EDITORIALS

The Jacksonville Figurines

Again we bring you much that is serious, little that is gay and much that deals with the war. Every chapter letter, every alumnæ letter, answers the question, "What are American Women doing for the war?" The record is one of fine service, constant toil, lasting devotion, well worth your careful reading.

Among all this grave material, the Editor found it a relief to turn to other, gentler things, to step back into the past of Pi Beta Phi and visit a while with our Founders in their girlhood. In this issue is the story of a new gift to the Holt House, a new honor paid the seventy-fifth anniversary of the Fraternity—the story of the figurines, made and dressed by Mrs. C. B. Powell of Jacksonville, Illinois, and her daughter, Miss Janette Powell, and presented to Holt House by the Jacksonville Alumnæ Club. The pictures give only slight idea of the charm of the little figures, with their lovely color and expression—they must be seen for that! Most interesting is the story of the research undertaken by Miss Powell before she made the figures, research which led her into extended correspondence with families and friends and resulted in the life-like characterizations of the Founders which accompany the pictures. We give this material to you in this issue instead of in the May issue which comes nearer to Founders' Day, with the thought that here may be material for the Founders' Day celebrations of this year. They picture a day that is past long since, a group of happy hearted girls who builded well and gave to us all the priceless gift which is membership in Pi Beta Phi. Most remarkable of all is it that a woman who is not a member of Pi Beta Phi should so well have caught the spirit, the fine simplicity of those lives. In writing of her work, Miss Powell said, "I truly love these women! and I want each one to be as it will best reveal that Founder." Pi Beta Phi owes to Miss Powell gratitude for this interesting work, which may perhaps be the final word on the lives of our Founders, and which will take its place in the records of the National Historian.

An Apology

In notes on alumnæ work in the war, we mentioned Polly Hull Mitchell, District of Columbia A, as head of the A.W.V.S. organization. May we apologize and admit that our information was wrong?

Correction—Pictures of Palo Alto Alumnæ in December ARROW in picture with Mrs. Manning in the center, they are: Nurses' Aid Uniform, Elizabeth Mail Burrill (Mrs. W. V.), California A, Staff Assistant's uniform, Dorothy Smith Kilpatrick (Mrs. Frank C.), Virginia B and Texas A.

"I Will" Codes

Several additional codes are in this issue—there were others which appealed to the Editor of the ARROW as much or more than the prize winners, but space forbids their publication. One such came from Maine A, and says all there is to say, in few words: "Unafraid I will seek the truth and practice what is good."

Here's An Idea

We quote from a letter from Bonnie Bessie Lackey, Kentucky A, of Hopkinsville, Kentucky. We wish many clubs and individuals would try it!

"I moved here to Hopkinsville three years ago when my husband opened this Radio Station here, and since Camp Campbell was located here this past summer I have had the pleasure of meeting quite a few Pi Phis from everywhere who are stationed here with their husbands. And now I'm coming to the point of this letter. Don't you think it would be nice if there were some way for Pi Phis who are locating in these large army camps to get in touch with each other, and with the Pi Phis living in the adjacent towns? Living quarters are particularly difficult to find in these congested military areas, and I'm sure that those of us who already are situated would be able to be of invaluable assistance to the newcomers. It would be grand, if possible, to have these army wives notify the ARROW when they are transferred from one Station to another, and we who live close to those Stations could look them up and give them a hand. I, personally, would be delighted to meet any of the Pi Phis at Camp Campbell, and fortunately I am down at the Camp a good deal so it would be very easy for me to contact them, or their husbands.

Notices

Upon request of Elizabeth Hawkins Custer, California A, Navy chairman, Army and Navy Auxiliary, we ask again that all Pi Phis having relatives in the armed services, send name, chapter, rank and organization of the relative to Central Office. The cooperation of alumnae club secretaries and of chapter corresponding secretaries is also urged in this—they are asked to send such information as they may have to Central Office.

The Columbus, Ohio, Junior Alumnae Club would like to have the names of all men in the service stationed in or near Columbus, Ohio, who are sons, husbands, sweethearts or relatives of any Pi Phi anywhere. The plan is to help these men to feel more at home.

N.I.C. Meeting

National Interfraternity Conference had an interesting meeting in New York in November. They have generously shared their reports with all N.P.C. organizations, and we regret that lack of space forbids publication of a great deal of their material. The report of the Committee on Policy ends with this paragraph:

"We are in for a period of unpredictable changes, as the war progresses and new demands are made on our people. . . . N.I.C. must pass on to its member fraternities and to its officers and leaders the job of so conducting our affairs that we shall not only avoid criticism, but actually prove that the institution of the college fraternity is a necessary part of our educational system and of our National life, and that it is capable of aiding our Country in time of crisis."

The sympathy of the Fraternity goes out to Beatrice Stevenson Purdunn, Illinois Z, efficient Director of the Central Office, in the death of her husband, Carson M. Purdunn, on February 1, 1943, after a long illness.

The Story of the Figurines, Recent Gift to Holt House

A FIGURINE may be just a pretty doll; but it can also become a symbol of the finer qualities of mind and heart which gave merit to the person thus represented.

With this latter interpretation uppermost, a group of girls who are members of one of the youngest of international fraternities, B Σ Φ , gave to their local community, Jacksonville, Illinois, a collection of twelve figurines of pioneer women of the town. These women were chosen because of the influence they had had upon the cultural and educational development of a pioneer village which through its more than one hundred years of history has become an educational center of real importance. When Gamma Chapter, B Σ Φ , made this gift, they also brought to remembrance the stories of these twelve women, stories which emphasized the ability of courageous women to meet exacting demands forced upon them, and to do it in such a way as to maintain their own integrity of spirit and zest for living.

So inspiring did these remembrances become that the result was surprising and far-reaching. One of the most interesting was the making of the group of the seven Founders of P.E.O., which the hostess chapters of the 1941 Illinois State Convention gave to Cottey College, the school maintained by the P.E.O. Sisterhood. Then several members of Pi Beta Phi, who had been impressed with the possibilities of such a tribute, felt that a similar group of the Founders of Pi Beta Phi would give fitting recognition to the 75 years of history which 1942 was marking, and so the Jacksonville Alumnae Club purchased the figurines from Minna Schmidt of Chicago—the expense of the materials and the dressing was authorized by Grand Council.

Minna Schmidt makes no claim that the figurines are photographic likenesses—but she does painstakingly match the type of feature to the individual photograph, and she reproduces with cleverness and accuracy the hair-dress and coloring of each girl. The dressing, of course, takes into consideration any preference of style, material, and color which it is possible to learn. The twelve Founders of Pi Beta Phi were dressed with loving attention to all details, for it is impossible to work with the tiny figures (they are perhaps twelve inches tall), without a careful and intimate sense of their personalities. Thus each one comes to possess and to express an individuality peculiarly her own.

The group has been placed in the Holt House, where one April day, 75 years ago, twelve girls met and "made a beginning."

On November 21, 1942, a few of the Jacksonville alumnae group and the Grand President, Amy Onken, took the figurines to Monmouth and placed them in the Holt House. In the presence of the Monmouth active and alumnae groups and their friends, Miss Onken introduced Janette Powell, who with her mother's interested help, had dressed the figurines. Miss Powell feels that any such group of figurines must justify its existence by arousing an interest in the persons thus represented, and it was upon this point that she based her presentation. As she displayed each figure, she told something of that Founder's story, and in particular her contributions to the Fraternity and to her community.

During the months involved in the dressing of the figurines, Miss Powell had written to a number of relatives and friends of the Founders, and in reply they shared treasured memories and impressions which made these women seem very real and very near. These letters, rich in detail, are to be placed in the keeping of the National Historian and copies of them are to be kept with the figurines at Holt House.

Those who saw these appealing symbols of great hearted courage and unselfish service, realized that within the lives of these women could be found a sense of womanliness and resourcefulness that is indestructible in its far-reaching influence, and timeless in its steadfast inspiration.

We Are Twelve

By JANETTE POWELL, Jacksonville, Illinois, B Σ Φ; A. B. MacMurray College; M. A. University of Chicago; Belles Lettres, MacMurray

THE TWELVE girls who founded old I.C. were young and happy hearted. To have had the initiative to organize themselves in 1867 proves they possessed both executive and social ability. They had no guide or model to follow; each was truly a pioneer in this adventure of the spirit.

How well they founded is proved by each of the 75 years of history which is Pi Beta Phi's heritage from the past and her challenge to the future. Within this present it is well to pause and pay tribute to this heritage and to pledge devotion to this future. No one of the twelve would desire a greater tribute.

We hope that the figurines here pictured may make them more alive in the hearts of Pi Phi everywhere.

Ada Bruen Grier

In speaking of her earliest educational training Ada Bruen paid a loving tribute to a cousin who, she said, had taught her "the elements of right living," together with the fundamental three Rs. These elements had to do with "the meaning and significance of kindness, honor, and truth."

Ada Bruen Grier—"To learn the meaning and significance of kindness, truth, and honor."

Such essential qualities must have been inherent in the young Ada's relationship with those about her. Kindness found its fullest expression in her loving consideration for the needs of others; honor dominated all she thought and did; truth, tempered with kindness and ruled with honor, certainly taught her the elements of right living; her genius for friendship was the beginning of Pi Beta Phi's seventy-five years of enduring loyalties among friends.

As a young girl, Ada Bruen found the companionship she coveted in the friendliness of Libbie Brook who lived on the adjoining farm. Together the two friends came to Monmouth College and roomed together. Out of their pleasure in sharing the college adventures they soon conceived the plan of organizing a small group of choice friends. The result was Pi Beta Phi.

As a gracious woman Ada Bruen fulfilled the promise of her girlhood. Her love for her friends never failed to find thoughtful expression in all manner of kindly deeds; her fine sense of humor enabled her, in even the most trying experiences to keep not only a cheerful attitude, but a right sense of values. It is not surprising that she once wrote, "It has been a real joy to me that I had a little part in the founding of Pi Phi."

She could have chosen so many other reasons for gratification, but it was characteristic of her nobility of heart that she chose the sense of "joy" as being the most important.

Libbie Brook Gaddis

Libbie Brook Gaddis and Ada Bruen Grier were life-long friends not only because of their early close association, but because their ideals and standards were so nearly identical.

Like Ada Bruen, Libbie Brook gave credit to two of her early teachers for installing into her mind not only a love for learning, but a love for living as well. One was a Catholic priest whose oral teaching of history was so dramatic and vivid that historical characters took on the reality of friends and enemies. The other was "a lady of refinement and culture" who taught the required subjects well enough but whose real contribution was that she "gave us a taste for things better than we had known." Deeply thoughtful, Libbie Brook continued to be inspired to seek out "better things" throughout her cheery life. Zest for doing simple things with a gracious dignity gave purpose and meaning to all she said and did.

The year following the founding of I.C. Libbie went to Iowa Wesleyan at Mt. Pleasant, Iowa, and there she organized a second chapter of the fraternity. This second chapter gave evidence that young women in other colleges were eager for membership in a "secret" organization, and it encouraged the members of the original chapter to keep the membership within colleges.

Literally, Libbie Brook sought out better things for Pi Beta Phi from the very beginning, and that is why the toast she gave at the 1925 Convention holds so much of meaning, why it spans the years between 1867 and 1943 and far into the future. Its closing lines are a tribute and a challenge: "How we thought and prayed and labored! How we yearned for things to come! You have met these great ambitions, Our ideals you've lifted high."

Libbie Brook Gaddis—"To seek out better things than we have known."

Fannie Whitenack Libbey—whose heart was always young.

Fannie Whitenack Libbey

When Ada and Libbie made the decision to organize a secret society, they first approached Fannie Whitenack and Clara and Emma Brownlee; the two sisters were living in the Whitenack home while attending college.

Fannie's intense love for people was an endearing quality in her childhood, in her young womanhood, and throughout her life. Her wholesome attitude was a balance wheel in the early days of I.C. A hearty laugh, a charitable suggestion from Fannie smoothed out many a difficult problem, saved many a heated discussion. All her life, she drew wisdom from her storehouse of memory verses; not just wisdom for herself, but inspiration for her friends, who came to her with their problems, their sorrows, and their joys. She began to memorize, when she began going to Sunday School. In a short time all the verses in Matthew, Mark, Luke, and most of them in John were hers for a lifetime of usefulness. Perhaps her dignity of thinking came from this early first-hand association with the matchless beauty and truth of the Gospels. The immediate rewards for her as a child were first and second prizes; the lasting rewards were a deep serenity of soul and a tenderness of understanding very closely akin to the Master's.

Emma Brownlee Kilgore—who thought fearlessly and acted accordingly.

To her, happiness was essential to life, and consistently enough, she found an infinite number of ways to give it expression, ways which were at once joyous and practical. When she was once questioned as to her ability to memorize so well, and was asked when she could find time to learn so many poems and so many verses of the Bible, she laughed heartily and said, "Find the time! Why most of those Bible verses I learned while fanning my mother or working a churn dasher!" Present day efficiency schedules could give no finer accounting of time!

Like Libbie Brook, it was Fannie's privilege to give to Pi Phi a message of good cheer at a Convention banquet in 1940. The message is as simple as the Psalms, its potency is as timeless:

"Wherever you may be, much good may you do!

And right to the last to the best be true."

Emma Brownlee Kilgore

Every organization needs a fearless member, who has the courage of her convictions and the willingness to give them expression.

Such a person was Emma Brownlee, and her many services to the Fraternity throughout the years were proof positive of her worth. Resourceful and energetic, she was chosen temporary chairman at the first meeting, and at the end of that meeting she was duly elected as the first president.

In one of her own accounts of herself she stated: "I was married to Dr. J. C. Kilgore—was very happy and tried to be a good wife"—a statement characteristic both of her frankness and of her fairness, two qualities not always found together. Those who knew her would have elaborated on her simple statement and have told of the many ways she proved that she was a good wife, a good friend, and a good neighbor.

Her greatest service to Pi Beta Phi was her early realization of the importance of keeping the Fraternity's records. Today sincere thanks are due Emma for the many details which she preserved for present use, information which might have seemed trivial at the time, but which is now considered invaluable. During her lifetime anyone who wanted to know anything about the early years of Pi Beta Phi's existence had only to make known her need to Emma.

When an official crest was chosen for the Fraternity, the Brownlee eagle was used as its basis, and to Emma this was a source of pride. The protective symbolism of the eagle, its strength and its fearlessness, were the very qualities she coveted for the Fraternity she loved so sincerely and whose beginnings she had guarded so zealously.

Clara Brownlee Hutchinson—whose un-failing gentleness of spirit endeared her to all.

Unsparring but always constructive in her criticism, unselfish in her willingness to serve in any capacity, unquestioned in her ability to do well whatever she undertook, her record as the first executive of Pi Beta Phi continues to be a strong incentive to those who have followed after her; her model of excellence they may achieve, but not surpass.

Clara Brownlee Hutchinson

Emma's younger sister Clara was Emma's special responsibility while the two attended Monmouth College. Mr. Brownlee had exacted a promise from the trustworthy Emma that she was not to leave Clara alone, at any time, in the house where the two roomed together.

This promise was kept quite literally, and as a result wherever Emma went, Clara went. During those enthusiastic and excited days of planning the organization of the Fraternity Clara was present and learned the smallest detail or the smallest secret. As a matter of course, then, Clara became a Founder.

As the years have added to the story of that founding, Pi Beta Phi surely owes a debt of gratitude to Mr. Brownlee for his concern over Clara's chaperonage—the qualities of womanliness and loveliness which she brought to the group were of incalculable value. Beautiful, and modest almost to the point of timidity, Clara was nevertheless as eligible to wear the eagle crest of the Brownlees as her more aggressive sister. Her gentleness of speech, her sympathy, her kindness of manner, were deeply planted in a heart filled with courageous loyalty. She was truly a gentle lady, with a thoughtfulness of others that was as natural to her as breathing. Her sole reason for living was to make other people happy. A life-long friend tells with tenderness of Clara's neighborliness. Never a day passed that Clara did not see for herself that all was well with her loved neighbors. If it were not, her brief visit brought new courage; if it were, her equally brief visit left a joyous sense of companionship, which never failed to warm the heart.

Such a gift of love and friendliness, of tolerance and gentleness as Clara Brownlee bestowed upon the Fraternity she loved so much, redefines for every Pi Beta Phi the value of such God-given qualities of heart and mind.

Margaret Campbell—whose love of country and love of people animated her whole life.

Margaret Campbell

The five girls who made the first plans for a fraternity chose the remaining seven members with great care. Among these was Margaret Campbell, whose unselfishness, good nature, and reliability appealed to them as desirable qualities for membership. Never did they have cause to question their decision, for Margaret never changed.

The second meeting was held at the hospitable Campbell home, where the door had always swung wide in cheery welcome to all who came up the broad walk. At this meeting, Margaret was made treasurer, and her accuracy and carefulness were lovingly expended on the accounts which she managed with real ability. It was Margaret who insisted that the organization should use only a part of the funds for good times, and a part for helping those in need. The protected and sheltered life which she had always known had not made her indifferent to the needs about her, and even as a child she had often quietly sought out those whose needs were many. As capable as she was determined, she had always found some way to bring a little happiness into drab lives. It is not surprising, then, to find her, early in Pi Beta Phi's existence, presenting this or that family for help. Something in the strength of her appeal and in her unspoken expectancy always brought forth the cooperation she sought.

When she was no longer needed in her own home, she undertook a remarkable piece of work, in Thyne Institute, a mission school for Negroes. There her teaching and executive ability found many outlets in her twenty-one years there. Her intense sense of patriotism taught innumerable children a personal sense of loyalty to the flag and to the land it symbolizes. Her household management somehow exalted the common daily tasks into duties of importance, and her students learned thereby the dignity of labor.

Her loyalty to high ideals and to high standards of conduct found their natural expression in a fine dignity and in a gentle helpfulness which no one associated with her could ever forget.

Nancy Black Wallace

At the same meeting where Margaret was elected treasurer, Nancy Black was made secretary.

Nancy was the daughter of Professor Black who taught at Monmouth, and who also served as vice-president of the college.

She had a presence and a dignity which set her a bit apart, yet her friendliness and her love of fun made her the pleasantest of companions.

At intervals Nancy visited relatives "back East," and her home-comings were always gala times, for her trunks were sure to be filled with new finery! Nancy's popularity was based on something of deeper import, however, and her loyalty and ready sympathy were given to many causes. When heart-breaking experiences made life less joyous, she gallantly faced difficulties and met them unafraid and uncomplainingly. Hers was a courage born of confidence and based on trust in Divine Providence.

An unusual love for the beautiful gave her a deep sense of appreciation, for her love for the beautiful was not confined to things; it went deep enough to understand the inner beauty of a dauntless spirit. That accounts for the consistent gentle living with which she always surrounded herself; that is why her home was always a haven of restfulness, a center of refinement which spoke eloquently of gracious living.

She sometimes characterized herself as an "extensionist," for she like Libbie Brook wanted Pi Beta Phi to extend its influence nationally. She modestly enough felt that her chief contribution to the Fraternity was her "optimistic enthusiasm"—that was characteristic of Nancy's generosity—whatever was worth while must by its very nature be shared by others.

She impressed all those who knew her as a woman of remarkable strength of character, and those who knew her best attributed this to her firm belief in God and in the practice and the power of prayer.

Inez Smith Soule

In Monmouth it was often said that "Inez Smith was the prettiest girl in Monmouth." To that compliment a second is invariably added, "and there can never be a lovelier one in character and in manner."

Her long life was a beautiful expression of serenity, confidence, and independence. Trials, difficulties, problems, disappointments came to her, but they never overwhelmed or embittered her; they were powerless to shake her serenity of spirit or to destroy her confidence. Her friends enjoy telling incidents which illustrate her unusual sense of independence, and at the same time they pay tribute to her rare consideration for others. Her independence was not aggressive, and had no tinge of selfishness.

Her greatest pleasure came in taking thought for others' happiness and comfort. In later years she made simple little gifts which were offered to friends as they were taking leave of her. Today, these gifts recall to the minds of many a sense of love and spontaneous friendliness that is as heart-warming as it is rare. It was as if Inez was saying, without putting it into words, "Please know how deeply I cherish your friendship and all it means to me." No one could fail to read the meaning of her gift, and having read it, no one could fail to be finer and stronger for having done so.

A minister whose privilege it was to have been her pastor said of her: "She knew what Stevenson once described as 'the intoxicating joy of sheer existence,' " and he added, "the roots of her life ran out in many directions in quest of friendly waters."

Her own deep conviction that happiness was necessary to life enriched her own days beyond the telling, and gave to her entire life the rarest of all gifts—an understanding heart.

Jennie Horne Turnbull—whose sense of service was measured by her inexhaustible supply of happiness.

Jennie Horne Turnbull

Jennie Horne never failed to find happiness in whatever she did—and she did many things. Her characterization of the earliest Pi Beta Phi meetings emphasizes this, for she wrote, "Never a company of girls had better, happier times." It is easy to understand how large a part Jennie had in making them happy times!

She possessed a sense of humor that could not be subdued by disaster. She had too fine a sense of proportion for that, and along with humor, she had a fine feeling for the fitness of things. When she entered a room, something happened, for her presence brought with it a feeling of well-being. Inherent dignity gave Jennie poise and tolerance. Her companionship was wholesome and invigorating, for her good nature was equalled by her abounding energy.

When Jennie married Thomas Turnbull her life became a helpful one, filled with a multitude of duties; as a minister's wife she found twice as much to do as there was time for; as the mother of five children she learned to meet five separate demands at one and the same time. All this did not daunt the capable Jennie, nor did it take the joy out of life. She enjoyed presiding over the Missionary Society, she counted it a privilege to teach in the Sunday School, she willingly attended all the meetings possible—because "they were such a change from housekeeping!" At the same time she loved and comforted and amused her children for they brought her "such a change from meetings and discussions." As for housekeeping, even the drudgery tasks were attacked with zest and disposed of competently, for these she regarded as "such a change from work that required more thought than activity."

Sorrows were bravely faced and always she found that her own grief could be subdued the better to meet another deeper need.

If Pi Beta Phi gave Jennie Horne happiness, Jennie in her turn gave to Pi Beta Phi and to all her world happiness in unlimited measure.

Rosa Moore

The year the fraternity was founded Rosa Moore, whose home was in New York, was living with an aunt in Monmouth and attending college there. She was a beautiful, vivacious girl, full of fun and swift changes of mood. Coming from afar, she was looked upon as some one "different" and her friendship was coveted by both the young men and the young women. It is not strange then, that Pi Beta Phi gave her an invitation to become a member—or that she accepted it as wholeheartedly as it was given.

At the end of the school year Rosa returned to her home, so she enjoyed her membership for only a short time. Somewhat like a flame, she had suddenly come, and just as suddenly, she was gone. Her beauty, her winning personality, became almost a myth—and then long years later, she was found living alone in the city of New York. Little is known of her story during that interval. One thing is certain, the flame-like quality of her being had not changed, for on the seventy-first birthday she wrote to a relative, "I am avid of acquiring facts of life; other things have no charm for me." Four years later she wrote, "at seventy-five, one has much the same feelings as at seven or fifty, I want to lie down in the spring green mosses of wild woods; I want to catch the last beam of day and the light of the first star of the night."

These quotations might be summarized by a third which she once wrote: "Set thy distaff and God will send the flax! My distaff lacks not flax, and my spindle runs merrily."

Hers must have been a strange life, filled with many extremes of joy and sorrow, yet there is every evidence that in all of her experiences she remained deeply religious. She could see order and purpose, where others might easily have seen only confusion and distress. That explains why toward the end of life she could still say truthfully such things as those above.

Jennie Nicol

On the evening set for the first initiation ceremony neither Jennie Nicol nor Fannie Thomson could be present. It seems a strange coincidence that these two girls who were the last of the Founders to be initiated, were the first to be claimed by death.

Of the twelve girls Jennie Nicol had the most unusual career. She finished her college course with the conviction that women should have the same opportunity as men, if they were as capable. Her desire to become a physician was encouraged by Dr. Kilgore, whose wife was Emma Brownlee, Jennie's closest friend. She borrowed his medical books and she spent long studious hours in his office; this was her preparation for entering the Woman's Medical College of Pennsylvania. When her course was completed there, she went to Switzerland for further study. She died there in 1881.

In those days women who sought careers in a man's world were considered a bit queer and unwomanly. Jennie could well serve as an exception to the rule. A lifelong friend remembers her as "a beautiful and dignified woman whose gayety and kindness never failed her." In speaking of Jennie she said, "I loved to look at Jennie Nicol as she sat in our church pew. She was a handsome person, always plainly but neatly dressed in the finest of materials. The warmth of her smile did me more good than the lengthy sermons! And besides I loved her because she was such a loyal friend."

Study never made a recluse of Jennie; her friendships while in college were numerous, and during the years she remained at home to care for her parents, she put her talents to many uses. The letters which she wrote to Emma Brownlee during her years in Philadelphia and in Europe show how broad were her interests and how discerning was her appreciation of all she saw and heard. To many, her death seemed a tragic thing. Seemingly it came just at the beginning of her career—but in reality Jennie's career had neither beginning or end. Each day she lived a full and splendid life of service and of friendship; more she could not have done had her years been many more.

Fannie Thomson

Fannie Thomson enjoyed her membership for the shortest time of any of the Founders. At the end of the school year of 1867 she left college and during the following winter she taught school near her home in Oquawka. It is however safe to say that no one of the twelve attached a deeper meaning to her membership than did Fannie, nor did any one of them desire more strongly to see Pi Beta Phi expand into a national fraternity.

In a few letters which Fannie wrote to Jennie Horne she gave expression to the loyalty she felt for the Fraternity. Once she wrote: "the love that binds us I.C.s together! I thought little of its strength until we admitted into our circle a new sister, and then what before was only regard for a fellow student somehow increased to the love I almost unconsciously bear to all our sisters." In the same letter, she expressed her own ideal of membership, for in writing further of this newly initiated sister she said, "We have in her one who will do all in her power to further our object, that is to send out into the world a woman who will ever be an honor and a blessing to her sex."

Fannie did not always write in so exalted a tone and many of her letters reveal her girlish enthusiasm or quick resentment. One begins, "I'm mad as a wet hen," another teases Jennie as being a "born flirt." A description of her loved brother Alex is such as any young girl might write. "If some of the Board of Trade boys could see Alex as I see him just now, with a pitcher of milk in one hand and kittens in the other arm, they would believe he had got to be a domestic man."

The first Convention occurred during the summer of 1868, and Fannie looked forward to the meeting, which was to be at her home. In a July letter she wrote, "I was oh! so disappointed at not seeing you yesterday, but there's a good time coming in August."

Her deep love for Pi Beta Phi is revealed in the following: "Indeed I am at every meeting in spirit. When you kneel to implore our Heavenly Father's blessing and guidance and when you discuss the interests of the society I with all my heart say 'Amen.'"

Report of the Called-meeting of National Panhellenic Congress

A DEEP conviction that fraternities are a constructively contributing part of the Education which "is defense" and which is a thing vital to the wise solution of the problems both of war and of the peace which will follow it marked the called-meeting of National Panhellenic Congress held November 14 and 15 at the Medinah Club, Chicago. Under the capable direction of the Chairman, Juelda C. Burnaugh, B Σ O, and with this confident belief as the basis for their thinking, delegates and alternates found the two days of informal, frank, and friendly discussion of current fraternity problems, needs, and services exceptionally helpful and valuable.

The agenda items for the meeting—Data on fall registrations, number of new women students, number of fraternity women returned, and number of pledges affiliated; College Chapter Organization Under the Accelerated Education Plan; Chapter Houses Under War Conditions; College Panhellenics with their essential and non-essential activities; Alumnae Interests as these involve meetings, programs, college chapter aid, and community service; and National Panhellenic Congress Policies of conventions, chapter visiting, publications, finances, and so forth—were considered without the presentation of prepared speeches but under the direction of capable and informed delegates who met well their responsibility for aiding clear thinking and for securing a complete discussion of the topics so important to the fraternity world.

Although no regular reports were included in the program, the Secretary of N.P.C., Helen H. Cunningham, Φ Ω Π, and the Chairman of the Committee on College Panhellenics, Edith Huntington Anderson, Λ O Π, submitted data covering the special sessions held on many campuses during the summer of 1942 and on the plans for putting into effect similar, accelerated college programs during the current college year and the summer of 1943. Of one hundred and sixty-two colleges whose administrators had reported to Mrs. Anderson previous to the meeting, sixty-eight expected to be on accelerated programs. Because the plans of colleges and universities are still so largely in the making and are so varied in detail, there was a general feeling that any attempt to set up uniform procedure for meeting changed and constantly changing college requirements would be ill-advised. N.P.C. fraternities will, however, on each campus on which they are individually represented, cooperate to give the fullest possible assistance to that College Panhellenic in solving its special problems arising from an accelerated college program. The sentiment of the Congress was expressed in the following resolution:

"Whereas in the fall of 1943 on a large number of campuses, the accelerated program will be in effect and College Panhellenics will be faced with the problem of defining the college year, additional rushing periods, and similar questions.

"Be it resolved that N.P.C. voice an expression of confidence in each College Panhellenic's ability to adjust to its own situation."

Following through its established policy of discouraging unnecessary expenditures and approving wise economies, N.P.C. made the following definite recommendations to College Panhellenics in the belief that they would in no way cheapen the needed social contacts and experiences of fraternity undergraduates but would make them less expensive:

"That individual members of college chapters assume more responsibility for the housekeeping within their chapter houses.

"That all chapters eliminate the sending of chapter Christmas greeting cards.

"That rushing costs be reduced by the elimination of such things as house decorations, favors, elaborate refreshments, purchase of flowers, and use of orchestras."

Discussions revealed a universal feeling that, especially during the war period, College Panhellenics should cut drastically their expenditures for printed booklets, secretarial help, and social functions. With each N.P.C. Fraternity standing firmly back of these recommended economies, the elimination of much avoidable expense seems assured.

In order to give practical assistance to the College Panhellenics which are acting upon the recommendation of the 1941 Congress that they set up one-day Work-Shops as substitutes for the regional Panhellenic Conferences, N.P.C. voted that the discussions and decisions of the called-meeting be used by the Committee on College Panhellenics as the basis for the program suggestions which they would make to the Panhellenics.

Because of a deep-seated feeling that College Panhellenics have a right to expect and should receive from National Panhellenic Congress inspiration and a revitalization of the Panhellenic Creed which will emphasize the fact that it expresses perfectly the ideals toward which fraternity undergraduates, alumnae, and officers should strive, today just as in 1915 when it was first formulated, National Panhellenic Congress accepted unanimously the recommendation:

"That N.P.C. make available $500.00 to send some capable representatives to cooperate with College Panhellenics which can utilize the helps of such persons in the conduct of their Panhellenic Work-Shops; these representatives to be selected by the Executive Committee and the Chairman of the College Panhellenics Committee of N.P.C."

The menace of bad publicity and the desirability of wisely-directed good publicity, together with a consciousness that, as always during times of national stress, every organized group—the church, the college, the fraternity, to name only a few—will be subjected to questioning and to the dangers which arise from promulgation of ideas of democracy which fail to take into consideration the fact that only in true democracies are such voluntary groupings possible, led to the adoption of recommendations calculated to make the presentation of fraternities in print and in action worthy of the best things upon which they are founded:

"That N.P.C. reaffirm its established policy which provides that all activities connected with initiations be dignified and worthy of fraternity organizations.

"That since there is apparently a need to give the public more constructive publicity on the actual good which sororities are doing, each N.P.C. group submit such material to the Publicity Committee of N.P.C. for that purpose.

"That a committee be appointed to keep the Congress informed on agitations aimed at the right of social organizing."

While no attempt was made to give a complete report of the war service, contributions, and special war projects of fraternity women, enough was learned of these matters to give each officer present a thrill of pride in contributions which can scarcely be equalled by any other group of similar size. Discussion of the need for the things which fraternity members seem especially capable of giving was followed by the adoption of the following recommendations:

"That College Panhellenics urge their members to include war work as a part of extra-curricular activities.

"That a committee be appointed to keep the Congress informed on developments in utilizing college women in the war effort.

"That, since each member fraternity of N.P.C., the alumnae groups and the college chapters of each fraternity, and college Panhellenics and City Panhellenics also are engaged in various phases of war work and are contributing to the many accredited war and relief agencies and offices, N.P.C. go on record as giving its approval and enthusiastic support to these efforts to aid in the national emergency.

"That a committee be appointed to study the possibility of some national Panhellenic war service."

N.P.C. had the pleasure of entertaining at dinner, on the fifteenth, Dean McCarn of Northwestern, Dean Lloyd of Michigan, and Dean Mueller of Indiana, and of hearing from them a comprehensive report of the conference of deans and educators, called by Northwestern University to consider the ways in which colleges might best serve the needs of their country during the war period, especially as those needs affect college women and college courses.

N.P.C. expressed its firm belief that the fraternity is a decisive factor in developing qualities of leadership and in strengthening standards of right and fine living—a factor needed today as perhaps never before—when it recommended:

"That all N.P.C. fraternities make a special effort to keep their members in college, urging them to complete their education in order to be better fitted to do their part in the developments of Democracy in the post-war period."

AMY BURNHAM ONKEN,
N.P.C. Delegate for Pi Beta Phi,
N.P.C. Treasurer.

ceived her Master's Degree from the University of Michigan in 1934. Her major was psychology and her first position was in the Psychiatric Department of the University Hospital at Ann Arbor. She later accepted the position of Executive Secretary of the Bay County Red Cross Association where she helped gear the work of that district to war time speed. This fall she resigned from this position in order to volunteer as an overseas worker in the Red Cross. She was sent to Walter Reed Hospital for a short period of training and then joined the University of Michigan Hospital Unit at Camp Robinson, Arkansas, where she worked for a month or so. After a thrilling trip overseas and a short separation of the "civilians" (the three, including Evelyn, who are secretary, recreational director, and psychiatric worker) and the dietitians, and physiotherapists, from the Michigan group—they have all been finally reunited "somewhere in England."

The following excerpts from her most interesting letter describe the nature of her work. "Our work is rather difficult to describe. I do not have a social worker's job only, there are no limits, really, to what we can do. For instance, here, I make daily ward rounds, stopping to talk to the patients about anything that they want to talk about. They are Americans, and we talk about mail from home, different parts of the country, football, the weather, the lack of beer and whiskey, and anything whatsoever. They discuss things that are on their minds and, if it is something that is worrying them about things at home, we use cable service and the local chapter in the boy's home town to ascertain just what the situation is, and do something about it—like in Bay City, where Red Cross gave relief to servicemen's families, helped get them jobs, etc. Besides this, over here, we give out 'comfort articles,' these are tooth-brushes, tooth-paste, shaving cream, razors, razor-blades, pencils, pens, writing paper, also socks and sweaters which were among our supply. Imagine my surprise when I found a pair of socks with a label to the effect that they were knit in Hawaii! My first request was for a right G. I. shoe, size 8½, for a patient who had been brought to us with only one shoe, as his other foot was in a cast, who now had to have the shoe so that he could begin to walk. I found one for him, too! We shop at the P-X for soldiers confined to bed. All of this in addition to obtaining case histories by interviewing those who have been associated with the patient, if the doctor requests a history, and also by cabling home for the local chapter to obtain history from the family. We do anything the doctor asks for, if he thinks that the soldiers just need to talk to some woman, and they often do, missing wives, and mothers and sweethearts, we are here to talk to them. All of these are my duties." . . . "Oh, yes, I have the job of supervising volunteers, too. This is where my Bay City experience helps, as the women who volunteer are very much like our own Red Cross people at home. They have to be properly identified here, to prevent spies getting in, etc., and have to be trained in what we want them to do. They do such things as mend clothing for the soldiers, visit on the wards, with flowers, and they have brought us hundreds of plants from their gardens to plant in our hospital grounds."

We quote from "Beta Theta Pi" the story of the husband of Juanita O'Day, formerly Lambda Province President—Colonel O'Day will be remembered as one of the husbands in attendance at the Yellowstone Convention. We quote from Beta Theta Pi:

THE "LONG, LONG NIGHT OF WAITING" . . . that we are destined to go through—as a nation and as individuals—before "this thing is over," is typified by the uncertainty surrounding the fate of Lt. Col. Ray M. O'Day, Washington State '15.

