Perspective

A Shared Responsibility

In October, Pi Beta Phi assumed the Chairmanship of the National Panhellenic Conference.

From this leadership position, we reaffirmed our commitment to the principles expressed in the Panhellenic Creed—to promote good scholarship, good health, fine standards ... and to serve, to the best of our ability, the college community.

Since October, I've done a lot of thinking about what it means to promote good scholarship, good health, and fine standards. And I've done a whole lot of thinking about what it means to serve the college community. I've joked about which "hat" I should be wearing when the phone rings ... will this be a "good scholarship" call? A "good health" call? a "fine standards" call? Or will we be asked "to serve the college community"?

From the NPC perspective, the college community covers a lot of territory. The Conference is represented on almost 600 college and university campuses by 2,912 chapters. If we are to serve more than 250,000 NPC-member collegians and their broader college communities in locations from the University of Hawaii to the Universities of Alberta, Maine or Miami, Florida, and all of the campuses in between, thank heavens it is a collective responsibility. The obvious partners are the alumnae and collegians of all 26 NPC-member groups. In preparing for presentations last month at Penn State, Stanford and Pepperdine Universities, and at the Fraternal Law Conference in Cincinnati, it became apparent that we could not exclude from that responsibility the entity that should be our major partner—the college or university, our host institution. If we are to serve, to the best of our ability, our college community, it is essential that we have the support of the administrations in those communities in fostering the best relationships possible. Our members are their students—their students are our members. We have a shared responsibility.

—JEAN WIRTHS SCOTT
NATIONAL PANHELLENIC

If you believe the errant Greek behavior-related headlines in newspapers, it has become more of a challenge for universities than it has for us to maintain fair and equitable fraternity-university relationships. When something goes wrong, few newspapers or universities separate male fraternity behavior from female fraternity behavior, or individual behavior from group behavior. No matter what percentage of a problem rightfully can be attributed to an individual, or belongs at the male fraternity chapter doorstep, it becomes a collective problem. It's all Greek to them. When sanctions or policies like the following are imposed by universities on their Greek communities, they are imposed without thought to male or female, individual or group: banning membership all together, withholding affiliation until the sophomore year, establishing all-Greek Councils as the recognized governing bodies in place of College Panhellenics or Interfraternity Councils, demanding unrealistic levels of insurance protection to cover local liability, and requiring higher grade point averages for fraternal groups than other campus organizations. Those of us with enforced high standards, monitored risk management, and strong alumnae support are more than guilty by association. We are guilty by affiliation.

It's time for fraternity women to act and speak from a female fraternity perspective ... it's time to demand from our host institutions deserved recognition for our accomplishments and rightful respect for the things we do well ... it's time for NPC and host institutions to work together to foster better communication and productive relationships. We have a shared responsibility for serving the college community.

Lending a Hand to Others

by Marilyn Simpson Ford Fraternity Historian

For 128 years, Pi Beta Phi has made philanthropy one of its foremost reasons for being. It began in 1867 when our Founders wrote the Constitution of I.C. Sorosis. Included in that document's list of objectives was the "endeavor to dispel gloom from the lives of all around them."

Chapters early on followed that initial purpose, recording such activities as buying coal and paying rent for a poor man's family; distributing $5 among the poor; holding a charity fair in which $119 was cleared for the city relief committee; holding sewing bees to fill barrels with good clothing, and many other such activities. According to "A Century of Friendship," a donation to the Home Relief Society of Bloomfield, Indiana was accompanied by a note: "We, the I.C. Sorosis, deeming it necessary and well to assist in the relief of the poor and suffering, do tender the within (to the Society) to use as their judgement may dictate."

Our current Fraternity-wide Links to Literacy, designed to meet local club and chapter service needs, has a direct connection with many of those early local activities. A notable success was a "Mikado" production presented by Chi chapter at York, Nebraska. With the $100 raised, a library was started. That library was maintained by York Pi Phi for 10 years, and then presented to the city.

It was during the 1910 Convention in Swarthmore, Pennsylvania that the idea for a settlement school in the Appalachian Mountains was presented and accepted. The story of the extensive site search for the school is fascinating and is told in its entirety in "A Century of Friendship."

A committee of 11, chaired by Emma Harper Turner, was elected by convention to outline and develop the memorial to Pi Phi's Founders. Three of the committee, Miss Turner, Grand President May L. Keller and Anna Pettit, went to Knoxville, Tennessee after convention and began making trips into surrounding mountain districts. They studied conditions in several communities but did not include Gatlinburg. Only after a teacher, attending one of the meetings in Sevierville, urged a visit to Gatlinburg before making a final decision, that such a visit was made. May Keller made that visit alone.

Investigations in the area "showed abject poverty, hard living conditions, no sanitary provision whatsoever ... prejudice and suspicion consequent upon mountain isolation. Communities were torn by jealousies, factions and denominational wars. In certain instances, lamentable ignorance prevailed."

But the school finally opened in March, 1912, in an old school building on the site which later became the Arrowcraft Shop. Thirteen pupils were enrolled, but by the end of the three-month session, 33 had enrolled.

In 1915, emphasis was being given to the industrial side, with basket weaving, patchwork quilts and handwoven coverlets and blankets being looked at for possible sale.

"From the first conception of the Settlement School by Emma Harper Turner and the Washington, D.C. Alumnae Club, the idea has been to create a project worthy of dedication to our Founders and the founding of Pi Beta Phi." The dedication was planned for Convention 1917, 50th anniversary of the Fraternity. The war, however, forced postponement of that convention, so the presentation was delayed until the Charlevoix Convention in 1918.

The Settlement School (now called Arrowmont School of Arts and Crafts) is now Pi Beta Phi's major philanthropy and is one of very few outstanding institutions of its kind. It attracts an international student body and a renowned faculty and is a school of which Pi Phi can be most proud.

Pi Beta Phi in World War I continued its many philanthropic activities, doing its utmost to aid the vast effort being made on the home front. The Fraternity subscribed $500 to a YMCA/YWCA Friendship Fund and invested in Liberty Bonds. Chapters donated $10,000 in 1917-1918 for war relief. Club members worked in canteens, knit caps, scarves and sox, collected tinfoil and gold and silver trinkets, held financial drives, sent hospital supplies overseas and "engaged in

"The one word out of my heart to every other heart is—give all that you are and have, and this consecration will restore all that has been lost to you, to others, and the world—forevermore." Rosa Moore, Founder

The Collegiate News department focuses on how our chapters are making a difference through service. Here is a sample of what our alumnae clubs are doing:

Tidewater of Virginia ... Book reading for children's tapes

Washington, D.C. ... So Others May Eat (SOME)

Champaign-Urbana, Illinois ... Financial support to Crisis Nursery

Salem, Oregon ... provides books and service for "Mano A Mano"

Jacksonville, Florida ... Provides dinner and 10 videos for residents of Ronald McDonald House

Albuquerque, New Mexico ... "Warm Fuzzy Christmas Party" where members brought donations such as mittens and socks which were sent to a children's shelter

Mid-Cities, Texas ... Head Start Christmas Party

Bergen County, New Jersey ... Donated pillows for cancer patients

Lake County, Illinois ... Collected books and magazines for local retirement home

Akron, Ohio ... Mobile Meals

Rockford, Illinois ... Illinois Botanic Society

Colorado Springs, Colorado ... Colorado Springs Zoo (adopted an animal)

Denver, Colorado ... The Lighthouse (alcoholic halfway house for women)

Pueblo, Colorado ... Senior Citizens Group

Phoenix, Arizona ... Angel Outreach Program, collect clothes, toys, stuffed animals, coloring books, cribs and blankets to distribute to the needy dozens of worthy causes." A Pi Beta Phi House in Washington, D.C. provided a happy, comfortable, well-regulated home for young women, at $35–$40 per month, during a time when the city was deluged with war workers.

During reconstruction, the Fraternity, working in the National Health Program, provided speakers on health subjects for chapters, Panhellenic meetings and Associated Women Students meetings. Pi Phi supported projects to restore a French University, supported a chair at Madura College, India; raised funds for French and Italian orphans and for Disabled War Veterans. Chapters and clubs continued their altruistic projects as always, but took on the added responsibility of Pi Phi's great national project, Settlement School.

