Hooray!

It has taken me more than a year, but IBM has given approval for its matching grants program to contribute to our Friendship Fund. That is, they will match the amount, two for one, of the half that is tax deductible. I know there must be other companies out there that will help us support our Arrowmont School.

Two suggestions. . . one is to put this letter in the summer ARROW and the other is to compile a list of companies that will match funds, as we hear of them.

ARROW Power

I want to bring you further news of the six couples from Illinois Zeta who were pictured in the Spring 1988 ARROW, page 10. . . [It's] called the power of The ARROW.

The University of Illinois picked up on the story and ran it in their Alumni News for March, 1988, under the title "Deja Vu - Illinois Style." It was seen by a man who had graduated from Illinois and worked for the Chicago Sun-Times. He phoned to ask if he could interview each couple, one by one, and the story ran on the front page (and four more columns inside) of the April 17 [edition]. He focused on the marriages, the husband's successful careers and the fact that all of the children had received college degrees.

Any front page story can be expected to be syndicated throughout the country. Resulting stories appeared in [at least four papers] in the Chicago area, and inquiries and comments are still being received from friends and publications across the country. The Phi Delt Scroll gave it a full page, identifying all but the Hindsleys, since Huck is a Phi Gam - though one of his sons became a Phi Delt at Illinois.

The Boca Raton Globe called to ask if they could conduct interviews by telephone and each Pi Phi was contacted. . . The Minnesota Star Tribune printed the story and the University of Minnesota Alumni Association. . . ran a full page ad for the Greek system in their October issue of "Minnesota," carrying the pictures and story, without identifying them as Pi Phis, of course.

I think you will be interested to know that the group is planning a 40th year reunion at an Illinois game in October.

off the ARROW hook

It's always fun to hear from old friends, especially when the notes are full of special news. Such was the case when Jeanie Hester Hillis, a former national Director, writes about her daughter, Cindy Hillis Johnson, California Theta. Cindy lives in Lafayette, Calif., and is Bank of America vice president and manager in corporate human relations. She has been appointed to the Business Advisory Council of The National Alliance of Business (NAB). This council, consisting of 33 human resource executives of Fortune 500 companies, helps shape NAB's position on major workforce policy questions.

Pi Phi shares Jeannie's pride in the accomplishments of her daughter.

Another California resident has been honored recently and congratulations go to Barbara Balbach Saelid, Arizona Alpha, who has been named Arcadia, Calif., Citizen of the Year by the Chamber of Commerce. According to a clipping sent by Muriel Swenson McKellar, Barbara has served on many boards, committees and commissions in her home town, including eight years on the Sister City Commission and the Tournament of Roses board. In the past year, she coordinated the Sister City International art project and arranged host families for students visiting Arcadia from Newcastle, Australia, and the 120 member troupe of Up With People.

In making the selections, the chamber looked for individuals who contributed to the welfare and betterment of Arcadia, as well as those who gave evidence of lasting contributions and leadership.

Muriel says Barbara is a terrific gal with loads of energy, dedicated to many causes and a wonderful mother, wife and Pi Phi. Barbara's mother is also a Pi Phi—Hoige Williams Balbach, Oregon Beta.

Betty Lofton, Director of Membership, reports encouraging legacy rush statistics. Based on 110 chapters reporting as late as mid-February, 34.75% of Pi Phi legacies in rush pledged Pi Phi and 15.4% of all pledges are Pi Phi legacies. What good news!

New York City Panhellenic will award two $750 Fellowships to sorority women doing full time grad work at a college or university in the New York City Metro area during 1989-90. Anyone interested should request an application from Ms. Jane Reimenschneider, 671 Bronx River Rd., Apt 5H, Yonkers, N.Y. 10704, and should return the completed form by August 1, 1989.

Early in 1968 I received a telephone call from then Grand President Dorothy Weaver Morgan asking if I would consider becoming editor of The ARROW. The call came as a great surprise but, after conferring with my husband and four youngsters, and at their urging, I agreed to fill the vacancy. Since that time I have worked with five Grand Presidents, one Grand President Emeritus, two Grand Treasurers Emeritus, national and province officers by the score, and friends by the hundreds. The ARROW celebrated 100 years of publication during my tenure.

Those years since 1968 have been busy ones—editing a magazine that has grown in size of page as well as in number of pages, as the Fraternity has grown. With new technologies, The ARROW has advanced from black and white print, with a second color sometimes on the cover, to four-color sections.

Working with other Greek editors, both men and women, in the College Fraternity Editors Association and National Panhellenic Editors Conference has been a special pleasure and I shall miss those talented people.

But it's time to pass this task on to a new editor, whoever she may be. I will miss having stacks of mail at deadline time. I will miss those frantic phone calls asking for a deadline extension because the photographer lost the pictures. I will miss scheduling my life around ARROW deadlines and proofs times. But the friendships I cherish and the love for Pi Beta Phi will continue as I sign my name for the last time to this page.

May I share a favorite little bit of poetry with you?
The author is unknown.

Pi Phi is a chain of gold
Shaped in God's all perfect mold;
Each link a smile, a laugh, a tear,
A grip of the hand, a word of cheer.
No matter how far or heavy the load,
Sweet is the journey on Pi Phi's friendship road!

Chapters occupy new homes at Texas A&M, Central Florida

The first two chapter houses to be built and owned by Pi Beta Phi Fraternity House Corporations in many years are now completed and occupied. Members of Florida Epsilon at the University of Central Florida and Texas Eta at Texas A & M are thrilled to be living in their new houses, having moved in last fall.

Texas Eta

On August 15, 50 excited Texas Etas braved the the 100° heat as they became the first residents of their brand new home. After three years of waiting, the day was finally here! Walls still needed paint, the floor wasn't down in the dining room and the workmen were about to become members of the family as the chapter settled in for their first rush in the house.

The girls weren't even sure they were going to have mattresses that night. Those mattresses finally arrived at 7:30 p.m., after the whole chapter had left for initiation. Alumnae and their husbands carried all 48 in—and up!

Though that day will be remembered by all concerned, it was only the beginning of an eventful year. From August to November, Jose, the foreman, and his workmen were always there. Pi Phis came to enjoy the odor of fresh paint and the early morning hammering—even at 7:00 a.m. on Saturdays. Showers often were postponed as the familiar phrase "MAN ON FLOOR!" echoed down the halls.

The 50 in-house girls have done a lot of sharing in this past year. As a result, many new friends have been made as they endured the trials, tribulations and fun that comes with being the first residents.

The house is beautiful and has an unique feature that has made it the talk of campus. It is the only one with a porte-cochere—otherwise known as the Pi Phi drive-through. The popular saying is "Two Pi Phis to go." It has been great in the rain and for quick departures and is popular with dates.

The house contains 15,000 square feet and includes sleeping space for 50. It is a two story with bedrooms, baths and chapter room on the second floor. In the bedroom area, there are four three-girl rooms and eighteen two-girl rooms. There is a lounge/TV area upstairs as well. The first floor has the living and dining rooms, entry, guest room, library, TV room, house director's apartment, office and commercial kitchen. It is a $1,000,000 project.

Called "The Miracle on the Brazos" by the many alumnae who were involved in its construction, much love, energy, foot miles and talent went into the finished project.

"We spent 3½ years in our Lodge, a split level meeting room in a strip shopping center, so we have come a long, long way in four years," says Sally Hammond Daniel, Indiana Delta, a member of the House Corporation Board. "I cannot stress enough the hours of love and effort, new friendships and shared talents that have gone into our 'Miracle.' Stop a minute, though, and realize this is Pi Beta Phi—the bonds of wine and blue spread abroad."

Jennifer Pearce in Florida Epsilon's entry, with the lovely stained glass window above, crafted by her father and dedicated to Jennifer.

Florida Epsilon

After seven years of planning and preparation, Florida Epsilon and the Orlando/Winter Park Alumnae Club officially dedicated the new chapter house in a special ceremony held on Sunday, December 4, at the University of Central Florida.

Approximately 300 guests attended the two-part dedication ceremony which began with the official dedication of the house from the alumnae club to the chapter. Heidi Lancaster Strunk, a former Florida Epsilon chapter president, presented the house to current president, Stacy Skinner, who received it on behalf of the chapter. House Corporation co-chairman, Helen Larzelere Whittle, told of the excitement and hard work that went into building the house. Co-chairman Eleanor Yothers Fisher presented plaques recognizing the many Pi Phi angels and friends who contributed significantly to the $100,000 in funds raised by alumnae club. Architect Richard Awsomb and builder Allan Trovillion were recognized for their outstanding commitment to designing and building the house.

Special recognition was given to Warren Pearce, who designed, crafted and donated a six foot by three foot half-circle stained glass window that is the focus of the house's elegant entry. The window is dedicated in honor of his daughter, Jennifer, Florida Epsilon alumna and former rush chairman. The window depicts the Greek letters  $\Pi B \Phi$ , encompassed by long wine and blue hearts pierced by a golden arrow.

Following the ceremony, University officials, members of the community and representatives from other Greek organizations attended an open house. Guests were given guided tours of the living quarters. A reception followed.

Although Florida Epsilons moved in in August, it was too late for rush, held prior to the opening of school. Perhaps it was just as well, because memories of "those little things that go wrong," can now be seen from a distance and laughed about.

There was the time the sophisticated computerized air conditioning managed to freeze girls in one side of the house, while letting those on the other side swelter in the Florida heat. So much for sophistication. Now the house has regular air conditioning!

Golden Arrow Louise Weddington Porter, left, Texas Eta House Corporation construction supervisor, looks over progress with Jose, the job foreman, and Betty Benbow Westbrook, AAC chairman and assistant construction supervisor.

As the girls were moving in and storing items in their closets, all the closet shelves fell down.

And, depending on a cook who apparently was accustomed to feeding a larger number, the chapter sat down to one of their first meals in the house. The delicious looking pasta salad had so much pepper in it that the girls couldn't eat it. What to do? Give it to the Lambda Chis! The men loved it!

The 9200-square foot, $585,000 house is decorated in mint green and peach and features an expansive great room and dining area with a cathedral ceiling and an elegant fireplace. A fully operational kitchen serves breakfast and dinner to house residents. The ten furnished three-girl bedrooms include built-in study areas. A house director's suite provides a private living room, bedroom, bath and entry. The house, designed for eventual expansion to a second story, makes Florida Epsilon the fourth member of the University of Central Florida's Greek Park.

Furnishing this lovely Pi Phi home is still in progress. As a Pi Phi husband said, "Out of all the houses on Greek row, we have the greatest entertainment room of all—but no furniture!"

But that, too, will come about, thanks to loyal Pi Phi alumnae who have been working for many years to provide a home away from home for Florida Epsilon.

Artist earns critics' acclaim

Pi Phi alumnae of New Orleans, as well as those in the art enclaves of that Crescent City, are beaming over the recent honor of their own Sharon Nelson Weilbaeher, Colorado Alpha, whose painting was selected for the cover of the prestigious American Artist magazine, January 1989. Her work is also featured in the cover story, "Ten Artists Respond to a Southern Plantation."

Sharon, whose artistic credits are many, received an honor from the magazine in 1987 also when her painting, "Amazing Grace" was selected for its Golden Anniversary traveling exhibit, shown at outstanding museums across the country. It was one of 78 paintings chosen from 13,000 entries.

Sharon's training was as a medical illustrator and she spent 12 years in that profession after earning her master's degree at Johns Hopkins. When she moved to New Orleans, she became director of medical illustration at Tulane Medical School. In 1974, she went to Ochsner Medical Foundation, also in New Orleans, where she stayed for two years. Nationally recognized as a medical illustrator, Sharon has had more than 800 illustrations published in medical and surgical journals and textbooks. For the last ten years, however, she has worked exclusively as a fine artist.

Last year Sharon was named the Samson Feldman Visiting Scholar in Art as Applied to Medicine at the Johns Hopkins School of Medicine in Baltimore, Md., and delivered a lecture, "From Medical Realism to Real Life." Last year also she took part in the exhibit, "Louisiana Realism in the '80s" at the Downtown Gallery in New Orleans.

An enthusiastic Pi Phi alumna, Sharon was equipment co-chairman during the 1987 Convention in New Orleans. She enjoys monthly meetings of the Arrow Investment Club, a group formed at that convention by those wanting to continue the afterglow of new friendships it had sparked. In April the group will trek the trace to Natchez for a Pilgrimage Tour and stay at Monmouth House.