"Bataan fell April 9, and since then the war has flowed to other theaters. But not to the women of the men who held Bataan. Now and then one of them—like Mrs. Ray M. O'Day—gets a letter. The letters are terrible things, pieces of the past appearing suddenly in the present, but adding nothing to the eternal question: 'Is he alive?'"

"Mrs. O'Day, like all the other Bataan wives, keeps a scrap book, and a chronological list of the dates on which she can be sure he was alive. All she definitely knows is that he is listed "missing in action," but that he must have been alive on April 7—two days before Bataan fell. Her last actual contact with him that she depends on was made when an army allotment check was delivered to her for the month of April. It was larger than usual. The war department notified her that her husband, in the theater of war, had ordered it increased on the seventh.

"Colonel O'Day was sent to the Philippines as an instructor, in November of 1941, as the United States began a frantic preparation for what seemed the inevitable. His job was training raw Filipino recruits in a northern province near the Linguayan Gulf where the Japanese troops were to come flooding in. But after war began? For a long time Mrs. O'Day assumed that, like almost every other officer and man on Bataan, her husband had turned jungle fighter. But she could only guess.

"A week ago, Mrs. O'Day received a letter from the Colonel. It was begun in January, in a 'command post' somewhere north of Bataan. It was continued the next evening in another area. Then the ink in the colonel's pen ran dry. When the next chapter of the letter began, it was March, and he was on Bataan. On Christmas night, the letter said, the wife of an officer of the Philippine Scouts smuggled two whole roast turkeys, a loaf of bread and some bottles of soda pop to the post in which Colonel O'Day and other officers were stationed. 'We didn't know what would happen tomorrow,' he wrote. 'So we hacked up the turkeys and the bread and ate them in the dark.'

"Next the letter hints at a flight to Bataan, and when it ends, Colonel O'Day's fighting in a jungle with men who have nothing but their hands and weapons. 'I've gotten no pay since December,' he wrote. 'But out here, money doesn't matter. It makes you wonder. . . .' After that, Mrs. O'Day can only guess, and hope. The war in the Philippines ended May 6. But not for the wives of the men who fought and then disappeared from the world. . . ."

ICIE G. MACY, Ph.D., Nutrition and Chemical Growth in Childhood, Vol. 1, Evaluation. Charles C Thomas, Springfield, Ill. 432 pp.

Reviewed by WALTER E. SHARPE, JR., M.D.

This book is a valuable reference for general practitioners as well as the pediatrician and laboratory worker. It contains information gathered over a period of almost twenty years of exhaustive studies on the normal physiological chemistry of children between the ages of four to twelve years of age, carried out by Dr. Macy and her co-workers. There are 381 pages of text with 122 tables and 66 illustrations.

Work of this type on normal children was more difficult than if it had been performed on children who were ill and confined. Necessarily much arduous and well-executed organization was necessary.

The last half of the book deals with the various methods used in collecting and preserving the material for study and analytical procedures used which should be most useful to persons engaged in laboratory research. Volume II, Interpretation, will be published in 1943.

AUTHOR NOTES: Dr. Macy (Mrs. B. Raymond Hoobler) is an alumna of Virginia A and Colorado A. She is director of the Research Laboratory, Children's Fund of Michigan; consultant for nutrition to the pediatric staff of the Children's Hospital of Michigan; member of the food and nutrition board of the National Research Council; honorary member of the Society of Pediatric Research; member of the American Society of Biological Chemists; and former secretary of the American Institute of Nutrition.

PHYLLIS CRAWFORD, Last Semester, Henry Holt and Company. 270 pp.

College stories are generally interesting because their reading stimulates a feeling of nostalgia in their reader's minds. This and more too is part and parcel of Phyllis Crawford's newest book. Beneath a gay and exciting veneer of what transpires in a college dormitory lies a timely and significant theme—that it is necessary for everyone to work diligently and fearlessly to achieve and protect his "place in the sun."

To Langhorne-Evans College comes Janey Lou Cates, an only child of two career-minded parents. During her first three years, Janey Lou sails gaily through her studies, basks in the glory of being loved by the underclassmen, and permits her perspective of academic pursuit to follow a dubious course. But during her last semester, she gets an admirable hold on herself and proves to everyone that she could come through with flying colors.

Scenes of campus frolics, class rivalry, midnight sessions, and alumni visits are written with delightful candor. Miss Crawford demonstrates a sure and steady understanding of her subject and its significance.

"Last Semester," a Junior Literary Guild book, was chosen for young people by Helen Ferris, Angelo Patri, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, and Mrs. Sidonie M. Gruenberg as an outstanding publication for the month for older readers (B group.)

AUTHOR NOTES: Phyllis Crawford Scott (Mrs. Cyril), Virginia A, has forsaken the business of creative writing for the duration. She is now employed on the night shift of the Sperry Gyroscope Company in New York City.

Phyllis Crawford Scott, Virginia A

In an article recently published in Young Wings, a Junior Guild magazine, she wrote: "I chose to write Last Semester because it represents a way of life that we would lose in case of an Axis victory. There are no girls' colleges in Germany or Japan. . . . My own factory job is small. But I consider myself lucky to be able to do even an unimportant one. When the peace is won, only then will I feel that I can go back to writing books about nice people, for nice people to read and enjoy."

MILDRED JORDAN, Apple in the Attic, A Pennsylvania Legend, Alfred A. Knopf, 200 pp.

The charm of folk tales, revealing the customs, beliefs and everyday habits of their characters, is universal. In Apple in the Attic Mildred Jordan tells a quaint and unusual story of the Amish people who inhabit the Pennsylvania Dutch country.

The attributes, superstitions, and eccentricities of the Amish farmers and their families are projected simply and pointedly. In her preface, the author emphasizes their love of the land. Her own love and admiration for those about whom she writes is obviously comparable. She has caught the hurry and bustle of the Amish market place where delectable pastries, cheese, and specially cured meats are sold. It is on one of these typical market days that Jacob Dreibelbis and his wife, Emma, reach the turning point in their lives.

Jacob is stubborn and stingy. Though he loves Emma in his own irascible way, he cannot tolerate any slight sign of her waste. Because she forgets to bring to market eight quarts of schnitz for a special customer, he vows never to speak to her again. He never does.

He employs a faithful dog, Nellie, and a typically pertinent parrot, Em, as moderators. Poor faithful Emma, pitifully afraid of her "Chajob," is at last made strong by the birth of a baby girl.

In a dramatic conclusion, retribution, in the form of tragedy, satisfactorily solves Emma's problem. The story, compact and bordering on the whimsical, reveals the author's story-telling prowess, besides establishing her as a sympathetic reader of human nature. The book's binding and format is delightfully in keeping with its contents.

AUTHOR NOTES: Mildred Jordan Bausher (Mrs. J. Lee) Illinois E, gained immediate recognition with her first book, "One Red Rose Forever," the biography of Baron Stiegel. She writes she has not definitely decided upon her next book. She has been requested to write additional stories for various magazines, and Hollywood movie producers have urged her to write for them.

Appertaining to Apple in the Attic, the New York Times Book Review section noted, "Simple and direct as a Christmas legend. Humor, lightness and pulsing life . . . a beautifully done natural story."

LONZO ANDERSON, Bag of Smoke, Illustrated by Adrienne Adams, The Viking Press, 179 pp.

Bag of Smoke, the story of aviation pioneers, the Montgolfier brothers of France, provides a fresh and interesting approach to the evolution of flying. The author has ably set forth his theme in a series of dramatic, often humorous, episodes. The reader soon begins to feel that he, too, lived in la belle France during the eighteenth century, along with a populace amazed at a bag of smoke flying through the air with the greatest of ease.

By trial and error, Joseph and Etienne Montgolfier improve each edition of their original balloon. Eventually they fly successfully, high over Paris, before a startled French king. In the last chapter the brothers, embarrassed at their newly achieved acclaim, modestly admit they had only begun to fight for the advancement of the flying machine. Their words, prophetic of present day accomplishments reveal that "l'homme peut tout." Man can do anything! Exhibiting a tremendous amount of tireless research in the compilation of his material, Mr. Anderson has more than adequately caught the spirit of his story.

His wife, Adrienne Adams, provides fascinating period illustrations. At exactly the proper moment, in the turn of the story's events, appear delightful sketches which round out her husband's word-pictures.

Bag of Smoke is a different book that should please and enlighten anyone interested in aviation.

AUTHOR NOTES: Adrienne Adams Anderson (Mrs. John Lonzo) Missouri A, is an artist of considerable reputation. While planning a history-of-transportation mural, she became acquainted with the story of the first balloon. She suggested the idea to her husband; Bag of Smoke emerged after careful and deliberate collaboration.

Mr. Anderson says of their book, "When I finished my research, I had somewhere around eighty thousand words of translation and reading notes. My object was to make the modern reader feel as if he were a citizen of France in 1783 and to bring home to him what a truly wonderful thing the invention of the balloon was at the time."

Book Briefs:

Helene Collins Carpenter (Mrs. Paul) Oklahoma A, is an active member of the Norman Alumnae Club. After devoting a number of years to writing dramatic reviews, she decided to try her hand at fiction. After completing a professional writing course at the University of Oklahoma under W. S. Campbell (Stanley Vestal), a Pi Phi father, she sold her first story to This Week, a magazine syndicated through twenty-five metropolitan newspapers. She has also contributed fiction to Cosmopolitan, Liberty and Woman's Day. An issue of the Daily Oklahoman's book page revealed that "Mrs. Carpenter is a masterhand at deft characterization, clever repartee, and is at her best in dealing with sophisticated, well-groomed, and well-educated people whose sometimes glossy veneer covers hearts of gold."

Her most recent story, "Violets from Portugal" recently appeared in This Week.

Jane Toy Coolidge (Mrs. Charles B.) North Carolina A, last year contributed a chapter to "Life at St. Mary's," a book published by the University of North Carolina Press. Previously one of her short stories "The Big Road," was awarded first place in the national A.A.U.W. Writer's Project. She lives in Merchantville, N.J. and writes that "my family (two children), house, and garden keep me busy, and the local Pi Phi alumnae club has been the source of some of my most valued friendships."

Janet Worthington Engelhardt (Mrs. Ernest H.) Pennsylvania B, has written many articles for the Pennsylvania Farmer, her most recent being "Fresh Days in Spring." Last year she wrote "An Easter Message to the Boys in Service," printed in her hometown paper, The Luminary, in Muncy, Pa. She also served as symposiarch at the annual symposium of the Pi Beta Phi chapter members and alumnae at Bucknell University, speaking on the subject, "Ideals for Pi Phis."

She writes, "we, including my five year old son, live in an old remodeled home with open fireplaces and beamed ceilings, which was formerly an old inn. A white gate now stands where the old post road passed through."

She is a former president of the Business and Professional Woman's Club of Muncy, member of the historical society, and secretary and contributor to the Harrisburg Churchman.

Eva Roe Gaggin (Mrs. Edwin) New York A, is pleased that her latest book Down Ryton Water has been bought by Harrap and Co., Ltd., of London, Toronto, Bombay and Sidney, and that an English edition has been printed. The same publishers brought out an edition of An Ear for Uncle Emil which has been set in Braille by the British Society for the Blind.

Rhea Ahn Is News Commentator

Rhea McCarty Ahn (Mrs. A. A.), 484 S. Drexel Ave., Columbus, Ohio, has the honor of being the only woman news commentator in central Ohio. She broadcasts each weekday at ten in the morning over WCOL-NBC and on Sunday afternoon at 1:55—under the name of "Rhea McCarty." She was graduated in the College of Journalism of Ohio State University and served for a time on the Cleveland Plain Dealer. Having made ten consecutive crossings to Europe, spending two months each summer in England and on the continent (being in Europe when war was declared) qualifies Mrs. Ahn as a person familiar with the subject-matter coming to us from the war zones.

She is also Director of Women's activities at WCOL and at the last national convention of the National Association Broadcasters held in Cleveland was elected national treasurer of the National Association of Directors of Women's Programs sponsored by N.A.B.

Michigan Beta Marks 75th Year of National's Founding

From the Michigan Alumnus, 6-20-1942

THE Seventy-fifth Anniversary of the founding of Pi Beta Phi was celebrated by its Michigan Beta Chapter and the Ann Arbor Alumnæ Club and the Michigan Beta Association of Pi Beta Phi on Saturday, April 25, at the chapter house on Tappan Road. Mrs. Edwin Lee Holton of Manhattan, Kansas, assistant to the Grand Treasurer and former chairman of the Pi Beta Phi Settlement School at Gatlinburg, Tennessee, was the speaker at the buffet luncheon which followed the annual business meeting of the Association.

The program included songs by the active chapter, and the singing by the whole group of the Pi Phi Anthem, composed by Marie Winsor Stebbins of Marshall, and of the "Friendship Song" by Irene McFadden Kingston of Grand Rapids, both led by Mrs. Stebbins. Mrs. Annabel Kellogg Van Winkle, of Howell, read an original sonnet commemorating the anniversary. The national candle-lighting ceremony in memory of the twelve founders of the fraternity was conducted by Marie Winsor Stebbins.

The active chapter presented the retiring chairman of the Alumnæ Advisory Board, Carol Meiks Cook, with a silver gravy boat as a token of its appreciation of her untiring services on the board for six years.

Fannie Read Cook, of Albion, was the only charter member of Michigan B who could be present. A group picture was taken in front of the chapter house preceding the luncheon.

Mrs. May Rider Heath and Rebecca Downey White were co-chairmen of the committee of Ann Arbor alumnæ who had charge of arrangements for the celebration. It was originally intended to be a state-wide affair, but was curtailed after the declaration of war.

Following are the Michigan alumnæ who

"Seventy-Five"

A SONNET

Written by Annabel Kellogg VanWinkle for the 75th Anniversary Celebration of Pi Beta Phi April 25, 1942, and read by the author on that occasion, at the Chapter House of Michigan Beta.

In memory's long hall to-day wine red
Carnations lie, with silver ribbon blue.

Upon each slender stalk is tied, anew,
The knot which binds us now. While from them spread
The lasting scent of cloves sweet perfume shed.
Its walls all gleam with shining arrows, too,
Each year shot high young maiden's hearts to woo,
With friendship's golden chain are swiftly sped.

At Monmouth College on an April day
In eighteen sixty-seven, twelve fond maids
Pledged love undying and their loyalty
To dear I. C., wherever they might stray.
Another milestone joins your cavalades.
Pi Beta Phi, to-day we honor thee.

Fiftieth Anniversary of Pennsylvania Alpha

PENNSYLVANIA ALPHA alumnae met at Swarthmore on Saturday, October 10 to celebrate the 50th Anniversary of the installation of Pennsylvania A at Swarthmore College, Swarthmore, Pennsylvania.

The weather was perfect and the campus was at its best with the beautiful autumn foliage. In spite of transportation difficulties and short notice, eighty-five alumnae returned for a luncheon served at the Ingleuek Tea Room followed by an informal program in Bond Memorial on the campus. Letters of greeting were read from Miss Onken, Mrs. Nickerson, Miss Keller and Mrs. Downs, President of the Philadelphia Alumnae Club. President Nason had hoped to give his greetings in person but the opening of College that week-end kept him too busy so he sent us a cordial message.

Dora Gilbert and Laurretta Smedley Dutton (two of our three living charter members) were our guests of honor. We dressed them in 1892 costumes and as they walked across the stage we sang one of the favorite Pi Phi songs, "The Wine and Silver Blue" which was written by another Pennsylvania A charter member, Elizabeth Pownall Walton.

An informal pageant showing outstanding events in the life of Pennsylvania Alpha Chapter during the 42 years of its existence, was given and called forth many a laugh as costumes of 1892, 1910, 1918 appeared. As that part of the day's events closed with the Pi Phi anthem, to the alumnae came the realization more than ever what the loss of their active chapter meant.

The rest of the afternoon was spent in strolling around the campus and seeing the many new points of interest. A few alumnae had never seen the old Pi Phi Lodge, now used for Freshmen Lodge.

At six o'clock many of the same 85 and a few others went to the home of Hilda Lang Denworth in Swarthmore for a Pi Beta Phi cooky-shine. The game room in her basement made a perfect place for such an affair. Many letters and telegrams were read from alumnae who could not be with us. We also had a phone call from Elizabeth Jackson Shaffner from Detroit. The Denworth family did all possible to make our cooky-shine a huge success and Hilda's husband, Raymond, gave us a five pound box of candy. We sang songs, both Pi Phi and College songs and talked and . . . kept on talking.

Many Pi Phis gathered together the next day in smaller groups and all agreed we were glad we had celebrated in that informal way what would have been fifty years for Pennsylvania A.

More Alumnae Clubs at Work

To select an outstanding war worker from the Berkeley Alumnae Club would be a difficult task. Every Bay Area Pi Beta Phi is busy to her capacity.

An Alumnae bridge group, Mrs. Waldemar Augustine (Marguerite St. Claire), California I, Mrs. William H. Ringe (Effie C. Paine), Wisconsin A, Mrs. W. S. Haven (Bessie Litterer), California I, Mrs. H. P. Houston (Lucie Brennen), California B, Mrs. George A. Simmons (Katherine Zoe Hall), Indiana A-Ohio A, Mrs. Henry Norris Schindler (Clara Ellen O'Neill), Nevada A, Mrs. H. P. Bell (Myrta Harrington), New York A, and Mrs. George R. Johnson (Sue Boot), became a Red Cross unit two years ago. Since last fall they have made ninety wool afghans from salvaged wool. They now have joined the Red Cross sewing group of The Woman's Athletic Club and have helped to make the twenty thousand First Aid Kits needed by the O.C.D. for the Wardens, Fire Watchers, Auxiliary Police, and Auxiliary Firemen. Mending soldier's and sailor's clothes and socks is another task performed by this group. They go to the camps for this homely function.

Mrs. William H. Ringe (Effie C. Paine), Wisconsin A, working independently, has had a busy but interesting job. Soldiers and sailors desiring sweaters, have written giving their measurements. She has promptly answered with a sweater. To date Mrs. Ringe has made more than twenty-five boys pleased. A tremendous task, but her due reward is found in the charming letters of thanks sent her. One grateful boy wrote her that receiving a beautiful hand knit sweater from someone he didn't know made all the difference in the world. It made a number of sacrifices seem worth while. At present Mrs. Ringe is busy with benefits for the Berkeley Hospitality House.

Mrs. Henry Norris Schindler (Clara Ellen O'Neill), Nevada A, of The Officer's Courtesy Bureau at the Hotel Leamington, finds herself very busy arranging dances, sending out invitations for hostesses, helping at Open House, being a bureau of information, and aiding officers to find housing facilities for themselves and families.

The Motor Corps, a branch of the A.W.V.F., has Mrs. F. A. Davies (Amy Louise Burlingame), Montana A, Mrs. A. C. Moorhead (Margaret Mail), California B, and Mrs. Vance McClymonds (Treasure Ellis), California B, in its ranks. They have all completed their courses in First Aid, Motor Mechanics, Map Reading, and Safety Driving. Quite an education in itself. They have been prepared to aid in evacuation should an incident warrant same. Their duties to date have been motor-ferrying officers and taking invited guests to camp dances.

In the Canteen service are Mrs. Claude Faw (Isabel Cluff), California B, Mrs. Carlisle Crosby (Jean Hall), California A, Mrs. Gano Baker (Helen Griffith), Colorado A, and Mrs. Warren Sanford (Louise Gimbal), California B, who assist in serving luncheons at Red Cross Headquarters to the workers, and to the doctors and nurses at the Blood Bank. These women are also on call any time of day or night to make sandwiches for the boys embarking.

O.C.D. with its new Day Warden set up, Hospitality Houses throughout the Bay Area, A.W.V.S., and Red Cross claims every Pi Beta Phi in the Berkeley Alumnae Club.

Little Rock, Arkansas

With Camp Robinson at Little Rock, Arkansas, the Little Rock Alumnae Club of Pi Beta Phi has more than its share of outstanding Pi Phis doing war work.

Claire Norris Moody, Arkansas A

Claire Norris Moody (Mrs. W. F.) Arkansas A, 1912

There are only two men in Claire Moody's family, her son and her son-in-law. Both are in the U. S. Army. So it isn't strange that Mrs. Moody spends a great deal of time after her regular job is done in listening to the troubles of some other mother's son at the U.S.O. in

Eleanor Forwood Cooke, Arkansas A (in center) at Christ Church, Soldiers' Center Supper

Little Rock, Arkansas. Each Saturday night she handles the desk at the Service Center on Main Street, and each Sunday afternoon she serves as hostess in the same busy place. Because of her successful experience in handling the problems of the U.S.O., this fall she has been given the job of training a class of U.S.O. workers who will in turn train volunteer U.S.O. helpers.

Besides her work in the U.S.O. Center, Mrs. Moody is chairman of the Y.W.C.A.-U.S.O. dance committee in Little Rock. And of course she knits for the Red Cross.

Mildred Moss, Arkansas A, 1914

Mildred Moss' job is essential to the war effort. As Acting Director of the State Board of Health for Arkansas, she supervises the running of all the blood tests for Arkansas draftees. But her contribution to the war effort goes beyond the line of duty. She is a member of the committee of the Little Rock Business and Professional Women which sponsors jointly with the U.S.O. dances for enlisted men each Friday and Saturday evening. Miss Moss' duty is to see that some of the nicest girls in Little Rock are present to dance with the select group of enlisted men invited by the U.S.O. All Miss Moss' Saturday evenings are spent giving boys from all over the country a taste of Southern Hospitality.

Eleanor Forwood Cooke (Mrs. J. E.), Arkansas A, 1915

Eleanor Cooke's chief contribution to the war effort is her son, Harry Cooke, who has been Senior Craftsman with the Royal Air Force in England since September 1941, and who expects to transfer to the U. S. Army as instructor in 1943.

But more people know Mrs. Cooke as chairman of the Christ Episcopal Church Soldiers' Center here in Little Rock. This popular soldiers' center is open each Saturday and Sunday, afternoon and evening, and has served as a hospitality center for hundreds of lonesome buck privates, as well as for those men fortunate enough to wear stripes or bars. Besides arranging for a dance each Saturday night, an open house each Sunday afternoon, and occasional suppers and picnics, Mrs. Cooke's committee sees that each soldier who is at the morning church service is invited out to dinner, and that any member of a soldier's family, visiting in Little Rock, is accorded suitable hospitality.

Even with this responsible job, Mrs. Cooke finds time to knit for the Red Cross and to give one day a week to Red Cross sewing.

Pauline Hoeltzel, Arkansas A, 1918

That Pauline Hoeltzel is a leading citizen of Little Rock is proved by the multiplicity of duties she has been asked to assume in connection with the war effort of the community. She is a member of the Board of Directors of the Central Volunteer Bureau. She is on the Pulaski County Defense Council. She belongs to the county committee on the care of young children in this defense factory area. She represents the faculty on the National Defense Committee of Little Rock Junior College.

Under the leadership of Miss Hoeltzel, who is serving her second year as president, the Little Rock Branch of the American Association of University Women has sponsored Red Cross courses in Nutrition, First Aid, and Air Raid Warden training. Miss Hoeltzel was also responsible for initiating the morale work that has been done by the Recent Graduates Group of the A.A.U.W., under the chairmanship of another Pi Phi, Florence Kruger.

In addition to her executive duties, Miss Hoeltzel finds time to knit for the Red Cross. She has also supervised the furnishing of two day rooms at Camp Robinson, one furnished by the A.A.U.W. and the other by the Winfield Auxiliary of the Spanish War Veterans.

Florence Kruger, Arkansas A, 1921

One of the best-trained war workers of Little Rock, Arkansas is Florence Kruger. She has completed the Red Cross courses in Home Nursing, First Aid, Surgical Dressings, Nutrition and Canteen Work. At present she is working on a course in Occupational Therapy being given at Camp Robinson.

Miss Kruger devotes two days a week to Grey Lady work. She is on call for canteen work at one of the local railway stations. She knits for the Red Cross and supervises the making of surgical dressings. Miss Kruger has spent many hours planning and presenting at Camp Robinson programs by her students of vocal music.

A unique contribution to morale work has been the Sunday afternoon receptions for bachelor officers sponsored by the Recent Graduates Group of the A.A.U.W., with Miss Kruger as their chairman and adviser.

Franklin

Members of the Franklin Alumnae Club are definitely active in war work. Some of the prominent Pi Beta Phis in the home front activities are Mrs. Harry Hougham (Hazel Dell Alexander) who is chairman of Special Volunteer Services, and Mrs. Riehl Vandivier (Marian McClain) who is Chairman of the Canteen Corps as well as being Chairman of the Advisory Board of the local U.S.O.

Miss Susanah Ott, sponsor of the Junior Red Cross, is also secretary of the Executive Board and an instructor in both First Aid and Nutrition classes.

Members who have completed their first aid training include Mrs. Donald Dungan (Gladys Deer), Mrs. Hougham, Mrs. John Edmondson (Ruth Cummings), Margaret Collins, Miss Jeanette Brown, and Miss Katherine Graves.

Nutrition classes were attended by Mrs. John F. Cady (Vivian Thomas), Miss Clara Suckow, Miss Katherine Graves, and Mrs. Kenneth Rider, Jr. (Jean Rider). Mrs. Cady was also an instructor.

Mrs. George Vandivier (Mary Huckleberry), Marjorie Adams and Ellen Andrews have participated in knitting and bandaging.

Both Mrs. Hougham and Mrs. Dungan are members of the Motor Corps.

Bond Sales in our county were led by our current president, Mrs. Emmons Hougland (Mary Cox), Miss Adda Wyrick and Mrs. Bess Wilson, a Pi Beta Phi patroness.

Northern Indiana

Members of the Northern Indiana Alumnae Club have contributed much of their time for war work, although no one has been engaged in what would be termed "unusual."

Of the Sturgis, Michigan members, Mrs. J. C. Cade has spent many hours helping with the details of sugar rationing; while Mrs. F. B. Kinzler and Mrs. Ed Jameison have been patiently knitting for months, for both Britain and our own armed forces.

In Goshen, Indiana, there is a British Relief Society, which meets every week regularly, at the home of Mrs. Mark Disoway, an Illinois B. Two other Pi Phis, Mrs. Floyd Freeman, and Mrs. Orma Smith are in this group, which has turned out a large volume of work. Over 200 comforters, and 30 afghans, have been completed and shipped. Among the articles they have sent to refugee women, are baby gowns, kimonos, diapers, felt booties, baby covers, rag dolls, tiny stuffed toys (pocket size), kits of needles, pins, thread, soap, talcum, scissors, aspirin, shoe laces, hankies, and several dozen baby vests crocheted of white wool yarn. In addition the society sends a monthly quota of 36 outing pajamas, and 18 wool dresses, or pinafores.

Kansas City, Kansas

Members of the alumnae club of Kansas City, Kansas are making an "all-out" effort to win the war and are sharing the responsibilities of this crisis.

The work being done by Mrs. James Speaker (Virginia Voorhees) is of particular interest to us as well as a great benefit to the community. Through the public school system and the W.P.A. Virginia, as committee chairman, is organizing a day nursery for pre-school children of working mothers. This is the first day nursery of this kind in Kansas City, Kansas, and is a big step in freeing women to take the places vacated by men in the service.

Flavia Ann Tharp, Nancy McCroskey, and Julia Jane Hoover are working in the offices of the North American Aviation plant where B-25 bombers are made.

After having completed the pre-requisite courses Mary Jane Haynes has volunteered her services as instructor in Red Cross classes.

Other members of our alumnae club have received Red Cross certificates in First-Aid, Home Nursing, Nutrition, and Mechanics, and are ready to give their services when needed.

CAROLINE BRINK

Tucson Club at Work

After completing a survey of the activities of members of the club, it is gratifying to find that most of them are active in some phase of war work.

Martha Williams Keevan, Arizona A, is perhaps one of the most enthusiastic and active Red Cross workers in the club. Martha volunteered eight hours a day for eight months, as chairman of the Staff Assistance Corps of the Red Cross. She is Coordinating member of the Red Cross Committee on disaster relief, and was Volunteer Staff Assistant to the field director at Davis Monthan Field. She completed the following courses: Instructor's course, Staff Assistants course, Motor Mechanics course, and the Shortened Home Service course. In addition to this, Martha taught three first aid classes. She is now a paid member of the Red Cross Staff at Davis Monthan Field, doing secretarial work.

Margaret Neal Herndon, Arizona A, whose husband is in command of a regiment in the Canal Zone (Colonel Prugh Herndon) is Chairman of the Officers' wives of his regiment. Margaret works at the Red Cross production room making surgical dressings, and also does a great deal of knitting for the Red Cross.

Frances Loftus Beal, Arizona A-California F, is president of the club, and is active in the American Women's Voluntary Services, acts as hostess regularly at La Hacienda—newly opened club for enlisted men. Frances also helps in the rationing program, and in the making of surgical dressings at the Red Cross production room.

Mable Hill, Colorado A, gives a great deal of her time to Bundles for Britain, works regularly in the American Red Cross Canteen Corps, and does other Red Cross work.

Mary Calhoun Becker, Virginia A, is a Nurses' Aide and also spends three hours a week at the Red Cross production room making surgical dressings.

Virginia Culbertson Dabberg, Florida A-Arizona A, works at the office of Civilian Defense one morning each week. She also helps with the rationing program, and makes surgical dressings.

Helen O'Malley Powers, Arizona A, is chairman of the Red Cross Committee on disaster relief. She works two days a week assisting with the rationing program, and works at the Red Cross production room.

Other members of the Club, not mentioned above, are active in aiding the rationing program, knitting for the Red Cross and making surgical dressings.

North Carolina Alpha

North Carolina A has gone into a new field of war work. With the present crowded conditions and lack of domestic help in Chapel Hill tying down the wives of the Naval officers in the Pre-Flight School, Pi Beta Phi was asked to assist early in October by taking care of the small children while their mothers attended to Red Cross and USO work. This informal nursery was such a success that it was made a weekly affair and the other fraternity chapters joined in and each took the children one afternoon a week.

This picture, taken by a Navy photographer, was placed in all the state papers and has also been sent to Washington.

San Diego

Salute to many club members who are intensely interested and occupied in war work! We are particularly proud of Gladys Warren, North Dakota A, who has given her time continuously since Pearl Harbor at the Aeroplane Filter Board, in the very important work of spotting all aircraft over San Diego skies. Gladys gives 4 hours at night, twice a week, after putting in a full 8 hour working day in an office. This is true American service!

Grace Higbee Mark (Mrs. Chas. Edmund, Michigan A) also deserves a special mention for her continuous supervision of sewing projects largely in connection with her church's program of war effort. Many others could be specifically mentioned but for lack of space; they certainly deserve all the credit possible.

Edna Furnald Jensen (Mrs. Oscar T.) California B, is head of the surgical dressings section of the Red Cross in Coronado.

Columbia, Missouri

Pi Beta Phi alumnae in Columbia, Missouri, are contributing largely to the war effort, especially in various phases of Red Cross, Bundles for Britain and Civilian Defense activities.

Mrs. Duke N. Parry (Mary Banks, Missouri A) was appointed more than a year ago to serve as special field representative of Red Cross Volunteer Special Services for the midwestern area. She was also chairman of Volunteer Services for the Boone County chapter of Red Cross for three years. Upon her resignation in January from the latter office, Mrs. Barton Robnett (Margaret Lohman, Missouri A) became acting chairman. Mrs. Robnett also heads the Red Cross Motor Corps in Boone County and serves on the Red Cross board.

A member of the first canteen unit in Boone County is Mrs. Hartley G. Banks (Eugenia Owen, Missouri A), who finished forty hours of training in that field. She and Mrs. Sidney B. Neate (Margaret Galt, Missouri F) have charge of a Junior Red Cross newspaper issued each month.

Mrs. Dwight E. Aultman, II (Dorothy Logan, Missouri A), who is here for the duration while her husband, Major Aultman, is serving overseas in the army, presides at the Bundles for Britain desk two hours each week giving out yarn and receiving knitted garments. She made twenty sweaters in a year's time.

Upon completion of a nurse's aide course, Mrs. C. W. Sheppard (Helen Redford, Missouri A) began active service in December, 1942, at the Boone County Hospital, where she is on duty two mornings each week.

The former chairman of the Staff Assistance Corps in Columbia is Mrs. W. J. Barnett (Pocahontas Thompson, Missouri A), who served in that capacity for two years and was also on the Red Cross board. Members who completed the course were: Mrs. Berry McAlester (Virginia Dyas, Missouri A), Mrs. Hartley G. Banks, Mrs. Sidney B. Neate and Mrs. Barton Robnett.

A donor to the Red Cross Blood Bank was Mrs. John L. Allton (Mildred Thompson, Iowa Z), who also serves as supervisor of the Surgical Dressings room one day each week and as telephonist at the Control Center for Civilian Defense. Mrs. Allton completed a first aid course in which she was given fifteen hours of training.

Teacher of a clothing construction class in Columbia is Mrs. F. C. Old (Gladys Legg, Oregon B), who gives instruction three times a week. The course includes tailoring methods.

Mrs. Frank L. Mott (Vera Ingram, Iowa B) sews one-half day each week for the Red Cross. For three months she devoted a half day every week to work at the Civilian Defense Center.

The War Project of the Jacksonville Pi Beta Phi Club

The Pi Beta Phi Alumnae Club of Jacksonville, Florida, took an unprecedented step as a civic and war-minded organization when, last August, the club promised to make a survey of juvenile delinquency in Jacksonville. Such a survey had never been made here before. It was a known fact that juvenile delinquency was increasing rapidly but an actual count was necessary as a basis for any plans made to cope with the problem of an over-crowded, war-conscious seaport. Jacksonville's population jumped from 173,065 in January, 1941 to 258,000 in December, 1942.

The Study Planning Committee of the Council of Social Agencies was looking about for a group who would undertake the project. They presented their problem to Mrs. Kenyon Parsons (Nyra Nooney, Florida B) who held a position in the Juvenile Court prior to her marriage. She explained the situation to the Pi Phis at the next alumnae meeting and the club accepted the responsibility unhesitatingly.

A form card was filled out for every case of juvenile delinquency in the official and unofficial records of the Crime Prevention Bureau, General Police Court, Federal Court, Criminal Court, and Juvenile Court from October, 1941 through June, 1942. This period was picked as covering varying conditions of weather, season and population. It takes in school days and vacation days; Winter, when the Florida population is swollen by the transient influx; Summer, when the transient population is less. In short it includes every known condition on which to base a comparative study.

On each form card the information obtained was age, sex, color, marital status, address, charge, place of arrest, place of offense, time and date of arrest and offense. Approximately 4000 cards were filled out. In the courts handling both adults and juveniles the entire records had to be sorted through and the juveniles selected from them.

Mrs. Parsons accepted the chairmanship of the project committee and the Pi Phis went to work. Every weekday found two or more alumnae at work at a desk in the police station. Needless to say, the research work itself and the privilege of being on the inside scene of the city's law enforcement machinery was an interesting and enlightening experience for us. Four hours a day was the minimum time each Pi Phi worked at a stretch and many times their interest and enthusiasm carried them over the required four hours. The C D V O is giving credit to each Pi Phi for the hours she worked on the project which will entitle many to wear the Civilian Defense Service pin.

Those serving on the committee in charge of the project were: Mrs. Frederic Foill, Mrs. Thomas Barton, Mrs. Joseph Durkee, Mrs. Earl Harby, Mrs. Walter Schultz, Mrs. C. T. McMurry, Mrs. Frank Coffee, Mrs. Bradford Stone, Mrs. Rainey McJunkins, Miss Eleanor Mahoney, Miss Wilma Broward, Miss Dolly Chitty, Miss Mary Jane Brown, Mrs. Daniel Dale, Mrs. Robert Clayton, Mrs. F. Homer Hagaman, Mrs. W. B. Nichols, Mrs. John Brooks, Mrs. Robert Bishop and Mrs. William Yandell.

