OF PI BETA PHI

SUMMER, 1980

Dear Editor ...

To The Alums

For all you have done we would like to thank you. Whenever we need you for advice or encouragement you are there.

Before rush begins, you reassure us, bolster our enthusiasm, and remind us that we can get quota. During rush you help us with last minute details and make all sorts of goodies for us to serve.

But your help and support extend throughout the entire year. If we have problems with a pledge, you guide and support us. When finances appear low, you offer suggestions to build them.

Most important though, you make us proud to be Pi Phis. You show that being a Pi Phi does not end with college but continues to be a vital force throughout our lives.

For all you have done, we extend our thanks and love.

→ While the above tribute was written by Kay with the local alumnae in mind, its sentiments may be taken to heart by all alumnae who have the privilege of working with collegiate chapters.

Add Honors

I have no idea who sponsored the article about my swimming success and I thank you for the article in the winter ARROW. I faced the idea with trepidation when Peggy Houston, my daughter, wanted the picture. We were called home from Hawaii early because I had been selected as one of 30 women to be honored for superior achievement in Masters Swimming. This was for the State of Colorado and they had a gala affair at the Marriott Hotel. We were presented with a large colorful engraved plaque to hang on the wall and a beautiful gold medallion.

Now I feel a little more content about the article and not so guilty. Besides the thrill of being honored by my picture in The ARROW, I have received letters and calls from old Pi Phi friends from school, Indiana, the North Shore Alumnae Club that I belonged to for about 15 years. . . .

I just thought you might be interested. I was so thrilled to read in that ARROW about Martha Crane Caris, who I did know personally through Pi Phi and her broadcasts that I always listened to.

ERA Again!

"Pi Beta Phi does not take a stand either for or against ERA for a number of reasons. . . ." I cannot believe it—but there it is inside the front cover of a recent ARROW. Think of the foresite [sic] and will of our founding sisters in 1867—they would be embarrassed if they appeared today. The ERA is not a political issue. The ERA is a constitutional, human rights issue of concern to all educated women. No wonder so few of our brightest young women have any interest in the sorority system.

→ As of December 31, 1979, Pi Beta Phi had 2,763 new pledges! We don't have figures on the many other thousands pledged in the remainder of the sorority system.

Consider Your Vows

I was recently fortunate enough to be selected as a delegate, along with another Illinois Eta, Lynn Cocagne, to the 1980 MIFCA convention, held in Indianapolis, Indiana. There we gained much information and shared ideas with delegates from 32 other universities. However, some of the knowledge we gained upset us greatly. We learned that somehow, some of the secrecy we cherish so much at Millikin is not so secret in other Pi Phi chapters. Imagine my shock when a FIJI from a Mid-Western campus said "Hello, Pi Phi!", and gave me the Pi Phi grip. Lynn and I proceeded to deny that he was correct, but I don't know if he believed us or not. He was certainly proud of himself, to think he knew one of our most private rituals; who knows what else he knew.

The Illinois Eta chapter, I am proud to say, is known as the most secret house on campus. Many of the rituals of the other sororities at Millikin are known, but everything the least bit ceremonial stays within the Pi Phi walls. Perhaps these rituals do not mean as much to other chapters, but we take the meaning of being a Pi Phi seriously, and were extremely distressed to find out that some of our sisters elsewhere do not. I would suggest that the more lenient Pi Phi chapters re-examine their priorities where private matters are concerned. Remember, you had to work for that Arrow! Be proud of it, and do not cheapen it in any way!

Applauds Idea

I would like to send my "bravos" to the idea contained in the letter from Pasadena, Calif. (winter, 1979) about Pi Phi Guest Homes. What is exciting about this idea, to me, is that both the owner of the guest home and her Pi Phi visitor would benefit equally—both giving to the other in the spirit of sisterhood.

I have been fortunate in meeting Pi Phis in my travels to new places. How nice it would be if, through a directory, the odds of this were increased.

→ We're saving all the letters we receive about the above, just in case. Who knows—maybe one of these days we'll have a whole string of Pi Phi guest homes throughout the world. What an intriguing idea!

COVER—With the use of full color in The ARROW, for the first time ever, it is fitting that the picture used be of the Emma Harper Turner classroom building at Arrowmont in Gatlinburg, Tenn. The airy, attractive, functional building was dedicated, in June, 1970, to Mrs. Turner, Grand President from 1890-97, and founder and first president of the Alumnae Department.

We heard a delightful and unusual story while at the Delta-Epsilon Leadership Workshop in Gatlinburg. Thirteen years ago, when she was a sophomore at William and Mary, Diane Hughes, Delta Province President, lost her arrow. On their twelfth anniversary, her husband presented her with a new, lovely arrow as a surprise gift. Two weeks later, Diane had a letter from Virginia Gamma. The pin had been found—painted to the wall in a bathroom of the dormitory where Diane had lived while in school! Now, as Diane makes her chapter visits, she carries the original arrow with her, complete with paint, and tells this little story.

Two interesting stories about our Pi Phi Founders came to us for this issue, from as widely divergent places as the University of Kansas and the University of Toronto. Susan Hutchison, Kansas Alpha senior, has found, in her research, that she is related to Libby Brook Gaddis. The fact turned up during a conversation with Susan's grandmother, Rachel Hutchison, the great niece of Libby. Mrs. Hutchison said that they called her Aunt Lizzie and that she was Mrs. Hutchison's favorite, admiring her pretty clothes, how attractive she was, and the fact that there was personality-plus to go with it all. Susan has two older sisters, Julie Hutchison and Jamie Hutchison Kennedy, who are Kansas Alpha alums.

From Canada comes the story about when the Ontario Alpha girls were cleaning up the basement one day and discovered two old photographs. After dusting off, it became clear that these were not just old photos of someone's grandmother, but were taken at the 1925 Convention, held at Lake of Bays in Ontario, Canada. The big photograph was a group shot of all who attended the Convention, and the three women in the center of the photo were Fannie Whitenack Libbey, Inez Smith Soule, and Libbie Brook Gaddis. The smaller photo was of the Founders also, posed by a rock in a clearing. "Needless to say," wrote Lindsay Norval, "We were all proud to hang these two photos in our Fraternity Heritage corner and make a special effort to point them out to all who visit the house."

Of special interest is the fact that past Grand President, Sarahjane Paulson Vanasse, has come of age, and was awarded her Golden Arrow carnation pin at Founders' Day. Washington Alpha and the Seattle and Eastside Alumnae Clubs had the pleasure of making the presentation. At the same time, Sally's daughter, Joy Vanasse Goodenough, is exactly half way to her Golden Arrow, and celebrated her 25th Pi Phi anniversary this year.

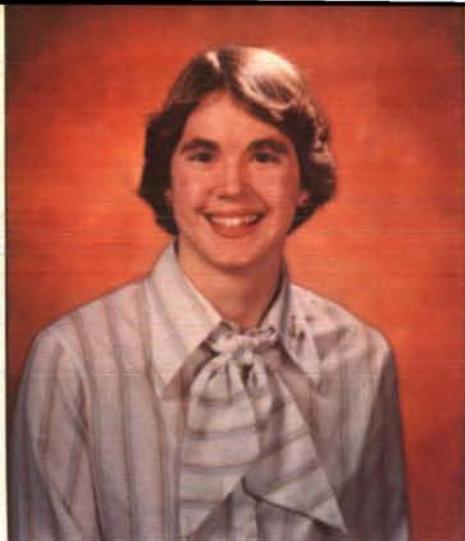

Another family in the Pi Phi news is the Shiner family. Carolyn Woods Shiner, chairman of the Emma Harper Turner Memorial Fund, and her husband, John, recently celebrated their golden wedding anniversary in San Rafael, Calif. Joining them in the celebration were the families of their two daughters, Patricia Shiner Hakes, former province president, and Jill Shiner Hayward, a province coordinator and a member of AAC for the new Lafayette chapter. There were many surprises for Carolyn and John, but one of the nicest, no doubt, was an album with pictures, letters, and invitations that brought thoughts of old and dear friends from as far away as El Salvador, Mexico, Florida, New York, and Ohio, as well as many from California. According to the records, Carolyn has had fifty-four years of active service in Pi Beta Phi. At present, she is president of the Marin County Panhellenic.

Back in the Summer, 1974 issue of The ARROW, we had a story about Ruth Purney Anderson, Nebraska Beta, a 44-year-old (then) marathon runner. Now comes a clipping from the University of Nebraska Alumnus Magazine, by way of Florence Wilcox Roberts of Lincoln. Ruth Anderson became the first woman ever allowed to enter the prestigious 54.25-mile London-to-Brighton road race last September. Ruth, who has held a number of age-group marathon records for women, still holds the world's record for women in the 100 mile race. The London Race, which she finished in 7:46:16, was her third European outing in as many months. Last July she swept the 10 kilometer and 25 kilometer events in England's World Veterans Road Racing meet; and in August, she captured three gold medals and a silver at the World Veterans Championship track meet in Hanover, Germany.

By the time you receive this issue of The ARROW, Pi Beta Phi will have participated in its colonizing rush at the University of California-Davis. We are anticipating another fine chapter in the west, in what will become, eventually, California Theta.

Herewith a small word of wisdom to the many Pi Phis who will be graduating and ready to make their various ways in the world—a college education never hurts a woman, providing she is willing to learn something after graduation!

Outstanding Graduates Earn Fellowship Grants

Three Pi Beta Phi Fellowships, in the amount of $1,500 each, have been awarded to outstanding members of the Fraternity for use during the coming school year. Two of the recipients are Oklahoma Betas, while the third is North Dakota Alpha. Their fields of study range from law to finance to chemistry, and each is highly qualified in her field.

The three recipients of Fellowships are Oklahoma Betas Tami Tibbits Fitzgerald and Julie Williams, and North Dakota Alpha Sarah Severson.

Tami Fitzgerald

Tami received her Bachelor of Science degree in political science from Oklahoma State in May, 1979, and is currently enrolled in Law School at the University of Oklahoma. Her love of law started when she was in high school, and, although she doesn't yet know what specialization she will pursue, she has narrowed her choices to criminal law, petroleum law, and corporate law. Her ultimate goal is to become a federal judge, and, as with many law students, she dreams of becoming a justice on the United States Supreme Court.

Tami was one of the outstanding students in the political science department at O.S.U. She accumulated an excellent grade point average and involved herself in a number of worthwhile student activities on campus. She has been the recipient of five other scholarships during her undergraduate career and was a member of Omicron Delta Kappa, honorary for juniors and seniors, and Mortar Board, as well as a number of other honorary societies. In her chapter she chaired many committees and did an outstanding job as vice president of moral advancement. She feels that her three and one-half years in the Pi Phi house were the highlight of her college experience, and that leaving the house a semester early, since she was graduated in December, was hard.

Tami hopes to encourage more Pi Phis to pursue legal careers, both verbally and by the example she might establish.

Sarah Severson

Sarah earned her Bachelor of Science in chemistry from the University of North Dakota in May of this year. The program she followed is one that is approved by the American Chemical Society for preparation for graduate work in chemistry. She has been accepted at the University of Utah to pursue her doctorate degree, and she will have a graduate teaching appointment there. The latter position officially starts in September but she was given the option of participating in a new program which allows a select group of applicants to go to Utah early this summer to have a research assistantship.

A story about Sarah attending an international chemistry conference at Salt Lake City appeared in the spring, 1980, issue of The ARROW. She comes from a family of chemists including her father and mother, a brother, and two sisters. Her mother and both sisters are Pi Phis also.

Sarah taught 25 freshman students in a chemistry lab in the fall semester of 1979. Her professor noted that she was very mature and professional in her dealings with the students and that she put in extra hours working with the less adept students. He felt that she was genuinely concerned with the teaching process as opposed to a person just doing a job.

Sarah enjoys research and is interested in many different areas and applications of chemical investigation. She would like to be employed eventually in a central research-type environment, possibly in an academic situation, but more probably in an industrial position.

Julie Williams

Julie is a 1980 graduate of Oklahoma State with a Bachelor's degree in French and a minor in economics. As a French major, she realized that job opportunities were rather limited. When she started taking some business courses, she discovered that she really enjoyed them and now she plans to continue her business studies working towards a Master's in business administration. She also plans to continue her studies in foreign languages while in graduate school, and is interested in learning German and a branch of Chinese. The foreign language/business combination could open many doors for her and she is excited about the future prospects.

Three Travelers To Share Pi Phi Philosophy

For the first time since the traveling graduate counselor program was instigated in Pi Beta Phi, three young women will be criss-crossing the country, sharing ideas, creating enthusiasm, and carrying Pi Phi love to chapters large and small. The traveling graduate program began in 1968 with one traveler. The following year two were chosen, and there have been two travelers since that time. Adding one more TGC to the roster will mean that more time may be spent with individual chapters than has been possible until now.

Named as Traveling Graduate Counselors for the school year 1980-81 are Holly Warwick, Texas Epsilon; Linda Laack, Georgia Alpha; and Deborah Hawkins, Michigan Gamma.

Holly Warwick

Ever since Holly was a pledge she has been active in a variety of phases of chapter work at North Texas State University. She held many offices, each of which contributed to her knowledge and love of Pi Phi. On campus she became involved in the leadership training program and volunteered her time and creativity to develop leadership workshops for students at North Texas. She gained working knowledge of the process involved in delivering a successful workshop from assessing the student leaders' needs, specifying objectives, selecting resources, designing activities, and budgeting, to assisting with the facilitating and evaluating. The end result was the valuable experience that Holly acquired in designing a series of learning experiences that led to the accomplishment of the objectives. During her senior year she lead and facilitated seminars on campus and was involved with the training of new members.

Holly was also a member of NT40, a select group of forty involved student leaders on campus, and as such, helped organize a recruiting weekend for 200 high school students.

In her letter of recommendation, Mary Smith, AAC chairman for Texas Epsilon, wrote, "Along with all the time and energy Holly has given, she has continued to be even tempered, cheerful, and shown that she understands the full meaning of sisterhood and friendship. She keeps a good relationship with all with whom she works and is universally well liked within the chapter and on the North Texas campus."

The North Texas Panhellenic Advisor, Linda Ray, credits Holly with making Panhellenic an important body on campus. Miss Ray noted that several years ago Panhellenic was respected but feared a little. "Today it is a body of officers which every girl and sorority not only respects but feels that if they have a problem, they can come to Panhellenic and get help."

Linda's home is in Irving, Texas, and her degree is in Clothing/Textiles and Fashion Merchandising.

Linda Laack

Linda began her Pi Phi experience by serving as vice president of the pledge class her freshman year at the University of Georgia. Her progression through chapter officer ranks took her from assistant treasurer, to treasurer, to president, and she served each with maturity, good judgement, and leadership. Georgia Alpha has grown considerably in the past few years, and, although there are many factors contributing to this growth, Linda has been a prime motivator for chapter members.

