Our Badge

“Badges. — The badge of Pi Beta Phi Fraternity is a gold arrow, about an inch in length, bearing the letters ΠΒΦ transversely on its feather, with a loop chain pendent from the shaft, worn on the left side near the heart. That the badge should be a gold arrow was decided by our Founders on the 5th of May, 1867, and was worn by them on the 14th of May, of the same year, for the first time. Until 1888, the pin bore upon its wing the letters I.C. in black enamel. The significance of each part of the arrow has never changed, but at the Convention of 1888, ΠΒΦ was substituted for I.C., the wing being enameled in white, and jewellery was permitted.”

The History of Pi Beta Phi

Published in 1915

Sound familiar? It should. This is the emblem that marked you as a Pi Phi on initiation day. It's the symbol that sets you apart as a Pi Phi on NPC Badge Day. It's the familiar icon that unites a diversified group of Pi Phi women on Founders' Day. It's the badge. The Founders didn't leave specific documents about why they chose the arrow — there's as much speculation about it as there is about the meaning of I.C. But the fact remains, just as long as there's been a group of women wanting to cultivate a sincere friendship among collegiate women, there's been the arrow.

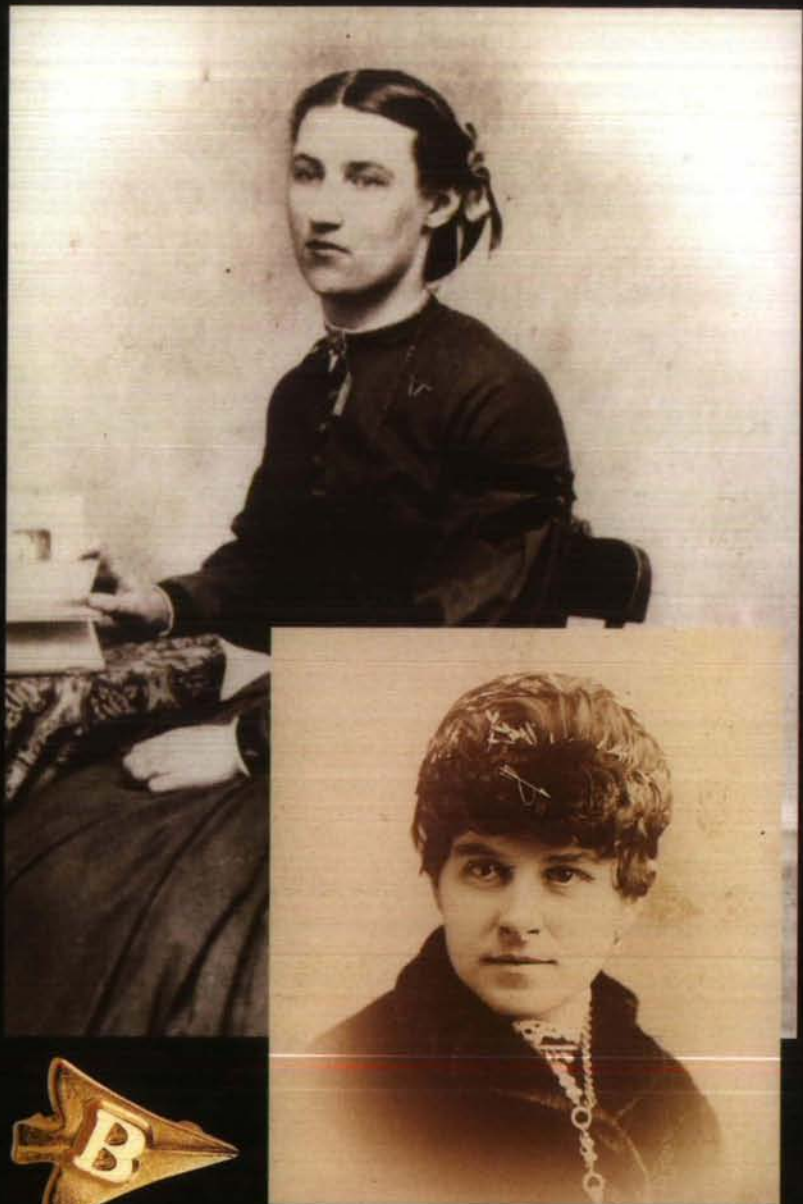

RIGHT: Founder Fannie Thomson is wearing one of the first arrow badges. She is wearing it high near the left shoulder and it points slightly downward.