Today the ideals of our Founders continue to be the background for Pi Beta Phi's altruistic activities. Through Arrow in the Arctic, library systems in the Yukon and Northwest Territories in Canada are recipients of cash gifts each year. These gifts support the purchase of "talking" books, videos, reference books and audiovisual equipment. This effort began as a loan fund for students in schools of social work in Canada.

Holt House, our founding home in Monmouth, Illinois, continues to house historical displays and provides an attractive venue for local meetings, weddings, chapter initiations and celebrations. Furnishings include many authentic antiques of the Victorian age.

The Emma Harper Turner Fund, established in 1946, provides a small monthly allowance to alumnae in financial distress and is now under the aegis of the Pi Beta Phi Foundation. Currently, confidential gifts are being given to 15 sisters who are under duress.

Links to Literacy, established in 1990, has, at recent count, 79 alumnae clubs and 103 chapters participating. Projects include libraries in children's hospitals and in Ronald McDonald Houses, reading carnivals in elementary grades, tutors for adult reading, donating books for literacy councils, reading and math held for special education students. Links has answered the need for a Fraternity-wide service project.

Graduate and undergraduate student loans are available from the Fraternity any time during the year, for qualified applicants. Two graduate loans and five undergraduate loans were awarded last year. Between $119,000 and $120,000 academic and Arrowmont grants were made in the last two years.

And so, following the purpose set forth by our Founders, Pi Bet Phis of all ages continue to "promote the happiness of humanity." It is an object worthy of our endeavors and one that continues to inspire the efforts of Pi Phis throughout the world.

I wanted to make you aware of a new book that centers on women's friendships. The book "She Taught Me to Eat Artichokes," was written in memory of my mother who was a Kappa Kappa Gamma (Karen Green Van Hon, Iowa State '58). Mary Kay Shanley, a close family friend was inspired to write the book after my mom died from cancer. I would like other Pi Phis to be aware of the book, which I'm sure they will find inspiring.

Editor's note: Another member told us a little more about the same book.

Using the artichoke—whose petals surround its heart—as a symbol, the book ("She Taught Me to Eat Artichokes") traces the growth of friendship between two women, watching as they peel away the layers that surround each of them. The message is simple: if one devotes the time and makes the effort to develop a friendship, the rewards can last a lifetime.

Pi Beta Phi has served for me as the perfect example of reaching the heart of friendship. Membership in our sorority allows friendships to develop that are stronger than most others I have experienced. Certainly as each day passes, I feel closer to my Iowa Zeta sisters.

Mary Kay was inspired to write this book after her good friend died of cancer. The book is illustrated by award-winning artist Paul Micich, who also illustrated the most recent edition of "The Littlest Angel."

I personally find this to be a compelling, heart-warming story due to my many ties to the book. Besides Mary Kay being my Godmother, the book is published by my parents, Kathy and Denny Wagoner.

Your column ("From the Editor," Fall 1995) moved me today. Helping other females has been my priority for some time.

This last Labor Day, I found myself being verbally attacked by my brother's female friend. She chose to say, "You really haven't helped women at all in business—you're actually hindering them"

My retort was filled with emotion.

I've suffered through textbook sexual harassment, only to have women tell me, "You probably misunderstood him." I've worked in four male-dominated industries: agriculture, hunting and fishing, defense, and now automotive. One of the ugliest hurdles is successful women in those fields, who prefer to remain elite.

My goals as a professional, a female and a Pi Phi include helping younger women in my field avoid my mistakes and supporting female peers in their struggles. Perhaps they can succeed faster and go farther than me.

It's nice to know I'm not alone.

P.S. Perhaps we should put together a Pi Phi class and give those Citadel cadets something to celebrate!

From the Reader

In your Summer 1995 issue of The ARROW, you failed to give credit to Iowa Gamma writer Denise Handorf for her contribution to your spotlight page two article on Carrie Chapman Catt. Though some text was changed, much of the research about our famous alumna was gathered by Iowa Gamma. We are proud that Ms. Handorf's article was placed on page two. However, we regret that she and Iowa Gamma did not receive credit for their research and writing. In the future, we hope that such contributions will be recognized by the ARROW staff.

Editor's note: Several Pi Phis including alumnae and collegians from Iowa contributed information for the article on Carrie Chapman Catt. We regret not giving credit to those involved.

I was casually flipping through the Summer '95 issue of The ARROW when I came across a letter to you in which a woman was praising the quality of your magazine. She specifically mentioned the article about my sister, Amy Biehl ("A Journey For Justice" Winter '93).

Two years almost to the day of her death, Amy's memory remains alive in the hearts and minds of those of us who knew and loved her. What amazes me though, is the number of people who never knew her who continue to make reference to her story.

I thought it appropriate to share with interested ARROW readers that the Amy Biehl Foundation has been established and is actively promoting the causes for which Amy stood in South Africa and other nations around the world.

If any readers are interested in further information regarding the Foundation's efforts, they may write: The Amy Biehl Foundation, P.O. Box 14, La Quinta, CA 92253-0014

The Foundation looks forward to expanding its network of friends.

My wife is a member of Pi Beta Phi. She frequently shows me items of interest in The ARROW. I was particularly impressed with your article on Pi Beta Phi family ties in the Spring 1995 issue. The article gave an excellent picture of the beauty and importance of legacies. I have forwarded a copy to our General Headquarters as an idea.

By way of Pi Beta Phi legacies, I have quite a few in my family. My wife (Margaret Reynolds Hoge, Texas Epsilon) is a third generation Pi Phi, following her mother and grandmother. Pi Phis on my side of the family include my mother, a sister and three aunts.

At the Phi Delta Theta general officers' conference and conventions, my wife has a special group of friends who are Pi Phis and who make a point of getting together.

I was both impressed and inspired by all the Pi Phis in Politics (The ARROW, Summer '95).

Let's hope some of these influential women are supporting federal aid to developing countries.

I read my ARROW from my village in Mali, West Africa, where I serve as a Peace Corps volunteer. I have the privilege of seeing some U.S. funds where they land, and they are helping people, people with whom I live, eat, and laugh every day. I feel great pride when I see proud, hard working Malians effectively utilizing American funds, in coordination with their own, in the effort to improve their lives.

My Pi Phi friends have been an invaluable source of support and caring while I have been away—I can never thank them enough. To see the same care extended to my Malian friends is proof that our links can truly bind all of us together.

The CLEVELAND WEST, OHIO ALUMNAE CLUB donated more than 600 books to the Rainbow Children's Center of Lakewood Hospital in the Cleveland, Ohio area. The hospital board hosted a dedication ceremony and cited several examples of the use of the books in easing the trauma of children's medical problems. Inspired by the project, various community groups, including a children's choir, also contributed books. The members of the Cleveland West Alumnae Club plan to continue helping the hospital build its library as particular needs arise.

Tyler Pi Beta Phi Children's Memorial Libraries opened in 1995, serving children in the Mother Frances Hospital, East Texas Medical Center and the University of Texas Health Center in Tyler, Texas. The libraries are a project of the TYLER, TEXAS ALUMNAE CLUB and Foundation in memory of deceased members including Virginia Alpha Frances Connally Morriss, Texas Zeta Glee McCrary McKay, Texas Zeta Gleith Clark Cobb, Texas Delta Mahala Young and Texas Beta Ann Howard Brookshire. Housed in the children's wings of the three hospitals, the libraries' purpose is to encourage reading for education and entertainment among young patients and their families. The libraries are funded by the Tyler Pi Beta Phi Foundation which raised initial funds last fall by sponsoring a family fashion show. Pi Beta Phi alumnae and other hospital volunteers maintain the libraries, checking out books to young patients and their parents and reading to the patients. A reception honoring hospital staff and volunteers and Pi Beta Phi alumnae in celebration of the opening of the memorial libraries was held at the home of Phil and Jenise Hyde Hurley, Oklahoma Alpha.

Members of UTAH ALPHA are joining with other Greek chapters at the University of Utah to establish a tutoring program at Emerson School in Salt Lake City. The program is designed with the goals of helping young children increase their skills and interests in various academic subjects and encouraging these children to eventually attend college.

WASHINGTON BETA established Links to Literacy at Washington State University and in the Pullman community in 1995. Each chapter member invited a professor to dinner, with the dinner "fee" being a book. A presentation about Pi Beta Phi, the Washington Beta Chapter and Links to Literacy was given for the professors, followed by a tour of the chapter house. The books were then donated to adult literacy programs and small area libraries. Members of Washington Beta also began volunteering at Pullman's Sunnyside Elementary School. The chapter plans to make these Links to Literacy activities ongoing traditions.