Linda has tremendous empathy and sensitivity for people. According to "Sis" Mullis, former AAC chairman, "She has a lot of heart, but she also has never hesitated to handle difficult situations, to take a stand (popular or not), to do what had to be done. She has an exceptional amount of maturity and judgement. She remains calm and collected during stress, and I have never seen her over-react."

Linda is a Dean's List student, University of Georgia Certificate of Merit winner, and earned the Chapter Loyalty Award her junior year for her active involvement and loyalty.

In February of this year she was tapped into Rho Lambda, Panhellenic Leadership Honorary.

In applying for the TGC position, Linda wrote, "Pi Phi has led me to situations and through some seemingly unsolvable traumas. I have touched many special people and they in turn have touched me. Given the chance to return some of the love, experience, and knowledge I have gained, I could help in furthering the aims of Pi Beta Phi."

Although Linda's bachelor's degree is in biology, her ability and experience in handling money resulted in her being chosen to serve as the Fashion Show budget director to handle the finances and contributions for Panhellenic's largest philanthropic money raiser.

Linda's home is in Chamblee, Ga., a suburb of Atlanta.

Deborah Hawkins

Debbie Hawkins comes to the position of Traveling Graduate Counselor with experience in two chapters, one large and one small. She was pledged at Denison University, the Ohio Eta chapter, and it was there she was social chairman for her pledge class and began to enjoy Fraternity life. However, she felt the need of transferring to a larger school following her freshman year, and selected Michigan State. Transferring from a school with 2,400 students to one with 47,000 proved to be a scary situation, but when she went to the Michigan Gamma house and found "80 girls opening their arms to me," she knew she'd found a home.

After affiliating with Michigan Gamma, she moved into the chapter house in her junior year and was elected rush chairman, the first big office she had ever held. From that experience Debbie knew she wanted to get more involved with the university. She was selected for Senior Class Council, planning events for seniors such as career night, homecoming activities, fund raising, etc. From that position she was elected Liaison to the Student Alumni Association.

Murley Miller, Michigan Gamma AAC chairman, wrote, "Debbie certainly holds our ideals as Pi Phis and would be a perfect example for all undergraduates to duplicate. She is honest, concerned, active, and dedicated to the basics of our Fraternity."

Gretchen Helvey, Michigan State Panhellenic Advisor,

New Club Award Offered

by JANET GOODE DURHAM,
Grand Vice President of Alumnae

Soon after taking office at the Phoenix Convention, I realized that now, more than ever before, the Fraternity has to plan alumnae programming which encourages its members to become more involved, not only in matters of Pi Beta Phi, but in those of the community. This is especially true since many alumnae already are busily engaged in altruistic concerns within their own communities.

Why not have a local Pi Beta Phi volunteer service project? Some alumnae clubs, large and small, do have their own projects. Those clubs found that it was not enough for their members simply to attend meetings and socialize. What better way to go than to develop a local project in which a club can give volunteer service and promote good public relations for Pi Beta Phi as well?

It is increasingly important that alumnae clubs provide something for their members to do, to learn, and to share. Some clubs share their time with aged Pi Phis who are incapacitated and in nursing or convalescent homes. Others volunteer time to shelters such as the Crisis Nursery and homes for abused women. Still others have members who give volunteer service to agencies such as the Visiting Nurse Service, Meals on Wheels, Hospice, Reach for Recovery, and those related to services for senior citizens. Hospitals for the mentally ill and handicapped also received volunteer service from Pi Beta Phi alumnae. The list goes on and on. Whether a club has fifteen members, or one hundred, it is possible to develop a group service project in which the majority can participate. There are endless opportunities to care.

Recently the Northern Virginia Alumnae Club, winner of the Ideal Club Award in 1979, created an award for outstanding community service given by an alumnae club. The purpose of the award is to provide recognition to the club which best exemplifies community service through its volunteer service to a local project. The club's involvement in the community is to contribute to the improvement and general welfare of the community. It is to foster positive public relations and recognition for Pi Beta Phi. Only clubs which have met their national philanthropic obligations will be considered.

Selection of a winner will be based upon the percentage of the club's membership involved in the community project, and upon the size of the club proportionate to the scope of its project. Of prime consideration will be the time, effort, and interest placed in the project. Financial contributions will be considered, but not as prerequisites for the award.

To be eligible, an alumnae club must submit a summary of the club's activities in the community project to the alumnae province president by March 1 of Convention year. The summary should include an explanation of the project, the club's goals, and the percentage of the total membership involved. The best entry from each province will be submitted to the Grand Vice President of Alumnae. Grand Council will consider all entries and determine the winner of this award to be presented for the first time at the 1981 Pi Beta Phi Convention.

Dancer Teaches Retarded Children

by VIKKI KEMBEL

Texas Christian University offers an excellent dance program and Silky Hart, Texas Delta, is glad to be an active participant. Her rigorous schedule includes a daily modern dance technique class and a ballet class, courses in choreography, improvisation, endless rehearsals, plus a regular academic load.

Currently, Silky is in Jerry Bywater's Dance Ensemble and drives to Dallas three times a week for company rehearsals. She always has rehearsals for TCU student productions throughout the year, in addition to working on her own choreography. She is directing a new fall rush skit for the chapter. During the holidays Silky choreographed a liturgical dance presented at the Highland Park Presbyterian Church in Dallas on Christmas Eve.

Silky enjoys working with children and has volunteered her time to teaching dance and creative movement to the mentally retarded at the Children's Development Center in Dallas. Last fall she taught dance to children in special education in a Fort Worth school and last summer she coordinated a dance summer workshop at the Point Theater in Ingram, Texas, as well as instructing modern dance classes to teenage girls.

One of the high points of Silky's dance education included attending the American Dance Festival at Duke University. She spent six intensive weeks immersing herself into total dance concentration. "The summer at Duke was unbelievable," says Silky. "I made a 100% change in my dancing ability. Being exposed to superb teachers, excellent performers, and exciting dance atmosphere, all contributed to my vast improvement. I loved it!"

Silky is interested also in psychology and has participated in two intensive dance therapy workshops. She is considering dance therapy as a possible career option.

New House Dad Pens Experiences

by WENDELL WOOD

When the North Carolina Alpha Pi Phis returned to Chapel Hill after summer vacation, they were pleasantly surprised in a number of ways. Instead of a dark paneled basement, two small dens, old paint, and old carpet, the sisters were surrounded by freshly painted walls, a bright cheery basement, new carpet, and one large TV room. Their other surprise was one of the causes of the renovations—Cathy and Jerry Bruno, Carolina Alpha's new houseparents.

Cathy and Jerry had come from being Residence Hall Directors at Elmira College in New York. The current undertaking proves their qualifications as meal planners, architectural directors, budget planners, interior decorators, landscape artists, and all-around Mom and Dad for the hundred-some sisters. While doing all of these jobs, Jerry is writing a book.

It's not the first book he's written, however. Jerry served as the advance man for John F. Kennedy during his campaign for the presidency, later working in his administration. From these experiences, Jerry Bruno wrote The Advance Man. Additionally, Jerry worked for Robert Kennedy's campaign.

Since Cathy and Jerry have been in Chapel Hill, the Carolina Pi Phi house has undergone other improvements. An addition providing eleven more girls a place in the house is expected to be completed this fall. The Brunos have coordinated the construction with the help of the house corporation, and especially Sue Link, Liz Bryant, and Judy Flynn.

Cathy has planned many delicious and different meals this year, even a Scarsdale Diet plan for those who could stand to shed a pound or two. Just being around as someone to talk to makes up part of the couple's much appreciated job.

Form Madrigal

Illinois Iota at Illinois State began a new interest group this year. They started the Pi Phi madrigal singing group called Sigma. Most of the girls have had a great interest in music, but only one is a music major.

Members are Glenda Mika, Bonnie Lamb, Amy Reynolds, Kim Kovacic, Kathy Fensterman, Carolyn Lundquist, Pam Starkey, and Sue Weede. They sing classical music, popular music, Pi Phi songs, top hit songs, and they even write some songs of their own.

Sigma believes that music is a very important part of life because it promotes spirit and a better understanding of what Pi Phi means. The chapter music chairman, Glenda Mika, is responsible for the growing high interest and participation in music for the Illinois Iotas.

Lafayette To Become 116th Pi Phi Campus

Delta Psi Sorority was founded at Lafayette College in the spring of 1978 by thirty girls, most of whom were freshmen, to provide unity and enrich campus life for women. One of the main goals of Delta Psi was to affiliate with a national sorority after the required two year campus probationary period was served at Lafayette. Throughout this period, Delta Psi followed many accepted NPC rules and guidelines. These two years brought strength to Delta Psi and also a great deal of respect and recognition from the Lafayette campus.

Lafayette College is a private, church related school founded in 1826, coeducational since 1970. It is located in Easton in the Lehigh Valley area of Pennsylvania. The campus population is approximately 2,090, 700 of whom are women. There are seventeen men's fraternities with houses. The Greek system dates back to 1855, with seven of the fraternities over 100 years old.

Five NPC groups were invited to the campus in early spring to make presentations and interview members of the local sororities at Lafayette. Three groups were eligible for affiliation in 1980. Two others had not held official campus recognition for the two years required by the college. The three NPC groups who matched with the locals by mutual preferential ballots were Pi Beta Phi, Kappa Kappa Gamma, and Sigma Kappa.

Delta Psi voted to affiliate with Pi Beta Phi for a number of reasons. Most important was Pi Phi's excellent reputation as a strong national Fraternity for women. It was felt that they could benefit immensely from the involved alumnae groups and chapter organization Pi Phi would provide. To Delta Psi, Pi Beta Phi was the best choice to enable them to become the type of organization they hoped to be.

The sixty young women of Delta Psi were pledged to Pi Beta Phi on March 2, 1980, by Annette Mitchell Mills, NPC Delegate, assigned by Anne Chestnut Bartlett, Gamma Province President. The Pennsylvania Eta Colony was enthusiastically welcomed by representatives of Pennsylvania Beta, Pennsylvania Gamma, Northern New Jersey Club, Philadelphia-Main Line and Delco Clubs, and alumnae from Lehigh Valley and other nearby areas who attended the pledging and hosted a reception afterwards.

Alumnae who will have continuing responsibilities with the colony and chapter include, on AAC, Priscilla Maxson Davies, Lisa Ann Kern, Jill Shiner Hayward, Ann Hall Patten, Judith Deville Shoffner, Mary Marsh Prouty, and Myra DePalma Reimer, chairman. Serving on House Corporation Board are Linda Durfee Dean, Janet Hunter Greskovich, Jean Nichols Schopps, and Jane Turner Campbell, chairman.

Although each collegian had varied reasons for becoming part of Pi Phi, there are several expectations which are held in common. Perhaps the most important is also the most elusive: that is that Pi Phi represents a tie which binds in friendship and sisterhood to a vast group of women who, diverse as they are, all share this special thing called Pi Beta Phi. Besides this sense of belonging which was manifested at the pledging ceremony and through correspondence with actives and alumnae, Pi Phi is imparting to the group a wealth of tradition and fraternal knowledge to bring them even closer together and unit them with Pi Phis all across the country. They know their rewards from Pi Beta Phi will be great and they are all excited to be the newest link in the Pi Phi chain.

Installation of this, the 116th chapter of Pi Beta Phi, is scheduled for October 3-5, 1980.

Pardee Hall is the main classroom building at Lafayette and contains the liberal arts and social science departments. The Quadrangle is in front of Pardee, one of the oldest buildings on campus.

mercial turned out so well that it has an excellent chance of being used locally.

The Pi Phis had a chance to lasso in some handsome cowboys at their crush party last semester. The party had a western theme and Pi Phis and "crushees" showed up wearing their cowboy hats and dingo boots. Each girl was allowed to invite three men to become part of the Pi Phi "corral" to find out which Pi Phi was the one for them. The men seemed delighted to mosey into a Pi Phi party, and the party was so successful that the girls were wishing for another the next weekend.

February 29 comes only once every four years and the chapter found a great way to celebrate it. The first T.G.I.F. Grub Formal was held, and it was a night of fun for all. Almost any kind of dance step could be seen including the memorable jitterbug and the shag. Most important, when attending a Grub Formal, is proper dress: old jeans, t-shirts or sweat shirts, and sneakers!

Artist Develops New Technique

Phoenix Pi Phis are fortunate to have artist Jeanne Shirk Mahaffey as a member of the Camelback Alumnae Club. Jeanne is an artist developing the method known as photorealism, whereby she carefully paints cacti down to minute details, including the needles. She has won prizes in numerous art contests statewide.

Jeanne's husband, Merrill, is a well-known landscape artist whose work is now displayed at the Smithsonian, the Phoenix Art Museum, and the new international airport in Phoenix.

The couple attended classes at Arrowmont in 1976 and were received by the Mondales in 1978 and 1979 at receptions held in Washington, D.C., honoring notable American artists.

The Camelback Arrowcraft sale was chaired by Jeanne, as well as being held amidst the shaded patios surrounding the artists' quiet and graceful Spanish retreat where both have their individual studios. Both Merrill and Jeanne donated paintings which were given as door prizes, and, luckily enough, both were won by happy valley Pi Phis.

Chapter Walls Harbor 4 Chiefs

by LISA SCHUERMAN

Indiana Delta at Purdue University has the unusual distinction of having four presidents within its walls this year. First, of course, is chapter president Sandy Moorhead. Sandy is a junior majoring in communications, and has handled her responsibilities well.

Sherrie Hines is president of Panhellenic. She is a junior majoring in management and is also secretary of the chapter. Another Pi Phi, Cathy Atkins, is a representative to junior Panhellenic.

Jeanne Novas is president of the Association of Women Students. A junior, also, majoring in chemical engineering, Jeanne's academic accomplishments are a good example for the entire chapter. She is the current vice president of mental advancement in the chapter. Twelve other girls are involved in AWS also.

Appreciate Alums

New Mexico Alpha held an Alumnae Appreciation Day and started what they hope will be a yearly tradition. The event was held to thank the alumnae for all their help and support.

Last summer the alums redecorated the first floor of the chapter house. They also helped make New Mexico Alpha's fall rush the best they had ever had. The fall pledge class was the university's largest for the third consecutive year.

Following a tea on the special day, everyone gathered in the living room. Actives and pledges sang special songs to the alumnae and the alums sang songs that they had sung during their Pi Phi college years.

A Tennessee Alpha Returns With Students

by MARGARET BROMLEY PENNINGTON

"When we get there, who will carry our bags to the third floor?"

If one has ever been to the Red Barn and Arrowmont School, one knows the answer, but thirty seven middle school girls from Louisville Collegiate School in Louisville, Ky., had no idea of the adventure and experiences awaiting them. They were to have three days in Gatlinburg learning a different craft each day, projects that were not ordinarily in their school curriculum.

As a Tennessee Alpha, I remembered the good times spent at Arrowmont when my chapter visited each year. As a history teacher now, I felt that a week of living history with the emphasis on crafts in the mountain area would be beneficial to learning and a fun experience too.