Sharon and her oncologist husband, Bob, are the parents of four young people: Susan, a Texas Alpha Pi Phi in her junior year of architecture at UT; Kathy, a sophomore med student at Stanford; daughter Ann, a freshman at Columbia along with her sophomore brother Bob, also at Columbia. Talent abounds in this charming family.

Almost all of Sharon's paintings are of people—everyday people she sees on the street, in the French Quarter, on a visit to China or while driving through the rural South. When she spots an interesting face, out comes the camera, and when the painting emerges, it has the fine detail and exactness of the medical illustrator. Some day she hopes to travel out west to paint Indians and Mexican Americans, because she finds "their dark brooding faces have the same stoic aloofness that has endured the tragic drama of history and time."

Pi Phis everywhere can share the pride in Sharon Weilbaeher, artist extraordinaire.

Being a personal aide is position to be coveted

Calling someone a bag lady generally isn't complimentary, but Casey Healey, Oklahoma Beta, is thrilled with the designation! Casey is the personal assistant to Barbara Bush, the nation's first lady, and, as such, is the personal bag handler for Mrs. Bush.

Casey began working for Barbara Bush in August, 1987, committed through the campaign and inauguration. She was hired to accompany Mrs. Bush during the campaign, in charge of luggage, some scheduling, getting her in and out of engagements on time and keeping track of her purse.

Casey's job description hasn't changed too much since January 20. She does arrive in the first lady's East Wing office about 7:30 a.m., picks up the mail and delivers it to her boss, runs errands, does some typing and filing and keeps a log of Mrs. Bush's travel time. She might have to make a trip to the airport if a family member is arriving.

In a recent interview, published in The Daily Ardmoreite and written by C.A. Fuller, Casey said, "I go to all the events she goes to. I hold her purse. I held quite a few purses during the inauguration. . . I have been absolutely the luckiest person in the world."

Being a bag lady isn't exactly what Casey planned to do when she was studying at Oklahoma State. She was graduated in 1984 with a B.S. degree in business administration, majoring in finance. She was involved in many chapter and campus activities and was Oklahoma Beta's social chairman and Spring Sing director. She also made a name for herself in intramural sports and was named to the All-Greek basketball and football teams.

In 1985, Casey was doing volunteer work with the Republican party and working as a convention services manager at an Austin, Tex., hotel when she heard that Barbara Bush's personal aide had resigned. Casey applied for the position and though it went to someone else, she came away from the tea and interview an inveterate fan of Mrs. Bush's!

It was back to her family's cattle ranch in Davis, Oklahoma for Casey where she planned to make that business her career. She stayed there for two years, making several trips to do advance work for the vice president. When Mrs. Bush's current aide resigned, Casey was asked to take the position.

In August it will be two years in the job for Casey and she says it's still new and exciting. She accompanied the Bushes on their European trip last year, visiting seven countries, and on the trip to Korea, China and Japan for Emperor Hirohito's funeral.

As Casey says, "The best way to see the world is with the President."

Mrs. Bush is her idol. "She is so real and so caring and she isn't going to change," says Casey. She and the President remind Casey of her own parents.

In August, Casey will take a look at her position and if her feelings of being impressed and excited are still with her, she hopes to continue being "The Bag Lady on Capital Hill."

FOCUS ON

Chapter House Corporations

by Sally Shipley Bowers, Director of Chapter House Corporations

The professionalism of Pi Beta Phi house corporation volunteers has never been more apparent than it is today! These dedicated Pi Phis are responsible for property valued in excess of $60 million. They are informed, energetic, loyal and committed to providing the very best leadership possible in this highly specialized area of Pi Beta Phi. They deal with finances, taxes, liabilities, legalities, insurance, fire safety, building security, house directors and general property management.

Chapter housing is owned, rented or maintained by a house corporation incorporated under laws of the state or Canadian Province in which it is located. While membership of a chapter is ever changing, a house corporation is capable of perpetual existence.

In addition to long term existence, the corporation form is used for the protection from liability it offers chapter and Fraternity. In general, directors and officers of house corporations are not personally liable for debts and obligations of house corporations they serve.

Functions of house corporations and their boards of directors are to establish bylaws and policies of the corporation. They own, rent and maintain all real and personal property of the active chapter for the benefit of the chapter—in effect, act as landlord. They rent (in the case of owned property) or sublet (in the case of rental property) housing to the chapter under a written lease agreement. They hold an annual meeting with the chapter at which time a written financial report is submitted. Additional responsibilities are to make long range plans for buying or providing chapter housing and to handle payments on the mortgage, taxes, property insurance, remodeling and building of additions. Further, the board oversees and pays for all repairs, purchases all furnishings and replaces when necessary. An annual report is submitted to the national Director of House Corporations. An income tax return is also filed.

The corporation board treasurer is a member of the chapter finance committee and the board president signs the house director's contract. The board sees that housing is in excellent condition and attractive, that it is comparable to housing of other campus groups, that it helps maintain Pi Beta Phi's position in the Greek world and that it is a source of pride for collegians and alumnae.

The board of directors is elected, the number being determined by corporation bylaws. Each corporation is a separate legal entity with a non-profit tax classification. Boards are under the general supervision of the national Director of House Corporations.

Pi Beta Phi's national Director is in extensive communication with individual house corporations, their local accountants, attorneys, bankers and realtors, the IRS and university officials. She compiles information and statistics received throughout the fiscal year. She processes applications for Fraternity loans, dispensation and permission requests, revisions of Articles of Incorporation and Bylaws and various lease agreements. She advises in the formation and incorporation of new house corporations. She reports directly to the Grand Treasurer. She will sometimes visit a house corporation upon the direction of Grand Council following the request of the house corporation.

The chapter's responsibility

The chief responsibility of the chapter is to be a good tenant. In most cases, the university, along with Panhellenic, makes the decision as to what kind of housing each sorority is to have—house, lodge, suite, apartment or meeting room—with housing that is similar for all groups.

The chapter is responsible for paying rent to house corporation according to an annual agreement, for turning over the House Corporation Fund Fee and for sending in parlor dues.

The chapter should feel able to make suggestions to the house corporation board concerning improvements in maintenance. It should see that house rules are written so that requests of the board regarding care, repair and maintenance of housing are promptly undertaken.

Chapter officers, AAC and the house director are responsible for maintaining housing during the school year and for seeing that members keep all property in good order. When misunderstanding occurs, it is the AAC who should take appropriate action in problem solving since behavior and conduct in chapter housing is the responsibility of chapter officers under the supervision of AAC.

As it is house corporation and AAC who work most closely with the chapter, it is essential that the AAC chairman and house corporation president and their committees work together to benefit the chapter and the Fraternity. These two groups are alumnae role models for collegians and will influence chapter membership for all time.

The AAC advisor for house management should be liaison between AAC and house corporation board and should represent AAC at HC board meetings when requested to attend. She needs to stress national house regulations and a workable plan for keeping the house locked 24 hours a day. She is to assist with annual inventory of household effects and housing closings for holidays. She is responsible for seeing that fire drills are held each term and that all required safety precautions are observed.

Chapter houses have served as homes for Pi Phis since the first Fraternity rooms were established in 1887. They have provided a special collegiate living experience for our Pi Beta Phi women where they may live together while sharing their lives with others.

The quality of chapter housing impacts tremendously and completely on the well-being of each Pi Beta Phi chapter. It is achievable only because of outstanding alumnae house corporations and their boards of directors.

Mentor program is rewarding activity

North Carolina is one of the states leading in adolescent pregnancy. A concerted effort is underway to reduce teen out-of-wedlock pregnancies and North Carolina Betas participate in a program designed to reduce additional pregnancies among teen mothers as well as to reduce the rate of unintended pregnancies among young girls. A secondary goal is to improve teens' general skills for dealing with life's challenges.

Once a week, Pi Phis go to various schools in Durham as mentors to high risk girls in the third, fourth and fifth grades. As role models, Pi Phis present themselves in a positive manner and stress the importance of communication, education and the future. The cooperative program provides manuals to guide sessions with the girls. Frustrations, concerns and questions are commonly expressed during these one and a half hour sessions. In this short period of time, a number of close, strong relationships are formed through the intimate discussions shared by both groups.

Pi Phis have taken the responsibility of revising the manual, according to their experience, in hopes of improving the program and making it more efficient.

Those who participate in the Mentor Program are immediately rewarded with a sense of satisfaction. It is a great feeling to touch the lives of young girls who need just a little bit of extra attention.

Graduate

Pi Beta Phi began its Graduate Consultant program in 1968-69 with one young woman, Martha Reynolds, traveling as special liaison between chapters and national officers. This highly successful program has grown, over the two decades since, into one of great reliability upon the talents, knowledge and enthusiasm of the consultants. Filling the positions this year are eight 1989 graduates, four of whom will visit chapters throughout the United States and Canada, and four others who will live, primarily, with new chapters. The Graduate Consultant program is financed in part through alumnae donations to the Friendship Fund.

Travelers

Lisa Dale Gossard, who prefers being called Dale, is an Indiana Epsilon from DePauw University in Greencastle. Her home is also in Greencastle. Dale earned a Bachelor of Arts degree in communications with a psychology minor. She held several chapter offices, including VP Moral, and was a member of the varsity golf team. For two years she was a newscaster on a local FM station. Her internship was in news and sports with the NBC-TV affiliate in Indianapolis. She hopes for a career in personnel/human resources or in law.

Amy Barter, Ohio Zeta, has a B.S. degree in accounting from Miami University and hopes for a position in industrial accounting. A member of Golden Key National Honor Society and a past president of her chapter, Amy has received a number of scholarships. She also speaks Japanese, having attended grade school at a private international school in Tokyo. She spent the summer of 1988 at Regents College in London where she attended business classes and special cultural programs.

Lisa Walters went from her home in Colorado Springs to Fort Collins to attend Colorado State. When she pledged Colorado Gamma, she was elected pledge class president, and went on to become chapter president. She holds a Bachelor of Science degree, earning a 4.0 GPA in her psychology major. Lisa's plans include attending graduate school to attain a Ph.D. in clinical psychology with speciality in sport psychology. A Phi Beta Kappa and Mortar Board, she was a sport psychology lab assistant for the U.S. Olympic Committee for three summers.

Consultants

Deborah Hoeschele, Kansas Alpha, also has a psychology degree and plans to attend law school after her year as a TGC. Deborah is a ballet dancer, has won competitions as well as instructed in the art and has appeared with a number of dance companies. A past president of Kansas Alpha, she is a Mortar Board and a member of Order of Omega and Psi Chi, national psychology honor society.

Residents

Andrea Noland, Idaho Alpha, will be resident consultant with Pi Phi's newest colony, Ohio Iota, at the University of Dayton. Andrea holds a B.S. in business, specializing in human resources management, from the University of Idaho. She was president of her chapter and earned many honors during college years, including treasurer of Mortar Board, Order of Omega, Dean's List, president of Alpha Lambda Delta and Homecoming Queen finalist last fall. Andrea is leaving her options open concerning future plans. She would like to begin her career in recruitment or personnel management, but is also considering graduate school.

Danette Poole, a northwesterner from Washington State University, will cross the country to Syracuse University to spend the year with New York Alpha. Danette has a Bachelor's degree in communications with emphasis on public relations. She was president of her Washington Beta chapter and served on the university Homecoming committee as communications chairman. She also was a recruiter for the men's basketball team. A special activity dear to her heart was being a volunteer swimmer with mentally retarded and handicapped children.

Kimberly Foust, Arkansas Alpha, calls Roswell, Ga. her home, but is a spring graduate of the University of Arkansas where she earned a Bachelor of Arts degree in English. Her permanent base will be with Mississippi Beta at the University of Mississippi, but she also will be traveling as needed. Kim, too, was president of her chapter and attended the 1985 national Pi Phi Convention in New Orleans. She is an Academic All-American, received the National Greek Merit Award and the American Award of Excellence, and participated two years in the Fulbright Honors Program. Kim is also a 1989 Razorback Beauty.

Shelly Miller, Wyoming Alpha, will stay in the west this fall as RGC at California Lambda, U.C./Riverside. Shelly has a B.S. degree in physical education, plans to attend graduate school and then pursue a career in corporate fitness. She was Panhellenic president at the University of Wyoming when the number of rushees increased by 70% from the previous year. A Mortar Board, secretary of Iron Skull honorary and Homecoming Queen, Michelle was also active in several fitness and physical education organizations and received a number of scholarships.