The COLORADO ROCKY MOUNTAIN ALUMNAE CLUB OF VAIL donated proceeds from its annual wild rice sale to the Eagle County Volunteers for Literacy Program. This local literacy program is headed by club member Pennsylvania Gamma Colleen Geraghty Gray who is responsible for grant writing, training volunteer tutors, matching students and the day-to-day operations of the organization.

Members of TENNESSEE BETA at Vanderbilt University volunteer their time and tutoring services to elementary and middle school students, on an ongoing basis, at the Edgehill Center in Nashville.

Links to Literacy

The ILLINOIS ALPHA Chapter at Monmouth College has brought Links to Literacy to Pi Beta Phi's founding campus and community by conducting a weekly story hour for local kindergarten through second grade children. This Links to Literacy project is sponsored in conjunction with the Monmouth Public Library System.

CALIFORNIA BETAS at the University of California, Berkeley volunteer their literacy service by tutoring at the Washington Elementary School and by participating in the Big Brother/Big Sister program conducted through the local YMCA. The goal of this program is to build bridges between UC Berkeley students and urban children.

VIRGINIA EPSILONS of the University of Virginia continue their Links to Literacy Program by providing weekly tutoring through the Reading Partners Program at the Westhaven Community Center in Charlottesville.

Pi Phi at the College of William and Mary give one hour each week to children at a Williamsburg elementary school through the local Headstart Program. Members who cannot volunteer their time during the day volunteer their time during evenings to design activities for their sisters to take to the school and use with the children. The VIRGINIA GAMMAS have also joined with other Greek chapters to participate in the Adopt-a-School Program.

In 1992, the SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA AREA COUNCIL of alumnae clubs set a goal to create a library for the Children's Hospital of Los Angeles, patterned after Texas Children's Hospital that was established by the Houston Alumnae Club. At the present time, the Council has donated more than one thousand books and an anonymously donated book cart to make the library accessible to all patients. Each fall, the librarian provides a list of needed books to all Pi Beta Phi alumnae clubs that are members of the Area Council. Once the books are collected, members of the Area Council then take the books to the patients' rooms and waiting rooms and read to patients and their siblings. These Pi Phi alumnae also conduct evening story hours for ambulatory patients.

The PALO ALTO, CALIFORNIA ALUMNAE CLUB donated more than 250 new books to provide each of the 24 resident rooms at the Ronald McDonald House at Stanford with its own small library. Club members also furnished three playrooms at the House with "like new" Caldecott and Newberry Award winning books.

Arrowmont

National Award of Distinction By the American Craft Council

During its golden anniversary year, Arrowmont was recognized as an institution "representing the highest levels of artistry, innovation, education and service" by the American Craft Council. The school was presented with an Award of Distinction October 7, at the St. Petersburg Museum of Art during an annual ceremony honoring 15 recipients of the prestigious A.C.C. Awards.

In its magazine, American Craft, the American Craft Council explained that Arrowmont is "a true southern institution that traces its roots back to 1912, when Pi Beta Phi Fraternity founded a settlement school ... to provide education and health care to southern Appalachian families ... Arrowmont each year offers courses to several thousand students of all ages and backgrounds, taught by world-class visiting faculty, and hosts national conferences, seminars and other events."

Fiber artist Jane Sauer, who has taught often at Arrowmont, seemed genuinely honored to present the award to Arrowmont Director Sandra Blain. "Probably about 200 people were in the audience," said Sandy who attended the ceremony with Board member Deborah Johnson from Sarasota, Florida.

"The applause seemed loud and genuine, because I discovered at the reception that an awful lot of people in the audience had either taught at Arrowmont, attended Arrowmont as a student, or been a part of our New Form/New Function juried shows. It is always interesting to see where people know us from, and that show, through the years, has brought us great visibility."

Sandy added that it was exciting to meet so many people who, she never realized, have taken classes at Arrowmont. "They're so excited to see the recognition we're getting, because they had gained so much from being at Arrowmont." Their outpouring of congratulations came during the reception, and Sandy remarked that it was gratifying to see "so many people there who are supportive of our efforts."

After returning home with the award, Sandy summarized her feelings about the evening. "I felt that we were with an elite group (of award winners). I know that a few visual arts schools have won the award in the past, but I felt not only that it brought recognition for Arrowmont, which has certainly been in existence a long time, but it has proven that we have had quality faculty members and quality programming not just for ten, but for many, many years."

The American Craft Council is a non-profit educational organization comprising the American Craft Association, American Craft Enterprises, American Craft, American Craft Publishing and the American Craft Information Center.

Pi Phi Arts Weekend Schedule Announced

Arrowmont announces seven workshops for its sixth annual Pi Phi Arts Weekend scheduled May 2-5, 1996. Courses are two days in length, Friday and Saturday, and require students to be in class during the mornings and afternoons. Evening slide programs, followed by independent work in the studios, will give students a chance to further explore their medium and gain insight into other creative areas of study.

Primarily for students at beginning and intermediate levels, the classes consist of Drawing in Black/White and Color taught by Mimi Schleicher, Weaverville, North Carolina, Shibori, a Japanese tie-dye technique taught by Ann Norris, Huron, Ohio, Wicker Basketry taught by Lee Zimmerman, Monoprinting taught by Christine Zoller, Smithville, Tennessee, Memorabilia Collage taught by Ellen Zahorec, Cincinnati, Ohio, and Introduction to Woodturning taught by Rodger Jacobs.

A tuition charge of $120 covers the cost of the hands-on studio experience, and room and board packages start at $84. Housing is available to enrolled students and guests in the form of single, double, triple and dormitory rooms. The deadline for registering is Friday, April 5, 1996. Class sizes are limited. For information write to Arrowmont School, PO Box 567, Gatlinburg, TN 37738 or call (423) 436-5860.

Arrowmont Thanks Faculty with a Gift of Time

If you wanted to give a gift to a teacher for years of dedication, what would it be?

Aware that instructors come to Arrowmont, hurriedly make friends, and then must leave, Arrowmont decided to give them a gift of time. Called Mapping: A New Millennium, the one-of-a-kind week was organized by Arrowmont as a tangible way of thanking its faculty during the school's golden anniversary year.

Invitations were sent in 1993 to 600 past faculty members. "To all of you who have helped establish Arrowmont as one of the leading visual art schools in the country, we invite you to work collaboratively in the studios." The familiar teaching role they've had would be reversed, allowing the opportunity for fresh, spontaneous discovery of materials and ideas in a supportive environment of friends and peers.

Forty-five artists agreed to be on hand May 26–June 2, 1995 for what would be a rejuvenating week characterized by laughter, artmaking, and question-raising.

Faculty enjoyed free access to studios and facilities, free room and board, and no demands outside of breakfast, lunch and dinner.

Athens, Georgia textile designer Ed Lambert took a break from printing fabric to say, "It's sort of like the opportunity of a lifetime. You know, not having to worry about the phone, not worrying about answering questions. Everything has been taken care of, so it is really pretty wonderful."

Seeing artists work in divergent ways with identical materials was another highlight of Mapping. "I think that that was beneficial to all of us," Ed stated, "because we all approach things from a different direction. We get so immersed in our approach that we forget there are other people out there working in totally different ways."

After watching Shorewood, Wisconsin surface designer Marna Brauner playfully rip up her freshly printed yardage, Ed said he began to ask himself some positive and negative questions. "Is my way the best way? Why do I do it this way? (Marna's) is a great approach, and it does take some nerve. It's the sort of thing you encourage students to do."

Edwina Bringle, a fiber artist from Charlotte, North Carolina said, "The nice thing about being here with all the faculty is you can go to somebody and say, 'Critique me. Give me some feedback.' As a university faculty, I don't get that!"

The Mapping invitation "was such a gift," she continued. "To be able to have time to be at a place and work, and not have to be 'on tap' (for students) the whole time ... changes your mode of thinking."

The impression that faculty were rediscovering the excitement of being students was not lost on Pickens, South Carolina quiltmaker Ellen Kochansky. "The mission that every school should have, as much as the obvious one, is to teach the teachers. We can't all teach each other in a formal way ... because classes don't always fit our needs, but Mapping has fit everyone's needs in ways that we wouldn't have imagined. And the blessing of ... having nothing but your own directions and each other's influences to dwell on is just a real rich opportunity."