Collegiate is a private school, co-educational to the fifth grade, when it becomes a girl's school, founded in the early years of this century. (By 1983, it will be co-educational through high school.) Each year a week is set aside for student exposure to a different and unique form of learning. Besides classes in local Kentucky history, the students have experienced winter survival in the Rockies, marine biology in the Gulf of Mexico, and trips to New York, Washington, and Williamsburg. Arrowmont was a new venture into the field of arts and crafts.

The girls were given three different areas to explore with each day devoted to a different craft. The instructors usually taught adults but said they enjoyed the enthusiasm of their students and adjusted easily to their active charges. The classes offered were basketry, weaving, and batik. For the basketry, the students had to go into the brisk mountain air and pick their own materials to weave into baskets. They learned that honeysuckle is a favorite weaver, and that bark from trees makes an excellent decorative border. Each basket materialized into different shapes and there were no two alike. As one girl said, "I had no idea that my own backyard had materials that could make a basket." Another said, "How am I ever going to tell my mother I failed basketry?" (But her batiks were truly exciting.)

Batiking was the most active of the classes with the instructor teaching the use of hot wax and dyes to make hangings, pillow covers, and their own individualized T-shirts. The creations were fun and unique as the students created their own molds for printing and drew free hand. They then dyed the materials, sometimes twice, and finally pressed the wax from it. They became so absorbed that they weren't ready for lunch when that time came.

Weaving, on the other hand, was a quieter activity but just as creative. Each girl was given her own yard of burlap, and with pulling threads and reweaving new ones into the spaces, it became an array of colors and new designs. As one student said, "The teachers let us create our own projects, always encouraging us, but they never tried to tell us we should design something another way."

Throughout their classroom experiences, the girls were able to absorb the beauty of Arrowmont through the works of the teacher-artists, the gallery artists, the uniqueness of the buildings, and the beauty of the mountain scenery. Although Arrowmont is in the heart of Gatlinburg, behind its stone wall, it becomes its own total environment.

Caroline Riddle and Sandra Blain took a chance on a new experience for Arrowmont in providing young students a new opportunity. Both Arrowmont and Collegiate students are better for the time together and by the time we left, the original call of "who will carry my bag?" became "Can we come back again next year?"

Eighth graders weave nature's beauty into baskets.

A seventh grader dips her mold in wax for the batik class.

Colorful creations are produced in the weaving class using a yard of burlap, pulling threads, and re-weaving new ones into the spaces.

Winter Workshops '80

Winter workshops '80, sponsored by the Southern Highland Handicraft Guild in conjunction with Arrowmont, offered both contemporary and traditional craft classes for 70 students from throughout the United States. Classes taught during the January workshop included bookbinding and papermaking, fabric design, natural basketry, production pottery, and tapestry weaving. Of special interest to all participants was the Japanese paste resist stencil printing class taught by Japanese artist, Shuji Asada, nationally known as a fabric artist and designer for industry.

Demonstrations and slide programs on textile printing processes, designing for production and business aspects related to industry were attended by the general student body and invited guests.

Shuji Asada, center, Japanese fabric designer, discusses stencil designs and their application to wearables and wall hangings with students.

Elizabeth Waitt Rue

Elizabeth Waitt Rue, for many years a well-loved resident of Gatlinburg, passed away in February in Bowling Green, Ky.

Mrs. Rue, an Iowa Gamma Golden Arrow, went to Gatlinburg in February, 1955. She was manager of the Arrowcraft Shop for more than a year until she assumed the duties of manager of the Arrowcraft Branch Shop in the Mountain View Hotel.

She was truly an Ambassador of Good Will, for she met guests from all over the United States and from many foreign countries. Her interest and knowledge of crafts, and the individual craftsmen, were boundless. Her gracious manner made many friends for Arrowcraft, as well as for the hotel.

Elizabeth was a member of the Little Pigeon Alumnae Club of Gatlinburg from the time of its reorganization in 1959 until she left for her new home in Decatur, Ga., in 1970.

She was an active member of the First Methodist Church of Gatlinburg and of the Gatlinburg Garden Club which she served as president from 1960-1962.

Several memorials to Arrowmont have been given in her memory by the Little Pigeon Alumnae Club and individual members.

Sevier County Artists Exhibit

During the month of February Arrowmont hosted an exhibition titled "Sevier County Artists" in the atrium gallery. Work of nearly 60 local residents was juried for the month long exhibition which was highlighted by an artists reception, February 22. Local residents, friends and relatives of the artists, tourists, and a University of Tennessee seminar group meeting at Arrowmont all attended the wine and cheese reception. A first for Arrowmont, the exhibition promises to be a popular inclusion in the yearly exhibition schedule.

Painting, drawings, prints, photographs, and textiles were displayed side by side showing the quality and diversity of work being done by local artists.

Georgia Alpha and Delta Tau Delta captured all the events in this year's Homecoming at the University of Georgia, winning all five trophies for various events during the celebration. The following week the chapter and the Deltas celebrated the winning week with a social.

Athletic Angels

Basketball

Texas Delta finished second place in intramural competition at TCU.

Oklahoma Beta's team finished a strong second in the All-Sorority League, losing in the finals to Kappa Delta. The team was coached by Doug Tatum and John Pixley, Delta Tau Deltas.

Sue Monroe, North Carolina Beta, has been captain of the Duke Blue Devils women's basketball team for the past three years, while Tara McCarthy, junior guard, has made the all-state team both her freshman and junior years. She ranks second on the team in scoring and assists.

The Wyoming Alpha team is undefeated. They had three games scheduled, won the first two, and the third game was forfeited by the Kappas.

North Carolina Alphas won the intramurals championship by defeating ten other sorority and University of N. Carolina all-campus teams.

A co-rec team of men of Kappa Sigma and women of Mississippi Alpha, won second place in the overall University of Southern Mississippi finals.

Bowling

Over $150 was raised for the Panhellenic Scholarship in the Panhellenic bowling tournament at Illinois State. Each sorority and fraternity on the campus chose four members to bowl three games each. Illinois Iota's team took second place in the tourney.

Chalk up another intramural award for Texas Zeta. They were champs of the sorority league at Baylor.

Golf

Jenny Huvendick, Oklahoma Beta, is a member of the nationally ranked Oklahoma State team which earned the title of Big Eight champions this year. Jenny has a golf scholarship but is a deserving candidate for a scholastic scholarship, since she is an accounting major with nearly a 4.0 GPA!

Swimming

Kim Healy, Texas Delta, was co-captain of the TCU women's swim team. In the Division 2 state swim meet she earned one first place, two seconds, and a third in her events. At the National Swim Meet in Pennsylvania, she placed 14 in the 100 meter individual medley and 21 in the 50 meter butterfly.

Melinda Williams and Connie Clem, South Dakota Alphas, have been valuable members of the USD swim team this year. Melinda's specialties included the individual medleys and distance events, while Connie concentrated on butterfly events, in which she holds several team records. Connie also took second place in the 50-meter butterfly at the Division II AIAW Regionals in late March.

Robynn Masters, Utah Alpha, had an outstanding season at the University of Utah. In the AIAW Region 7 Championships she placed first in both the 200-yard and 500-yard freestyle, and second in the 50-yard freestyle. That performance entitled her to compete in the AIAW national championship, held in late March in Las Vegas.

North Carolina Beta Lisle Nabell has been a successful member of the Duke varsity swim team for two years. She scored in the 50, 100, and 200 yard backstroke during the ACC meet at Clemson, and the Duke team finished in fifth place.

Conni Young and Becki McCafferty, California Deltas, have found that sports competition requires hours of hard work and dedication. Both women compete in the UCLA women's sports program that ranks among the top five nationally. Conni is a diver on the team and is a two-time AIAW regional qualifier. Becki is a swimmer and has qualified for AIAW national competition for the past two years. UCLA's swimming and diving teams rank fourth in the nation.

Water Polo

Illinois Iota Pi Phi and the Sigma Nus at Illinois State have formed an intramural water polo team. The team meets every Sunday evening to practice and play their games.

Mini-Olympics

Doris Pappas, Alabama Beta, president of the Physical Education Club at the University of Alabama, had the idea for a Greek Mini-Olympics on campus. The olympics were sponsored by Pi Phi, the P.E. Club, and Delta Tau Delta, with seven swimming events and nine track and field events. In order to participate each sorority and fraternity had to contribute $50, with the money collected being donated to the U.S. Olympic team. Each sponsor, however, was allowed a portion of the money for its own use, and Alabama Beta donated its share to Arrowmont.

Superstars

DePauw University Pi Phi and Kappa Alpha Thetas won the annual Superstars athletic competition in March. The pairing swept the first three events and won the volleyball game. The obstacle course proved a bit more challenging, but the team pulled through well. Victory in the Australian tag competition paved the way to the championships.

The Texas Gamma '79-'80 pledge class received first place Spirit Award for their enthusiastic and cheerful spirit during Fiji Olympics. The class also received first place in the overall sports events at Sigma Chi Derby Day.

Two Washington Gammas are actively involved in intervarsity sports. Aimee Deline, left, is a co-captain for the women's volleyball team, and Lynn Pasaquen, right, is a coxswain in women's crew. Both were named inspirational players-of-the-year.

Landscape Plan Beautifies Campus

by LAURA MOORE

Sharon Schraegle, former president of Kentucky Beta, proposed a plan to landscape the area around the new Fine Arts Building on the University of Kentucky campus. Her plan involved all of the sororities and nine of the fraternities on campus.

Sharon's idea was to have each of the participating sororities and fraternities donate money for the trees to landscape the area. She collected over $1,000 which bought twenty red maple trees, now lining the walk to the building.

In recognition of the donation, the head of the physical plant division at UK agreed to dedicate the trees to the participants from the Greek community. There is a plaque placed at the head of the walkway engraved with all names of the contributors. The dedication ceremony was held by Pi Beta Phi on April 9, 1980, during UK Greek Week. The ceremony involved the administration and each contributing group.

Sharon had the idea for the project after reading a magazine article about a New Mexico school with a similar project. Knowing the project would physically enhance the University, she also hoped it would unify the UK Greek system.

"My intentions," said Sharon, "were to expose the Greeks to the University in a cooperative, non-competitive way, because working together is what the Greek community is all about."

Drawings Accepted

Cheryl Buckingham, Illinois Iota, has had her drawings accepted by Illinois State University for the remodeling of the interior of the Ewing Castle Museum.

Cheryl is a senior majoring in interior design. The plans for the remodeling of the castle's interior started out as a class assignment, with the possibility of being submitted to the university for consideration in the project.

Audra Bailey Earns Indiana Jefferson Award

Ten Indiana residents who have dedicated themselves to helping others with little regard for fanfare received Indiana Jefferson Awards for outstanding public service. The winners were selected from hundreds of nominees in the fourth year of the statewide program sponsored by the Indianapolis Star. Among the ten was Audra Snyder Bailey, Indiana Beta, a member of the Indianapolis Alumnae Club. Plaques from the Star were presented to the winners in addition to bronze medallions from the American Institute for Public Service, sponsor of the national Jefferson Awards program, named for President Thomas Jefferson.

Her leadership and countless hours devoted to the activities of community organizations almost too numerous to mention brought Audra, a former high school math teacher, the admiration of her colleagues and students.

For the last 40 years, she has worked to inspire young people in Indiana to improve their communities. "Her objective has always been to give the honor and publicity to the students and community and she has not sought it for herself," wrote a school spokesman.

Although Audra retired from teaching last June, she was granted a Lilly Foundation stipend to return to Arlington High School as a public relations person. She has received awards in the Keep America Beautiful program on state and national levels. She also served as chairman and won national awards for her participation in the School Program of the Freedoms Foundation. She is a member of many professional and honorary organizations. She has been awarded scholarships from the National Science Foundation to attend Purdue University and an International Student Scholarship for travel in six European countries.

Hunger Dinner

DePauw University—Indiana Epsilon recently held a "Hunger Dinner" with their neighbors, the Sigma Chis. Wild rice and fresh fruit were served to all in order to experience the diet of people in poverty-stricken areas all over the world. The event was organized by Sally Engelhart and Cathy Foley, the Pi Phi representatives to the Chaplain Living Unit Council.

Successful Party

St. Lawrence University—For the spring rush, New York Gamma created a western motif for their theme party. The living room was transformed into The Golden Arrow Saloon, complete with swinging doors, "wooden" beams, a bar (serving root beer, of course!), and the traditional moosehead over the fireplace. The girls all dressed as cowboys or show-girls and served the rushees Pi Phi sugar cookies, Slimjims, and pretzels while they watched a vaudeville show.

The barbershop quartet, all-cast number, silent movie scenario, and the dancing showgirls brought a tremendous amount of applause from the audience. They could see that the sisters were thoroughly enjoying themselves. The seven pledges resulting from the rush are all singers too. All the more talent for next year's show!

Spring Retreat

Iowa State University—Iowa Gamma held its first spring retreat soon after return from spring quarter break. Early one Saturday morning in March, Pi Phis gathered in a banquet room in the college union, and anxiously awaited the promised discussions—not to mention the donut break.

Under the leadership of VP Mental Liddy Rogers, major areas of emphasis, such as scholarship and responsibilities, were discussed. For three hours we worked together on these and other aspects of Iowa Gamma and Pi Beta Phi. Members of our Alumnae Advisory Committee joined us in group discussions and in the final chorus of "Pi" by which we ended our morning of unity and accomplishment.

But the end of the workshop did not mark the end of our chapter spirit. To cap off the Pi Phi weekend, an area racquet club was rented and we carried our enthusiasm to an evening of racquetball, saunas, and tennis. Newly refreshed, we felt prepared for a better-than-ever spring quarter—and we unanimously agreed to make the spring retreat a tradition at Iowa Gamma.

Greek Songfest

Miami University—Ohio Zetas paired with Delta Tau Delta and Sigma Delta Tau to win fourth place overall in the annual Greek Songfest with their rendition of "Fiddler On The Roof." The revised version, "Redskin On The Roof," was named after Miami's mascot, an Indian, and highlighted Greek life at Miami.

In the opening number, "Tradition," the group sang of various Miami traditions, and the girls discussed the problems of finding a date in "Matchmaker." The Delt's gave their version of fraternity life in "If I Were a Frat Man," and the whole group joined in for a rousing finale of "To Life."

The group won third place in creativity and third place in stage presentation, resulting in fourth place overall. More importantly, many new friendships were formed among all the participants.

Nancy Stover

Campus Hostesses

Colorado State University—Pi Phis get involved in athletics in many important ways. Tracy Miller cheers the Rams on as a CSU cheerleader. Six Colorado Gamma members spend many hours in the press box at football games, make appearances at basketball games and gymnastics meets, and, regardless of the unpredictable Colorado weather, take groups of young men on walking tours of the campus. These Golden Rams play an important part in recruiting new athletes to CSU and include Pi Phis Beth Kaskel, Erin Clowers, Lyl Nevins Coxe, Cindi Schwab, Sharon Mohr, and Vanda Kitashima.

