. Last June her parents gave her "Up Front," a beautiful thoroughbred. During the year Janie has taught riding lessons to pay for Up Front's stabling and board. "it's a lot of work, but it's worth it," she explains.

It must be, for Janie was awarded the Major Wheeler Memorial Award for having the most total points for the horse and equitation for the circuit season. This is the biggest award Janie has earned.

Her favorite award is a cut glass pitcher she received for being the overall champion in the Amateur Division.

Throughout the years, Janie has acquired approximately 200 ribbons and an assortment of silver bowls, goblets, trays, trophies, jiggers, salt and peppers, and crystal.

When asked what she does with all of it, Janie simply replied, "Mainly I just store it away. But Mom uses a lot of when she has parties. It's kind of funny eating dip served out of one of my awards!"

Symposiums Involve Experts and Students

Two politically oriented symposiums highlighted the spring semester at Vanderbilt, and Tennessee Beta Pi Phis were involved in both.

Lisa Abrash, a senior from Birmingham, Mich., was on the executive council of IMPACT, a speakers' symposium which brings experts to lecture on topics of world importance. This year's symposium topic was "American Foreign Policy: New Directions for the '80s," and former Secretary of State Edmund Muskie and former American Ambassador to Iran, William Sullivan, were the key speakers. Lisa's role on the executive committee was to plan all banquets and luncheons for the three day seminar.

Elizabeth Smith, a senior from Waco, Tex., also was involved in a political project, this one called the Student Conference on World Affairs (SCWA). Elizabeth's work was with the executive council of SCWA, in which she was the only female member. She and other members of the Undergraduate Political Science Association, of which she is vice president, conceived the idea of SCWA and are responsible for carrying out the first successful conference. It brought together about 60 students from universities across the country for the exchange of ideas on topics of international importance. Each member of the conference presented a topic he or she had researched and expert speakers supplemented topic discussions.

Entertain Pi Phi Pops

Often in sorority life, the fathers are forgotten. So this spring Missouri Gamma hosted a Pi Phi Pops luncheon in their honor. Pops were invited to the suite for an afternoon of food and entertainment as an expression of appreciation for their support.

They all played the Newlywed Game, revised, and the girls found out how well the fathers knew the daughters—in some cases, only too well. The fathers also received Pi Phi Pops ball caps and party pictures were taken.

Pi Phi Pops provided a relaxing and meaningful afternoon for everyone and they were sorry to see the day end. But each could take comfort in knowing that there is always next year's Pi Phi Pops.

Earns Heinz Scholarship

Sharon Forbes, Pennsylvania Zeta, a junior at Washington and Jefferson College, won the 1981 Heinz Study and Travel Scholarship, presented annually to female students of area colleges on behalf of Mrs. Clifford Heinz of Pittsburgh.

Sharon is using her $2500 award to travel to Spain this summer where she will study the culture and language at the University of Madrid.

Pi Phi Becky Ellenberger was the runner-up for the scholarship.

Gayle Garrington and Kelly Williams, Maid of Cotton finalists.

Two Named Cotton Finalists

by SUSAN MCBRIDE

Roommates often have many common interests, but two Oklahoma Alphas have a common title as well. Kelly Williams and Gayle Garrington were chosen as two of the three finalists for Miss Maid of Cotton 1981. There were 160 applicants from sixteen states in the contest.

Both sophomores at Oklahoma University, Kelly is a pre-med major and Gayle majors in public relations. Both girls are from the Tulsa area, with Kelly hailing from Catoosa, Okla., and Gayle from Tulsa proper.

The contest, held in Memphis, Tenn., three days before the Cotton Bowl game kept Kelly and Gayle busy with a dinner at the Summit Club, a Rotary luncheon, photo sessions, modeling, and many interviews, including a talk show on WMC-TV.

"It was a lot of hard work, but it was a wonderful experience," said Kelly.

Gayle recommends the contest for a girl "wanting to discover qualities within herself while being with a fine group of women."

The contestants were judged on personality, poise, communication skills, and appearance. All clothing worn in the contest was 100% cotton.

To Dottie, With Love!

by SUSAN O'DAY

Dottie has been more than a cook to the New York Gammas—she has been a "mom." When we think of Dottie, we think of homemade soup, cakes and cookies from scratch, morning coffee in the kitchen, and joyful morning greetings. Dottie does not punch a time clock in the sense that when she leaves for the night, she leaves Pi Phi behind.

Dorothy Pitts, affectionately known as Dottie, has been a faithful and devoted employee of New York Gamma for twenty years. She began her long lasting relationship in 1960, when she started as a maid. In 1966, the Pi Phis recognized her culinary ability and hired her as their cook. For the past fourteen years, the women of New York Gamma have been enjoying the wonderful and delicious food prepared by Dottie.