Pledge Pin

The pledge pin is an arrowhead made of Roman gold, and pointed horizontally, upon which is mounted the Greek letter B in burnished gold. This pin is worn only by women who have given their pledge to join the Fraternity, and have not been fully initiated. This has not changed since the pledge pin was created.

Jeweled Badge

Badge with guard

A guard was used before the safety catch was invented. This guard pin was of gold, a Greek letter (the same as the name of the chapter to which the owner belonged) or I.C. Now, the guard is attached to a regular badge and is used to hold danglers, which represent chapter offices, recognitions and AAC and HC participation just to name a few. The chapter president gavel and scholarship pearl are shown here.

Golden Arrow Pin

Honorary pins began being adopted and presented to members as far back as 1893. At one time the Fraternity recognized 50-year members with a carnation pin. Today they are given the pin shown above. Other recognition pins include a mother's pin, a 25-year member pin and a general recognition pin.

Grand Council Badge

In 1953, an official badge was established for past and present members of Grand Council. It was decided that the badge would be similar to the large original badge, with the letters ΠΒΦ on white enamel wings. It was also decided that the wearing of a replica of the I.C. badge was restricted to the chapter president.

Hang on to your Badge

Why? The selling of badges through non-Pi Phi venues is an issue now just as it has been since the early 1900s, as the letters below show. The Fraternity does have policies for such cases and the Constitution specifically addresses the dispensation of the badge.

Dear Miss Gamble,

About a month ago a Phi Delta Theta from Omaha told me he had seen a Pi Phi pin in a pawn shop in South Omaha — together with a Phi Delta Theta pin. He said he had taken their pin out and wanted to know if we did ours. It is a large pin set in opals and rubies, two opals and one ruby on the shaft and the point set with the same. It has an I.C. guard. Of course I had him take it out for the dealer said it had been there for over five years and he wanted his recovery out of it. I have a chance to dispose of it and of course as I have a pin, don't care to keep it myself, but thought before selling it would write you and see if you thought it alright to do so. If you know of anyone that has lost it let me know.

Melinda Stuart

Dear Archivist,

I was antiquing recently and noticed a Pi Phi badge in an antique mall in Spokane, Washington. I asked to see it because I am a Pi Phi and knew it should be sent to Central Office. It belonged to Aroa Fenne Ohme, initiated into Washington Beta 1931. It is in the glass case at the front desk and they were asking $45 for it.

All's well that ends well. I wanted you to know the result of the badge discovered at the antique mall. After I wrote you, I ran into another Pi Phi who also knew Aroa and her daughter. She told me that she would contact the family about the badge. The daughter called me and told me that her parent's home was robbed several years ago and all jewelry taken. The badge was among the items. She and her mother contacted the antique store and bought back the badge. Aroa is happy she can once again wear her badge to Founders' Day.

You and Your Badge

If you use such online services as eBay, you may have noticed that Pi Phi memorabilia and badges are for sale. According to the Pi Beta Phi Constitution and Statutes, the only time a member should not have possession of her badge is upon her death. At this point, the badge may be returned to Central Office, buried with her or bequeathed to a member, a chapter or an alumnae club to be used as an honor badge. However, badges are often misplaced and then are resold online or in antique shops. The Fraternity does not endorse the selling of badges through these venues and requests that Pi Phis retain their badges to the best of their ability.

A Reminder About Our Badge

According to the Pi Beta Phi Constitution, Article XVIII, Section 2:

The badge, which shall be worn on the left side near the heart, shall be a golden arrow, bearing the Greek letters ΠΒΦ transversely on its feather, with a loop chain of twelve links pendent from the shaft.

- A. Collegiate members are expected to wear the Pi Beta Phi badge at all appropriate times.
- B. Wearing of a replica of the I.C. badge is restricted to chapter president. The replica badge is the property of the chapter.
- C. No member shall give, sell or lend a Pi Beta Phi badge to any person not a duly initiated member of the Fraternity.
- D. The Pi Beta Phi badge shall be used only as a badge and shall not be used as a mounting on any piece of jewelry.
- E. Upon the death of its owner, a badge may be buried with its owner, bequeathed to a member of the Fraternity or to a collegiate chapter or alumnae club to be used as an honor badge or sent to Central Office for such disposition as directed by Grand Council.