Sweep Homecoming

University of New Mexico—New Mexico Alphas certainly stood out in the 1979 Homecoming. Cindy Geissler was elected Homecoming Queen and chapter president, Robin Vertz, was first runner-up. The honors didn't stop there as the overall sweepstakes trophy for house decorations was awarded to New Mexico Alpha as well. Pi Phis Sony Taylor and Shannon Kimbrough also put in a great deal of time and effort in their work with the UNM Homecoming committee. Everyone agreed that the Homecoming slogan, "Since the Wild, Wild West, We've Been the Best!" proved to be true, not only for UNM, but for New Mexico Alpha as well.

Meredith Taylor

Sell Roses

Ohio University—Both Sweetest Day and Valentine's Day brought busy times for Ohio Alphas. What kept them so busy was the sale of long stem roses for the two occasions.

For Sweetest Day, Pi Phi and Delta Tau Delta combined forces and sold fifty-four dozen roses to fraternities, sororities, dorm students, and local area residents. For Valentine's Day, they followed up their great selling efforts by selling forty-four dozen roses.

The Pi Phis and the Delts hope to continue the rose sale as a tradition for years to come.

Melissa Rybak

Goose Bumps, Arise!

Washington and Jefferson College—When the Pennsylvania Zetas returned from their Christmas break, they were filled with plans and enthusiasm. One of these plans included an idea for a beach party. Spurred on by Resident Graduate Counselor Nancy Strine, the chapter decided that January would be a great time to hold the party. Alpha Tau Omega agreed to co-host the party at their house and the date was set.

As the night of the party approached, only the people responsible for planning the party were enthusiastic; that is, until the ATOs wore their beach clothes to dinner!

Party time arrived and the Pi Phis and ATOs set the fashion trend by wearing everything from Hawaiian shirts and Bermuda shorts to bathing suits. Everyone wore sunglasses and the scent of suntan lotion pervaded the air. Guests were greeted at the door with kisses and leis and the house had been decorated with palm trees, sand, and a mural of a beach.

Everyone attending the party had a great time and many are asking about the possibility of making this an annual event.

Pledge Camp

University of Toledo—For Greeks on campus, the highlight of pledgship is a weekend known as "Pledge Camp." For the second consecutive year, Ohio Epsilon Pi Phis have played a major part in the planning and leadership of the weekend retreat for all fraternity and sorority pledges at a YMCA camp in Michigan.

Beth Gunther was co-director of the camp in the fall of 1978, while Phyllis O'Brien was co-director this last fall. Making up the counseling staff of sixteen active members were four Pi Phis—Kathy Demko, Karen Gunther, Lori Mitchell, and Cindy Robb—half of the girls' staff! Purpose of the weekend is to acquaint pledges with the Greek system from a Panhellenic point of view and to introduce them to the people they will be working with for the rest of the time they will be associated with the Greek system at UT.

Schenectady Panhel Celebrates 50 Years

by FLOWER SHELDON BUHRMASTER

In 1929 Louise Leavenworth Newkirk, Minnesota Alpha, along with twelve Pi Phi alumnae from different chapters throughout the country, hosted a tea at Mrs. Newkirk's home in Schenectady, N.Y. Alumnae of Kappa Kappa Gamma, Kappa Alpha Theta, Phi Omega Pi, Gamma Phi Beta, Alpha Phi, Chi Omega, Delta Zeta, Alpha Chi Omega, Delta Delta Delta, and Alpha Xi Delta were invited to attend. This was the beginning of the Panhellenic Association in Schenectady. From its beginning it has grown from forty-five members to over 250 at times.

This year the association celebrated its 50th anniversary with a dance held to benefit the Louise L. Newkirk Scholarship Fund, started in June 1946. Each June since then from one to five young people have been helped with scholarships. Thus far 105 have received aid.

Both of Louise Newkirk's daughters, Virginia Newkirk Cain and Muriel Newkirk Frost, alumnae of New York Alpha, are active members of the Schenectady Alumnae Club and the Panhellenic Association. They were honored guests at the dance held to honor their mother. Their mother was initiated into Pi Beta Phi in 1908 with Amy Burnham Onken's diamond pin. Miss Onken was Grand President of the Fraternity at the time.

Awarded St. Louis Achievement Honor

(The following article is excerpted from one written by Anita Buie Lamont for the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.)

Perhaps it was growing up as a doctor's daughter that made Joan Gundlach Ingham, Missouri Beta, unwilling to accept the fact that disease, illness, and pain cannot always be coped with or overcome.

For nearly 15 years, Mrs. Ingham has worked with the Kidney Foundation of Metropolitan St. Louis and Metro East. She has served on the board since its inception and served two years as its president. She has done everything to raise money, from hustling holiday wreaths to giving the contribution hard-sell to board chairmen of major companies. She knows the Kidney Foundation at the policy level, and more important, at the people level.

There are two distinct sides to this tireless community worker. The public Joan Ingham has made educating the community about kidney disease and the availability of care and treatment in St. Louis a crusade. The private Joan Ingham is more comfortable out of the limelight. She might entertain a child spending long hours each week on a kidney dialysis machine or offer comfort and hope to a kidney patient's family. For her many efforts, she has been named a Globe-Democrat Woman of Achievement in the category of Community Health.

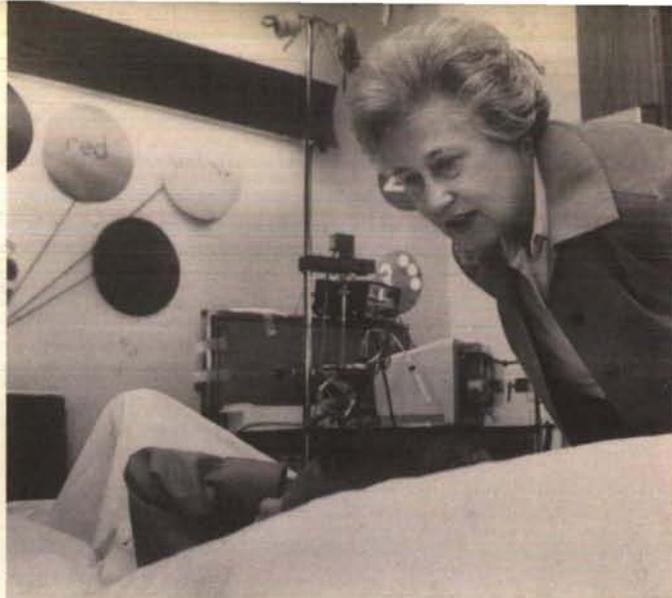

Mrs. Ingham's devotion to the fight against kidney disease actually began with her devotion to friends. When a childhood friend of Joan's, and her husband, best man at the Ingham's wedding, learned that their daughter Alice had nephrosis, Joan and Jim Ingham spent those agonizing first hours after the diagnosis in the St. Louis Children's Hospital with their friends.

"At that time there was no Kidney Foundation in St. Louis," said Mrs. Ingham. "And St. Louis desperately needed one! Dialysis treatment was available only to a few. The rest were dying."

The fledgling organization began with about 20 members. One of the hardest workers was Joan Ingham. Today, the Kidney Foundation of Eastern Missouri and Metro East has about 1,000 members. It has awarded research fellowships totaling hundreds of thousands of dollars, provided St. Louis Children's Hospital with the special kidney machines to start its children's dialysis center and enlightened the public about organ donations.

Joan majored in science at Washington University and worked for a while at DePaul Hospital as a medical technologist. Her career as a volunteer has always been as important to her as a salaried job. "More and more women today are career oriented," she said. "And I think it is important for women to work at something where there is a need. It's important to feel fulfilled, and I personally like the feeling that I get doing what I do. There are people who don't take time to care, and those people don't know what they are missing."

Joan Ingham has not missed much. She is a member of the Children's Hospital Auxiliary, has served on the board of

Lifeline, the organ donor register, and has been an active worker with the United Way and the Episcopal Alter Guild. She helped found the Pi Beta Phi Junior Alumnae Club, which established the Sign of the Arrow shop and staffed it with volunteers—a shop that gives nearly $25,000 each year to local charities alone.

"There comes a time when your part of the job is done and it's time to turn the reins over to young people with new ideas and plans," said Joan. She is spending more time at home with her husband, a retired certified public accountant.

Jim Ingham suffered a stroke last year, so changes have taken place in the lives of both Mr. and Mrs. Ingham during his recovery. "You summon inner strength and you go on," she said.

Her inner strength is apparent to others, including a 9-year-old kidney patient and Foundation Poster child who wrote of Joan Ingham, his friend:

"If it wasn't for Mrs. Ingham, I might not have a new kidney. She saw all of us kids waiting for kidneys and decided to help find a way to get the people of St. Louis to realize us kids had to have kidneys or would die. She helped me get a transplant.

"I remember she came to see me the day I was operated on. She had to stay out in the hall, but I saw her and she smiled."

Doing Unto Others . . .

Through Chapter Service Projects

WASHINGTON ALPHA pledges were busy this year making cookies and doing odd jobs in order to raise money for Pi Phi philanthropies and for the spring dance they sponsored honoring the graduating seniors. $150 was given to Fraternity philanthropies.

Maria Warfield and Sherry Welsh, PENNSYLVANIA EPSILON, danced all 48 hours of the Penn State Interfraternity Council dance marathon. Approximately $85,000 was contributed to the Four Diamonds Fund in Hershey, for children afflicted with leukemia.

Each year it is a tradition at KANSAS BETA to do singing Valentines. This is a big project to raise money for Arrowmont. The girls dress in red and white outfits and paint red hearts on their faces. Songs are sung in homes, dorms, fraternities, and sororities all over Manhattan. The girls set up a booth at the Union to sell the Valentines. Customers have a choice of five songs which are accompanied by dances. This is a popular project that is fun for the recipients as well as for the girls who make the deliveries.

MAINE ALPHA's Philanthropies Interest Group was super busy this semester. They made paper flowers to take to a local nursing home; held a Work-A-Thon on the University campus to benefit the Pine Tree Society for Handicapped Children & Adults; and supported foster child, Jamie, in Guatemala.

One Saturday in March, VERMONT BETAs put on their work clothes and worked throughout the city of Burlington earning money for philanthropies. Over $200 was raised in the event which has been sponsored for the last three semesters with growing success.

A Dance-A-Thon for the benefit of the Muscular Dystrophy Association was held at Washington University in February. MISSOURI BETA pledges chose this as their philanthropy. Wendi Dritz danced for 24 hours, while other pledges worked on the sidelines collecting money, serving food, and offering moral support and encouragement to the dancers.

Also working for MD were three actives and a pledge of VIRGINIA DELTA, where $26,000 was raised. Mary Henderson and Kim Spangler and their partners danced for 50 hours. Cindi Mulhern collected the pledge sheets and Merideth Tietje picked up the donated food to feed the dancers all weekend.

Angela Vigliotti, NEW YORK ALPHA, is chairman of the programming committee for the MD dance marathon at Syracuse University. She is responsible for the acquisition of all events, attractions, and entertainment for the marathon. Kristin Sunser and Tracy McGann are on the committee.

A different activity for MD was the annual ATO basketball tournament at Illinois State. ILLINOIS IOTAs sponsored the winning team, Sigma Phi Epsilon, and gave a party to celebrate their victory.

Arrowmont benefitted from a number of fund-raising projects. MICHIGAN BETA had a Valentine's Day flower sale and worked together to sell 500 red, white, and pink carnations. A portion of the money they raised went to cystic fibrosis also.

One of Baylor's traditions is the yearly Sing-Out when each sorority pledge class is presented in front of the student body and performs its pledge class songs. TEXAS ZETA pledges not only worked hard for Sing-Out, but they set up a shoe shine booth in front of the Student Union with all the profits going to Pi Phi philanthropies.

During Greek Week at the University of Kentucky, KENTUCKY BETA sponsored their annual softball tournament, called Spring Swing. All campus fraternities were invited to compete with proceeds going to Arrowmont.

SOUTH CAROLINA BETA's annual fund raising project

Each spring at Texas Christian University, campus clubs and organizations hold a variety of fund raising projects and drives to benefit a consolidated charity known as Campus Chest. Texas Delta held its annual "Have-a-date-a-by-Pi-Beta," a production patterned after the Dating Game, and raised over $350. Left, contestant Sheri Custer laughs at one of the bachelor's crazy reply. Below, three eligible (?) bachelors—Kevin, Mike, and Dave. Mike was the winner.

Karen Gustafson, New Mexico Beta, helps a foster child put together a kite. The chapter visited a local foster home and took toys and candy for all.

this year was done with the Theta Chis for the Heart Fund. They collected around $3,000.

Over 50 couples participated in the dance marathon at the University of Virginia, benefitting the Heart Association and the Big Brother/Sister programs. Lisa Manget, VIRGINIA EPSILON, and her partner, Sigma Pi Mark Falan, were on the floor for 30 hours and made the top three in the most spirited dancing contest.

ILLINOIS IOTA and Alpha Kappa Lambda at Illinois State sponsored the second annual Heart Fund Dance. The evening included games, prizes, drinks, and plenty of good music and dancing.

ILLINOIS IOTA was involved also in Chi Omega's March Madness Variety Show. This is a campus-wide project where all Greeks combine efforts to raise money for the St. Jude Midwest Affiliate. The chapter also won first place in the Alpha Kappa Lambda annual sorority softball tournament for the Kidney Foundation. Along with the team win, Pi Phi collected the most donations for the cause, and Sue Artemenko won the title and trophy as Most Valuable Player.

TEXAS ZETA held a fund-raising dance with Baylor Sigma Chis to raise money for Cerebral Palsy.

Valentine's Day was extra special for OREGON BETA this year. They had a party at a nearby nursing home. Over 50 older folks were entertained with songs, cookies, and, most important, conversation. One man who had dated a Pi Phi years ago, regaled the chapter with the song "Ring Ching Ching." He knew every word!

INDIANA ZETAs had great success in their project, the first annual "Pi Phi Plunge." Fraternity-sorority paired teams competed against each other and each fraternity sponsored a candidate for "Aquaman." The winner was determined by all-campus penny voting.

MISSOURI ALPHA raised money for philanthropies by sponsoring an Ugliest Man on Campus contest at Mizzou. Each vote cast cost a quarter, and the winning Beta Sigma Psi received a trophy, a sash, and a bouquet of onions.

INDIANA DELTA earned money with a successful car wash. They also joined with women from Lafayette nursing homes and enjoyed a turkey dinner at Thanksgiving. Several of the women were Pi Phi alumnae and had interesting stories to tell. At Christmas, the chapter joined with Pi Kappa Alpha and hosted a party for underprivileged children, with dinner, presents, caroling, and a visit from Santa. In December also, they paid a ransom of canned goods for the release of House Director, Dorothy Gall, kidnapped by Lambda Chi Alpha. Many individual efforts were made as well. Kathy Piccillo was actively involved in the Lafayette Little Brother and Sister Program, and Jeanne Novas does volunteer work in the Lafayette Home Hospital Emergency Room.