As for Dottie, many a sleepless night has been spent wondering about the number of pledges the chapter received.

Dorothy G. Pitts is a concerned and loyal friend of the New York Gammas, and, on behalf of the St. Lawrence University Pi Phis, from the class of 1961 to the class of 1981, we'd like to say, "Dottie, we love you."

Three Realize Long-Planned Visit

by ROBIN GREENWAY

With pledging activities far behind them, but the spirit of Pi Phi still fresh, three California Gammas paid a long-anticipated visit to Holt House last fall.

The friends had planned since college days to see the origins of Pi Phi—this a result of inspiring lessons learned as pledges at the University of Southern California. To realize their plans, the three traveled a total of 5,000 miles! Domini Donlon Nash flew in from Los Angeles; Robin Greenway arrived from San Francisco, and Donna Duthie Mays traveled from Chicago.

They were not disappointed with their visit! The memoirs of the founding members, the enormous scrapbooks, the period fashions and furnishings on display, even the guest log, were touching testimony to the long and enduring bond of Pi Beta Phi.

Laughing, singing, snapping photos, and running between raindrops—the day at Holt House and Monmouth College passed much too quickly. But one good thing leads to another—the girls' next plan is to visit Arrowmont in Gatlinburg!

Wins Music Club Audition

by ANN DERSE

Nancy Elliot, Wisconsin Gamma, won first place in the Wisconsin division of the National Federation of Music Clubs student auditions in February. The contest was for 18-25-year-old female singers who lived or studied in Wisconsin, and the contest was held at Alverno College in Milwaukee.

Nancy won $135, personal and television performance opportunities, and advancement to the regional competition. She also participated in the Metropolitan Opera regional auditions in Milwaukee on the same day.

Nancy is a soprano voice performance major at Lawrence University and had a lead role in the Lawrence Opera Theatre's production of The Old Maid and the Thief by Gian-Carlo Menotti. She has been a soloist with the Lawrence University Concert Choir and performs in both Wisconsin and Illinois, her home state. She leads the Pi Phi chapter with a 4.0 grade point average and has won Pi Kappa Lambda national music honorary society awards for two years. She is also Pi Phi's Panhellenic delegate.

Nancy will be spending the fall term overseas on Lawrence University's Paris Seminar study program.

The annual Beaux Arts Ball in Oklahoma City recently honored twenty-eight young women, five of whom were Pi Phis from four southern universities. Bottom row: Pam Meyers, Oklahoma State; Kim Krogstad and Kelly Fitzgerald, University of Oklahoma. Top: Susie Hutchinson, Colorado State, and Jill Admundson, Arizona State.

Salutes Pi Phi of Week

In March, Kansas Beta began a new tradition. Recognizing the need to better inform chapter members of their sisters' achievements, goals, interests, and ideals, the Write-On Interest group established "Pi Phis of the Week."

Each Wednesday night the girls are given a ballot during chapter meeting, and asked to vote for the girl who should be recognized for her achievements of chapter support.

The first Pi Phi of the Week ever elected was Kathy Janne. Kathy was presented with a red rose during chapter meeting and a special letter of appreciation was read to her.

Kimona Design Recognized

Sandi Merta, Alberta Alpha, began her clothing and textiles career four years ago upon entering the University of Alberta's home economics faculty. She soon found her niche in surface design and has, in the past two years, established a bright future for herself. Accomplishments include her recognition by Alberta Culture Magazine for her striking kimono design. In a recent issue of the magazine, Sandi was pictured with her teacher, Bill Morton, kimono designer from Japan.

Sandi will be entering her silk screen and tjanting tool batik designs in an exhibition at the Ring House Gallery on campus.

Alberta Alpha is proud of Sandi's accomplishments and has benefited greatly from her creative efforts during rush.

Club Greet Patricia Neal

October was an exciting month for the Wichita (Kan.) Alumnae Club as they greeted actress Patricia Neal, Illinois Epsilon, and Xi Province President Lee Thompson Berger. Miss Neal was in Wichita after attending the gala dedication for the new School of Speech Theater and Interpretation Center at Northwestern University.

After attending a brunch at the home of Beth Fitzgibbon James in the morning, Lee, club president Jane Woolner Jackson, and several other Pi Phis attended the Town Talk, a local community group, to hear Miss Neal talk about her life. It was a memorable experience for all present.