Values & Ethics Commission charts program for Greeks

by Marilyn Simpson Ford

Is this fraternity?

- Woman student dies after falling from a third story ledge of the chapter house after being ordered to clean outside windows. . .
- "Traditional" drinking exercise results in death of freshman pledge. . .
- Four fraternity men arrested and charged with sale and possession of cocaine. . .
- Freshman drops out of school because of humiliation he suffered from treatment during a fraternity party. . .

Is this fraternity?

No, this is not fraternity. All too often, however, such activities are a result of fraternity hazing, in the mistaken idea that demeaning a pledge makes him or her a better active member of the group. Inappropriate action on the part of some individuals within the Greek system has produced negative publicity that is harmful to all.

Robert E. Manley, in Fraternal Law, says, "We are on the threshold of a period when the new minority group that is legitimate game for society to attack is the Greek world. We are on the verge of an era of Greek bashing on campuses across the country. . . Greek systems on every campus must straighten up their acts."

Those acts include alcohol and drug use, hazing, sexual abuse, declining scholarship and a lack of respect for themselves, their organizations and society.

National officers of individual sororities and fraternities have urged their memberships to follow the ideals espoused by their organizations. This has not always been as effective as should be expected. Perhaps this stems from a failure on the part of national fraternities to adequately provide their members with programs to combat problems facing today's college population.

It is for that reason, in an effort to lessen the disparity between fraternity ideals and individual behavior, and to personalize these ideals in the daily undergraduate behavior, that the National Interfraternity Conference (NIC) appointed the Commission on Values and Ethics. That Commission is charged with identifying and promoting fraternity principles relating to the undergraduate. These principles should prove exciting and beneficial to each individual member.

The Commission is chaired by Edward M. King, Sigma Chi, Director of Residential Life and Student Judicial System at Bradley University. Serving with him on the Commission are Judy Abrahamson, Alpha Phi; Jonathan J. Brant, Beta Theta Pi, Executive Director of NIC; Dr. Patrick I. Brown, Alpha Tau Omega, president of NIC; Henry B. Poor, Executive Director of Psi Upsilon Foundation; Warren Richey, Sigma Nu, Director of Greek Affairs at Louisiana State University; Beth Saul, Alpha Epsilon Phi, chairman of the National Panhellenic Conference (NPC); Jean Wirths Scott, Pi Beta Phi; George W. Spasyk, Lambda Chi Alpha Executive Director; Gary R. Stone, Phi Kappa Sigma; and Dr. Ronald Taylor, Zeta Beta Tau.

Since the behavior of individuals reflects, both positively and negatively, on the fraternity system as a whole, the Commission will work to increase awareness of fraternity values through educational materials, programs, etc.

The following Basic Expectations have been developed by the Commission stating the fundamental guidelines by which fraternity men and women should govern their individual fraternal experiences.

I

I will know and understand the ideals expressed in my fraternity ritual and will strive to incorporate them in my daily life.

II

I will strive for academic achievement and practice academic integrity.

III

I will respect the dignity of all persons; therefore, I will not physically, mentally, psychologically or sexually abuse or haze any human being.

IV

I will protect the health and safety of all human beings.

V

I will respect my property and the property of others; therefore, I will neither abuse nor tolerate the abuse of property.

VI

I will meet my financial obligations in a timely manner.

VII

I will neither use nor support the use of illegal drugs; I will neither abuse nor support the abuse of alcohol.

VIII

I acknowledge that a clean and attractive environment is essential to both physical and mental health; therefore, I will do all in my power to see that the chapter property is properly cleaned and maintained.

IX

I will challenge all my fraternity members to abide by these fraternal expectations and will confront those who violate them.

In an effort to develop an awareness and appreciation of these basic values, a discussion of the nine points is essential. These discussions should include undergraduates, chapter advisors and other involved alumni and college and university administrators. A retreat format of at least a full day would be the best approach in presenting a Values and Ethics Workshop. In another approach, a series of workshops, extending over several weeks, could be utilized.

Case studies have been developed for each of the nine areas of Basic Expectations. These are to serve as a starting point for the discussion of each area and will be distributed, along with other educational material and formats developed by the Commission, by the national organizations. In addition, host organizations should feel free to develop their own case studies and augment information received.

Africa continues to fascinate Furnas duo

by Kay Buckley Brown

Mary Lou Heatherly Furnas, Illinois Zeta, graduated from the University of Illinois and interned in dietetics at the University of California Medical Center in San Francisco. She married David, now Chief of the Division of Plastic Surgery at the University of California, Irvine. They live in Corona del Mar, Calif.

One might think that this is the end of the story, but read on! Mary Lou's life has taken a far different turn from that which she expected as a young wife and mother. Her horizons have expanded to include the continent of Africa. In fact, East Africa has become a second home to her.

A resident of Nairobi, Kenya, in 1972-73, Mary Lou has returned to Nairobi for a month's visit almost every year since. As surgical assistant to her plastic surgeon husband, and as co-leader of the Explorers Club expedition to Western Kenya, her links to East Africa continue.

Mary Lou, David, and their three children, Heather, Brent and Craig, lived in Nairobi while David worked as surgeon for the East Africa Flying Doctor Service. The Service, part of the African Medical and Research Foundation (AMREF), was started in 1957 and delivers medical care to 50 mission and government hospitals in rural areas of Kenya and Tanzania. Headquarters are in Nairobi.

The Furnas family lived in a duplex in Nairobi, bought a Land Rover and camped in the bush at every opportunity. They enjoyed the proximity to wild animals. They learned to set up camp quickly, gather firewood and get the fire going before dark, and stay downwind from the lion. They had no problem with the wildlife except for vervet monkeys that raided the food supply.

Mary Lou, a registered dietitian, became a certified surgical technician in order to assist David in the African operating rooms. She learned to do medical photography also. The Furnas surgical team has worked also in Mindanao on four yearly trips to the southern Philippine province.

While Mary Lou and David have worked on a great variety of surgical problems, the bulk of their work in East Africa and the Philippines has been reconstruction of craniofacial problems caused by congenital deformities, trauma, tumors, burns and diseases such as leprosy.

David was leader and Mary Lou was co-leader of the Explorer Club expedition carrying flag #171 for the project "Ababare Emetwe—Skull Surgeons of the Kisii Tribe of Western Kenya." Trephination, the oldest therapeutic operation, was performed in many parts of the world in ancient times. The Kisii tribe has tribal healers who specialize in this procedure. Mary Lou and David have observed several of these craniotomies in the traditional setting. They feel that this surgery is likely to disappear with the progress of the times, and so it was important to document it. In April they returned the flag and presented the film "Kisii Craniotomies" at the Explorers Club in New York City.

Penny Bradley builds sales business from ground up

The name Bradley Properties, Ltd., has a high recognition factor in Hawaii, and it's no wonder. Established in 1974, the company has grown to become one of the major forces in real estate in the Islands, working with residential, commercial and investment properties throughout the state.

The human dynamo behind Bradley Properties is Penelope Hartley Bradley, California Delta, 1989 president of the Honolulu Board of Realtors.

In 1972, Penny found herself in Hawaii, divorced, with three elementary school children to raise. She had never worked a day in her life. Deciding that real estate was the easiest field to enter without training or business background, Penny found a job with a local company. Three years later she opened her own one-woman office in downtown Honolulu. With definite ideas about the real estate business, she wanted to run things her way. In the 15 years since, the company has grown to five offices and more than 100 agents statewide. Main headquarters is in Honolulu, but there are offices throughout the state, including one on the big Island of Hawaii. The company sells more multi-million-dollar properties than any other realty firm in the Islands.

Penny grew up in Riverside, Calif., and pledged Pi Phi in 1957 at U.C.L.A. She comes by her Fraternity and her profession quite naturally, since her mother, Elva Hartford Hartley, is a Nebraska Beta Golden Arrow and has been a real estate consultant. Elva attended Penny's installation as Board of Realtors president.

Her three children also attest to Penny's success. They all earned college degrees and two, Scott and Tracy, are working for their mother. The third, Mark, is at Stanford, in the MBA program, and it's probably just a matter of time before he joins the family enterprise.

The company believes that being a leader in the real estate industry also requires a commitment to being a leader as an involved corporate citizen. Bradley agents give volunteer time and effort in helping a myriad of community groups and charitable organizations. At the corporate level, Bradley Properties is involved in community business organizations and puts its name behind various charitable causes.

Penny is active in a number of real estate and civic organizations. She does enjoy an occasional tennis game and tries to schedule a ski trip with her children each Christmas.

The plusses of success outweigh the sacrifices, according to Penny. "It's just not how much money you can make, it's the satisfaction of being able to make it. The other thing is meeting wonderful people. I started working because I had to, but I found I absolutely love business."

Penny was never afraid of success. "It happens," she says, "when you're working hard, when you have prospective vision so you're able to see the big picture, and you're not afraid of it."

Traveling through western Illinois this summer? Please remember that the welcome mat is always out at Holt House, 402 East First Avenue, Monmouth, Ill., (309/734-3988). Hostess Margaret Cooper will open the door and graciously greet you!

Margaret will guide you inside for a step back in time to 1867 when Libbie Brook Gaddis and Ada Bruen Grier lived with the Major Holt family. Enjoy the period decorating, the historical collections and the upstairs bedroom as it might have looked that April. Feel the kindred spirit with our Founders as you walk in their footsteps throughout the house.

Monmouth is located at the junction of U.S. Highways #34 and #67. It is 19 miles west of Galesburg; south from Moline and west from Peoria.

Don't miss an opportunity to visit our Fraternity's treasure. Our preserved and well maintained birthplace deserves a spot on your summer travel itinerary. We cordially invite you to Holt House any time you are in the Monmouth area.

Angela Hering, president of California Epsilon, is an avid equestrian and accomplished rider. In the past three years, she has played in polo tournaments, winning two first places, one second and one third. Astride one of her three polo ponies, Angela rides three times a week and plays polo on weekends.

Three outstanding young women have been selected to receive 1989-90 Pi Beta Phi Graduate Fellowships in the amount of $1,500 each. Catherine Michelle Kirk, left, West Virginia Alpha, received a BA in political science in May from West Virginia University. She plans a career in corporate law and has applied to many prestigious law schools. Mary Naughton Lamberg, center, California Epsilon, received her degree in physical therapy from San Diego State University in 1987. She is currently pursuing a Masters degree in physical therapy at Children's Hospital in Los Angeles. Rebecca

J. Pollard, right, New Mexico Beta, was graduated from New Mexico State in 1988 with a B.S. in secondary education and a B.A. in chemistry. She plans a Master of Science degree in education at the University of Oklahoma.

Judy Harper earns master certification

Judy Gregg Harper, Iowa Alpha, assistant manager at Sign of the Arrow gift shop in St. Louis, one of the finest needlepoint shops in the country, has been certified by the National Needlework Association as a master in advanced canvaswork. She also has her teacher certification from the organization.

To become a canvaswork master, Judy successfully completed all course prerequisites, then designed and created an original piece under the direction of Edie Feisner, a nationally recognized needlework designer and a fine arts professor at Montclair State College in New Jersey.

Classroom and correspondence certification requires a student to create and design an original canvaswork piece (pillow, picture, garment or accessory). Emphasis is placed on color and design; use of such fibers as silk, metallics, wool and floss, applique and reverse applique; and application of found objects. Students must apply the design to canvas either by painting, drawing or charting, then finish the project by blocking, mounting, etc. Projects must demonstrate the proper execution according to Association guidelines.

"I'm grateful to Sign of the Arrow for the opportunity to participate in the certification program," Judy said. "It is challenging to learn the intricate stitches and applications for certification. What is really exciting is the opportunity to teach these to others, and to see the fabulous results they achieve in their projects. We have some very interesting needlework being created through the shop."

As assistant manager at the shop, Judy is available Monday through Friday to help local stitchers with their needlepoint projects. Sign of the Arrow, a non-profit needlepoint and gift shop, is operated by volunteer Pi Phi alumnae. In 1988, the shop donated $43,000 to ten local and regional charities, including Arrowmont.

Search for art starts business

Adding a touch of elegance to make a working place more habitable and unique is the idea behind Office Elan of Mississauga, Ontario, Canada. The lady behind the idea is Jane Looft Turner, Illinois Eta.

Ten years ago Jane had a highly successful career selling business services for a large international firm. But she wasn't happy. She had a husband and two young children whom she saw only in early morning or at night.