Little Kentucky Derby was a huge success at the University of Kentucky last spring. It is the major all-campus event of the spring semester and the only campus event in the U.S. with a hot air balloon race. KENTUCKY BETA Sharon Schraegle chaired the committee this year, with Judy Score, Laura Moore, and Donna Schuler as her assistants. All the proceeds from LKD go to a scholarship given by the University to an outstanding student.

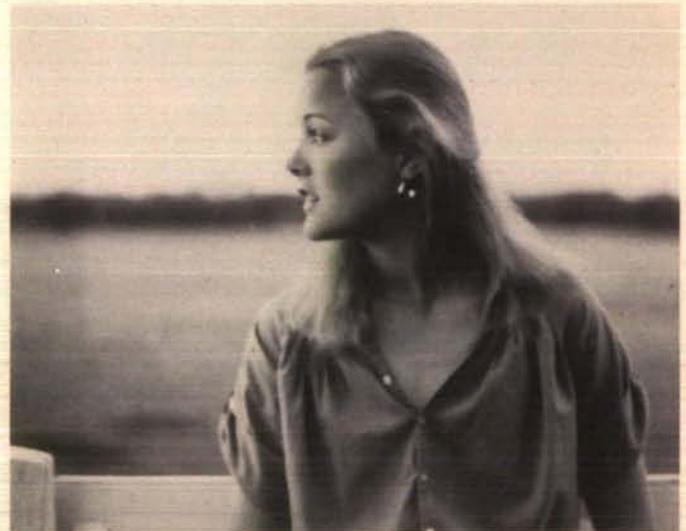

INDIANA EPSILON senior Cathy Lyall spent three weeks during January helping build a library for a school in the village of Proteccion in Honduras. The project was DePauw University sponsored as a part of the Winter Term program.

One of MISSISSIPPI ALPHA's most successful fund raising projects this spring was the "Double Dime a Dip Dinner." Each member made a dish of some kind, with each dip selling for 20¢. The variety of food included chicken, coleslaw, many casseroles, vegetables, and a great variety of desserts. It was not only profitable but fun.

Karen McAnnelly, KENTUCKY BETA, represented Pi Phi in SAE's first annual Miss Greek UK Beauty Pageant, given to raise funds for the summer Olympics.

VIRGINIA EPSILON and Pi Kappa Alpha ran 70 miles—from Richmond to Charlottesville—to raise money for the benefit of the Children's Rehabilitation Center in Charlottesville. Each mile was run by one or two Pi Phis and one PiKA brother. Contributions were collected on the University of Virginia campus and the surrounding community.

Elizabeth Jennings, Oklahoma Alpha, earned the title of Miss Knock-Out for gathering the most points by selling tickets and promoting attendance to the Sigma Phi Epsilon Interfraternity Boxing Tournament last November. The tournament benefitted the Cerebral Palsy Foundation.

Givin' For Givens

by ANNA GAVULA

Oklahoma Beta actives and alums are showing their support for their Pi Phi sister, Gina Givens, a sophomore who developed leukemia in January. Pi Beta Phi is helping with the costly medical expenses of her illness through the Emma Harper Turner Fund. This wonderful national support has been followed by support from her own chapter. Many activities and fund raising projects are under way to help Gina and her family.

A dance marathon entitled "Jive for Gina" was held in February to help raise money for the cause. Greek houses on the Oklahoma State campus entered pairs of contestants, with members of their houses, Stillwater residents, and merchants sponsoring them for the marathon.

The dance was held at the chapter house in the afternoon and resumed at a local night spot that evening. Everyone was invited to attend the marathon and dance along with the contestants. Donations were accepted at the door.

Community support was overwhelming. A food store donated doughnuts to be sold. Free cokes were provided. A sportswear store printed T-shirts and sold them at cost to help advertise the event. Phi Delta Theta provided the sound system free of charge, and a DU, Scott Morgan, offered his services as disc jockey.

Due to the wonderful support from Oklahoma Beta alums, neighboring Greek houses, and the Stillwater community, the marathon was a huge success, raising over $4,000 for the Gina Givens Fund.

Mississippi Beta raised $341 for the Kidney Foundation in conjunction with Sigma Chi Derby Day. They kidnapped the Ole Miss mascot, Johnny Reb, and covered the campus with ransom notes. The next day they blindfolded Johnny Reb, tied his hands, and took him all over campus collecting the ransom money.

In order to keep Gina constantly in our prayers, a prayer chain was set up within the chapter. Members volunteered to pray for fifteen minute intervals throughout an entire day.

The Oklahoma City Mother's Club has shown its support for Gina by sponsoring a drawing for a trip to Mexico. 5,000 one dollar tickets were in the drawing. Funds to finance the trip were donated by the club, so that all of the money from the drawing could be used for Gina.

The Gina Givens Trust Fund has been set up in order to combine all of the donations. This fund has been set up through the church so that all donations are tax deductible. Many Pi Phis have contributed by sending donations to the Gina Givens Fund, addressed to the Pi Phi House, 324 South Cleveland Avenue, Stillwater, Oklahoma 74074.

The thoughts and prayers of Oklahoma Beta are with Gina for a full, speedy recovery.

Put It All Together, It's Sue Bandura!

by ELIZABETH LOCHTE

What kind of person is interested in snow leopard research, Chinese cooking, has studied at the Eastman School of Music, is on the U.S. Equestrian Team, and has her radio broadcasting license—all at the tender age of 20? New York Gamma's own special Pi Phi, Sue Bandura!

These are only a few of the talents Sue shares with her Pi Phi sisters. Initiated last fall, she is already on Arrowboard, and is vice president of mental advancement.

Sue is from Rochester, N.Y., where she was on the soccer team in high school. Polo, gymnastics, swimming, cross-country skiing, marksmanship, and surfing on the shores of Lake Ontario also occupy Sue's athletic time.

Horses are a longtime love of Sue's. She has been riding for seventeen years and has shown since she was eight. She is a member of the United States Equestrian Team and belongs to the Western New York Dressage Association and the Genesee Valley Hunt Association.

The St. Lawrence University campus knows the voice of Sue Bandura well. She is a DJ and music director for KSLU, the campus radio station, and has her FCC class 2 broadcast license. Musically, Sue is extremely talented. She has been playing the piano since five, and has had instruction at the Eastman School of Music. She also plays the trumpet and guitar. She played ragtime music for the chapter's Western theme party.

In her free time, Sue enjoys sewing, Chinese cooking, and has exhibited her paintings and graphics. Will this Pi Phi ever stop? She plans to major in biology next year to work in exotic wildlife management and research. She hopes to land a job with the San Diego Zoo or the Woodland Park Zoo in Seattle and eventually work with large animals in Australia. Summers will find her working in the Seneca Park Zoo in Rochester where she has worked on snow leopard research and endangered species breeding. She also is a member of the National-International Wildlife Association and American Association of Zoo Keepers.

Utah Alpha Celebrates Golden Anniversary

Utah Alpha celebrated its 50th anniversary on the University of Utah campus by holding an "Old Fashioned Tea" at the chapter house on October 6.

Active members and alumnae were invited to attend the celebration and to welcome Jean Wirths Scott, Grand President, and Kaye Reeves Lords, Sigma Alumnae Province President.

The birth of Utah Alpha was an eighteen year struggle. In the beginning a small group of women gathered together on the campus and called themselves "College Women." In 1897 they changed their name to Gamma Phi, thus forming the first sorority on the campus. By 1910, the student body had reached 800 and there were two national fraternities on the campus, the other being Theta Epsilon, now known as Chi Omega.

The first Old Fashioned Tea was held the summer of 1929. That summer a train, filled with Pi Phi delegates to the national Convention in Pasadena, stopped in Salt Lake City to pick up the Gamma Phi delegates. When the train stopped in Utah, it was met by the Mayor, the Governor, and by officials of the Mormon Church. Delegates were given a tour of the city ending with an Old Fashioned Tea in their honor.

At the Convention, the Gamma Phis received their charter and became Utah Alpha chapter of Pi Beta Phi. In September, 1929, 57 Gamma Phi actives and alumnae were initiated as Pi Phis. Shortly thereafter 125 more Gamma Phis were initiated.

Co-chairmen of the 1979 tea were Geraldine McCarthy Clark and Jean Deckman White, along with chapter president Sue Brandlin. Alumnae club president Bonnie Jeanne Huish joined in welcoming the Mayor, the Governor, and officials from the L.D.S. Church. Guests were able to enjoy historical displays and Arrowcraft items at the tea.

Swap Houses

University of Michigan—Ever wonder what living in another sorority would be like? The girls at Michigan Beta did, and initiated a sister-swap. It all began when adventurous Pi Phi Liz Burnham switched houses with the Chi Omega president—for two nights and three days. They made a pact not to return to their own houses during that time, and to fulfill each other's functions in the house. It included the Chi O chairing a meeting for Liz, and Liz filling in as Chi O president.

Both girls said the switch was beneficial. They got to know each other's house, meet and go out with new people, and pick up ideas. They also found it interesting to see the way different houses are run and the different rules each has.

Panhellenic at Michigan thought this was such a good idea that they are going to have a Panhel sister-swap program, where two to four girls from each house would go to another randomly selected house for a few days. Maybe campus sister-swap will be next!

Alum Club Formed In Traverse Bay Area

Over the past few years, several friends living in the Traverse City, Mich., area discovered that they shared a common Pi Phi sisterhood. Two former Michigan Beta roommates, Janet Wickham Gregory and Leslie Ferguson Sibery, felt strongly that an alumnae group should be formed. Both Janet and Leslie, busy mothers and homemakers, are not new to community activities. Janet has served in many organizations, and, in recognition of her efforts, she was chosen Traverse City's 1977 Outstanding Young Woman of the Year. Leslie has been equally involved in the community.

The first get-together was held last fall at the home of Barbara Waechter Good. It was a most enjoyable evening spent making new friends among the active and involved Pi Phis living in the area. They reminisced about college days and sorority life and enthusiastically gave voice to many traditional Pi Phi songs. Slight campus variations and somewhat inaccurate memories created some rather unusual renditions. Such a strong spirit of sisterhood was felt by all that they officially became the Traverse Bay Area Pi Beta Phi Alumnae Club on October 24, 1978.

As its first major project, the club sponsored a city-wide Panhellenic luncheon. Over 100 area alumnae gathered for a friendly and nostalgic afternoon. Name tags were made in each fraternity's color and badge shape and they provided an interesting challenge to memories. Individual lists giving the names and addresses of each sorority's area alumnae were posted and distributed to interested women. Pi Phis hope that they have planted seeds that will blossom into the formation of other alumnae groups. Happily, a tradition has been started and Alpha Gamma Delta will sponsor a Panhellenic luncheon and fashion show next spring.

The Pi Phis of Traverse City are happy to be active and involved, once again, with their Fraternity.

Western Honors London Superstar

by LOUISE LITTLE SLATER

Jessie MacFarlane, amid a standing ovation, received a degree of Doctor of Laws, honoris causa, from the University of Western Ontario on October 28, 1978.

Jessie was one of the founders of Ontario Beta in 1944 and is a loyal supporter of Pi Phi, acting as secretary of the house corporation for 24 years and generally rescuing us from many dilemmas!

Jessie received her B.A. in 1924 in Honors English and History and continued on to receive her Physical Education degree at the Ontario College of Education. She was named "Outstanding Teacher" by the Ontario Council of Teachers in 1969, following her retirement as Head of the English Department from South Secondary School. At that time South dedicated a "Tostal" to Jessie ("Tostal" is a Gaelic word meaning "gathering place for poets and artists"). She has been involved in varied activities at Western, the most outstanding being the first woman to win a senior Athletic "W"; the first woman president of the U.W.O. Alumni Association in 1955-56, in which capacity she addressed convocation in 1956; a member of the U.W.O. Senate; and in 1970 was appointed the first woman member of the Board of Governors.

The House Corporation felt these honours were obviously going to stick so it was time to pay tribute to Jessie ourselves! After the Homecoming game in the fall of 1979, we held an Open House to honour Jessie and to present her with a scroll outlining the "Dr. Jessie MacFarlane Bursary" at U.W.O. for a 3rd or 4th year Honours English student.

It was a delightful occasion at which the alums reminisced and the actives soaked up the stories of the past. We also presented Jessie with a gold Pi Beta Phi Greek letter pendant so she would know this had really taken place, together with a red leather book containing the names of all those who had contributed to the bursary along with many of the notes received to wish her well. At the end of the book we added pictures that were taken that day. For the house, we hung green plants for the living room, with the promise that Jessie didn't have to water them! Now we are watching to see what new avenues our superstar will take!

Nine Sparkled In Mardi Gras Ball

by LYNN MADDOX

1980 was a spectacular year for Louisiana Alpha Pi Phis. "Way down yonder in New Orleans," nine lucky Newcomb Pi Phis were chosen to sparkle in Carnival balls.

The Carnival season in New Orleans is marked by parades, parties, and masked balls. Louisiana Alpha Pi Phis celebrated the return of the holiday by participating in all of the colorful festivities. This year's Mardi Gras was especially exciting because the 1979 Mardi Gras was cancelled by the New Orleans Police Strike.

Two Newcomb Pi Phis, Sedley Alpaugh and Melissa Roddy, served as maids in the Elves of Oberon court and four Newcomb Pi Phis reigned over their respective courts at traditional Mardi Gras balls. On January 26, Carolyn Loria reigned over the court of Osiris and on January 30, Maclyn Le Bourgeois was crowned queen of Achaeans. The culmination of all Carnival events was on Mardi Gras day, February 19, when Elizabeth Burke was crowned queen of Carnival and Joanne Fenner reigned as queen of Comus. Greta Acomb, Tina Gibert, and Sarah Sharp were presented to the queen and king of Carnival before the traditional meeting of the two courts, Rex and Comus.

To Louisiana Alpha Pi Phis, Mardi Gras is a traditional festival, but to those nine, lucky angels, 1980 will be a season that will sparkle forever.

Elizabeth Burke, Louisiana Alpha, reigned as Queen of Carnival during the 1980 Mardi Gras.

large and small contributions. All are received with heartfelt thanks from your neighbors in the Northern Library Systems. The greatest library users, the children of the North, are the grateful recipients of your generosity and caring for the project.

If a club or chapter desires more information about Arrow in the Arctic, a slide show is available through Mrs. Frank Cox, Director of Alumnae Activities, 13792 Claremont St., Westminster, Calif.; or from Mrs. Peter M. Hayes, chairman, Canadian Philanthropies, 22744 123rd Ave., Maple Ridge, British Columbia, Canada.

These school children, above, like all the 750 Inuit people in Tuktoyatuk, are quick with a friendly smile. There is a tiny one-room library here which features a children's story-telling hour during winter months. Below, school children in the Inuvik, Northwest Territories Public Library, sharpen their reading comprehension skills in the Pi Phi funded Reading Stimulation program.