New Singing Group Is Organized

by LINDY CORNELIUS

The musically inclined at Indiana Epsilon can now sing along with more than the radio, thanks to a new singing group formed within the DePauw chapter this spring. With a repertoire ranging from country to folk to pop music, gusto and harmony, and the back-up of either guitar or piano, a growing group of Pi Phis are getting together to sing, perform, and most of all, to have a good time. House favorites, including songs written by junior Tracy Cochran and sophomore Anne Gibbs, highlight the performances and add a special dimension for the kind of friendship and communication the chapter hopes to foster.

In their first performance outside the house, the group entertained Pi Phis and Kappas gathered for a fireside program preceding Monmouth Duo. Choreographed dancing complemented the singing, and the Kappas and Pi Phis chimed in for a chorus of "May the Circle Be Unbroken" to conclude the singing. All agreed that singing together brought everyone closer than any words could have.

Panhellenic Spirit Is Prevalent

by ELIZABETH BOH

The Pi Phis at Newcomb were busy this spring planning numerous fun events with other sororities.

The highlight of the month of April was Monmouth Duo with Kappa Kappa Gamma—a week-long celebration including a softball game, sorority-hosted lunches, the annual beer-and-crawfish party, and culminating in a formal dance at a downtown hotel.

New initiates sponsored a delicious lasagna dinner open to all fraternity and sorority members as a fund-raising event for their project, remodeling the chapter backyard.

Everyone enjoyed socializing with the local Kappa Alpha Theta chapter at a party in the elegant New Orleans home of a generous Theta active.

Monmouth Duo Is New At Ole Miss

This year at Ole Miss, Monmouth Duo was held for the first time by the Kappas and the Pi Phis.

The weekend started on Thursday with a barbecue dinner at the Pi Phi house. Following dinner on the patio, thoughts on the weekend were given by each sorority in the form of skits.

Friday morning the campus was covered with hundreds of helium balloons bearing the message of Monmouth Duo's arrival. The silver blue balloons were tied to everything—cars, trees, signs, and people. Unsure whether or not the message had been seen by all, a plaster bull, standing about fifteen feet tall, was rented and pulled around campus with a sign telling of the party to come Friday night.

If the bull didn't give it away, that party surely did. It was a western hoe down and the blue grass band made the atmosphere just right for either dancing the two step or just pulling up a hay bale and listening.

The weekend culminated with a formal dance in Memphis.

The entire weekend was a success, bringing together two groups of women for a wonderful first annual Monmouth Duo. The activity has been a tradition on many college campuses for years, and, though it has just been welcomed at Ole Miss, it looks as though it will be brought back by popular demand!

Wins Pageant Title

Miami University recently staged the annual Miss Miami Pageant, and Ohio Zeta Pi Phis were well represented. Mary Combs displayed her charm, poise, and talent before a large, enthusiastic audience, reciting a piece from "A Chorus Line" and answering challenging questions before a panel of judges. She earned the title "Miss Congeniality" and captured third place in the contest.

Junior Abby Turner coordinated and staged the entire production.

All-Sing Results In Special Bond

by MARY JANE BOWEN

Friday the 13th didn't sound like too promising a night to present the Greek All Sing at Memphis State University, but the Tennessee Deltas came through beautifully. Did they win? Well, they didn't take home the big, gold, first place trophy, but they did win their own heart-warming trophy of complete sisterly love.

Performing the night before Valentine's Day, the sisters sang a medley of love songs from the night's theme, "Songs of the Seventies," arranged by Theresa Brown and Donna Dixon. Dressed in blue satin dresses with red belts, highlighted by a red heart on the upper right side of the dress, and white gloves, Pi Beta Phi made quite an impression. Their enthusiasm combined with their dedication and pride to give them a flawless performance. Conducted by Aronda Allen, the Tennessee Deltas delighted the audience.

Did Pi Phi win All-Sing? Unfortunately, the judges didn't pick them for first place, but each Pi Phi knew that she had won something else that night. She had won the deeper love and the stronger bond that only two weeks of practicing, yelling, arguing, trying, and loving can bring.

Thus, the halos were evident as the arrow pointed the sisters in the right direction—winning All Sing wasn't as important as winning each other's love and respect.

And that we did.

Duo Celebrated For Three Days

by MINDY MOSKOWITZ

On Thursday, March 26, the Pi Phis and the Kappas at Dickinson College began the festivities for their second annual Monmouth Duo.

To begin the weekend, the women switched their sorority shirts. Kappas wore Pi Phi shirts with their sorority pin, the key, pointed up, and Pi Phis wore Kappa shirts with arrows pinned horizontally.

Friday was shirt day, and each wore her specially designed T-shirt. That afternoon the sixty-four pledges of both sororities did their philanthropy project and visited a nearby nursing home. After they returned, Monmouth Duo Weekend was officially opened with a special ceremony.