Membership

Recruitment

Legacies at the 1999 Convention in Houston, Texas.

A Legacy is ...

"A legacy is a daughter, sister or granddaughter of a member." Each chapter must determine if they also want to consider step-daughters, step-sisters and great-granddaughters as legacies. A legacy brings a rich heritage to our Fraternity through a supportive family and an understanding of Fraternity values. Grand Council believes in the tradition and loyalty legacies bring to a chapter. They encourage chapters to give special consideration to legacies whose qualities are comparable to those of other rushees. Legacies are given extra credit in the membership selection ranking process. This credit is added to that given for academics, school and community activities, community service and leadership.

However, membership is by mutual selection. As the number of women participating in rush increases on many campuses, so does the number of legacies. From a numbers perspective it is not possible for our chapters to pledge each legacy who participates in rush. It is the privilege and responsibility of chapters to select the members who will enhance their chapter. It is also the privilege of rushees to select the group that is best for them.

Preparing legacies for rush ...

Alumnae have a responsibility to educate legacies about the rush experience and about the Greek system. The rushee must feel free to pledge the chapter on her campus where she is most comfortable.

The chapter and its responsibility ...

Chapters have the responsibility of following Pi Beta Phi policies on legacies:

- The Chapter Membership Chairman shall inform the chapter of all rushees known to be Pi Beta Phi legacies.
- A legacy shall be invited to at least one invitational round of rush.
- A legacy who attends a preference party shall be placed on the first bid list.

The chapter must remember the legacy brings an innate dedication, support and commitment to Pi Phi.

The rushee's obligation ...

It is the rushee's obligation to enter rush with an open mind, to look at all Greek groups where she may have an affinity and to select the group that is best for her.

Legacies at the 1997 Convention in Atlanta, Georgia.

Membership

Recruitment

It would be wonderful if Pi Beta Phi could extend membership to every legacy participating in rush, but that is not realistic. Family members and legacies must understand the emotional issues faced during the rush process and not place undue expectations on the rushee or the chapter. The Greek system has many advantages for its members. Those benefits will be best realized when a rushee selects her own group. Knowing a legacy has made the decision that best suits her will bring joy and happiness to all on Bid Day.

It is imperative that our chapters know the Pi Phi legacies going through rush. Complete the form below and send it to the chapter's CMC.

Legacies at the 1995 Convention in Palm Desert, California.

Legacy Introduction Form

This form is provided as a convenience for Pi Phi alumnae to introduce legacies to collegiate chapters. Please complete the following to ensure that the chapter is aware of your legacy. Return this form to the Chapter Membership Chairman of the appropriate chapter. Please remember this introduction does not take the place of a Rush Information Form.

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR — Lynn M. Raney, CFRE

News from Arrowmont

by Lori Barrett

David Willard

New Director

Following a nationwide search, Arrowmont has named David Willard of the University of Texas at Austin as its new director. David officially began his duties May 1, 2001 replacing Arizona Beta Sandra Blain who returned to full-time teaching at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville. Sandy had served as the school's director for 22 years.

David has more than 25 years experience in visual arts education, university administration, fund raising and community arts leadership. From 1988 to 2001, he was responsible for various administrative functions in the college of fine arts, at the University of Texas, where he significantly increased philanthropic gifts to the department of art and art history during the university's $1 billion capital campaign.

From 1982-88, prior to moving to Texas, David was the curator of education at the Boise Museum of Art in Idaho. At Boise, he conceived, curated, directed and secured National Endowment for the Arts funding for a number of exhibitions, including Larry Bell: New Work (1985); Northwest Furniture Today (1984); and Contemporary Glass: A Decade Apart (1983).

A glass artist who has exhibited his work nationally and internationally, David is represented in the collections of the Corning Museum of Glass in New York, National Endowment for the Arts in Washington, D.C., the Yamaha Company in Tokyo, the Lobmyer Collection in Vienna and the Dudley Metropolitan Museum in West Midlands, England. Educated at Cranbrook Academy of Art in Bloomfield Hills, Michigan and at Tyler School of Art in Philadelphia, David continued his research in glass in the late 1970s as a Fulbright Scholar in England.