Then something happened. When her division in the company moved to temporary quarters until larger facilities could be located, Jane and two other employees were assigned to find some art for the barren walls. In their search, they found that either prices were too far out of line or the subject matter wasn't suitable.

That's when an idea began to take shape in Jane's head. Why not combine her business experience with the fine art knowledge she had gained at university? It became Jane's new challenge: an art consulting business providing works of art—paintings, original prints, sculpture—to corporate and office environments. In August, 1980, Office Elan Art Services Inc. came into being.

Jane began learning by doing, and Office Elan, despite initial difficulties, developed a steady clientele. When the recession hit, Jane had to make a major decision: should she develop into a true art consultant or just give up? She survived and Office Elan is prospering.

Most of the company's clientele are referrals or previous customers, and the majority are located in Toronto and Markham. A number of large corporate clients enlist Office Elan to provide art for their offices in other cities across Canada.

An interesting and developing sideline to the company's services is commissioned art, when a corporate client has a special need for a particular piece of art. These are often large sculptured pieces. Through an elaborate process of matching artist and idea, the commissioned piece takes shape. Jane monitors the progress of the project, in concert with the client.

Most of this busy lady's leisure time is spent with her children, daughter, Stacy Lynn, and son, Matthew, and her husband, Robert. The family enjoys skiing and sailing together.

Jane is also active in her community. She is a director of the Mississauga City Board of Trade and the Peel Art Gallery. She also devotes time to the University of Toronto's Erindale campus Art Advisory Board.

Jane Turner, at the desk of her company, Office Elan Art Services, offers her extensive business background and knowledge of art to corporate clients.

Nicole Cossette, North Dakota Alpha, is the only student member on the North Dakota State Board of Higher Education. She was appointed for the term of July 1, 1988 through June 30, 1989.

Wyoming Alpha efforts earn highest honors

by Tatia Netzner

Pi Phi pride seemed to light up the Union Ballroom at the University of Wyoming as Wyoming Alpha left the Greek Awards Ceremony, sponsored by the Interfraternity and Panhellenic Councils.

The chapter's efforts in creating productive and successful means of studying paid off when the chapter won the award for Outstanding Scholarship Program. Wyoming Alpha was recognized as having superior study programs, for establishing places to study and for requiring the women in the chapter to complete study hours at the house. As a result, the 1989 pledge class won first runners-up honor for Best Pledge Class G.P.A.

Not only were Pi Phi's academic efforts recognized, but because of athletic accomplishments, the chapter received an Athletic Excellence award. Participating in intramural sports and extra-curricular sports plays an important role, also.

Because the women of Pi Beta Phi understand the importance of participating in volunteer work, community activities and other outside activities, they received the Outstanding Service Program award. Not only did 100% of the members actively participate in volunteer work and activities within the community, but they participated in clubs such as Student Government, cheerleading, Pom Squad and drama as well.

Finally, Wyoming Alpha took home the honor which every sorority hope to receive. The Sorority Excellence Award, recognizing an overall good chapter, went to the women of Pi Beta Phi. While this award encompasses many things, it basically rewards the chapter for scholastic, athletic and extra-curricular achievements.

The Pi Phis have won this award for three consecutive years, but their efforts in maintaining all-around excellence haven't diminished.

NEWS OF

ARROWMONT

A talented watercolor student is intent upon her work during a recent Elderhostel program held at Arrowmont.

Cynthia Huff contributed the stories and photographs for this Arrowmont/Arrowcraft section.

Blanche Huskey loves her weaving

"I have been weaving for Arrowcraft since 1941. I don't know how many years that is. Don't count it up!"

Blanche Huskey repeatedly begged her friends not to count it up, while Arrowcraft Manager, Mary Dale Swann continued counting out loud, exclaiming, "No, no Blanche, I think that's just miraculous!"

When it was decided that Blanche has been weaving for Arrowcraft for nearly 50 years, she beamed and said, "That's right. I don't get tired of it. I do it for pleasure now more than I do it for the money. I like the money, but I do it for pleasure."

Nella Hill, who has worked at Arrowcraft for 35 years and has been its designer since 1964, knows nearly as much about Blanche's career as Blanche does. "Since Blanche's husband, Beecher, has retired, he has started weaving, so he and Blanche work together."

Blanche explained Beecher's interest in weaving. "Well, he's always known about it. His sisters wove."

Beecher weaves the Yuletide mats, their daughter, Yvonne Coster, weaves napkins. Blanche is an extremely versatile weaver, but Beecher makes the Yuletide mats only.

Perhaps the hardest thing is to keep the selvages straight. When making mats, the weavers customarily put on an 85 yard warp which makes 108-110 mats. When the mats are hemmed, or finished, they are taken to Nella at the shop, along with any unused yarn. Nella checks in the mats and distributes yarn for the next project.

Over the years Blanche has had the foresight to buy a piece of every design she's woven. Nella reports that Blanche has woven more than 75 different designs as an Arrowcraft cottage weaver, in addition to many special projects. She has no plans to quit weaving and said, "I'm not going to stop weaving 'til the Lord calls me home."

Donors are listed in hand-made book

Xi Province President Meg Jordan Bradley, took full advantage of her September visit to Arrowmont during the Pi Phi Officers' Workshop. Artist Chris Yarborough, Winston Salem, NC, was on campus at the time, teaching officers how to marbleize paper. Examples of her books were also on display in an Arrowmont exhibition called, "Regional Selections." Meg liked what she saw and she commissioned Chris to make a very special book for the large new chapter room in the Louisiana Alpha lodge.

"Meg asked me that day if I could do a book for the new room in New Orleans. I was excited about it. She needed it very soon, but I already had on hand the proper materials, so we agreed I would start on the project."

Chris designed the cover with a simplified raised arrow, using the Pi Phi pin as a model. "I used deep wine leather for the cover, and the end papers are marbled in pale blue and deep wine with touches of gold. The paper I used for the pages is 100% cotton in pale blue."

This is the book specially commissioned for the Louisiana Alpha chapter room, to list donors' names.

Names of those who contributed to the building and furnishing of the new room will be entered in calligraphy, and the book will be kept on display in the room.

Chris has taught papermaking and book arts many times at Arrowmont.

Elizabeth Owen pauses to reflect on her work during a class called "Quilts... Pieced, Painted and Dyed." Elizabeth is a Pi Phi and has twice taken the class taught by Nancy Halpern.

Former student is A'mont assistant

Baton Rouge resident, Elizabeth Owen, is the kind of assistant not often found at Arrowmont. Each year approximately two dozen artists become quasi-staff members through the popular assistantship program. To have an assistant who is a Pi Phi is rare. Full time staff members who had been working alongside the Vanderbilt graduate were thrilled to learn that she is a Pi Phi, in addition to being a studio quiltmaker.

Budding professional artists from across the United States submit slide portfolios and applications in the hopes of being selected to participate in the assistantship program. Free classes with Arrowmont's distinguished faculty are what motivates most applicants.

Elizabeth had been an Arrowmont student several times and was encouraged to try for an assistantship by Staff Assistant Cynthia Huff. Cynthia remembers that, in class, Elizabeth was like a kid in a candy store.

Once on duty in March Elizabeth said, "There are so many reasons I love having an assistantship. It's sort of like being in graduate school in that it's quasi-professional. Running Arrowmont looks very effortless until you see how much there really is to do. It's nice to feel that, as assistants, we're needed, that there are things for us to do that are valuable. But what's really nice is there's a feeling for me that I really belong rather than just being one among 100 strangers coming in on Sunday night to register."

During a two week stint at Arrowmont, Elizabeth compared her perceptions of the place as an active to what it's really like. "What you see when you're in college is the Arrowcraft sales and you learn the history of the school as a pledge. My perception was that it was real traditional with people doing split oak baskets and woven table runners. When I got here I discovered it's a completely different environment and really exciting. Every time I come I think that the money is being used for such a wonderful purpose, and yet chapter members don't really have a concrete idea of what's really going on here unless they come."

When asked if the Fraternity's money is being used in a beneficial way, Elizabeth said, "Oh, absolutely!"

"The facilities are really wonderful," said Elizabeth. "It's simply that when I'm here I feel like I'm right in the middle of what is going on at the moment in contemporary crafts. That's exciting."

While attending Arrowmont for one class, students can observe and sometimes try things that are going on in other classes. This "extra and unexpected" aspect of Arrowmont can be inspirational to many and neighboring classes have influenced Elizabeth in positive ways.

"It's sort of like lagniappe, which is a Louisiana tradition. For instance, when you go to a grocery store, or any kind of store, and you buy a whole bunch of stuff, the shop keeper will give you something extra for free. It's good public relations."

And it's part of the Arrowmont experience.

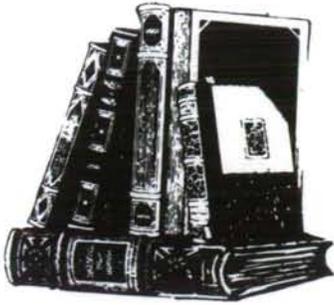

Zoe Lancaster, center, shows her fabric designs to participants during a 1987 conference at Arrowmont. As president of the National Surface Design Association, Zoe will be co-chairing the National Surface Design Conference with Arrowmont Director Sandra Blain.

Magazine features conference at school

Arrowmont will be getting a big dose of national publicity this summer. According to Surface Design Journal editor, Charles Talley, the school will be spotlighted in the summer issue of the Surface Design Association's journal in preparation for the National Surface Design Conference at Arrowmont in October. The article will describe Arrowmont's basic program, give an abbreviated listing of equipment in the textile lab, and feature color photographs of surface design work by students and faculty.

Conference dates are October 19-22, with additional pre- and post-conference workshops. One need not be a Surface Design Association member to attend. Featured topics will include color, direct application, fiber reactive dyes, airbrush, papermaking, repeat and rendering, career management, licensing/contracts/pricing, and health and safety.

For more information, contact Arrowmont, P.O. Box 567, Gatlinburg, Tenn. 37738.

SHORT STORIES

OF SAGACIOUS SISTERS

Kentucky Gamma, Eastern Kentucky

Paula Stoltz, AAC chairman, was named Outstanding Greek Advisor by Panhellenic Council. Paula has been extremely active with her chapter, and the chapter, in turn, thinks she is the greatest!

Iowa Gamma, Iowa State

Jodi Berg, sophomore majoring in graphic design, has a third interest in addition to her major and Pi Phi. Jodi is a member of the Iowa State Marching Band, an activity that demands eleven hours of practice per week.

California Epsilon, San Diego State

During Sigma Chi Derby Days, the chapter was overall champion, won "most spirited" and Shelly Ricktor won the title of Derby Queen. This is the second year in a row that Pi Phis have won the overall competition and third in which they have dominated the event. In 1986 they won "most spirited" and Derby Darling also.

Oklahoma Beta, Oklahoma State

House renovations began in April. Plans include a snack bar for study snacks, an extension of the dining room and kitchen, and a multi-purpose room with a stereo system for practicing such things as Varsity Revue and Spring Sing. Eight new suites on the second floor will be added and parking will be expanded.

Nebraska Beta, University of Nebraska

Tiffany SeEVERS has been tapped into the black Masque chapter of Mortar Board. Tiffany is an honor student with a 3.8 GPA and currently is Panhellenic president.

Heather Burnham and Heather Strait are members of the Student Alumni Association, an organization that works on projects to serve the student body, promote the University and involve alumni in current campus functions.

Illinois Zeta, University of Illinois

The chapter was thrilled to learn that its sorority scholastic ranking leaped from 14th to 4th after fall semester. The GPA rose six hundredths to 4.153 and 19 Pi Phis had 5.0s!

"Clowns" was the theme of Tennessee Gamma's performance in the University of Tennessee's All-Sing competition. Pi Phi won 1st place in large division and 2nd overall.

Michigan Gamma, Michigan State
The chapter received the highest sorority GPA for fall term.

Laura Townley was spotlighted in the campus's first Greek God/Goddess calendar, sponsored by Alpha Xi Delta and Delta Tau Delta. Laura was Miss June.

New York Gamma, St. Lawrence University

Four Pi Phis were inducted into honorary societies last semester. Kati Chenot became part of the Ives Society for music; Laura Lindberg and Elaine Putinas were inducted into the psychology honorary and Judy Tompkins is a new member of the national biology honorary.

North Carolina Beta, Duke

Four Pi Phis spent fall semester studying in Paris. Jacqui Fahey, Margee Morrison, Laura Wilson and Allison Gamble took courses at the University of Paris and each lived with a French family.