On Saturday were softball and volleyball games where sisters and pledges competed against each other. After the games, family functions were held. Each Pi Phi had a little and a big sister in Kappa and vice versa. Functions ranged from barbecues and dinners out, to picnics at nearby lakes.

One last event for the weekend was an all-college dance on Saturday night. The entire weekend was a huge success, with lots of fun for both sororities.

Attends Inauguration Activities

by SUSANNAH MARTIN

The inauguration ceremonies in Washington, D.C., in January were some of the most exciting moments ever experienced, according to Mary Kerr, Texas Alpha, who attended those fabulous parties.

On Monday, the day before the inauguration, a huge gala was held. Famous stars like Frank Sinatra and Johnny Carson were present, along with many other exciting personalities. There were eight performers at this gala. "It was just an all-around exciting evening; one that I'll never forget," says Mary.

Tuesday, January 20, brought with it many more exciting events. Endless numbers of people swarmed Washington, and each individual face revealed complete excitement. As President Reagan and Vice President Bush were driven down the street, eight police cars and a watching helicopter escorted them. "It was a sight to see, because all of the crowds were cheering as they rode by."

Later that day, before the inauguration balls, there was a fireworks display. Mobs of people, pressed shoulder to shoulder, stared at the sky. What beautiful sights they were seeing!

Mothers' Club Is Special Group

The California Eta Mothers' Club works very hard for the U. C.-Irvine Pi Phis.

The Balboa Bay Club was the setting of their first event last fall—the Parents' Brunch. Chapter President Julie Walker spoke and pledges were introduced, and following the brunch, the actives performed their theme day skits from rush.

For a Thanksgiving treat, the club baked pumpkin loaves for each girl. The recipe, from a Pi Phi alumna, was attached. At the Stocking Exchange in the winter, each chapter member received a stuffed angel ornament for her Christmas tree. In January, the Mothers' Club organized a family night at a UCI basketball game.

"I was so glad that I had a chance to rest before the balls that night, because I was in such a state of shock," Mary remembers.

Tuesday night was the big night, and the eight inaugural balls were finally a reality. Formally dressed people were everywhere, and "it was the most unbelievable and exciting event of my life," concluded Mary, with a far-away twinkle in her eye.

Patti O'Brien, Missouri Alpha, was the University of Missouri synchronized swim team's president this past year. A member of "Mo-Maids" for two years, Patti swims and "dances" while leading the team through several successful performances!

History, Special Food Presented By Expert

by BONNIE BAKER

On November 5, most of the Ontario Beta Pi Phis crowded together around the dinner table to learn about Estonia from our cook, Mrs. Kreek. Tracy Hood, former V.P. Mental, organized the dinner along with Mrs. Kreek. Tracy made place mats on which a map of Estonia was drawn.

Mrs. Kreek began the meal with an Estonian grace. A hot, spicy consomme was followed by a delicious type of mushroom pastry. The main course was lamb with vegetables and the dessert was a compote of dried fruit with whipping cream and a yummy cake dipped in rum. While we were eating, Mrs. Kreek entertained us as she relived her past, outlining the customs and history of Estonia with its unfortunate turmoil that lasted many years.

The dinner was a huge success. Everyone loved the food, and, more importantly, learned about a foreign country and some of its customs.

A card and a gift were given to Mrs. Kreek with thanks for her hard work in preparation for the dinner.

Lynn Banowetz and E.C. Sir Dawn +, her Half-Arab gelding.

Two On Show Circuit

Two Colorado Gammas are very much involved in the horse show circuit.

Lynn Banowetz's horse was awarded third place nationally in the Half-Arab English Pleasure Junior Exhibitor division of the American Horse Show Association (AHSA). The Horse of the Year award was given at an awards banquet in Miami, Fla., on January 9.

Lynn also was the proud recipient of two champion awards in Zone VIII competition (Colo., N. Mex., Ariz., Utah) on January 23. Awards are based on accumulated points from horse shows held throughout the year. Lynn, a rising sophomore from Fort Collins, has shown horses for nine years. E.C. Sir Dawn +, a 6-year-old Half-Arab gelding, is the other half of this successful team. Lynn hopes to compete in upcoming shows in the U.S. and Canada.

Carrie Marquand, from Bethroud, Colo., is interested in horses also. She has shown her Arabian horses in several states and has ridden Prince D-Amour in several of his championship shows. Carrie is working to receive the AHSA accreditation necessary to serve as a judge. She plans to show in the Arabian Gelding Pentathlon in Oklahoma this summer.