Following his year abroad, he was appointed to head the glass program at the University of Wisconsin-Madison.

David has been a community arts advocate throughout his career. In Texas, he served as a peer panelist for the Austin Arts Commission and a juror for the Austin Museum of Art Fine Arts Festival. He was a member of Leadership Austin's 1995-96 class and has served on the Austin Chamber of Commerce's Business Committee for the Arts and the Downtown Austin Alliance Arts and Entertainment Committee. He currently holds a position on the board of directors of the Texas Association of Schools of Art.

"I'm very pleased to have the opportunity to build on Sandy Blain's considerable accomplishments and lead Arrowmont into the future," David says. "Sandy is leaving the school well-positioned with a strong curriculum. My immediate focus will be on broadening the existing curriculum, enhancing Arrowmont's national reputation, and increasing the school's visibility internationally. I'm also looking forward to being actively involved in the east Tennessee arts community."

Mary Ann Behlen Hruska, Chairman of the Board of Governors of Arrowmont, said she will be working closely with David to shape the school's future. "I'm excited about the future of Arrowmont," Mary Ann says. "In many ways, the school is a well-kept secret. David has the background and enthusiasm to help us make our excellent school into the leader in visual arts education."

June McBrayer making polymer clay beads during spring classes at Arrowmont.

A True Survivor

When you see June McBrayer, you have to smile. Typically dressed in a work shirt (adorned in pins and a hand decorated name tag), fun earrings, a colorful hat of some sort and a smile of her own, her presence at Arrowmont is always noticed. Her attitude is consistently one of cheerfulness and delight to be completely immersed in the Arrowmont experience. To many, June has every reason to not smile.

Diagnosed with breast cancer several years ago and still undergoing chemotherapy, June says that

Arrowmont helps give her continued reason to smile. "This place brings me back alive," she says. "People here treat me with courtesy, kindness and interest."

Typically enrolling in several consecutive weeks of courses during the summer session, June has been exploring various media over the last nine years. Her interests range from wheel-thrown clay to polymer clay to paper-making. This year was the first opportunity June had to come to Arrowmont in the spring and she was glad she did. Although she was anxious not to get behind with the class work, she was happy to talk about her experiences.

June is quick to point out that as a school teacher for 22 years, she was able to incorporate a lot from Arrowmont in her classrooms. "I snuck in art wherever possible and I wrote grants for the everyday teacher based upon knowledge gained at Arrowmont."

Not only has the school affected her life, but that of her husband's, as well. Seeing that her husband quietly supported her absence from home so she could participate in classes, June encouraged him to "explore his artistic side." He is now involved in calligraphy classes near their home in Cincinnati, Ohio.

"Probably my favorite part of Arrowmont is wandering through the [main] gallery taking a different route every time," June says. "You see things from different angles."

Arrowmont's mission statement reads "enriching lives through art." When asked to cite ready examples of such enrichment, it's easy to point out such programs as ArtReach that takes art into the local school, or to the programming targeted to at-risk students. By looking at things from "different angles" June's smile is living proof that enrichment manifests itself in many different ways.

Resident Artists Exhibition at Arrowmont

Arrowmont proudly hosted an exhibition titled "Resident Artists: The First 10 Years, 1991-2001," a milestone exhibition bringing together the diversity of artists and art forms instrumental in making Arrowmont's resident artist program a significant and positive interface in all educational programming on its campus and in our region. This exhibition was on display in the Main Gallery from March 1 through May 19. A closing reception was held on May 19 with a large number of residents in attendance.

Pi Beta Phi Foundation

2001–2002 Scholarships & Fellowships Awarded

The Pi Beta Phi Foundation is pleased to announce that 52 women are 2001–02 scholarship and fellowship recipients (does not include Arrowmont scholarships and other local scholarships yet to be awarded). Not only are more awards being granted this year, but some of the awards are larger than they have been in the past. This year the Foundation is proud to award the Sign of the Arrow Melissa Scholarship, in the amount of $10,000. This scholarship is the largest Greek scholarship to be awarded based on community service and high academic achievement. Special thanks to the St. Louis Alumnae Club and the Sign of the Arrow shop, for making this outstanding award possible and to the members of the undergraduate scholarship, graduate fellowship and Alumnae Continuing Education (ACE) Scholarship Committees for their participation in the selection process.