Miss Olivia's Pin Is Treasurers' Heritage

by SUSIE MITCHELL

There is a new tradition at Missouri Alpha in honor of a very special alumna. While at Convention 1979, Missouri Alpha delegates Julie Wiens and Erin O'Flaherty met Olivia Smith Moore, fondly known as "Miss Olivia." The three of them became quite close during Convention week and kept up correspondence after returning home. In one of the letters, Miss Olivia enclosed her pin for the chapter treasurer to wear. The pin was made by Edwards, Haldeman and Sons, as Miss Olivia was initiated before Balfour was the official jeweler. There is a diamond on the shaft and a smaller one in the chain. Still attached is the Grand Council guard from her term as Grand Treasurer.

Miss Olivia was initiated into Missouri Alpha in 1912. She has two granddaughters, Kathy Unsworth Stockwell and Peggy Unsworth, who are Missouri Alpha initiates.

Miss Olivia's pin adds a special meaning to the office of treasurer and the history of Missouri Alpha. She wrote in her letter that "next to the president, the treasurer has more work to do and receives less recognition than any other major officer in the chapter." The letter has been filed in the archives to be read every installation ceremony, so the chapter ever may be reminded of this very special Pi Beta Phi—Olivia Smith Moore.

The Angelita's Cookbook was featured on television during the 1979 Pi Beta Phi National Convention in Phoenix when Jackie Berger, president of the Camelback A.C., cooked her famous green chile casserole on the air.

Special Cookbook On National Sale

Tacos, guacamole, gazpacho, huevos rancheros, tamales, frijoles, enchiladas, pinatas, and homemade root beer . . . you can have it all and a commemorative item from the Pi Beta Phi Convention in Phoenix too. The Angelita's (Little Angel) Cookbook of Mexican recipes and party ideas is now being offered to all Pi Phis by the Camelback and Phoenix Alumnae Clubs.

The 1979 National Convention of Pi Beta Phi was held in Phoenix and the hard working ladies of the two alumnae clubs who were responsible for hosting the Convention also found time to put together a book of special Mexican recipes.

The Southwest is famed for its regional food, and many of the recipes are "Americanized" versions of spicier Mexican dishes. A glossary of Spanish terms is included which, when memorized, will make anyone an instant expert in a Mexican restaurant!

Alumnae clubs or chapters may purchase quantities of Angelita's Cookbook for resale. Special Pi Phi price is only $3.50 plus $.50 for handling. Club or individual orders should be mailed to Phoenix Pi Beta Phi Alumnae Clubs, 1025 West Fairway Drive, Mesa, Arizona 85201, with checks made payable to the Phoenix Pi Beta Phi Alumnae Clubs.

Campus Unites To Help Frosh Leukemia Victim

by SHEILA CONSAUL

There was a new rage on Bradley University's campus spring semester. It wasn't roller disco, skateboards, top-siders, or even the winning basketball team. It was a deeper concern. Call it a fund, a philanthropy, a charity, or just call it Gordie.

Gordie Holler, a freshman at Bradley, was stricken with a rare form of leukemia, aplastic anemia, and is undergoing treatment at the University of Minnesota Hospital. The entire campus banded together to help raise $25,000 for the Gordie Holler Fund Drive, and this effort included the Illinois Theta Pi Phis.

Pi Phis attended meetings on the Gordie Holler situation to keep abreast of various money-making schemes and learn what other organizations were doing for the fund drive.

Activities across campus to add to the fund increased steadily. Proceeds from both the Activities Council of Bradley University and the Council for Women's Awareness movie presentations of the "Rocky Horror Picture Show" and "Between Men" have been contributed. Profits from dormitory doughnut sales have been counted, along with the Bradley Food Service's annual steak night dinner profits. The annual Campus Carnival charity fundraiser donated a portion of its money, and collections at the Newman Religious Center on campus were included.

Greeks also did their share. All proceeds from Sigma Chi Derby Days went to Gordie, and Panhellenic sold green carnations for St. Patrick's Day. The Pi Phis raised more money through the carnation sales, than did all other sororities.

A Bradley basketball game was dedicated to Gordie and donation canisters are sprinkled all over the University for added dollars.

Bradley students hope their work in the past and future for Gordie will bring the $25,000 goal a bit closer to realization. For a fellow student in need of help, Pi Phis are proud to give their time, energy, and money.

Memphis Beauty Is Miss Congeniality

by JANET CONDRA

When time came for Tennessee Delta to elect their representative for the 1980 Miss Memphis State Pageant there was no question as to who would best fulfill this position. Donna Hatley, a very active and respected Pi Phi, not only in her sorority, but on campus and in the community, was chosen to represent her sisters in the pageant held in February.

A truly talented and vivacious girl, Donna worked hard and attended long, exhausting practices in preparation for the pageant. As her Pi Phi sisters supported her from the audience, Donna came on stage, not only beautiful and poised, but with confidence. And she had every reason to be, as she walked off stage that night named Miss Congeniality, Overall Talent Winner, and First Alternate to Miss Memphis

State. Donna was honored by being named Overall Talent Winner and First Alternate because she was certainly faced with stiff competition. She felt that Miss Congeniality was the nicest title of all because the contestants had voted on this award themselves.

Donna Hatley, Tennessee Delta

Is Honored By Pueblo AAUW

Dorothy Hoag Rawlings, Kansas Beta, was honored in a surprise announcement by the Pueblo (Colo.) Branch, American Association of University Women, during their annual meeting.

The Pueblo Branch designated Dorothy as its 1980 AAUW Educational Foundation Honoree. Proceeds from the event, which attracted more than 300 people from southeastern Colorado, were given to the Foundation in her name.

A long time AAUW member in Las Animas and Pueblo, Mrs. Rawlings was cited for her contributions to AAUW and the community. She has been active in Pueblo historical groups, including the Pueblo and Beulah Historical Societies, Pueblo Metropolitan Museum, Arkansas Valley chapter DAR, Colonial Dames, and Pueblo Historic Business Association.

She is former chairman of the county hospital board, a Grey Lady, and former member of the board of directors of the Pueblo YWCA and Pueblo Branch, AAUW.

Dorothy Hoag Rawlings

She was honored in March at the annual meeting of Pueblo United Way as an outstanding contributor to the work of United Way agencies. She also is a member of the University of Southern Colorado Foundation.

The Foundation has given 2,080 grants to women in the United States and an additional 1,647 grants to women in foreign countries.

Plan Rush In Chapter Visit

by SUE MCKOWN

In January, Pennsylvania Zeta preceded its first formal rush with a well-planned rush retreat. The Pi Phis remained at school to plan for rush while most of the campus went home over the five day term break. One of the plans on the agenda included a visit to West Virginia Alpha at West Virginia University.

Thirty-five girls piled into cars on a Friday afternoon for a one hour ride that seemed to take forever. When they finally arrived, they were greeted by a house full of excited Pi Phis who had plans of their own.

The Penn. Zetas were treated to a Cooky-Shine, West Virginia style, and the two chapters had a super time exchanging songs and eating goodies. Afterwards, they all ran outside and serenaded Morgantown, W. Va., with a rousing chorus of Pi Phi songs. The remainder of the night was spent talking about ideas and plans for both chapters.

Since many of the Alphas had attended the initiation and installation of Pennsylvania Zeta at Washington and Jefferson, both old and new acquaintances were struck quickly, and the new Pi Phis soon learned that the bonds of Pi Phi made talking easy.

Win Speech Honors

DePauw junior, Sheila Horn, Indiana Epsilon, captured top honors in dramatic interpretation in regional competition of the 1980 American Forensic Associations' Individual Events tournament.

Sheila placed first in the region for her interpretation of an excerpt from Jack Heifner's play "Vanities."

Sheila traveled to Illinois State University in March to compete with students from Illinois, Ohio, Michigan, and Indiana.

In mid-April, Sheila competed in the Nationals, at the Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs.

Dallas Junior Group Sponsors Symposium

The Dallas Junior Day Group of Pi Beta Phi celebrated the International Year of the Child 1979 by sponsoring A Symposium on Parenting. The two day event was held in September and was attended by more than 300 participants.

Dr. John T. Gossett of the Timberlawn Foundation of Dallas gave the Keynote address. He spoke on "Successful Marriage: The Cornerstone of a Healthy Family."

The day sessions allowed ticket holders to attend any three of seven discussion groups. Well-known Dallas physicians, educators, and laypersons spoke on "Understanding the Adolescent," "The Arts for Children in Dallas," "Children and Sexuality," "The Family and Creativity," "Learning Disabilities: Detection and Special Help," "The Total Development of the Young Child," and "Trauma: Helping a Child Deal with Divorce, Illness, and Death."

The proceeds from ticket sales went to the Ronald McDonald House, now being built near the Dallas Children's Medical Center. This facility, when completed, will be a home away from home for families of children with life-threatening illness. Junior Group President Gayle Hargrave presented the check at the Ronald McDonald House groundbreaking ceremonies in October.

Those who attended the Symposium came away enthusiastic and well-informed. It was an exciting endeavor to offer these learning experiences to Dallas parents.

Morale Boosted During Mid-Term

A week midway through the semester set aside to promote scholarship does serve as an incentive and morale booster for the Kansas State Pi Phis. From February 20th to the 27th, the Kansas Beta scholarship committee was busy posting signs, preparing treats, and organizing the banquet for the end of the week.

In the phone booth was a reminder to think "pi" or 3.14, and higher, while another sign enumerates the benefits of brains over beauty. Although serious studying is advantageous, occasional breaks and rewards are necessary.

On Monday and Tuesday nights, drawings were held in the study hall, and if the girl were present, she received a pizza. Also, studiers were provided with various snacks, ranging from party mix to celery sticks.

The week culminated on Wednesday with a special dinner and guest speaker. After a delicious meal, the speaker talked to the chapter on valuing education for its personal worth and avoiding being blinded by the systems and the marks. He also commended the chapter for its academic achievements as a group.

Nancy Jones Funkhouser, a member of the Valley of the Moon Alumnae Club (Calif.), has been receiving recent recognition for her outstanding hand weaving, and her designs have been displayed in exhibitions, university libraries, and galleries. Wool and synthetic fiber tapestries, woven in distinctive, unique, original patterns, with myriad variations of hue and texture, are Nancy's trademarks.

Oregon Beta participated in basketball for the first time this season, and placed second in the sorority division. Front: Coach Tod Thomas. Middle: Pamela Thomas, Bobbi Brown, Candi Clyne. Back: Sue Harding, Marie Anderson, Dawn Hartman, Tricia Coats.

Pin Given To Chapter As Scholarship Award

On April 7, 1900, Louise Claflin Hunt was initiated into the Massachusetts Alpha chapter.

A few months ago Massachusetts Alpha received a very old and beautiful jeweled arrow pin that once belonged to Louise. Her daughter, Dr. Ruth Seabury, sent the pin accompanied by a letter stating that it had been her mother's request to retire the arrow as a scholarship pin for Mass. Alpha, to be worn by the active member with the highest grade point average. Dr. Seabury also enclosed some photographs of her mother and Massachusetts Alpha, taken on the night of her mother's initiation.

Elizabeth Ann Ramirez was the first to hold this new scholastic honor for the chapter. Elizabeth is a dual degree candidate for graduation majoring in both social work and psychology, and Massachusetts Alpha's vice president of social advancement.

It is with regret that Grand Council of Pi Beta Phi has officially withdrawn its Wisconsin Beta Colony from Beloit College, effective March 15, 1980. Pi Beta Phi's decision a year ago to return to the campus proved to be premature and the likelihood of a changed student attitude in the immediate future is not realistic.

The colony of eight young ladies has been encouraged to remain as a local organization. Perhaps in that way they will grow in number and find an accepted place for themselves in Beloit student life.

Lynda Lee Gwaltney, Texas Gamma, is the Pi Kappa Alpha Calendar Dream Girl for the month of August. Lynda was last year's Sigma Chi Derby Doll and is on the Dean's List at Texas Tech for the fourth consecutive semester.

Manages Blue Devil Team

by CHERYL BONDY

Every day for the past three years, Elizabeth Cozart has gone to men's basketball practice and games at Duke University. No, she's not on the team, but she contributes her talent in a very special way. She's manager of the famous Blue Devil team of the ACC!

Elizabeth's job involves "running errands for coaches, setting up things for practice (gatorade, towels, jump ropes, etc.), working at home and away games taking stats, supplying towels and drinks," and generally overseeing the Duke bench to "make sure the players are comfortable" and have everything they need.

Elizabeth has been an ACC fan all of her life and enjoys being a part of ACC basketball on the inside. She truly enjoys her job and explains: "I've met so many great people all over and being manager gives me a chance to contribute something and be a part of Duke basketball." And, as everybody at Duke knows, Elizabeth is a crucial part of the program.

Even being a fan at a Duke basketball game is exciting. The rest of the Pi Phis enjoy going to the games and seeing Elizabeth taking charge behind the bench. Even more exciting is watching a game on TV and having the camera man flash his lens on Elizabeth. There is always a group of Pi Phis watching who scream, "There's Elizabeth!!!"

Alum Club Was Surrogate Family

The Seattle Alumnae Club had a brief but rewarding association this past year with a sister from South Dakota that has resulted in lasting friendship and love. Sue Sonnek, South Dakota Alpha, joined the Seattle Club in 1979 shortly after her arrival in that city where she had taken a position as a trust officer for Rainier Bank. Sue, a lawyer, immediately consented to be treasurer for the club, and with her charm and warmth, was soon contributing more than her share to activities.

At a committee meeting for the Arrowcraft sale in October, Sue surprised the Pi Phis present by announcing her engagement and passing a candle around the luncheon table, delighting the alums who had not had that pleasure for many years.

In a strange city, with no intimate friends, her Pi Phi sisters served as family with enthusiasm. After a round of entertainment and showers, Sue was married to Roy L. Collins III, of Burke, Va., where she will take the Virginia bar exam and resume practice.

The Seattle Alumnae Club regrets the brevity of her stay in the West, but treasures the affirmation of Pi Phi sisterhood that Sue brought it, and speaks fondly of "our Sue."

Zodie Lavender, Alabama Beta, was crowned Miss Soya at the 1980 Alabama statewide farmers' soybean convention. She was judged on beauty, poise, and speaking ability. Along with her title, she received $200, a silver platter, and a trip to New Orleans.

Two South Carolina Betas have been very active on the Clemson campus this year. Janice Murphy, left, is Panhellenic president as well as representing Pi Phi in campus pageants. Laura Coy, chapter president, is a Rally Cat (basketball halftime dancer) and a Yearbook Beauty.

All-House Walkout Is Productive

by BARB MORRIS

Walkout has always been an exciting event for pledge classes, but it is even more fun for an entire chapter. The Missouri Alpha chapter took an all-house walkout from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., January 26, 1980, at the Community United Methodist Church.