Of her own experience, Worthington, Ohio basketmaker Dorothy Gill Barnes said, "This has been a special time for me. It's also given me the chance to get to know artists like Joan Michaels-Plaqué. I used her book (about knotting) for years, and I thought, 'Oh, wow! I'm really going to meet her.' So I've had a good week." Dorothy concluded. "This was a really nice gift to the faculty. It makes you feel like it's important for you to be a teacher."

Golden Anniversary Year Featured Cake and Ice Cream

Birthday cake and ice cream were served in the resource center every Tuesday night during the 1995 Summer Workshops, as well as during the Spring Workshops and all Elderhostel Programs. After seeing vintage photographs of Arrowmont's history during a Sunday night 50th anniversary slide show, students were encouraged to take a break from Tuesday classes for an old-fashioned birthday celebration.

The golden anniversary year saw 85 Friends of Arrowmont and other named scholarships go to deserving students, while another 45 students attended Arrowmont as either studio assistants or work study students.

The school offered several courses taught by two instructors, and team-taught workshops will increase in 1996. The number of stone carving workshops tripled in 1995, and polymer clay classes were added to the school's curriculum. Support for all of these new offerings was enthusiastic. In 1995 students came from as far away as Australia to study with Arrowmont's distinguished faculty.

TOP CENTER: Akemi Nakano Cohn, Barbara Lee Smith, and Majorie Claybrook experiment with printing, layering and adding structure to translucent fabrics.

Resident Artist Program Enters Fifth Year

With the arrival of four new resident artists last September, Arrowmont's Artists-in-Residence Program entered its fifth year. All four artists quickly became involved in numerous Arrowmont activities such as the school's Rural Outreach Program. They taught evening community classes for adults last November, continue to visit area schools, and have been teaching children and young adult art classes on Saturdays.

Ceramic artists Carol Gentithes and Fred Johnston are the first married couple to participate in the program. Carol, who hand builds whimsical figures in clay, has a B.A. in literature from Duke University and a B.F.A. from the New York State School of Art and Design at Alfred University. Fred has apprenticed as a potter in North Carolina and holds a B.F.A. from the New York State College of Ceramics at Alfred University. He received his M.F.A. from the College of Art and Architecture, Pennsylvania State University.

Vicki Jensen, who works in textiles and weaving design, recently earned her M.F.A. in fibers from Arizona State University. She is Arrowmont's Trabue Scholar for 1995-96.

Morgan Owens, who is working on a series of paintings at Arrowmont, is from North Dakota. For the past five years he was enrolled at the University of North Dakota where he earned a B.F.A. with specialties in painting and printmaking.

Pi Beta Phi Foundation
Update
Honor Roll of Donors

Message from the President

"The Pi Beta Phi Foundation is committed to fund programs which promote the intellectual, ethical and leadership development of members of Pi Beta Phi Fraternity and, through its philanthropic efforts to benefit the larger society."

—Mission Statement

Philanthropy is defined as the spirit of active good will toward one's fellow man. Greek charitable foundations evolved from the call to serve both their own members and the broader world. This is indeed what Pi Phis do.

We serve our members through scholarships and emergency financial assistance; leadership education for our chapters; clubs and fraternity officers; and through other educational programming.

We benefit our members and "the larger society" with our Pi Beta Phi philanthropies such as Arrowmont School of Arts and Crafts and Links to Literacy.

We enrich the entire society through the experienced, well-prepared leaders who leave our chapters and go to communities around the country and around the world where they become caring, involved civic leaders. The old adage, "charity begins at home" is true. First our members serve Pi Phi, then they serve the world around them.

1994-95 has been a "coming of age" year for the Pi Beta Phi Foundation. Transfers from the Fraternity of the Emma Harper Turner Fund and the Friendship Fund, our annual fund-raising program, have been completed and incorporated into the Foundation. The Campaign for Arrowmont, a $2.3 million capital and endowment plan, has topped its goal and continues to grow.

The Pi Beta Phi Foundation has established a strong base upon which to develop continuing support of Fraternity educational programs.

As we move toward the future, Adrienne Hiscox Mitchell assumes the presidency of the Foundation. Adrienne served on Grand Council for 12 years and has chaired several special committees for the Fraternity. She has been secretary of the Foundation since its inception in 1990. We are fortunate to have her leadership and continued service.

LEADERSHIP ENDOWMENT

Fondren Foundation

New Permanent Endowments Established

Three permanent endowments supporting scholarships and leadership education were established during the 1994-95 fiscal year. To create a permanent endowment, a donor must pledge a minimum of $25,000 over a three-year period. The donor may name the fund and choose to restrict the gift to a particular program in support of the Foundation's educational mission. The gift is invested and only the income is used to fund the chosen program.

The Fondren Foundation of Houston, Texas has the distinction of establishing the first two chapter leadership endowments under the Pi Beta Phi Foundation program to provide all chapters with leadership funding. Income from the Texas Alpha Leadership Fund (University of Texas) and the Texas Beta Leadership Fund (Southern Methodist University) will support leadership education for collegians from the two chapters.

Joyce Wherritt Bowers, Utah Alpha, has established the Joyce Wherritt Bowers Scholarship. This permanent endowment will award a scholarship available to Pi Phi juniors demonstrating high academic achievement. The first $1,000 scholarship will be granted for use in the 1997-98 academic year. Joyce has made the gift in memory of her mother Lucille Raddatz Wherritt, Utah Alpha.

Jo Ann Minor Roderick, former Grand President, has been honored with an undergraduate scholarship bearing her name. The award was established through gifts from William and Lou Ann Montgomery Carter, Oklahoma Alpha; the Miriam E. Williams Estate, Illinois Epsilon; and Foundation unrestricted funds. This scholarship recognizes the special bond Jo Ann enjoys with the collegians and will be awarded for the first time in the 1996-97 academic year.

New Scholarship Fund Established

The St. Louis, Missouri Alumnae Club and Sign of the Arrow established an expendable restricted fund, making it possible for the Foundation to award two $2,500 undergraduate scholarships for the 1995-96 academic year and two $2,500 undergraduate scholarships for the 1996-97 academic year.

Marianne Reid Wild Society

Membership in the Marianne Reid Wild Society recognizes donors who have made a planned gift commitment to the Foundation through a will, trust or insurance policy. Listed here are Society members as of June 30, 1995. Charter members are noted with *, deceased with +.

Emma Harper Turner Fund

This fund provided

"gifts of love" for 15 Pi

Phis in financial crises

during the 1994-95

fiscal year. Sponsored by Pi Phi friends, these alumnae received confidential assistance as authorized by the

Emma Harper Turner

Fund Committee. The

immediate goal for this program is to increase the amount of financial aid available to deserving alumnae.

Leadership Education Endowments

Leadership is a major component of Pi Beta Phi's educational program for collegians. To ensure the development and expansion of quality training, the Foundation has created the Leadership Endowment Program. Texas Alpha and Texas Beta Chapters are the first recipients of chapter endowments which will allow more members to participate in leadership education.

Speakers Provide Educational Opportunities

The Foundation provides educational opportunities to Pi Phis by funding speakers at Pi Phi's

Leadership Seminars and biennial conventions.

United States Senator Kay Bailey Hutchison and Vice President of Student Affairs for Arizona State University Christine Kajikawa Wilkinson, Ph.D.

were featured speakers at the 1995 Convention.

Dr. Wilkinson was the first speaker to be sponsored by the Peg Houston Speakers Fund. Here is what collegians and alumnae had to say: "I thought Kay Bailey Hutchison and Christine Kajikawa

Wilkinson were excellent. I appreciated having someone of Senator Hutchison's stature and national prominence share her views on women in this country. Having a university administrator was an appropriate mix for our interests;" "I loved having Pi Phi keynote speakers!" and "Continue having prominent Pi Phi speakers. [It] adds variety to program and instills pride."

Scholarship Program

The Scholarship

Program remains a priority for the Foundation and new endowments are being sought. More than $53,000 in scholarships was awarded to deserving Pi Phis during the 1994-95 academic year—more than in any previous year.

Selection for undergraduate and alumnae scholarship and graduate fellowship awards is based on need, academic performance and service to the community and Pi Phi.

Your gift to the Foundation will ensure the success of this valuable program which exemplifies the principles of Pi Beta Phi.