These award winners exemplify academic excellence and have demonstrated a commitment in their communities, on their campuses and within Pi Beta Phi. Collegians and alumnae interested in applying for scholarships and/or fellowships for the 2002–03 academic year should contact the Scholarship Program, Pi Beta Phi Foundation, 7730 Carondelet, Suite 333, St. Louis, MO 63105. Please indicate which application you are requesting. Applications can also be obtained through Pi Phi's official Web site, www.pibetaphi.org. A firm January 31, 2002 deadline applies for all applications and supporting materials.

Two New Scholarships Endowed

A father and husband endow scholarships to honor Pi Phis

The newly-established Judy Boucher Chamberlain Art Scholarship will provide an annual scholarship to an undergraduate, art major of the Illinois Theta Chapter of Pi Beta Phi. Virgil Boucher, father of Judy Boucher Chamberlain, has endowed this scholarship in memory and honor of his daughter. Mr. Boucher's desire is that his daughter's love of the arts be permanently honored through the creation of this scholarship.

Judy Chamberlain was a member of Illinois Theta at Bradley University where she served the chapter as vice president of moral advancement, vice president of social advancement and as stunt show chairman. In 1961, Judy received the Outstanding Senior award from the local Pi Beta Phi alumnae club.

Judy graduated from Bradley University cum laude and was recognized as an honor student each semester. In addition to her Pi Beta Phi activities, Judy participated in numerous activities outside the Fraternity and garnered various awards and recognitions as well.

Additionally, the Jane Porter Warmack Scholarship will provide an annual scholarship to an undergraduate member of Pi Beta Phi. Ed Warmack has endowed this scholarship to honor his wife, Iowa Gamma Jane Porter Warmack, on becoming a Golden Arrow.

Jane Porter Warmack has continually demonstrated her dedication to Pi Beta Phi. As an alumnae member, she has served the Fraternity as a convention delegate, as the Texarkana, Arkansas-Texas Alumnae Club President and as the Sigma Alumnae Province President. Outside the Fraternity, she has served on the Board of Trustees for University of the Ozarks; is a sustaining member of Junior League; serves as the state Nominating Committee chairman for PEO; is PEO chapter president; and serves on her local Habitat for Humanity board.

The Jane Porter Warmack Scholarship will first be awarded for the 2002–03 academic year. Scholarship criteria will be available after July 1, 2001 on the Foundation portion of the Pi Beta Phi Web site or by contacting the Foundation office.

KELLY ANN KOEPEL

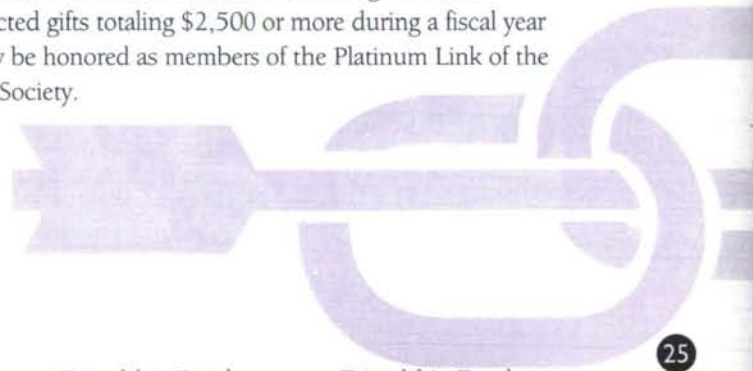

Ann Koepfel. Kelly is majoring in children and family services and has demonstrated an outstanding commitment to Pi Beta Phi, her school and her community. Kelly has established herself as a leader within her chapter at Iowa State University, as well as with the school's Panhellenic Council, for which she will serve as the 2001 collegiate Panhellenic president.

"'To lead is to serve,' are words after which I have modeled my life," Kelly says.