All during the Fall months we kept at it and long before the survey was finished it was quite apparent in how many different ways the information was to be used. The statistical values of the survey are almost unlimited; for example, it will show which sections of town produce the most delinquents, which charges are the most frequent, and in which areas most arrests are made. The Juvenile Protective Association was impatiently awaiting the completion of the survey as was the Community Chest and several other social agencies. Judge Criswell of the Juvenile Court used the information gathered from the cards in an address even before we were half way through.

The project is now in the hands of the Council of Social Agencies for the compilation of statistics. Many of the Pi Phis have developed an awareness of community was problems through this work and will be eager to participate in the follow-up work on the project. It will be an integral part of community planning in Jacksonville.

As Life and Newsweek magazines recently pointed out, increased juvenile delinquency is one of the major war problems to be battled on the home front. The Jacksonville Pi Phis found this particular phase of war work decidedly interesting and worthwhile.

Conferences

Alpha Province East Conference

It was in May, 1942, that the chapter presidents of Alpha Province East first began to think of a province conference. Mrs. Everett, the Province President, was the originator of the idea and it is to her that the great benefit derived from the meeting is owed. For many weeks it was all very indefinite and various unforeseen difficulties arose. Would the Canadian delegate be permitted by the authorities to cross the border into the United States and would all the chapter presidents be able to meet in Boston? Letters went to the Canadian government in Ottawa, to Miss Onken, and, almost every day, to Mrs. Everett. Results from all this correspondence proved most encouraging and the date was finally set for August 22 and 23 at the Pioneer, Boston.

By Friday evening all the delegates had arrived. There were seven Pi Beta Phis present: Mrs. Everett, the Province President; Miss Ermine Pollard, Province Vice-President; Anne Swift, President of Massachusetts Alpha; Carolyn Ohlander, President of Vermont Alpha; Mary Boswell, President of Nova Scotia Alpha; Lois White, delegate for Maine Alpha; and Priscilla Perkins, delegate for Vermont B.

The meetings were held in a room in the Pioneer and at nine o'clock Saturday morning Mrs. Everett called the first meeting to order. After the ritual a letter from Miss Onken was read in which the Grand President extended her good wishes to the conference. The first topic of discussion, War Reflections, was led by Mary Boswell.

The second part of the morning was devoted to the discussion of rushing problems, led by Anne Swift and Carolyn Ohlander.

Through the kindness of the Hartford Alumnae Club, represented by Miss Pollard, the delegates enjoyed a delicious luncheon at the DuBarry.

The afternoon began with a discussion of Pledge Supervision, led by Priscilla Perkins. Organization and Training of Officers was led by Mary Boswell.

Saturday evening was a grand treat for the delegates. The Boston Alumnae Club and Massachusetts A entertained the out-of-town members at a dinner at the Brittany, a most attractive restaurant managed by a Pi Phi.

The dinner was followed by a moonlight sail down the Charles River. After the sail there was a singsong and refreshments in the recreation rooms of the Y.W.C.A. adjoining the Pioneer.

Lois White opened the Sunday session and, with the assistance of Priscilla Perkins, led the discussion on activities.

Having completed the scheduled topics the remainder of the morning was taken up with exchanging each chapter's customs and traditions. Mrs. Everett and Miss Pollard entertained the chapter representatives at dinner at the Raleigh and this was the last meal as a group.

In the afternoon the meeting was turned over to Miss Pollard who talked about National Projects.

The delegates departed and each had the feeling that much had been accomplished, a feeling that each was a part of a great organization and not for one moment could she forget its ideals and standards which she must live up to. The conference sponsored the national feeling which must be so apparent at the National Convention.

State of Maine Conference

The seventh annual Maine State convention was held on Sunday, July 26, 1942, at the Augusta House in Augusta, Maine. Mrs. Margaret Davis McLaren was reelected president with Mrs. Parker Cushman vice-president. The morning business meeting was followed by luncheon at the hotel. Table decorations were carried out in wine and blue. At the informal afternoon session, Hazel Sawyer Everett was the principal speaker. She is president of Alpha Province East. The program also included a skit by Priscilla Shaw, Lois White, and Elinor Dixon, members of the active chapter. Cleo de Gagne Gaffney from Great Neck, Long Island, won the prize given annually to the alumna traveling the farthest to Conference, while the class of 1931 again took honors for having the largest representation present. Settlement School articles were sold during the day. The question of a conference in 1943 has been left to the discretion of the president.

Report on General Honors Won by Members of Pi Beta Phi During the Year 1941-1942

THE SCHOLARSHIP committee takes great pleasure in announcing the honors won by members of the Fraternity during the year 1941-1942. This list of general honors contains more than one and a half times as many names as that of any other year. Evidently many of the members of the Fraternity feel that a scholarly education is one of the best weapons to use in meeting the problems of the world today. We are very proud of all the members listed below.

Only those winning general scholastic honors were listed. Departmental honors were not included.

We regret that several pictures came in without name, chapter or honor, and so could not be used.

Another Phi Beta Kappa

Janice Bushman Minter (Mrs. S. S.), Michigan B, who transferred to Colorado College in Colorado Springs, Colorado, her junior year, was elected to Φ B K last spring. The fact that she was married at the beginning of her senior year and took on the duties of running an apartment in addition to a full time college schedule did not hamper her excellent scholastic record. Janice majored in English and was graduated in June Summa Cum Laude, the highest honors awarded at Colorado College. This year she is teaching Freshman English at Colorado College.

An Appeal For Nurses

Nursing has been termed by military and civilian leaders women's first war responsibility. Without adequate nursing service we cannot hope to maintain the efficiency of our home and fighting fronts. The student nurse, within a few months after entering the school of nursing, begins her active war service, caring for the civilian sick and releasing graduate nurses to military duty. At the same time she prepares for future military or civilian duty herself.

There is sincere hope that students who enter schools of nursing at this time will not be needed for military duty. However, to make them available as quickly as possible, the course is being accelerated in most schools so that college graduates may complete their classroom work in twenty-four to twenty-eight months, instead of the three years now required of high school graduates. The intention is to release the student at the end of this period for supervised service in either civilian or domestic military hospitals. For the student with two years of college credit the time may be reduced to twenty-six to thirty months. Because they can take advantage of such acceleration and accept responsibility at the end of a relatively short time, it is important to the war effort that college women make themselves available for this essential work.

No qualified young woman need be kept out of nursing because of lack of funds. A number of private funds are already available. The General Federation of Women's Clubs is establishing scholarships and other aid. The Federal government has allocated $3,500,000 to nursing education, a part of which is being applied to tuition and entrance fees in certain hospitals. Further extensive wartime aid may be forthcoming from the Federal government.

Further information about any phase of the program may be had from the State Nursing Councils for War Service or from the National Nursing Council for War Service, 1790 Broadway, New York City.

More "I Will" Codes

THE winner of the first prize offered for these codes was Iowa Z. The other three codes chosen by the committee for mention are given herewith:

Second Prize—Illinois Eta

Time is an essential element in our daily living, and right at this period in our educational career, seems to be the outstanding element for consideration. The War has made us aware of spending valuable time for those essentials that will make for a better present as well as future life in terms of the present situation. The educational program has been speeded up to an extent that every available minute of the day must be used constructively—careful consideration made as to the importance of any undertaking, no matter how apparently important as judged by pre-War standards, so that precious minutes will be spent for only those undertakings that are absolutely necessary, which include time spent for chapter meetings, reports; time spent for social functions, both personal and inter-school; and finally, the precious time spent for building of a foundation by way of education, for the stormy future ahead. BUDGET YOUR TIME AND ENJOY THE ESSENCE OF THE THING BUDGETED.

TRUST IN GOD. God is essentially goodness and love, and since God manifests Himself in all things pertaining to living, the right way of living is to follow the truth, or to follow God. Therefore, work for the true way and TRUST IN GOD.

All rumors should be quietly and cautiously looked into. A prejudiced mind is one that is bound to work toward failure. Be clear-headed and forward-looking in all analysis. Form your opinions on the basis of facts, and act in accordance with those facts. An attitude of tolerance and justice are the prime prerequisites for positive action in regard to rumors. The traffic signal might well work here—STOP, CAUTION, GO!

The best service a college fraternity girl can render to her country during these times is the service of rigorously striving to develop herself spiritually, morally, physically, and mentally in order to prepare herself for a future that will demand more from her than past futures have demanded from college girls of years gone by. If there is time to work in a Red Cross unit, or similar war work project, then by all means the girl owes it to her loved ones in the service, to herself and to her country to spend some time in such service. However, a thing worth doing at all is worth doing well, and no girl, no matter how much excess energy she has, has a right to "put her finger in so many pies" that she will do none of those undertakings well. For the future of her country she should realize that her education is of primal importance and morale building must also be given highest consideration; but the girl who will "win this War" is the girl who will do those daily important tasks that are essential in the War effort, and who will do them well. She should cut down on her activities that are not absolutely "musts" in order to do the essential things well. CONCENTRATE ON THE ESSENTIALS AND DO THEM WELL.

Third Prize—Indiana Delta

I will try to become a better citizen and a better woman in 1942 by observing these standards:

Work to win the war. I will give my services in whatever way I am best fitted.

Increase my responsibility. Since I am an educated woman, I should be capable of organizing and encouraging others. I will try to become a leader rather than a follower.

Look on the bright side. I will learn to be cheerful and to laugh. Optimism makes friends.

Live sensibly. I will eat, and sleep, and work, and play in the proper proportions, in order to build a healthy body and a sound mind.

Cooperative with authorities, by squelching rumors, conserving needed materials, and by obeying the law.

Open my eyes and ears. In this way to increase my knowledge, broaden my viewpoint, and strengthen my powers of observation.

Discover the beauty in life, by learning to appreciate art, nature, talent, and simplicity.

Earn the privilege of being an American. I will worship God, respect our flag, and try to conduct myself in a manner becoming to a true American.

Fourth Prize—Manitoba Alpha

- I will always remember that good health is conducive to saner thinking.
- I will cheerfully deny myself personal extravagance.
- I will be a true patriot by discouraging rumor and doing all I can to aid in my country's war effort.
- I will cultivate a sense of perspective in order to maintain emotional stability.
- I will realize my duty as an educated woman to be a steadying influence on the society of today.
- I will make the most of my opportunities and enthusiastically perform the task that is before us now—in my studies and in my war work.
- I will prepare myself for my position as a leader in the future by studying carefully every aspect of the problems which confront society.
- I will turn to God for my strength and spiritual guidance.
- I will have faith in myself to strive for the fulfillment of this code.

Honorable Mention—Oregon Beta

- "No one profits from me; only in what I do am I valuable."
- I will be strong in the Lord for I need His comfort and support more than ever.
- I shall use my education for my country, backing up its efforts to destroy now; helping to win the peace when it's over.
- I will begin with hope, build with faith, and carry out my tasks with strength to achieve success.
- I will be humble, natural, sincere.

- I will have an open mind; tolerate others' opinions and reevaluate my own.
- I will mete out to myself the strictest discipline—hold myself in greatest respect and treat others the same.
- I will increase my vitality by getting plenty of sleep, good food, and healthy exercise.
- I will live up to my capacities so they will not be lost.
- I will allot the proper hours to study and play—remembering that men the world over are not being given time for pleasure.

Honorable Mention—Texas Alpha

- I will VALUE above all else the Christian ideals of truth, honesty, justice, purity, loveliness, practicing these in my daily living.
 - I will IMPROVE my mind through conscientious study, my health through daily exercise and careful diet, and my character through right living.
 - I will CONTRIBUTE a part of my strength and time to at least one activity in which I may serve the needs of my country.
 - I will TRY in my college work to prepare myself for whatever way of living I may be called upon to face.
 - I will OBEY at all times the dictates of my conscience rather than the example set by my associates.
 - I will RISE above gossip, jealousy, and temptation.
 - I will YIELD to no compromises in my ideals, my conscience, or my ambitions.
- "Seek ye the beautiful and the good."

Grace Coolidge Meets the WAVES

By ELEANOR A. WHITE, Iowa Γ

While in training at Northampton nine of us Pi Phis discovered each other. We all lived in the Hotel Northampton. It was fun seeing each other, for though we seldom had time for more than a "hi," it was like seeing an old friend.

It was strange the way we got together. Being in the navy, most of us felt our Pi Phi pins were safest at home, so long as we couldn't wear them. However, until we were in uniform, we remained in civilian clothes. This was about 4 weeks, and thanks to the few who wore their pins during that time, we were able to learn of the other Pi Phis.

There was no way to post a notice to get all the Pi Phis together, so that we in the hotel never knew any who might have lived in one of the dormitories. One Wednesday afternoon we had a grand time at a planned reunion in the hotel lobby. It rivaled a convention discussion group, for eight different chapters were represented. All of us, being recent graduates, were eager to hear how the other active chapters did things.

At this reunion, we decided to have our own little cooky-shine at Mary Marguerite's

Tea Room in Northampton. We set the date for two weeks from then, and even appointed a chairman to make all arrangements. The pictures enclosed were taken on this great occasion. Mrs. Coolidge came at our invitation and seemed just as pleased to be with us as we were to be with her.

Here are the girls:

Barbara Northern, Pi Phi at Florida State College for Women and Rollins College; graduated 1941

Frances Hennessey, Vermont B, 1938

Ethel McCarthy, California Δ, 1941

Barbara Bassett, California Δ, 1941

Josephine Crook, Illinois B-Δ, 1942

Jean McMurray, Florida A and B, 1939

Anne Allen, Iowa Γ, 1940

Margaret Seamans, Montana A, 1938

Jane Trowbridge, Wisconsin A

Eleanor White, Iowa Γ, 1942

As you can see from the pictures, we were yet seamen, when this picture was taken. All of the girls are now full-fledged "Ensigns" of the United States Naval Reserve.

It was thrilling for me to discover Barbara Bassett and Ethel McCarthy, for we had all met at Pasadena in the summer of '40.

I wish I could tell you where all of the girls are stationed, but we left in such a hurry, I didn't get a chance to find out. I do know that Ethel is in Seattle, Barbara Northern in Miami, Jean McMurray in Northampton, and I believe Barbara Bassett is in Washington, D.C. I hope this information may be of some interest for you.

NEWS FROM LITTLE PIGEON

Edited by MILDRED ODELL SALE, North Dakota A

Our Pi Beta Phi Settlement School Service Flag

Not waiting for the draft, many of this year's High School students at the Settlement School have already enlisted. One of these, deciding to join the Navy, sold most of his clothes and belongings and started off, boasting he would not be back until it was "over over there." But the recruiting office ruled him too young and sent him home again. So, he bought more clothes and returned to school to stand the teasing of the school-mates before whom he had boasted.

More fortunate in attaining their goal were Wade King, Lee Trentham, Jr., John Wilson, Reuben Reagan, and Ray Sutton, now doing their bit with the Navy; and Dave King, a private in the Army. In the Air Corps is Charles Cope, while Ray Large is already in active service with the Marines at Guadalcanal. And with the WAACs is Edna McCarter, formerly assistant to Ethel Snow in Arrowcraft.

Two of last year's graduating seniors are also with the Army Army Corps—Roger Huff at Lincoln, Nebraska, and Van Ogle at Miami, Florida. There are many other Pi Phi graduates in army, navy and air service. Were we to have a Service Flag at the Settlement School it would be bright with stars!

The Settlement School serves as the center of all war activity in the community. Gatlinburg is organized under OCD regulations for air-raid protection, with our Health Center an emergency First Aid shelter. Several practice black-outs have already been held.

Our School facilities house all Civilian Defense meetings, registration for the Selective Service, and for sugar and gasoline ration books, and served as Headquarters for the Scrap Drive. With the aid of Settlement School children, a large wooden bin built on the Arrowcraft driveway, was filled twice to overflowing and netted 36,000 pounds to smash the Japs!

Even the curriculum is geared to wartime needs with emphasis on physical education, first aid classes and talks on nutrition, to assist our government in its plans for building strong bodies as well as strong minds.

SURGICAL DRESSINGS, TOO

One of the biggest contributions of the School to the war effort is the Surgical Dressing Workroom. Located in the loom room, just off the Home Economics department, it houses four large work tables, covered with black oilcloth. Red Cross posters, and large American and Red Cross flags on the walls look down every afternoon, and two evenings each week, on the busy hands of the women of the community folding bandages. At the evening sessions, the Settlement School teachers and staff are regular attendants.

Mrs. Evelyn Creswell is Chairman for the County, with a different local woman serving as chairman each day. Since August they have supervised the making of over 59,000 dressings.

Besides these Surgical Dressings, 150 "Buddy Bags" are being made, part of the money for which was secured from the sale of the scrap metal, collected by the School and donated to the Red Cross. Just before Christmas, some 125 gifts were packed for the patients at the Camp Forest Hospital.

Members of the Gatlinburg Red Cross chapter also assist the Canteen in Sevierville, where workers serve hot meals to boys returning from Fort Oglethorpe after their first physical examination.

OUR HOME FRONT

But perhaps the most important contribution of our Pi Beta Phi Settlement School to the "Home Front" is its continuance to uphold the same high standards of education and citizenship it has always maintained, even though they must now be carried on by a staff sorely depleted by wartime calls, and among a community whose main source of revenue, the tourist trade, has been jeopardized by gasoline rationing. Some have found employment in nearby war plants, to be sure, but "our" weavers, unable to earn except by weaving, still rely on "you-uns" to educate their children and to market their products that they may continue to maintain the standard of living Pi Beta Phi has brought to their mountainside.

Dividends for Pi Beta Phi

These two alert youngsters are future citizens of Gatlinburg. Had Pi Beta Phi not brought its Settlement School to the Tennessee mountains in 1910 these boys would face a future far from bright. They could then have looked forward to only a few years' education in a poor rural school, and after that a lifetime of poverty on their rocky mountain farm.

Future Citizens

But today the prospect is infinitely better. They will go to a school much above the average for rural Tennessee, and be able to complete at least a high school education. Chances of going still farther are about fifty per cent.

Out of a class of 25 seniors graduating last June, twelve are continuing their education and two have joined the Army Air Corps, one of the most popular "institutions of learning" for the youth of today. Three of last year's seniors are at the University of Tennessee, two at Tennessee Polytechnic Institute, three at the Knoxville Business College, while others attend Carson-Newman College, Maryville, Lincoln Memorial University and the Berry Schools.

Of the twenty graduating in 1941, Irene and Wayne Cardwell and Nannibel Whaley are attending East Tennessee State Teachers College for their second year. Stuart Medlin, salutatorian, attended the University of Tennessee last year; Annette Ogle, valedictorian, was at Stevens College; and Betty Ogle at Austin Peabody Normal. Two others took business courses at Knoxville, as did three of the 1940 graduates. Another 1940 senior attended Maryville College; while Edward Rochelle, after a year at the University of Tennessee, became a C.C.C. Sergeant and is now with the United States Army.

But when these boys have completed their education, what will they do? Perhaps one of them might prove to be another Ben Fleming and return to Gatlinburg to teach in our Pi Phi School, as Ben—after completing his high school at Murphy Collegiate Institute at Sevierville where his training as a dormitory student at Gatlinburg provided him with the experience needed to take charge of the school garden, and after receiving an A.B. degree from Tusculum College—returned, and remains today as superintendent of the school.

Other teachers who graduated from Gatlinburg include Buna Cardwell and Gladys Trentham, now married, both formerly with the Sevier County school system; Henry Ogle, teaching two and a half miles from the Settlement School; Helen Ogle, teacher at McCookville; and Evelyn, her sister, formerly the teacher at Elkmont.

Or these boys might follow in the footsteps of one of the Carr children. This family deserves some sort of special mention in our Pi Beta Phi history book, for all eight of them have been closely associated with our School, the oldest as one of those community-spirited citizens of Gatlinburg who donated to make the school possible, and all other seven as students.

Isaac Carr finished at Carson-Newman College, attended a French University after having helped win World War I, taught in Tennessee, attended North Carolina and Duke Universities, and received his LL.D. from Carson-Newman in 1940. For fifteen years prior to last July he was Dean of the History Department at Mars Hill College; now a Captain in the Army Quartermasters, stationed at Arlington, California. While not a student from our School he surely evidences the great ability of Gatlinburg's people.

Richard Carr also received his degree from Carson-Newman, attended a French University after service in the war, was elected Principal of the High School in West Jefferson, North Carolina, and served as Principal of Trenton and Bakersville High Schools before retiring to take care of over 400 colonies of honey bees.

G. Mitchell Carr entered Smoky Mountain Academy for high school after completing all Pi Phi then had to offer; graduated from Carson-Newman in 1932, attended North Carolina University, and has since served as Principal at Belmont, North Carolina, and Superintendent of Schools, Dallas, North Carolina.

And the Carr daughters? They also went on to school—Rose and Lytha one year each at Carson-Newman College, while Ethel not only graduated from this College but taught four years in Jefferson City grade schools. All are now married—Ethel to a shop foreman (Mr. Moore) and Rose to Mr. Huff, both with the Aluminum Company at Alcoa, Tenn. Lytha is also Mrs. Moore, and her husband is with the Southern Railway at Knoxville.

Bertha and Charles completed only through the eighth and seventh grades at our Pi Phi School, as the family moved to Jefferson City, Tennessee, where both finished high school. Bertha went on to Knoxville Business College, married a T.V.A. employee; and Charles, after serving two years as Deputy in Jefferson County, is now training for M.P. duty at Fort Custer, Michigan.

Or these youngsters on the steps of our Pi Beta Phi School may be like David Butler, who went on to Lincoln Memorial University from Gatlinburg, where he was head of electrical maintenance, and later worked part time as an electrical engineer at the Aluminum Company of America plant while attending the University of Tennessee, until his outstanding work in electrical installations made his full time demanded by Alcoa; or they may find other positions with Alcoa as have so many recent graduates, including Clyde Houser, 1940 class; Ray Benson and the two Roys (McCarter and Ogle) of the 1941 class.

Then there is Fred Cooper who attended the University of Tennessee, and returned to Gatlinburg as electrician, plumbing and heating engineer, and was given the contract for this work on Stuart Dormitory last year. Fred is now in active service "somewhere in the Pacific."

Chances that these boys will return to Gatlinburg and become leading businessmen are great. At least three-fourths of the business houses and property of the Burg is owned and operated by former students. Because of Pi Phi's educational contribution they were alert to their opportunities when the Smoky Mountain Park was opened, and met the need for tourist accommodations so adequately that the government did not build any in the park.

The two Huff brothers, Jack and Jim—who married Pi Phis—Pauline Whaling and Henrietta McCutcheon, teachers at the School, are numbered among Gatlinburg's businessmen—Jack owning and operating the Lodge on Mt. LeComte and Jim owning a lumber mill and also operating one of Gatlinburg's finest tourist courts.

And Stella Huff Cox, who attended East Tennessee State Teachers College at Johnson City, Virginia Intermont and Maryville Colleges, taught in Sevierville and then for five years at the Pi Phi School, owns and operates "Cox's Cabins" with her husband, Bill Cox, also a former teacher at the School.

Then there is Mattie Huff Lawson, a Pi Phi from Ames, where she studied institutional administration, managing the tea room at the Rocky Waters Tourist Court. And the Oakley sisters, Martha (now Mrs. Rawlings) and Lucinda (now Mrs. Ogle), have the Rawlings and the Riverview Cabins. (You remember Lucinda and her family received a trip to the New York World's Fair as the most typical East Tennessee family.)

But perhaps these boys favor hotels more than tourist cabins. Here again their chances are good. Of the four Gatlinburg hotels, three are owned or operated by former Settlement School students—the New Gatlinburg Inn by Rellie Maples, who studied at the University of Tennessee to become a County Agent; the Riverside by Bruce Whaley, who also attended the University of Tennessee; and the Greystone by Dick Whaley.

Or will these boys be filling station owners? Perhaps not until gasoline rationing is a thing of the past. But here again other graduates have led the way, as evidenced by Bruce Maples and Mayford Clabo, a graduate of business college and formerly with the Bureau of Public Roads.

Or like Arl McCarter, they may return from school to establish stables of riding horses for tourists. Or like Elder Ogle, they may join the Navy, and like him, return after four years, to be Gatlinburg's postmaster.

Xan Davenport, after Murphy Collegiate Institute, was Director of NYA work in Sevier County, and now heads a large trucking crew in Panama.

These boys may even equal the record of Earl Ogle, a graduate of the Tennessee Military Institute, who, when only twenty-one years of age, was elected to be the youngest squire in the county.

Other graduates excel in varied occupations. Mrs. Dick Ownby opened the first gift shop in Gatlinburg and won the envy of others in the community by visiting Mrs. Coolidge in Washington. Two former students are aiding Uncle Sam in his shipyards, Tobie Blalock and Charles Conner; while Joy and Sherrill Clabo are among those assisting in the armed forces. Sanford Woodlief is in construction work with the Highway Department. A talented English student, Jeannette Newman, was assistant in the News Department of the Gatlinburg News from 1939 to 1942; and Rebecca Smith, daughter of a former Pi Phi School dietitian followed in her mother's footsteps at a cafeteria in Knoxville until her marriage.

Besides Mr. Fleming at the Settlement School, former students of the School hold positions as assistants in the Arrowcraft Shop, and as the director of work on the school farm, and many hold clerical positions in Gatlinburg or Knoxville.

Still others have taken advantage of their education in the crafts. Five members of the Los Reagan family are together in a woodcraft business, making beautiful furniture; Hettie Carr assists her mother with weaving and her father with his 97 beehives.

Emma Franklin is the "farmer" at the Franklins, and Osa Ownby is raising poultry near Pigeon Forge—using modern accepted methods which were unknown in Gatlinburg before Pi Phi's arrival.

And so we might continue with many more former students of the Pi Beta Phi School on the hill; but surely these examples are sufficient to show to all that there are real, tangible and heart-warming "dividends" from the time, talent, and money invested by members of Pi Beta Phi in Gatlinburg. And that these dividends are sincerely appreciated by their fellow citizens is evidenced by the Chamber of Commerce, the only one of its kind in an unincorporated town in the United States, on whose board of seven, five Pi Beta Phi School graduates won places by election of the townspeople—Dick Whaley, Jim Huff, Sue Cox, Elder Ogle, and Mayford Clabo. These and other former students are molding opinion in Gatlinburg, making it a city of which to be proud, and bringing continued respect and admiration for the teachings of that "bunch of righteous, resolute gals bent on givin' our young-uns book larnin'" who first brought a vision of a brighter future to the bare-footed children of an isolated mountain community.

Meet the Arts and Crafts Advisory Committee

By this time you have all had your Information Number of the ARROW and have read the enthusiastic and informative report on the Settlement School presented by Ethel Copp, Chairman of the Settlement School Committee.

Just in case that issue of the ARROW arrived on one of those days when you hadn't a moment to spare and you tucked it away until you had more time, look it up now and turn to page 44. That is where Ethel's report starts, and when you come to page 46 you will read about the newly formed Arts and Crafts Advisory Committee and know that three members of the staff of the University of Tennessee, Miss Jessie Harris, Miss Ida Anders, and Miss Marion Heard, constitute that group.

We on the Settlement School Committee were mighty proud when these three grand people said they would serve in this capacity. It is fortunate for Pi Beta Phi that women such as these three have become so vitally interested in our Settlement School.

As you know, Gatlinburg is only forty miles from Knoxville, the home of the University of Tennessee. Miss Anders and Miss Harris own a charming summer home in Gatlinburg and Miss Heard is a frequent visitor to the Burg. They are friends of everyone there. The staff members at the School seek their advice constantly, and the people of the community respect their judgment. The members of the new Arts and Crafts Advisory Committee know our School; they know our mountain people—our weavers, our basket makers, our cabinet makers—all of our crafts people who look to us to provide an outlet for the sale of their handicrafts.

If you want a broader view of the really fine thing which is being done in Gatlinburg by Pi Phi read Allen Eaton's Handicrafts of the Southern Highlands. Mr. Eaton is from the Russell Sage Foundation and is greatly interested in the development of the native arts and crafts.

He says, "Often the preparation of detailed designs is not as much needed as an advisory service on styles, colors and trends. This is true where there are good teachers and able weavers who can carry out ideas if given suggestions. If an advisory service could be made available to these teachers, they could continue to develop their own ideas and encourage the workers to do likewise and thus adapt their wares to the market. This would encourage originality upon which the advancement of the crafts must always depend. The environment and temperament of the Highland people combine to encourage new expressions in various kinds of work, and a little good teaching leads to much independence and inventiveness."

Mr. Eaton also goes on to say, "It is obviously easier to criticize suggestions made than to formulate workable substitutes. And it is far better that those who have ideas about improving the handicrafts should be encouraged to test them, for often to try out new ideas will be the only way to prove whether or not they are practical and feasible."

"Leave wide open the doors of experimentation for all who participate. Through the freedom of a trying-out process will come the only way short of regimentation to promote production, and it is assuredly the only way to build up a body of rural arts which will have the vitality to endure. The cooperation of planners, designers, stylists, from both within and without the mountain area, is indispensable to the continuation of the handicrafts; but cooperation from the outside will avail little if the people themselves are not encouraged to experiment continuously."

Mr. Eaton emphasizes, "Cooperation from the outside will avail little if the people themselves are not encouraged to experiment continuously"; that is where we are so fortunate in the personnel of our Arts and Crafts Advisory Committee. They know the people and are loved by them; they know the abilities of the mountain people and will provide the encouragement to "experiment continuously."

We have a wonderful opportunity to help with an enlarged crafts program. Our set-up is ideal. Mr. Eaton says there are three elements involved—design, production, and distribution—and all must be worked out together. A few Pi Beta Phis may have suggestions for design (I'd love to hear about them if you care to write me); the mountain people themselves must take care of production, but each and every one of us can help with the distribution. If our plans are made and we are ready to help the mountain people increase their production, when the boys come back from the war and the munition workers return to their mountain homes; are we not contributing directly to the war effort?

Arrowcraft has always insisted upon the highest standards in weaving, and these standards have been a contributing factor in the improvement of quality, design, color, and serviceability of all articles sold through Pi Beta Phi.

In the December ARROW there was an account of the lovely experience the Boston Club had at the Handicrafts Show held there October 6 and 10. Beth LeRoy is priceless! You must hear her story of their difficulties. This was the first of the Handicraft Shows; it is wonderful to think that we were pioneers in the field of education in the Smokies and that now we may be in on the ground floor of a nation-wide handicrafts movement.

Allen Eaton was at the Show and made the statement that we have only touched upon the creative art for which the mountain people have great ability. So our opportunity to help is great.

There are new things at Arrowcraft and we have plans for many more. In case you have forgotten what some of them are look on page 60 of the September ARROW where Mildred Sale tells about "Additions to Arrowcraft."

It is such fun being on this Committee. I wish I might share the inspiration of it with each and every one of you.

Our Arts and Crafts Advisory Committee is making a definite contribution to our work, so won't you, too, help with this wonderful project which binds us together so loyally, and which brings sincere admiration from those outside our Fraternity? Remember to place your magazine subscriptions through the Pi Beta Phi Magazine Agency, and help with your sale of Arrowcraft products, and always keep alive that interest in your Pi Beta Phi Settlement School at Gatlinburg.

The member of the Settlement School Committee who wrote the above article, and who is the contact between the Committee and the Arts and Crafts Advisory Committee, is Ann Lechliter Munn (Mrs. Hiram A.), Iowa Γ. She also serves the Committee as secretary. After attending Iowa State College, where she was a member of Iowa Γ and of Δ Φ Δ, Ann graduated from the Chicago Academy of Fine Arts. Here she taught Costume Design, and returned to Iowa State as instructor in the Applied Art Department. Despite the fact that her three children, Fritz, Deborah Ann, and Elizabeth, keep her actively assisting with their various hobbies and activities, Ann is president of the Ames Alumnae Club of Pi Phi, secretary of the Investment Company which owns the chapter house, and secretary to the Ames City Planning Commission. But you would know Ann best if you could see the lovely photographs, the clever wood-carving, and the stunning and unusual embroidery which are just a part of her many hobbies. She too, modestly did not send us a photograph.

Ida Adelaide Anders, Iowa Γ, is chairman of the Arts and Crafts Advisory Committee. She is professor and head of Textiles and Clothing at the University of Tennessee. She received both her B.S. and M.S. from Iowa State College, and is a member of O N, and was assistant professor in Home Economics. Formerly state supervisor of Home Economics in Florida, she did teaching in the summer sessions at the University of Illinois and Teachers College, Columbia. At present she is a member of the Student Club Advisory Committee of the American Home Economics Association.

vention initiate at Asheville in 1938 because she had won national recognition in her field and because she had rendered invaluable service to our Settlement School project over a period of years. Miss Harris is professor and director of the School of Home Economics, University of Tennessee, A.B., B.S., A.M. She was formerly State Home Demonstration Agent for the State of Texas, associate professor at the University of Nebraska, state director of Home Economics in Texas. A member of O N and Φ K Φ, Miss Harris is president of the American Home Economics Association, which she has served in various executive capacities.

Miss Marion G. Heard, although not a Pi Beta Phi, has been intensely interested in the work being done at Gatlinburg. She has a B.S. in Ceramic Art from Alfred University, Alfred, N.Y., and an M.A. in Fine Arts from Teachers College, Columbia. She is now an associate professor of Craft Design at the University of Tennessee.

What a Fraternity Girl Thinks

NOTE: These articles were selected by the Editor of this section, Mrs. Armstrong, and the Editor of the ARROW as being most representative and most interesting of those which came in. This year the percentage of chapters contributing increased, and so did the general quality of the contributions.

Of Leadership

It seemed irrational that one should be sitting in a public park of a busy city while humanity about her gushed toward busses and cars. Our work day was ended. Eight hours of materialistic phrases—Priorities, Allocation, War Production—had warped my spirit. Then I saw the two fountains.

From identical bases the columns of water spouted upward six feet. Here each tube deviated into a spray as fountains do. A second glance assured me that one was more appealing to contemplate than its sister. The latter was functioning perfectly, achieving symmetry of action and design. The former, part of whose column was above the planned level of the spray and the remainder of which behaved independently of expectation, evoked inspiration.

Is it not true that we are too often followers? We're content to pursue a planned course and willing to wait for another to tell us what to do. Such a life is uninspiring in normal times, and now is selfishly un-American. How much beauty there is in that life which is independent of the average! Today there is necessity for leaders who possess individuality of thought and can transmit their foresight to others. The fraternity girl should be such an initiator. She has the advantages of an organization which fosters leaders. Her potentialities can be exercised by first advancing the worth of her chapter. When these become stronger she is prepared to assume the responsibilities of a chaotic world.

Let us be women who need no prodding, individuals who are ahead of the field. Then we attain truth and beauty. Remember this challenge: there are two fountains!

MADALYN BORN, Michigan B

Fraternity Enthusiasm

Fraternity enthusiasm is one of those things not quite tangible and yet so conspicuously present among each of our chapters. The necessity of making a speech about fraternity enthusiasm never arises, for it is ever present. It is indoctrinated as a spirit, something instilled in each of our hearts as our fraternity associations grow in richness and in knowledge.

The little, trivial things about fraternity enthusiasm are what make it so important. The feeling we have when we sing a fraternity song that brings tears to our eyes, the sincere feeling of sisterhood we have toward each girl in our group, the proud tone we may rightfully use when we say "I'm a Pi Phi." These little things go to make fraternity enthusiasm.

This spirit, this enthusiasm is essential to our continuance. There can be no cooperation, no truly good times, no success in any undertaking without it. Now more than ever before, we must keep this burning in our hearts. There are so many things, if we will permit them, to take away the true joy of living, but it is our duty to overcome them.

The enthusiasm of Pi Beta Phi is something big and not easily overcome, for upon this rests the foundation of our fraternity, the life-cord, not to be sacrificed for a worthless cause.

CHARLENE BAGGETT, Missouri T

National Sisterhood

Frequently a girl feels that all Pi Phi tradition and feeling is centered in her chapter alone for, with the exception of brief visits from grand officers and province executives, it is the only active instrument that can mold a girl, or have great influence toward making her a true Pi Beta Phi. So often we Pi Phis find that we are thinking only in terms of chapters, and are too tied up in our little house projects to realize that we are just a few among many—that Pi Beta Phi is a national fraternity, and that we have sisters all across this far-flung nation who wear and love the arrow in exactly the same way as we.