Campaign for Arrowmont

A Promise Fulfilled

When the Arrowmont Board of Governors and the Pi Beta Phi Foundation embarked on the $2.3 million Fulfilling the Promise—A Campaign for Arrowmont, they did so with great vision and equally great expectations. Today, we celebrate the fulfillment of that promise. Campaign pledges and gifts are in excess of $2.5 million, and Arrowmont can go confidently forward to fulfill its promise of excellence in art education.

The Board of Governors identified six campaign priorities: a new dormitory, an Artist-in-Residence Program with accompanying physical facilities, improved studios for wood, painting and drawing, increased art education for children, and an endowment for the gallery. As the Campaign developed, original plans to remodel the existing wood studio grew into plans for a new state-of-the-art studio, and plans to endow the gallery grew to include documentation and preservation of Arrowmont's permanent collection.

The Pi Beta Phi Foundation and its Campaign Committee designed their efforts with "friendraising," as well as fundraising, in mind. Personal contact with members of the Fraternity, and with Arrowmont's students, faculty, visitors and the many friends beyond the campus was a priority. This broad-based constituency led the Campaign toward an incredible milestone—a first in Fraternity and Arrowmont fund-raising history.

DORM DESIGNED FOR EXCELLENCE

Supported by more than $1.3 million in gifts and pledges, Arrowmont's new 11,270 square foot dormitory is the recipient of two first place awards from Gatlinburg's Environmental Design Board. The facility is recognized for excellence both in its architectural and landscape design.

Built in two wings, the dormitory is named Hughes Hall in recognition of a substantial gift to Arrowmont from the estate of Margaret Elkins Hughes, Kentucky Alpha. One wing, named in honor of Jean Wirths Scott, Pennsylvania Beta, past Grand President and Campaign Chairman, includes a lounge with fireplace, guest apartment and spacious screened porch. The second wing contains private accommodations and honors Past Grand President Emeritus Marianne Reid Wild, Kansas Alpha. The wings are joined by a covered walkway that spans a small creek. Landscaping incorporates native plants that blend the buildings with their Smoky Mountain surroundings.

Donors of significant gifts are recognized within the dormitory in the following areas: Nashville, Tennessee Alumnae Club—the lounge area, apartment, sculpture garden and landscaping; Kansas City, Missouri-Shawnee Mission, Kansas—the front porch; Combined Alumnae Clubs of the Fraternity—the Founders' Floor; Nancy Fawn Wilkerson Diehl, Tennessee Beta and Jane Wilkerson Yount, Tennessee Beta; The Clinton Clan; Pennsylvania Beta Chapter and alumnae; Nancy Johnston Records, Oklahoma Beta and Martha J. Johnston, Oklahoma Beta; Sue Hackleman Taylor, Oklahoma Beta; Kansas Alpha alumnae "Sit 'n' Stitch" group; in honor of Indiana Gamma and Indiana Epsilon Chapters; in honor of Helen Anderson Lewis, Kentucky Alpha; in honor of Ann Dudgeon Phy, Texas Alpha; and the Pi Beta Phi Foundation—each with individual bedrooms.

The new facility expands campus housing by 40 bedrooms and, within months of opening, became the key to the expansion of program offerings and the attraction of a larger enrollment.

Of the six campaign components, the dormitory received the highest percentage of support from the Pi Beta Phi donor constituency and is close to 100% funded by members of the Fraternity. An opportunity still is available for donors to be recognized or to name rooms in memory or in honor of someone they choose.

RESIDENT ARTIST PROGRAM—A REALITY

As artist-in-residence programs became increasingly popular in the field of arts and crafts, a residential studio building and scholarship assistance became a pre-campaign vision for Arrowmont. Generous gifts to the Campaign have made that possible, and a five-studio building and a fully-funded scholarship program for residential artists now are part of the Arrowmont curriculum.

From all corners of the country, pre-professional artists are attracted to Arrowmont's nine- to eleven-month residency program. Facilities accommodate up to five artists per session, and the program offers an opportunity for the self-directed craftsman to benefit from resource center materials, and from interaction with the ever-changing student body and faculty. Participation in conferences, Elderhostel, community and children's classes, and outreach to the rural elementary schools adds to the unique experience.

Scholarships have been endowed through the generosity of donors to the Marianne Reid Wild Memorial Scholarship, the Trabue Professional Program for Women, and by alumnae of the Virginia Alpha Chapter. An individual studio recognizes gifts from Lucinda Trabue, Tennessee Beta, Lillian Dale Trabue and Mary Dale Trabue Fitzgerald, Tennessee Beta. Studios still are available to be named in recognition of special gifts toward the endowment of the program.

STUDIO SPACE EXPANDED

An early gift of $100,000 from the St. Louis, Missouri Alumnae Club and its Sign of the Arrow retail shop provided early encouragement for Arrowmont to proceed with its plan to accommodate artists working with large pieces or using innovative techniques in two-dimensional media. A new 2,300 square foot painting studio became a welcomed addition to the school's studio facilities. It bears the St. Louis and Sign of the Arrow names.

As gifts of all sizes from individuals and an independent foundation followed, an existing studio was renovated to accommodate classes in drawing. In recognition of leadership generosity, a plaque in the drawing studio bears the names of: the Clowes Fund; Miriam Herron, Illinois Eta; Adrienne Hiscox Mitchell, Kansas Alpha; Patrick Roddy III Family; and Ruth Brooks Muir, Florida Alpha. An adjoining studio remodeled for paper arts completes the three-studio complex.

Gifts exceeded expectations in this area and have allowed Arrowmont to expand program offerings, maximize studio space, and provide flexibility for students interested in two-dimensional art.

A "CHALLENGE" CHALLENGES WOOD PROGRAM

A modest plan to remodel the existing wood studio became the Campaign's biggest challenge, in word and in deed. The Windgate Charitable Foundation of Bentonville, Arkansas, believing that Arrowmont's wood program deserved more, offered a $352,500 challenge grant with the understanding that within one year, matching campaign funds would be sought to build a new state-of-the-art facility.

Accepting the challenge, fund raising began and plans were drawn for an 8,900 square foot complex containing three studios (woodturning, large object/furniture construction, and carving), a finishing room, auditorium, gallery, customized indoor catwalk for overhead visual access, studio/office and an interior courtyard for critique and discussion sessions.

Donor generosity guaranteed matched funds within the year, and campaign efforts shifted from "meeting the challenge" to "building the building." Ground was broken in September 1995 for a $1 million wood studio, and fund raising continues toward that goal.

Included among the hundreds of donors who are providing a modern studio and guaranteeing Arrowmont's premier place in wood education are those who will be recognized in the following areas: Jerome Drown—wood gallery; Sue Ralston Lanphere, Oklahoma Beta—finishing room; Arkansas alumnae—courtyard; Nashville, Tennessee Alumnae Club—auditorium; Harold and Joanne Hunt Hook, Missouri Alpha; Harold and Sarah Holmes Hunt, Wyoming Alpha; Don and Pamela Whitelock Mauldin, Texas Beta; Bruce and Lois Hoskins; and the Dallas, Texas Alumnae Club—each with individual studio stations. Additional leadership gifts have come from Robyn and John Horn, the Goldsmith Foundation, and the Windgate Foundation. A brick woodworker's walk at the entrance to the building is being provided by gifts from wood craftsmen across America.

CAMPAIGN BENEFITS CHILDREN

Donors with gifts of more than $85,000 to the Children's Program have renewed Pi Beta Phi's commitment to local education, a commitment first made during the days of Settlement School in 1912.

Rural area school children are enjoying the benefits of a three-component program that includes outreach, scholarship assistance and the "Children's Corner" of resource materials in Arrowmont's library. They receive an exposure to art not otherwise accessible through the public school curriculum.