This community service based scholarship will provide an annual award of up to $10,000. The scholarship honors Missouri Beta Melissa Gail Aptman who was tragically killed two weeks prior to her graduation from Washington University in St. Louis, Missouri. The first ever recipient of this unique and generous award is Iowa Gamma Kelly

Platinum Link added to Trustee Society

The Foundation has introduced a new link, the Platinum Link, into the Trustee Society. The Trustee Society was established to honor donors who demonstrated a steadfast commitment to the Pi Beta Phi Foundation with their high level of financial support. In 2000, the Board of Trustees expanded the Trustee Society to honor all donors making cumulative unrestricted gifts totaling $250 or more to the Friendship Fund within one fiscal year. Total unrestricted giving in the amount of $250-499 during the fiscal year qualifies a donor for membership in the Bronze Link; gifts totaling of $500-999 qualifies a donor for membership in the Silver Link; and gifts totaling $1,000-2,499 qualifies a donor for membership in the Gold Link of the Trustee Society. With the addition of this new link, donors making cumulative unrestricted gifts totaling $2,500 or more during a fiscal year will now be honored as members of the Platinum Link of the Trustee Society.

News

Pi Phi's alcohol policy has put a different spin on socials — how have chapters dealt with the change? Keep reading and find out.

INDIANA BETA'S second "Wine and Blues" dance was a huge success. The dance is an annual alcohol-free event that collegiate members, alumnae and Indiana University officials attend for a night of blues music, dancing and hors d'oeuvres.

This past fall at Montana State University, MONTANA ALPHA members celebrated the chapter's birthday by throwing a birthday party, complete with cake, games and party favors. They invited the men of Sigma Nu as party guests.

Recently, OHIO THETAS decked out in seventies gear for a '70s party with the men of Sigma Chi. During the party, the men were able to let members know about their bike ride from Cincinnati to Bowling Green State University for dance marathon.

During the Mizzou football season at the University of Missouri, MISSOURI ALPHAS and their homecoming fraternity partner purchase a block of tickets so that members of both chapters can get to know one another (above). Members also hold a PMS (popcorn, movies and sisters) night during which they rent a large screen TV and several classic girl movies, get lots of snacks and gather for some sisterhood time.

VIRGINIA THETAS at Washington and Lee University have participated in alcohol-free events ranging from a Valentine's Day movie party to a Saturday spent at a refreshing spa.

ILLINOIS ETAS at Milliken University began their semester with a BYOB (Bring Your Own Banana) party during which another fraternity was invited to the chapter house and the group made banana splits and talked about the upcoming semester. The school's panhellenic has also helped in the alcohol-free event planning. One of the biggest hits has been a Bible study for panhellenic members. It was so well received that the group plans to begin inviting fraternity members, as well.

Before pep rallies at the University of Arkansas, ARKANSAS ALPHAS hosted hot dog suppers with their paired fraternity. They also held spirit parties during which members made posters and spirit sticks for games and school events.

FLORIDA ALPHAS at Stetson University hold an annual alcohol-free dinner with the Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity. The event is held in one of the banquet halls in the Carlton Union Building on campus.

News

TEXAS ETAS at Texas A&M University have enjoyed weekly alcohol-free events such as a chapter Bible study and Greek Life, a student-led Bible study hosted at the Kappa Kappa Gamma house. Through Greek Life, members have participated in bowling, roller skating and putt-putt socials. Another alcohol-free activity chapter members enjoyed was a Progressive Fast Food Dinner, which was a pre-date party event that gave chapter members and their dates a fun and safe way to pre-party (above).

ILLINOIS IOTAS cosponsored the first ever sisterhood exchange at Illinois State University by hosting a dinner in celebration of sisterhood with the women of Delta Delta Delta. Chapter members also enjoyed a spring break themed chapter meeting. Members dressed up in spring-break attire and were treated to leis and fruit smoothies and shared spring break stories after the meeting.

CALIFORNIA GAMMAS at the University of Southern California have been enjoying alcohol-free Diversity Exchanges. During these exchanges chapter members team up with another fraternity to discuss today's social issues such as race, gender, religion and class discrimination. Individuals in the group recognize differences and share the pressures collegians face in society today.

This spring, ILLINOIS ZETAS at the University of Illinois teamed with the men of Farmhouse to participate in the Atius-Sachem Moms' Day Sing. Members practiced their singing and dancing routine for three months to perform in a competition during the all-campus Mothers' Day Weekend.

Recently at the University of Wyoming, WYOMING ALPHAS invited Sigma Phi Epsilon members to an etiquette dinner.

For Halloween at Drake University, the men of Tau Kappa Epsilon came to the IOWA ETA house in costume for hot apple cider and games. The chapter also enjoyed a day of volleyball, flag football, barbequing and attending a Three Penny Opera with the men of Sigma Phi Epsilon.