But the war has already brought a great change to Pi Phi, and will undoubtedly bring many more. For the first time some of us are realizing the true meaning and warm feeling of national sisterhood. We see, with a glow of pride, a Pi Phi in the WAVES, or among the ranks of the WAACs. We read of outstanding alumnæ in Red Cross work, and we admire the patriotism of our older sisters. We are inspired by their ideals and courage, and we are strengthened by the knowledge that no matter what lies ahead, a true Pi Phi will face the future undaunted and unafraid.

MARJORIE VALE, Indiana B

About Living in the House

When a young woman enters college, she has many adjustments to make. Due to the fact that she has gone away from home and her usual routine of living and has entered foreign surroundings, she assumes an independent air.

Living in a women's fraternity house has distinct advantages. First, it provides a continued, pleasant, home-like atmosphere. Secondly, it furthers social development. However, the most important advantage is making friends. In Emerson's essay, On Friendship, he states, "friendship should be the highest aim in one's life." The friends that a woman makes in college are the friends that she will retain throughout her life. There is also the advantage of learning to live "in peace," so to speak, with other people. Developing tact is still another advantage.

Responsibility is given to her right from the start. She may be called upon at any time to do something that she is capable of doing. This brings about unity and cooperation, two of the most important factors in fraternity life. In order to have cooperation in a woman's fraternity, there must be unity among its members. They must work and pull together in every undertaking in order to secure a high rating in scholarship, membership, friendship, name, and activity on campus as well as nationally. There are house rules and regulations which must be carried out, and this cannot be possible without the two main factors: unity and cooperation.

A fraternity woman will never go wrong if she follows the Golden Rule: "Do Unto Others as You Would Have Them Do Unto You."

WILLA YOUNG, California F

Of Tolerance

If we in college today must build a new social and economic world after this war, a world-wide outlook and an understanding tolerance toward those who differ from us are two qualities which we will certainly need. An individual person and the individual chapter seem rather frighteningly insignificant in these times. But it is through them that we must build our tolerance, and the internationality of fraternities may help to foster world fellowship.

How can we construct a world community which will keep us from jumping into war after another twenty years if we cannot treat as human beings those of other racial or national groups around us—even some of our fellow college students? Some people urge us to hate the people we are fighting, to hate them deeply. Tolerance seems a vague, general, rather far-off ideal. Certainly we want to win this war; we are in it heart and head and hands. But we must also look ahead. If our basic idea is hate, what will happen when the war is over?

Interaction of many factors determines attitudes of tolerance or intolerance. Many of us are probably less tolerant than we think we are. In our everyday lives, however, we can make tolerance a personal matter, by checking our behavior toward students from foreign homes or of other races, and even by such little things as being critical of our own attitudes toward members of other fraternities and non-fraternity students. Isn't it worth while for us to do all we can to encourage what good will there remains on the earth?

MARY A. ONKEN, Illinois B-Δ

We realize that if there is confusion in homes, fraternities, and other small institutions we can expect nothing but war, from the world as a whole, for the world's made up of millions of these small institutions. With this in mind, we are striving earnestly to achieve complete cooperation in our own chapter, and we hope that our girls will carry this spirit of cooperative living into the world.

GLORIA V. MCQUISTON, Indiana Δ

The fraternity girl reads the newspaper and has a knowledge of current events that in the past would have done a social science major proud. Despite her minor opinions about government, she is completely and staunchly loyal for all that America stands for.

ALUMNAE CLUB LETTERS

Club members everywhere are active in war work, meanwhile keeping alive fraternity friendships through attendance at club meetings.

The Northern Indiana Club has circulated a Round Robin letter of Pi Phi news as a substitute for the regular club meetings which have had to be curtailed because of war restrictions on travel.

The Denver Club has maintained a good attendance through the assistance of a "car pool" committee.

Reno has an interesting war stamp plan.
144 letters in this issue.

BURLINGTON

Although practically all members of the Burlington Alumnae Club are engaged in various war services which take a great deal of their time, the meetings this fall have been well attended and the club decided not to reduce its program because of the war. The first meeting of the year was held at the home of Mrs. Florence Hard when business matters were discussed and refreshments served by the officers, who acted as hostesses.

Dr. Katherine McSweeney was guest speaker at the November 17 meeting at the home of Mrs. Marion Arkley. Doctor McSweeney gave a stimulating talk on "Women in Medicine," outlining the part women have played in this field and urging that we support and further women's place in medicine.

The Settlement School Sale and Tea, held December 3, was very well attended. The sale of handicraft articles from the school was in charge of Mrs. Florence Arms, the fancy work table was run by Mrs. Anna Bosworth and Mrs. Margaret Congdon and the food table by Mrs. Dorothy Boardman and Mrs. Sally Paige.

MARION G. HERBERG

HALIFAX

The meeting of the Halifax Club are held the second Tuesday of each month at the homes of members. This year the club is knitting garments for the Service girls in England. We recently made a donation to the Queen's Canadian Fund. We cooperate with the active chapter in many activities and recently joined with them in their Initiation Banquet and their annual Christmas party. We hope to increase our membership this year by getting in touch with Pi Phis from other chapters who are now living in Halifax.

DOROTHY STANLEY

HARTFORD

The Hartford Alumnae Club held its annual Settlement School sale and tea on November 4 at the home of Mrs. Vernon Dow. We had as our guests on this afternoon a number of girls from one of the local sororities at the University of Connecticut in Storrs.

At our Christmas meeting we wrapped gifts to be sent the children at Settlement School. We were particularly fortunate in having Marianne Wild with us on this night.

Mrs. Manning paid a visit to Holt House last summer and vividly described the house and its furnishings for us upon her return.

Our members are all busy doing war work of one kind or another and we look forward to a future meeting when we plan to have each one tell of her contribution.

ELIZABETH E. TAYLOR

NEW HAVEN

Mrs. George Sprick was hostess at the November meeting. Five new members attended.

Mrs. Wesley Sturges has just been appointed Legislative Chairman for the New Haven Women's Republican Club.

She is Publicity Chairman of New Haven League of Women Voters of which organization she is Past President. She was a candidate of the Republican party for a seat in the House of Representatives for Connecticut General Assembly. Her husband who is Professor of Law at Yale University is Administrator of Connecticut Civilian Defense Council and also Connecticut Fuel Administrator.

Mrs. Robert Cook is State Legislative Chairman of Connecticut League of Women Voters. She is Secretary of Connecticut Child Welfare association, which organization is particularly interested in day care of children, and she is a member of Civilian Mobilization Committee of the State Defense Council, and she is also a member of the New Haven Defense Council.

Katherine Flagg is Publicity Secretary of Community Chest and member of the Defense Council Committee on Registration Information and Relief.

Mrs. James Cox, Jr., is serving as Relief Admitting Officer at New Haven Hospital several days a week. Her husband, a Lieutenant Colonel, is Chief Medical Director of the Yale Unit which is located at present somewhere in the Southern Pacific.

Mrs. Claiborn is working as a nurse three evenings a week at New Haven Hospital.

Mrs. Chester Longwell is New Haven County Chairman of the League of Women Voters and Treasurer of American Association of Women Voters.

Cornelia Newton is president of New Haven Home Economics Club.

Mrs. John Adams took part in the Christmas Festival at the Y.W.C.A.

MONTREAL

The Montreal Alumnae Club had eight meetings this year at various members homes. We had a supper meeting at Doris Winsor's, a Christmas meeting at Marge Wight's, at which we filled stockings with candies, nuts, and toys for the Children's Memorial Hospital, and we had a Valentine mixed party at Doris Winsor's.

Knitting baby clothes for the Children's Memorial Hospital has been our contribution to charity, outside of money donations.

Our budget was raised by fees of $3.00 each and we contributed $5.00 to Settlement School, $1.00 to the Loan Fund, $2.00 to Holt House, $5.00 to the Queen's Fund, $5.00 to the Children's Memorial Hospital, and $15.00 to other charities, yet to be decided upon.

Our Founders' Day luncheon is planned for April 25, at the Themis Club.

ELAINE REYCRIFT

PORTLAND, MAINE

The Portland Alumnae Club started the year with an executive meeting at the home of Hazel Sawyer Everett, Province President. Plans for the year were made at this time.

In October the annual Settlement School sales were well launched at a display and tea at the home of Mrs. Roland Clark.

The November meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Margaret Martin. Dorothy Frye was named president in place of Katherine True Brown, who has moved to Cape Cod.

The Christmas party in December was a cooky-shine held at the home of Alberta Hobson. Games were played after the meeting. Instead of a money-raising project, each member has been asked to contribute two defense stamps.

ALBERTA HOBSON

ALPHA PROVINCE WEST

ALBANY

Since writing my last letter our club was entertained by Miss Helen Chambers at St. Agnes School. A delightful picnic was enjoyed by Pi Phi, their families, and friends. Miss Edith Talmadge rush chairman brought several active Pi Phi to meet the alumnae.

On September 24 Mrs. George F. Little was chairman for a buffet supper at the home of Mrs. William Weibacher. Each member present contributed toward the expense.

The business meeting began with reports and plans for the coming year. Our rush chairman gave an excellent report on her activities of the summer.

Each previous year we have had one meeting a month. Due to the gas rationing and defense work it was voted to have only four meetings on our calendar this season.

A tea and sale for Settlement School will be held in three different districts, which we hope will save on gas and tires.

The alumnae have been active in Red Cross work and various defense groups. One member prepares a defense radio program. Another serves on sugar rationing and nutrition and still another a teacher of first aid and doctor's assistant. We all are giving as many hours as possible to aid our country.

Our sales for Settlement School so far have amounted to over $350.

BUFFALO

The Buffalo Alumnae Club started the year with forty-two members representing twenty-three chapters.

The first meeting was held in September at the home of Susan Hagstrom. It was decided to limit the refreshments to dessert luncheons in accord with war-time simplicity.

In October Mary Hanmer opened her home for an evening meeting. Betty Bernard gave an interesting résumé of highlights in the current ARROW.

A sale of Settlement School products was held in November at the meeting at the home of Susan Haines. The new colored film of the School was shown at this time, and there were many favorable comments. This year, instead of undertaking a project, the girls are donating cash for our Settlement School Fund.

The Christmas get-together took the form of a dinner party for members, husbands, and friends at the Westbrook Hotel.

All the girls are doing volunteer war work individually, while the club has two projects: collecting magazines for overseas soldiers, and furnishing cookies for the local Induction Center.

BESSIE BLANCHARD MEINWEISER

LONDON

In addition to the regular monthly meetings in October and November at the chapter house, the club has met twice to make children's clothes for the Red Cross. The President, Mrs. Charles Hourd, was hostess for the first meeting and Phyllis Godwin for the second. We plan to have as many of these special meetings as possible, although many of our members are already actively engaged in various types of war work.

Our annual initiation banquet was held in December at the Hunt Club, to honor thirteen new members. More than the usual number of out of town alumnae were present and it served as a happy reunion for all of us.

DOROTHY C. BURNS

MOHAWK VALLEY

The Mohawk Valley Alumnae Club started its new year rather stunned by the loss of three very active members all at once: Georgiana Hulet Taylor, Vermont A, whose husband has become principal of the Cherry Valley Central School; Hazel Schele Crow, Indiana B, and Marian Staley Sharples, whose husbands have been promoted by General Cable Corporation to positions in the New Jersey district and are now residing at Plainfield.

However, our newest member, Christine Wolfe, Iowa B, cheerfully took over the task of treasurer from Georgiana Taylor and "Gwen" Mason continued as our inspirational president, while Carol Cutter is our efficient recording secretary.

Our opening meeting this year at "Trudy" Wilson's pleasant home in Utica included another good II Φ supper, a short business meeting and a quiz on the Constitution.

In November our president, Gwen Mason, invited us to her apartment for a delicious supper, after which we had our Settlement School meeting and discussed the sale of its products.

At this meeting we decided to curtail our meetings this year to four (unless circumstances warranted more) on account of gas rationing, the wide separation of members, icy roads, and the war activities of members.

January 12 will find us together again for a supper at Lola Woodcock Getman's in Rome.

E. HENRIETTA GAMBLE SCRIPTURE

NEW YORK

The first meeting of the New York City Club was held in the Club Room of Beekman Tower on Tuesday, October 13, at 6:30 P.M. Following supper, Sophie Woodman, New York B, showed Kodachrome slides entitled "Three Seasons." These color pictures were taken by Miss Woodman herself during visits to New England. The club was very much delighted to see so many new faces and to have the opportunity to talk again with II Φ friends whom they had not seen throughout the summer months.

The annual II Φ Settlement School Tea was held on Sunday afternoon, November 8. The tea is usually held in December, but due to the unavoidable delays in transportation of articles from Gatlinburg it was considered wiser to allow extra time for Christmas orders. Mrs. Griffin, Settlement School chairman, and her committee are to be congratulated on the wonderful job they have done at the sales this year.

The December meeting was held at the home of Mrs. E. L. McKendrew, 1112 Park Ave., and was, as usual, very well attended. Settlement School handicraft was also on sale at this meeting, and the total sales amounted to approximately $525. Two reels of film from the II Φ Settlement School were shown. Each person attending brought with her a book or toy which was turned over to the "Santa Claus Party" of the Save-the Children Federation, and word has been received that the gifts were greatly appreciated.

On January 12 another supper meeting was held at Beekman Tower. Miss Frances R. Grant, president of the Pan American Women's Association, gave an informal talk based on her intimate knowledge of Pan American relations and problems facing the women of today in strengthening the "Good Neighbor Policy." Once again the club is deeply indebted to Miss Woodman, the Program Chairman, who was able to secure such an important person because of the enviable record that her school has established in dealing with Pan American Problems.

The Magazine Chairman, Georgine Davenport, reported that magazine subscriptions and renewals now amount to over $75.

RINDA SHUTTS

SCHENECTADY

Our club has been very active this fall under the leadership of Amelia Harlan Brooks, our president. Our first meeting was our annual cooky-shine at Rowena Benjamin Jenkins. We followed this two days later with a dance at the Grand Boulevard Club for Pi Beta Phi, their husbands and guests. In November we held a tea for the benefit of the Settlement School at Ruth Sensenbrenner Newman's. Our December meeting was a Christmas tea at Lucille Magee McLachlan's. We had planned to have our January meeting on the constitution, but a few days before it was scheduled to have been held, all pleasure riding was banned in the Eastern States. We decided to postpone the meeting until we could plan a time which would not interfere with the time when the buses are jammed with war workers.

FLOWER SHELDON BUHRMASTER

SOUTHERN NEW JERSEY

We are having our meetings at the Walt Whitman Hotel this year because of its central location. At the October meeting Mrs. Bodine publicly gave herself the examination for membership in Pi Beta Phi and gave all the correct answers. This brought out many questions and reminiscences. At the December meeting the actives were congratulated on their ingenuity in carrying out social plans in wartime. In many cases their "teas" have become "soups." We also learned at this meeting just how the Settlement School is financed and the tremendous influence it holds in Gatlinburg. After the program a large knitting bag was passed for contributions with good results. The Pi Phi Official Magazine Guide was inspected as a timely topic. We find ourselves even closer during these war times, in spite of difficulties, and our members mark the meeting dates with a bright red pencil.

RUTH N. H. GRAY

ROCHESTER

The Rochester Alumnae Club began its year September 17, 1942, with a cooky-shine at the home of Ann Jenkins Schering, Iowa I. At this meeting Jane Bechtold Heston, Iowa F, was installed as vice-president, and Margaret McNeill Fowler, Iowa Z, as the new corresponding secretary. Eleanor Alexander Drake, New York F, is our treasurer. In October we held our annual Family Silver Tea at the home of Lydia Lueder Darling, New York A. The husbands and children of the members were invited, and all donations went into the Settlement School Fund. Several teen age daughters of members assisted with the serving. They were: Patricia Dunkel, Mary Eva Marshall, Carol Eckberg, Eleanor Mackey, Mary Heston, and Janice Rumrill.

Lydia Darling is the president of Panhellenic this year. The Rochester Panhellenic had for its first president a Pi Phi nineteen years ago, and now the office has rotated back to Pi Beta Phi. Rhea Nelson Poppink, North Dakota A and fraternity examination chairman for Alpha Province West, is the new vice-president. Each week our alumnae members sell war stamps and bonds at the booth maintained by Panhellenic in a downtown store, and also help the Rochester War Council get volunteers to assist with rationing. On January 23, Panhellenic will have its annual dance, and this year it is to be a benefit for servicemen in the army and navy. Army and navy officers stationed in and around Rochester will be guests of honor at the affair.

We are hoping to have a visit from Miss Onken sometime this year.

MARGARET MCNEILL FOWLER

BETA PROVINCE

AKRON

The Akron Club opened their 42-43 season, under the leadership of Etta McIlwain, with a luncheon bridge at the Portage Country Club. Helen Hogue was our guest speaker. She is a former member of our group and is now Women's Personnel Manager of Thompson Aircraft Products Co. in Cleveland.

In November Doris Rooney held an open house for a Settlement School Sale. It was well attended and a nice profit was realized.

Our Christmas party was held at the home of Marion Pearce. A lovely inspirational Christmas story was told to us by Mrs. Alta Clover. Gifts of food, clothing, toys, and money were brought for our "adopted" family. Winnie Rupprecht, our able chairman of Ways and Means, reported an excellent profit on the sale of Christmas Cards.

Since we have gas rationing all other meetings this year are being held "down town." We are giving war stamps for bridge prizes and have eliminated refreshments from regular meetings for the duration. Most of our members are engaged in war work such as Red Cross, Civilian Defense, First Aid, and Home Nursing Courses. Several are employed in war industries.

Due to the war and to the transfer of Pi Phi husbands we have lost a number of girls since last June. Helen Gaskins, Esther Humphries, Betty Ann Ohrt, Doris

SYRACUSE

The famous Pi Phi spirit was never more apparent than in the Syracuse Alumnae Club in this year of shortage of tires, gasoline, year book—even good weather.

To date, we have held four meetings: luncheons at Mabel Brayton's and Charlotte Fox's, and dinners with Tony Mawhinney and Della Black as hostesses. Our next meeting is scheduled for Martha Coursen's. Dr. Josiah L. Lowe, of the New York State College of Forestry, an outstanding international authority on fungus, provided a delightful program for us on the Audubon Society's work at their summer camp in Maine, of which he is director.

Mrs. Bertha Armstrong, a Pi Phi mother, director of the Syracuse Association of Workers for the Blind, described the United War Fund agencies and told of the Light-house, maintained by this association as a workshop to rehabilitate the physically handicapped.

In prospect are our annual Husband's Party and our usual observance of Founders' Day with the active chapter.

CHARLOTTE N. CHAFFEE

WESTCHESTER

The Westchester Alumnae Club started its new year with a business meeting and tea on October 9, 1942. The meeting was mostly given over to a discussion of plans for the coming year which must necessarily be changed from those of previous years because of new problems resulting from war conditions. Many of the members who are active in various branches of war work led in a discussion of where we might best help both individually and as an organization. Because of our members being scattered over so large a geographical area, war work of the club as a whole has been confined to knitting for the Army and Navy through the William Boyce Thompson Foundation but many of the members are actively engaged in such work as the Red Cross Blood Bank, Nurses' Aides, the Air Raid Warning system, nutrition and canteen work, and serving coffee and cake in the evening to soldiers at Fort Slocum.

We have found that it would be impossible to hold our customary annual Settlement School Tea and sale and so have limited our participation in Settlement School work this year to individual orders from members and friends and a cash contribution from the club. We also sent a box of toys for the children for Christmas.

Our bridge group has continued to meet monthly in spite of difficulties of transportation. However, it is becoming more difficult each month and we may have to give it up in part or entirely. The book section has passed books to members by mail and has dispensed with all meetings except one which will be held at the end of the year at which time all of the books will be discussed. We are all trying very hard to keep our club functioning as normally as possible and we sincerely hope that nothing will happen to disrupt our program.

VIRGINIA KEMLER HOWARD

Rooney, Mary Rowzee, Margery Spurgeon, Tessa Whitoff, and Maribel Wilson have all left us. But for the same reason we have welcomed Evelyn Cott, Margery Edwards, and Harriet Nichols to our club.

EILEEN DISE HOLMQUIST

CENTRAL PENNSYLVANIA

The Central Pennsylvania Alumnae Club of Pi Beta Phi has been less active than usual, this year, because of transportation difficulties.

After the annual Homecoming football game, the alumnae who had returned to the campus met in the Active Chapter suite and renewed acquaintances.

On November 21, 1942, the Pi Beta Phi Settlement School tea and sale was held. Approximately twenty dollars ($20) was made at the sale.

ELIZABETH M. HERBOLD

CINCINNATI

Due to transportation difficulties, Mrs. F. A. Deninger volunteered to hold a one-man rummage sale at her home. This cleared about $30. In November the club entertained their friends with a luncheon at the Hotel Alms. Arrowcraft goods were displayed, the display continuing for a week, with a resultant sale of $245. The Christmas party was held at the home of Mrs. William M. Strayer. Ten dollars was donated to the charity fund in the city and a gift of recreation equipment was sent to the Settlement School. The average attendance this year has been fourteen. We plan to have dinner meetings at a central location down town and hope to increase our attendance.

MRS. M. R. CLARK, JR.

CLEVELAND

Our Alumnae Club was forced to divide this year because of the transportation problem. The distances are so great in Cleveland that it was impossible for members on the east and west sides to get together for monthly meetings, as we have done in the past. Now we have an East Side Alumnae Club, an East Side Junior Auxiliary, and a West Side Alumnae Club, which consists of both juniors and seniors.

Our first meeting this fall was a dinner meeting for all three clubs at the home of Mrs. D. G. Hoyt on the East Side, and our June meeting will be a joint one in the form of a picnic at the home of Mrs. R. T. Anderson on the West Side. We all get together some place in between for Founders' Day.

Both the East and West Side Clubs had sales of Settlement School goods in November.

We have given up our annual rummage sale. A voluntary contribution is to be made by each of us to take the place of the money earned in this way.

Our members are all cooperating in the war effort as much as possible. Some are working as volunteers at the Red Cross Blood Donor Service, some in the Red Cross Sewing and Bandage Service, and many have gone to work in the Cleveland hospitals as Nurses' Aides, but in spite of all this outside activity our Φ meetings are well attended and our projects supported.

KATHARINE LOIZEAUX BARTON

COLUMBUS

The Columbus Alumnae Club held its first meeting in October at the home of Beulah Winkler Koch (Mrs. Irving) with the new president Helen Shepard Bretschneider (Mrs. E. H.) presiding. The program chairman Rhea McCarty Ahn (Mrs. A. A.) introduced Lieutenant Davis and Lieutenant Cagley, both special service officers stationed at the Lockbourne Air Base, who outlined the work being done at the Base to keep the soldiers entertained during their leisure time. They both stressed the need for a larger recreational program. A stringed ensemble from the active chapter—composed of Frances Fredericksen cello, Patty Evans and Virginia Knouff violins, accompanied at the piano by Mildred Rankin gave a short musical program. Jean Osborn gave a piano solo.

At the November meeting held at the home of Helen Mauck Galbreth (Mrs. John) we were glad to welcome back to Columbus "for the duration" Marie Richards Byers (Mrs. Clovis E.), Brigadier General Byers (Ohio State '21) is now serving as chief of staff under General R. L. Eichelberger (Ohio '07) who is in command of the Ground Forces in the southwest Pacific. General Byers has been awarded the Distinguished Service Cross by General Douglas MacArthur for extraordinary heroism in action at Buna, December 15. When the attack was launched he advanced to a position within fifty yards of the assaulting troops. Although wounded by a sniper, he continued his observation of the action and encouraged the troops until they cleared the area. The citation accompanying the award said "His inspiring example of heroism contributed greatly to the success of the attack."

Mrs. John W. Bricker, wife of our governor, was the speaker at the joint meeting of the Junior and Senior groups in November at the home of Jean Bostick Wilfe (Mrs. H. Preston). Mrs. Bricker's subject was "Women of Today." A successful sale of Arrowcraft weaving was held. Mrs. Bricker was presented with a pair of Arrowcraft linen towels.

In spite of heavy war-work demands and rationed transportation we have been able to hold our meetings regularly by scheduling them alternately in different sections of the city and at homes near central transportation lines.

The Fraternity is very well represented in all phases of Red Cross Work, in the United Service Organization, and in other groups cooperating with local communities entertaining the many service men stationed in and around Columbus.

EDITH HOYER RANKIN

DAYTON

The Dayton Alumnae Club opened this year's activities with a dinner meeting at the country home of Mrs. Carl Henze. We were very happy to welcome many new Phi Phis to Dayton and our club.

During the November dinner meeting at the home of Mrs. Charles Mathews, we discussed plans for our Settlement School Sale and bridge party. This party was subsequently held at Mrs. Mathews' home and was very successful.

Our Christmas party and December meeting was at the home of Mrs. B. D. Mellinger. This year in addition to our regular Christmas program, we each brought a small toy to be turned over to the underprivileged youngsters at Barney Community Center for their Christmas.

VIRGINIA ROWE HOLLAND

HARRISBURG-CARLISLE

Our first meeting of the year was held at the Linden Tree Inn in Harrisburg where we had luncheon together and made plans for the year's work. In November a Panhellenic Tea was held at the home of Mrs. J. Edward Belt. The president of the χ Ω Alumnae Club, the president of the κ κ Γ Club and two members of our own fraternity took turns presiding at the tea table. There were about 150 invitations issued to fraternity women in Harrisburg and vicinity.

The covered dish supper planned for December was not held because of transportation difficulties. A bridge party is scheduled for January, a program of book and play reviews for February, a meeting with the active chapter for March and a Founders' Day luncheon for April.

MAHONING VALLEY

Owing to gas restrictions our club is having just four meetings this year. The first meeting was a Dutch Treat luncheon in Youngstown with fifteen members present. The second meeting was a dinner party at the Park Hotel in Warren. We enjoyed hearing Lieutenant Patricia Reed's description of her experiences with the WAACs at Des Moines. We welcomed a newcomer, Ruth Gott, Ohio Δ . We are not having our usual sale of Settlement School articles but each club member is contributing to the School instead.

MARY ROBBINS WOOD

MORGANTOWN

The Morgantown Alumnae Club has been unusually active this fall under the able leadership of our president, Elizabeth Wade. Our first meeting, in September, was a dinner meeting at the Hotel Morgan. The October meeting was held in the Governor's suite at the hotel and the program dealt with the Settlement School. In December we met at the chapter house with the pledges as our guests. Each member took a gift to be turned over to the Salvation Army.

Our club welcomes the newly formed Mothers' Club in Morgantown. In November we helped them with a benefit bridge party in Elizabeth Moore Hall and they, in turn, are planning to help us with a rummage sale late in January.

Our club deeply mourns the death, on October 6, 1942, of Angie Friend Reeder, one of West Virginia Alpha's charter members and an active member of the Morgantown Alumnae Club, but welcomes back Betty Sue Baker Armistead, Eleanor Stone Thornhill, and Betty Jane McWhorter Mathews who are living here with their parents while their husbands are in active service.

HELEN CARLE AMBLER

OHIO VALLEY

Because transportation is difficult and war-time duties take much time, the Ohio Valley Alumnae Club has planned only four meetings for 1942 and 1943. In November a luncheon and business meeting was held in Wheeling, W.Va. In December the club met at the home of Mrs. Carl Gustkey for the annual Christmas party. Arrowcraft materials were on display and provided a fine opportunity to purchase gifts for the holidays.

Most of the members are devoting some time to volunteer work in Civilian Defense and Red Cross activities. The value of these organizations on the home front was proved beyond doubt by the efficiency they displayed during the flood disaster that visited the Ohio valley in the closing days of 1942.

Several club members who have husbands in the service have joined them at their stations and others are carrying on in business while their husbands are away. One member has joined the WAVES.

Through a series of one and two table bridge parties the club is raising money to purchase the contents for several overseas kits being prepared by the Red Cross.

Fraternity contacts are still being made and kept during these busy days.

MARY C. JOHNSTON

PITTSBURGH

The Pittsburgh Alumnae Club holds meetings in alternate months this year. In October a luncheon meeting at the College Club included the installation of Mrs. Hugh Jones (Marriam Robinson) as president, to replace Mrs. William W. Steele (Ruth Johnston), whose resignation was presented because of her moving to Cleveland. Mrs. Howard Johnson (Candace Cloyd) was named vice-president.

Orders were taken for Arrowcraft products, and methods of raising money were discussed. Mrs. Boyd Newcomb (Helen Bodine) gave an interesting talk about her experiences as personal tipstaff to Judge Sara Sofel.

Several newcomers were welcomed to the Christmas meeting, held in December at the Congress of Clubs. Settlement School was the subject of the meeting. Gifts were collected to be sent to the children at Gatlinburg, and products of the school were displayed. As a project for earning money, chances were sold on a luncheon set made at Gatlinburg. Helen Weibley, manager of the project, reported a good profit.

GAMMA PROVINCE

BALTIMORE

The program committee planned fewer meetings this year as so many Pi Beta Phi alumnae are engrossed in voluntary war work. As a group the Baltimore Club is continuing to knit for the Red Cross with Mrs. Parker Frames (Helen Tottle) as chairman.

Mrs. William Plummer (Margaret Torsch) was hostess for the first meeting in October. Three members of Maryland A were guests and the evening was highlighted by a cook-shine-sing-song in the good old fashioned manner. Beverly Fertig and Mrs. Arthur Grafflin (Marvel Williams) were co-chairmen of music.

November 7 was the date of the club's annual Settlement School Sale and Tea. This year Mrs. Donald Huenink (Mary Prewitt) was chairman. The tea was delightfully executed at Goucher College Alumnae Lodge. A substantial amount of Arrowcraft was sold and the afternoon was pronounced a tremendous success. Maryland A assisted at the sale.

The Baltimore Club looks forward to the January meeting when Mrs. Elsie Clark Krug will speak on "Chinese Poetry." Maryland A as a chapter will be guests of honor. Also, the club looks ahead with keen anticipation to March, at which time Miss Wilma Shields, Louisiana A, will be the speaker. Miss Shields is assistant to the Field Director of O.C.D. in Washington, D.C.

BEVERLY MEYER FERTIG

CHARLOTTE

Because so many members had left the city and the time of those remaining was filled with war activities, and because of the difficulty of transportation, it was decided last spring to have just four meetings this year.

The first of these was held on the night of November 6 at the home of Mrs. Milton Boslough. Only eight members were able to attend, but ten had signified their desire to continue membership.

The meeting was devoted to a study of the Constitution.

Subscriptions were taken for magazines, but it was found unadvisable to attempt a sale of Arrowcraft this year.

The club is looking forward to a spring meeting when it is hoped the full membership will be able to attend and a report of all activities will be heard.

ROSANNAH BLAIR

Our average attendance has greatly improved this year, probably because of the change in forms of our meetings.

An afghan, made by members of the club from scraps of wool yarn, was shown; it is to be given to the Red Cross. Many members are active in various phases of war work; some are nurses' aides, some have given blood donations.

LAURA HAYS

PHILADELPHIA

The December meeting of the Philadelphia Alumnae Club was a Christmas Tea at the home of Mrs. W. W. Turner of Swarthmore, where we held our annual sale of Settlement School goods. We had a grand turn out and the sale was quite a success with Pi Phis and their friends attending.

During January, February and March our four sectional groups have planned meetings, these groups consist of: Delaware County, Germantown, Main Line, and a Downtown Group which will be for city members and business girls that are unable to attend daytime meetings. Our next joint meeting will be the Founders' Day banquet, April 24, at the Cosmopolitan Club.

Many of our Pi Phis here have volunteered to help the Philadelphia Branch of the National Red Cross in their new project—"Food for Prisoners of War." This is the first project of its kind in the United States where the boxes are packed on an assembly line. The boxes are then sent to the National Red Cross of Switzerland who redistribute them to Americans who are held prisoners. These boxes are quite complete, even having chewing gum, vitamins, and food capsules to insure the health of our men.

CAROL HAGAMEN MILLER

Luncheons and buffet suppers have been provided by the hostesses, and the total amount paid by the members for these meals has been turned into the club treasury. Another factor which has awakened our interest is the establishment of a local altruistic work, the Elizabeth Kates Foundation, with an outstanding board of governors, a majority of whom are Pi Phis. It is centered at the Industrial Farm for Women, of which Elizabeth Kates, the superintendent, is a Pi Phi. The fund is to provide help for the women, upon their release from prison, in the hope that they may become useful citizens, rather than return to the life which caused their imprisonment.

DOROTHY KLECK WEEKS

WASHINGTON

The Washington Alumnae Club is going ahead with its regular program for the year and each meeting has proved successful and interesting. The club is making no organized war effort but individually its membership is making a large contribution.

The year began with a tea at the home of Mrs. Samuel Spruce for all local girls attending colleges with Pi Phi chapters. The October meeting was a supper and business meeting at the Fairfax Hotel with Ruth McGowan giving a nature sketch which everyone enjoyed. The Junior Group and the active chapter joined us for an interesting Settlement School meeting in November at which movies of the School and its work were shown. The December meeting was a luncheon held at the home of Mrs. W. Franklin Stickle and was well attended.

Mrs. Lawrence Kuter most graciously entertained with a sketch, "An Afternoon at the Theatre," at the January meeting which was held at the home of Mrs. Harvey Wiley.

A luncheon is planned for February at which Mary Isabel Kelly will speak on "My Experiences in Germany." The March meeting is to be an evening business meeting with husbands invited in to hear the speaker, Mr. C. P. Trussel of the New York Times.

HELEN NUTTER HERZOG

WASHINGTON, D.C., JUNIOR

During the summer the Pi Beta Phi junior alumnae club had a delightful social meeting and supper at Palisade Park.

Considering the many Pi Beta Phis coming to Washington to help in the war work, we had, as an opening event for the winter activities, an introductory tea in honor of the new comers. The tea was held at the home of Margaret Clark Crampton. We were pleased to have present among our guests, Nell Anderson Spruce, Gamma province president; Maxine Girts, president of the senior alumnae club; and Charlotte Patterson, president of the active chapter.

In October we had a regular business meeting followed by the ever favorite cooky-shine at the home of Mildred Heinemann. That evening, plans were formulated for furnishing a day room at a nearby army camp. Alice Buell Knoop is in charge of the project. So far various furnishings, such as a couch, lamp, radio, and a couple of chairs, have been offered. Mirrors, chairs, lamps, tables—all will be welcomed. Various members have volunteered their time and skill in refinishing and upholstering the furniture.

A joint meeting with the senior alumnae club was held in November. The event of the evening was a very interesting display of Settlement School Arrowcrafts.

Early in December the chapter again sponsored, under the direction of Dottie Pickett Sharpe, the sale of Tuberculosis Christmas Seals at one of the local theatres.

Also in December a buffet supper and business meeting was held. Following the business meeting there was a dress raffle. We were pleased to have as our honored guest, Maxine Girts.

NORMA HATFIELD

DELTA PROVINCE

ANN ARBOR

Twenty members were present at the first meeting of the year held at the chapter house in October. Due to the fact that many of our members are engaged in war work, the club has curtailed activities for the year. We welcome Mrs. Helen Patterson Wicker, Michigan B, as a new member of our club and hope to welcome other newcomers. In November the active chapter invited the alumnae club to a tea at the house in honor of Mrs. Mildred Aniker, the new house chaperon. The January meeting was a combination of business and program.

RUTH GOODWIN GAULT

DETROIT

Early in November the Detroit Pi Phis gathered at the home of Isabelle Raven Trythall for a dessert bridge to welcome new members. During the afternoon Settlement School products were on display and sales amounted to nearly $50. Our president, Evelyn Holliday Bridge, entertained the board at luncheon in October at which time we attempted to make plans for the year. However, with everyone busy doing war work and gasoline rationing affecting our lives very decidedly we have found it impossible to plan a year's program. We shall, of course, celebrate Founders' Day and hope to have an afternoon or evening meeting to give an opportunity to see the Settlement School film.