To begin, the chapter met in interest groups to discuss various aspects of their group. Many interesting ideas came out of these meetings. For instance, the Alumnae Relations Committee decided to start a newspaper to be sent to all Missouri Pi Phi alums. Also, the Rush and Music Committee decided to design a new skit for rush week.

The girls divided into random groups to discuss some of the basic ideas of sisterhood, how it could be improved, and other ideas of involvement. One group came up with an idea to improve sisterhood simply by having room change more often, so that people would get a chance to live with more people and get to know their sisters better.

Soon it was time for lunch and the girls gathered in pledge classes for an indoor picnic. After a lot of singing and laughter, interest groups were formed again to finish discussing the ideas that they had begun in the first meeting.

Finally, the chapter met with their pledge classes again to discuss business, such as walk-in dinners. The day ended with a house meeting where everyone shared all of the new ideas. After more songs the chapter left with an excited outlook for a new semester and feeling a little closer to all of the sisters of Pi Beta Phi.

Dayna Dubrow, California Gamma, had the female lead in one of U.S.C.'s four major production plays during the year. Dayna, a freshman, received positive reviews for her portrayal of Nicola in the School of Fine Arts production "Cilty Sugar."

The Pink and Red Blues

by BETSY CAMPBELL, Traveling Graduate Counselor

I keep hearing a high-pitched sound. A far-away jet, flying over my home in Tacoma? It is regular now, then, farther away; it repeats and repeats. But in those quiet, two-second intervals, it is so easy to slip back to Tacoma. I am home. I am in my old, familiar bed. In a few minutes my mother will holler down the stairs, "Betsy, aren't you up yet?"

One eye opens. 8:15 a.m. The other eye opens. Unfamiliar surroundings. Red luggage everywhere I look. Where am I? Then I remember, somewhere Southern, somewhere warm and humid. I can tell because my hair is moist. 8:15? That's only fifteen minutes to get ready for breakfast.

Waking up with fifteen minutes to spare is the Traveling Graduate Counselor's closest approximation to the Indy 500. Those familiar undereye circles stare back in the mirror. Teeth feel fur-coated; no time to wash face and brush them last night. It was too late for anything: it was too late to be up typing a report, too late for a 2:00 a.m. popcorn break, too late when your favorite chapter member decided to come in for a final cigarette and to discuss the date from which she just returned. It was too late when the Phi Delt serenaded at 3:15 a.m., ringing the doorbell which rings by my room.

8:15 is early. But at 8:30 I know I'll be there, square and neat for the world. I'll wear that outfit for the next 14 hours, so this is my one chance to make sure it's up to par. That one outfit will take me through six meetings with chapter officers, to a Dean of Students meeting, chapter dinner, and introductions to as many as 40 people during the course of the day.

Meanwhile, another cold, communal shower in the second floor bathroom.

At 8:30 a.m. my breakfast escort arrives, all smiles and nerves. This is perhaps the most important meeting of the day. I know she'll be asked every hour from then on, "What is she like?" "Is she nice?" One "no" to that second question will be a barrier I might not have time to overcome.

At 8:55, I have five minutes to prepare for my first meeting. I look up from brushing my teeth to see a young, night-gown-clad woman staring at me. "Who are you?" is written all over her face. I'm feeling nice. I take the first step. "I'm Betsy Campbell, the Traveling Graduate Counselor that's visiting." She doesn't introduce herself. Maybe the Phi Delt kept her up, too. "The who?" she asks.

Each meeting is a game of inner tennis. I am interested not only in meeting chapter officers, but the young women who hold the offices. Within each of us are defenses. We hold to the predictable, the steady. To some, new ideas are a threat to be cherished. How each officer will respond to new ideas is a reflection of her personality. A few are receptive, but more listen with blank expressions. Part of my ability to succeed with the chapter will rest in my ability to win their trust. Until then, she will want to hide flaws from me. But so long as the problems are hidden, my hands are tied.

In a show of manners, an officer may cordially nod her head throughout my conversation with her. She seems to agree. Later I may find out to the contrary. I have to seek out her point of view, assure her that I welcome ideas contrary to my own.

A few women are closed completely to the idea of change.

They comment, "That won't work here," or "We tried that five years ago and it didn't work."

Being a TGC therefore consists of: perceiving problems, raising them in a constructive manner, elevating the esteem of a group to the point they believe they can overcome any obstacles in their way, and then constantly encouraging and caring as they try.

I check my watch. My mind has been drifting. I have a comment that I meant to interject while the officer was talking. I can't remember if I said it or not. Perhaps I said it to the VP Social I met yesterday.

Lunch conversation is directed to me. Sherri (also a TGC) and I estimate that on the average, a series of ten questions is asked of us by 15 people each day. They rarely vary in phraseology or in order. They begin with "Where are you from?" and end with "Don't you just love your job?"

The last one is the clincher. We do love our jobs, but it's so hard to find new ways to describe it fifteen times a day, seven days a week. It's also a little aggravating when it takes this track: "Your job sounds like so much fun. You mean you get paid just to travel around the country and visit Pi Phis? And that's all you do??" Yes, that's all. Just.

Some statistics: at fifteen times a day, ten questions to a series, we give almost memorized answers 150 times daily. Court weekends and that's 1,050 times a week.

At 4:00 o'clock I'm starting to feel a little sticky. My mouth is getting dry. I have fifteen minutes until my next meeting. My conscience says I could write the thank-you notes I owe the last chapter. Instead, I just sit there. The silence is lovely.

During chapter dinner, more questions, but the chapter is relaxing more. It's getting easier to ask them about themselves and to get more back than a two-word replay.

I glow when someone remembers me in the halo box. When a chapter says thank you, all the early alarms, the recurring questions, the meetings that run together in a blur suddenly seem unimportant.

Then you hear it in the minutes: "The TGC is coming next week. Everyone, please be nice to her."

Four seats down, a member is reading my lips as I recite the ritual. I know she isn't going to remember the creed. Thankfully, I didn't make a mistake. This time. At every chapter meeting, I think someone is assigned to read the TGC's lips.

At 10 p.m. I have a few minutes to myself. And a mound of paper work. And then there's popcorn at 2:00 a.m. And a visitor soon thereafter. Maybe the Phi Delt will serenade again tonight.

Forget washing and brushing my teeth tonight. Too tired.

They say tomorrow's a new day. TGCs say each day has its secret joys and successes, but the days are not so different. You can put stock in the questions that will be asked. You can count on the curious eyes. You can even bargain that you'll be more mature after one more day in this position than you could have imagined one year ago. But the days are a little like a watercolor. As Sherri says, "You can't tell where the red ends and the pink starts."

Home Economist Is Company First

by BETH BARKER

Take one gourmet cook, combine with one growing corporation, add a splash of creativity and a mountain of Pi Phi quality, and the result is Carol Hacker, Ohio Alpha, Anchor Hocking Corporations' first home economist.

Within a few short months of internship with Anchor Hocking, Carol has designed a corporation test kitchen, including cost estimates and material specifications; has tested and evaluated hundreds of products, and has advised the management as to future product changes.

A 1979 graduate in home economics education, Carol has fully developed her pioneer position and plans to continue as a home economist with a diversified food manufacturer.

A 1978 ABO and Margaret Deppen Outstanding Greek Leadership Award winner, Carol served as Pi Phi treasurer, and vice president of the Ohio University Student American Home Economics Association. She chaired many committees within the chapter. She also received academic honors including Dean's List, Mortar Board, Phi Upsilon Omicron, Kappa Delta Pi, and Laurel Key.

Carol Hacker, Ohio Alpha

Is TV Intern

by SUE SARBER

Whether it's writing news and weather, operating a camera, or managing the floor, West Virginia Alpha Pi Phi Lynn Hyatt is right at home in a television studio. A junior in broadcast journalism, Lynn works as an intern for WWVU-TV, a public television station owned by West Virginia University.

Lynn works on "The Mountain Scene Tonight," a half hour program featuring news of northern West Virginia. All her work so far has been behind the scenes.

"My goal is to get some air work as a reporter and an anchor woman," she said.

That goal is getting closer. Lynn has had two air auditions which were videotaped for the producer to view.

Lynn is not a newcomer to broadcasting. Last summer she was a news reporter for WLMD radio in Laurel, Md. During the school year she moonlighted as a DJ for a local disco.

Eleanor Wilson, Tennessee Beta, was featured in the winter in an article in the Commodore basketball program. Eleanor has been swimming for 16 years and diving for 12 years and is a member of the Vanderbilt diving team. She recently competed in the National Diving Competition in Pittsburgh as a result of her outstanding diving performance at Regionals several weeks before.

Club Helps With Special Christmas

Illinois Eta Pi Phis were treated to a special Christmas this year, thanks to a very special Pi Phi Alumnae Club.

When Millikin Pi Phis returned to the chapter house after Thanksgiving break, there was magic in the air! Candy canes filled the entrance hall, and gingerbread men were piled high on a cookie stand in the date room. A Nativity scene and fresh pine branches heralded the approach of Christmas. Angels were everywhere, and the atmosphere was filled with warmth and love! There was also a huge box of Christmas cookies just waiting to be eaten.

But that was not the end of the wonderful bag of treats the alums had in store. The following Saturday the chapter had a tree-trimming party with them, and they entertained with a 50's rush skit. This was followed by punch and cookies, and a chance to get better acquainted. That evening was the annual Christmas dance at the chapter house.

Thanks to the alums, the house was beautiful, and the Illinois Eta Pi Phis enjoyed a wonderful Christmas with them.

Is Press Aide

Leesa Hook, North Carolina Beta, spent the first semester of her senior year at Duke in Washington, D.C., as a press aide to Jody Powell in the White House press office. Leesa, who was graduated this spring with a degree in Public Policy Studies, was in D.C. from September through December, 1979, getting first hand experience in the area of communications and politics.

Leesa has high aspirations for a career in politics or law. She has been awarded a scholarship to attend the Institut des Etudes Internationales in Geneva, Switzerland, where she will get her masters degree in international law.

Before starting her program in the fall, Leesa will be going this summer to Switzerland where she hopes to work through the Institut at the United Nations in Geneva, as well as do some traveling.

Tour Soviet In Interim

by KATHY ANN PRESUTTI

Five members of Pennsylvania Zeta spent their January intersession abroad in conjunction with courses they were taking at Washington and Jefferson College. Jeanie Howard and Suzette Holiday, spent their intersession touring the Soviet Union. Their itinerary included visiting Moscow, Kiev, and Leningrad. Many museums, historical sites, and theatre and ballet performances were attended. Jeanie and Suzette found Soviet citizens to be very friendly, even inviting the girls to their homes for first-hand cultural exchange.

Jeanie and Suzette were very impressed with some aspects of the U.S.S.R., such as the national treasures from the czarest period, the unique architecture, the vast art collections, and Moscow's efficient subway with murals, chandeliers, mosaics, marble floors, and stained glass panels. However, they were certain that the old axiom, "It's a nice place to visit but . . ." applies to the Soviet Union, especially after they realized how lucky and proud they were to be Americans.

While Jeanie and Suzette were visiting the Soviet Union, Lynne Brodell, Annette Gordon, and Carla Vransky traveled with a similar study group to Egypt and Greece. "The poverty was heart-breaking, but overall the trip was fantastic," one of the girls admitted.

Highlighting the month were the variety of transportation sources including horse, train, bus, carriage, flauka, cruise boat, and, needless to say, the camel. The tomb of King Tut was nothing less than the most exciting experience imaginable, and the museums, burial sites, shopping, and exploring provided ample competition.

The group celebrated their successful travel studying with a toga party where Lynne and Carla were determined to learn if the Greeks were as tall, dark and handsome as they had been described to be.

The two study groups met in Rome and returned to the United States on the same flight. As all the girls stated, it was an experience they'd never forget.

Mary Berg, Oregon Beta, was captain of Oregon State's gymnastic team which was ranked fourth nationally. Mary and head coach Ron Ludwig, center, reminisce over the successful season with assistant coach Bryan Lea, right.

Chairs Planners For U.N.D. Arts Festival

North Dakota Alpha Monica Amundson is chairman of the planning committee for SummerThing, an outdoor arts festival held in August in University Park at the University of North Dakota.

"This is the largest arts festival in the area. Over 30,000 people attended last year and more are expected this year. The planning committee is very proud of the fact that we are bringing local talent and art to the people in this area," said Monica.

The festival features local artisans displaying their talents in photography, woodwork, stained glass, painting, and weaving. Demonstrations of all the arts and crafts are held throughout the festival. Musical groups and bands provide entertainment.

Chautauqua, a traveling theater, gives performances each evening on the history of North Dakota, and a musical theater, The Fantasticks, also performs.

Burt Reynolds will be the guest star this year.

This is Monica's third year working on the planning committee.

Are Political Workers

by SHELLEY SHARPE

With the upcoming presidential campaign this fall, many Texas Alphas took advantage of the opportunity to become more aware of the election by getting involved in Young Republicans on campus. Serving on various committees, they participated in membership drives, did phoning for candidates' campaigns, and raised funds by selling Valentine's Day candy.

Pi Phi was represented even more when some of the same girls served as hostesses for the Republican Governors' Conference held in Austin last November. The girls were on hand to meet the governors, take them to their hotels, and be of general assistance at cocktail parties, dinners, and luncheons. This was quite an experience, because, along with the fun, the hostesses met many exciting people. They agreed that being part of the audience to hear Henry Kissinger and former President Ford speak was a highlight of the conference.

Ohio Zetas Visit Beautiful Arrowmont

by NANCY STOVER

When Ohio Zeta Pi Phis hopped on the bus at 5:30 a.m. one Saturday morning for their annual walkout, they didn't head for another campus, but towards the Smokey Mountains and Arrowmont. After holding their most successful Arrowcraft sale ever, raising $950, the chapter decided it wanted to see Arrowmont first hand. The pledges came up with the idea of combining a first hand view of their philanthropy with the excitement of their walkout.

The pledges worked hard to raise money for the trip by selling carnations for Valentine's Day, and selling dozens of bagels. They showed their enthusiasm for the trip with imaginative skits at the weekly meetings, posters in the suite, and even Arrowmont treats.

Pi Phis arrived at Arrowmont to sunny, warm weather, a welcome change from the snowy Oxford they had left. They toured the Arrowmont facilities, viewed many of the different crafts, and walked some of the trails in the area. The trip was an excellent opportunity for the chapter to get to know each other better, as well as see what Arrowmont was all about. The trip was such a success that Ohio Zeta would like to make it an annual event.

Every spring the city of Tampa, Fla., has a Gasparilla celebration with Krewes from the area sponsoring the celebration. Carol, left, and Dana Fromhagan, Florida Alphas, were presented on the Krewe of Neptune float and both were members of the Gasparilla Court, presented during the final ball.

Meet Celebrities During Campaign

by MINDY GROSS

Five Missouri Alpha Pi Phis have shown their political passion by their devotion to the Reagan presidential campaign. Ann Hull, Sarah Hearne, Madonna Shields, Kim Kiely, and Dianne Pepple attended the Iowa caucus in Des Moines in January where they performed various tasks to assist their favorite candidate. They stuffed envelopes, worked phone banks, and tabulated returns as they were called in from precincts.