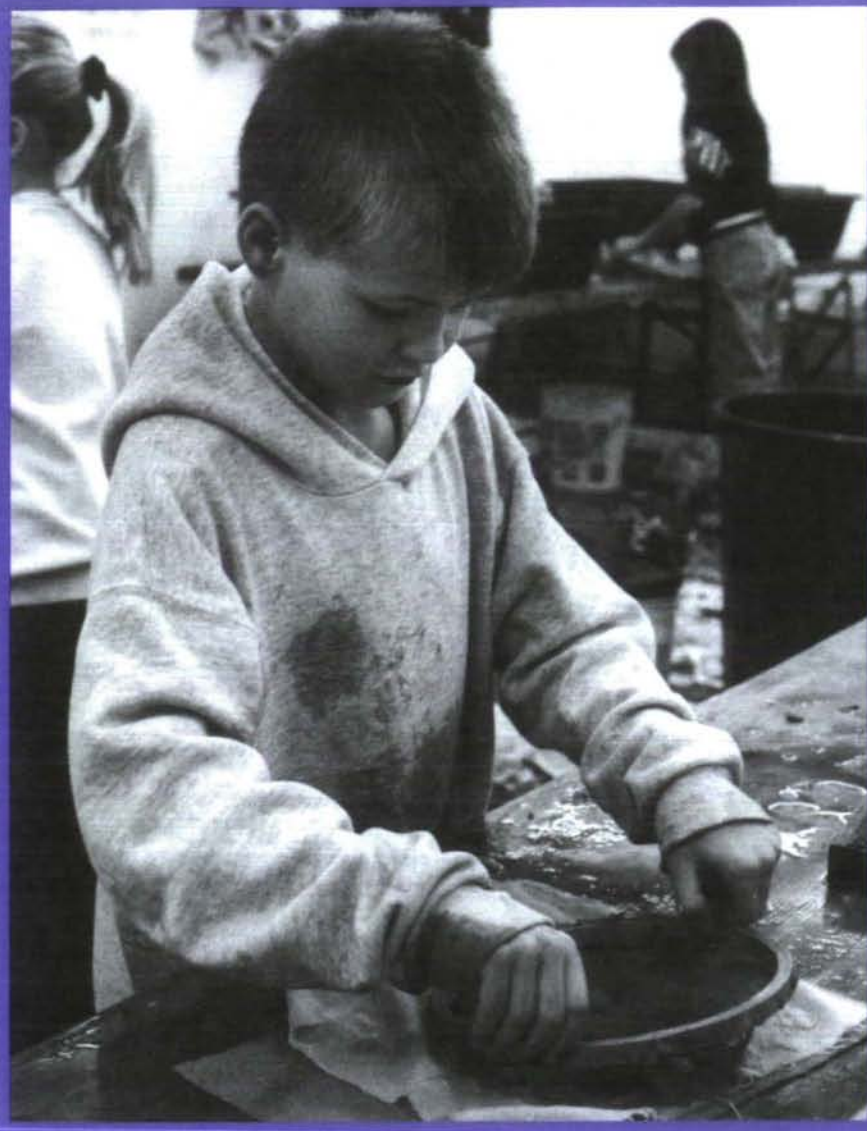

Leadership donors recognized as they help to instill feelings of pride and accomplishment in the young are: Dallas, Texas Alumnae Club—the rural outreach program; Houston, Texas Alumnae Club—the "Children's Corner" of the library; Kevin G. and Janice Kincaid Clifford Family, Indiana Delta—scholarship endowment.

GALLERY AND PERMANENT COLLECTION GAIN NEW RECOGNITION

Campaign gifts have helped to establish a full-time Gallery Coordinator's position, giving new visibility to Arrowmont's gallery, and providing the first glimmer of activity toward museum-quality documentation and preservation of the school's permanent collection.

The gallery and permanent collection long have been of primary interest to Arrowmont Director Sandra J. Blain, Arizona Beta. In recognition of her overall commitment to excellence in art education, the gallery and permanent collection were named the Sandra J. Blain Gallery and Permanent Collection, and campaign funds were placed in an open endowment.

Donor support for the gallery program has been the key to the new level of vitality. As additional donors come forward, increased funding will help to endow a solid, year-round gallery schedule, and selected portions of the collection will travel.

New Leader Named

Inspirational, devoted, strong and insightful are words that have been used to describe Adrienne Hiscox Mitchell. These are just some of the qualities that will make Adrienne a strong presence in the office of president of the Pi Beta Phi Foundation.

Adrienne's list of Pi Phi service is as long as it is rich. A two-generation legacy, Adrienne attended the University of Kansas where she served as chapter treasurer. After college she was president of her alumnae club and city Panhellenic, Province Coordinator, Province President, and then Director of Academic Standards. As a Grand Council member, she was Grand Vice President of Collegians and Grand Vice President of Philanthropies. It was during her last term on Grand Council that she became one of the pioneers for the Foundation. Adrienne served on the Foundation Board of Trustees first as a Grand Council counterpart, and then as secretary.

It has been said about Adrienne that she sees Pi Phi through the eyes of the Founders, yet has the ability to translate that viewpoint into the year 2000. It is this ability to be progressive without losing sight of purpose that equips Adrienne to face the challenge of leading the Foundation into the next phase of its growth.

Ann Dudgeon Phy, Adrienne's predecessor, has this to say about Adrienne: "As Grand Vice President of Philanthropies, it was Adrienne who extended Grand Council's invitation to me to serve as the first president of the Foundation and I am excited that the leadership will now be in her hands. She will provide a fresh perspective while also providing the continuity necessary to maintain the strength that we have built. We will all benefit from the firm hand and the style and grace of her leadership."

Artist Alert!

The Pi Beta Phi Foundation wants to honor a special angel. The Foundation is seeking an artist's interpretation of the theme, "Angel with a Heart." This theme will be used at the 1997 Convention for the Foundation's Recognition and Memorial Gift Program, and one representative piece will be chosen.

Artist Eligibility:

All Pi Phis in good standing are eligible to enter an "Angel with a Heart" drawing, painting, collage or mixed media wall piece.

General Information:

Artists may submit slides for up to three original interpretations of "Angel with a Heart." Each entry should be simply framed and suitable for hanging with dimensions no larger than 38 inches in height or width. The deadline for entry is a postmark date on or before April 1, 1996. The selection will be made by a committee of three.

Method of Entry:

Selection will be made from 35 millimeter slides. For two-dimensional work, submit two slides showing full view and detail. Three-dimensional, high relief pieces should be represented by three slides showing different views. Cardboard or plastic slide mounts must be used and should be marked with the artist's name.

Award:

The winning entry will be used in promotional materials by the Foundation prior to convention. In addition, the artist will receive coverage in both The ARROW and the Foundation NEWS. In June, the piece will be shipped to Atlanta, Georgia for the 1997 Convention where it will be prominently displayed with the Foundation's angel trees. The work will be owned by Pi Beta Phi Foundation and after convention will be displayed at Central Office in St. Louis, Missouri.

To obtain an official "Angel with a Heart" entry form, or to find out more about the contest, contact the Pi Beta Phi Foundation at 7730 Carondelet, Suite 333, St. Louis, MO 63105, or call (314) 727-7338 or fax (314) 727-1255

Chapter Anniversaries

Oklahoma Beta

The Oklahoma Beta Chapter, which received its Pi Beta Phi charter August 19, 1919, celebrated its 75th anniversary in March with a banquet featuring Grand President and Oklahoma Beta Jo Ann Minor Roderick. Other events included Pi Phi Jeopardy and decade parties in which Oklahoma Betas were grouped into the decades in which they pledged to reminisce, take pictures and sing Pi Phi songs.

More than 350 Oklahoma Beta alumnae and collegians, ranging from the pledge class of 1923 to the pledge class of 1994, attended the anniversary.

All proceeds from the anniversary were donated to Pi Beta Phi's national philanthropy Links to Literacy. Oklahoma Beta is currently participating in a literacy program called Read Aloud in which participants help Stillwater, Oklahoma elementary students learn to read.

In honor of its 75th year at Oklahoma State University, the Oklahoma Beta Chapter donated a flowering magnolia tree, to be planted next to Theta pond, on the Oklahoma State University campus.

Ohio Epsilon

During this year's Founders' Day Weekend, the Ohio Epsilon Chapter celebrated fifty years at the University of Toledo. More than 250 members attended the Founders' Day Banquet, including 10 of the original 64 charter members. Rochelle Saris Kotnik and Carolyn Lake Yenrick co-chaired the celebration.

On Friday, April 28, the first Ohio Epsilon initiate, along with many of her pledge sisters and other Pi Phi alumnae, came to the chapter house for a members-only gathering. Everyone enjoyed singing songs, reminiscing and having a Cookie Shine.

A banquet was held in downtown Toledo at the Holiday Inn Crowne Plaza on Saturday. The evening included awards presentations, a ceremony honoring Golden Arrows and the presentation of a video documenting Ohio Epsilon's 50-year history.