Appears With Dancers

Cheryl Kitchen, Michigan Gamma, danced with the Detroit Prentice Prancers Highland Dancers this spring in Dunedin, Fla. She was in the intermediate level in a dance contest sponsored by the United States Dancing Association. Cheryl has been dancing with the Detroit based group for seven years.

Golden Girls Sparkle

by SARA WEAVER

One of the highlights of Missouri football games is the half time show, when Marching Mizzou performs on the field accompanied by the dazzling Golden Girls. The Golden Girls include two sparkling Missouri Alpha Pi Phis, Kim DuBois and Sondra Mucke. This elite drill team performs choreographed jazz-dance routines for both Mizzou and the St. Louis Cardinals, as well as participating in fund-raising events.

To become a member of the prestigious squad, one must spend at least two hours a day at practice, as well as remain on a strict diet and exercise regimen, with weigh-ins each week.

Both Sondra and Kim find it challenging to be one of the twenty-four member squad.

"At first it was a shock to my system, going from high school drill team to a Missouri crowd of 72,000," says Sondra, a member of the team for a year.

Kim, a newcomer to the squad, adds enthusiastically, "It is truly exciting!"

Is Pageant Talent Winner

Donna Hatley, a spring graduate of Memphis State, represented Tennessee Delta in the 1981 Miss Memphis State Pageant, as she did in the 1980 Pageant. Donna won the talent portion of the program with a jazz dance routine to the music of "Steam Heat" and went on to win second alternate to Miss Memphis State. The following week, Donna placed third alternate in the Miss Whitehaven Pageant held at Memphis Preparatory School.

Awarded Scholarships For Theatrical Talent

Cindy Stokes, Colorado Gamma spring graduate, starred as Simone Evardi in Marat/Sade last fall. Her major in theater arts served as a pivot point for bringing out many of her talents. She was awarded the David Morris Memorial Scholarship for overall outstanding contribution to the University Theater. She also received a Creative and Performing Arts scholarship for all four years.

Cindy served as president of the Performing Arts Council which governs performances in theater, dance, music, and forensics. She was also on the board for Colorado State University productions as chairman of the arts committee. This group was instrumental in sponsoring a creative arts symposium—the largest student-judged art show in the western United States. She served as rush chairman last fall and has shared her talents and contributed a great deal to both Pi Phi and CSU.

Becky Ellenberger, Suzette Holiday, and Diane Tangalos at the Youth Inaugural Ball.

Three Attend Festivities

Three "political" Pi Phis from Pennsylvania Zeta—Becky Ellenberger, Suzette Holiday, and Diane Tangalos—took part in the inaugural festivities last January, and had a great time!

These three active members from the W & J College Republicans enjoyed trekking around D.C., celebrating the inauguration of President Reagan. The highlight of their stay, however, was the opportunity to attend the Youth Inaugural Ball.

At the ball, held at the Mayflower Hotel, the girls socialized and danced to a variety of bands.

A very special treat came for Diane and Suzette as they were sightseeing one day near the capital. They stopped to help a young woman with her luggage and Diane noticed her gold arrow. They send their regards to Indiana Zeta alumna Julie (?). That incident put a great topper on their trip.

"The hills are alive with the sound of music. . ." as are the hearts of Illinois Etas in their Homecoming talent show at Millikin.

"From Rags To Riches" Is Unusual Formal Meal

In February, the members of Michigan Alpha at Hillsdale College, enjoyed a very different but special formal dinner. The actives dressed in elegant evening wear and sat down in a beautifully appointed dining room, complete with candlelight and silver table settings.

Karen Boll, Vice President of Moral Advancement, and Barb Pickl appeared from the kitchen in tuxedos, followed by the serving pledges who announced the theme of the dinner was "from rags to riches."

Amidst laughter, Karen announced the first course was to be salade à la maison, and the dinner began! The next course, bouillon cubé, was served in a styrofoam cup containing hot water and a bouillon cube. The third delicious course was Beef and Vegetables in Brioche (beef pot pie), along with a generous serving of potato chips. An elegant dessert followed—Mousse à la Chocolate (pudding cups). Barb and Karen followed behind the servers offering whipped cream and a cherry to those who desired the additional calories.

Assorted candy finished the surprising meal and Pi Phi songs ended a fun-filled evening.

House Is Renovated

Virginia Gammas have adapted to many changes in sorority life this year. In the fall of 1980, while five of the nine sorority houses underwent renovation, those five sororities were placed in dorms in the brand-new Randolph complex. Virginia Gamma was located on the second floor of Giles Hall. Rush was held in classrooms instead of in the sorority houses for the first two days of parties, then the last parties were held in the new dorms and in the four houses waiting to be renovated in the spring semester. Acceptance Day activities took place in the Sunken Gardens instead of on Richmond Road, as in the past.