Alabama Gamma, Auburn

Of a total of 75 rush counselors for 1989 rush, seven will be Pi Phis. Included are Liz Burley, Susan Julian, Heather McQuiston, Martha Perkins, Nance Pittard, Meredith Snyder and Karen Woltersdorf.

Texas Alpha, University of Texas

On March 1 a pep rally was held in Memorial Stadium in celebration of the Independence of Texas. Pi Phis participated in forming the state of Texas on the football field, covered by TV networks, radio and newspaper. Pi Phi also celebrated by holding a bake sale that benefited Arrowmont.

Responsible, dedicated and enthusiastic are three words that describe Oklahoma Betas Suzie Revell, left, and Lisa Lorenz. They were named Best Overall Directors for the 1989 Varsity Revue at Oklahoma State. Pi Phi and Beta Theta Pi won 1st place for costumes and 3rd place overall.

Missouri Gamma, Drury College

Pi Phis took top honors in scholastic achievement with a 3.14 GPA for fall semester. They kept pace with fraternities and placed 2nd out of eight Greek organizations on campus. Eleven actives and seven pledges made the Dean's List.

To enhance sorority relations and to improve alcohol awareness, Pi Phis teamed with Tri Deltas to sponsor a chauffeur service. Tri Deltas volunteered to drive from the Pi Phi suite to the site of the initiation dance in January and, later that month, Pi Phis returned the favor to Tri Deltas.

Illinois Alpha, Monmouth College

Three angels received 4.0s for winter term: Sue Kozyra, Tiffany Mekshes and Jackie Bell. Four others qualified for Dean's List: Pam Bowman, Jan Coné, Emily Sues and Katie Hale. Stacy McQuellon and Jodi Karwath earned a 3.5 which qualified them for Honor Roll.

Kirstin Hartman, on oboe, and Renee Soderstrom, on trumpet, accompanied the Monmouth College Wind Ensemble on their spring concert.

New York Epsilon, Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute
In the fall term, 19 of the 45 Pi Phis were on the Dean's List of Distinguished Students, for obtaining a 3.0 or better GPA.

New Mexico Beta, New Mexico State

For Homecoming 1988, Pi Phis worked on a float with SAE fraternity and ended up getting 1st place in the parade. This year New Mexico State celebrated its 100th birthday and the Pi Phi/SAE float was decorated as a bottle of champagne.

Indiana Gamma, Butler University

The Littlest Angel Award is a new award presented by Indiana Gamma's AAC, based on grades, involvement in the chapter and on campus, interviews and the national pledge test score. The first "littlest angel" is Sarah Blume, the daughter of Patty Thomas Blume and granddaughter of Elizabeth Blume, both Missouri Gamma Pi Phis. Sarah now wears a beautiful jeweled pin.

Pennsylvania Epsilon, Penn State

After a long interviewing process and against stiff competition, Krista Dayton was chosen as one of Penn State's 103 Lion Ambassadors. She joins Sharon Strandberg, chosen last year.

Twelve Pi Phis made Dean's List fall semester, while 38 made Pi Society.

Kentucky Alpha, University of Louisville

Jennifer Carrico is the reigning Greek Goddess, selected during the fall semester Greek Week celebration.

Minnesota Alpha, University of Minnesota

Scholarly efforts really paid off for Pi Phi fall quarter. 31 girls received a 3.0 GPA or above, while Julie Larson, Jackie Jacobs and Drea Hageman obtained a perfect 4.0.

Mississippi Alpha, Univ. of Southern Mississippi

For only the second time in the history of Greek life at USM, there was full initiation of a fall pledge class, and it was Pi Phi's. They also had the top grades of all other pledge classes. The chapter won the Most Improved Scholarship Award for fall semester and had the 3rd high grades of the sororities.

Tammy Gremillion won USM's Junior Panhellenic Scholarship.

Georgia Alpha, University of Georgia

Laura Finnell was one of four Resident Assistant's chosen to represent the University at the Georgia resident assistant seminar in February.

Bid day for California Theta was a day of enormous excitement and bright smiles for everyone. Helping welcome their new pledges were (l-r) Michelle Sommer, Kelly Balamuth, Sue Berman, Miriam Sherman and Brooke Channon.

Kristie Geck, Montana Alpha, auctions off pledge baskets to raise money for a gift to the house—this year, two new coffee tables. Those baskets contained everything from stuffed animals to red, slinky lingerie.

Indiana Zeta, Ball State

Valerie Helms and Carolyn Spake have been inducted into Order of Omega Greek honorary. Dayna Dombkowski, Kathy Wurster and Cami Bruin are members of Golden Key Honor Society.

Illinois Theta, Bradley

Katie Sullivan is vice president of the Panhellenic Council and oversees Junior Panhellenic. Katie is the only underclassman on the Council.

Alberta Alpha, University of Alberta

The colorful songbirds of Alberta Alpha sang their hearts out to the enjoyment of all who attended the annual Panhellenic Songfest and came away with a second place.

Idaho Alpha, University of Idaho

These angels have been hitting the books. The chapter earned a first place in grades for fall semester on campus.

Nikki Charlton is Delta Chi Fantasy Girl and Courtney Flynn is Delta Sigma Phi Dream Girl, both members of the 1988 pledge class.

Mississippi Beta, University of Mississippi

Suzanne Skipton was named Outstanding Female in the junior class, selected by the Association for Women Students.

Tennessee Gamma, U.T. Knoxville

Pi Phi and ATO teamed for Homecoming festivities and placed 3rd in banner, 2nd in window display and 1st in large float. Overall, the two placed 1st and put Pi Phi in top running for the All Campus Events trophy, the first sorority ever to be that close to winning the ACE Cup!

Shannon Noland, Andrea White and Terri Turner are new initiates into Phi Eta Sigma, freshman honor society.

Colorado Alpha, University of Colorado

Raising their GPA from 7th place to 1st place was quite an achievement and Pi Phi received the Panhellenic Scholarship Award for highest GPA on campus.

Two Pi Phis have been elected to Panhellenic executive board—the first members in over seven years. Gina Green is junior Panhellenic advisor, in charge of the pledge Panhellenic and next fall will organize the annual pledge convention and olympics. Gillian Cooley is Panhellenic rush counselor coordinator and will train the new PRCs for fall rush.

Leslie O'Neill, Texas Gamma, was crowned Miss Fall Rush at Texas Tech. Leslie, and competitors from each of the sororities on campus, was judged on poise, beauty and intelligence.

Christina Kizirian, Florida Beta, had at least two special honors this year. Not only is she Delta Tau Delta fraternity sweetheart but she earned the designation of Greek Woman of the Year at Florida State.

Texas Delta, Texas Christian

Amy Serface has been elected Panhellenic president. She is the past treasurer and led pledge Panhellenic last year.

Pennsylvania Gamma, Dickinson

This year the chapter celebrates its 85th year on campus and one of its best rush parties last spring was a Pi Phi Birthday Party. The celebration allowed them to show the enthusiasm and dedication that has enabled the chapter to be so successful for the last 85 years.

Oregon Alpha, University of Oregon

House director Charlotte Mason received a flower from each member on her birthday in March. Each one brought individual flowers of her preference and gave them to Charlotte, one by one, before dinner. The resulting several bouquets were arranged around the house and in Charlotte's room.

The chapter received the highest GPA among the 11 sororities on campus for winter and spring terms of 1988 and second highest for fall term. Fifty members received GPAs of 3.0 or better and 25 had 3.5 or better.

North Dakota Alpha, University of N. Dakota

Janet Bailey is winner of the North Dakota State Board of Higher Education scholarship and receives $5000 a year. In return she must teach one year for every year she receives the scholarship. Jane is majoring in secondary education.

Pi Phi went from 6th place in the All Sorority GPA competition to 1st place this past year. There were six 4.0 students: Denise Flanagan, Nicole Cossette, Lisa Svare, Laurie Bickett, Kyler Twine and Tami Bernstrom. The fall pledge class had the highest GPA of all pledge classes on campus and received the Junior Panhellenic council's Scholarship Award.

Oregon Gamma, Willamette

Five bright Pi Phis received a GPA of 4.0 for fall semester. Freshmen Kim Cogan, Jennifer Campbell, Cinda St. John; junior Darien Harwood; senior Jill Catton earned these honors.

Freshman Glee, the University's oldest tradition pitting classes against one another in a marching and singing competition, was held in March and the sophomore class, aided by a song co-written by Laura Zinniker, placed 1st overall for the second consecutive year. Jennifer Campbell helped lead the freshman class to a 2nd place finish as a class manager.

Pennsylvania Beta, Bucknell

Penelope Kokines starred as Becky in the fall production of "The Tooth of Crime" which won an invitation to the American college Theatre Festival's Regional Competition at SUNY, Binghamton, in January.

Kentucky Gamma, Eastern Kentucky

Pi Phi placed 1st in Greek Sing this year with the theme of "Psychedelic '60s." Their show included the Beatles, the Supremes and a large group of hippies and go-go girls.

Indiana Epsilon, DePauw

Jessie Gregory starred in DePauw's production of "The Night of the Iguana" by Tennessee Williams, in the role of Maxine Faulk. Jill Frederickson was on the lighting crew.

At the initiation banquet in February, Laura Rankin, with a perfect 4.0, received honors as pledge with the highest GPA and most outstanding pledge. Amy Koeneman was voted most spirited pledge.

Virginia Gamma, College of William & Mary

This spring three new initiates were elected to offices in student government. Lisa Stewart, Heather Murphy and Betsy Willcox were elected senior class president, junior class vice president and sophomore class vice president, respectively.

Ohio Alpha, Ohio University

A much improved GPA has placed the chapter with a rank of 6th among all campus sororities. There were 24 girls on the Dean's List.

Florida Beta, Florida State

Three Pi Phis, Lori Pessagno, Lisa Bradford and Susan Rogers competed in the Miss FSU Pageant in February and Susan was named 2nd runner-up.

Deanna Geners, Lynn Grizzard, Jenny McCollum, Karol Saltrick and Kathy Williamson are new members of Rho Lambda. Three other Pi Phis are officers: Deanne Sharer, president; Daryl Mase, secretary; Christina Kizirian, P.R. chairman.

California Iota, Chico State

Tracy Palmer and Nicole Lafayette were in New York during spring break attending the International Collegiate Conference. They were among 1600 students from across the nation who attended.

Sarah Richart coordinates all intramural sports for Panhellenic and Melissa Northway is public relations officer.

Holly Hodges, Texas Epsilon, was presented at River Oaks Country Club Debutante Ball in Houston in December. Holly was one of three Pi Phis to be presented.

Headaches lead to artist's successful career change

Headaches altered Foree Peterson Hunsicker's life and artistic career, but ultimately led to the creation of her business, Medalias. With the 1976 discovery of an acute allergy to petrochemicals, the artist, a Texas Alpha Pi Phi from Dallas, was relieved to know the source of the malaise which had plagued her for so many years. Yet, simultaneously, she was devastated that her passion for oil painting would have to be aborted.

It was while reapplying techniques and skills she acquired from earning a BFA degree from the University of Texas, studying portrait painting at Corcoran Museum in Washington, DC, and fashion drawing and painting at the Art Students League in New York City, that Foree accidentally found a new outlet for her artistic expression—designing jewelry and one of a kind clothing.

Having always enjoyed working with her hands, she made a necklace and crocheted vest for herself. Both received so many compliments and inquiries, she began selling her pieces. With the opening of China, she began incorporating antique Chinese silver pieces with semi precious stones in her jewelry. To coordinate with her tops of ribbon crochet, she restored Chinese antique men's skirts and later designed jackets using pieces of 100 year old Chinese silk embroidery.

Because of her fervent attraction to the unusual and to antique silver, Foree chose a new direction when she became enthralled by the unique designs of the American luggage tag. Searching from coast to coast, she has amassed one of the largest and finest collections anywhere of these sterling silver items, popular in the 1800s among affluent American families in the era of steamship and railroad travel. At the suggestion of her husband of 29 years, she began casting exact tag reproductions in sterling silver and conceived the "Luggage Tag" necklace.

In 1987, her Medalias company was formed, with three necklaces and one earring encompassing her entire line. Now Medalias has grown to more than nine necklaces and 20 earrings, plus bracelets, pins, key chains and luggage tags. Examples of her work can be found in art galleries, museums and fine specialty stores across the country.