This special weekend ended on Sunday with a brunch for collegians and alumnae at the chapter house, hosted by Toledo area alumna Jennifer Curtis.

Pennsylvania Beta

The women of the Pennsylvania Beta Chapter held their Centennial Anniversary Celebration on the Bucknell University campus the weekend of April 28-30. Pi Beta Phi is the oldest sorority at Bucknell University.

Chairmen of the celebration committee, seniors Brooke Roth and Melissa Faulkner, contacted each Pennsylvania Beta. The celebration offered all attendees a chance to learn more about Pi Beta Phi from present and past members.

Saturday morning began with registration and a brunch. Morning activities included a golf tournament, tennis, campus tours, a Packard Museum trip and tours of scenic downtown Lewisburg. Evening activities included a dinner with guest speaker, Jean Wirths Scott. Jean, a Pennsylvania Beta, became Chairman of the National Panhellenic Conference in October.

The weekend festivities ended Sunday with a Founders' Day Brunch and ceremony.

Representatives from national women's fraternities met and formed the Lake of the Ozarks (Missouri) Alumnae Panhellenic Chapter. She is only the second non-European to hold this position.

MARYLAND BETAS initiated in the early 1970s gathered in June 1994 for a reunion.

OPPOSITE: Oklahoma Beta pledge sisters Kay Spaulding Stanfill, Brenda Turner Bodenheimer, Janice Johnson Smith, Jeanne Cooper Scholer, Petrina Russo Medley and Lela Bennett Sullivan were reunited after 33 years at a coffee in honor of Oklahoma State University's new first lady, Ann Halligan.

ABOVE LEFT: On Saturday, August 19, 1995, members of the Nashville, Tennessee Alumnae Club marched in the Nashville Suffrage Parade to commemorate the 75th anniversary of the 19th Amendment, giving women the right to vote. Alumnae were proud to pay tribute to Iowa Gamma Carrie Chapman Catt, founder of The League of Women Voters and a key strategist in the women's suffrage movement.

ABOVE: Ohio Zetas presented Miami University with a seating area in the newly constructed Schiewetz Fine Arts Plaza. The gift is in commemoration of the 50th anniversary of the founding of the chapter at Miami University. A dedication ceremony was held during Alumni Weekend in June. Present were many members of the class of 1960 who were celebrating their 35th class reunion.

TENNESSEE BETAS SUSAN MEARS and LAURA STEIN hiked and camped the national parks of the Southwest last summer. The two traveled 7,000 miles from Washington, D.C. to the Grand Canyon and back, stopping to visit sorority sisters in major cities along the way.

A CLEVELAND WEST bridge group formed this past summer. With spouses joining in, the 14 sisters shared festivities which included bridge, golf, sightseeing, luncheons and dinners, all hosted by those still members of the Cleveland West Alumnae Club. Included in the group of 14 are 11 former alumnae club presidents, five former province officers, two former directors and Grand Council members.

MISSOURI ALPHA DR. SUE ANN HUSEMAN was inaugurated as the 11th president (first woman) of Monmouth College in October. Prior to assuming the presidency of Monmouth College, Sue was acting president of the University of Maine at Farmington. She earned her B.A. in French from the University of Missouri, her M.A. in French literature and linguistics from Indiana University and received a Ph.D. in comparative literature from the University of Illinois. She joined the faculty of Illinois Wesleyan University in 1969, and remained with that institution for 20 years. Sue is a literary scholar, translator and linguist with near-native fluency in French. She has published and presented her work both regionally and nationally. Present for the inauguration were Doyne McKinney McKenzie, Elizabeth Allemang Videnieks and Diane Stockdale Gardner, three of Sue's Missouri Alpha sisters.

CLOCKWISE: Seventeen members of Missouri Alpha's class of 1948 held a 47-year reunion September 8-11 in Colorado Springs. As Margaret Pemberton McKinney reported, "The prime motivation for reunion was the gracious offer of Sue Coker Brothers to meet at their retirement home in Colorado Springs." Peggy Todd Ferris compiled facts, names and events for a "pop quiz" and slide show of more than 250 pictures. "Joys, pains and dreams were shared as readily as if days instead of years had passed. We parted, vowing to meet again in 1999 to celebrate the centennial of Missouri Alpha and receive, with eager anticipation, our Golden Arrows."

Nevada Alpha Geraldine DeBenedetti, Indiana Epsilon Sandra Jones Anderson and Ohio Alpha Louise Price Wooden are on three different Golden Masters Outrigger Canoe teams and regularly race against each other during the summer regatta season in Honolulu, Hawaii. Gerry has paddled for 20 years for the Outrigger Canoe Club and the Waikiki Yacht Club. Louise has paddled for Lanikai Canoe Club for 12 years. Sandy got involved with Hui Nalu Canoe Club when she began driving her daughter to practice in 1993 and thought she would give it a try.

Thirteen Iowa Zetas from the class of 1961 gathered for a reunion in Vail, Colorado last August.

Pi Phis Attend World Conference on Women

CALIFORNIA ZETA ANN MEREDITH was one of the coordinators for Global Focus: Women in Art and Culture for the Fourth World Conference on Women at the United Nations and Non-Governmental Organizations Conferences in Beijing, China. She photographed all of the events concentrating on women and work, women and AIDS and women's role in the societies of the world. She co-chaired a panel, presented on a panel and gave a presentation to the Chinese Photographer's Association. In celebration of the 75th anniversary of the passage of the 19th Amendment, the Women's Rights National Historical Park announced that Ann's exhibit "Don't Call Me Honey: Photographs of Women and Their Work" would be the final exhibit in a series of three. Ann is an internationally acclaimed documentary photographer. "Don't Call Me Honey" is a unique, historic, 60-piece photographic exhibition of a variety of women in a wide range of occupations. Ann's work is in the collections of the Library of Congress, New York State Public Library and The Smithsonian Institute. She has been documenting women's culture for the last 25 years and has lived and worked throughout the United States, Mexico, Puerto Rico, Baja, Europe and Africa photographing women in the work force, both in traditional and non-traditional jobs.

Another Pi Phi shared her story:

Dear Pi Phis,

It was a tremendous event—the Fourth United Nations Conference on Women—and I was there! I was part of the 50,000 women who attended the NGO Conference (Non Governmental Organizations) in conjunction with the United Nations Conference.

The most mind-boggling thing of all was to be with 50,000 women from all over the world. It was something that will linger with me all the rest of my life.

The amazing discovery was that women from all over the world, every nation, every religion, every race, every culture, rich or poor share the same problems—with only a matter of degree the difference. The outstanding problems were clearly identified: (1) domestic violence, (2) health, (3) education, (4) poverty, and (5) treatment of girl children.

These same problems, clearly peculiar to gender, were of great interest to me. I have worked for 20 years in the North Carolina General Assembly addressing these same problems in North Carolina. The final success was my bill (which passed into law) to eliminate the spousal defense from marital rape.

A great success for the United States was evidenced by the overwhelming reception given to Hillary Clinton. The women from all over look to her as a great leader.

I was able to attend two days of the United Nations Conference. This conference (held in Beijing) held simultaneously with the NGO's in Huairou maintained a constant dialogue and caucus with the NGO.

ABOVE LEFT: In April 1994, hundreds of Ohio Betas celebrated the chapter's 100th anniversary. The names of all in attendance were embroidered on panels of a Centennial Cookie Shine Sheet. Michigan Alpha Katharine Brown Pepper embroidered the Centennial Celebration logo for the center panel. The Cookie Shine Sheet panels were assembled to form a commemorative quilt which now hangs in the Ohio Beta chapter room at The Ohio State University.

Contrary to most media reports, we were treated by our Chinese hosts in the most gracious way possible. The opening ceremonies were spectacular—both the NGO Conference in the Olympic Stadium and again at the opening of the UN Conference at the Great Hall of the People in Tiananmen Square.

I have been called upon to give my impressions and insights by many organizations and college classes. We, who attended, have an obligation to bring home the message that human rights must include women's rights.

Pi Beta Phi's Mentoring & Networking Program

Until recently, Pi Beta Phi's Directions Program focused on networking, connecting members with similar careers for professional purposes—assisting in job placement, providing advice for different vocations, etc. The program is now expanded to include so much more—an opportunity to offer information, contacts and referrals not only for careers but for communities, organizations and clubs, and social and personal needs.