They also handed out balloons at the Reagan rally and were covered by national television. Later they attended the party Reagan held in his suite.

The night of the caucus, the five girls stayed at Republican headquarters at the Fort Des Moines hotel. They watched the taping of the Today Show with guests Joe Kennedy and John Sears, Reagan's ex-campaign manager.

Ann Hull viewed the trip as "a tremendous experience in which I learned more about politics in four days than in my four years in college."

Among the celebrities the girls met were Walter Cronkite, John Chancellor, Tom Brokaw, and Tom Jerrell.

Mopeding, a favorite pastime of the Texas Betas at S.M.U., was their trademark at this year's Fiji Olympics. Participating were Carrie Collie, Kathy Brazda, Blythe Buddendorf, Sally Tubb, Laurie Engle, and Carrie Pierce.

Four Reign On Beauty Courts

by CINDY WOOTEN

This year at Ball State University, the Indiana Zetas have been represented in all of the major events on campus by several beauties.

Senior Julie Shaw, chapter president, added a sparkling touch to the Ball State 1979 Homecoming Queen Court. Julie was graduated this spring and will be teaching in Indianapolis.

Senior Julie Kilgore represented the Pi Phis in the Queen's Court for Greek Week, in which the chapter as a whole placed third. Julie also was graduated this year and will be attending law school at Indiana University at Indianapolis.

Junior Terri Elixman was crowned 1979 Derby Days Queen. The Pi Phis were awarded first place in the Derby Days for the fourth year in a row.

Sleeping beauty Karla Deardorff was crowned Brady Hall Snow Queen as she modeled her "sleepwear among the snowdrifts" in the Snow Queen contest.

All these girls have contributed greatly to the success of their chapter and all have added to the list of Pi Phis among Cardinal Royalty.

Martha Hieste, Texas Alpha, was the top graduating student from the University of Texas school of business, with a marketing major. Martha maintained a 4.0 G.P.A. throughout her four college years.

Rhonda Broome, Mississippi Alpha, has been elected to serve as Liberal Arts Senator for the Associated Student Body at the University of Southern Mississippi. There was a special election for the position.

Share Songs

Tracy Cochran and Julie Kiritsis, Indiana Epsilon sophomores, have contributed to the house through their music. Together they have written a number of songs that they share with the house at firesides and other house functions. Their favorite, "Loving Someone," will be performed at State Day this year.

Many of the songs they have written are sung by the group Creation, a Christian folk-rock group, of which Tracy is a member. Creation has performed at the weekly chapel, as well as at various churches in the area.

New House Mom Is ABO Winner

by CATHY ROCKENSACK

Colorado Gamma opened its doors to a new house director in the fall of 1979. Betty Price Browning, called Mom Browning, is a 47 year Pi Phi. She was president of her Oklahoma Beta chapter and was an Amy Burnham Onken Award winner. She was also Engineering Queen, and was named the outstanding woman in her graduating class.

Mom Browning's husband was very active also, as he was an All-American basketball player and a Phi Delt at the University of Oklahoma. He coached an AAU team, the Phillips 66ers, to seven national championships, as well as coaching the 1948 Olympic team in London.

Mom has four children, one of whom is a Pi Phi.

Colorado Gamma welcomes Mrs. Browning as house mom, and thanks her for her support, guidance, love, and friendship.

Decorate Arrows

One of South Dakota Alpha's traditions involves pledge moms and daughters. Instead of paddles or plaques, the daughters prepare wooden arrows for their moms. The arrows are ordered from a local lumber store, and are decorated in a wide range of ways, expressing the special relationship between the two. Whether wood burned, varnished, or covered in fabrics and verses, each is treasured and mounted on the wall of the active's room.

Three Share Pi Phi Arrow

by LISA FULLER

If you share my arrow, then you will share my heart. The Mitchell family has been a firm believer in sharing Pi Phi arrows.

Joyce Lindgren Mitchell, mother of two Missouri Alphas, was president of Iowa Gamma's chapter during her college years at Iowa State University.

Many years later, Mrs. Mitchell traveled from her Manhattan, Kan., home to see her daughter, Susie, proudly initiated into Missouri Alpha in 1978. At that time, Susie was given her mother's pin to wear. The pin was worn by Susie for two years until she was elected president of Missouri Alpha and was given the president's I.C. pin to wear.

This winter Mrs. Mitchell again traveled to the University of Missouri to see another daughter, Sarah, initiated into Missouri Alpha by her sister Susie.

At the ceremony, the three women had a special feeling with a new Pi Phi tie formed among them.

Heads U.C.L.A. Health Counselors

by SHARI MUNSON

Pam Berkson is one very busy California Delta Pi Phi. Pam is the director of UCLA's Peer Health Counselors, a group of volunteer students trained to counsel their peers on general health needs. Peer Health serves the student body in many ways, including its seven working clinics. These are Pregnancy Screening Service, Cold Clinic, Nutrition Self-Help Clinic, Hypertension Screening, Conception Counseling and Education Clinic, Self-Help Acne Clinic, and Special Projects (Blood Drives, Health Faire . . .). These clinics are found all over the campus, serving a great student need. As Director, Pam oversees all clinics, mediates between the Peer Health Counselors and other student groups, heads the Peer Health

Dee Dee Earns Critics' Plaudets

by KAREN DUPPENTHALER

As a senior at University of Puget Sound, Dee Dee Watson, Washington Gamma, began broadening her educational experiences by stepping into the world of entertainment. Not only is she a success academically, but recently she has succeeded in the theatre as well.

Debuting as one of the leads in Oscar Wilde's "The Importance of Being Earnest," presented by the Tacoma Little Theatre, Dee Dee "handles her part with commendable skill," as one critic put it. The Tacoma News Tribune commented on her performance, "Watson, in particular, is convincing as the sort of girl who could fall in love with a supposedly wicked young man, accepted his proposal, break off their engagement and then forgive him—all without his being aware of her existence." The show ran for three weeks.

Dee Dee has maintained a 4.0 GPA while double majoring in Urban Affairs and Politics and Government, as well as holding a Pi Phi office.

Counselors (among whom is Laura Wilhite, another California Delta Pi Phi), and serves as the official representative of Peer Health. As representative, Pam speaks to schools and groups about different aspects of health.

Pam, a senior psychology major, hopes to continue a career in health education after she graduates.

BIG SISTERS

i thumb through photo albums and gaze at legends i never knew though i feel as if i should for i share an emotion that they once felt

these smiling faces—my big sisters built the foundation for the love that i experience today

the pictures tell me of past times when hands were held together and clasped tightly sharing warmth the same hands that pasted these pictures
so carefully in sequence

do i cry? maybe my heart aches a little but only because it is so brimming full of a wonderful tradition and an age-old love that was passed on to me

touched by sentiment i silently vow to carry on in the best standing what has so graciously been placed in the arms of my soul

and from time to time put my own hands together and say a prayer of thanks for my big sisters

Uses Sign Language To Teach Deaf Children

by JULIE HAMBLETON

Becky Koehler, North Carolina Beta, has been teaching deaf children in the Durham area for the past two years, using her sign language skills. She has been interested in education of the deaf since high school.

Last semester she advanced her skills and knowledge by attending Gallaudet College in Washington, D.C., the only liberal arts college for the deaf in the world. Becky lived there and took classes with the students. As a hearing student, Becky experienced the sometimes frustrating role of being a minority and, at the same time, increased her awareness of how the hearing world reacts to the handicapped and vice versa.

Becky hopes to attend graduate school at the University of Virginia in Education of the Hearing Impaired. She is a prime candidate with her excellent training in sign language and the world of the deaf.

Orchesis Member Keeps On Her Toes

by SUE SARBER

Angels are said to be light on their feet and West Virginia Alpha Pi Phi Ginny Leonard proves it.

Ginny is a member of Orchesis, West Virginia University's modern dance honorary which celebrated its 50th anniversary on campus last year.

Ginny began classes in creative and modern dance when she was six years old and fell in love with it all. Now in Orchesis, she has a chance to display her talent in an annual concert as well as many road trips.

"You can't replace experience on stage," she said. "I've improved immensely.

"A girl in my freshman year couldn't wait to get on stage, and at the time, I thought she was nuts! Now I love it."

Love of dance is important, but Orchesis also demands dedication and hard work. Road trips began with adjudication last September in Washington, D.C., in which a panel of judges selected the groups who were invited to perform. The Regional Dance Workshop in Roanoke, Va., kept October busy.

Next, Orchesis performed for the statewide dance festival held in Charleston, W. Va. In April, they traveled to Detroit for the National Athletic Association convention. The future includes a possible invitation to perform at the Kennedy Center in Washington.

With such a busy schedule, one would think a vacation was due. Not for Ginny . . .

"We're already planning the concert for next year," she said.

Funny Favors Find Fancy

Inventive lingerie highlights one of South Dakota Alpha's favorite events, the annual Beau and Arrow Valentine's Day party. This celebration has gained its fame partly because of the unique favors the dates receive—pairs of size 40+ boxer shorts, suitably decorated for the occasion—that adorn the walls of many of the campus fraternities. Girls often choose to display their creativity on alternate undergarments—long johns are a favorite. The finished products, festooned with ribbons, lace, and other artwork, hang on a clothesline prior to the party, awaiting their wearers.

The big event begins as a late afternoon open house, and includes an elegant candlelit dining hour. Following the meal the dates are led into the dayroom, where they locate and struggle into their boxer shorts. After an always-hilarious series of pictures, couples depart for a night of dancing—with shorts on, and in groups, of course!

Join ROTC Class

Idaho Alphas have taken on a new interest. Thirteen girls have joined an Army ROTC class called Chrisman Raiders, with one of the thirteen on the special eleven-man Rendezvous team. This team will compete with teams from other schools in various military skill areas. Raiders is teaching the Pi Phis how to use a compass, a decontamination kit, how to disassemble and assemble an M16 rifle and an M60 machine gun, and they have learned some first aid also.

The girls held a weekend retreat at the end of March in which they had a taste of real Army life. They slept in tents, repelled off cliffs, used rope bridges, and received some practical experience with their compasses.

Lorrie Combines School, Career

by CHRISTINE MARSTON

No, that isn't Bo in the accompanying picture. It is Brooke Davis, better known to the Florida Betas as Lorrie, our world famous model.

Lorrie started modeling at the age of 15 with John Robert Powers modeling school and she is currently with the Wilhemina of New York agency.

Lorrie started her real career three years ago at age 19 when she quit school to model in New York for nine months and in Paris for another three. She loves her modeling and takes off one to two quarters a year to return to Paris when her professional career beckons her. Yet, Lorrie is as down-to-earth and as beautiful inside as she is outside.

School is very important to her and Florida Beta is number one. "No matter how successful you are, you're nothing without your friends," says Lorrie.

She is very active within the chapter, currently serving as vice president of social advancement, a delegate to the Southeastern Panhellenic Conference, and is the 1980 Sigma Chi derby queen. She's Florida Beta's queen and model, but, more importantly, Lorrie is a cherished sister.

Leaders On Campus

The North Carolina Alpha chapter of Pi Beta Phi boasts many campus leaders. Three seniors and one junior are involved largely in the house, as well as serving on student affairs committees, holding high offices in student government, plus participating in drama and scholastic achievement.

Duffy Green served as executive assistant to the president of Carolina's student body, a position equal to that of vice president. Duffy has served in many other offices during her four years at Carolina, both in government and Pi Phi. She was chapter president last year, and being a Morehead scholar took up much of her busy schedule.

Page Bauder also participates in a number of extra-curricular activities at U.N.C. The past two years she has served on Springfest committees, this year acting as hospitality chairman for the successful concert weekend. Page is a talented actress, performing in several school productions during the past four years. The Honor Court also had her services.

Beth Davis directs her talents in a different route. During spring semester Beth was a research assistant for an energy group in the Physics department at Carolina.

Mary Kirk was on the selection committee of Race Relations, a federally funded dean's committee. Mary has, and will, work with faculty and students in order to study black-white relations on campus and their possible improvements.

Decorate Kitchen

The pledges of Ontario Alpha recently completed their pledge project, just in time for the annual Parents' Tea. The six girls decided to redecorate the kitchen which was sorely in need of attention. A coat of new paint and some bright, cheery wallpaper, new curtains, and a beautiful green fern transformed the kitchen into a charming place. All the parents were impressed and highly complimented the girls.

Because of the success of this redecoration project, the Ontario Alpha actives hope that future redecorating projects will be undertaken by pledge classes.

Stuart Hall Named For Alum Donor

Washington Alpha chapter at the University of Washington has a new annex. The building, housing twenty-two girls, was purchased last summer with a donation from the late DiEtte McAuslan Stuart, an alumna. It had been necessary to rent additional sleeping space because of increasing membership. After three years of negotiations, the property next door to the chapter house became available, and Mrs. Stuart provided the full purchase price: a lasting legacy to the sorority. It will be called Stuart Hall.

Over the years Mrs. Stuart made numerous contributions to Pi Phi. In 1941, when the present house was built, she personally selected and bought most of the valuable antiques, paintings, and furniture in the entry and living room.

DiEtte Stuart and her sister, Marie McAuslan, were members of the class of 1917 at Washington. Miss McAuslan's jewelled pin was given to the chapter and is worn proudly by an "inspirational award" winner each quarter. An annual DiEtte Stuart scholarship award was inaugurated at Founders' Day this spring.

Mrs. Stuart, who passed away on September 17, 1979, at the age of 87 years, was a philanthropist and benefactor of the arts. She made substantial contributions to many organizations, including the Settlement School in Gatlinburg. The University of Washington will receive a bequest of one million dollars for scholarships; also funds for cancer and heart research. Eighteen charities were provided for in her will, as well as the cultural arts.

This lovely, loyal lady, who preferred anonymity in her generosity, will be greatly missed.

I have found qualities in her no one had previously mentioned—that of being sensitive and perceptive of others needs, and also very courteous. I have had the opportunity of meeting several of [Pi Phi's] previous TGCs, and must commend you on your ability to select very superior women. I feel confident in saying Ms. Deborah Hawkins would be carrying on that fine tradition."

A BOND

To this stranger in this strange land
You offered your hand in friendship.

When she was lonely and needed friends,
You gave them to her.

When there were times of joy and happiness or maybe

serenity and peace or perhaps anguish and frustration

You were there to share in them with her to enjoy to feel and to understand

You, this rare being who unselfishly love and believe in others, who generate strength by your very being who knew

She belonged within you
You took her in and to this stranger offered a lifetime of unity, love, and friendship

in the Fraternity of Pi Beta Phi.
So as two outstretched hands join together to become one,
So does the unity of Pi Beta Phi ever strengthen and grow.

For this, you are quietly blessed,
quietly thanked,
quietly loved.

May there always be peace, divine love, and immeasurable joy

In the being of Pi Beta Phi.