The four groups are meeting monthly and are spending the time usually given over to programs in making sterile bandages for one of the large hospitals in the city. Our members, individually, are contributing in countless ways to the war effort. In addition to sewing, knitting, working in the O.C.D. office, Red Cross Canteen and Blood Bank Units, Pi Beta Phis are found in the Nurses' Aides, Gray Ladies, Motor Mechanics Corps, and are acting as air raid wardens, instructors in first aid and volunteer registrars wherever needed.

Frances Gatling Wilson is in the uniform of Women in Ordnance and is spending full time as Director of Recreation for the Ordnance Division of the U. S. War Department which was recently moved from Washington to Detroit. She plans and directs the recreational program for 4,000 employees of the Ordnance Division and besides organizing numerous athletic, musical and dramatic groups, carries on a regular program of social events.

Ruth Mallory Carpenter is chairman of Blood Donor Service of American Red Cross for Highland Park and is giving generously of her time.

WILHELMINA SPIES CHAPPELL

FLINT

The Flint Alumnae Club opened this fall with Gladys Perry Bennett (Mrs. J. W.) and Betty Chase Stinson (Mrs. R. I.) as hostesses at the former's home. This was a general business meeting and plans were made for war work at future meetings. Freda Clark Gerholz (Mrs. R. P.) invited the group in November, and members came, armed with needles and thread, and started a project of making Red Cross utility bags. Work on this project was continued at Ethel Harris' home in December where Jane Johns was co-hostess.

Lois Harper Baker (Mrs. W. M.), and Ruby Hill Flaa (Mrs. I. E.) entertained twenty-five residents of Sunset Village apartments at a tea in early December and made a fine showing in Arrowcraft sales. The club's Arrowcraft sales, to date, amount to $75.00.

LIBBY BARMES

FRANKLIN

At the annual fall cooky-shine the Humanities Award was presented to Jane Lindlay, a member of the senior class at Franklin College, by our alumnae club. Although this white-winged arrow was presented to the chapter as a whole last spring, the Franklin Alumnae Club had a jeweled guard made of the initials E.M.B. and attached to the pin. These initials are those of the original owner, Elizabeth M. Burton. The award is to be presented annually to the senior girl showing the most interest in art, music, and drama.

Our Settlement School meeting was held in November. As a result of the very nice display of articles from the school we are happy to report sales show a decided increase over previous years.

At our Christmas party which was a pitch-in dinner, we decided to give hard candies to the boys in the hospital at Camp Atterbury. The social part of the evening included the reading of a Christmas story, the singing of Christmas carols, and the amusing exchange of white elephant gifts.

Because Camp Atterbury is located only ten miles from Franklin the U.S.O. is quite an important community project. Jane Deming attends U.S.O. meetings as our alumnae club representative. We have offered our services to assist whenever needed on Friday nights.

Although the Franklin Alumnae Club is not participating in any war work activities as a group, many of our members have completed courses in first aid, motor corps, nutrition and canteen, and we are well represented at Red Cross Headquarters.

JEAN RIDER (Mrs. K. N., Jr.)

INDIANAPOLIS

The Indianapolis Alumnae Club of Pi Beta Phi opened the year with a luncheon at the Indiana I house at Butler University in September. Members of the alumnae club who attended the installation of Indiana E at DePauw University in Greencastle, Indiana, gave an enthusiastic account of Indiana's newest chapter of Pi Beta Phi. A bridge party followed the meeting at which club membership dues were prizes.

The October meeting was a supper at the Central Y.W.C.A. Mrs. Bert McCammon, from the Office of Civilian Defense, gave a talk on "Gases, Bombs, and Fire Prevention."

In November, instead of the usual luncheon, tea was served at the Indiana I house and alumnae club members brought sandwiches. The guest speaker was Mrs. Brant C. Downey, a member of the Indiana State Legislature, who discussed "College Women and the State Legislature in War Time."

The Indianapolis Alumnae Club sponsored the play "Out of the Frying Pan" at the Civic Theater on November 17 and made more than two hundred dollars on the one money-making project for the year. Mrs. Dar A. Robinson (Annette Hedges, Indiana I), was chairman.

More than six hundred soldiers were entertained at the Thanksgiving eve party given by the Indianapolis Alumnae Club at the U.S.O. center. Mrs. Truman D. Hoover (Mildred Mickel, Indiana A) was chairman of the party and Mrs. Noble Ropkey (Marjorie Chiles, Indiana I) had charge of the Floor Show.

The Indianapolis Alumnae Club meeting in December was a dinner at the Central Y.W.C.A. Tables were arranged attractively with Christmas candles, reindeer, and evergreens. Caroline Dunn, Indiana I, librarian at the Indiana State Library, discussed "Early Christmas Customs in Indiana."

MARTHA W. SCOTT

LAFAYETTE

The club year began in October with a business session. In November the annual Settlement School tea was held at the chapter house with the school products for sale. The Christmas dinner party honored the Purdue Pi Phis who were graduating that month. Pi Phi Cook Books were presented to the girls. Later in the spring a farewell dinner will be given the girls of the active chapter who are graduating in May. Many of our members are engaged in war work. We helped sell war stamps and bonds at the Panhellenic booth in a downtown store and sold more than any other group.

MURIEL KNIGHT LAMSHE

NORTHERN INDIANA

The club met once this past summer at the home of Mrs. Frank B. Kinzler in Sturgis, Mich. There were two guests present, Mary Lou Disoway and Judy Buchanan, both of Illinois E. In October a potluck supper was held at the home of Mrs. Charles Rock in Syracuse, Ind. It is probable that there will be no midwinter meeting because of gas rationing and the distances between our homes. To make up for this missed meeting, we are circulating a Round Robin letter, with each member adding Pi Phi news and suggestions.

CAROL MILLER KINGLER

EPSILON PROVINCE

COLUMBIA, MISSOURI

Visits in November from two Pi Beta Phi officers, Mrs. Robert S. Wild and Mrs. Donald E. Lyons, and the annual Settlement School sale in December at the chapter house under the direction of Mrs. James W. Risdon, Jr., were high lights of the year for Columbia, Missouri, alumnae.

Although only five meetings were scheduled to give club members additional time for war-time activities, special enthusiasm has been manifested for fraternity projects under the capable leadership of Mrs. Hartley G. Banks.

Mrs. Berry McAlester was hostess to the organization in October, and Mrs. Lyons spoke at the November meeting at the home of Mrs. Dwight E. Aultman, II. Both Mrs. Lyons and Mrs. Wild were guests of the active chapter and held conferences with alumnae advisors during their visits in Columbia. In January the club met with Mrs. Banks. A program featuring the history and constitution and plans for Founders' Day were featured at the March meeting at the home of Mrs. Norman D. Asel. Mrs. H. E. Scurlock will be the hostess in May.

In October Mrs. Asel was re-elected president of the Pi Beta Phi club, a legal organization composed of alumnae and active members, and Mrs. Aultman was chosen secretary-treasurer.

Newcomers who belong to the club include Mrs. F. C. Old, Mrs. William Pittman, Mrs. Frank L. Mott, Mrs. Charles Taylor and Mrs. Edward Palmquist. Two former members, Mrs. William E. Seelen and Mrs. Milton E. Gross, returned to Columbia in the fall and resumed their affiliation with the organization.

QUEEN SMITH

KANSAS CITY, MISSOURI

The year's activities opened October 13 with a luncheon and meeting with our president, Mrs. Arthur S. Keene (Helen Bangs), presiding. Business was discussed and reports were given on the fall rushing at Missouri A, Kansas A, and Kansas B chapters. After the business of our November evening meeting a fashion show was presented under the direction of Mrs. Oliver B. Simmons (Marian Keck). The clothes, from Jays on the Plaza, were modeled by members of the club. The Settlement School tea was held November 18 at the home of Mrs. Robert E. Riederer (Sally Jo Dempsey). With the assistance of the members of the Missouri and Kansas Mothers' Clubs we exhibited the Arrowcraft articles to around two hundred guests. We succeeded in doubling our sales over last year. Many old and new members took part in a bridge tournament during October and November, held for the purpose of becoming better acquainted. During the December luncheon meeting Red Cross sewing was distributed. After the business meeting bridge was played with Arrowcraft articles for prizes.

BETTY LEE BROWN

LITTLE PIGEON

The Little Pigeon Alumnae Club has started off with several very interesting meetings. We have been most fortunate in having Mrs. Joseph P. Copp, our Settlement

SOUTH HILLS

The club opened the season with a get-together supper at the home of Mrs. Oscar Von der Luft on September 14. We welcomed two new members, heard reports from various committees and outlined the program for the coming year. In October there was a bridge at the home of Mrs. Alex K. Tinker which was attended by active and inactive members. At the November meeting Mrs. McClain, chairman of the Settlement School Committee, discussed with us the aims and accomplishments of the School. The December meeting was held with Mrs. J. W. Simmons.

Because we wish to contribute, as a group, to the war effort, we knit squares for an afghan at our meetings. Our only money-making this year will be the bridge club which meets every two weeks. Each member who plays contributes a quarter.

MARY WALTON IDLER

School Chairman with us for the November meeting. This was a dinner meeting, held at the Mountain View Hotel. Mrs. Copp gave us a splendid talk about the plans for the School, and inspired us with helpful suggestions for the year's work.

At our December meeting, we again had the pleasure of entertaining an out-of-town Pi Phi guest, Mrs. Donald Lyons. Mrs. Lyons, our province vice-president was here on her annual visit to the club. After the meeting, she gave us a short and very interesting review of what the other clubs in the province are doing. She also gave us several good ideas for raising money this year.

Although several members of the club have moved away, we still plan an active year. The present members represent widely scattered chapters. They include, Mrs. Ethel Snow, Iowa F, president; Ida Anders, Iowa G; Mrs. John Poore (Flora Belle De Witt), Colorado A; Mrs. Jim Huff, Missouri B; Frances Brown, Missouri F; Mary Hayward, Arizona A; Elizabeth Peck, California B; Mrs. Jack Huff, Illinois A; Marilyn Abel, South Dakota A; Doris Hatch, Illinois A; Jessie Harris, Asheville convention initiate.

All Phi Phis here are very busy knitting for the Red Cross, and spend many hours in the Red Cross surgical dressing room located at the School.

MARILYN ABEL

KENTUCKY ALPHA

To date the Louisville Alumnae Club has held four meetings this year. At the September meeting the program and plans for the year were discussed. The program for the October meeting was an enlightening talk on the old and new China, given by Mrs. J. M. Wilson, who has lived there for 30 years. The Settlement School program was given, in November, by Mrs. Fielden Woodard (Ella Garth Choate). She gave an interesting survey of the philanthropic projects of the women's fraternities, and then the entire history of the Settlement School. The club was pleased and honored by the presence of Mrs. Katherine K. Lyons, Epsilon Province vice-president, at the December meeting. Her message inspired everyone to work, so that the club can carry on during these trying times.

The Settlement School Tea and Sale was held December 5 at the Brown Hotel. In spite of extremely bad weather conditions, the sales amounted to $200.00. The success of this event was due, no doubt, to the efforts of Mrs. David Cates (Martha Kate Schmidt), chairman of the committee for the tea.

The chairman of the Magazine Committee reported, at the December meeting, that the subscriptions were progressing nicely with a total of $150.25 sold.

Although the attendance of the meetings has been considerably smaller, due to the gas rationing, the Club plans to continue as normally as possible.

SUZANNE NEVIN

MEMPHIS

Pi Beta Phi entertained Panhellenic with a beautiful tea early in December at the home of Mrs. C. E. Hutton (Helen Hayes, Iowa Z). Wine and blue flowers were used in decorations. The Committee in charge included Mrs. J. L. Wellford (Nita Barham, Florida B), Mrs. T. H. Mitchell (Ladelle Allen, Arkansas A), and Mrs. T. H. Smith (Frances Hayes, Alabama A).

On December 12, 1942, Mrs. Hutton's home was again the scene of a lovely party, the occasion being the annual party for husbands and escorts, and was planned by Mrs. S. C. Chapin (Esther Jane Hill, Missouri I), Mrs. Clarence B. Weiss (Mae Keller, Michigan B), and Mrs. M. A. Umsted, Jr. (Virginia Hinkle, Arkansas A). After a spaghetti supper, games and contests furnished entertainment throughout the evening.

Mrs. Donald E. Lyons, Epsilon province vice-president, was our very charming guest on December 16, 1942, and after a most interesting meeting with the officers, was entertained by the alumnae club at a lovely luncheon in the Venetian Dining Room of Hotel Peabody.

Memphis Pi Phis are trying this year to take a most active interest in war work and our programs are filled with Book Reviews and Discussions of the countries at war. Mrs. Reed Knight (Ruth Vincent, Missouri A) who with her husband spent several recent years in China, gave us a most vivid picture of conditions there.

Our new alumnae club president, Mrs. T. H. Smith (Frances Hayes, Alabama A) is doing a splendid job. She was elected when Mrs. J. D. Biles (Elizabeth Boone, Washington A) left the city to join her husband at Fort Sill, Okla.

VIRGINIA HINKLE UMSTED

NASHVILLE

The Nashville Alumnae Club is happy to welcome seven new members into the group, Mrs. Thomas Bell, Mrs. R. C. Comstock, Grace Connor, Betty Jane Harrison, Mrs. J. N. Jeter, Dr. L. Margaret Johnson, and Mrs. J. J. Swenson, Jr.

A business meeting was held in September at which time the program chairman, Mrs. Fitzgerald Parker, presented the program for the year.

The pledges of Tennessee B were honored at a Coca-Cola party at the home of Mrs. Betty Buntin in October and members enjoyed the opportunity to know the girls better. The new year books were distributed at this time.

Jean Fonville, vice-president of Tennessee B was a guest at the November meeting when the program subject was the nearest active chapter. Jean told of the honors and offices won by the girls of the active chapter and about the interesting activities on the campus. Mrs. Lee Hunt, magazine chairman, reported that magazine subscriptions had already exceeded last year's amount.

The annual Settlement School tea and sale was held at the chapter house on December 2 under the direction of Mrs. E. B. Wagner. Increasing interest in Arrowcraft was evidenced by the success of the event, sales showing a substantial increase over last year. The high light of the year to date was the meeting on December 15, when Mrs. D. E. Lyons, province vice-president, was honored at a dinner. Renewed interest and enthusiasm was gathered from her news of the National Fraternity, the Settlement School and reports of what other clubs in Epsilon Province are doing.

FRANKIE MAXWELL PARKER

SPRINGFIELD, MISSOURI

Springfield Alumnae Club has been doing a great deal of war work this winter. We are very fortunate in having O'Reilly General Hospital so close to us. Therefore our work can go straight to a needy cause in our own locality. We have made attractive, hand painted lap boards from plywood for the men to write on in bed during convalescence. Then during our alumnae meeting we work on blankets made from samples of woolen cloth and afghans knitted from bright wool yarn. We also work in groups with the Red Cross rolling bandages, and we furnish money, from time to time, to buy refreshments for the patients in the hospital. Now we are planning an open house in a private home to entertain about twenty-five patients.

We had our Arrowcraft sale in December in the home of JoAnn Prater, alumnae club president. And in the same month we enjoyed a visit from our province vice-president, Mrs. Donald Lyons. Next month we are planning a dinner and party for the new actives.

RUTH TAYLOR

ST. LOUIS

At the first meeting of the year of the St. Louis Alumnae Club, in September, it was agreed that the annual Fashion Show would be out of the question for the duration, and that money would have to be raised by several less conspicuous affairs. The first of these came in the form of a windfall, Scruggs, Vandervoort, and Barney, Inc., were sponsoring a tremendous fashion show of "Duration Clothes" in September, the price of admission being $5, or more, worth of War Stamps. The show was to be held on September 24 and on September 21, the officials of the store offered the Club a bonus of $75 if the members would sell two hundred tickets. That was a challenge which must be met, and though all members could not be reached in three and a half days, those who were contacted, worked tirelessly and did sell $1,000 worth of stamps and bonds.

The second affair of the Fall season was a display and sale of handicraft from the School, from eleven till five on October 23, at the home of Marie Bacon Hagee. Most of those invited, appeared, and sales were beyond all expectations.

On the evening of November 25, the Club held Open House at the St. Louis Woman's Club in honor of seventy-five Naval Aviation Cadets, the proceeds of the sale of tickets to go to the Settlement School Fund. The party was most successful in every respect.

Katherine Kibler Lyons, Epsilon Province vice-president, arrived in St. Louis December 7, in time to participate in the Club's Christmas meeting. Her presence was a pleasure and inspiration to all.

BONNEY BLACK McDONALD

ZETA PROVINCE

GRAND RAPIDS

Our club meets the second Monday in each month alternate afternoons and evenings. One meeting during the year is devoted to a study of the constitution and another to the Settlement School. Our average attendance is good. Our members are all active in war work, giving time, each week to the making of surgical dressings, to work with the Bundles for Bluejackets, the Gray Ladies, Nutrition Centers, and Office of Civilian Defense. We also cooperate in acting as hostesses for the Army Aerial Weather School whose personnel numbers 7,000. At our annual Christmas party we donated money to the "Santa Claus Girls of the Grand Rapids Herald" to help fill Christmas baskets for the needy. We sew and knit for the soldiers at our regular meetings.

RUTH S. BUNDY

SOUTHWESTERN INDIANA

The Southwestern Indiana Alumnae Club has had a pleasant year. The attendance of the Club has been maintained wonderfully well considering war conditions and the fact that our members are almost 100% engaged in war volunteer service.

During the Christmas holidays we had a luncheon followed by bridge, given in honor of the actives who were home for their vacations. This was enjoyed by 18 members.

Settlement School products were shown and sold during November and December.

FRANCES COE MAIER

BIRMINGHAM

The Birmingham Club has been rather active this fall in spite of material shortages and loss of members. Early in November an informal party was given for the newly pledged members of Alabama A for purposes of getting acquainted. Genial Virginia MacMahan furnished friendly games, everyone met everyone else, and refreshments were agreeably doughnuts and Russian tea.

In December the usual Settlement School tea was replaced by a highly successful benefit bridge. There were twenty-two tables and the prizes were all Settlement School products—much to the delight of the guests. The sale of goods mounted higher than usual—greatly to the Pi Phi satisfaction.

VIRGINIA HUTSON

DE LAND, FLORIDA

War work, war work, and more war work occupies the time of each De Land Pi Phi alumnae. One of our members, Mrs. D. C. Hull, devotes her full time to the Red Cross rooms; several are air spotters; many who can devote only an afternoon or two a week are rolling bandages, knitting, sewing, etc.; several have taken the First Aid and Nutrition courses.

Despite such war activity the De Land Club holds its meetings monthly, each member devoting a part of its time to the discussion of some Pi Phi project. For instance, at this January meeting Mrs. Ray Jordan gave a very interesting talk on the Settlement School; in the spring our club will join with the Florida A active chapter in a Founders' Day program. Again this year, due to the war, the De Land Club feels it necessary to dispense with the annual spring card party. Heretofore this has been our means of contributing to the Settlement School.

KATHLEEN ALLEN DU BOSE

JACKSON, MISSISSIPPI

Our alumnae club members are busy in every form of war work. In fact, our organization is to receive a merit award as we have 90% of our members investing 10% or more of their income in stamps and bonds.

We start our second year of existence losing more of our members on account of their husbands being called to the colors. We now number only twelve.

The club was hostess at the Soldier Center Open House, serving punch and cookies to four hundred soldiers. We expect to entertain here again soon.

Adine Hampton Wallace has turned over her guest house to us to use for our meetings, as it is so centrally located. Our program last week was on the constitution and history of Pi Beta Phi. We use the active questionnaire sent to us by Central Office.

We hope to have regular meetings carrying on the business of Pi Beta Phi in spite of extra war work, endeavoring to have an even better report this coming year.

MRS. ANNE POWERS WOOD

JACKSONVILLE, FLORIDA

Although gas, food, and fuel rationing present new problems in regard to holding regular alumnae meetings our club has had an active Fall season under the leadership of Mrs. Frederic Foill (Virginia Jones, Ohio Δ). Last August the club had an informal morning party in the home of Mrs. Earl Harby (Betty Chitty, Florida B) for the rushees and then in September had a bowling party a few days before the girls left for college.

In August the club launched their war project. This was a survey on juvenile delinquency made by the Pi Beta Phi Alumnae Club in cooperation with the Council of Social Agencies. A write-up of the project appears elsewhere in this issue, in the war work section of the ARROW. The work on the project was carried on throughout the Fall under the able chairmanship of Mrs. Kenyon Parsons (Nyra Nooney, Florida B).

In November the annual tea and display of Arrowcraft was given in the home of Mrs. Earl Harby and had an unusually large attendance with many orders of Arrowcraft resulting. Mrs. Kenyon Parsons, magazine chairman, took subscriptions for magazines at the tea, also. The magazine subscriptions have mounted steadily. We were glad to have Mrs. William Ellis of Orlando, the new Zeta province president, as our guest at the tea.

The Jacksonville alumnae have enjoyed meeting many new Pi Phis this year who have moved to Jacksonville with their Army or Navy husbands and these Pi Phis have contributed much to our club although their stay here is sometimes short.

Two of our Pi Phis are presidents of Parent Teachers Associations: Mrs. C. T. McMurry (Elizabeth Lemon, Indiana A) is president of the Venetia School P.T.A. and Mrs. Jerome Cordray (Bunnie Burr, Florida B) is president of the San Jose School P.T.A.

Also in the educational field we find Erma Drayer, Florida B, is Principal of Spring Glen School and at Lee High School Ruby Adams, Florida B, is head of the history department and Willie Pearl Wilson, Florida F, is head of the music department. At John Gorrie Junior High Edja Stenwall, Florida A, is dean of girls.

The January meeting is to be a luncheon meeting at a down town hotel so the girls who work may come.

WINIFRED SHAW

ORLANDO

The Orlando Alumnae Club has decided to meet only four times a year for the duration. The first meeting of the Fall was held at the home of Mrs. Joe Rutland, and the December meeting at the home of Mrs. Loomis Leedy.

Dorothy Estes Ellis (Mrs. Wm. Ellis), Florida B, is the new Zeta Province president.

The Orlando actives and alumnae joined with members of Δ Δ Δ, A T Ω and Φ Δ Θ in giving a combined fraternity and sorority dance on December 23.

HELEN MCKAY

TALLAHASSEE

The most important activity of the Tallahassee Alumnae Club is rushing.

In August we had an informal tea at the country home of one of our members and at this time entertained about twenty local girls. Several smaller group parties were given throughout the summer, and when college opened we assisted the local chapter in every way possible during rush week.

As a club we have been rather inactive this fall for several of our members have left town and the few who are left have been unable to get together. We do plan to meet in the near future and hope that some day our club will be more active.

HENRIETTA COLLINS (Mrs. W. K.)

TAMPA

The Tampa Alumnae Club is continuing its regular monthly supper meetings at the homes of its members. At our December meeting the articles from the Settlement School were attractively displayed and Tampa Pi Beta Phis both admired and purchased much of the handiwork of the school of which all are so proud.

Instead of each sorority giving a formal dance in honor of its pledges at Christmas time, something new was tried that met with great success. The Panhellenic Council, composed of the representatives of the numerous sororities in Tampa, gave a large dance at the Palma Ceia Golf Club on December 19. The club was attractively decorated in keeping with the Christmas season and during the evening all sorority pledges were introduced individually to the guests. Each pledge was given a generous applause. Pledges of Pi Beta Phi thus honored were Ann Dillard and Dolores Johnson of Florida B and Clyde Taylor and Nonita Cuesta of Florida F.

Tampa Pi Beta Phis are continuing with their knitting and Red Cross work. Recognition also goes to those of our alumnae who spend many long hours at the Filter Center. Surely with the enthusiastic work being done by women everywhere (to say nothing of the men) our cause shall not be in vain.

SARAH LOU BOWYER

MIAMI

The Miami Club has had a busy and successful summer and fall.

The meetings have been interesting and well attended although many girls have left to follow their soldier husbands and the rest have had to learn to ride the busses and save tires.

On August 19 a semi-formal rush dinner was given at Coral Cables Country Club, which was also the scene of the annual Labor Day dance on September 5. Both occasions were very successful and from the proceeds of the dance we have sent contributions to the Settlement School, Loan Fund, and Holt House.

A great many Miami Pi Phis are actively engaged in various kinds of defense work. Among other things nine of the girls have jobs with the Pan American Airways and the club Victory chairman has recorded 559 hours of volunteer work for the Defense Council for the three fall months.

Ten Pi Phis have had babies this summer and fall. The Miami Alumnae Club is extremely proud and happy with Helen Lloyd (Mrs. Harlan Lloyd) has been made province vice-president. We are sure that the other clubs will benefit from her ability and enjoy her wit as we do.

The annual Christmas luncheon for actives and pledges is scheduled for December 30. This is always a very busy occasion and this year the sale of Settlement School products is planned for the same time.

ELIZABETH M. WEATHERUP

TAMPA

Members of the Tampa Alumnae Club climaxed the summer rushing season with a "Patriotic Dinner" at the Tampa Yacht and Country Club. Decorations featured a red, white, and blue theme; place cards were defense stamp booklets; and prizes for various contests preceding the dinner were defense stamps. An original quiz skit, "Dr. J. C.," was presented following the meal.

Miss Eleanor Bushnell, club president, is also serving as president of the local Intersorority Council for the year and has been in charge of a number of dances given by the Council for enlisted men and for officers stationed at the three army camps located in Tampa. She was also in charge of the Intersorority Council Christmas dance which replaced the individual dances that have formerly been held during the Christmas season by each sorority having an alumnae club in Tampa. This joint affair was decided upon as a result of war conditions, and it was the outstanding social event of the season.

A number of Tampa Pi Phis are active in defense work. Among them are Mrs. Frank Pate and Mrs. Albert Wing, Red Cross; Mrs. W. H. Reynolds, U.S.O.; Mrs. Stephen Trice, Miss Minna Dennis, and Miss Eleanor Bushnell, Air Raid Filter Center.

On November 14 the club entertained at an informal party honoring a group of pledges who were home for the weekend. Among the guests were a number of active Pi Phis from Florida I chapter.

Mrs. Buford Lindsay, Mrs. W. H. Reynolds, and Miss Eleanor Bushnell were invited to become members of the Junior Women's Club.

SARAH LOU BOWYER

ETA PROVINCE

AVON (LIBBIE BROOK GADDIS)

The club membership is now fourteen and eight meetings have been held during 1942.

March 26 a luncheon was given in honor of Mrs. Mac Clyment, Eta province vice-president, at the country home of Mrs. Walter Hatch.

Founders' Day was celebrated by a luncheon at the Custer Hotel in Galesburg. Hostesses were Miss Jessie Gaddis and Miss Ruth Woods.

The annual picnic was held at Avondale Club July 29, at which time three prospective rushees were entertained.

Three meetings have been held this Fall and besides the regular donations, gifts of four dollars each were voted to Holt House fund, Illinois A, and Illinois B-A chapters, respectively.

EDITH CRISSEY

BELOIT

This year the Beloit Alumnae Club is holding its meetings at the homes of the members instead of at the chapter house. As is customary with our club, we are still having dinner meetings but will undoubtedly have to dispense with this in the near future because of the food situation.

At the November meeting everyone enjoyed movies of the Settlement School which were shown after dinner.

The December meeting was held November 30 in order that the club might entertain Miss Williams, Eta Province President, at one of our dinner meetings. The club enjoyed her visit here very much.

The club presented the chapter with five sets of creamers and sugars to catch their glassware as a Christmas gift. Every year the club presents the chapter with new pieces of their glassware pattern.

Some of our members have joined their husbands who are in service but even though our club is smaller we are all doing our part in the war effort. Some of our members are Gray Ladies, some are doing Red Cross work, Civil defense jobs, and some have defense positions in local factories.

MILDRED LOUISE SCHEITLER

BLOOMINGTON, ILLINOIS

The second years of the Bloomington Alumnae Club started with a Settlement School tea held at the home of Mrs. O. H. Rawson, mother of Mrs. C. E. Mulliken (Alice Rawson, Illinois Z). It was very successful in spite of gas rationing and a cold wave. The alumnae club was pleased to receive word of two pledges from Bloomington, Virginia Mauney, Illinois Z, and Ann Hefferman, Illinois E. The sale of magazines has increased considerably this year. Mrs. W. Gilman (Helen Couve, Wisconsin B) a charter member and past treasurer is moving to Chicago. Mrs. A. Williamson (Charlotte Dunlap, Illinois Z) is moving to Washington, D.C., to be with her husband who is in War Bond promotional work. Although the organization is new and small and the members are busily working in war activities, they anticipate an active year in Pi Beta Phi service.

MARY LOU MCGILL

CHAMPAIGN-URBANA

The first meeting of the school year was held at the home of Mrs. Elliot Stevens in October. Twenty-four members were present, including Mrs. Eunice Weaver, until recently Director of the Settlement School. We have 46 paid members. At this meeting plans were made for the visit of our province president, Miss Williams. In November a cooky-shine was held in honor of our pledges. Mrs. Ruth Ashbrook gave an interesting talk on her life and experiences in South America. The Settlement School tea was held at the chapter house in December with a successful sale.

REKA B. KILER

CHICAGO NORTH

Chicago North Alumnae Club opened the new club year with its annual cooky-shine, held at the home of Mrs. Thor Germundsson on October 19, 1942. It was a most successful evening, featuring a delicious spaghetti supper. The entertainment was highlighted by Mangel, Inc. Florist, who furnished a demonstration on floral arrangements for the home.

On November 18, 1942, the Settlement School Tea and Book Review was held at the Northwestern University chapter house.

Chicago North has been actively engaged in sponsoring a group of overseas Army Nurses. We send personal letters to the nurses and gift boxes regularly. We have received word from our group of nurses and they are very appreciative of our interest.

Christmas gifts were sent to Settlement School. Mrs. John P. Madden, 7426 N. Damen Ave., Chicago, is anxious to welcome all new Pi Phis in the North Chicago area and urges all newcomers to contact her.

MRS. W. A. MUELLER

CHICAGO SOUTH

The first meeting in September, a cooky-shine was held at the Beverly Hills home of Mrs. C. L. Milton. As one important phase of the program, a most interesting letter was read from Lois Ann Hassell, historian of Indiana E, telling of the early history and eventual installation of the new chapter at DePauw. The meeting was unusually well attended, and here the five groups which constitute Chicago Alumnae Club South decided unanimously to send packages, books, and magazine subscriptions to various Army Nursing Units in service overseas. At each subsequent meeting, every group has collected gifts and packed such a box—sending it personally to names secured through the cooperation of Colonel Julia Flikke, commander in chief of army nurses.

Our Rummage Sale under the direction of Mrs. Warren Buxton resulted in a net profit of $60.00.

The Settlement School Sale and Tea was held at the home of Mrs. W. T. Stout, with Mrs. William Marsteller the chairman. Almost $280.00 worth of merchandise was sold. Lieutenant Loree Wolf, director of the Cook County Hospital Nursing Unit, ready for overseas duty, was our guest of honor and poured. In uniform, she seemed to accentuate the work we are doing with army nurses. Board meetings are scheduled at the Woman's University Club, the Fine Arts Building, as a "loop" meeting place seems more expedient in these days of transportation difficulties.

At our last Board meeting a check of $100.00 for Settlement School was authorized. Thus, while continuing the efforts that are always Pi Phis' duties and pleasures, our war work this year has been the sponsoring of army nursing units over seas. To that end some 30 packages have been sent, with each package of gifts approximating five dollars' value. The president of Chicago Alumnae Club South, Mrs. J. P. McShane, is likewise president of the Chicago Area Council. Through her efforts and those of Mrs. J. Frank Page, all alumnae clubs of the Chicago area are sending similar packages at each meeting, writing letters—and making every effort to develop personal interests between Pi Phis here at home, and the army nurse so far away.

LOIS DONALDSON KOEHLER

CHICAGO WEST SUBURBAN

The first meeting of the current year was a luncheon-bridge held at the home of Edwina Cupp. The majority of the time was spent discussing plans for our future year to conform with the present emergency. It was decided upon to reduce our yearly meetings from the normal nine to five, mainly, due to transportation, but also, to the fact that our members are devoting all available time to war effort. However, since several of our meetings are eliminated, we are doing our utmost to make each one doubly interesting.

Our president, Helen Alt, is holding a meeting of the board before each scheduled date, when problems are discussed which ordinarily consume so much time at our meeting, thus leaving more time for social and educational topics.

At our second meeting, held at the home of Mildred Trumbo, we were delighted to have as our guest speaker Mrs. Ruth Test, a teacher of Modern Art. She spoke on paintings also home furnishings.

We are planning to cooperate with the Chicago Area Council giving our services at the Nurses Center whenever needed.

ROMA HERRINGTON DRYER

DECATUR

Probably one of the nicest parties given in some time, attended by members of Illinois H active chapter at James Millikin University and the Decatur Alumnae Club was that given to honor Miss Jessie Lockett on December 17. The event was a formal dinner in Decatur's Hotel Orlando.

Miss Lockett retired last fall after serving as chaperon at the Pi Beta Phi house for more than 25 years. A special gift to Miss Lockett from the group was a diamond wrist watch.

Wine and blue Christmas tree balls and candles decorated the tables, at which numerous toasts were pledged after the dinner. A large stack of messages of appreciation, affection, and congratulation were read from members all over the country as a part of the testimonial dinner.

It was Miss Lockett who had "brought up" two generations of Pi Phis at the university where she was on the Millikin faculty in the language department for a while. Later she retired from the school and gave her full time to the girls.

Among other events last fall for the alumnae group was a picnic supper in one of the city parks in September, followed by a meeting in the home of a member. Later, in October, more than 80 actives and alumnae with several guests, attended the homecoming dinner in the chapter house. Pledges gave a stunt as entertainment before members attended the university homecoming dance.

JANET KUNZ

ELGIN

The Elgin Alumnae Club year opened with a supper meeting at the home of Mrs. Lee Phillips. At this meeting Marcy Haeger, a graduate of Wisconsin B last June, was appointed Active Chapter Chairman and gave an interesting report on rushing and also on the activities of the Pi Beta Phis at Beloit College.

Our November meeting was held at the home of Margaret Newman. Arrangements were made to send a Christmas box, made up of gifts from the members, to a soldier. It was voted to make contributions to the Settlement School and to the Loan Fund.

MARION V. H. MARTIN

FOX RIVER VALLEY

Despite the fact that general war conditions have cut the membership in the Fox River Valley Alumnae Club tremendously, we in the immediate vicinity of Appleton have had an interesting and busy summer.

Early in the summer the alumnae rushing meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Myrl Davis. At this time we discussed the merits of the various town girls who were to enter Lawrence College in the Fall. Later in June Mrs. Frank Wheeler invited the Pi Phi group to a dessert bridge held in honor of Mrs. Davis's sister, Mrs. Perrin Smith of Trenton, Michigan, who was visiting in town. Mrs. Victor Zeuthen gave a tea on July 1 at which her sister, Marion Brown Nelson, Minnesota A, was the guest of honor. We all enjoyed meeting Marion.

On July 25 the alumnae assisted the local active chapter at a summer rushing tea held at Butte des Morts Country Club. We had an ideal day for the party and were delighted with the clever skit put on by the town girls.

Shortly before Fall rushing the active chapter invited the alumnae group to a tea for the new Dean of Women at Lawrence College, Miss Charlotte Wallaeger, Wisconsin A. Miss Wallaeger joined us in our first alumnae meeting of the year held immediately after the tea.

Those of us who were able helped the active chapter with Fall rushing. We were represented at all rushing functions, including the pledge banquet, by at least one alumnae. We were very pleased with the twenty attractive girls the group pledged at the end of the rushing season. This is the first year our new chapter at Lawrence has not been under the guidance of a special Pi Phi advisor during rush week. The result of rushing this year convinced us that the active chapter is a flourishing and seasoned group.

We alumnae attended the Fall initiation at which time we initiated two girls. After the ceremony we entertained the chapter at a cooky-shine held at the home of Mrs. Donald Porter.

The second meeting of the year was held at the home of Mrs. L. A. Burley and was preceded by a luncheon. Only those of us in Appleton and Neenah could be there.

Both the active chapter and the club entertained in honor of Miss Williams in December.