Approached by the Dallas Museum of Art, Foree was asked to design a line of jewelry in the southwestern influence to offer in the museum's gift shop during its Georgia O'Keeffe exhibition, last July through October.

Foree masterminded a special piece in honor of the occasion portraying the style for which O'Keeffe is noted. She handcrafted an exact miniature replica of a familiar weathered longhorn skull strung on rare antique African white heart beads, yellow jade beads, turquoise beads or silver dimes, allowing for a selection of color. She also designed earrings and a pin bearing the same weathered skull, complementing the necklace.

Since the exhibition in the Museum of Art, Foree's skull design was purchased by several retail stores for the spring season.

Hughes joins Atlanta law firm

Lori Powell Hughes, Tennessee Alpha, has joined the Atlanta law firm of Alston & Bird as an associate in the litigation department. Before joining Alston & Bird, Lori was an associate with firms in Jacksonville, Fla., and Chattanooga, Tenn.

Lori is a 1985 graduate of the University of Cincinnati college of Law in Ohio. She earned a bachelor's degree in criminal justice from the University of Tennessee, Chattanooga, graduating magna cum laude in 1982.

In law school she was a member of the 1984-85 National Moot Court

Team, 1984 Tri-State Moot Court Team and winner of the 1983 Anderson Moot Court Competition. She was also a member of the Order of the Barristers and the Cincinnati Inns of Court.

As a undergraduate, Lori was a member of Mortar Board, the student publications board and on the Pi Phi executive board. She was also listed in Who's Who Among American University Students.

There are three generations of Arkansas Alpha Pi Phis in this family of Thomases. From the left: Catherine Thomas, Mary Thomas Benjamin, Martina Moss Thomas, Martha Hill Thomas, Elizabeth Thomas. The great grandmother of Catherine and Elizabeth was a member of the group that became Arkansas Alpha.

Alums feed chapter at finals

Women of the Arlington Heights Alumnae Club take great pride in the Illinois Epsilon Chapter at Northwestern University. They take good care of them, too. For years alums have taken meals and treats to the girls during finals. This practice involves the time and culinary talents of a few volunteer alums who are willing to bake desserts, make salads and side dishes. A collection is usually taken at alum club meetings to defray the cost of the main course.

Since Sunday night supper is not served in the dorms or sorority houses, the girls are thrilled to have a home cooked meal from the alum club. Time is precious during finals and stopping to go out for supper is not an option for these study-minded students.

Collegians aren't the only ones who benefit from the alumnae club's generosity. Alums themselves look forward to their "Meals on Wheels" evening with these outstanding young adults.

'Thanks, Dads!'

At Washington Beta, it's not uncommon to find a group of Pi Phis relaxing and enjoying one another's company while watching a few rented movies. They can thank their fathers for those fun times together, as those fathers donated the 40 inch, big screen television and VCR to the house.

The chapter benefits not only from this addition, but from several exciting renovations as well. They have new twilight-teal carpet throughout the house and new furniture has been added to the living room and foyer to brighten the main floor. Also, bathrooms have new wallpaper and new sinks have been installed.

The chapter takes good care of their beautiful house and greatly appreciates its fresh, new look.

A very special day

by Brooke Malouf

She rolled herself down the hall. Her feet alternately helped along. "Nothing and nothing and all I do all day is nothing . . . nothing." she mumbled quietly to herself. Her eyes were wild, unaware of our presence as we quietly passed by her. I bent my head low to avoid another encounter such as this one and I silently prayed for strength to make it through this early Saturday morning.

When I signed my name to volunteer as part of Texas Gamma's community interest program, I had no idea that an hour of volunteer work was going to change my perspective on aging.

I went to breakfast this morning wishing I could have had one more hour of sleep. Eight o'clock was just too early to entertain the thought of volunteer work. I complained to a friend that I HAD to write letters for some old people as part of a community service project. Those were the words I used to describe them—"old people." But I had forgotten something when my friend said, "You are going to do something good for someone and you are complaining about it?"

He was right, so very right. These are people after all, I thought to myself. These are the neighbors God told us to love as ourselves. My selfishness diminished and my attitude quickly changed. I thought about what my friend had said on the way to the hospitality center.

When I arrived at the center, my sisters were in the lobby. We waited to receive our assignments. I was given the name of an elderly lady who wanted me to write a letter for her. Luckily another Pi Phi offered to help out and give me support. We walked down the hall, looking for the room number we were assigned. As we reached the room, I knocked on the door and explained who I was and why I was there. The lady inside was hard of hearing but eventually she told me that she would rather not have me write letters for her because she was too tired. She never even opened the door.

I wasn't sure what I was supposed to do after that. Other Pi Phis wandered aimlessly around. They too had been rejected. While we discussed our dilemma, an orderly, overhearing the conversation, pointed toward a room and said that the woman inside would like us to visit with her. I was excited that someone finally wanted to talk with us.

She sat in her small chair and her eyes beamed when she saw us. I knelt next to her and introduced myself. Obviously she was somewhat hard of hearing because she insisted on calling my friend Rochelle, not Michelle. We let it slip by with a smile and asked the lady if she would like us to write a letter for her. She said she didn't really have anyone to write, but that she would love for us just to sit and talk with her for a while. We did just that.

Her daughter was out of town visiting her own children. The lady insisted that she approved of her daughter's trip, even though it meant leaving her in the care of a nursing home. But I could see in her eyes that she wished her daughter had never gone. Her expressions showed her desperation for an eager ear for her wisdom, an open heart for her loneliness and an extended hand to join her in friendship on this Valentine's day.

We talked for almost an hour and when we were ready to leave, she asked us to sign her guest book and thanked us for making her morning so bright. It seemed her eyes shone with a new sparkle.

I could feel a hint of sadness among my friends as we turned to leave, each wondering if we would see her again. I walked down the hall quietly. Things I had planned for the rest of the day didn't seem so important. Thinking about my earlier reluctance made me realize something I had not anticipated. I had never expected an early Saturday Valentine's morning could be as rewarding as the one I spent that day. I never expected that one hour could make me feel so good.

Maureen Johnson, left, University of Nevada's Homecoming Queen 1988, accepted the crown from her Pi Phi big sister, Linda Reed, who reigned at Homecoming 1987.

Chapter sweeps Homecoming

Nevada Alphas swept up during Homecoming week last fall at the University of Nevada/Reno. The week began with 1987 Homecoming Queen, Linda Reed, handing the crown to her Pi Phi little sister, Maureen Johnson.

Maureen was supervisor and announcer for the week's events. Pi Phi, paired with Sigma Nu, went on to win several major events including the Quiz Bowl games; Wolves Frolic, a skit following the week's theme of The Wizard of Oz; and the Emerald City building contest. The two groups also placed in the float competition, scavenger hunt and mocktail contest, a competition for making non-alcoholic drinks.

The parade, UNR game and Homecoming dance concluded the week when Maureen announced Pi Phi/Sigma Nu the overall winners for Homecoming 1988.

75 year Pi Phis

Pi Phis and spring combine for fun

Nothing accentuates the celebration of spring like renewing Pi Phi friendships that may have hibernated through the winter. Add to this the chance to see the latest spring fashions and enjoy a delicious luncheon and you have the ingredients for a delightful afternoon. The Indianapolis Alumnae Club has found this combination also makes a successful fund-raiser as they combine their March meeting with a luncheon/style show.

Committee chairman B. J. Hendershot Maley and club president Denny Gray Baldauf organized the event, held at the Country Club of Indianapolis. The fashion show highlighted various spring ensembles, coordinated by Mary Jo Fell Grundhoefer. Betsy Mitchell Yates assisted in the fashion show preparation. Pi Phi pledges, actives and alums modeled.

In addition to the luncheon and style show, an Arrowcraft sale table was set up, offering the newest items, along with proven favorite crafts. There were drawings for door prizes and each guest received discount coupons to Talbot's, a local fashion store.

It was a successful and enjoyable afternoon to celebrate the coming of spring in the company of Pi Phis.

Chairs conference at Duke

Pam Seamens, North Carolina Beta, will chair the 1989 Conference on Career Choices at Duke University. Pam, a senior, has been planning the biennial event for the past two years. The conference pulls Duke alums from all over the country to counsel students in various career fields, ranging from consulting to medicine. Fifty alumni will be panelists and over 1500 students are expected to flock to the panels to draw career advice and insights from the alumni.

Each panel has two student moderators who supervise the discussions and keep the alumni under control. Of the 100 moderators, over 20 are senior Pi Phis.

Mae Marie is alum angel

by Kristen Gall

When I pledged North Dakota Alpha in the fall of 1985, I was confused about something. I kept hearing about the alums, but saw only one person. Who were these alums and why did I always see the same lady whenever the alums were mentioned?

When I asked my pledge trainer about this, she told me about the Grand Forks Alumnae Club and its more than 50 members. What about the lady I always saw around the house?

"Oh, that's Mae Marie," she responded.

Mae Marie Blackmore

When I became an officer I found out that Mae Marie was Mae Marie Blackmore, chairman of the Alumnae Advisory Committee. I even had the opportunity to attend monthly meetings with her when AAC and our executive council met. I remember thinking that she was a very knowledgeable person.

The following year, when I was chapter president, I really came to know Mae Marie. Her knowledge of and involvement with Pi Beta Phi were something I only hope I can match. Mae Marie's guidance and advice helped our chapter through some rough times; she was always there for North Dakota Alpha.

I became house manager at the same time Mae Marie became the new House Corporation chairman. She said she needed a break from AAC after almost 20 years. She jumped right into the job. She had the entire main floor remodeled, along with the kitchen, laundry room and bathrooms, and a new roof installed.

It sounds as though Mae Marie has been a full time alum since she graduated, but she has been involved in numerous other activities.

She has been director of the University Children's Center for 27 years. She is involved in the Panhellenic/IFC Advisory Board and has been selected twice as Outstanding Alumni of the University of North Dakota.

Much of her other organizational work is related to early childhood education. She is a member of the National Council on Campus Child Care, board member for Child Evaluation and Treatment Program at Medical Rehabilitation Hospital, past president of the North Dakota Association for the Education of Young Children and a member of the Day Care Advisory Committee to the Social Service Board of North Dakota.

Mae Marie's dedication and hard work have greatly benefited the North Dakota Alpha Chapter. She has been an example of loyalty, service and true friendship. Mae Marie represents the saying, "Once you're a Pi Phi, you're a Pi Phi for life!"

While having lunch with their fellow teachers, Beth Simmons Dixon, left, South Carolina Beta, and Sherry Bockstanz Hughes, right, Indiana Epsilon, discovered they were both Pi Phis.

As the story goes, during lunch one day Sherry began tapping her class and saying, "Ring, Ching, Ching," where upon Beth asked, "How do you know that song?" To their mutual delight, they discovered they were both Pi Phis.

Both had married Canadians and moved to Canada from their home states of Michigan and South Carolina. Today they both teach at Sir Wilfrid Laurier Public School in Brampton, Ontario. Their specialty is Special Education and their classrooms are side by side.

When you're a Pi Phi, it's a small world indeed!

Members of Colorado Gamma's fall '89 pledge class visit with Ella Lyle Shawver, Wyoming Alpha '13, a 99-year old Pi Phi who lives in a retirement home in Fort Collins. The first Colorado Gamma house was donated by Mrs. Shawver, and CSU Pi Phis visit her frequently.

ALUMNAE

YOUR HELP IS NEEDED!

1. Fill out a Rush Information Form (RIF). See form in this magazine. Additional forms are available from the Alumnae Club Rush Information Chairmen (ACRIC) listed in this issue or from Central Office, 7730 Carondelet, Suite 333, St. Louis, MO 63105.
2. Return the completed form to the ACRIC in the rushee's home city or send a personal letter directly to the Membership Chairman of the appropriate chapter. If the form is sent directly to the chapter, the ACRIC from the rushee's club area would appreciate receiving a copy of factual information.
3. Although only one RIF is needed for each rushee, letters are welcome from all alumnae who may wish to write.

HELPING OTHERS OTHERS OTHERS OTHERS OTHERS OTHERS OTHERS OTHERS OTHERS

In mid-January, MISSISSIPPI ALPHAS participated in an unusual fund-raiser when they helped a local department store with its annual inventory. All proceeds went to Arrowmont.

Arrowmont also benefited when VIRGINIA GAMMA held a Cut-A-Thon which was so successful that the hours had to be extended to the next day. Haircuts were $8.00 and two professional hairstylists performed the service. $214 was raised for Pi Phi's philanthropy.