In late October, the National Pan-Hellenic Council at Iowa State University invited IOWA GAMMAS to come to the NPHC Step Show that was held on campus. After the step show, everyone headed to an alcohol-free party on campus to watch all the NPHC chapter members perform their stroll again.

OHIO EPSILONS at the University of Toledo have participated in many alcohol-free events such as a Christmas party with the Sig Eps, bowling with the Pikes, an all-you-can-eat pancake phest with the Beta Sigs, and an Easter egg painting party with the women of Chi Omega.

TENNESSEE DELTAS at the University of Memphis have participated in many alcohol-free socials with other organizations including a capture-the-flag swap with the men of Kappa Alpha and a swing dancing swap with the women of Phi Mu and the men of Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Pi Kappa Alpha.

INDIANA DELTAS at Purdue University joined another sorority and two fraternities and rented Pizza King to have dinner and get to know one another. They also enjoyed roller skating at their annual Friendship Dinner (above).

VIRGINIA ETAS held an on-campus social at the University of Richmond with the women of Delta Gamma where they enjoyed refreshments and an hour of music performed by the Octaves, an all-male acapella group. Chapter members also held an ice cream study break during exam week with the Kappa Alpha Thetas. Kappa Erin Hancock and Pi Phi Eva Horn enjoyed a joint Kappa Kappa Gamma and Pi Beta Phi dinner (above).

VIRGINIA GAMMAS at the College of William and Mary attended an after-hours ice cream social at a local Baskin Robbins.

WASHINGTON BETAS at Washington State University hosted an alcohol-free dance at their house with the men of Pi Kappa Alpha. Members cleared all the tables and chairs from the dining room one Friday night, set up a sound system in the kitchen and had a great time.

Every Monday, WISCONSIN DELTAS join other Marquette University fraternity and sorority members at the Marquette bowling alley, The Annex. Each organization has formed a bowling team for the Monday-night league play.

On Super Bowl weekend, OREGON ALPHAS participated in flag football games with Sigma Chi, Lambda Chi Alpha and Kappa Kappa Gamma at the University of Oregon. Each team was comprised of members of each chapter and wore colors of the Super Bowl teams. The next day, the group watched the actual game together. Members also teamed with Delta Gamma and Sigma Kappa members to make valentines for a retirement community.

This spring, OREGON GAMMA and Phi Delta Theta at Willamette University held the first Black Light Paint Party. Hosted at the Phi Delt house, more than 300 guests and members congregated for the party. Several who attended agreed it was the best party under the new alcohol-free policy.

Recently, each FLORIDA BETA member who belongs to the Pi Society, which means she holds a 3.14 GPA or higher, was invited to the Florida Beta house for a scholarship meeting. But, instead of a meeting, the women were treated to a free night at the movies. Everyone piled into cars adorned with Pi Phi letters and dashed off to the theater. Once they arrived the members were given $5 to buy whatever treats they wanted before seeing "The Wedding Planner" in their private theater.

MICHIGAN ALPHAS at Hillsdale College held a no-alcohol Super Bowl XXXV party for non-Greeks, as well as other Greek chapters. Chapter members have also been enjoying a cheap and alcohol-free movie night every Tuesday when the local movie theater's tickets are just $3.

ABOVE LEFT: CONNECTICUT ALPHAS at the University of Connecticut have enjoyed a pasta dinner with the men of Beta Theta Pi and Chi Phi and a pizza party with the Kappa Sigmas. The chapter also held several sisterhood events including a beach-themed party and a Tom Cruise movies night as a study break during midterms.

ABOVE MIDDLE: Some of the alcohol-free events that INDIANA EPSILONS have participated in include pizza parties, grab-a-dates, Parents' Weekend activities with another fraternity and a DePauw University-sponsored Monon Bell party with two other fraternities and three other sororities.

ABOVE: COLORADO DELTAS and the men of Sigma Alpha Epsilon split up into two co-ed teams and had an all-day water fight. Teams attempted to soak each other during passing periods at the Colorado School of Mines, then met for an all-out water fight during lunch. The SAEs also hosted the annual "My Tie" event, in which their members send a box of ties to the Pi Phi house and each woman wears one around her neck. Members then head to the fraternity house to find out to whom the tie belongs, and this date takes her out with a few other couples. The men of Sigma Nu entertained chapter members with a surprise Italian dinner. Everyone ordered the dinner's courses in Italian with no clue as to what the words meant. Some members ended up with silverware and a soda for one course and the next course had soup with no eating utensils.