Twenty years ago, Illinois Beta-Delta Barbara Lee Fay moved to the greater Kansas City area. Upon arrival in a new city, she contacted the local Pi Beta Phi alumnae club president. Barbara was able to attend club meetings and was introduced to a new circle of friends. She was active in the club and enjoyed participating in committee work.

She recalls a day when her Pi Phi connection led her to a unique opportunity.

While sitting at a card table in a member's home stuffing envelopes for an alumnae function, Barbara carried on a conversation with fellow club member and Missouri Alpha Linda Hickerson Cozad.

Passing time and becoming better acquainted, Linda asked Barbara a simple question, "Do you like the theater?"

Barbara's response was enthusiastic, "I love it, my minor is in drama."

"I tell people, volunteer work in itself is a process of networking."

BARBARA LEE FAY, ILLINOIS BETA-DELTA

That simple conversation at a card table brought great results. Linda put Barbara in touch with the Missouri Repertory Theater in Kansas City. Barbara was thrilled to have an outlet for service to the community and delighted it could be in the area of arts. Barbara's association with the "Rep" was longstanding and involved. She became president of the guild and then served on the executive committee of trustees.

The Kansas City, Missouri-Shawnee Mission, Kansas Alumnae Club also benefited from Barbara's spirit of volunteerism. Barbara chaired several committees and served as club president for two years. In addition to her work with the theater, she was on the board of directors for Friendship House, a women's recovery home for women recovering from alcohol and/or drug abuse and on the University of Missouri, Kansas City Women's Council, which supports women in graduate school.

Another networking situation with people in the theater led Barbara to her current job as administrator for the Butler Manufacturing Company Foundation. She has worked for the foundation for eight years.

Barbara recommends that members moving to a new area contact Pi Phi. When she moved to the Kansas City area, the Directions Program did not exist, and the contact was with an alumnae club. Today, Pi Phis have more options. A member can contact the club to find out the group's activities and for direct involvement in the Fraternity; and individual Pi Phis through Directions for more specific information.

Barbara's situation was one of circumstance. Pi Beta Phi's expanded Directions Program aims to facilitate such cooperation among members.

Look to Pi Beta Phi's Directions Program for any number of opportunities—not only to glean information of a personal or business nature, but to find out how you can become more involved in your own community.

"A couple of Pi Phis moving to the area called me for information on schools, neighborhoods, etc. I helped them as far as answering their questions and offering them other information."

The Jungle Out There

Missouri Alpha Barbara Fink Graham, an Illinois Epsilon affiliate, in her first novel addresses the consequences faced by families of substance abusers.

Written in a spirited first-person voice, "Snow Job" tells the story of a Boston-area mother and her children who choose to survive the nightmare of substance abuse in the family—only to find an even greater nightmare and danger awaiting them in the U.S. legal system.

This nonfiction novel describes the actual legal, spiritual and financial consequences that befall family members as they strive to move forward and rebuild their lives. In contrast to most books on substance abuse, "Snow Job" takes readers into lawyers' offices, judges' chambers, bank mortgage departments, and medical settings where conversation is not a matter of public record.

Elements of this story will ring true with anyone whose life has been touched by divorce, substance abuse, domestic violence in all its forms (physical, emotional, financial), and a legal system that devalues the important job of parenting. The book is recommended by Freedom From Chemical Dependency Foundation, Inc. and The National Coalition for Family Justice, Inc.

In commenting on the genesis of this project, Barbara said, "Having my eyes opened gave me the idea for this book.

"Over the past several years I have been given the opportunity to learn firsthand what happens to the families of substance abusers in Massachusetts, and as it turns out, most of the rest of the nation. In addition to the pain of losing a loved one as he or she was once known, people involved in a substance abuse situation are often subjected to a long nightmare of denial, paid enablers, house foreclosure proceedings, financial ruin, and a legal system which devalues the important job of nurturing the next generation.

"I have heard this same story, again and again, from others whose lives had been shattered by the effects of substance abuse in the family. I have listened to them in churches, schools, Al-Anon meetings, doctors' offices, grocery stores, playgrounds, and in the various legal reform groups that are springing up in and around Boston to expose and rectify abuses in the Probate Court System.

"What I've learned is that a whole generation of children and their nurturers across this land are becoming economically disenfranchised by the strokes of judges' pens! Children are being destabilized by the loss of their family homes, and in many cases, the former breadwinner is now materially better off than when he or she was supporting the family.

"Then the statistics hit me:

- * One in two U.S. marriages ends in divorce
- * One out of ten husbands stays with an alcoholic spouse

- * Nine out of ten wives stay with an alcoholic spouse
- * Substance abuse is a component in a significant percentage of divorce cases, many of which involve children
- * Of the nearly $24 billion that had been awarded in child support in this country as of 1989, less than 21% has been paid, and much of it late
- * Following a divorce, the standard of living of the primary breadwinner increases an average of 73%; the standard of living of the primary nurturer and the children declines by 42%.
- * Over the past few decades in the U.S., there has been an appalling decline in goods and services to children
- * One in four U.S. children has a substance abusing parent

"The purpose of 'Snow Job' is to draw attention to a system that is a study in moral impotence, and not to any individual in particular. Therefore, as I say on page 1 of the book, 'The names have been changed to protect the guilty ...'"

The birthing of the book was a complicated process initiated by another Pi Phi. Fellow Missouri Alpha Linda Brown Urben (head of corporate advertising for AT&T) originally gave "Snow Job" to Jayne Young, president of The Atlantic Monthly. Jayne Young took the manuscript to Bill Whitworth of The Atlantic Monthly who convinced Barbara that "Snow Job" should be produced as a work of nonfiction. In order to publish the book "Snow Job," Barbara founded her own publishing company, Hang on To Your Hat! Press.

Barbara is now talking with some law schools about using "Snow Job" in classes on family law or gender law—because the book tells what is really going on in the United States today.

Samplings of suffering inspired Barbara to write her book. The people behind the testimonies she heard acted as role models of courage and persistence enabling Barbara to finish the project.

"In 1994, when Bill Whitworth, editor of The Atlantic Monthly asked me what I wanted to accomplish with

'Snow Job,' I replied: 'I want to do for the divorce law industry what Upton Sinclair did for the meat-packing industry.'"

For Kids' Sake

Since 1987, Mississippi Alpha Kathryn Schledwitz Lewis has been chairman of the Fine Arts Department at Mississippi Gulf Coast Community College, Perkinston. Over the years, she has directed 11 musicals, 24 touring children's shows and 18 dramas. Her other talents include teaching speech and theater, writing and directing children's show scripts. A recipient of numerous performance grants from groups such as the Mississippi Arts Commission and the National Endowment for the Arts, Kathryn also has judged state and regional festivals and play competitions.

More than 25 years ago, Kathryn set out to form a touring debate team on the Perkinston campus. The outcome of that venture was the establishment of the college's theater department and Perk Players, a campus performing arts group which presents two or three sell-out productions each year. The acting troupe has taken on such award-winning plays as "Children of a Lesser God," "The Foreigner," and "The Elephant Man." Musical hits such as "Peter Pan," "The Music Man," "Oliver," "South Pacific," and a host of others have also been major productions for the Perk Players.

The group also produces projects with a more serious message. One such project is called, "Hugs and Kisses," a sexual abuse program. For this show, Kathryn worked with a support group. "We'd travel from school to school and after each performance we'd leave people there to talk with kids. More than 600 children were counseled through this and it changed my whole approach to children's educational entertainment. I knew I could make a social change, and I became committed to doing that."

A mainstay for the group since 1988, the show "The Kids on the Block," a national troupe of multicultural puppets, takes a whirlwind tour of South Mississippi schools. Each year, the puppet troupe entertains more than 5,000 children in more than 30 schools, while sending important messages about such topics as divorce, drug abuse, disabilities and many others.

Kathryn shared a letter to a Perk Player from one of the children who attended an educational performance. "Dear Mike, Thank you for telling me about drugs you are my hero and thank you for coming ... when I grow up I want to be a doctor to help my family ... Your friend Valencia."

This energetic woman enjoys giving back to the community and does so not only with Perk Players, but in a personal way. Kathryn, who was Chapter President at Southern Mississippi University, has remained involved in Pi Phi since her graduation. She served on Alumnae Advisory Committee for Mississippi Alpha for approximately 15 years in addition to serving as an Alumnae Province President in the late '70s and taking a short stint as Collegiate Province President.