NANCY WRIGHT MURPHY

GALESBURG

The opening function of the club year was the formal rushing banquet given by the Illinois B-A chapter in September at the Custer Hotel. As is customary the alumnae group assisted and many of our members attended. In order that our members might have more time for war effort, we have limited the number of our meetings to seven. A cooky-shine was held in October and the annual Christmas party early in December at the home of Jean Trevor. We have given $50 to the local War Chest drive and $25 to the Knox chapter.

DOROTHY GARDNER

JOLIET

Our club is enjoying a pleasant and profitable year with Ethel Scotland Chaney as president. Our opening meeting in September was a potluck supper at the home of our president. The new officers took over, committees were appointed and plans for the year discussed. The October meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Hugh Carson and her daughter, Charity. In November the club met with Mrs. Raymond Ramage of Plainfield. We are cooperating with the Chicago Alumnae Clubs in furnishing boxes for nurses who are in war service abroad. The Christmas meeting with Mrs. Glenn Evans featured an exchange of gifts and the singing of Christmas carols and Pi Phi songs. We are happy to welcome into our membership a newcomer to Joliet, Shirley Kolsrud of Simpson College, Iowa.

EMILY C. CARSON

MADISON

We have already held three meetings this Fall, the last one being a large meeting entertaining the seniors and the new chaperon of Wisconsin A, Mrs. Humphreys. At that meeting we elected a new president, Mrs. Gregor Sletteland (Virginia McCormick) in place of Mrs. Richard D. Woodman (Janet Shaw), who has been unable to serve in that capacity since elected. In electing one of the new members as president we are hoping to create more of an interest in the younger alumnae group. Interest, after all, must be instilled in the "young blood" to insure future success of an alumnae club. We feel sure that the more younger members we can get to take an active part the more stimulating the meetings will be.

We are fortunate this year in having with us at meetings the two daughters of Prof. F. Ellis Johnson, Dean of the School of Engineering at the University of Wisconsin. They are Margaret (Mrs. George Lehman), whose husband is a Major in the Air Corps, and now serving in North Africa, and Helen (Mrs. Ralph Keyser, Jr.), whose husband is with the coast guard and is stationed at present at San Pedro, California. They were both initiated into Iowa F.

If possible at our next three meetings we expect to have speakers, and Madison is fortunate in having many interesting people who will graciously give their time speaking to various organizations.

MRS. JOHN I. FELSHER

MILWAUKEE

The Milwaukee Alumnae Club opened its year with an active membership of sixty-seven. This number has since been augmented by Pi Phi "in Milwaukee for the duration." The Club finds it very pleasant and stimulating to have new members from other parts of the country.

The program for this year, evening dinner meetings in the homes of members, is keyed to the war effort. The speaker for the September meeting fostered interest in the local Community and War Funds Drive. The October meeting featured the Settlement School sales, which were unusually profitable this year, netting a total of $580. At the November meeting Dr. Corbett of the Milwaukee Safety Commission addressed the group on "Saving Man Power for War Power" through accident prevention. In December the club enjoyed a Christmas party with the junior auxiliary.

The club is raising its funds this year by exercising extra effort on the usual projects such as the magazine and Settlement School sales. Also, members pay twenty-five cents attendance fee for each meeting. Then, too, members have made for sale sets of cocktail napkins of bright bits of gingham and percales which have brought gratifying returns.

MARJORIE OVIATT CRABR

MONMOUTH

The Monmouth Alumnae Club has a paid membership of 30.

This year, we have met the first Monday of each month, as usual, for our regular meetings. The club has knit squares and presented an afghan to the local Red Cross Chapter, and we are working on blocks for the second afghan.

On Pledge Day, October 17, the alumnae club entertained the actives and new pledges of Illinois A at luncheon.

On Saturday, November 21, Miss Powell, accompanied by Miss Onken and several members of the Jacksonville Alumnae Club, came to Monmouth to present the figurines at the Holt House. Among those present at this ceremony were Dr. J. H. Grier, president of Monmouth College, whose mother was Ada Bruen Grier, and Attorney M. G. Soule, whose mother was Inez Smith Soule.

At our December meeting, each member took a toy for the children at the Settlement School.

MARY L. MCCONACHIE

(NINA HARRIS ALLEN)

The Nina Harris Allen Alumnae Club does not have a planned program this year, due to the gas rationing. However, we were able to have three meetings before the rationing went into effect.

The October meeting was held at the Glen Tea House, Glen Ellyn. Following the business meeting the members worked on cross-word puzzles to be sent to the men in the service. The November meeting was held at the home of Elizabeth Crabtree in Elmhurst. At this meeting the members brought short stories to be put in envelopes and given to the men in the service, who are traveling and have need of something to fill their time. The Christmas meeting and White Elephant Sale was held at the home of Jean Nelson. Each month the Club has been sending a box of gifts to the Army Nurses overseas. In December a subscription to the Reader's Digest was sent to the nurses.

Although the Club does not meet again until March, the members will carry on with its war projects.

FLORENCE HALL GENTRY

NORTH SHORE

The activities and program of the North Shore Alumnae Club this season have been in trend with the times.

Defense work and other projects have been accompanied by timely entertainment at meetings, as was the case in September. "Fashion Trends in War Time" was featured after a business meeting during which we knit afghan squares for the Red Cross. One hundred of these squares have been completed at present.

Miriam E. Williams, province president, was our guest in December when activities to date were reported and followed by a program of "Unrationed Diversions." This included songs by Mrs. Frederic R. Dent (Hortense Pierce), Kansas A, accompanied by Esther Garry Williams, Montana A, and a talk on flower arrangements.

At this meeting the club agreed to send The Americana Encyclopaedia, yearly supplement, and bookcase to the Settlement School. We contributed $19.00, through Bundles for America, to be used for Christmas gifts to soldiers. Twenty members volunteered to knit scarfs for Naval Air Cadets at a nearby training station. It was announced that $29.00 had been earned at our fall benefit card party. And a thank you letter was read from a group of nurses, in service overseas, to whom the club had sent three boxes of miscellaneous items. These consisted of small health, beauty, and recreational aids difficult to secure in another land.

Other meetings included a discussion of fall trends in books by Mrs. Edward L. Middleton (May E. Carney, Indiana A), and a talk on "Thanksgiving in 1942," by Mrs. Francis L. Bacon (Ruth Seisken, Kansas B).

The club is enthused about continuing its activities and timely programs the remainder of the year.

BEATRICE CARLSON (MRS ROGER G. W.)

OAK PARK-RIVER FOREST

The Oak Park-River Forest Alumnae Club began its year's activities with a rushing tea for local girls who were prospective rushers. The tea was in charge of our club rushing chairman, Mrs. Bruce Bell (Catherine Porter, Wisconsin A). The first regular meeting of the fall was a joint one of both the afternoon and evening groups, at the home of Mrs. T. T. Job (Jessie Howser, Iowa B). An enthusiastic group was present and plans were laid for the coming year under the leadership of our president, Mrs. E. B. Derr (Margaret Handshaw, Pennsylvania I).

Our annual Settlement School Tea and Sale was held on November 14 at the home of our president, Mrs. Derr. Mrs. A. Silverberg (Martha Tschudin, Texas B) was the chairman of the sale, and reports sales of approximately $200. The mothers of new Pi Phi pledges assisted by pouring at the tea, which is always one of our nicest club affairs.

On December 10 we again held a joint meeting, this time at the home of Mrs. W. Riddet (Dorothy Grill, South Dakota A). There were 35 members present and a program of Christmas stories was given by Miss Mary Ayres of the Oak Park Public Library.

As our part in the war effort, our club was joined in the plan inaugurated by Chicago South Alumnae Club, and has adopted a unit of army nurses serving overseas. So far five boxes of gifts have been packed at each of the last two meetings, making a total of ten, and sent to the unit of nurses which will be ours to help for the duration.

NORMA FARNSWORTH WILLIAMS

PEORIA

Five meetings have been held this year in members' homes. They are usually a one-course luncheon followed by the business session. Each member has a War Stamp book and purchases a twenty-five cent stamp at every meeting.

Our membership has dropped to an average of twenty, for many of the club's outstanding members have left the city with their husbands who are in service. However, the activities are being carried on in full, with the exception of the annual Arrowcraft sale and tea. Because of poor transportation the club felt, with regret, that it would have to be postponed this year.

In October, the club purchased a $100.00 War Bond from the treasury. The president, Virginia Popen, bought it at a War Bond Auction held in the Peoria Armory. She received two baskets of groceries and a wool blanket. They have been raffled among the members at three different meetings. It was fun, and added several dollars to the treasury.

Our coming project is purely a social one. We hope to have all our husbands meeting with us for dinner sometime this month.

BETTY GAMBLE

THETA PROVINCE

BURLINGTON, IOWA

Assisted by Panhellenic members living in the Iowa Ordnance Plant area, members of the Burlington Alumnae Club sponsored a Settlement School tea in the I.O.P.

Recreation Hall, November 3. The affair was a decided success from a financial standpoint and also afforded residents of Burlington an opportunity to become better acquainted with newcomers brought here by the huge munitions plant.

The opening meeting of the 1942-43 year was held at the home of Mrs. Emil Gerdes, October 22. Mrs. W. F. Gilman was hostess for the Christmas supper party, December 3, at which time a Christmas box was packed for the Settlement School.

Due to existing conditions, Ft. Madison alumnae have been unable to affiliate with the Burlington Club this year but a number of newcomers have joined the Club, thus compensating somewhat for the loss.

ELINOR THOMPSON LUNDGREN (Mrs. J. B.)

DES MOINES

Because of war-time restrictions our club has given up two of its usual monthly meetings. At our first meeting in October the topic was Women in War. Two Navy nurses, here to recruit WAVES, and a WAAC from Des Moines spoke. Several of our regular members have left here to join their husbands who are in the service, but we have also gained some new members because of various war activities here. Both active and alumnae members are doing their share of volunteer war work. In November a benefit bridge party helped swell the funds in our treasury. We had our usual Christmas party donating food for charity baskets. We also contribute to the U.S.O. We regret the loss of our president, Mrs. R. W. Stout, who has joined her husband who is in the service. The office is being filled by the vice-president, Mrs. John Peterson.

DOROTHY KENWORTHY WHEELER

DULUTH-SUPERIOR

We have been having regular meetings this year in spite of war work and other distractions. We were sorry to lose one of our most loyal members—Evelyn Deighton—who has taken a position in Minneapolis, Minnesota. Florence Collins has taken Evelyn's place as president. We had the usual Christmas sale of Arrowcraft products, with Eleanor Abbett in charge, and Elizabeth Adams is in charge of magazine subscriptions. We had a wonderful record last year, standing third among the eight highest commissions per capita for alumnae clubs, so Elizabeth deserves a great deal of credit. We are so happy to have Donna Roberts, Oklahoma B, with us. She moved here from Milwaukee, Wisconsin. Another member we miss very much is Betty McGhie, who has also moved to Minneapolis.

RUBY BURTNES OLNSTEAD

INDIANOLA

Our October meeting was a shower for our president, Ruth Greenwalt Parsons, who had recently been married. In November we served the Homecoming dinner, and later in the month we held a rummage sale together with the Mothers' Club, and it was quite successful.

In December, Harriet Henders presented a wonderful concert in Indianola. Her lovely voice, her beauty and her charming personality made us all very proud that she is an alumna of Iowa B. After the concert a reception was held in the Administration Building and members of our club acted as hostesses.

We are not serving refreshments at our meetings this year. Most of our energy is going into war work. We are attending First Aid classes, making surgical dressings, and working in the blackout control centers.

For the second year we have sent our Christmas letter to the members of the Order of the Golden Arrow, the members of Iowa B who have been Pi Phis for fifty years or more. The letter is made up of all the letters we receive from the members themselves and they are very interesting. This year there were 30 letters.

AGNES WRIGHT STONE

IOWA CITY

Believing that in times like these fraternity associations mean more than ever before, the Iowa City Alumnae Club has followed its regular program of business and social meetings. However, it also has made a special effort to cooperate with the various war agencies in the community.

Meetings have included a scholarship dinner with the active chapter in the chapter house. It is at this dinner, an annual affair, that awards are presented to members with high grade point averages. The event had double significance this year, for the Panhellenic Association had just announced that Iowa Z ranked first scholastically among the women's fraternities on the campus.

The club also honored Iowa Z pledges at a buffet supper October 26 in the home of Mrs. O. B. Limoseth. In November a dinner meeting was held in the home of Mrs.

L. D. Wareham with "The Settlement School" providing the program theme.

The group has participated in the Red Cross sewing and surgical dressing programs, and members have individually taken positions of responsibility in the local war effort. Mrs. William Hageboeck serves on the Red Cross executive board; Mrs. Roy Koza is Johnson county chairman of the Red Cross camp and hospital council; Mrs. Vernon Nall is a Red Cross surgical dressing supervisor; Mrs. Ralph Barnes is a member of the O.C.D. committee on consumer information, and Mrs. Clay Harshbarger is in charge of a weekly radio program entitled "Your Home Goes to War."

EULALIA K. SEILER

WINNIPEG

The first meeting of the Winnipeg Club this fall was an organization one, followed by the rushing tea. A talent party was held in October to which the members brought the things they were making for the coming Thrift Craft sale. Many original handicrafts were shown. In November the Club had a very successful pledge party with many interesting and fun making contests for entertainment. December 5 was the Thrift Craft sale at the Homecraft House, with most of the things made from materials the members collected during the year. During the fall groups met to make the many novel articles for the sale. Homecooking was sold and a turkey and ham were raffled. Cocoa was served in place of tea. The sale realized $220.00. A check for $175.00 was sent to the Winnipeg Bundles Unlimited for civilian relief overseas, and the balance kept for the expenses of quilts, afghans and clothing, which the members make during the year. The success of this sale was in a great way due to the very hard work and clever ideas of Jean Menzies, the war-project chairman.

Mrs. Klein had her annual Christmas party for the alumnae on December 16.

MARY ROGERS

MINNEAPOLIS

The Minneapolis Alumnae Club is enjoying a program this year which includes relaxation, education, and enjoyment of friendships. The club has listened to the Mayor of Narvik who told simply and stirringly of the invasion of that city; to Mrs. Mabeth Hurd Paige, long a member of the Minnesota Legislature; and to Mrs. Roy Blakey (Pi Beta Phi) national authority on taxation, who made the subject of taxes so vitally interesting that members wanted to hear more.

On December 5 the alumnae club entertained members of the active chapter and the pledge class at a Christmas luncheon. A delightful Christmas story, informal bridge, and the fun of giving and receiving two electric waffle irons were included in the successful party.

Members are active in various kinds of war work and alumnae club meetings offer welcome relief. Minnesota A is proud of the contribution which Mrs. J. Webb Hedin (Faith Patterson) is making as head of Home Nursing for the Red Cross in Minnesota.

The remainder of the year promises as interesting a program as the first and there is general agreement that no kind of rationing will keep Pi Phis from enjoying each other at these monthly meetings.

CHARLOTTE WINGET CHOPE

MT. PLEASANT

The September meeting of the Mt. Pleasant Alumnae Club was a dessert luncheon held at the home of Mrs. L. P. Ristine (Geraldine Mars).

The alumnae club joined with the actives for pledging at the home of Mrs. Don Carper (Josephine Rogers) in October. After the pledging ceremony the alumnae served refreshments. In November the alumnae club entertained the actives, pledges, and patronesses of Iowa A at the annual fall dinner and party. Mrs. Ben Seeley (Martha Stewart) was the hostess. Mrs. Frank Wright (Mary Dutton) was general chairman and Mrs. Russell Weis (Marguerite Hall) had charge of the entertainment. Sixty-five were present.

The Christmas meeting was held at the beautiful country home of Mrs. M. L. Dickson (Suzanne Stall). After the business meeting a social time was enjoyed. There was a gift exchange.

MRS. FRANK W. GRUBE

GRAND FORKS

The first club meeting was held earlier than usual in September at the chapter house where an enthusiastic group viewed many new house and ground improvements. Soon after, the alumnae, patronesses and mothers were guests of the chapter at the twenty-first birthday party. Each year North Dakota A members become more grateful to Regina Brennan for the cakes baked for the occasion.

The alumnae entertained at luncheon for Mrs. Tauber during her visit in November.

Orders were taken for Arrowcraft goods at our November meeting. In keeping with economy during the war, only one thing is to be served for refreshments. We were delighted with our unusual serving of popcorn balls and soft drinks.

We met with the active chapter for an annual Christmas party and gifts before the holiday recess.

Mary Cave, physical education instructor at the University, is accepted in the WAVES.

MRS. FRANCIS A. HICKS

SIoux CITY

Our fall activities opened with a rushing tea at the home of Mrs. Edward C. Vandenburg, III. The September and October meetings were held at the homes of Mrs. David Stewart and Mrs. B. M. Wheelock and were well attended. Mrs. Laura Storms Knapp was our guest at the November meeting. We have several new members and extend an invitation to all newcomer Pi Phis, especially wives of men stationed at the Sioux City Air Base, to come to our meetings.

JANETTE P. WALLING

ST. PAUL

Due to the increased activities of members in war work, no special meetings are planned for the remainder of the year outside of the meetings devoted to the Constitution, election of officers, and Founders' Day.

At the last meeting it was decided to hold individual bridge luncheons as a money-raising project. This, we hope, will be more successful than one large party because of the transportation difficulties.

RUTH MCINTOSH

IOTA PROVINCE

CASPER

Activities for the year began for the Casper Alumnae Club with its annual summer rush party. At this time selected girls planning to attend universities throughout the country in which Pi Phi chapters are located, were entertained at a breakfast, which proved to be an impressive and successful affair. The success in our pledging at the University of Wyoming was reported at our next regular meeting by our "new" alums who had attended part of "rush week" and returns were pleasing. The alumnae club is happy to welcome many younger members into our group, who are just out of school. We also have several Pi Phi army wives from the new Air Base in Casper, whom we shall be pleased to welcome to our meetings soon.

The regular fall rummage sale was again a big success, proving to be our best method of earning money.

We have agreed to furnish cookies for the Cookie Jar at the Service Men's Center at designated times, aided Panhellenic undertakings, and donated a magazine subscription for the Air Base Hospital.

In short, the first Tuesday of the month is anticipated by all members as a time of merriment, good will, and fine accomplishments.

JANE BON

CHEYENNE

The Cheyenne Alumnae Club closed its summer rushing with a very lovely Sunday breakfast at the Plains Hotel. Alumnae, actives, and rushees attended.

This fall the club has continued the practice of meeting on the first Monday of each month. Special programs have been arranged for some of the meetings, but the entertainment for the others has been left to the ingenuity of the hostesses. After the business meeting and program or entertainment, refreshments are served by the hostesses.

The actives of Wyoming A were our guests in September. In October, bridge was played. In November we had a mock election. Since the state election was held the following day, it was rather interesting to compare the results of the two. In December, Georgia Hirst Leard gave an interesting account of her experiences in Honolulu at the time of the attack on Pearl Harbor. Pat Agood, a member of the club, played several piano numbers and talked on the subject "Modern Trends in Music." This was followed by the exchange of "White Elephants," which occasioned much merriment.

The war has meant the growth of the Cheyenne Alumnae Club. War and defense industries and near-by Fort Warren have brought to Cheyenne many from all parts of the country. We are happy to have these new members, but regret the circumstances that bring them. The membership of our club is now around fifty, and the meetings have been well attended. We sincerely hope this attendance will not suffer from the gas rationing.

DOROTHY McDONALD

DENVER

The club opened the year fittingly by hearing our own Mrs. Frank H. Prouty, treasurer of the Settlement School, speak to us on that subject. In November we had a Settlement School tea and sale which was highly successful.

In addition to this, we were invited to display our wares at a church bazaar which turned out very profitably for us. At our Christmas party a voluntary collection was taken to buy cigarettes for a group of soldiers who meet weekly for a musical evening at the home of one of our members. In addition we have bought magazine subscriptions for Buckley Field. In spite of gas rationing we have had a good attendance at our meetings, due largely to the assistance of a car pool committee.

MILDRED BAILEY MACDONALD

LINCOLN

The Club entertained members of the Nebraska B pledge class at the November meeting.

Members will get together again this year for bridge foursomes, each contributing 25 cents, the total amount to be turned over to the club treasurer. Each alumnae brought a "white elephant" to the December meeting; these were prizes for the winners of bingo games, with members buying cards at 10 cents each. The treasurer reported a large profit from the bingo party.

The Club is engaged in work for the U.S.O. by contributing cookies one day each month. A chairman has been appointed to call upon several alumnae each week to bake four or five dozen cookies.

Five new members, wives of army officers, have joined the Lincoln Club recently.

BETTY ORME

HUTCHINSON

The Hutchinson Alumnae Club continues to hold its monthly meetings, but due to the many extra activities of each member, no definite plans have been made for the new year.

The December meeting, held during the holidays, was a tea, and included active members as well as some rushees. No other rushing plans have been made at present.

We were quite active in rushing last summer and were pleased with results. Kansas A and Kansas B each pledged several good girls from our town.

We feel fortunate that our membership remains about the same during these days when so many people are moving away.

JEAN R. PERKINS

MANHATTAN

As usual the first club meeting was held immediately following the fall cooky-shine. The alumnae are quite proud of the active group which pledged twenty-two very fine girls.

This club is also proud to announce 100% membership for this year.

Province president, Miss Colita Aitken, was a guest of advisory board members at a meeting, and luncheon in October.

The Newcomers Committee, with Mrs. Hostetler as chairman, has been most successful at finding new members, especially among the army people.

Rummage sales have been good, and our only means of raising money, besides the pre-holiday sale of Settlement School products at the chapter house.

The meetings have been interesting, especially the Settlement School meeting with the pictures from the School. We are fortunate in having Mrs. Holton who presents interesting happenings, as well as first hand information about the school and crafts. The new film is pretty, and most interesting.

To complete the club year there will be two meetings, also a spring picnic, and a Founders' Day banquet.

EDITH MCCAULEY PEAK (MRS. PAUL)

OMAHA

Under the leadership of Mildred Johnson, president, the Omaha club has proceeded this year with monthly meetings. As with everything else, changes have been made to meet war conditions. Alternate monthly afternoon and evening meetings were decided upon, luncheons and dinners being eliminated and dessert substituted. We have 65 members. Many familiar faces are gone but a group of new members have come in whom we are glad to welcome. Our members are active in war work. Jasmine Sagraden Mety is head of the A.W.V.S. Louise Grasse and Delores Carlson Owen are on the A.W.V.S. board, Pearl Fitzgerald Sears heads the Bond and Stamp division, Eleanor Lowman Palmer is assistant chairman of the Red Cross. The annual Settlement School sale in November was highly successful. In December a tea was given for Pi Phi actives home on vacation and for Pi Phi daughters.

HELEN EARLY KLINGAMAN

POUDRE VALLEY

We are holding only four meetings this year because of transportation problems. Many of our members are actively engaged in war work, Red Cross work, assisting Navy Mothers' projects, taking First Aid courses, nurses' training, surgical dressing courses and helping in the war effort in any possible way. We enjoy our luncheon meetings and feel that our getting together strengthens the bond of friendship among us. Magazine subscriptions continue to be our greatest source of revenue.

NORMA NYE

PUEBLO

The Pueblo Club began activities of the 1942-43 year with an evening meeting at the home of Mrs. Muriel Gittinger. We plan to have only four meetings this year because our members are busy with war activities. We have discontinued our luncheons and dinners and shall serve only light refreshments at our meetings. Pueblo has become an important war work center in the state. We have a large ammunition depot and a bomber base. A national U.S.O. Center has been recently opened for service men and there is also a U.S.O. Lounge and a Travelers' Aid desk at the Union Depot, both staffed entirely by volunteers, many of whom are Pi Phis. The

AUSTIN

Although all members are engaged in war work, the Austin Alumnae Club is carrying on under able leadership of Mrs. Ben Parrish (Lucille Camp), president.

The new season began with a luncheon in August at the Country Club for rushes and actives. In October, the club entertained with a tea at Mrs. E. R. L. Wroe's (Nancy Wynne) beautiful home, honoring new pledges.

Another delightful Halloween party was given this year for alumnae, actives, and pledges by Mrs. Robert Thrasher (Dorothy Hill) and Betty Hill at the former's country home. The party was held on the front lawn under tall oaks, ideal setting for Halloween decorations. Following supper, which included chicken gumbo served from large black pots on glowing coals, fraternity songs were sung around a big log fire. This party is a continuation of a custom started by Mrs. Thrasher's late mother who gave the first for her niece, Grace Hill, now Mrs. Lynn Milan and the mother of two Pi Phis.

For Settlement School benefit, Marjorie Amason Allen directed successful rummage sales in October; and a nice sum was accrued from the November tea and sale of Arrowcraft articles. Virginia Eckhart Robinson and Jeannette Smith Guthrie were chairmen.

At the December meeting, plans were made for a club is happy to announce that Margaret Abel of Pueblo was pledged at the University of Colorado last fall. Our club joins with the members of the Iowa A chapter in mourning the loss of Miss Ida Peterson, I.C.

NORENE HAWK

VERMILLION

The Vermillion Alumnae Club has held their regular monthly meetings at the various homes of the alumnae. Much of the business has been discussion concerning new initiation equipment for the active chapter. It is expected that the new equipment will be completed by the spring initiation. This summer the house was rented to the Masons during their convention and the profit realized is being spent on the equipment. At the last meeting the Magazine Chairman reported selling $5.00 of magazine subscriptions.

The December meeting was a Christmas party at which all the members exchanged small gifts. We were serenaded with Christmas carols by the active chapter that night. Alumnae and patronesses were entertained at a Christmas tea given by the active chapter.

The Settlement School News was read at the last meeting and it was greatly enjoyed. Yvonne Belson, an alumna of the university, is now stationed at Smith College training for the WAVES, and Jeanne Gap, another alumna, is an officer in the WAACS. It is also interesting to note that over half of the members of our club have husbands in the service.

LORAIN WATSON

WICHITA

The Wichita Alumnae Club, as one of the participating groups in the Wichita Canteen, is providing voluntary workers, both to meet troop trains and buses and serve as hostesses in the Canteen proper, located in the Union Station. Each worker, as she serves, provides four or five dozen cookies, and the club is furnishing a bushel of apples each month. It has been decided to assess each paid member to provide funds for Pi Beta Phi's share of the Recreation Room at Ft. Riley, Kansas, given in the name of Wichita Panhellenic.

A "Ration Rumbogie" was held at the Hotel Broadview Roofgarden, December 23, together with K K K, and K A O, as our money making project for the year. Each guest, upon arrival, was presented with an A, B or C Ration Card, and during the evening War Bonds in the amount of $25.00 were given to one holder of each ration card group.

The mothers of new pledges were guests of the club at their December 8 meeting. A social evening was held and Mrs. Ruth McCormack, Δ Δ Δ, presented a very delightful interpretation of "Claudia."

The Wichita Club is happy to welcome Mrs. C. J. Dixon (Katherine Hardy, Illinois E), a newcomer to Wichita.

MARY MOORE SEARIGHT

DALLAS

The Dallas Alumnae Club held a joint meeting of the junior, senior, and business groups Friday evening, September 11 at the home of Mrs. Wirt Jones. Rushing plans were discussed. According to custom, the alumnae gave a rushing party for Texas B.

On Friday, October 9, a luncheon meeting was held at the home of Mrs. W. K. Strothers, Jr. Mrs. Fred Neary gave a review of Men of Bataan by John Hursey. Mrs. W. H. Kindred, due to illness, resigned as president and Mrs. C. M. Sale was elected.

The regularly scheduled meeting for November was cancelled and a two day Arrowcraft sale was held under the chairmanship of Mrs. H. H. Hawley, Jr. This year "open house" was held at the home of Mrs. Claude Miller from 10:00 A.M. to 9:00 P.M., Friday, November 13, and from 10:00 A.M. to 1:00 P.M., Saturday, November 14. The two day sale netted $796.95 and since then the sum has increased to $1,014.65.

On Friday, December 11, a luncheon was held at the home of Mrs. Dale Mount. The Texas B chapter gave a program of Christmas carols and Pi Beta Phi songs. The alumnae presented the chapter with monogrammed card table covers and napkins in wine and blue and a heater for their apartment. The resignation of Mrs. L. B. Hurt, corresponding secretary, was accepted, and Mrs. K. B. Peckenpaugh was elected.

The alumnae and active chapters of Pi Beta Phi and Z T A held a rummage sale from which $304.00 was cleared. The proceeds are to be used to redecorate the U.S.O. rooms at the Union Terminal.

FLORENCE HALE PECKENPAUGH

FAYETTEVILLE

The Fayetteville Alumnae Club has twenty-seven active members this year. Luncheon meetings have been held each month with good attendance.

It was our pleasure to have Kappa Province President, Mrs. Branan, with us for the November meeting.

The December meeting was devoted to the Settlement School. Preceding the program, articles from the school were displayed and sold.

A large number of the girls are busy with war activities and plans are being made for work as a club. We gave ten dollars for outfitting Red Cross kits. The alumnae gave the chapter a gift of six dozen Fostoria goblets at Christmas time. The girls of the active chapter gave a beautiful Christmas tea for all the alumnae and husbands.

A rummage sale was held in the fall as a means of raising funds.

CLARRENE BLOSSOM

FORT SMITH

Our club started the year with a larger attendance than ever. Our regular meetings are held the first Monday night of each month with a business session followed by a social hour. There is an army camp here and several army wives who are Pi Phis have been attending our meetings. We continue to sell cook books and plan to have a rummage sale soon to add to our treasury.

RUTH MCKINNEY CRANE

HOUSTON, TEXAS

The junior and senior groups meet together this year. The extra war duties necessitated the condensation of the regular nine meetings into four with an added Founders' Day meeting. The attendance is proportionately higher than when there was a larger roster and more meetings. The January meeting is to be a night meeting so that members who are busy during the day may attend.

Pi Beta Phis sold more tickets at the Panhellenic war bond raffle than any other women's fraternity.

Houston Alumnae Club is proud of the winning of the Balfour Cup by Texas A.

MARY TANCRED THOMPSON

LITTLE ROCK

Because of the press of war work and because of transportation difficulties, Little Rock alumnae have reduced their scheduled meetings to one meeting and luncheon combined each month.

Instead of the usual Christmas tea, the alumnae club had a cooky-shine at Jane Roth's home, with thirty Pi Phis present. Among active chapter members present were Mary Jane McCaskill and Betty Ann McHaney of North Carolina A and Helen Hall of Arkansas A.

War conditions have brought back to the alumnae club two enthusiastic members: Elizabeth Dunaway Hendry, Virginia A, whose husband, Major H. A. Hendry, is with the A.E.F. in North Africa; and Kathleen Williams Campbell, Virginia A, whose husband, Colonel William Peyton Campbell, is with the U. S. Army in England.

The Little Rock Alumnae Club has enjoyed the temporary affiliation of the following members whose husbands have been at Camp Robinson, Ark.: Harriet King Sinnard (Mrs. H. R.), Iowa T; Patricia Sandbo Galt (Mrs. Wm. W.), Montana A; and Pauline Insbarger Hotchkiss (Mrs. Richard), Kansas B.

Little Rock debutantes, instead of having a gay round of parties this year, have organized a Victory Club and spend most of their time doing war work. Of the dozen members of this group, six are Pi Phi alumnae: Mary Anne Burr, Arizona A, who is president; Margina Rhyne, Arkansas A, who is secretary-treasurer; Mary Mehaffy, Louisiana A; Mary Kathryn Magness, Arkansas A and Arizona A; Jane Hurst, Arkansas A; and Jo Claire Armstrong, Arkansas A.

ELIZABETH PAISLEY HUCHARY

MUSKOGEE

This year, the Muskogee Alumnae Club has welcomed as new members, women from all over the nation who are wives of officers stationed at Camp Gruber near Muskogee.

Our November meeting was a luncheon during the Thanksgiving holidays to welcome the actives home from school and the three girls from Muskogee who pledged Pi Phi this September at Oklahoma A, Betty Katherine Holmes, Ruth Tarpley, and Patty Price. Another Muskogee girl, Eugenia Smith, pledged at Arkansas A.

During the Christmas holidays, the club entertained with a drop-in party for the girls who are planning to enter universities next September.

As our contribution to the new army camp near Muskogee, our club made a donation to help furnish the enlisted men's guest house at the camp.

Our officers for this year are: Mary Jessamine Thompson, president; Frances Thompson, vice-president; Nellie Clonts, secretary; and Sarah Cordell, treasurer.

NELLIE CLONTS

NEW ORLEANS

The New Orleans Alumnae Club has been very inactive as far as fraternity life is concerned. The club has had no benefits as the members felt they could better serve by devoting their time to the war effort. Most of the members are participating in the work being done by the Red Cross, U.S.O. and American Women's Volunteer Service.

Mrs. William A. Porteous (Lois Saunders), former club secretary, christened the U.S.S. Stewart, a destroyer escort. It was the third ship launched by the Brown Shipbuilding Co. of Houston, Texas. Mrs. Porteous is the wife of Lieutenant Commander William A. Porteous, who is now at sea.

FANNIE M. COSTLEY

OKLAHOMA CITY

At the November meeting we held an interesting discussion on certain phases of civilian war work. The Settlement School tea in December was held in the home of Mrs. Hugh M. Johnson and was highly successful, about $250 worth of articles being sold. In spite of gas rationing and transportation difficulties, we continue to have representative and interesting meetings.

MRS. JACKSON B. LEHNHARD

PONCA CITY

Our first meeting of the year was held at the home of Mrs. J. C. Hampton, at which time Mrs. Hugh Allspaugh gave an interesting report on the Settlement School. We had planned a cooky-shine for the Christmas season with the actives as our special guests, but this had to be canceled because of the shortened Christmas vacation. All of our members are doing some form of war work, such as First Aid, Home Nursing and Nutrition courses, acting as knitting instructors or rolling bandages. Miss Mabel Esther Donahoe is a member of the Motor Mechanics Corps and is in charge of securing donors for the blood bank at the Ponca City Hospital, which is sponsored by that corps.

DOROTHY AVLESBURY MCCOY

SAN ANTONIO

The alumnae club has decided that four meetings annually will be sufficient due to gasoline rationing, war work activities, and because so many members are busy in government positions.

Mrs. Claude Witherspoon, Jr., has been chosen to replace Miss Betty Galt as president, temporarily, until Miss Galt returns from Dallas where she is working with the 8th Service Command.

Club members with government positions include: Misses Connie Gossett, Janice Ransom, Betty Galt, Pauline Strickland, Kewpie Jones, Mrs. Radcliffe Killam (Sue Spivey), Mrs. Leo Brewer (Dorothy Sweatingen), and Mrs. Boine Kerr (Mildred Caldwell), all Texas A.

Miss Peaches Brewer, Texas A, will receive her M.D. degree from Columbia in July.

Mrs. Gilbert Denman (Pearl Zilker, Texas A) is head of the Red Cross production department.

Mrs. Ben White (Marge Hall, Texas A) is in charge of a group at the Filter Center.

Nurses' aides: Miss Lydia Bryant and Mrs. William Ford (Katherine Webb), both Texas A.

Other members do a variety of work, some of which includes providing hospitality and entertainment for the boys at the many army camps and air fields near San Antonio.

LYDIA BRYANT

TULSA

The Tulsa Alumnae Club has streamlined its meetings to conform to the spirit of rationing. Our usual eight meetings have been reduced to the necessary four. Our first meeting was in October at the home of Mrs. L. B. Jackson, Jr. (Louise Houston, Oklahoma A). We had a quiz on the constitution.

The annual Christmas tea at the home of Mrs. A. L. Jochem (Grace Lee, Oklahoma A) was a very interesting get-together for the girls home from colleges and universities. Most of our seventeen new Tulsa pledges helped to entertain the large number of rushees who were present. Mrs. Douglas Hawkins (Catherine Sachs, Ohio A), Settlement School Chairman, had a display of Arrowcraft products which was interesting to everyone.