After a semester of adapting to dorm life, it was moving time again in January. Virginia Gammas are now happily resettled in their newly renovated house.

Two Succeed In Junior Pageants

Kelly Seachris and Lisa Dickerson, both 1980-81 pledges of Washington Beta, have received awards in state junior pageants. Kelly was Washington's Junior Miss of 1979 and Lisa was third runner-up in the Miss Washington National Teenager Pageant of 1980. In both pageants, contestants are judged on fitness, poise and appearance, creative and performing arts, scholastic achievement, and a judge's interview.

Kelly first competed in her home town pageant in Touchet, and after winning there, traveled to Pullman to compete at the state level. She was then crowned Washington's Junior Miss and received a scholarship and two weeks' travel to Mobile, Ala., to compete at the national level. During Kelly's reign, she traveled throughout Washington, Oregon, and California, making presentations at other pageants and conventions.

Lisa competed in the Miss Washington National Teenager Pageant held in Spokane. This pageant lasted three days and involved 62 contestants. Lisa received a scholarship, and trophy, and flowers for being named third runner-up.

Dominate Yearbook

Five Indiana Gamma seniors made headlines this year—quite literally! It all began in spring, 1980, when Sandy Nelson, a journalism major, was named editor of Butler University's yearbook, The Drift.

Unable to find interested, competent, dependable writers and photographers, Sandy finally turned to Pi Phi for support. Soon Karen Koehler, studying public and corporate communications, became Student Life editor, and Lisa Colvin, a dance major, was named Arts editor.

To complete her main staff, Sandy recruited the help of Kathi Hale and Susan Judy, both majoring in radio and TV, as photographers.

Butler, especially the Pi Phis, is looking forward to the best yearbook ever, thanks to the time and talent of these five Indiana Gammas.

Julie Nichols, Ohio Epsilon, has been chosen as the 1981 Pledge Camp co-director at the University of Toledo. Pledge Camp is a fall weekend designed to help orient to the Greek System newly pledged members of fraternities and sororities.

Sing With Choir

Four Washington Gammas devote much of their time to a singing group on the University of Puget Sound campus. Jane Knechtel, Miki Lundahl, Wendy Rolfe, and Lisa Annala are members of the Adelpian Concert Choir, a world-wide acclaimed group noted for its ability to capture audiences with its musical talent. The choir makes an annual tour, usually through the midwest and California, during the spring. Every third year the choir tours Europe.

Dr. Rogers has been directing the organization for forty-eight years. He is a highly disciplined individual who inspires creativity from each member. Hours and hours of time are contributed towards a common goal—to make music.

Attend Ball

On January 19, many Maryland Betas attended the Merchant Marine Ball in Bethesda, Md. This was the day before the inauguration activities and the chapter had been asked to help make the Merchant Marines' stay in Washington a little nicer by attending the ball.

Now some girls have steady pen pals with the young men from Kings Point, N.Y.

Spends Ten Weeks With Teen Mission

by JAMIE WINTHER

The impact and the growth of the born again Christian movement is being felt throughout the sororities all over the United States. The evidence of this new trend can be seen in the increasing number of sorority testimonies and Bible studies.

At California Epsilon, many Christians are beginning to speak up about their beliefs. One such girl, Amy Clark, decided to get involved and really show her dedication as a Christian.

Amy spent ten weeks last summer on a work team as part of an organization known as Teen Mission International. This organization sends 1600 students, ages 14 to 22, to fifty-four countries all over the world. Their main objective is to aid the Christian movement through evangelical teams and work teams.

Amy was part of a work team which consisted of thirty-six people. She grew tremendously through the program and has helped the chapter grow by sharing her experiences.

Is Intern In State House

Blair Meador, Kansas Alpha, was difficult to track down this spring as she served as a Legislative Intern in the Kansas House of Representatives in Topeka.

Blair was up at the crack of dawn each morning, commuting to Topeka, to find a very busy work schedule awaiting her arrival. Her duties included attending Senate and committee hearings, and keeping current on all actions taken on proposed bills. She was responsible for keeping her Representative up-to-date on the status of each of the bills as they passed through the House and Senate.

In addition to her duties, Blair had a great deal of independent research which she was to complete.

"It was a rewarding experience," said Blair. "It made me more of a patriot!"

Volunteers For Peace Corps

by PATRICIA O'DONNELL

Spring is a season for decisions for most college students. Questions such as: "Where do I want to live?", "Do I want to go to graduate school?", "What kind of job should I apply for?", are all running through their minds.