20-Year Anniversary

In May, California Lambda Polly Russell celebrated 20 years as a Central Office employee. Polly began working for the Fraternity in 1981 as the magazine agency coordinator and jewelry coordinator. When she accepted the job, Polly remembers, "I don't even think I knew what the job was, I just knew I wanted to work there!" At that time Central Office was housed in a single room and there wasn't a computer in sight. All information that needed to be printed was sent to a data company that printed lists and other information. Polly then worked in jewelry and chapter accounting. Each chapter would send in their budgets and the money they spent and Polly made sure everything balanced. So, basically, she was the chapter treasurer for all Pi Phi chapters. Next, Polly became the receptionist while still keeping her jewelry position, during which she sold former Council member Carol Inge Warren her Directors' badge. In 1989, she switched from both the jewelry coordinator and the receptionist to accounts receivable, where she still works today.

One of Polly's funniest memories was when Adrienne Hiscox Mitchell, who was then on Grand Council, visited Central Office the same day Polly's daughter was also visiting. When Polly turned to introduce Adrienne to her daughter her mind went blank. "I just said, 'I'd like you to meet this very important person,'" Polly says with a laugh. However, Adrienne didn't mind at all and later became Polly's initiation sponsor. At the 1995 Convention, Polly and Systems Administrator Renee Wahle were initiated into Pi Phi. Both the pledging and the initiation ceremonies Polly says are the best experiences she's had since she has worked for the Fraternity. "To be initiated with Grand Council and almost all of Central Office there was an incredible experience," Polly says.

Polly has been married to Les for 48 years and has two daughters, Cindy and Sandy, and two grandchildren. She has enjoyed the "good, good" friends she has made at Central Office throughout the past 20 years and still stays in touch with many of them. When she began working for Pi Phi, Polly says she told the past Executive Director Virginia Bland Fry, "I intend to retire from here," and she says, "I meant it. But, I'm not ready to go yet!"

Due to space limitations, it is a policy of The ARROW to not print obituaries in the magazine.

There is one exception, upon the death of a former Grand President. We would love to print small obituaries about each of our members, but unfortunately, there isn't space. The one section in each ARROW devoted to those who have passed away, is our In Memoriam section.

Initiation year and month and year of death follow each member's name. When submitting death notices to Central Office, please give month and year of death. Names cannot be listed without this information.

*Some time at dusk when the sun sinks low,
the flight of my
arrow shall end.
Through the silent hush of the evening glow, I shall slip away my friend.*

*But the silken tie of the Wine and Blue will bind through eternity.
And friendship's chain of golden hue will link eternally.*

*The wine carnation's scented bloom will never fade and die.
Sweet fragrance ere disperses gloom for dear Pi Beta Phi.*

*Where all is lovely, honest, pure in realms of peace divine,
When twilight comes by faith
I'll know God joins your hands with mine.*

— Pi Beta Phi Memorial Hymn

CALIFORNIA ZETA ANN MEREDITH arrived in East Africa for a three-month stint as one of the first Lila Wallace-Reader's Digest International Artist Fellows. "SURVIVORS! The Sitting Room" is an exhibition selected from this three-month period in Kenya. The exhibit consists of 12, 11x14 color photographs of the Luo Tribe in Ruma, a remote, high-risk village in North Western Kenya on the edge of Lake Victoria. In Ruma, there is no electricity or running water, no medicine, no medical facility, no doctors or nurses, and limited kerosene. While Ann took photos, the tribal leaders spoke with the villagers about HIV/AIDS, personal care and health protection.

ABOVE LEFT: Last October, 10 MICHIGAN GAMMA members from the 1950 pledge class gathered for a reunion in Pennsylvania at the Seven Springs Resort. Three days were spent catching up with pictures, talking, laughing and hugging. Most of the members had not seen one another in years, so many stories were shared. "Time may have changed how we all looked in the 1950 photos, but nothing had changed the wonderful feelings we all had for being sisters in the wine and blue," Nancy Huff Allen writes. "How truly blest we all were to have Pi Phi enter our lives 50 years ago."