Last fall the annual Pledge Olympics and the Move for Fun charity benefit at the University of Colorado combined and raised large sums of money for the Winter Park Handicap Ski Program, Boulder County Special Olympics and the Boulder Day Nursery. Of the ten sororities that competed with 21 fraternities, COLORADO ALPHA pledges raised the most money for the event.

Each winter term at the University of Oregon, the Greek system participates in Greek Days of Giving. Each day of the week there is a different activity in which points are given for participation. OREGON ALPHA had super participation and placed 2nd overall. The money and food from the various events were donated to YMCA children.

Colgate's Phi Delta Thetas held the third annual Sorority Superbowl in November to raise money to send mentally handicapped children to Washington, DC, in order to learn about American government. NEW YORK ZETA lasted to the championship round, when they were defeated by Gamma Phi Beta, 17-10. Much money was raised for youngsters.

DePauw's "Winter Term" is designed to provide broad opportunities for students who wish to work on off-campus projects during January. INDIANA EPSILON seniors, Becky Relic and Molly Maloney, chose to travel to Africa on a mission trip for their project. They worked in the second largest city in Sierra Leone as part of a construction team of 35 students.

The Indiana Epsilons helped host the 1989 Indiana Women's Special Olympics Basketball Championships in March. Sixteen girls and two coaches were housed with the chapter for the weekend.

TENNESSEE DELTAS hosted a crush party with Alpha Gamma Delta with girls from both sororities required to take two cans of food to be donated to the needy.

The annual IFC dance marathon at Penn State, the largest student run philanthropy in the nation, raised $456,000 this year for the 4-Diamond's Fund, benefiting families whose children suffer from cancer and are being treated at Hershey Medical Center. PENNSYLVANIA EPSILON was right in the middle of the action, sponsoring, along with Sigma Alpha Epsilon, three official couples, as well as five additional ones.

CALIFORNIA ALPHA's spaghetti dinner with Kappa earned a generous donation for the Children's Hospital and served about 250 people.

NORTH DAKOTA ALPHA's fall pledge class sold hugs and kisses to be delivered across campus and earned money for the Grand Forks Children's Museum, becoming founding members of that organization. A number of Pi Phis were United Way's Phone Pals, a hotline for children and teens. The Grand Forks United Way has won a national award for this service.

In February, North Dakota Alpha and SAE sponsored a Dance-A-Thon for Muscular Dystrophy and raised over $3,000. A Rock-A-Thon with Phi Delta Theta raised almost $2,000 for the Arthritis Foundation.

Mara Blom and Jena Franklin, *CALIFORNIA EPSILON*s, participated in the Wilson School Project, tutoring and giving guidance to underprivileged children in the San Diego area. Mara and Jena each spent at least two hours a week with a child.

CALIFORNIA ALPHA held a Mexican fiesta to benefit the Children's Hospital. 260 tickets were sold and the local Mexican restaurant was packed with people enjoying the food and the company. Children's Hospital received $1,300 from the event.

NEW YORK GAMMA has played an instrumental role in aiding a quadruplegic student for the last two years.

Oregon Alphas sold pizza by the slice for $1.00 a ticket, which included a drink and a movie in the Pi Phi living room. Obviously well attended, $400 went to Arrowmont, and $200 each went to the Association for Retarded Citizens and the American Cancer Society.

Michele Larson has been the Panhellenic rep and coordinator of the project since it began. Each sorority at SLU took turns staying with Lauren Matura at night, enabling her to remain on campus, and helped her parents, who live in Canada, avoid the drive to Canton each night. Michele and Lauren graduate this spring with a wonderful friendship.

Kim Coghlan, OREGON GAMMA, has organized a small group to speak to elementary school children about social issues, giving workshops concerning refusal skills, self esteem and drug and alcohol awareness. Although it is supported by the campus Alcohol Consumption Education organization and open to anyone on campus, it is largely composed of Pi Phis while it is getting started.

ILLINOIS IOTA participated in Chi Omega's annual philanthropy, March Madness, with proceeds going to the Leukemia Foundation of St. Jude's Hospital.

CALIFORNIA BETA's major philanthropic activities were coordinated with the Berkeley Neighborhood Safety Project Tutorial Program to provide academic assistance and positive role models to disadvantaged students in the Berkeley area.

GEORGIA ALPHA is helping make the dream of summer camp come true for a child with cancer. Camp Rainbow, at the Medical College of Georgia, is a week long camp in June. Not only did Georgia Alpha contribute money to send a child for the week, but Lynn Kendall will be a counselor at this special camp.

Eight INDIANA GAMMAS are involved in Alpha Phi Omega, a service organization whose main project is sponsoring a blood drive for the entire Butler campus.

MISSISSIPPI ALPHA was paired with the Pikes for Greek Week and their community service project was spending the day with a group of children from the Ellisville Retardation Center.

Illinois Iota's fall pledge class visited the Americana Health Care Center to play bingo and talk with the residents. At the end of the evening, they sang Pi Phi songs and Christmas carols, joined in by the residents.

Florida Betas stole the show during Lambda Chi's "Heart of the Night" line dance, raising money for the American Heart Association. Dancing in the show were (front, l-r): Diana Genders, Amy Adams and Lisa Bradford. Back: Ashley Hopkins, Zoe Judge, Kelly Schirm, Chollet Godwin and Christina Kizirian.

Tennessee Delta and Pi Kappa Alpha held a skating party for girls from St. Peters, a Memphis orphanage. The party consisted of pizza, gifts for the children and a visit from Santa. Assisting with the fun were (l-r) Tom Collins, Carla Butler and Park Jarrett.

California Gamma has started a Greek Volleyball Tournament, to be held annually and benefiting Arrowmont. The first Arrow-spike champions were the Betas and more than $450 was donated to Arrowmont. Kristee Panfil and Renee DeAngelis hold the T-shirts designed by Kristen Cotsidas.

Erin Egan, Wisconsin Alpha, represented Pi Phi in Pi Lambda Phi's Sweetheart Calendar for 1989. Proceeds from sale of the calendar benefited Special Olympics.

The annual Arizona Beta Christmas party was a huge success. Instead of exchanging gifts, members took toys to donate to the Phoenix Children's Home. After the party, the chapter went Christmas caroling at a Phoenix nursing home.

Missouri Gammas Roxanne Edelman, Kelly Little and Robin Dietzman (l-r) participated in the Beach Bowl to benefit muscular dystrophy. Pi Phi bowlers placed 4th out of 11 teams in terms of total money raised. The effort from all bowlers raised $3,000 for M.D.

Texas Gamma Stephanie Ogelsby serves a resident of a local nursing home in Lubbock, while the chapter visited with the residents on Valentine's Day.

New York Gamma Diamond Jubilee

Seventy-five years is a memorable occasion! New York Gamma is proud to be celebrating her Diamond Jubilee in September. A festive weekend is planned for all who attend. Alumnae, we want you! Come relive your days as an active wine and blue sister! The schedule includes; a reception and cookie-shine Friday evening. . . tours on Saturday. . . Homecoming football game. . . formal dinner Saturday evening. . . a trip down memory lane. . . and much, much more! Plan now to return to Canton. This will be a weekend you don't want to miss!

Greeks are recognized

February 26, 1989 was the semi-annual meeting of Grand Chapter for Bradley University, sponsored by Panhellenic Council and Interfraternity Council. Greek men and women who excelled in scholastic achievement were recognized and awarded. Ten members of Illinois Theta earned Dean's List recognition. Kelly West and Lisa Kallio received special recognition for their 4.0 grade point averages. Kelly was honored also as Highest Ranking Greek Woman in the College of Business Administration.

As a chapter, Illinois Theta had the third highest active GPA. However, the award these Pi Phis were probably most proud of winning was "Most Panhellenic Chapter at Bradley," an award voted upon by all sororities on campus. Pi Phis know the spirit of giving and sharing and make Greek Life special for the entire Bradley campus.

Nancy Prowitt, Tracey Warmus, Lisa Tucktan, Karen Klvac and Lindsey Youker headed the peanut butter and jelly brigade of the Northern Virginia Alumnae Club.

2000 sandwiches give warm feeling

by Nancy Gibson Prowitt

Martha's Table in Washington, D.C. is a volunteer organization that makes 2000 sandwiches every day of the year and delivers to the homeless at designated places in the District. Food is donated by charitable organizations, surplus from the U.S.D.A., local stores and restaurants. The labor force is all volunteer, some on a regular basis and some drop-ins.

After hearing about Martha's Table, Northern Virginia Pi Phi alumnae decided to volunteer there for a philanthropy project. Bright and early on a Saturday morning, the first shift of "angels" appeared to start making 2000 sandwiches. The thought was a bit overwhelming to our small group, but the director of Martha's Table told us to have faith—the sandwiches always get made.

With this bit of encouragement, Edie Smith Beer, Nancy Gibson Prowitt, Karen Klvac, Lindsey Youker, Tracy Warmus and Lisa Evans Tucktan, who brought husband, Ken, and 10-year-old twin daughters went to work. In the afternoon, the shift consisted of Mary Lu Pendergrast Meixell, husband, John, and sons, Andy and Clay, Jane Jennings Cunningham, daughter, Tricia, and two friends. They peeled vegetables, washed pots and picked up bread.

Although we will probably never eat another pb & j again, it was a joyous occasion for all the volunteers. It made us feel very good to prepare food for those who really need it to sustain their lives. The response so far from those who participated is—let's do it again!

Face painters help during arts festival

by Diana Murphy

On March 7, Florida Beta sent out volunteers to help alumni involved in this year's sixth annual Very Special Arts Festival. The program provides creative expression opportunities for exceptional students within five Florida counties. The Festival Day allows students to share their special talents through the arts.

There are four goals of the Very Special Arts Festival:

- 1-To develop and broaden quality, year-round and ongoing arts programming which integrates disabled and non-disabled persons.
- 2-To foster and maintain cooperation among a variety of organizations and individuals in the development of arts programs and opportunities for disabled persons.
- 3-To provide training and technical assistance to enhance arts-related services to disabled persons.
- 4-To create an awareness on the part of the general public as to the need for, and benefit of arts opportunities for disabled persons.

Florida Betas Sharon Jonatti, Diana Murphy, Jenny Pearson and Cathy Unger volunteered to help the Festival reach its goals. One fun job was painting faces. Every kid likes to have his face painted in as unusual a way as possible. So the Pi Phi volunteers were able to make friends with just about every child who came to the Festival that day.

Friends are an important part of every life and were an important part of the Festival. The song, "Friends," was the Festival theme song. Anyone who participated in the events that week was guaranteed a friend!

Luncheon in Gulfstream Park's Orchid Room, followed by an afternoon in the exclusive Turf Club boxes, was enjoyed by 70 Pi Phi alumnae representing a dozen cities in Florida. Alice Winters Donn, wife of Gulfstream's president and CEO, was hostess. Among those attending were (l-r) Mabel Bennett Griley, Peggy Jackson Brown, Alice and Kim Deitz Sellers, all Florida Betas.

ATHLETIC ANGELS

TEXAS GAMMA's intramural football team placed 1st in All-Greek division and 2nd in All-University competition at Texas Tech. Then the soccer team brought home the All-University award, and the chapter's athletic angels are proud and happy.

Out of nowhere, INDIANA EPSILON captured both the football and basketball intramural titles at DePauw. Not only did they win those championships but they were undefeated in both.

Lisa Grey, ranked #1 in Illinois in horseback riding for ages 15-17, competed in the Harrisburg National Horse Show in Pennsylvania last October. She rode in the American Horse Show Association Medal which included 250 other qualifiers and made it into the top 100 list.

ILLINOIS THETA sophomores, Mary Doden and Caryn Sotonoff, won 1st place in the annual Bradley Homecoming 5K race. Because neither girl wanted to take first place alone, they grabbed hands at the finish line and clocked in together. These two also rode 47 miles in the Phi Tau 500 annual bike race in September to benefit the American Red Cross.

Kirsten Caister, left and Deb Herring, Virginia Gammas, are doubles partners on William and Mary's tennis team. Both were #1 players on their high school teams and both have two sisters who also play tennis.

Nicole Clayton, OHIO ALPHA, has launched an exciting career as a professional skater by joining Ice Capades last winter. She has been traveling with the overseas company since joining.