Few, however, choose the course that New York Alpha Karin Naslund has chosen. Following graduation in May, Karin left to join the Peace Corps in Guatemala, Central America. She will be working as a Conservation Extensionist, training local villagers in the techniques of managing and conserving natural resources through programs such as establishing a forestry nursery, developing tree planting programs, and implementing soil erosion control practices.

The working conditions that Karin finds in the highlands are conditions that most of us will never encounter. The places where she will be staying do not have any electricity or running water. For most of the next two years, Karin will be camping out or living in the same style as the Guatemalan natives she will be teaching.

"People don't take me seriously when I tell them I'm excited about going," said Karin. It was, of course, a very hard decision to make as she will not be returning to her Dunkirk, N.Y., home for two years. However, Karin feels that she is fully qualified to undertake her duties because of her degree in forestry/resource management from Syracuse. "I wanted a chance to use the skills I have developed and at the same time study the environmental conditions and culture of some other part of the world."

A great deal of her time will be spent in the field as the program realizes that many of the concepts cannot be taught in the classroom, but must be demonstrated in the field and accomplished through practice in planting, thinning, and observing the environment.

Karin was not worried about leaving. Her prime motivation for undertaking this endeavor is her desire to help other people. "I'm not only helping other people to make life better for themselves, I'm broadening my perception of a life and culture different from my own."

While her sisters in Syracuse will truly miss Karin, they admire her courage and drive and eagerly await the tales of yet another Pi Phi who has chosen a different path.

Entertain Parents

Parents' Weekend is always an exciting time at California Zeta, and this year was no different. Despite the rain which put a damper on plans for a picnic with softball and other games, they still had fun. The morning was filled with entertainment, including a slide show, skits from rush, and some favorite songs. Although it rained, the barbecue was not ruined because of a few "die-hard" dads who managed to cook the hamburgers between downpours.

That night everyone turned out in western duds to do a little "hee-hawing" and square dancing at the annual hoe-down. It was a great time to meet new parents, as well as to renew old friendships.

The weekend was topped off by a lovely brunch Sunday morning.

Longhorns Love Longhorn Luvs

by DIANE BERGERAC

Being a Longhorn Luv has made Suzanne Hebert's freshman year at the University of Texas a memorable one. The Longhorn Luvs is a group of twelve girls who perform dance routines at the U.T. basketball games. The Luvs also appear at various other functions throughout the year, including political rallies on campus, the competition of "Sing Song," a Dallas Maverick's game, and even special features for local news programs.

Suzanne has been taking dancing since she was five years old and she loves to perform in front of an audience. When a friend told her about the Luv auditions last fall, she decided to try out. Auditions lasted three nights and began with nearly 130 girls. The final night of auditions, the remaining girls were interviewed by the judges and performed original solo routines. The twelve winners were announced and a year of hard work and fun began.

Being a member of the group is very time consuming. They practice every Monday and Wednesday night and on game days they have morning practices as well. With all these practices, it's no wonder that the Luvs are such a dedicated group of girls.

Suzanne remembers the game nights as being exciting. The Luvs sit on the sidelines till half-time and Suzanne remembers how nervous she was until time to perform. "Once I was out on the court and dancing, I couldn't help but smile, relax, and have a great time," she says.

"Longhorn Luvs was a wonderful and exciting way to become involved at the University," explained Suzanne. "The hard work and dedication were a challenge, but the experience was a rewarding one. I have met some very special people that I wouldn't have met otherwise. Each girl on the squad had her own unique qualities, yet we all shared a certain closeness that enabled us to work as a team. The friends I've made and the great times I've had as a Longhorn Luv are things that I will never forget."

From Pi Phi Pens

Karen Walden asks difficulties of God, of herself, and of life and reveals herself in her struggle to find answers. Her opening poem states her dilemma:

Go away from me, Tomorrow!
I am frightened and will hide from you.
You force me to face my insecurities,
I am not prepared to face you.

In other poems she speaks of her vulnerability and asks for sunglasses and shade to protect herself from the exposure to the bright sun. She defines a risk as "the purposeful welcoming of danger;" Karen seems willing to take a risk in opening her vulnerabilities, emotions and questionings to her readers.

South Carolina Beta spring pledge, Barbara Jean Rhoads, is a Tiger Twirler with the Clemson Tiger Band. B. J. has been twirling since she was ten, and has won numerous trophies and medals. The Tiger Twirlers recently competed and won first place in the National College Line Twirlers contest.