The whole club is taking an active part in civic and war work. It is collaborating with Panhellenic in furnishing one of the recreation rooms for the soldiers at Camp Gruber which has recently been completed near Muskogee, Oklahoma. Most everyone is doing some phase of Red Cross work. Mrs. O. C. Lester (Dorothy Bell, Colorado A) has been elected president of the League of Women Voters for the coming year. Three of this year's Junior League provisional members are Pi Beta Phis.

A great many of our members have left during the year to be with their husbands at army posts all over the United States. To compensate for their loss we have had the association of some new members who are located in and near Tulsa with the defense program. Several girls whose husbands are serving overseas have returned to Tulsa to be with their families for the duration of the war, and we welcome these courageous girls who are carrying on at home.

GEORGINA DAVIS TRUEX

LAMBDA PROVINCE

BUTTE

The Pi Beta Phi Alumnae Club sponsored a tea August 24, 1942, at the home of Mrs. Milo C. Roberts, complimenting a number of young women who were leaving for the various colleges.

The first regular meeting of the club for the year was held at the home of Mrs. Katherine Brown Moore in Anaconda, with Mrs. Helen Roubush Mitchell and Mrs. Maxine O'Connor Arel assisting hostesses. After a very delicious buffet supper, plans were discussed for the coming year. Owing to the removal from the city to Alameda, California, of our president, Helen Madsen Mairs, Edith Zaiser Roberts was elected president. We seem to be losing members rapidly, and as we are a small group, and members who live in Anaconda are not able to drive to Butte very often, we shall find it a hard task to keep our meetings going.

All members, however, are busy with different phases of the war effort, in Red Cross, A.W.V.S., Home Nursing, and one is a nurses' aide; one is a clerk in the Victory Shop; money has been used for A.W.V.S. Train Service.

Even though we are a small group, our interest and enthusiasm does run high. Our October meeting was well attended for we had Lieut. Joyce Burton of the WAACs tell us about her training and duties here in recruiting office.

In November Edith Roberts told for her program about prominent Pi Phis. We always have refreshments and a social hour following the business and program.

On Monday evening, December 14, 1942, we met with Edith Roberts for our Christmas party and each member brought a gift for soldiers for the A.W.V.S. train service to be distributed on Christmas Eve and Day.

EDITH Z. ROBERTS

CALGARY

The Calgary Alumnae Club has been holding its meetings in the homes of members on the first Tuesday of each month. The members number 24, representing Ontario A, Ontario B, California B, Kansas B, and the majority from Alberta A. Attendance has been variable due to the many war activities of our members. We urge all Pi Phis who may be in Calgary or vicinity to contact any of our members and feel themselves welcome in our club.

Two successful rushing parties this fall were arranged by the Calgary actives, financed by the club. A party with Chinese motif was held at the home of Marilyn Diamond and a formal at the home of Hazel Moore.

An evening of bowling was enjoyed by the club in November, later adjourning to Muriel Roberts' home for refreshments.

During the Christmas holidays a tea was arranged at the Glencoe Club at which we welcomed active members and pledges in Calgary from the university and alumnae from other parts of the province. We were glad to include 2nd Lieutenant Billie Ferguson, home on leave from Ft. Des Moines, Iowa, to which post she returns shortly.

Subscriptions to four magazines were presented to the C.W.A.C. barracks in Calgary by the club, and six ditty-bags for the Navy were financed through the Red Cross.

A concerted effort has been made for magazine subscriptions this fall and results have been gratifying.

HELEN C. YULE

EDMONTON

The first meeting of the year was held at the home of Ruth Shipley when we heard reports on the summer rushing. We decided to assess each member 25 cents to pay for the materials used in knitting for the University War Workers Group. At the October meeting, Mrs. Tuft, province president, was our guest. The November meeting held at the chapter house was devoted to work on donations for the Red Cross Superfluity Shop.

BETTY LILGE

EVERETT

The law of averages hasn't worked very well for the Everett Pi Phis, because for the four we have "lost" to new war addresses, not one has been replaced by a newcomer to our city; so the faithful few have been left to "carry on." Our gain has been in closer contacts and better teamwork.

Angela Alderson, who was our president last year, agreed to serve again when Betty Culmbach left to be with her husband. Angela has successfully combined her duties with those of Settlement School chairman. Our sale this year was held in a vacant shop on the main avenue, and was the most successful one we have had thus far. Total receipts will run in excess of $325.

We are maintaining a regular monthly-meeting schedule even though some of us will have to serve twice during the year. We feel such regularity promotes interest.

Everett Pi Phis are doing constructive things in the war program. Each one has had first aid, many of us are knitting and doing Red Cross work, and Grayce McQueen is a regular hostess at the U.S.O. one night a week. Louise Dobler was chairman of a city-wide committee which provided five thousand Christmas gifts for service men in the state.

LOUISE W. DAHLER

MOSCOW

The Moscow Alumnae Club holds its meeting on the first Tuesday evening in each month at the home of a member, with a joint hostess assisting. The membership of the club has been very active in different phases of war work as representatives of other organizations and as individuals and for that reason the club itself has undertaken no special war project. However, at two meetings gauze dressings were folded for the local hospital and the club will continue to do this sort of work whenever there is a need. At the October meeting it was decided to discontinue the Arrowcraft sales for the duration.

The members of the club and their children were entertained by the active chapter at a lovely Christmas party December 14 at the chapter house. Christmas carols were sung and musical games played.

The first daughter of an initiate of Idaho A was pledged this fall. Jean Thompson, whose mother, Mrs. L. W. Thompson (Vivian Roberts) is an active member of the Moscow Alumnae Club, is a freshman at the University of Idaho and a pledge of Idaho A.

PHYLLIS WRIGHT LOEHR

OLYMPIA

The meetings for this year are to be held in alternate months; transportation facilities have made it increasingly difficult for the members to attend the meetings. Several of the members have left with their husbands who have been transferred in the army to other localities. However, we have one newcomer, Mrs. Charles Wilson (Wilhelmine Docherty, Washington A).

At one of the earlier meetings which was held at the home of Miss Verna Howe, each member who attended was given a copy of the play "Arsenic and Old Lace," whereupon everyone had a chance to display her histrionic talents by reading one of the parts.

The spirit of Christmas combined with patriotism prevailed at our December meeting which was held at the home of Mrs. Hugh Dressell. For every member worked hard at the task of cutting and pasting jokes and cartoons from magazines in the preparation of scrap books which were given to the hospitalized soldiers at Fort Lewis, and at midnight we were rewarded with delicious refreshments.

Everyone has continued with her part in aiding in defense work, particularly in the Red Cross.

If there are any Pi Phis who are new in this area, an invitation is extended to them for they would be most welcome at our meetings.

VIOLA M. SORENSON

PORTLAND, OREGON

Our members are busy with war work. The club has given $100 to the Portland War Chest which combines the Community Chest with the War Service work. We have also contributed to Troops in Transit, a service found in all large railroad terminals and sponsored by the Travelers Aid Society. Our members have taken certain hours on Tuesday of each week, acting as hostesses and being responsible for food in the rooms for those hours. The boys seem to appreciate this service very much. The club also has an excellent record for Red Cross sewing, more than 2000 articles having been turned in by the girls. Our own club activities have included a cooky-shine and the Settlement School tea. Sales from the latter amounted to $546. A rummage sale in November added to our treasury. The Christmas party at the home of Mrs. James Givnan's was featured by a talk on gift wrapping in the Victorian style. We are sorry to learn of the auto accident in which our treasurer, Mrs. Ward Sorrels, was injured and wish for her a speedy and complete recovery.

MRS. J. W. COPELAND

PULLMAN

The Pullman Alumnae Club has started its second year as an organized group with fifteen members, an increase over last year.

Due to special effort of members of the club early in the year, subscriptions have been sent to the Magazine Agency and purchases have been made from the Settlement School.

At the November meeting held at the home of one of the members, the pledges of the local chapter were entertained at a dessert. This is the first year that the pledges have thus been entertained, and we all enjoyed becoming acquainted with them very much.

Due to the war, the annual Christmas party held at the chapter house in honor of the children of the alumnae was not held.

AUDRENE GREGORY

SALEM, OREGON (NANCY BLACK WALLACE)

With the approach of the holiday season, we alumnae in Salem are looking forward with eager anticipation to the two outstanding events on our club calendar.

The first will be our Christmas party which promises to be very gay. Then on December 22, we are planning on informal tea at the home of Justice and Mrs. James T. Brand. Guests at the tea will be the active girls who are home for the holidays, their mothers, and the members of Pi Beta Phi who live in near-by towns.

Our club is active in war work too. Earlier in the fall, our group took complete charge of the canteen at the USO for one evening, furnishing and serving sandwiches and coffee to the boys. Several of the members work at the USO regularly; others sew or knit for the Red Cross; still others are taking courses in First Aid and Nutrition.

In early spring, we will hold a rummage sale which is our only means of raising money. In March there will be the election of officers, and the following month we will have our Founders' Day celebration.

We are honored to have in our group this year Mrs. G. Herbert Smith (Eugenia Brooks, Indiana P), who is the wife of the new president of Willamette University.

NETTIE BERREMAN ROBERTS

TACOMA (INEZ SMITH SOULE)

Our business meetings this year have been streamlined so that we may have more time for getting acquainted with our many new members. We have bought a $100 war bond and in October we were hostess to 200 soldiers at the USO Center. In November we had a successful sale of Arrowcraft articles. The December meeting honored the active girls home from college. We have contributed $10 to the Tacoma War Chest. At our bridge parties we give war stamps as prizes. Our meetings are well attended with 30 or 35 members present.

JERRY RADIS EKBURG

SEATTLE

The Seattle Alumnae Club opened its fall season with a repetition of its now traditional Southern Musicale. The affair, held at the Pi Phi house, was a great success, under the able chairmanship of Mrs. Ray Eckmann.

On November 12 and 13 a tea was held at the chapter house in conjunction with the sale of Settlement School products. Both days were well patronized and the sale proved most successful. Mrs. James Frazier was the chairman.

A Christmas shopping luncheon planned for December had to be canceled, due to gas rationing and the many other claims upon the members' time at this season. We are eagerly anticipating the January birthday party which marks the beginning of a busy year, under our new president, Sarahjane Paulson Vanasse.

ELIZABETH SHAILER PICKTON

SPOKANE

At the November meeting the members knitted squares for a Red Cross afghan. The Christmas party honored the actives home for the holidays and also our new club members. We spend one afternoon each week sewing for the Red Cross. We made a profit of $51 on a rummage sale and took in $375 at our Arrowhead sale in December. We contribute to the local Community Chest Fund and to the Holiday Exchange.

MARION V. GALE

WENATCHEE

The Wenatchee Alumnae Club has had an active fall. Two new members were welcomed into the group, Marjorie Hill and Helen Nash Zager.

At the November meeting Alice Sylvester gave clever character sketches of interesting women in Washington, D.C., directing her remarks to Helen Horan, wife of Walter Horan, who is the new congressman for Washington State from the fifth district. Helen and family will join Mr. Horan in Washington, D.C., the latter part of January.

The annual Arrowcraft sale held in November at the Cascadian Hotel was highly successful.

At the Christmas party the members took a little time out from the evening's festivities to name a committee to buy and wrap gifts for soldiers at a near-by army camp to help make their Christmas a little more cheerful.

BECKY NICHOLSON

YAKIMA (FANNIE WHITENACK LIBBEY)

At the September meeting of the Fannie Whitenack Libbey Alumnae Club it was decided the meetings this year should be spent in war work. Red Cross work was found to be best suited to evenings. Since then the club has met in town for an early dinner, a short business session, and to spend two and a half hours in the surgical dressing room of the local Red Cross office. Some members have spent a good many additional hours in this work.

In place of a Settlement School sale this year each member purchased at least one article. Many of these articles were used as Christmas gifts. Several army wives have attended meetings while their husbands were stationed in Yakima. Thora Reed, Wyoming A, Penny Davidson, Nevada A, and Olivia Hollister, Louisiana A, were recent guests. Cornelia Cockburn was elected recording secretary to replace Mrs. Polly Judy, who resigned.

At Christmas a holiday luncheon was held at the Studio Tea Room to honor the actives home from college. They were Elizabeth Freece, pledge at the University of Washington, and Betty Beardsley, new alumna from the University of Washington.

MARY NELSON LOGAN

MU PROVINCE

BERKELEY

The September meeting was devoted to the explanation of our yearly project, this year, the assembling of USO books. Each book, made up in a USO binder, contains one continued story cut from magazines. These books are in great demand by the boys on transports. The Settlement School tea held at the chapter house in November brought in $325.

Our alumnae are busy with war work and although distances are great in the bay area, our meetings have been well attended.

BETTY DANIEL KRAEMER

GLENDALE

Our year opened in October with a luncheon at the YMCA. Because of gasoline shortage, all meetings will be held in as central locations as possible. Since our members are busy with essential war activities, our program schedule has been sharply reduced. At the Christmas party, toys were donated for the Children's Orthopedic Hospital. Our main charity contribution this year is to go to the Hazelhurst Foundation, for the benefit of blind veterans.

MARJORIE FULLER CAMPBELL

LONG BEACH

The Long Beach Alumnae Club has been able to have its twelve meetings throughout the year regardless of dimouts and gas rationing. In fact, the members feel they have carried on under difficulty but it is hoped that the gathering will continue regardless of the war; friendships must not be neglected.

The officers of the past year, in part, are carrying on for this year; change did not seem advisable for the duration. The May meeting was the first of the year and held with our president, Marie White. The yearly report was given and the funds were voted for distribution, Settlement School $20.00, Loan Fund $10.00, and $5.00 to the Holt House.

In October consideration was given to furnishing a U.S.O. house. It will cost about $75.00 to repair furniture and buy the new things needed. The Red Cross will pick up the contributions. We will continue taking voluntary collection for the buying of war stamps.

Mary Miller Barnes, first editor of the ARROW, asked her nieces, Marcella and Winifred Richards of Los Angeles, to come for the November gathering and show their movie technicolor films, taken of South America. They were beautiful pictures as well as most informative.

The Christmas party brings out a goodly number for husbands are included. It was evening bridge at Laura Barr's. With coffee rationing and the difficulty of obtaining cream the party was truly a party because pumpkin chiffon pie with plenty of whipped cream and two cups of coffee were served. "Really something." To all Pi Beta Phis, wherever you may be, we send greetings for 1943.

MARJORIE WHITNEY PRATT

LOS ANGELES

Through the successful efforts of the program chairman, Edna Neely, the Los Angeles Alumnae Club, including all groups, enjoyed a most unique entertainment at the opening meeting in October at the home of Agnes Snare. Assisted by Louise Lindsey, a contributor to Bill Henry's column in the Los Angeles Times, Lucille Elmore, comedienne and ventriloquist, once on the New York stage, gave a portrayal of child impersonations as well as characters young and old. Following a buffet supper, the president, Dorothy Belknap, introduced the new officers and committee chairmen and in brief gave an outline of the year's work.

Due to gasoline rationing and wishing to devote all time possible to the Gray Lady Unit of Red Cross all day meetings of combined groups have been successfully attended. The November meeting, a membership luncheon and Arrowcraft display, was held at the home of Christine Carter. Again a delightful program was given, the morning devoted to book reviews by Ada Chambers, an active club member, and in the afternoon, Virginia Bassett, Louisiana A, a professional reader, gave a clever and unique program on "Evolution of Negro Folklore." She is considered one of the finest and most authentic dialect readers and presents her work in a charming and original manner, having been born and raised in Birmingham, Alabama, of a distinguished southern family. She has developed her programs through many years spent on an old plantation.

The December meeting had its usual Yuletide spirit in the Christmas party held at the home of Ruth Grady. A delicious turkey dinner was served followed by a Christmas program prepared by Edna Neely and Alice Teegarden. By candlelight Christmas carols were sung by ten members wearing robes, a very effective atmosphere. Edna Neely gave a musical reading accompanied by Hope Evans, and Alice Teegarden sang a Christmas selection. Ruth Postell gave an interesting description of the Holt House, which she visited last summer. The usual Christmas gift of $25.00 was presented by the president, Dorothy Belknap, to the active chapters, California F and California A.

Too much praise and appreciation cannot be given to the two faithful members, Netta Young, chairman of the Gray Lady Unit, and Bess Vosper, her assistant. They have spent many hours organizing and working at the eight different recreation rooms where sixty-six members serve regularly. A Christmas was given to five hundred ex-service men and nine hundred active service men, having a tree in each company's recreation room and giving to each a stocking filled with candy, nuts and gifts.

The members of the junior group are also doing their share of war work. Under direction of Ann D'Aule they serve in U.S.O. Motor Corps. This group drives supplies to the various branches scattered over Los Angeles and Hollywood and serve every Tuesday from ten A.M. to four P.M. They also serve every two weeks for Red Cross, knitting afghans for wounded soldiers and collecting layettes. Last year their philanthropic work was given to the Orthopedic Hospital in Los Angeles and during the year they made and presented three quilts for the hospital.

The Panhellenic organizations in Los Angeles are cooperating with U.S.O. by choosing committees from different sororities to sponsor a dance once a month. In December Ruth Grady, vice-president of Panhellenic, sponsored the dance for five hundred service men.

This year the annual benefit will be eliminated and the plans for raising our quota for the Settlement School are to send out a letter asking for donations and to sell chances on a coverlet made at Settlement School.

RUTH ROSE POSTELL (Mrs. P. S.)

RENO

Although there has been no letter to the ARROW for some time we are still holding meetings and doing our part in the war effort.

Merle Lemaire is our new president, taking the place of Miriam Butler, who is in training in Des Moines for the WAACs.

As a feature of our meetings we are filling a war bond book. Each member brings a defense stamp which entitles her to a chance on the bond, which will be raffled off when the book is filled.

The December meeting was held at the chapter house. A white elephant sale was held and the proceeds of this were put toward the defense bond.

BILLIE GEYER PATRICK (Mrs. E. J.)

MARIN COUNTY

Marin Alumnae Club of Pi Beta Phi has kept active with monthly meetings and taken an interested part in the U.S.O. club while individual members keep busy with war work. The Red Cross claims a number in nursing, canteen, sewing, air raid lookouts, and bandage making. Some have been blood donors and others have repeatedly opened their homes to service men and the families of absent service men. Still others are filling business positions formerly held by men who are now in the service.

The Settlement School was again the incentive for a booth at the annual Grape Festival at Kentfield which is a benefit for the San Francisco orphanage, Sunny Hills. Here one of the Marin alumnae, Mrs. Claire O'Neill (Claire Husted, Colorado A), is superintendent. Wishing to help the orphanage further, the Marin Club this year gave the profits of their second annual Settlement School tea to Sunny Hills. This was an outstanding success of November 20 at Sunny Hills with Mrs. Roy A. Brown (Hazel Wishard, Iowa A), general chairman. Fortunately it preceded the gas rationing. Children of the orphanage assisted as well as several daughters of Pi Beta Phi members, and the club was honored to have their oldest Pi Phi, Mrs. Franklin Smith of Louisiana A, presiding at the tea table. Mrs. Smith (Laura Wise Higbee) became a Pi Phi at Sophie Newcomb Memorial College in New Orleans, Louisiana, in 1895, receiving her A.B. in 1897.

The Christmas meeting was a holiday tea at the home of Mrs. Roy A. Brown when wives of service men who are seeing service at distant points and overseas were honored. Unscrambling the letters in an anagram, which when righted read, "Victory is to give, not to receive," found Mrs. Leslie Hawkinson (Martha Barton, Virginia A) the first member to transpose the quotation. Mrs. Hawkinson's husband, Lieut. Hawkinson, has been in the Solomons for many months. The reading of Van Dyke's Spirit of Christmas was enjoyed by members and guests.

The Marin Club president, Mrs. Eugene Robinson (Serena Maddux, California B), lost her father this fall. Mrs. Robinson's husband, Major Robinson, is overseas, and her only son, Eugene, is signalman third class in the U. S. Navy and is also on distant waters. This did not deter Mrs. Robinson and her daughter, Nancy, from opening their home on Thanksgiving to six enlisted men from distant states.

Marin Club has welcomed several new Pi Phis. One of these, Mrs. Thomas B. Hunter, III (Mary Elizabeth Terrell, Utah A), entertained the club at the October meeting. Others who have been welcomed into the club are Mrs. George Stuart Clark (Mary Frances Stout, Missouri F); Mrs. James Pulliam (Lucretia Foster, Idaho A), and Mrs. H. Wallace Hickman (Maragette Ann Nicholls, Kansas A). All have been active workers for the good of the alumnae club.

On August 20 Pi Beta Phi took over the U.S.O. for the service men's barn dance.

The Marin officers are Serena Robinson, president; Mary Elizabeth Hunter, vice-president; Hazel W. Brown, secretary; Grace Schneider, treasurer; Esther Stapleton, Settlement School chairman; Dorothy George, rush and magazine chairman.

The club meets the second Wednesday of each month.
HAZEL W. BROWN (Mrs. Roy A.)

PHOENIX

The Phoenix Alumnae Club under the leadership of Mrs. Harvey Platt (Jane Wilder) has had an interesting and purposeful fall season. The well attended meetings, held the second Monday of each month, have been largely concerned with activities furthering the war effort. Members contribute twenty-five cents in addition to their dues, thus eliminating outside benefits.

In October, a picnic supper was served in the lovely yard of Mrs. John Jacobs (Helen Shuffelborger). After visiting and discussing the year's program, it was decided to help the local Panhellenic group with Red Cross bandages, knit garments for the Red Cross, and help with U.S.O. entertainment.

The highlight of the evening came when Roberta Von Kleinsmid, California F, told us of her recent enlistment as a WAVE. Having completed training at Smith College, she is now stationed at Corpus Christi.

Roberta has been very active and we shall miss her sparkling personality.

In November, we met with Mrs. O. J. Bejcek (Betty Jo Reardon). Interesting slides were shown depicting conditions in Lidice. Later an illustrated talk on flower arrangements was enjoyed.

Mrs. Irving Jennings (Imogene Mercer) was hostess for our Christmas party. Members spent the evening making bean bags, calico animals, and other toys for the children of the Arizona State Hospital. Refreshments were served from a beautifully decorated table.

There will be several more interesting and friendly meetings. All Pi Beta Phis in the valley are cordially invited.

JENNIE DELZELL SAVAGE

PALO ALTO

Because of gas rationing, war work, and Red Cross meetings, we have limited our meetings to four a year. In September we had a buffet luncheon at the home of Mrs. D. W. Bucharis (Lucille Huff) when we were happy to welcome some new members, wives of men in the service, and evacuees from Honolulu. Mrs. Arthur Younger gave an interesting and informative talk on Panhellenic rules for rushing at Stanford. The November meeting was a cooky-shine at the chapter house with the actives. There was a display of Settlement School articles and the sale was substantial. At Christmas time, our group participated in the project of seeing that each boy in the service at Moffett Field and the Page Mill Camp was remembered with a gift.

MARIAN FERGUSON SMITH

SALT LAKE CITY

Our first fall meeting was held in November as our annual Settlement School tea. Mrs. M. D. Paine opened her lovely home for the occasion and the articles for sale were displayed on tables in a large room where they were easily accessible. The write-up in the papers included a history of our school at Gatlinburg. The December meeting was in charge of two out-of-town Pi Phis, Mrs. George M. Potter and Mrs. Charles Biese. In January a cooky-shine in honor of the new pledges was held. The Advisory Board was in charge.

KATHRYN BLACKETT TEMPEST

SAN DIEGO

The San Diego Alumnae Club of Pi Beta Phi has grown with the town! Every month new faces appear, especially as the service personnel migrates to this "Mecca" city! We welcome every newcomer and are trying amidst our multitudinous war duties, added to our regular routine, to make them feel welcome.

Two factors have contributed largely toward making it difficult for our club to meet as regularly as we have in the past: first, the gasoline rationing, which is particularly baffling in San Diego, as the city is widespread over a large area and distances between districts are great; and, probably more important, the dim-out regulations, which preclude evening meetings, formerly the most popular of our "get-togethers." Added to these is the very much overcrowded condition of the city due to the influx of thousands of war and defense workers, and the consequent jamming of eating places and meeting places, not to mention the fact of shortages in many foodstuffs—and all this means an almost unsurmountable difficulty in finding a place where we can congregate of an afternoon. So-o-o, we are doing the best we can and perhaps we enjoy our meetings more because of the difficulties involved. Last month the Misses Peery opened their lovely home again and we had a very successful pre-Christmas showing of Settlement School goods, which went like the proverbial hot-cakes, so that the chairman of that committee was sorry she had been rather conservative in her ordering.

San Diego Alumnae Club sends greetings to all Pi Phis, everywhere, and joins her sister clubs in earnest prayers for world peace in the not too distant future.

GLADYS A. ROGERS

SAN JOSE

Our club year began September 29. Meetings are once a month. We are trying to meet once a month, but due to war activities, transportation difficulties, dim-outs, etc., we do not know how long we can continue. But we will have meetings of some sort and attend to necessary business.

The eleven active members are occupied with war work, business, and Red Cross. Certain ones chaperon service dances, are in clubs of Red Cross origin for making surgical dressings. We have one regular hostess at the U.S.O. Hut, also some Canteen hostesses. All members are knitting for the Red Cross.

The 10 per cent each club has from the annual sale will go to the U.S.O. Hut for canteen equipment.

The members entertain soldiers at Sunday and holiday dinners very often.

The annual sale of Arrowcraft products was held December 5 at the Y.W.C.A. Approximately three hundred dollars worth was sold. We feel the event was a huge success, especially at such times as these are.

The success we feel is largely due to the opportunity Mrs. Mildred McKee had in visiting Gatlinberg and the Settlement School. She selected all articles and had them sent on to San Jose.

December 15, the usual white elephant party was given at the new home of Mrs. Dorothy Heath. All look forward to this, as it is hosts of fun.

San Jose Club sends greetings for a very successful year to all alumnae clubs.

RUTH SMALE

SANTA MONICA-SAN LUIS OBISPO

Although December 7 has made its mark on history and has changed all of our activities, our small club of ten members has continued to function. In the early fall we gathered at the charming home of Lucille Hall in Santa Monica for a luncheon meeting. We realized that we could not meet as often as formerly but we planned to get together when we could. During the last two years we have met many Pi Phis who are here while their husbands are stationed at near-by camps. We invite any and all such to join us in our meetings.

ALICE H. McCAPES

PASADENA

Owing to the transportation emergency this year, and also to the fact that many of our members come from outlying districts, the meetings of the Pasadena Alumnae Club are being held at the Pasadena Women's Club, rather than at the homes of members, as in former years. This provides a central meeting place which is near a public transportation system. The meetings are held on the second Saturday of each month, and have been well attended, considering the many war time activities of our members. We do Red Cross work under the supervision of Catherine Hamilton Devine, Iowa Z, who is director of the Junior Red Cross for the Pasadena area.

Instead of a Settlement School tea this year, we had an Arrowcraft sale held in a shop in the patio of the Pasadena Community Playhouse, during Thanksgiving week. We were given the use of the shop through the courtesy of Maudie Doyle Prickett, Wyoming A, whose husband Charles Prickett is general manager of the Playhouse.

The war and its attendant activities have brought many new Pi Phis into this district, and we have tried to get in touch with all those whose names we had. To those we may have missed, we wish to extend a cordial invitation to attend our meetings.

GEORGIA L. HILLSDORF

SACRAMENTO

War work, so vital to all of us these days, was the main topic at our October meeting at the home of Jeannette Thurston. As a result the club planned to have members serve as canteen hostesses at the local USO lounge regularly. The club has donated money for magazines for the USO and gives time to civilian defense, Red Cross, and rationing boards. We have also purchased war bonds. Since we could not have our usual Arrowcraft sale because of shipping difficulties, we had instead a small display and took orders for future delivery. A new member of the club is Peggy Perring, a recent California A graduate. The Panhellenic tea this fall was under the chairmanship of Helen Frame, one of our members.

MARY ALLEN DAVIS

SAN FRANCISCO

In late September a buffet supper and social evening at the home of the president, Estella Campbell Bagley, opened the season for the San Francisco Alumnae Club. During the evening USO scrap books were shown and the members voted to make up a number of them as the group war effort project for the year. Many of them have since been completed and turned over to the USO.

The program for the October meeting, held at Helen Bennett King's home, was a book review by Ruth Christine Hergert.

In November Arrowcraft articles were placed on sale for three days in the downtown shopping district. The use of a vacant shop was obtained and under the leadership of Virginia Sanford Gibbons this very successful innovation brought in $750.00 and acquainted many people with Arrowcraft work who otherwise would not know of it.

About a week before Christmas the younger members of the club were hostesses at the Y.W.C.A. Residence Club at a "dessert." Many small toys and gifts were gathered to be distributed to a group of underprivileged children.

Due to the dim-out, gas rationing, overcrowded transportation facilities and other war conditions the activities of the club have had to be somewhat curtailed but a representative group has been able to attend each meeting.

LOIS HESSON

TUCSON

The Tucson Alumnae Club opened its year's activities in September with a business meeting at the home of Mrs. W. C. Beal, president of the club.

Our club is having a busy but useful and profitable year. Thursday is Pi Beta Phi day at the Red Cross production room and several members have been very faithful in attending these Thursday sessions. Our members are also taking active part in other phases of Red Cross work, helping with the rationing program, serving on various committees for civilian defense, the U.S.O. and the A.W.V.S.

October was a very busy month. Early in the month we entertained the pledges of Arizona Alpha with a patio supper at the home of Mrs. W. J. Pistor. Later in the month we were honored by a visit from Mrs. Paul Manning, Mu Province president, and entertained her with a steak fry at the ranch home of Mrs. Harold Vinson. A lovely Arizona moon helped to make this affair one long to be remembered.

On November 19, after working at the Red Cross production room, the club enjoyed a luncheon at the Arizona Studio Patio. Pi Beta Phis who have recently arrived in Tucson were honored.

On December 15 alumnae were entertained very graciously by members of the active chapter at the Pi Beta Phi house. A white elephant sale netted $24, which will be sent to the Settlement School.

The rushing period was limited to one day, by local Panhellenic ruling, and on October 15 an informal back-to-college supper party was held for the rushees at the home of Ruth James; it was followed by a sing-song and the traditional chapter arrow cake ceremony, the alumnae very kindly providing the sugar from their rations. The new members were initiated November 30, and honored at a banquet held at the Lord Nelson Hotel.

The university is giving lectures in home nursing and in fire watching, which many of the actives attend. The chapter is continuing its own war work at the Wing's club canteen and the magazine exchange.

The university tennis team played two matches and two actives played on the team. Now that the tennis season is over, badminton, basketball and ping-pong are being played, the latter is a new sport at Dalhousie and is very popular.

This year the actives and alumnae have had the pleasure of meeting many Pi Beta Phi's from other parts of the continent, who are here in Halifax because of the war; it is hoped that all members who come here will let the chapter know, and come to the parties and activities.

INITIATED, October 21, 1942: Mardy Ann Jones, Maplewood, N.J.; Mary-Kate Siedle, Rye.

St. Lawrence finished the first semester before Christmas and this was followed by a month long vacation. It was a pleasure to return to no exam-week in January.

The rushing period was shortened to less than a week . . . a victim of the campus' accelerated program.

During November the chapter was visited by the province president, Mrs. K. S. Murray, Jr.

Three of the six girls chosen for Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities were Pi Phis. Those honored were Agnes Coupar, Alma Bishop, and Helen Persons.

Scholastically New York Γ is now second on campus. This comparative rating includes all the sororities, fraternities, and neutral groups on campus.

Along with war work the campus is planning a modified winter carnival and the Women's Athletic Association is contemplating a weekend trip to Canada for skiing. All indoor winter sports have been abandoned except basketball; however, the chapter team is undefeated so far into the season.

The chapter regrets to lose one of its most active members: Marg Reiber has been accepted in the Curtiss Wright engineering program and she will be on the Cornell campus while training.

Towards the middle of the term the chapter enjoyed a visit from province president, Mrs. Murray. A tea was held in her honor at which all alumnae, actives, and pledges were present.

November 14, the pledges had a tea dance at the house with $\beta\theta\eta$ and $\Phi\Delta\theta$.

Chapter pledges entertained two pledges from each of the other eleven sororities on the hill at a "Comfort" party which was held at the house.

ONTARIO ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO

Chartered, 1908

Pledge Day, January 19, 1943

Students at the University of Toronto, realizing the importance of clarifying the position of the student in war-time, called a Student-Staff conference in December, 1942. About 65 students and 25 members of staff were sent as delegates, to discuss the value of courses in these times, and possible revision of such courses to render them more useful to the war effort. Nancy Fraser was one of the delegates.

The university has also had in mind students less fortunate than those still able to continue their studies. On November 17 a service was held in memory of 500 Czech students massacred by the Nazis. In addition, $1400 were raised in a campaign for the International Student Service, an organization which helps young people in occupied countries and in war prison camps to continue their education. Altogether, over $1900 have been raised for this purpose. Many members of Pi Beta Phi have taken an active part in the campaigns.

At Christmas time this year, the chapter sent a dinner to a needy family of seven. Toys and clothing were also put in the basket, three presents for each member of the family.

Rushing on this campus has been greatly simplified in order to economize both in time and money.

Gwen Taylor, a recent graduate, has received the commission of Lieutenant in the Royal Army Medical Corps; and many other members of the alumnae have joined the women's forces.

PLEGDED: Patricia Dunlop, London, England, December 7.

The annual Panhellenic banquet was held in the University cafeteria with each fraternity giving a rendition of one of their favorite fraternity songs.

In a "Western Looks at Life" program, six outstanding Canadian men and women came to the university and led in some very inspiring talks and discussions. Among the speakers was Dr. Marion Hilliard, well-known Toronto obstetrician, who came to the Fraternity for dinner and gave a very interesting talk to the chapter and its guests.

Initiation was followed by a formal dinner at the London Hunt and Country Club with a very large number of alumnae present.

Ontario B had its annual Christmas party complete with Christmas dinner and tree and received some lovely presents from many of the alumnae. Due to the shortening of the Christmas holidays at the university, students were back to school on December 28, and a large New Year's Eve party was arranged at the university. Dancing, games, skits and a midnight dinner were on the program.

Ontario B has started turn-about dinners with other fraternities on the campus, both men and women. Once a month there is a supper-meeting for all the fraternity at the house.

All the girls of Ontario B are taking war service courses either in first aid or army. Several of the Pi Phi's have also given blood to the Red Cross.

Informal rushing took the form of several teas before Christmas and formal rushing week was the first week in February.

The annual Fraternity dance was held on February 20 at the London Hunt and Country Club. Representatives from the other fraternities and a large number of alumnae were present.

PENNSYLVANIA BETA—BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY

Chartered, January 4, 1895

Pledge Day, December 8, 1942

In cooperation with the national effort to bring about more friendly relations with the South American countries, Bucknell University was the scene of an Inter-American Conference the week-end of November 6. Bucknell students had the opportunity to entertain as their guests some of their South American friends. Highlights of the program consisted of an address by Edward Tomlinson, South American commentator of N.B.C., a banquet, and a dance. The dance proved quite unusual in that the students were entertained by a floor show put on by the South American guests.

The date of the senior ball was moved forward to December 5 in order that those graduating in February could enjoy one big dance of the year. The music for this occasion was furnished by Jack Teagarden and his orchestra.

December 12 the Rochester Symphony Orchestra entertained a Bucknell audience with a concert sponsored and assisted by the Bucknell University glee club. It was especially thrilling to hear the glee club sing accompanied by this well-known orchestra.

The Christmas season at Bucknell was hailed by a series of parties given by the sororities and fraternities for the poor children of the community. $\Pi\beta\Phi$ joined with $\Phi\kappa\Psi$ in showing these children a good time.

Handel's "Messiah" was presented again this year by an all-college and community chorus of 150 voices.

The pledge dance was held on January 16.

The pledge tea was held at the home of Mrs. R. Paul Masland, a patroness, who stood in the receiving line with Myra De Palma, chapter president, and the twelve pledges. The Settlement School display attracted much interest and many orders.

Mrs. J. Ressler Shultz poured for the pledges at their tea for the pledges of other fraternities, held in the chapter rooms.

All welcomed Mrs. Carson's visit.