CALIFORNIA IOTAS Cate Hinchman and Kim Berry ran 13 miles in Chico's Bidwell Classic Run, sponsored by Chico Recreation and Parks Department. Candy Swire is ranked #2 on Chico State's women's tennis team.

A home on a golf course is an unusual home, but for Kim Jenkins, IOWA GAMMA, it was perfectly normal. Kim began hitting balls at the age of ten and now is a member of the Iowa State University golf team. Her long hours of practice helped land her a scholarship.

CALIFORNIA ALPHAS Lisa Green and Katie Connors are currently ranked among the top in the nation in their sports. Lisa is a tennis player and Katie is a diver.

Becki Clark, NEBRASKA BETA, is also a diver and just placed 3rd in Big Eight trials. She has been diving for three years at Nebraska and the coach has said that she is one of the three best divers he has ever coached.

CALIFORNIA GAMMA Pi Phis are on a winning streak with USC's Helen of Troy inter-sorority sports program. They are in 1st place out of 11 sororities, are undefeated in football and volleyball.

Three CALIFORNIA EPSILON angels are part of the San Diego State football team, serving as Aztec Angels. Jennifer Smith, Laura Smedes and Tessie Troani fill a hostess-like position for the football team with duties similar to ambassadors. They give school tours to incoming recruits and accompany them to home games.

ILLINOIS IOTA took home a 2nd place trophy in Sigma Pi's annual snow softball tournament and a participation award as well.

Anne Duncan, hockey star.

Hockey star is All-American

by Jody Whittier

Anne Duncan, Indiana Epsilon senior, has been an outstanding leader on DePauw's field hockey team for the last four years. She has played half back and has been one of the leading scorers for the team each year.

Anne began playing field hockey competitively when she was 13, and has become a dominating factor on the field. Her coach has high praise for Anne, saying, "Anne is the most outstanding leader I have seen, on and off the field, in my 27 years as coach. She helps bring out the best in everyone."

This praise is certainly warranted. Anne has been named all-state honorable mention twice, all-state twice and all-American honorable mention once. In her senior year, she was elected captain of the team and was all-state, all-American regional 1st team, all-American 1st team and all-championship conference. Also, during her senior year, the team won the state championship for the second year in a row.

The one award Anne prizes above the others is the Regional All-American Award, because all coaches from the region vote for the one outstanding person from the most valuable player list.

Oklahoma Betas won All-Greek A team basketball and All-Greek B team basketball at Oklahoma State and then had to play each other with the A team winning the championship. Back, l-r: The A team Mary Beth Robinson, Linda LeGate, Lori Dillingham, Joanna Straka, Jennifer Robinson, Stacey Bynum, Meleesia Hill, Jina Thorn and Barbara Sellers. Front: Shelly Robinson, Jennifer Harrison, Katie Armstrong, Missy Hampton, Tracee Bynum, Polly Grunewald.

Shelly Mizaur, New Mexico Beta, is co-captain of the women's swim team at New Mexico State. This is Shelly's third year swimming at NMSU and she is a role model and spirit booster for the younger girls on the team.

After setting nine new marks in Bucknell's pitching record books, Sharon Nichols, Pennsylvania Beta, was named conference co-pitcher of the Year for 1988 and earned a spot on the conference all-star team.

Values & Ethics Commission

The work of the Commission has been developing over the past year as a result of continuing concern over the direction being taken by Greek groups on various campuses. Alcohol abuse, negative public relations, image, scholarship and hazing have combined to confuse the goals of fraternal living, both within the organization themselves and in the mind of the general public.

For this reason, men's and women's fraternities are working together to restore the original purpose of fraternity.

"We are hopeful," says Chairman King, "that efforts of the Commission, combined with those of NIC/NPC, will narrow the apparent gap between fraternal expectations and everyday reality. The Commission envisions a five to eight year period to implement this program."

(Contact the NIC offices for a Values & Ethics facilitators' guide for discussion leaders and case studies at 3901 West 86th Street, Suite 390, Indianapolis, IN 46268.)

Government student earns scholarship

by Tanya Scheeler

North Dakota Alpha's president, Denise Flanagan, was one of 105 students across the country to receive the Harry S. Truman Scholarship, awarding $7000 a year for four years of school.

The scholarship is given to students who have outstanding potential for leadership in government service. Denise is a junior majoring in political science and public administration and would like to work for the government.

To qualify for the scholarship, applicants must be entering their junior year of school and be in the upper quarter of their class. Denise also had to write an essay on a current issue and chose the subject, "The Politicization of Supreme Court Nominations."

In addition, she interviewed with faculty from the university. According to Thomas Howard, a professor of history at UND, Denise was chosen because "she has her career goals set and she knows how to get there."

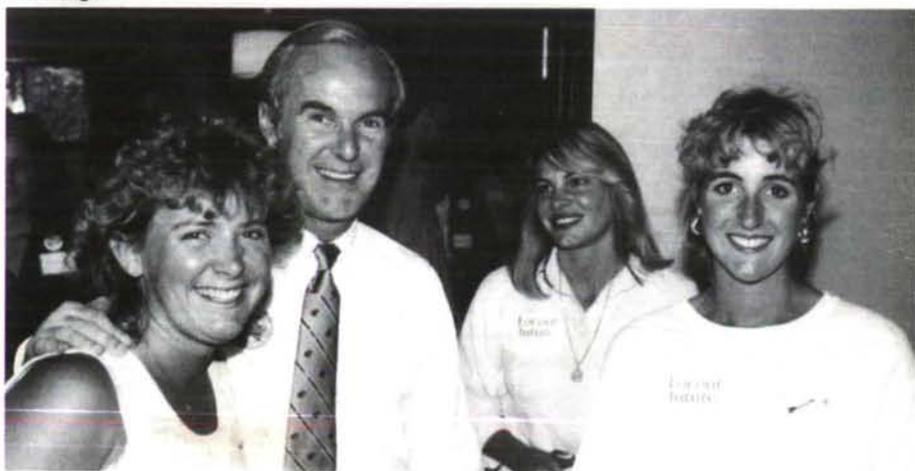

Denise is very active on campus. She has been president of Panhellenic Council, is a Telesis Ambassador and a member of Alpha Lambda Theta honor society.

Stephanie Hassell is South Carolina Beta's very own firefighter. She is fully trained and works for the Clemson University Fire Department as well as working as a dispatcher with the Student Police Department. Stephanie hopes to become a lawyer dealing with arson work.

Indiana Delta has a special bonus in its newest pledge class — six in-house legacies! From the left, back and front, are Monica and Chelle Eckman, Jill and Holly Jankauskis, Laurie and Kerry Tobin, Krissy and Katie Miller, Jodi and Jane Beer, Michalene and Susan Stoming.

When Governor Booth Gardner visited Washington State University, several politically active Pi Phis were honored to meet him. With the Governor, a Pi Phi husband, are Kristen Brown, left, and Danette Poole, right. The Governor's wife is the former Jean Forstrom, Washington Alpha.

INFORMATION BULLETIN

Virginia Eta began a new activity during spring rush at the University of Richmond. After preference night, gold and white balloons were released, carrying wishes for a special pledge class. On bid day, Pi Phis and their new pledges released balloons of wine and silver blue, symbolizing that their wishes had come true.

Convention tour includes Cupid

by Mary Christie McIntyre

With thoughts of conventions past and present in the forefront of Pi Phi minds, some members of Richmond, Virginia's May L. Keller Alumnae Club are remembering . . . and creating . . . some extra special memories.

When a strong contingent of Richmond area alums traveled to "Pi Phi Love and All That Jazz" in New Orleans two years ago, little did they know that the result would be a Pi Phi wedding! Among the Richmond delegation were Jill Remington, Virginia Epsilon; her mother, Jean Jensen Remington, New York Delta; and Carol Veasey Powers, Colorado Beta. Thanks to Carol, the Richmond Pi Phis had an exceptional tour guide in her son, Mike, a New Orleans resident.

Jill was especially enchanted by the tour and became Mrs. Mike Powers in a May wedding in Richmond. Jill, who has been active in organizing alumnae newsletters to keep her Virginia Epsilon sisters apprised of important happenings, now has some wonderful news of her own to share!

Three Texas Gammas are married into the same family. From the left: Bonnie Magruder married Joe Fallon, Karen Vance married Frank Fallon and Sheri Barrett married Jim Fallon. The three Pi Phis graduated from Texas Tech in 1981, 1984 and 1986 respectively. It's evident that the Fallon men really love those Pi Phi misses and their kisses!

Hall of Fame honors Elliott

Ellen Nyhus Elliott, Wisconsin Alpha, of Atherton, Calif., has been selected for the San Mateo County Women's Hall of Fame and was honored at the awards dinner March 3 in San Francisco.

Ellen was nominated for the honor for her leadership in multi-cultural education, including a 10-year legal struggle to secure integrated educational opportunities for children in the Ravenswood City School District. She established a message/request service at the San Mateo County Jail that now handles 28,000 requests annually. She was also successful in finding and financing the purchase of a building for the Ecumenical Hunger Program in East Palo Alto.

Ellen grew up in Argentina and England, the daughter of a U.S. Foreign Service officer. A 1954 graduate of the University of Wisconsin, she and her husband, David, a management consultant, moved to Atherton 20 years ago after he was on the Peace Corps staff in Sierra Leone. They have three children.

Besides organizing projects and working on boards and committees, Ellen works in the trenches. She volunteers one and one-half days a week at Ecumenical Hunger Program as an English/Spanish family counselor and program volunteer in addition to serving as a board member.

The old fad of tie dyeing has come back and Nebraska Betas have it. New initiate Jill Bonge makes T-shirts with Pi Phi symbols, words and Greek letters and nearly every Pi Phi has one. Displaying the art work are (back, l-r): Cindy Hansen, Jill, Cari Dineen, Jamie Schott, Ameer Onken. Front: Amy Waller, Lori Fraser.

Outstanding volunteer honored by Hospice

Frances Peck Thompson, Oklahoma Alpha, of Ardmore, Okla., has been honored for Outstanding Volunteer Service by the Oklahoma State Hospice organization. Frances is one of the organizers of Cross Timbers Hospice in Ardmore, and she and her husband, James, were the driving force that started the needed service.

When Frances started talking about forming an organization that could provide home care through volunteer service to terminally ill patients and their families, the first person really interested was a nurse, Kay Trager. The women met at the beauty shop, exchanged phone numbers, and later Frances met with a group of nurses gathered by Trager to discuss the idea.

When an anonymous $5,000 contribution was received to start the organization, the first five-member board was formed. That was in March, 1982. In June of that year, Cross Timbers received its first patient. Since then, the organization has helped families of about 185 terminally ill patients in Carter County.

Frances was secretary of the board of directors for six years and is currently on the advisory board. She has been active in such fund-raising efforts as garage sales, salad luncheons, pot luck dinners, the Ardmore Little Theater benefit performances and others.

"With people like Frances Thompson involved, hospice will survive forever," said Cross Timbers executive director Mary Corbett.

May Keller fund benefits from contest

by Christie Marks

In February, Virginia Eta held its second annual Lip Sync Contest to raise money for the May L. Keller Endowment Fund at the University of Richmond. May Keller was the first dean of Westhampton College, the coordinate women's college of the University, while serving as Grand President of Pi Beta Phi. University Eta shares a special pride and sense of tradition with their University's ties to Dean Keller.

When Virginia Eta was chartered on May 2, 1987, Grand Council presented a $5,000 endowment, honoring May Keller, to sponsor a campus-wide educational program. Last year a leadership workshop was held to which potential leaders of different organizations were invited. Each year the Lip Sync contest is held so that this fund can be replenished and future events can take place.

Once again the contest was a success. The theme, "Is It Live Or Is It Lip Sync?" appeared months in advance, generating enthusiasm throughout the campus. T-shirts and raffle tickets were also sold to raise money. People arrived at the event three and a half hours early so as to get a good seat. The "Pier" was filled to capacity with students in the balcony, on chairs, and even outside trying to catch a peak at the fun.

There were twenty acts, two of which were Pi Phis, and the event was supported by all organizations on campus.

The Swinging 'Gates of Colgate University is an all female acapella singing group. Currently, New York Zetas dominate the membership with Lisa Bernier, Pam Douglas, Kendall McCoy, Melanie Sargent, Ellen Mecray and Maura Lofaro. During fall semester the group travels with the football team, singing at tailgates. In the winter they open hockey games with the American and Canadian national anthems and during January break, they have tours throughout the U.S.