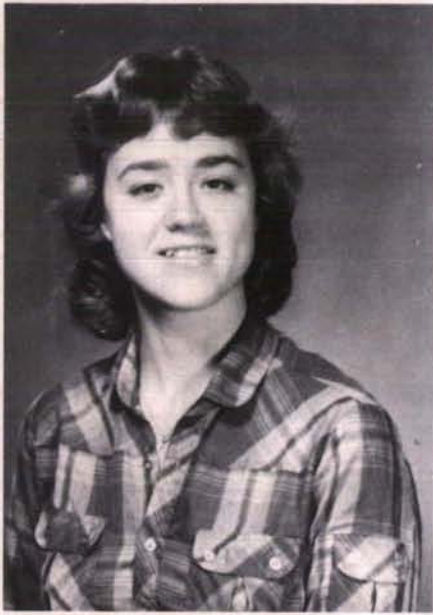

Alice Hartwell, Ontario Alpha, is a spring graduate from the University of Toronto with a Bachelor of Science in Forestry. In May she toured Finland studying forestry practices and after further touring she will return to Toronto to become a practicing forester.

It's difficult to ski without snow, but eight New Mexico Alphas made their planned skiing trip to Riudoso, N.M., nonetheless. In front of their cabin are, top, l-r: Carol Ingle, Jill Domina, Lisa Terrell, Bimi Lane. Bottom: Brenda Porter, Kristin Schultz, Lauren Greenwade, and Lynda Paulsen.

Lisa Brady, Wisconsin Gamma, has finished her second year as Editor-in-Chief of the Lawrence University yearbook. She handled an annual budget of $13,000 and served as liaison between the yearbook and the university on the Student Publications Board.

Leslie Wilson, Colorado Gamma, helps cheer on the Rams at Colorado State. A rising senior business major from San Francisco, she always wears a "cheery" smile also.

Gaby Waggoner, center with Johnny Reb, led the Mississippi Betas to the coveted spirit award this year. The Spirit Committee annually honors the sorority or fraternity displaying the most enthusiasm for the Ole Miss Rebels and the Pi Phis walked away with the honors and the trophy.

Indiana Gamma's Cami Slaby was one of thirty-three women selected as Princesses for the Indianapolis 500 Festival and race, thus making her eligible for the Queen position for the festivities. Cami will participate in various events during the season, including the 500 Ball and parade.

These four Oklahoma Alphas manage to keep very busy while serving on executive boards of several university activities. From the left: Tami Randolph, Greek Week and Sooner Scandals Exec.; Jennifer Eve, Sooner Scandals Exec.; Kathy Machal, Greek Week Exec.; and Jill Gail, Sooner Scandals Exec.

Indiana Epsilon had four freshmen make the Dean's List after first semester with grade point averages of 3.5 or better. They are (l-r) Kristen Peregrin, Julie Hornback, Debbie Schrier, Ann Schueler. (Photo by David Cislak)

Nine men have been honored by Alabama Beta as 1981 Arrowmen. They include Jay Stefanek, Barry Broutus, John McCune, Robbie Pierce, Joe Ward, Miller Williams, Mark Leach, Charlie Lorant, and Greg Ellis. The men were honored at a special dinner.

South Carolina Beta's past president, Laura Coy, is studying architecture in Genoa, Italy, as a graduate student. Laura was a "rally cat," represented the chapter in many beauty pageants, was on the Clemson student government, and was president of the Student Art League during her undergraduate days.

The "stars" came out the night New Mexico Beta and the New Mexico State Theta Chis held their social. Dressed as movie stars were Carl Skillman (Joan Crawford), Lauren Greenwade (Joan's battered child Christine), Carol Gillespie (Carol Burnett), Linda Harris as a famous director, and Jackie Jones as a soon-to-be-discovered starlet.

For Mrs. Mitchell, Grand Vice President of Collegians—To Add to Her Rock Collection
With Love and admiration, from Holly, Debbie, and Linda

Have you ever felt, really felt a rock?

It can be smooth or rough, but it is always solid, strong, able to endure.

A rock is proud. It does not hide behind a mask of mud, but juts out as if to say, "I am me, a worthy being."

A rock is so stable it will not run from you, but instead braces itself so you can lean against it for support.

A rock is forever.

It is simple,

Yet can have a seemingly complex exterior;
but a rock is pure.

Its identity is the same throughout.

The rock is so honest that a person can point to one and say with certainty,

"This is a rock."

A rock will last forever,

Only to be worn to sand by the richness of time.

I know a rock,

And I love her.

To Pi Phi Parents:

Your daughter's magazine is sent to her home address while she is in college and we hope that you enjoy reading it. If she is no longer in college, however, and is not living at home, please send her new permanent address to Pi Beta Phi Central Office, 7730 Carondelet, Suite 333, St. Louis, Missouri 63105.