Santa Claus (Phyllis Rhoads) presided at the Christmas feed handing out ten cent gifts and funny poems. Patricia Dientz, a non-fraternity girl, was a guest for the evening.

The college's annual doll dance was held in the Alumni

Several of the girls are knitting for the Red Cross. Some are attending the first aid courses sponsored by the university. The pledges of each sorority and fraternity held their annual "Ditch Night." The chapter enjoyed its annual visit of Mrs. Carson, Beta province president.

The actives gave a "magazine dance" for the pledges. The admission was a new magazine per person. The magazines were then sent to the boys in camp. Each couple came dressed as some character in the comic strips. Just before the Christmas vacation the chapter had its annual winter formal at the Berry Hotel.

Barbara Binns and Alice Townsend have both been active in dramatics and the campus this year. The actives worked with the alumnae in purchasing an emergency black-out lamp for the local hospital.

Now that the war has been brought closer home, the students of Ohio Wesleyan University have been cutting down on their extracurricular activities and have been devoting much of their time to various kinds of war work. Many of the girls have agreed to set aside an hour each week at which time they help make surgical dressings. A large part of the boys have taken courses in civilian defense and are now capable during practice air-raids and blackouts. Aside from this, many new courses have been added to the curriculum whereby students may prove useful during the present day crisis as well as later.

Ohio Wesleyan has been chosen as one of the colleges to have naval pre-flight training on its campus. This brought to the school six hundred boys who will undergo a three months' training program before taking training at one of the naval air bases.

This year the girls decided that instead of having the regular Christmas party at which time they exchanged gifts with one another they would all donate their money to the War Relief Fund. The girls also brought to the party various small articles which could be used to fill "kits" and sent to the soldiers as Christmas gifts.

The girls who have been active in dramatics this semester were Janet Taber, Patty Deems and Charlotte Jones. Virginia Kostulski has been doing outstanding work in debate this year and through her work, as well as others Ohio Wesleyan was chosen first in the State Women's Debate Tournament. Miriam Jones was asked to join K & H, educational honorary; Virginia Kostulski was invited into Δ Σ Π , debate honorary; and Janet Taber was initiated into Θ A Φ .

An additional rushing period was set aside this fall after school had started due to the fact that Panhellenic had decided to try the system of pre-school rushing. Each women's fraternity on campus was allowed an opportunity to give an additional party later on to enable it to meet girls who entered the university late or who had not known about the new system. The chapter held a tea to meet these girls.

Patricia Orr and Charlotte Patterson were honored by election to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. Betty Lou Trowbridge and Elizabeth Wells are members of the cheering squad for the university. It was announced that $\Pi B \Phi$ led the other women's groups and independents on campus in scholarship for the preceding semester.

The pledges were introduced at a dance held November 10 at Hotel 2400. Just before Christmas holidays the members all aided in the sale of Tuberculosis Seals at a booth in one of the local theaters.

Mrs. Finger visited the chapter the last of November. December 18 a Christmas party was given in the rooms at which small presents were exchanged between sponsors and their daughters. Following the usual tradition, the Christmas formal was the night of the 25th.

Scholastically, Virginia A chapter has risen from sixth to fifth place among the fraternities on campus. However, the first three fraternities had the same average.

As a result of the annual interfraternity swim, Virginia A received the cup. If any one fraternity wins the cup for three years in succession, it is given to that fraternity to keep permanently. Virginia A has won the cup for the past two years and is hoping that next year it will be theirs to keep. The pledges proved to be a great asset in this tournament.

In November Virginia A was honored by the visit of Mrs. Finger, Grand Secretary.

Katherine Black has been awarded membership in Who's Who in American Colleges. She along with Mary Carolyn Van Samp was made a member of the secret society, P.M. Defense work has played an even greater part in campus life this quarter than in the spring. The Pi Phis began to devote all their spare time to rolling bandages for the Red Cross and the local chapters of $X \Omega$ and $A \Delta II$ soon followed their example. The chapter was also the first to begin a nursery for the children of the navy personnel of the pre-flight school and of the townspeople. This nursery is open every Wednesday afternoon and has been a great success, since it frees the mothers to work at the Red Cross and other forms of civilian defense. It has been recognized by the Navy which has sent photographers to take pictures of it for Washington.

Pledge dance was held in Graham Memorial on November 21 and was enjoyed by both the actives and the pledges. On the morning before the dance the pledges gave the actives a breakfast party. The chapter has continued its practice of having all its members and pledges come to supper every Sunday night to allow them to become better acquainted.

Sara Yokely was elected as junior women's representative to the student legislature and Kay Roper to the women's honor council in the December elections.

During November, North Carolina A enjoyed a visit from Mrs. Lois Snyder Finger. The girls all felt that they had learned a great deal about $\Pi B \Phi$ from her.

In December, the girls were chosen to sell Christmas seals in Chapel Hill. They also went carolling before leaving for the Christmas holidays.

The Christmas activities of North Carolina Beta Chapter included participation in the Y Fair. Each women's fraternity on the campus entered cookies in a contest sponsored by the Fair. The cookies were judged and then sold. $\Pi B \Phi$ won third place. The chapter also provided a basket for a poor family in Durham. Each girl contributed for the basket. A special committee handled the purchase of the food and the delivery of the basket. The alumnae of Durham gave the Pi Beta Phi a Christmas party. After the party North Carolina Beta Chapter went from dormitory to dormitory singing Christmas carols.

In preparation for the annual sing competition between the women's fraternities practices are being held from 6:30 to 7:30 o'clock every Thursday evening. These sing practices are not only a means of learning old and new songs but also a means of bringing the whole chapter together for social gatherings.

A chapter basketball team was organized so that Pi Beta Phi could enter the tournament played in February. The girls found the practices and the games another excellent way to gather socially. The tournament was lots of fun with every one entering in wholeheartedly.

North Carolina B has a system of deferred rushing so that the chapter is now busy making plans for the various parties. The parties are to include the circus, a Pi Beta Phi paradise, a blue champagne party and the wedding.

The chapter is very proud of its record for spending less this year than ever before. The keen interest and desire of Pi Beta Phi has caused social events and unnecessary spending to be cut considerably. As a small contribution to the war effort the chapter has bought several war bonds. The chapter is also placing special emphasis on service in the various campus war activities.

During Homecoming weekend, all the sororities and fraternities on the campus decorated the fronts of their houses or rooms in competition for a grand prize. This is the second consecutive year this chapter has won the prize. The idea for the decoration came from the Homecoming Bulletin.

It was voted that for the two weeks preceding each examination period the sorority room will be closed from 9:00 till 11:00, Monday through Friday nights, for studying purposes. Active members will act as monitors.

For individual improvement, the sorority has had a series of "Personal Constructive Criticisms". The plan was to make a survey of one girl at each meeting, while she leaves the room. All comments are made and received with an unbiased and unprejudiced attitude.

A new merit system has been devised for the pledges. This is to emphasize better organization, enthusiasm, and cooperation. A list of set rules is given to each pledge; noncompliance with these rules will cause demerits to show up on the chart. Merits will be given for extra activity points, full cooperation, etc.

A Settlement School tea was given in the sorority room on December 14 for the opening of the sale. Faculty, alumnae, and patronesses were invited. Around the Christmas tree were displayed many products from the Settlement School.

Marion Patterson is rush captain, and Doris Nash was reelected Co-ed Editor of the Game Cock, the campus publication.

Although the University of Michigan is being drained of men, especially those in the literature, science and the arts school, and emphasis is naturally upon subjects bearing directly on the war effort, courses will continue to be offered in the humanities if five students elect them. The drain upon the faculty, due to the Selective Service Act and calls to government work of advisory nature, is being counteracted by a program which uses teachers regularly occupied with courses classified as humanities as part time teachers of the more elementary science and mathematics classes. In this way it will be possible to maintain better standards in the cultural courses and yet relieve the other schools suffering from teacher shortages.

An occupational conference on the role of women in the war effort was held on January 6, 7, and 8.

Speeches were delivered by authorities on armed service for women; business training jobs during and after the war; women's jobs in defense industry, social service jobs for women during and after the war; and health service jobs for women during and after the war.

New Year's Eve was celebrated by Wolverines at a dance held in the Intra-mural Building. Traditional favors and a good orchestra added to the success of the party.

The vigorous program for the improvements of health habits of women sponsored by the physical education department has instituted a period of calisthenics as a part of every girl's day. The exercises are led by a girl in the chapter who also attends a class each week from which she learns new routines to teach the girls. As part of their extracurricular war work, eighteen girls in the chapter have recently completed a course in first aid.

New positions and honors have come to the chapter among which is the tapping of Francis Capps by Scroll, senior honorary society for women. Jane Pritchard was elected as a chairman of programs and favors for victory ball to be given between semesters. Proceeds will go to the Bomber Scholarship Fund which will provide scholarships for students to enable their return to school after the war. Anne Stanton was patrons chairman for "Victory Vanities," January 15, to raise money for the bomber scholarship fund also. Francis Capps was appointed chairman of the bomber scholarship dance committee which functions all year, sponsoring dances Fridays and Saturdays at the Michigan League in behalf of the fund.

The chapter will start the new semester by rushing the freshmen under the deferred rushing system started this year on the campus among fraternities for women.

The event that was of primary importance to Missouri A this first semester was the visit paid the chapter in November by Marianne Reid Wild, Assistant to the Grand Vice-President.

Two members of Missouri A played the leads in the University Workshop production of "My Sister Eileen." They were Betty June Edmiston, a pledge who had the title role, and Jacqueline Tucker, an active entering medical school this next semester. II B Φ took the lead again this year in intra-mural swimming by winning both the preliminary and final meets by considerable scores. Genevieve Stanley was selected by the students as one of the attendants to the Homecoming Queen. This year the election carried a patriotic background with both the Queen and her attendants being chosen through votes obtained by the donation of money for the purchase of war bonds and stamps in the name of the Missouri Memorial Fund.

Due to the war emergency expenses have been cut considerably here on the campus. Dances are not, for the most part, the elaborate affairs they had been during peace time nor are corsages so abundant. All homecoming decorations were abandoned this fall as well.

The Christmas vacation at the University of Missouri was a much shorter one than usual this year, covering only eight days. This resulted in classes being in regular session on New Year's Day. The period for final exams has also been cut from one week to four days. With the close of the holiday on December 28 Missouri students began the long stretch, to continue throughout the rest of the school year, of classes on six days a week with no intervening holidays.

The first semester of this school year has been successful for Missouri B. Bobby Knodel was crowned queen of homecoming between the halves of the homecoming football game. Ten candidates were chosen from the many nominated on the basis of personal qualities and their work for the school. The student body voted on these ten girls by buying one vote apiece with a war stamp. Each person could have as many votes as he was able to afford. Bobbie was crowned with a tiara of war stamps. The next excitement was provided by Jane Sackett and Marguerite Sibley when they won the badminton tournament. They were given the intramural championship and cup after defeating K A O, I P, and K K I.

Mortar Board, of which Ann Purnell is president, is sponsoring the making of surgical dressings on campus. The girls are planning to give a certain number of hours each week to this war work. Since campus activities have been curtailed to a large extent, this job together with a nurses' aide training course to be started soon will probably take the place of the usual campus activities.

The St. Louis Alumnae Club gave a successful party for the benefit of The Settlement School. The actives and pledges were invited as hostesses for the fifty navy air cadets who were invited as guests. Tickets were sold to friends of the alumnae club. The dance was given at the St. Louis Women's Club ballroom, and those who preferred to do so played bridge downstairs.

Before Christmas the chapter worked as an organized unit to bind novel length stories from magazines for soldiers. For the month following Christmas they sold war stamps in the student center, and soon they will roll bandages with the Red Cross, as their monthly activity.

At the final and largest football game, Vanderbilt vs. Tennessee, seven members were among the group of "Minute Maids" who sold war stamp corsages. This group of "Minute Maids" also sold corsages at the down town recital of the Don Cossack Choir.

The Vanderbilt annual inter-sorority swimming meet was staged this fall. Up until the diving Tennessee B was right up on top, but because the chapter did not have good divers, it lost many points.

Jeanne Fonville serves as president of the woman's honor council. In the fall elections Jane Davis was chosen freshman representative on the honor council and Emily Winslow the junior representative.

Tennessee B has been entertained by two fraternities.

Both parties were supper dances at which the fraternity pledges entertained with skits.

The annual Christmas party climaxed the first term of school. Each mother and daughter exchanged gifts, and many additional gifts were given the house. As part of the entertainment all brought packages of cigarettes and wrapped them as gifts in fancy paper; they were given to the Red Cross to be distributed to soldiers during the Christmas season at the Union Train Station.

PLEGGED: Margaret McKinney, Johnson City.

With the opening of the fall term, the Rollins girls offered their services one hundred per cent to local victory organizations, and Florida Γ members are all enrolled in war courses, from first aid to shorthand. Two members weekly attend the A.W.W.S. unit, while everyone attends the dances given for the naval cadets training here. Even Saturday afternoons are devoted to picking fruit in order to combat the worker shortage.

Mrs. William N. Ellis, new Zeta Province president, made her annual visit this term, and Florida Γ was delighted to be hostess to her on her initial visit in the province. At the time of the Rollins-Tampa football game, members of this chapter were entertained by the Tampa alumnae as well as two pledges, Clyde Taylor and Nonita Cuesta. Mary Jane Metcalf and Peggy Caldwell are "professors" this year, since Mary Jane taught folk dancing classes to high school students, and Peggy instructed college students in second-year Spanish. Jane Ann Sholley and Peggy Caldwell were selected as members of Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. Mary Jane Metcalf has been appointed head of tennis and is in charge of all tournaments as well as intramural tennis activities. In intramural basketball, Florida Γ tied for second place. Pledge Day, September 25, 1942

INITIATED, October 24, 1942: Joyce Grothe, Wauwatosa; Jeanette Rogers, Stevens Point; Marianna Sexton, Marshfield; Beatrice Tiefenthaler, Wauwatosa.

Foremost among the past events is the visit of Eta Province President, Miss Williams. On one evening during her visit a formal dinner was given in her honor after which she entertained the chapter with several piano selections.

Because of transportation difficulties the chapter was unable to give its annual Christmas party for poor children, however, the money ordinarily spent for this was given to a reliable social agency to buy presents for these children.

Many social activities took place during December. $\Phi \Delta \Theta$ gave a dinner party for $\Pi \beta \Phi$ which most of the actives and pledges attended.

The alumnae club entertained the seniors at a dinner at the home of Mrs. Shorger. A brief meeting followed the dinner, after which the girls were able to talk with members of the alumnae club and become better acquainted with them.

Along the line of national defense, many girls donated blood to the blood bank when it was on the university campus. Also, many of the girls spent several evenings at the ration board helping local officials. These activities were in addition to the Red Cross, home nursing, and U.S.O. activities in which all of the girls are participating.

The chapter entertained six members of the WAVES who are stationed on the campus at a Sunday dinner. It was very interesting to the girls to hear a little about their lives in the armed forces.

$\Pi \beta \Phi$ transfers on the Wisconsin campus were also entertained at a dinner.

PLEGDED: Gwen Frimoth, Clinton, Iowa; Helen Hughes, Milwaukee; Ann Huston, Chicago, Ill.; Shirley Wing, Durfield, Ill.

WISCONSIN BETA—BELOIT COLLEGE

Pledge Day, November 4, 1942

In addition to the regular campus activities the college has been fortunate in having many interesting guest speakers. The Design for Living Conference which was so successful last year was repeated during the first week in December with equal success, giving real inspiration and many helpful ideas to the students. Earlier in the year Dr. Clifford Manshardt and Krishnalal Shridharani each gave a short series of lectures on India that were extremely interesting and timely.

In line with the ever increasing interest in world affairs a new International Relations Club has been established by student demand and is fostering further discussions on questions of the day. In the same connection a new government course has been added to the college curriculum, dealing with post-war planning.

Social life in the chapter house has continued with informal Friday afternoon get-togethers. The Christmas party at the house was a merry one as the girls gathered around the Christmas tree, sang carols and exchanged gifts. As was done last year when the new house was opened, the Pi Phi's held open house for the faculty members and their wives on the Sunday following the Christmas vacation.

Due to war conditions and the difficulty of transportation, inter-collegiate athletics has been suspended by the college for the duration and has been replaced by intramural and inter-fraternity sports and by a physical training program for both men and women.

Honors this year go to Ann Renz and Jean Harper for being elected to Who's Who and to Lois Wilson for being chosen homecoming queen.

The navy preflight school has invaded the campus, and now the chapter will be busier than ever, doing its share of the entertaining for the navy men. In line with war work, a Defense Council has been set up, and Jean Shanks and Maryalys Evans are members of it. The chapter has purchased a war bond; to save money at the winter formal, recordings were used instead of the usual orchestra. Every afternoon actives and pledges spend some of their time at the Red Cross center making bandages. A part of each active meeting is used for discussion of current war problems.

The Holt House has been the scene of three exciting occasions for the chapter. The dedication service for the figurines of the Founders of $\Pi \beta \Phi$ makes the members feel as if they knew each founder personally. Guests at the service were Amy Burnham Onken, Dr. James Harper Grier, son of Ada Bruen Grier, and Mr. Melville Soule, son of Inez Smith Soule. The cocktail course of the Twelfth Night dinner dance was served at Holt House, and the Christmas cooky-shine, at which everyone takes a bite from a large Christmas cooky, was held there also.

At the Thanksgiving service held in the college chapel, Ellen Spinsby was one of the student speakers, and Connie Carey sang a solo. Connie was the mezzo-contralto soloist in the presentation of the "Messiah." Three of the four finalists in the year-book beauty contest are Helen Adair, Margie Smith, and Marilyn Jones. Anne Sanders was co-chairman of the YM-YW carnival; the chapter concession was "Streets of Paris." Joan Fulton was elected to $\Sigma \Theta \mu$, honorary scholastic fraternity. Pledge Day, January 9, 1943 respondents with the Treasury Department in Chicago. Jane Ann Vernon, chapter president for the past year, left Knox at the end of January to become an engineering cadet at Penn State, under Curtiss-Wright's plan for training girls for engineering jobs in aircraft factories.

Knox has a large quota of CPT men. Grace Stayt Hall, annex to the women's dormitory, has recently been turned over to them. Regular students are enrolled in many new courses directed toward the war effort. A full quarter of work was completed before Christmas vacation. In spite of the accelerated program, several Pi Phis made A averages.

The Knox Theatre's first play production of the year, and one of the best in recent years, was Maxwell Anderson's "The Eve of St. Mark." Jo Ann and Joyce Bower and Edith Wetzell were in the cast.

A home nursing course has been added to the war projects on campus. Grace McDowell is head of all war drives to be sponsored by the women of the college. Shirley Crandell is in charge of the surgical dressings group and other Red Cross work done by Knox girls.

Formals continue, although corsages are banned. Mary Frances Anning was on the committee for the Christmas Prom. The Military Ball took place on January 15, with Beverly Ellis and Jean Durkin among the presiding sponsors. The chapter winter formal, capably managed by Beverly Ellis, came two weeks later.

As a unit the chapter donated $55 to Christmas charities, several gifts were sent to children of the Evanston Northwestern Community Clubs, and many Christmas stockings were filled with everything for an active soldier's needs. The chapter backed a suggestion of the alumnae club which fostered a move to see that nurses in foreign service were not overlooked this Christmas, sending over articles which are difficult to obtain overseas.

Illinois E is trying to beat its record of last year in support of the Magazine Agency, and at present has subscription orders totaling well over a hundred dollars.

Manitoba A held its annual party in honor of its pledges on October 21 at the Cave Supper Club. The pledges returned the honor by inviting both actives and alumnae to a tea at the home of Wilberta Malcolm in November.

The chapter was pleased to have Mrs. Tauber, new Theta Province President, with it in November.

This term Manitoba A plans to include in its war work entertainment of the women's forces. Chapter members will also be doing canteen work, as the chapter has been asked for help by an organization of that sort.

Last term a new custom was instituted in the chapter, and it is planned to continue it. Every Friday afternoon interested members meet in the sorority rooms, at what is called "cocoa hour," to discuss current events, world problems, and other topics. So far it has proven interesting and successful.

On January 1, Manitoba A entertained members of the various fraternities on the campus, and other friends, at a New Year's reception.

NORTH DAKOTA ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF NORTH DAKOTA

Chartered, October 7, 1921

Pledge Day, October 4, 1942

INITIATED, December 20, 1942: Patricia Gibbens, Jamestown.

North Dakota A felt the full impact of the wartime labor shortage in October when the university was closed for two weeks to enable students to help the farmers harvest their potato and sugar beet crops.

Twelve Pi Phi's picked potatoes on the farm owned by the father of one of the members. Experiencing hard physical labor for the first time in their lives, the girls spent the greater share of their earnings for rubbing alcohol and other liniments that would soothe aching leg, back and arm muscles.

Those in the chapter who did not help harvest the potatoes spent their time sewing and folding bandages at the local Red Cross.

The Y.W.C.A., Y.M.C.A., Mortar Board, and Blue Key worked together this year in sponsoring the annual kiddies party given for the underprivileged children of Grand Forks. College students buy tickets which provide a meal for some child as well as for themselves. Games are played, after which dinner is served. At the close of the meal, Santa Claus arrives with gifts, candy and peanuts for all. Verna Radke was general chairman for the party given this year.

North Dakota A was happy to entertain Mrs. O. E. Tauber, Theta Province President, for several days in November. At the time of her visit, the fraternities on the campus were vying with one another for campus dream man. The chapter was serenaded three or four times every night she was here.

Elections for dream man were by ballot and the winner was announced the night of the Spinster Skip, Mortar Board's annually sponsored party. This year's dream man was a member of A T A. Mylan Sands was in charge of arrangements for the Skip.

Dorothy Nell Sakerissen is a featured acrobatic dancer with the cheer leading squad at all basketball games.

After the basketball game January 9 a slumber party was held at the chapter house for ten rushees. Hot chocolate and cookies were served in front of the fireplace and songs were sung. The following morning the members and their guests attended church.

North Dakota A annual Shindig was modified somewhat this fall. Invitations were in the form of a sock and were pinned to a bright colored sock which each girl purchased for her guest. The party was held in the chapter house; all those present were required to leave their shoes at the door, don the bright socks and dance in their stocking feet. Music was furnished by a phonograph to help cut down on expenses.

The customary scholastic dinner was held November 23 at which Margaret Heilman received a bracelet for the highest average. Catherine Gavin, alumna scholarship chairman, also acknowledged Marjorie Benson, Mary Hay, and Barbara Utley for receiving "A" averages.

At the annual Navy Ball held in November, Kay Markham, pledge, was chosen out of twenty-six candidates on the campus to be the navy sweetheart. She was presented with a cup that she is to keep until the next navy sweetheart is chosen.

At the college homecoming, the scholarship cup was awarded to this chapter. This cup is given to the sorority on the campus making the highest point average for the preceding year. Lucy Ann Deesz and Meda Haucenstein were chosen as attendants to the queen to reign over the homecoming festivities.

Theta Province President, Mrs. Tauber, has paid the chapter a visit. The pledges held a wiener roast, the actives, a formal banquet, and Panhellenic Council, a luncheon in her honor.

The pledges entertained the actives at a "circus party." All the sororities have dispensed with orchestras for the winter formal, and will dance to the penatrop music. The money usually spent on the orchestras will be used to further the war effort in some way.

Wesleyan is in the midst of its basketball season. So far, four "Air Age" speakers have enlightened the students with facts about air transportation. These speakers deliver these lectures via radio to twenty thousand high-school students in this vicinity.

I.W.C. letter clubs sponsored an all-college party to raise funds for a student-recreational center. The students were virtually drafted to attendance which made it definitely an all-college affair and one of the best parties this year. Quite a substantial sum was raised for the center.

INITIATED, October 23, 1942: Virginia Davidson, Los Angeles, Calif.; Betty Heine, Fremont; Mary Louise Goddard, Kansas City, Mo.; Lois Williams, Fremont; Barbara Sturges, La Mars, Iowa.

Christmas festivities were highlighted by a formal dinner held at the house the night of December 14. Following dinner, the children of alumnae were guests at a party, and were entertained with a skit presented by the freshmen pledges. Nebraska B also cooperated with Panhellenic by dressing dolls which were given to children whose fathers were in the armed forces. Bernice Spahn, Betty Krause, Marilyn Cain, and Marilyn Simpson represented $\Pi B \Phi$ at a Christmas serenade for fraternities and sororities.

Nebraska B is wholeheartedly taking part in campus efforts for the war. A war defense council has been organized with all groups on the campus being represented. Formal season was officially opened with the Military Ball December 4, and Maurine Mertz represented the fraternity as a sponsor. The chapter is now planning for the annual winter formal to be held at the Cornhusker Hotel, February 26.

Louisiana Alpha's winter formal was held November 21, in the Mirror Room of the St. Charles Hotel. Like most of her sister chapters throughout the nation, Louisiana Alpha's social schedule has been sharply curtailed with only a few bright and shining moments left to relieve the strain of lessons and ever-increasing war-work duties. While Newcomb's Panhellenic board held monthly sessions to consider revision of their rushing rules and changes to be made in the quota system, the Kappa Kappa Gammas challenged the Pi Phis to a game of touch-football. All proceeds went to the Red Cross. Both teams vehemently denied the fact that it was a "grudge" game. Due to Captain Ann West's thorough coaching and led by Patsy Gibbons, the Pi Phis carried off a 12 to 6 point victory in the final quarter.

Honors came during the fall in the election of Jacqueline Labry as a maid in the homecoming court and of Connie Faust as president of the freshman class.

CALIFORNIA ALPHA—STANFORD UNIVERSITY

Chartered, 1893

The Stanford women are starting their winter quarter programs with a new idea in mind. The women's dean, Mary Yost, has pointed out the seriousness of the problem of training for war work. The result has been that the college women are putting their plans for an English or music major in the background, and are starting in earnest to train for the more important government and defense jobs.

In the chapter house there are students training for every possible kind of job. Some are majoring in teaching, some in nursing, map reading, secretarial work, or personnel work.

Because of the need for concentrated study, Dean Yost has thought it advisable to cut the rushing period even shorter than it has been in the past, lasting just a week.

The San Francisco Mothers' Club held its annual rummage sale in November. It was such a success that they were completely sold out on the first day. Mrs. Stephens, who was in charge of the sale, asked California A what it would like to do with the two hundred dollars made from the sale. It was agreed to have the money spent on the purchase of some new lamps for the living room and den as well as having the downstairs furniture cleaned.

In December the Palo Alto Alumnae Club put the Arrowcraft from the Settlement School on display in the back living room of the chapter house. All II B Φ alumnae in the bay district were invited to the house to see the Arrowcraft and have buffet dinner. A short meeting was held after dinner for both the alumnae and the actives. Molly Dove, as war chairman, is responsible for the collection of the stamp money from each chapter member before meeting.

Each Sunday afternoon, tea dansants, sponsored by Panhellenic in cooperation with the U.S.O., are held at the Claremont Hotel for the naval aviation cadets of St. Mary's Pre-flight School. A written consent from home with the signature of each parent was necessary for a girl to participate in these functions.

Doris Cordes, a member of the pledge class, won the title of "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi."

The two major functions of the semester were the informal, held December 5, at the chapter house, and the father's dinner, December 13. The highlight of the latter event was the song contest in which the members of each class sang a Pi Beta Phi song and one that had been composed by the girls. The sophomores won the prize, a small barrel of delicious cookies with the Greek letters II B Φ inscribed on the cover.

Before the Stanford-California football game the traditional "Axe Rally" and bonfire were held at the Greek Theater. California B served luncheon to its alumnae and friends before the game.

Eleanora Dawson, Madeline Goodrich, Mavis Mahan, and June Porter were elected to Prytanean, women's honorary society. Peggy Humann was initiated into Panile, sophomore women's honorary service society.

The mothers' auxiliary sponsored the annual Settlement School tea shortly before Christmas, giving alumnae and guests an opportunity to select Christmas gifts from the many delightful products displayed.

Pledge Day, September 19, 1942

INITIATED, October 2, 1942: Kay Armstrong, Rosemary Bryant, San Marino; Joan Akin, Patty Lou Lynds, Beverly Hills; Elizabeth Hofert, Willa Young, Los Angeles.

California Γ had its semi-annual fathers' dinner last November. The fathers as well as the members spent a gay evening of singing, chatting, and playing cards.

The members were delighted to have Mrs. Manning, Mu Province President, spend a few days with the chapter last October. Her charming personality and excellent constructive criticism were appreciated by all of the members.

Due to the present war emergency, a great part of the university has been taken over by Naval Air Cadets. 200 cadets arrived the first part of January, 200 more arrived the first part of February, and 200 more in March. They have taken over Aenas Hall for a dormitory.

No floats or house decorations were displayed this year during the homecoming celebration. However, the annual formal homecoming dance was held at the Fiesta Room of the Ambassador Hotel.

A mass flag raising ceremony was held on campus on Flag Day. Dr. Rufus B. von Kleinsmid spoke to the entire student body from a platform in front of the Administration Building. From there, the students marched, four abreast, in a mass parade to Fraternity Row where each fraternity, men's and women's alike, raised an American Flag in front of its chapter house. These flags will remain raised until the end of the war.

Sigma Chi recently sold its chapter house on the university campus and moved into a new house on Fraternity Row.

The annual children's Christmas party had to be called off this year due to the gasoline rationing. All of the fraternities decided to cancel their parties, and with the help of the Y.W.C.A., every fraternity contributed $10 toward the filling of Christmas stockings which were sent to the soldiers stationed at look-out posts in the valleys and mountains which surround this city.

PLEGGED: Prescilla Brooks, Alhambra; Salley Callahan, San Marino; Doreen Howes, Pasadena; Barbara Dickson, Lillis Van Fleet, Beverly Hills; Barbara Connolly, Rose Marie Trucano, Long Beach; Pat Glen, Martha Laugharn, Mary Jane Thompson, Louise Widdicombe, Los Angeles; Carol Walker, Galveston, Tex.

California Δ has been busy the last few months doing war work. Each Monday night several girls go to the II Φ Hut in Sawtelle to a U.S.O. dance. Many of the girls are active in the Red Cross, donating several hours a week to this service. Several have donated blood and others have been making scrapbooks for the amusement of the soldiers.

This chapter cooperates a hundred per cent in the buying of war stamps each month.

This Christmas the girls stuffed stockings with cigarettes, candy, and food, for soldiers overseas.

January 10, the pledges gave the actives a dance. It was given at the chapter house with every one attending in school clothes. This lent an informal atmosphere and every one had a wonderful time.

Pledge Day, September 20, 1942

A general cleaning of the basement of the chapter house accomplished two things. A great deal of scrap metal was gathered by the members and pledges who worked one whole evening this fall to help in the scrap metal drive. The cleaning was in preparation also for the annual barn dance which, due to the gas rationing, was held in the basement of the chapter house. The barn dance is one of the highlights of the social calendar, and this year's was no exception. Western costumes replaced the usual date clothes, and the keynote was informality.

In November Nevada A was hostess to alumnae and friends at a card party given at the house. Exchange dinners have replaced social hours which formerly were given in honor of the fraternities. Each week six boys from a fraternity are invited over for dinner and a fireside chat, and six of the girls go to dinner at the fraternity house.

Patsy Prescott and Frances Hawkins were listed in Who's Who Among Students in Colleges and Universities. Many of the members and pledges have joined the A.W.V.S. and are engaged in Red Cross work also.

The bond drive on the campus is steadily increasing. The opening of a bond booth by the library has done much to stimulate the campaign in which all campus organizations are taking part.

At special services held in the university gymnasium December 8, the service flag for the university was dedicated. Highlight of the impressive ceremony was the reading, by Miss Katherine Riegelhuth (charter member of Nevada A) of the English department and custodian of the university's war records, of the gold star names of men of the university who have given their lives for their country.

PLEGGED: Rose Marie Mayhew, Caliente; Roberta Butler, Santa Maria, Calif.; Jonette Stockton, Sparks.

INITIATED, October 27, 1942: Emily Smith, Indianapolis, Ind.; Helen Ahlene, Chicago, Ill.; Marva Jane Gale, Pomona, Calif.; Nancy Riddell, Tucson; Mary Frances Billingsley, Sioux Falls, S.D.

War work is divided between bandage rolling at the Tucson Red Cross Center, knitting sweaters and socks, and contributing to the many war relief funds. One of the most noteworthy on the University of Arizona campus is the Victory Scholarship Fund. The purpose of it is to give financial aid to those college men who have had to leave college for the service and who may wish to continue their education when they come back. Each student is asked to contribute ten cents a week to the cause. To date, members and pledges of the chapter have been able to head the list of contributing organizations. Also, Pi Beta Phi was at the top of those organizations buying war bonds, in the recent drive on campus, with a total of $250 in bonds.

Jessica Miller, Mary Frances Billingsley, Marva Jane Gale, and pledges Helen Vinson and Rosemary Bardwell acted in the university production of "Cradle Song." Jessica had a leading role and the other girls minor parts. Christmas activities included the party the alumnae gave on December 15 which featured an auction of cookies and cakes. Members and pledges both pitched in to buy the homemade food donated by the local alumnae.

December 16, Arizona A went Christmas carolling in a body, as has been the custom in past years, for a few of the Tucson shut-ins. The chapter entertained on December 17 with another annual affair, the party for the Yaqui Indian children. Each girl bought a ten cent toy which was later given to one of the little Indians by Ellen McLain who dressed as Santa Claus.

Jeanne Jacobs, Janet Redheffer, and Betty Jane Blatt were pledged to Desert Mermaids.

INITIATED, November 8, 1942: Kathryn Betts, Ogden; Mary Chase, Arthur; Barbara Stratford, Brigham City; Joyce Orlob, Shirley Nilson, Norma Halverson, Margaret Yeates, Salt Lake City.

An outstanding event on the campus fall quarter was a bond and stamp drive. Squares on a huge caricature of Hitler's face were blacked out with the purchase of war stamps. Roseanne Peery was one of the "minute maids" selling stamps.

A very successful drive for volunteers to the blood bank was held on International Student's Day.

Chapter members have been among those helping wartime shortages in labor by serving at lunch time in the cafeteria and coffee shop in the Union Building. The money earned is given to the organization represented. Utah A has used the funds to entertain soldiers.

Barbara Straub and Marion Stratford are new members to Φ K Φ . Betty Hinckley has been chosen for Who's Who in American Colleges. Betty was also elected R.O.T.C. senior sponsor.

Members appointed on committees are: Enid Ryberg, Junior Prom; Shirley Nilson, dance committee, homecoming, and hello week.

Joyce Orlob was selected as honor pledge and received the honor bracelet. Margaret Yeates received the scholarship pin given by the alumnae to the pledge with the highest average at initiation.

Students recently elected to campus honorary scholastic organizations are: Patricia Isgreen, Z Φ Z; Jean Murdock, O N; Rosalyn Richards, Barbara Schenk, and Patricia Condon, A Δ Δ .

The rushing system has been changed. The quota system will go into effect with the coming winter rush season. During Christmas week, the annual Christmas formal was held.

PLEGGED: Gladys Barker, Ogden; Rula Jones, Pocatello, Idaho; Virginia Shepherd, Glendale, Calif.

DOING DOUBLE DUTY

JEWELRY FOR THE ARMED FORCES AND FOR THE FRATERNITIES

We Are Proud Of Our Double-Duty
S e r v i c e

What Your Official
Jewelry Contract
Means NOW

In these troublesome days, your official jewelry contract means more for your protection than ever before. . . .

In spite of increasingly greater restrictions and difficulties in securing raw materials; in spite of diminishing man power, your Official Jeweler carries on, serving each chapter with insignia and fraternity jewelry.

In the 1943 BALFOUR BLUE BOOK, you will find many gifts in a wide price range. Many chapters are presenting a gift to those members who have entered the armed forces. We offer many suggestions for your selection.

MILITARY SERVICE PASS CASE

Leather bill fold—pass case has proved the most popular accessory used by the men in service.

Four celluloid wings carry passes, pictures, identification cards, licenses, and other important notes. Cover features hand-tooled effect design for each branch of the Service. Suntan cowhide for long wear. Style 565-43, Page 24, 1943 BLUE BOOK.
